

18 miles for Ron on Day 5!

The Bethlehem Gadfly Environment, Environmental Advisory Council, Fun Stuff, Ron Yoshida March 9, 2019

(2nd in a series of posts on Ron Yoshida)

<https://88-photos.com/>

And yet he had strength for this reflection:

“The walk provides plenty of time to reflect and enjoy the environment, specifically gardens. I have come upon wonderful examples from highly manicured to seemingly very natural gardens. Common to all of them is the absence of grass lawns. Rather, gardens are filled with trees and perennials or are planted with seasonal vegetables and fruit trees, I have contended that grass lawns are one of humankind’s worst land uses – wasted person hours cutting grass and the overuse of pesticides and herbicides. Perhaps we can learn from these examples.”

Comments you EAC folks?

Ron’s photos are beautiful!

Follow along?

<https://88-photos.com/>