Recuperating

JUL 26 1944

S|Sgt. Frank Martinuzzi, a member of a Reconnaissance Photo Squadron on a Flying Fortress, and son of Mrs. Rose Martinuzzi, 312 Polk Street, is recuperating from injuries sustained while in combat in the European Theatre of War. He was in an English hospital prior to being sent to the Halloran General Hospital in New York last Wednesday. At present he is in the England General Hospital in Atlantic City, N. J.

S|Sgt. Martinuzzi, who received his training at Dow Field, Bangor, Maine, has been in the Army eight years and has completed 19 missions, having been in the first American raid over Germany. He has also been on anti-submarine duty in Newfoundland.

S|Sgt. Martinuzzi's mother, brother and relatives visited him recently in the New York Hospital.

A brother, 1st Class Petty Officer Charles Martinuzzi has just returned to his base in California, after having been home on a leave. S|Sgt. Martinuzzi was home on furlough in July, 1943.
