ity plans for a re-Memorial built dominated the Bethlehem City Council meeting June 4. The pool is currently closed.

Public Works Director Michael Alkhal asked for an additional $700,000 for rebuilding the pool on Illick's Mill Road near the ice rink. He said he envisions the result to be a "destination" pool.

According to Business Manager Eric Evans, the existing pool has several fatal flaws, which means extensive rebuilding is needed.

Bryan Councilman Callahan thought it important to "do it right; make it last another 60 years."

Mayor Robert Donchez said, "To be open by summer 2020 is not a goal — we could open Labor Day. We have to do the job right."

ennifer D. Stewart-King, Gracedale's interim administrator, told Northampton County Council June 5 that the nursing home's census is "down a bit." When asked why, her immediate response was, "five months of negative press." A negative health inspection last December listed 11 deficiencies directly related to resident care.

There have also been dale nurses themselves about staffing shortages. The facility's over-Medicare rating, published online, has or a number of years, Richard Stiles has been on a mission to have onetime Bethlehem Mayor Robert Pfeifle honored with a memorial. Pfeifle served as mayor of Bethlehem from 1930 to 1950, longer than any other mayor in the city's history, and Stiles was married to Pfeifle's granddaughter, June, who passed away in 2012.

On May 31 a 450pound granite and bronze memorial was dedicated by Mayor Bob Donchez on the Bethlehem Greenway at Webster Street, little more than a block away from where the Pfeifle residence stood at one time on Webster Street. Donchez was joined by former mayors Ken Smith and Don Cunningham, as well as Pfeifle family members and descendants.

Stiles said that he wanted "to establish a permanent historical marker to honor Pappy's contribution to the City of Bethlehem." Pfeifle was known as "Pappy" to family mem-

He guided the city through the Great Depression and World War II, and was instrumental in having the Bethlehem Star installed that shines on South Mountain and developing Bethlehem's 'Christmas City' theme. Pfeifle also served on the Bethlehem Housing Authority's board of directors for many years.

He was known for his common sense, compas-

A luncheon reception was held afterward at the Historic Hotel Bethlehem, where, surrounded by invited guests, family and friends, Richard Stiles also celebrated his 92nd birthday.

The Appalachian Regional Commission gave Northampton Community College a $73,975 grant to purchase seven model truck trailers for the college's Class A Commercial Driver's License training program.

The grant will enable the school to help upgrade equipment such as the advanced truck driver simulator.

The college's specialized diploma and Commercial Driver's License in Class A truck driving programs are certified by the Professional Truck Driver Institute. Students are trained in compliance with the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations.

BY MICHELLE MEEH Special to the Bethlehem Press

"Stay close," the 182 graduates in the class of 2019 were told at Bethlehem Catholic HS's graduation, June 5 at the high school auditorium.

During his Invocation, school chaplain Kevin Bobbin urged graduates to stay close to the school, to each other and to God.

A prayer in the graduation program told the graduates of how much the school community celebrates their achievements.

"Today we celebrate what you have become hope to the bright promise of the future that God has prepared for you." The prayer asked God to "Guide them on their they step forward into therapy program. the world that awaits, strengthen their resolve modern-day disciples of Jesus, your Son.'

The graduation ceremony included recognition for valedictorian Julia Zambo and salutatorian Kaitlyn Hartman. Lighthearted moments included taking a selfie while crossing the stage to receive a diploma and cheers and encouragement called out by friends and family members in the audience.

Principal Holly DeNofa said the school community looks forward to seeing what the graduates will do in the future.

"How will you affect the world?" she wondered. The choices facing the graduates as they go into the world can be confusing.

"Continue to amaze us" with skill, talent and altruism," DeNofa urged the graduates. "We will and praying for you."

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Greg Biffle returned to the seat and won a truck race. Who's next?

GODSPEAK: The two guys I'd like see come back from time to time are Tony Stewart and Carl Edwards. Edwards may not be such a long-shot wish (wink). KEN'S CALL: I want a three-forone throwback. Find a small track and one-off seats for Ron Hornaday, Jack Sprague and Mike Skinner. That's a truck race I'd pay to see.

You OK with Hailie Deegan's aggressive pass to win that K&N race?

GODSPEAK: The "chrome horn" has been part of NASCAR's DNA from Day 1. Hailie will need to watch her mirrors a bit closer now.

KEN'S CALL: It'd be interesting to see the reaction if the roles were reversed, but yes, that's the type of move that gets attention and might get you promoted.

ORBANDER

THREE THINGS TO WATCH

1. Where did they go?

The Cup Series has no more off weekends between Sonoma (June 23) and Homestead (Nov. 17), and several drivers made big plans to squeeze the most out of this upcoming open weekend. For instance, Kurt Busch is going to France to watch the 24 Hours of Le Mans. Jimmie Johnson was going to fly out of Michigan and head straight to Greece with his family Sunday night. "I guess I'll catch up with them," said Johnson after the race was postponed.

2. Not completely off

The NASCAR Cup Series may be taking a hiatus this week, but NASCAR's other two national series will be at full song. The NASCAR Gander Outdoors Truck Series and Xfinity Series will compete at Iowa Speedway, a .875mile oval in Newton, Iowa. The track was designed by former Cup Series champion Rusty Wallace. It is now owned by NASCAR, which bought it a few years ago to keep the place open.

Jimmie Johnson was not smiling Sunday after NASCAR postponed the race at Michigan. He missed a flight to Greece with his family. [NEWS-JOURNAL/NIGEL COOK]

3. Contract talks

Among the Cup drivers in an option year are Erik Jones and Daniel Suarez, who were once teammates at Joe Gibbs Racing. Suarez hopes to hold his seat at Stewart-Haas Racing. "We are working on things," he said. "I feel very confident in where we are. We have options on both sides which is good. We know where we are at and what we can do. We haven't won races, but nobody has on the team."

- Godwin Kelly, godwin. kelly@news-jrnl.com

MICHIGAN

THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

1. Complete package

Joey Logano put together the complete package at Michigan. He started from the pole position, led the most laps (161) and scored the win - his second of the season - despite an overtime restart. "The best car, the best team," he said. "We executed perfectly all the way through."

2. Bowyer bits

When asked about working a 9-to-5 job, Clint Bowyer said that sort of schedule is not in his DNA. "Racing isn't a 9-to-5 job," he said. "There is no time card. It is whatever it takes to get the job done. You have a partner call and the answer is yes. You are on call, 24 hours a day."

Joey Logano leads the field out of the pits during the NASCAR race at Michigan. [AP/CARLOS OSORIO]

3. Tight spirals

Bubba Wallace and Corey LaJoie helped entertain the crowd during Sunday's rain delay at Michigan by tossing a football into the grandstands. LaJoie, who throws left-handed, had a surprisingly tight spiral. Turns out he learned the mechanics from NFL great Jim Kelly.

- Godwin Kelly, godwin. kelly@news-jrnl.com

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

Did Joey Logano just remind everyone he's the guy to beat?

As defending Cup Series champion, that should be his role purely by definition. But don't overload on Joey stock, he's often had it dialed in at Michigan, where team owner Roger Penske seems to know where they hide the extra horsepower.

So, no chance of a future NASCAR-IndyCar doubleheader weekend?

This one might've died before there was any chance of momentum building. With different leadership in both houses, there have been a few outside-the-box ideas thrown around, including the idea of the two major American racing bodies sharing a stage somewhere in the coming years. But Mark Miles, CEO of IndyCar's parent company, recently told the Indianapolis Star he hasn't had recent conversations with NASCAR about that and "we're not any closer to getting it done than we were previously." Too bad.

- Ken Willis, ken.willis @news-jrnl.com

1. Richard Petty 2. David Pearson 105 3. Jeff Gordon 93 4. (tie) Bobby Allison 84 84 Darrell Waltrip 6. (tie) Jimmie Johnson 83 Cale Yarborough 8. Dale Earnhardt 76 55 9. Seven seniors of Freedom HS's 501 member graduating class are in a very relaxed mood heading into commencement held at Stabler Arena on June 6.

FREEDOM HS - JUNE 6 'We're the solution'

BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI njastrzemski@tnonline.com

It was difficult to reconcile the ebullient atmosphere with the event's theme.

Freedom HS's commencement at Stabler Arena June 6 was by and large electric and rarely affected by the gravity of "Pursuing Discomfort and Embracing Change."

Each speaker stressed challenges the new graduates would soon be facing in the adult world, while celebrating the many accomplishments they'd already achieved. Perhaps the most obvious and most often mentioned was the new American Sign Languages course, the fruits of which were on display as the chorus collectively signed along while singing the national anthem and alma mater.

Student speaker Delores Allen, her voice quivering with emotion, listed ASL among nuyear. Others include still unknown to us." championships for ten-

Allen said they can lean on and be inspired by each other, as they have for the last 18 years, to get through the hard times in a world growing more contentious. She quoted the late Californian rapper and community activist Nipsey Hussle: "If you look at your circle and don't get inspired, you don't have a circle. You have a cage."

Faculty-selected speaker Alex Rodriguez took his teachers' advice and chose spoken word poetry for his out-of-thebox address. His florid work, sometimes rising to a crescendo, encouraged his classmates to recall all those who have helped them along the way and said nothing worthwhile is simply handed to you. A man was riding on a train next to an obviously troubled and anxious youth. Finally, the boy blurted out that he was a convict returning from prison. His crime had brought shame on his poor but proud family and they had never visited or written him during the years he was away. He had hoped this was only that they were too poor to travel the long distance and too uneducated to write. However, he could not be sure they had forgiven him. Wanting to make it easy for them, he had written and asked them to put up a signal when the train passed their little farm on the outskirts of the town. If they had forgiven and wanted him to return home they were to tie a white ribbon in the big apple tree near the tracks. If they did not want him back they were to do nothing and he would stay on the train, go west, and lose himself forever.

Nearing his home town, the youth's suspense and discomfort grew to the point where he could not look. The man offered to watch for him and they changed places. A few minutes later he put his hand on the young convict's shoulder and whispered in a broken voice, "It's all right. The whole tree is white with ribbons!"

Perhaps you, like this youth, are troubled with guilt because of your sin against a holy God. Perhaps you fear that God will reject you. Let me assure you that if you have truly repented of your sins, God has His whole tree covered with white ribbons! Jesus says to you what He said to the woman caught in adultery, "Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more" (John 8:11). "God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Ephesians 4:32). For spiritual help, please call, write, or attend any of our church services. -Written by Pastor Daniel E. Lundmark

'Out of Sight!' neighborhoods

Special to the Bethlehem Press

Don't sweat the small stuff; discover it at the Kemerer Museum of Decorative Arts at 427 N. New St. Hidden away in the second floor vault are rows of movable shelving housing the Elizabeth Johnston Prime Dollhouse and Toy Collection. With 44 structures and 6,000 pieces, this is one of the largest antique dollhouse collections in the United States. Most of the collection was either handmade or manufactured from 1830-1930, representing 100 years of architectural and decorative arts history.

The public will be able to enjoy an opportunity to take a Sunday afternoon guided tour of the tiny 'neighborhoods' in the environmentally-controlled Collections Resource Center on June 16, Aug. 18, and Oct. 20 from 1 - 2 pm. Tickets are $25 per person to see these hidden treasures.

Keith Sten led an April 14 tour. With gloved hands, he walked an enthusiastic group through rows of exquisitely-detailed dollhouses, untying or unlatching some to reveal their interiors. Many of these are packed full with intricate furnishings such as tables, chairs, beds, chandeliers, framed paintings and mirrors, and even a commode or two. One sported a furry bearskin rug in the parlor.

Sten said Elizabeth Johnston Prime spent a lifetime adding to her vast collection and that she only put pieces in each house that were period-appropriate, including the china. Her grandfather was Archibald Johnston, the first mayor of Bethlehem after the north and south municipalities consolidated in 1917. After she marryied Sylvester Prime, the couple settled in New York City, where she enjoyed entertaining friends with visits to her collection. Childless herself, Prime only purchased pieces that had been played with and "loved' by children. She later donated her collection to the Kemerer Museum before passing away in 2006.

The oldest dollhouse in the collection is from circa 1830. It had been constructed inside a mahogany cabinet. Although there are

According to the collector's note, Sten explained, it is a "Rare Empire American Dollhouse" built by a carpenter for the Towell family from Warren County, Pennsylvania. The furniture and accessories are believed to be original. The piece may have floated down the Allegheny River on a raft in 1870 to Rochester, Pennsylvania, by a family who had purchased it second-hand.

Four generations of one family, including 4-year-old Grace Ganser and her mom Kolleen Ganser from Allentown, maternal grandmother Kathy Pecuch from Bethlehem, and maternal great-grandmother Dorothy Seeds from Saucon Valley, toured the collection.

Jeanette Turnbull, a Philadelphia resident visiting her friend in Bethlehem, came along for inspiration. Having built and furnished dollhouses for herself and others, including the Woodmere Art Museum, she snapped digital images with her phone

This year, students and teachers spent the day at Hanover Township Park, playing obstacle games and sports. A favorite activity that day was the parachute popcorn game. They also enjoyed playing "Water Balloon Toss" and the obstacle course.

In sports news, the LVA high school soccer teams played June 8 against South Parkland's U19 team, and their final game is scheduled for June 15 between their own U16 and U19 teams. Coach John Fisher has been pushing the teams to their limits during weekly practices so they can finish off the school year strong! The last day of school for students is June 13. In the morning, the senior high school will have a ceremony to give out student awards and teacher superlatives, followed by an outdoor pep rally coordinated by the Student Council. The "carnival" themed Quarter 4 pep rally will include bouncy houses, a DJ, and an ice cream truck for senior high school students. A highlight of the event is the teacher dunk tank, where students test their throwing skills and try to dunk their teachers into the cold water!

Congratulations to Lehigh Valley Academy for a successful and eventful school year! Have a wonderful summer, everyone.

In 21st year, City Arts Camp continues Community Music middle school classes

BY ERIN FERGUSON Special to The Press

City Arts Camp, a collaboration of the Allentown Art Museum, The Baum School of Art, Civic Theatre of Allentown, Community Music School, Miller Symphony Hall and Repertory Dance Theatre, provides students a fun and exciting experience in art, dance, music and theater.

The six established arts and cultural organizations came together 21 years ago to create a week of artistic exploration for children, providing an interdiscicomprehensive plinary, introduction to the arts, while inspiring them to discover their creativity.

"The original idea of this partnership came from Doldirector for many years at the Repertory Dance Theatre where her daughter [Jennifer Haltzman Tracy] now holds the position. Her concept was to bring all the disciplines of art together and introduce the rich cultural aspects of Allentown to its youth. That was her original vision and what movements represented in it is still all about," says Shannon Fugate, Executive Director of the Baum School of Art.

Tips for propagating native plants

Choosing plants native to the Lehigh Valley can improve gardening success since many of these plants have adapted to the region over hundreds, if not thousands, of years.

However, not all plants native to the region will thrive in the garden. Like any other plants, some natives have very exacting requirements for moisture, soil, and even microscopic fungi. Native orchids, such as the lady slipper orchids, are one such example usually best ment.

St. Luke's opens OB-GYN practice

St. Luke's University Health Network has opened St. Luke's OB-GYN - Complete Women's Care, Suite 203, St. Luke's Health Center, 1251 Turnstone Drive (Route 100), Fogelsville, headed by Hazel Tuazon, MD.

"I am excited to be opening a new practice and the many opportuni-ties it brings for me and my ability to provide care to my patients," said Tuazon. "Patients can expect to continue to receive the compassionate and personalized care they have come to expect from me and from St. Luke's. Plus, my patients will enjoy a new office setting where they will have easy access to additional St. Luke's services."

Additional services that will be offered at St. Luke's Health Center-Fogelsville include primary care, maternal fetal medicine, physical therapy and laboratory services.

Tuazon board-certified in gyne-cology and obstetrics and has been practicing at St. Luke's since she completed her residency there. Tuazon's interests within the gynecology and obstetrics field include routine and

Grateful for every small blessing

For three days I was feeling like an active kid

Friday night we went REGARDS dancing and we were especially peppy on the hewsgirl@comcast.net dance floor, dancing just about every number.

The next day David and I went for a 15-mile bike ride against 17-milean-hour winds. That's not much when you're walking, but when you're biking into the wind it makes biking more challenging — at least it does Everything changed on Monday. All I was doing was getting ice out of the refrigerator door. No bending, no twisting, no effort. So I'm not sure why my back went out, but it felt like someone was wringing out my

I had planned to go to a church event, but I was down for the count. On top of the piercing back pain I came down with a case of diarrhea.

I mentioned to my husband that if I was going to be ailing, I was thankful to have both problems at the same time so I didn't have to waste two days instead of one.

He said he thought it was "ridiculous" to be thankful for two prob-lems instead of one.

"That doesn't make sense," he said. "Sometimes you're thankful for silly reasons."

Well, by nature I tend to be a rather thankful person. There are many times during a typical day when I find myself feeling thankful for little things that may not seems like blessings to other people.

I guess I sometimes can find the blessing in problems as well as in pleasure.

I good example is my mango trees. I love mangos, especially during season when they are dripping with sweet goodness. For years I kept saying I wanted a mango tree of my own.

Finally, last summer I contracted with a nursery to put in a well-established mango tree in my yard. I wanted a big one so I didn't have to wait years for it to bear fruit. I have been enchanted with that tree as it grew bigger. When it sprouted what looked like bushels of flowers I was excited to know the flowers would turn into fruit in another two months.

Every day I went out to check on my tree, cheering it along and happy with its progress.

Unfortunately the guy who sprays the golf course waterway with pesticide to keep the weeds down decided to do it on a windy day. The pesticide blew onto my tree, turning much of it black.

I was upset that it happened, but I could do nothing except ask him to please not use pestiWARMEST cide on a windy day. I still went to check the tree every day, hoping to see new growth that would tell me the mango tree wasn't completely gone. I went to the Master Gardner plant clinic with clippings from my tree's blackened limbs to see if there was anything I could do to help it.

I was told it should come back strong next year. But no new growth would happen now.

An optimist by nature, I still went to carefully examine the tree a few times every week, hoping a few mangos would

Instead of new growth, found a new pest. The Master Gardner said it was mealy worm eggs and needed to be treated with neem oil. My take on all that?

I was thankful I examined the tree so closely, because it helped me see the first sign of infestation. That early detection should work in my favor.

So there I was again thankful for a small blessing some might not see as a blessing at all. Someone said it better years ago with a song about a silver lining. Some problems do have a silver lining, what I tend to call a small blessing.

It's often apparent when I go for my morning walk. I have multiple foot problems, along with two meniscus tears. The orthopedic doctor claims surgery is the only answer to get rid of the pain. I'm not ready to Every morning when can walk — and I can most days - I am thankful. When I realize I can be as active as I was this week, I am especially thankful.

Every single morning when I can walk without pain is a reason to rejoice.

It's easy for each of us to see a blessing when big, good things happen to us. If we win $1,000 in a drawing we can see that as a blessing.

If our children come to vacation with us, it's a sweet blessing.

But I find we have far more small blessings than big ones. If we only feel gratitude when big things come along, we are missing out on all the good, little things that occur each day

I was talking about that with a few friends, and we all concur that the older we get, the more in tune we are in seeing and appreciating small blessings.

So call me kooky, but my life is filled with gratitude that grows stronger each year.

If you look for the small blessings in each day, you'll learn to see life in a better way

Q. My 90-year-old mother is extremely independent and doesn't want me accompanying her to By Fred Cicetti her doctor appointments. It's frustrating home, I can't get any information from her. She doesn't ask the doctors questions. What can I do about this?

This behavior is familiar to me. People in my parents' World War II generation are self-reliant, but with a stronger respect for authority than subsequent generations. These folks tend not to challenge their doctors even with simple ques-

I'll give you some information you can use to convince your mother that it is in her best interest to have you with her when she goes to the doctor.

A study done at the University of Colorado demonstrated that patients and doctors benefit from having a companion along at a visit.

'Companions that patients choose to bring to their medical visits are generally very helpful and improve the communication and understanding that occurs between the patient and the physician," explained Dr. Lisa M. Schilling, lead author of the study team.

The researchers analyzed almost 1,300 pa-

PSF 'Robin Hood' fun introduction to theater

BY ERIN FERGUSON Special to The Press

The director of the Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival produc-tion of "The Adventures of Robin Hood and Maid Marian" says the show is intended as a fun introduction to theater for childen.

The basic nature of the story is not complicated, so hopefully it's a chance for children to see a live performance that is really unique to says Director Matt Pfeiffer, a Philadelphia-born actor and De-Sales University gradu-

Pfeiffer says.

"The Adventures of Robin Hood and Maid Marian" opened PSF's 28th season May 31 in Shubert Theatre, Labuda Center for the Performing Arts, DeSales University, Center Valley, where it continues through Aug. 3.

The play, written by Brandon E. McLauren, is based on the traditional tale of Robin Hood, who, with Maid Marian and a merry band of adventurers, seeks freedom and vitality in Sherwood Forest by righting wrongs.

Children can get a front row seat with onstage carpet seating, bringing the adventure right into their laps. After the show, children and families can meet the cast for autographs and pho-

'Topsy Turvy' returns Players to comedy roots

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN pwillistein@tnonline.com

It's a change of pace for Crowded Kitchen Players (CKP) and a return to the Lehigh Valley troupe's comedy roots.

"I knew I wanted to do a comedy because we did a show about rape, PTSD and child sexual abuse," says Ara Barli-eb, CKP cofounder and writer of "Topsy Turvy," in its world premiere, continuing at 8 p.m. June 14, 15 and 2 p.m. June 16, Charles A. Brown Ice-House, 56 River St., Bethlehem.

CKP's most recent plays were "A Soften-ing of Her Eyes," which dealt with the topics of rape and PTSD, and "Unspeakable," which dealt with child sexual abuse.

Barlieb has written 11 plays, including eight comedies, performed by CKP, now in its 20th season. "Topsy Turvy" is CKP's 80th production.

"The cast said, 'Can we do a comedy?'" Barli-

Continues Barlieb, 'Trish [Cipoletti] said, 'Can you write a part for a character who doesn't sit down?' She played roles where she was seated for both shows ['A Softening of Her Eyes,' "Unspeakable']. In this one, she doesn't sit down once. She has the lead. I hear about that at every rehearsal."

A press release for "Topy Turvy" describes it thusly: "A very new farce that tells a very old

The synopsis, as stated in the press release is: "In early 1930s Hollywood, having grown tired of the vapid romantic comedies and historical dramas that made her a star, Louise Antoinette strikes a self-compromising bargain with a rapacious movie studio boss, Max Steinberg, that will enable her to direct and with the Pennsylvania in the lesson throughout play the lead in a motion icture intended to help liberate and empower women, a screen adaptation of the bawdy Greek anti-war comedy, 'Lysistrata.'

The fictional Steinberg Studios is headed by the equally-fictional, but not too fictional, Max Steinberg.

"Max Steinberg [played by Tom Harrison] is based very, very Harvey liberally on Weinstein," Barlieb says.

Weinstein headed Miramax and, later, The Weinstein Company, until forced to resign and sell the movie studio following allegations of sexual misconduct, charges that largely sparked the #metoo movement.

So, "Topsy Turvy" deals with a serious topic, Barlieb is asked?

"Oh, yes, very much so," Barlieb says.

"When the studio's big star, Louise Antoinette [played by Trish Cipoletti], whose been under contract with the studio for a long time, asks if she can direct a movie, Max basically tells her, he'll let her direct the movie, but she must complete it in six weeks or she has to go to bed wth him. And then he proceeds to do everything in his power to sabotage the production.

"She's allowed to do a movie of her choosing. She decides to do 'Lysistrata,' set in Ancient Greece as it was writ-

"It's a really wacky farce that I hope most people will find funny, provocative and, at times, overtly offensive,' says Barlieb.

of just about every sensitive interest group." All this, and togas, too.

"There's a lot of cross-dressing in this show," Barlieb promises. "The first act is basically trying to make this movie. And the second act is the making of the movie, 'Lyistrata.'

"'Lyistrata' is one of the raunchiest plays I've ever seen.'

'Topsy Turvy, Barlieb says, "It's pretty ambitious. The actors have a really hard job. They are onstage nonstop. It's very, very fastpaced.

"This is probably not for small children. And there are numerous gunshots in the show. This play is loaded with stupid humor."

The press release explains the source of the play's title: "Take my advice, my fellow-countrymen, our envoys should always be drunk! We go to Sparta and enter the city sober. We don't understand what they say to us. We imagine a lot they don't say at all. And we report home all wrong, all topsy-turvy." - Aristo-phanes, "Lysistrata"

The press release further states, "We felt we and our audiences needed a laugh. And a 'big' one. Meanwhile, here and around the world, the drums of war grow louder, shooting wars abroad and cultural and political strife at home.

DID YOU KNOW?

Cars and trucks can benefit greatly from clean air filters. Many drivers are aware of the need to change the oil in their vehicles according to the intervals designated in their owners' manuals, but few may be aware of the many benefits of changing air filters. One such benefit pertains to fuel efficiency. The automotive website CarsDirect.com notes that studies have shown that changing clogged air filters can improve fuel efficiency by as much as 10 percent and save drivers as much as 15 cents per gallon of fuel. Clean air filters also can benefit the environment. When vehicle air filters are clogged, air flow to the engine is reduced, adversely affecting vehicle emissions.

Clean filters increase air flow to the engine, reducing vehicle emissions as a result. Clean air filters also can help drivers get more out of their vehicle investments. Designed to trap dirt and debris, clean air filters prolong engine life by preventing such particles from damaging engine components. Drivers can check their owners' manuals for air filter replacement guidelines, but manufacturers generally advise drivers change their air filters every 12,000 to 15.000 miles. Such a repair is inexpensive but can go a long way toward ensuring vehicles operate as efficiently as possible.
