Tokyo, Yokohama Nov. 1 '45

Samuel J. Carrodo, ship's service man, 2/C, 212 Hobart Street, and Joseph Burke, gunner's mate 2/C, 415 Taylor Street, had the opportunity of visiting Yokohama and Tokyo on liberty while aboard the fleet oiler, USS Caliente as she rode at anchor in Tokyo Bay.

The two gobs saw at first hand the damage done by the B-29's before the end of hostilities. They took part in a number of major operations, including Saipan and Tinian, before moving to Tokyo Bay to complete her role in the war.
