

Horvath, Charles J.
William
Stephen

Coxswain Horvath

Charles J. Horvath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Horvath, 305 West Eighth St., who was recently advanced to the grade of Coxswain, is now spending his overseas leave with his parents.

Horvath saw action in the battle for the Marianas, and later was stationed there and in nearby islands. He entered the naval service in 1943 and expects to be discharged in the near future. The young veteran has two brothers in the service, William, who is stationed at a naval base in Washington, and Stephen, serving with the Army in Florida. MAR 2

March 18, 1946