

Writes of Action

“Well Pop, I’ve sen plenty of action. Thank God I’m still alive.”

Thus writes Pvt. Paul Svanda, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Svanda, of 215 Fourth Street, Miller Heights, to his family. “We had it pretty tough in New Guinea”, he says, adding that he captured a Jap flag, which is now among his prized possessions.

Pvt. Svanda is somewhere in Australia at a rest base, “living like a king.”

He formerly was employed in the ingot mill foundry of the Bethlehem Steel Company. A brother, Stephen, is in New Caledonia.
