

Fly, Alton W.

A Corporal Now

Alton W. Fly, above, former cavalryman and now with a reconnaissance troop, is going around these days wearing the two stripes of a corporal. He is well-known as a baseball player, having played with the Quakertown High nine and with the Quakertown team in the East Penn League. He also played with the team of the Sixth Regiment, U. S. Cavalry, runner-up in the divisional championship pennant race. Some of the opposing regimental teams have such former big league men on as Mulchay of the Red Sox and Phillies and Turbeyville of the Athletics. Fly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fly, 136 South Ninth Street, Quakertown.
