CORVINO HONORED

David Corvino was one of more than 180 Lebanon Valley College students who played a varsity sport during the 2015-16 winter season. Corvino, a graduate of Freedom, was a member of Lebanon Valley's men's swimming team. Corvino is pursuing a bachelor of science in business admin.

LV ended its season 6-6 overall and was undefeated in its home pool with three wins. At the MAC Championships, Ian Lloyd earned first-team all-conference in the 200 IM, and the 100 fly and 200 fly. Chris Kurtz earned second-team all-conference honors in the 400 IM, while Lloyd, Bobby Burkhardt, Clay Heebner, Kurtz, and Corvino earned honorable mention as members of relay teams.

Hurricanes favored to take Steel Division

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

There should be little doubt about whether Liberty's baseball team can qualify for the post-season this spring, but whether the Hurricanes can win the league or district title will be up to them.

The 'Canes return the deepest roster in the East Penn Conference Steel Division and will hope to use that to their advantage, as they head into the season as favorites to come away with the division crown. After last year's 15-8 mark that saw them lose in the EPC semifinals to Stroudsburg and fall in the District 11 4A quarterfinals to Northampton, head coach Andy Pitsilos is back for year 14 at the helm of the program.

"We will be able to fill the gaps with most players back," said Pitsilos of losses to graduation. "Our biggest strengths are our pitching depth, our speed and our defense. We just have to hit better this year."

Top players back for the Hurricanes include: Sr. P-IF Ben Hudock; Sr.

Others on the team this year include: Jr. P-IF Gabe Albino; Jr. P Alex Laudenslager; Jr. P-IF-OF Jake Morgan; Jr. C-OF Jake Wagner; Jr. OF-IF Jake Unangst; Jr. 1B Tyler Anthony; Jr. OF Anthony Ballerini; Jr. OF Kyle Hlavaty and Jr. P Jamie Gillen. See LHS on Page 12

Becahi tops Northampton

An explosive sixth inning for Bethlehem Catholic's softball team assured the Hawks of an 11-1 victory over Northampton last Thursday.

"It feels good," said Becahi right fielder Brooke Rau. "It definitely gets a lot of nerves and jitters out, but it gives us a lot of confidence."

Rau had an RBI double during the Hawks' sixth inning burst.

"I really was just looking to move the runners, and a couple were on base," she said.

Becahi pitcher, Elyse Cuttic, also had a double in the same inning.

"I thought it would be an outside pitch, but I was trying to look in," she said.

Being back on the mound to start the regular season was what Cuttic had been waiting for.

"It was exciting to get back out there," Cuttic said. "I think I had jitters in the first inning. I hit the

Hawks hopeful about youth

Competition breeds success and that's what longtime Bethlehem Catholic baseball coach Mike Grasso hopes can turn the Golden Hawks into a playoff contender this spring.

With a lack of experience throughout the lineup following last year's 5-15 season, Grasso is looking for a bounce back campaign following two straight years of failing to see his team make the postseason.

With youth around the Hawks lineup this season, the daily competition at practice has driven a healthy environment that Grasso knows will pay dividends down the road.

"There's an excitement with these kids and you see it everyday as they compete," said Grasso, who enters his 29th season as head coach of the program. "We're an inexperienced group, but the goal is to get to the postseason and I think this group can because of the way they compete. I haven't had a team compete like this in awhile and that will only make us better everyday."

caster are two of the senior arms on the team that Grasso is counting on, as Angelucci threw five innings in last week's 6-2 victory over Pottsville in their season opener.

Newcomers include a talented bunch with Jr. C Donovan Stuard; Jr. OF A.J. Abate; Jr. IF Preston Stout; Jr. P-IF Alex Supper; So. OF Ethan Cantelmi; So. P-IF Grant Hershman; Fr. IF-P Nate Petke; Fr. IF-P-OF Anthony Indelicato and Fr. IF-OF-P Stephan Rollins.

"We only have four seniors and we only had two seniors start for us against Pottsville," Grasso said. "We're starting a freshman at shortstop, but this is one of the most talented freshman groups we've had in a long time."

Grasso knows it'll come down to pitching and defense for his group this year if they want to compete in a tough EPC Steel Division, but appears optimistic that this year's group can turn the corner on their two year playoff drought.

"I'm confident in the defense we have," he said. "We have a lot of speed and quickness this year. The big thing is that we had a full offseason to work with these guys and that should really help us."

The Hawks will get tested right out of the gate with their league opener against Whitehall on Wednesday, followed by Friday's contest at Emmaus.

Pates eye return to postseason

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Pitching and defense are two of the best ways to ensure a competitive season on the diamond and that's the formula for success that Freedom's baseball team looks to employ this spring.

The Patriots lost some valuable pieces to graduation, but head coach Nick D'Amico knows the next man up mentality has to hit home for his group heading into 2016.

"It's always tough replacing players that helped you win a division title," said D'Amico of last year's success, "but we have a great group of players that have put their time in and can't wait to show what they can do."

Returning for the Pates include Sr. 3B-P John Yocum; Sr. OF David Bast; Sr. IF-P Alex Thomas; Sr. C Jared Danscecs; Sr. 1B-DH Mario McIntyre and Jr. 1B-P Evan Callahan.

Newcomers Jr. 3B Jake Petro; Jr. 2B Tom Bonilla and So. Alec Huertas hope to fill holes from graduation losses.

After last season's 13-9 campaign saw the Pates win the East Penn Conference Steel Division, first round losses in the EPC tournament to Easton and an opening round defeat to Pleasant Valley in the District 11 4A tournament ended their season prematurely.

With the talent coming back for Freedom this year, D'Amico feels his team can compete to get back into both tournaments.

Fifteen swimmers from Liberty High School, and one diver from Freedom High School have been selected to the 2015-16 Eastern Pennsylvania Conference Swimming & Diving All-Conference Team.

First team all-stars are Alexis Calderon, Nolan Vannata, Reid Rossi, and Robert Negron for the 200 medley relay.

Liberty's 200 free relay team of Brice Kessler, Jake Evert, Vannata, and Negron also earned first team honors.

Vannata was named to first team for the 100 breaststroke, and Negron was named to first team for both the 50 free and the 100 free.

Negron, a sophomore, was a state medalist in the 50 free this season.

On second team all-stars is Liberty's 200 medley relay team of Sabrina Krotzer, Julia McCarthy, Kayla Drago, and Maggie Walters.

McCarthy also made third team for the 200 IM and the 100 breaststroke.

Drago was named to the third team for the 100 butterfly.

Kendra Smith, Jocelyn Baker, Anna Lehr, and Walters earned third team honors for the 200 free relay, and Lehr, Smith, McCarthy, and Drago earned third team for the 400 free relay.

Also for the 400 free relay, Anthony Delcorso, Evert, Kessler, and Chris Chambers won third team honors.

Patriot senior, Madison Young, was named to the third team of EPC All-Stars. This season, Young broke a pool record and placed third in the conference and district dive meets.

Ross Sonnenblick and Aidan Bodeo-Lomicky will be the top two singles players for the Pates this year.

Despite losses, Pates return key players

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

The defending District 11 tennis champions of Freedom High School are returning to the court this season with key returners as well as some beginner newcomers.

"Obviously, last year was a great year," said Patriot head coach Jeff Young. "This year we lost Andrew [Sinai to graduation], and those are huge shoes to fill."

Taking over Sinai's spot at number one singles this season is Aidan Bodeo-Lomicky.

Ross Sonnenblick is at number two singles, and Ronak Desai is at number three singles. All are key returners.

"We have a strong top half of the line, and Ross is showing strong leadership," Young said. "Singles will be the strength of our team. Aidan and Ross are accomplished, high-level players, and when they play doubles together, I expect them to be very strong."

At number two doubles will be Jon Fiorentino and Jonathan Chu, also returning.

Austin Negron and Joel Veneracion are currently at number three doubles, and Justin Szaro and Ryan Sternberg are currently playing at number four doubles.

"Three and four doubles may or may not change," said Young. "They're all so new. We'll see who develops and who they play better with."

The Patriots were halfway through a home match against Allentown Central Catholic last week when rain stopped play. As of Press deadlines, Parkland, Nazareth, and Emmaus are next on Freedom's schedule.

"The next three matches will be really tough," Young said. "Then we'll have Liberty and Beca later on in the season."

Hawks will have new look

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic's tennis team will roster a brand new lineup this season after losing its top four players to graduation.

Former doubles players, Jack Jiang and Henry Gao, will take over at number one and number two singles, respectively.

"They played indoor tennis this winter, and they were on our winter team," said Beahi coach George Harmanos. "They've improved significantly, and they'll be solid."

Colby Treadwell, a junior and first-year player, will be at number three singles.

"He is doing really well, his first year being on the team," Harmanos said. "In fact, he's close to one and two, but they each have a little different styles."

David Napierkowski is team captain, playing at number two doubles with Andrew Kaeser. Napierkowski played doubles last year, and both are strong.

Hesshanth Jeyaragham and Grant Hicks will team up at number three doubles, and Matt Falteich and Sean Van Ormer, both sophomores and both new, will play at number four doubles.

Also vying for doubles positions are Blues Xu, Dan Deshler, and John Grifone.

"The good news is that they worked over the winter and improved," said Harmanos. "Last year, we were around 13-5. We should finish around .500 this year."

'Canes start off well

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Liberty High School's tennis team has opened its season against Pocomo-based teams with a record of 3-0.

Returning to number one singles is junior, Dan Lynn, who had a big win last week in the Hurricanes' match against Stroudsburg.

Luke Conrad, a junior who played doubles last year, is playing at number two singles, and senior, Milind Jagota, is Liberty's number three singles player.

"Luke definitely improved since last year," said Hurricane tennis coach Leo Schnalzer, "and Milind just played his first match on Friday because he was at a science Olympiad."

Senior, Jesse Claudio, and sophomore, Duke Jin, are playing at number two doubles.

Schnalzer is still experimenting with pairs at three and four doubles.

Most recently, senior, Mike Noble, and sophomore, Gavin Snyder, played at three, and sophomore, Colin Bokan, and senior, Milo Foell, played at number four.

"It's still early in the season, but I think we'll be pretty solid once everything gets together," Schnalzer said.

Other players who may play at doubles are sophomore, Marc Burritt, and freshman, Jacob Berg.

"I think we'll do well with competitive matches in the Lehigh Valley," said Schnalzer. "We'll have competitive matches with Parkland and Beca, and Freedom will be a good match. Emmaus is not on our schedule this year, but they have a pretty solid team, and we don't play Nazareth, but I know they're strong."

The Lehigh Valley Road Runners and sponsor St. Luke's will hold a youth run on Saturday, April 23 in Allentown. The event is for children ages 3-14. The distance of the run varies as 3-4 year olds will run an 1/8 of a mile while the 9-14 year olds will go a full mile.

LV Cheesesteaks part of 'Salute to Philly' night

The Lehigh Valley IronPigs, the Triple-A affiliate of the Philadelphia Phillies, will change their name to the Cheesesteaks for "Salute to Philadelphia Night" and in a unique twist, fans can vote at LVCheesesteaks.com or through the Uber app to determine whether the "Wit" or the "Witout" cap design is worn on-field during the June 10 game against the Durham Bulls.

"Today, we've officially raised the Steaks," exclaimed IronPigs President and General Manager Kurt Landes said March 22 at a press conference. "As a Phillies affiliate, we can't wait to celebrate all things Philadelphia, including the iconic cheesesteak on 'Salute to Philadelphia Night.'"

While there is no debating that Philadelphia is the birthplace of the cheesesteak, there is much consternation over the proper way to eat these sandwiches — either "wit" or "witout" onions.

Fans are encouraged to pick a side by using #TeamWit or #TeamWitout on social media, LVCheesesteaks.com or through the Uber app to decide whether the "Wit" or the "Witout" cap is worn on-field for "Salute to Philadelphia Night" on June 10.

To vote using Uber, simply enter the promo code "TeamWIT" or "TeamWITOUT" into the Promotions tab. Vote in the Uber app for a chance to win one of nine great prizes including a grand prize of 10 Club Level tickets to the "Salute to Philadelphia" Night on June 10 as well as Cheesesteaks merchandise. For more information on this promotion, visit t.uber.com/ironpigs.

There are two versions of the Cheesesteaks cap design and while both incorporate the steak sandwich logo, the "Wit" design contains onions while the "Witout" look includes just steak and cheese.

The Cheesesteaks black jersey design features the word "Steaks" emblazoned across the front chest in "Cheese Wiz" yellow. The chest patch, complete with the appearance of dripping cheese, was specifically designed to emulate the characteristics of hot cheese on a steak sandwich. The jersey's sleeve patch incorporates the steak sandwich logo.

Cheesesteaks have been referred to as both a civic icon and a cultural obsession in Philadelphia. Debuting in the 1930s, the cheesesteak was invented in Philadelphia and today is served in hundreds of steakhouses around the city.

The connection between Philadelphia and the Lehigh Valley runs deeper than many people think. In 1777, the Liberty Bell was hidden in Allentown so that the British army wouldn't melt it down for munitions.

Of course, the city of Philadelphia's role in the founding of the United States of America is unmatched as it served as a meeting place for the Founding Fathers who signed the Declaration of Independence in 1776 and the Constitution in 1787.

In addition to the name and uniform change, other promotions planned for "Salute to Philadelphia Night" on June 10 include appearances throughout the game by the world-famous Phillie Phanatic and postgame Friday Night Fireworks presented by Brown Daub Kia.

Cheesesteaks replica jerseys, along with official "Wit" and "Witout" caps, T-shirts and socks are on sale now at LVCheesesteaks.com and at the Majestic Clubhouse Store at Coca-Cola Park.

The IronPigs' 2016 home opener is slated for Thursday, April 14, at 7:05 p.m. against the

VIA BANQUET, ALL-STAR GAMES

Via banquet shines again in Bethlehem

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tntonline.com

The message at last week's Via All-Star Basketball Hall of Fame Banquet stretched from the obstacles that former Nazareth football and basketball player Chuck Dibilio had to endure following a stroke his freshman year at Princeton, to the passionate words that came from Dallas Cowboys Hall of Fame wide receiver, Michael Irvin, on becoming a champion.

The two messages intertwined each other at the Sands Bethlehem Event Center, because nobody becomes a champion without obstacles, and obstacles are always in the way of champions.

The capacity crowd took in the words from Dibilio, who saw a promising football career at Princeton evaporate his freshman year as he battled for eight months relearning all of his reading and speaking skills.

Irvin, a three-time Super Bowl champion, then took the stage by command, resonating on growing up in a poor household of 17 siblings and making it to the top of football glory.

It was a night to remember for all involved, as Deanna Rayum (Freedom) and Darnell Braswell (Allen) were both inducted into the Lehigh Valley Basketball Hall of Fame, along with legendary coach Ron Hassler (Catasauqua, Whitehall and Central Catholic) along with prized journalist, Jack McCallum (Sports Illustrated).

Southern Lehigh's Jacob Cassel and Stroudsburg's Natalie McLaren were both recipients of $2,000 scholarships, while Parkland's Kyle Stout and Palisades Karlee Krchnavi were named as Via Players of the Year.

Joining Stout on the Via's Team of the Year was teammate Devante Cross, Jeff Cooper (Wilson), Mike Martino (Bangor), Zay Jennings (Central Catholic) and Kweku Dawson-Amoah (Bethlehem Catholic).

The girls team featured two Liberty stars in Maddie Capuano and Kaylin West, as well as Nadine Ewald (Parkland), Sydney Cyr (Southern Lehigh), Erika Thomas (Northwestern).

Dawson-Amoah, Tillet help lead South

BY TODD KRESS
tkress@tntonline.com

The high school basketball regular season ended weeks ago when the state tournament concluded in Hershey. For most teams in the Lehigh Valley, it ended much earlier than that.

But for a number of high school seniors, there was one last game to be played in their respective jerseys.

As part of a quadruple-header set of hoops games, the 41st Annual Via All-Star Basketball Classic was held on Saturday at Northampton Community College where dozens of female and male players earned one more opportunity to take the court in high school. A total of 11 Bethlehem area players were named to the Classic.

In the second game of the day, a pair of Bethlehem Catholic players helped the South boys defeat the North team, 116-96.

Teammates Kweku Dawson-Amoah and Deandre Tillet combined for 21 points in the victory as South scored the first 10 points and led the entire 40 minutes.

The mission of Dawson-Amoah and the rest of the South team was simple.

"Our goal was to blow them out," said Dawson-Amoah after scoring 14 points.

The competitive side of Dawson-Amoah and the rest of the players certainly didn't disappear after a successful winter season. But Saturday's event was more than just picking up the victory. It was a chance for players to suit up with others they normally call opponents.

"It was easy," Dawson-Amoah said. "I used to play with them off the court. We're all friends off the court ... It wasn't as hard as some people think it might be."

Dieruff's Tajon Roberts led South with 20 points, and Allen's Josh Gray added 19. Liberty's Andrew Hudak was also selected as an all-star for the South. Kevin Ferguson of Pocono Mountain East led all scorers and paced the North with 23.

Via's "Super Saturday" of basketball games was just part of a great experience that benefited children and adults with disabilities from the area. Many of the players also had the opportunity to help run a clinic with those children, as well as attend the ceremonial banquet a week before the games.

"It was fun getting to meet new people and all of that," Dawson-Amoah said. "It's a different environment, but I definitely enjoyed it. I wish I could do it again."

The first matchup of the day between the North and South girls contained the most Bethlehem area players. A trio of Hurricanes (Madison Capuano, Kaylin West and Torie Zerbe) and Becahi's Jordynn Jones suited up for South, who came up a point short in their 70-69 loss.

Jones led the South with 14, Capuano and Zerbe each scored 12, and West pitched in with five. Pleasant Valley's Renee Milos led North with 19 and East Stroudsburg North's Rona Robinson scored 18.

Game 3 featured the West and East Girls, with the EPC-heavy

West squad rolling to a 75-60 win. Freedom's Nia Mims was selected to the East but did not attend. Palisades' Karlee Krchnavi led everyone and scored 28 for the East; Parkland's Nadine Ewald led the West with 19.

The West boys edged out East in the finale, 112-101, behind Central Catholic's Zay Jennings (26), Northampton's Mario Delker (25) and Catasauqua's Shaquan Mason (22). Freedom's Najee Cash led the East with 26 points and Patriot teammate Nate Stewart added 19.

Bethlehem Steel FC soccer supporters, Michael and Terri Barone of Northampton, celebrate the new professional team's first season 1-0 win vs. FC Montreal in Canada on Friday.

Bethlehem Steel FC soccer team set for Lehigh debut

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tntonline.com

Bethlehem Steel FC makes their Lehigh Valley debut on Sunday, April 3 when they play their first game at Lehigh University's Goodman Stadium against FC Cincinnati at 3 p.m.

Steel FC are coming off a 1-0 victory over FC Montreal last Friday, as Fabian Herbers slotted in the winning goal in the 43rd minute of action to give the expansion side a victory in their inaugural contest.

Herbers was the sixth overall selection by the Philadelphia Union in the 2016 MLS Super-Draft, as last week's contest featured four players on the Steel FC roster that saw time with the Union first team last season, including goalkeeper John McCarthy and midfielders Leo Fernandes and Eric Ayuk.

As the focus shifts to Sunday's home opener against fellow expansion team FC Cincinnati, the Bethlehem club will look to stay near the top of United Soccer League (USL) standings after two weeks of action.

Sunday's game will be televised live on Service Electric Cable TV2, as the cable partner will also be airing a weekly show titled, Steel Soccer 360, throughout the season.

The show will air every Wednesday at 5:30 p.m., Thursday at 10 p.m. and Friday morning at 11 a.m. Service Electric TV2's Steve Degler and Dan Fremuth will host the show with Gwen Begley as the feature reporter.

Bethlehem Steel FC's season schedule consists of 30 matches, 15 at home and 15 away, all against Eastern Conference opponents culminating on September 25 against Orlando City B. They'll play New York Red Bulls II, Pittsburgh Riverhounds, FC Montreal and Harrisburg City Islanders three times and each of the remaining nine Eastern Conference teams twice.

Bethlehem Steel FC are a USL affiliate of the Philadelphia Union of Major League Soccer.

CAMP RHYTHMO

Musical theater workshop announced

Children in grades one through eight who are interested in performing in a musical are invited to register for Camp Rhythmo's after-school workshop.

Sessions will meet Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays April 12 to April 29 to rehearse for the musical "Annie." Registration is due April 1.

Each session will meet 4 to 6 p.m. and the final performance will be presented 7 p.m. April 29.

The workshop and performance will be held at Parker Hall, 3355 MacArthur Road, Whitehall.

Camp Rhythmo's programs use music, movement, art and science to encourage children to make healthy choices. It has offered programs in the Lehigh Valley for the past three years and staged "101 Dalmatians" with a cast of 30 in 2015.

Camp Rhythmo also will offer three summer camps in the Lehigh Valley: a one-week workshop July 18 to 22 to stage "Aladdin"; a two-week Camp Rhythmo day program Aug. 1 to 12; and "Dancing Through the Fairy Tales" Aug. 1 to 5, for children ages 3-5.

Those registering for both "Aladdin" and the Camp Rhythmo day program will receive a discount.

For more information visit the website camprhythmo.org or email info@camprhythmo.org.

The Auberton Family – Kathleen, Brian, Sophia and Gavin – are ready for the hunt.

PRESS PHOTOS BY BERNIE O'HARE

At least a half hour before Bethlehem Township's Easter egg hunt was ready to begin, at least 300 kids were already lined up behind the yellow tapes in front of the Community Center. At T-minus five minutes, the yellow tapes separating kids from the eggs were gone. At T-minus one minute, some kids were unable to resist the urge to get a head start and would dart out, followed by a mother or father who would empty their basket. When a fog horn finally announced the start, the eggs were gone in seconds. No children were harmed, but the Easter Bunny is missing. Above: Once the foghorn blew, it was every man (or kid) for himself.

Ana Raiola

LV Charter HS for the Arts

Grade: 12

Family members: Maryann Raiola, mother; Luciano Raiola, father; Olivia Raiola, sister

Favorite subject: Art, literatures and the sciences.

Activities: Art, painting, assist in curating shows, Art Alliance, student government, volunteer at the Women's Herbal Conference, reading, writing, Scholastic Art Awards, designing and making clothes from scratch at the Flying Solo fashion show (Charter Arts show)

Next steps: I hope to attend an art college and then get a doctorate which will allow me to either become an art therapist, psychiatrist or commission/exhibition artist. I would like to achieve a degree which will allow me to have a positive influence on those I interact with.

Career goals: I am interested in multiple careers, but they intersect in their power to alter perception and make life more gratifying, beautiful, engaging or worthwhile. Through my career choice I could still work with my interests: art and human behavior, while assisting those who need help and those who are seeking an outlet to express themselves.

Heroes: My heroes are Vincent Van Gogh, Leonardo da Vinci, my art teachers Mr. Brinker and Ms. Reinhard, Alyssa Monks, Emily Dickinson and Bernie Sanders. All these people are revolutionary and extremely dedicated in their field. Artists such as my teachers, Van Gogh, da Vinci and Monks and Dickinson have inspired me, taught me and made great strides in their fields. I look to Van Gogh for artistic inspiration and encouragement. He continuously made art because he was passionate about painting; he never expected praise or approval. I look to da Vinci, Dickinson and Monks because of their brilliance.

Bernie Sanders is a revolutionary politician who stands for equality and agrees with the millennial generation's ideas, and encompasses my values.

Hobbies: Art, figure drawing, caricatures, swimming, hiking, designing clothes

Volunteer/community work: Art Alliance, Organic Warehouse healthy living educational workshops, fundraising fashion shows, caricaturing at local art shows

Likes: Art, Van Gogh, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Charles Bukowski, "A Clockwork Orange," The Velvet Underground and music in general

Dislikes: Donald Trump, math

Greatest accomplishment (so far): I dedicated myself to my "hobby" after being told I would fail in the art field. I transformed my academic path to allow myself a vast amount of opportunities related to art. I created a possible career from what I am most passionate about.

Advice for peers: Turn your passion into your career path, dedicate yourself fully to what you want to do, and find solace and happiness in your chosen path.

Freedom's 'egg extravaganza'

About 90 members of Freedom HS's National Honor Society junior class (along with a smattering of seniors, including the NHS executives) played host to a delighted swarm of young children for an Easter egg Hunt March 20. The event was limited to the offspring of Bethlehem Area School District employees. The children were ecstatic because Freedom's football field was littered with stuffed eggs containing glittering morsels of candy. Some 25 NHS members spent several hours cramming the eggs with chocolate pieces, and the full NHS junior cast devoted over an hour to scattering the eggs across the football field where two egg hunts took place - a downscaled one for children under age 5 and a massive extravaganza for the remaining youngsters. The preparation took hours; the ravaging of the field took minutes. When candy is at stake, children (and children at heart) concentrate to a nearly unparalleled degree. The enthusiasm with which the 60 or so kids took to their task surely warmed the hearts of their parents on this brisk afternoon. The festivities also included the raffling off of several hand-some baskets of candy and one enormous chocolate bunny which was orchestrated by Bridget Tarnowski, the NHS treasurer. Dr. Carla Krieger, a chemistry teacher at Freedom, fulfilled her usual role as the NHS faculty facilitator, and her colleague Chris Jones, also a chemistry teacher, ended up taking home the grand prize, that aforementioned chocolate cottontail.

MORAVIAN ACADEMY NEWS

By Isabelle Weiman

Spring play April 15

Spring break seems to have come just in time this year; the student body (and I daresay a fair percentage of teachers) was hanging on by its fingernails up until the last moment of classes March 18. Now, tanner and more rested, we are ready to return to school with a new sense of purpose. Or at least, that's what we are supposed to feel as we find ourselves back at 'ol MA on March 29.

Weiman

The winter musical "Big Fish" premiered this season and was a huge success. Noah Ruebeck, grade 12, brought the house to its knees in his final scene as Edward Bloom. The audience was so moved that the concessions stands started selling Kleenex along with the candy and drinks. Three full house performances later and the school community is still reminiscing over the fantastic performance.

The spring play has started to rehearse in preparation of the performances which will begin April 15. The play is a modern adaptation of Henrik Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People" by our very own Stephen Molloy. Revealing of the human condition while possessing a comedic air at times, the play is sure to be a remembered performance. We look forward to great show!

The winter sports season has come to an end and spring sports teams are beginning to practice. Although many athletes were grumbling upon their brief return to gym class in between sports seasons, we are all excited to see what this sports season holds in store.

The warmer weather brings talk of epic promposals and summer plans, but this brief moment of pause before the end is what we must remember to cherish. Seniors, who depart in late May for their post-term assignments, will remember this time as one of easiness and joy before preparing for the greatest change they have yet to face. We will enjoy our last few months at Moravian for this academic year, enjoying the warmer weather and trying to end the year at our best.

Meet the Easter Bunny

Nora Borck seems mesmerized by her first Easter Bunny at the Moravian Book Shop recently. Her older sister, Molly, was especially dressed for the Easter event, but not as enthusiastic. Their mother, Angela Borck, a Bethlehem native and Freedom HS graduate who lives in Brooklyn, N.Y., said they were visiting her family during Easter. They were at the Moravian Book Shop for "Breakfast with the Easter Bunny" put on by the Colony Meadery.

Richard Master, executive producer of the film, "Fix It: Healthcare at the Tipping Point," to be shown at 7:30 p.m. April 4, ArtsQuest Center, SteelStacks, Bethlehem

Bethlehem businessman produces film about health-care cost concerns

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN
 pwillistein@ttonline.com

For Richard Master, the health-care conundrum got personal.

He was in Chile with his wife, Susan, and son, Aaron, to meet the future in-laws of his son's fiancée, Paz. After arriving in Santiago, Aaron developed an asthma reaction. At a pharmacy, they expected to pay $150 for an inhaler. "Low and behold, it cost $15," Master recalls.

"I turned to him and Paz, his fiancée, and said, 'We have to do something about this,'" Master recalls. That was in 2013.

Three years later, that "something" is the film, "Fix It: Healthcare at the Tipping Point," to be shown at 7:30 p.m. April 4, Frank Banko Alehouse Cinemas, ArtsQuest Center, SteelStacks, 101 Founders Way, Bethlehem. The screening is free and open to the public.

Seating for the approximate one-hour screening is limited to about 200. There's a post-film discussion including David J. Steil, a former Bucks County state representative (1993-2008) and former head of Healthcare Now! Pennsylvania. Reservations are recommended: ckowal@mcsframe.com, 610-250-2625

Master, who lives with his wife in Bethlehem, owns MCS Industries, Inc., a Palmer Township based international manufacturer of picture frames and decorative mirrors. With sales approaching $200 million, MCS products are sold in Target, Bed, Bath & Beyond, Walmart, Home Depot, Michaels and A.C. Moore.

MCS, which Master founded in 1980, has 170 employees in the United States, mostly in design, administration and distribution. The firm manufactures most of its products in subsidiaries in Mexico and China.

"MCS had been experiencing double-digit annual increases in its health-care costs for well over 10 years," Master says. MCS spends about $1.5 million annually to provide access to health care for its employees and their dependents.

"We also experienced, to remain competitive, a change in the quality of the insurance we could afford to provide our employees. Meaning, the out-of-pocket expenses, such as deductibles and co-pays and premiums shares that our employees had to absorb, kept increasing.

"The costs were going up dramatically. They more than doubled in 10 years. They grew to the point where a family policy for a distribution-level employee was approaching $9 per hour in total, including premium share, not including out-of-pocket expenses, which could be another $3,000 to $5,000.

"At the same time, we do a lot of international travel. We are aware of the cost of medical care in other countries."

Following his Chile revelation, Master says, "I came back to the Valley and called a good friend of mine, Vincent Mondillo, who has worked on the History Channel and other documentaries, and proposed a modest project.

"And it turned into a two-year saga of travel throughout the U.S., Canada, meeting with experts, economists, doctors. It turned into this movie," says Master, executive producer of "Fix It: Healthcare at the Tipping Point."

Master and Mondillo interviewed, among others, economists at Princeton, Harvard, Yale and the University Of Massachusetts.

"It appeared that every rock that we turned over in our research gave us a sense that this is a very threatening circumstance for the U.S.," Master says.

"The health-care system has provided wonderful care for many Americans. There is a lot of dedication and service within these professions. Nevertheless, in the macroeconomic sense, it represents an existential threat to the country.

"We went from a national health-care cost, which was about 7 percent of the national economy, to the point where it's exceeding 18 percent now, where the growth rate in overall health care is 2 to 3 percent above the annual growth of the economy.

"While that doesn't sound like a lot, if it's relentless growth, it represents that the health-care costs are running away," says Master who received a BS in economics from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, and a Juris Doctor from the Columbia Law School of Columbia University.

There have been 10,000 DVDs of "Fix It" distributed. It was shown in November at the Physicians for National Health Program conference and at Healthcare Now!, both in Chicago. The film has also been shown on 300 TV stations in New England and throughout the nation.

Mondillo says 80 interviews were conducted up and down the East Coast, including New York, Philadelphia and Boston; in California, and in Vancouver and Toronto, Canada, with approximately 40 included in the film. An estimated 100-plus hours was edited down to the 58-minute film, which was completed last year.

"I've always been concerned about anybody who doesn't have health insurance and what that ultimately can do," Mondillo says.

"It's always been a fundamental issue that people should have health-care," says Mondillo who has edited, directed and produced documentaries for Lou Reda Productions Inc. for the History Channel, A&E and Biography and written, directed and produced documentaries for Valley nonprofits, including the The YMCA of Easton, Phil- See FILM on Page B6

Bobby Collins back with DVD at State

Bobby Collins returns to the State Theatre Center for the Arts, Easton, for a comedy show at 7:30 p.m. April 1.

Collins' fourth DVD, "Bobby Collins: Live from the State Theatre," taped in March 2015 at the State Theatre, is available for purchase on the night of the show.

Ryan Hill hosts a pre-show, 6-7 p.m. April 1, in the Easton Hospital Gallery, adjacent to the State Theatre. Performing are Jason J. Brown, Dan Maher and Randy Tonge.

Collins, who regularly has appeared at the State Theatre, said, "The State Theatre in Easton, Pa., is a place where I feel very comfortable. There's a reason why I come back every year."

Collins, named after his father's favorite comedian, Bob Hope, displays the physical comedy of Jerry Lewis and the heart of George Burns. Collins is a born storyteller.

Collins is an American Comedy Award winner, a Grammy nominee, has had a Showtime special, and hosted comedy shows for VH-1, A&E and Showtime.

Bobby Collins

Calvin Klein to pursue his comedic dream and ended up working alongside such comedy legends as Jerry Seinfeld and Jay Leno.

Collins, said to be the No. 1 most played and requested comedian on XM-Sirius Satellite Radio, has been called "most natural comedian working today" by The New York Times. Collins has opened for Frank Sinatra, Cher, Julio Iglesias, Tony Bennett and Dolly Parton.

Have you seen 'Miracles'?

The budget for tissues in "Miracles From Heaven" must have been significant. In every other scene, Jennifer Garner seems to be reduced to tears.

You may be, too. I went through six tissues during the movie and one afterward. If, movie ratings were given here in tissues rather than popcorn boxes, "Miracles From Heaven" would rate seven tissues.

"Miracles From Heaven" is more than about just turning on the waterworks. It's one of those films that, having seen it, makes you see the world a bit differently. After seeing the film, it seemed to me that everyday occurrences seemed to be heightened: the beauty of the setting sun, an excitable boy and his mom at the supermarket checkout, and the stunning full moon rising in the twilight. Everyday miracles. A miracle in every minute.

In "Miracles From Heaven," Jennifer Warner plays Christy Beam, a happily-married Burleson, Ft. Worth, Texas, area mother who, with her husband, Kevin (Martin Henderson) and their three daughters, are a devoted weekly church services-going Christian family.

Anna (Kylie Rogers), age 10 and one of the daughters, develops a stomach and intestine problem whereby she cannot digest food. The illness is diagnosed as pseudo-obstruction motility disorder, said to be an incurable malady.

There follows a series of very expensive visits by mother and daughter to Boston Children's Hospital, as well as procedures and disappointing diagnoses by Dr. Samuel Nurko (Eugenio Derbez), a pediatric gastroenterologist. The mother questions her faith, despite the counseling of the church pastor (John Carroll Lynch).

In Boston, the mother and daughter befriend a waitress Angela (Queen Latifah), who shows them the city, especially the Boston Aquarium and Museum of Fine Arts, where Monet's "Water Lilies" painting figures symbolically in the movie's story.

Anna's treatments for her illness seem to help her condition. Anna and her mother return to the Texas homestead. Anna is playing outside with her sisters, Adelynn (Courtney Fausler) and Abbie (Brighton Sharbino). Anna and Abbie climb the old tree in the backyard. Spoiler alert: You can guess what happens next. We won't reveal more as this may ruin your enjoyment of the film.

Patricia Riggen ("The 33," 2015; "Girl In Progress," 2012; "Under The Same Moon," 2007) directs "Miracles From Heaven" from a screenplay by Randy Brown ("Trouble With The Curve," 2012). The movie is based on the book, "Miracles From Heaven: A Little Girl, Her Journey to Heaven, and Her Amazing Story of Healing," by Christy Beam.

In a simple, straightforward manner. And yet there is nothing simple about this story, or faith or one's beliefs. Everyday miracles. A miracle in every minute.

Box Office, March 25: Two comic book super heroes reigned supreme Easter weekend as "Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice" opened at No. 1 with a record-breaking $170.1 million.

"Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice" was the sixth biggest-ever opening, biggest domestic March opening (zooming past "The Hunger Games," $152.5 million, 2012), biggest Easter weekend opening (passing "Furious 7," $147.1 million, 2015), biggest domestic opening for Warner Bros. (eclipsing "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows - Part 2," $169.1 million, 2011) and biggest opening for a film based on DC Comics characters (flying past "The Dark Knight Rises," $160.8 million, 2012).

"Zootopia," after three-weeks straight at No. 1, dropped to No. 2 with $23.1 million, $240.5 million, four weeks.

"My Big Fat Greek

Wedding 2" opened at No. 3, with $18.1 million.

4. "Miracles from Heaven," $9.5 million, $34.1 million, two weeks; 5. "The Divergent Series: Allegiant," $9.5 million, $46.6 million, two weeks; 6. "10 Cloverfield Lane," $6 million, $56 million, two weeks; 7. "Deadpool," $5 million, $349.4 million, seven weeks; 8. "London Has Fallen," $2.9 million, $55.6 million, four weeks; 9. "Hello, My Name Is Doris," $1.7 million, $3.2 million, three weeks; 10. "Eye in the Sky," $1 million, $1.7 million, three weeks.

Movie Unreel, April 1:

"God's Not Dead 2," PG: Harold Cronk directs Jesse Metcalfe, David A.R. White, Ray Wise and Robin Givens in the drama about a high school teacher whose answer about a question in class about Jesus lands her in administration office hell.

"Everybody Wants Some!," R: Richard Linklater directs Zoey Deutch, Tyler Hoechlin, Ryan Guzman and Blake Jenner in a comedy about college baseball players.

"Collide," PG-13: Eran Creevy directs Nicholas Hoult, Felicity Jones, Anthony Hopkins and Ben Kingsley in an action-thriller about an American backpacker who gets mixed up with drug smugglers and flees along Germany's Autobahn.

"Miles Ahead," R: Don Cheadle directs and stars in the biopic about jazz musician Miles Davis. Also starring are Emayatzy Corinealdi, Ewan McGregor and Michael Stuhlbarg.

Experts define the five kinds of intimacy

Driving home by myself, I listened to an interesting program on the radio. A well-known marriage counselor was talking about the five kinds of intimacy.

He said when many people think of "intimacy," they think of sexual intimacy. But in order to have a strong marriage, a couple needs to have all five kinds of intimacy, he said.

He went on to list them as intellectual, emotional, sexual, social and spiritual intimacy.

I thought the program was really interesting so I told me husband about it when I got home.

He said, "You're making that up, right?" He must think I'm really creative that I can make up stuff like that on a half-hour drive home.

When I went on to name the five types, he gave me a dubious look that said he thought I was hitting the wine when he wasn't home.

David and I differ in inputting information. If I hear something interesting, I can repeat it verbatim but not remember who said it. That's crucial information, in David's estimation, because it speaks to the source.

He always wants to know the source of information so he can judge its legitimacy.

The man is a news junkie as well as a Trivial Pursuit champ. He always remembers who said what, as well as who did what, even though it might have been a long time ago.

When he asked me what marriage expert gave the five kinds of intimacy talk on the radio, I told him I thought it was Dr. Gary Chapman, author of "The Five Love Languages."

But just to make sure, I looked it up on the Internet. I absolutely love how the Internet quickly spits out any information we need.

I found not one, but several marriage experts who talked about making marriages stronger by incorporating the five kinds of intimacy.

I also found two authors who listed six kinds, not five. In addition to sexual intimacy, they listed physical intimacy, stating the two are not the same.

Physical intimacy, such as holding hands or giving an affectionate squeeze, is all-important, they said, because it gives a couple a sense of acceptance and comfort.

One expert went as far as to claim physical intimacy is the most important of all.

In my book, they are all important. From the time I met David I've been impressed with his intellect and emotional maturity. Some experts call it emotional intelligence.

From the start, if we had a difference of opinion, he was the one who had the smarts to keep a lid on emotions while talking it out.

I've long believed relationships are stronger when a couple has physical, intellectual, emotional and spiritual compatibility.

When I was a young adult working for my first newspaper, I absolutely fell in love with Lillian and Milt, a couple in their late 60s who were married for 47 years when I met them. I never saw a more affectionate couple.

When they watched TV at night, Lillian and Milt cuddled together and held hands. I noticed when they passed each other during the day he sometimes put a hand on her shoulder. When she was cooking, Lillian was never too busy to stop for a hug.

I was just a young kid who didn't know much at the time. But I knew enough to realize I wanted that kind of relationship some day.

Lillian and Milt didn't graduate from high school, didn't have time to read much, and would never be able to give the definition of physical intimacy. But they sure knew how to love it.

I've long believed relationships are stronger when a couple has physical, intellectual, emotional and spiritual compatibility. I've always realized if I'm not intellectually compatible with someone, a relationship is never going to happen.

We each have to make our own determination about what's important to us.

But back to what the experts say about the five (or six) kinds of intimacy.

One expert explains that intellectual intimacy doesn't mean academic pursuits. It's a kind of closeness that comes into play when you and your partner talk about work, ideas or things you care about.

Being emotionally intimate means feeling free to talk about your deepest feelings, even when those feelings are difficult or painful.

I've heard plenty of women say they can share their deepest feelings with other women—but not with their partners. Why do you suppose that is?

Sometimes, at the beginning of a relationship, partners feel as if they can share everything and anything. It's a heady feeling. But it's often a fleeting one.

There are entire books written about why couples stop sharing deep feelings. When David and I were married, the priest who did our prenuptial counseling us gave us a great book on building and maintaining a strong marriage. It uses the word "communication," not "intimacy."

While experts might call it something different, they do agree that couples need to decide what is important to them, then work to make it happen.

There's plenty of information on the Internet about building the five kinds of intimacy.

If you read it, make sure you tell my husband I didn't make it up.

Pa.-Dutch expert to talk at LVHM

Historian Patrick Donmoyer of Kutztown University's Pennsylvania German Cultural Heritage Center presents a slide-lecture, "Pennsylvania-Dutch Landscape: Belief, Identity and Persistence in the New World," 1 p.m. April 2, Lehigh Valley Heritage Museum, 432 W. Walnut St., Allentown.

"This talk is for anyone interested in Pennsylvania-Dutch culture," said Joseph Garrera, executive director, Lehigh Valley Heritage Museum.

"It helps newcomers and residents alike to understand and appreciate the fascinating built environment created by the region's early settlers," Garrera said.

The Pennsylvania Dutch, or "Deutsch," also called Pennsylvania-Germans, emigrated from Germany (mainly the Palatine region) to the United States in the 1700s or early 1800s. They had a major influence on the development of the Lehigh Valley. Most early settlers of present-day Lehigh County came from Germany. The Pennsylvania-Dutch composed almost half the population of the commonwealth in the mid-1700s.

Donmoyer contends that the Pennsylvania-Dutch and their culture, including the historical structures they built, have made a lasting impact on American culture. He will explore how Pennsylvania-Dutch houses, barns, churches and schoolhouses reflect key cultural values of home, agriculture, religion and education.

Donmoyer will illustrate the talk with photographs he has taken during eight years of field research.

The evidence is in about 'rabbit ears'

Q. Why do old men have big ears?

I didn't believe the premise of this question. Well, it turns out that old men, and women, have bigger ears than they had as young adults. In short, your ears grow larger as you age. I know this sounds like a myth, but it's been proven by scientific studies. Examples:

Researchers at the Veterans Administration Medical Center-Texas Tech University found that ear circumference increases an average of 0.51 millimeters per year.

"This study," the Texas scientists reported, "supports the view that as people age, their ears get larger, particularly the ear circumference, which increases on average 0.51 mm per year. This enlargement is likely associated with aging changes of collagen. The knowledge from this study allows us to calculate the age of an individual based on ear size: Subject's age = 1.96 x (Ear circumference in millimeters - 88.1)."

The researchers were not clear about how the "circumference" was measured. They didn't use the complete outer ear to determine this measurement, so don't get out your tape measure to check this.

Collagen is the fibrous protein part of bone, cartilage, tendon, and other connective tissue. It is converted into gelatin by boiling.

Physicians at the Royal College of General Practitioners in England measured their patients' ears. They found that, as we get older, our ears grow about 0.22 mm a year.

"A chance observation, that older people have bigger ears, was at first controversial, but has been shown to be true," Dr. James A. Heathcote reported. "For the researchers, the experience of involving patients in business beyond their presenting symptoms proved to be a positive one, and it was rewarding to find a clear result. Why ears should get bigger when the rest of the body stops growing is not answered by this research. Nor did we consider whether this change in a particular part of the anatomy is a marker of something less easily measurable elsewhere or throughout the body."

Dr. Yashiro Asai, a physician at the Futanzu Clinic in Misaki, Japan, along with three colleagues, agreed with the British analysis. Their study of 400 consecutive patients aged 20 and older concluded that "ear length correlates significantly with age, as Heathcote showed, in Japanese people."

A computer analysis at the University of Milan documented how facial structures change as people age. Ears, the researchers found, get larger with age. Dr. V.F. Ferrario and four colleagues from the Functional Anatomy Research Centre at the university presented evidence that not only do ears get longer with age, but this phenomenon applies to both women and men.

Doctors from the Medical Branch of the University of Rostock in Germany measured the ears of 1,271 children and adolescents. They reported that ear length increases "steadily and annually," but ear width remains the same.

So, there is strong evidence about geezer ear growth. The cause of the enlargement is still a subject of debate in the scientific community. There are many theories. My personal favorite is that skin loses elasticity as we age. This tendency and gravity make ears get longer and wobble.

Kay-Tea Khaw, a professor of clinical gerontology, said it may be that "big ears predict survival. Men with smaller ears may die selectively at younger ages. Ear size or pattern, or both, may be a marker of some biological process related to health."

While this may sound far-fetched, many studies have shown that men with a diagonal crease in both ear lobes may have an increased risk of heart attacks.

KID-APPROVED SUMMER FUN

Keep the kids off the couch this summer with these local programs!

Begin Planning Kids' Summer Recreation Now

Many families spend winter figuring out how to chase away cabin fever and endure frigid temperatures until spring and summer mercifully return. Parents thinking ahead to swimming pools and days lounging on the beach can put their daydreams to practical use by planning ahead for their youngsters' summer vacations.

Youth recreational programs and summer camps can bridge the gap in care between the end of school and the day when classes resume. Due in part to high demand, parents who want to place their kids in summer rec programs or summer camps should be vetting such programs and camps well in advance of summer. The following are a handful of tips for moms and dads who want their kids to have fun and fulfilling summers.

- Ask for recommendations. Speak with fellow parents and trusted friends about where they send their children. Schedule appointments to visit camps that fall within your budget.
- Explore all options. Camps come in more flavors than ever before. Certain camps may be faith-based ministries while others may focus on particular sports. Band camps and art camps may appeal to creative kids.

- Inquire about camp schedules. While many camps are flexible, day camps do not have the same level of flexibility as after-school programs.
- Determine your camp budget. As varied as program offerings may be, camps also can vary greatly with regard to cost. Day camps typically cost less than those that provide room and board. Find out if a particular organization subsidizes a portion of camp costs.

If camp seems out of reach, look into local summer recreation programs at parks or schools. Such programs may not be as extensive as those offered by camps, but they can quell kids' boredom and keep children occupied during the day.

Summer recreation may be far off, but it is never too early to start making summer plans, including finding camps and other activities for kids.

South Whitehall facility to add 27 jobs

Nihon Kohden America, Inc.'s new South Whitehall Township facility is expected to add 27 high-paying jobs and retain 11 positions.

Nihon Kohden America, a manufacturer, developer and distributor of medical electronic equipment, will expand operations with a 7,000-square-foot facility to provide technical and product support to installations along the East Coast, and support biomedical training classes for consumers.

The company plans to invest $445,000 in the project, which will include tenant improvements, purchase of equipment and training for new employees. The company's newest facility complements its West Coast-based facility, allowing for a rapid response to customers across United States time zones.

"We are always looking for ways to improve the level and quality of service and support we provide to our customers because we know that every minute counts when it comes to patient care," said Dr. Wilson P. Constantine, CEO of Nihon Kohden America.

"Initially, our new facility will serve as a second U.S. technical support call center, increasing access to our knowledgeable support staff. And in the future we will have the ability to add other functions as customer needs dictate,"

Constantine said.

The project was coordinated by the Governor's Action Team in collaboration with the Lehigh Valley Economic Development Corp.

Nihon Kohden America received funding from the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development, including $81,000 in Job Creation Tax Credits, a $75,000 Pennsylvania First Program grant, and $22,950 in WEDnetPA funding for employee training.

Nihon Kohden, founded in Japan in 1951, is the leading manufacturer, developer and distributor of medical electronic equipment, with subsidiaries in the U.S., Europe and Asia. The company's products are used in more than 120 countries.

It is the largest supplier of electroencephalography products worldwide. Nihon Kohden has envisioned, designed and produced pulse oximeters, arrhythmia analysis, low-invasive blood volume monitoring and wireless patient monitoring.

In the U.S., the company is a source for patient monitoring, sleep assessment, neurology and cardiology instrumentation solutions, and has been recognized by MD Buyline for the highest customer satisfaction among U.S. hospitals and health systems for 36 consecutive quarters.

FILM

lipsburg and Vicinity and The National Canal Museum.

"What we discovered in making the film was that the economic impact of health-care costs affects our ability to improve infrastructure, our cities, our schools and our businesses," Mondillo says.

"A significant impact of an employee's benefits is health care, but that impact is much bigger than most of us realize. And it has a significant impact on companies," continues Mondillo.

"We hear talk of flat wages all the time. When you have double-digit health increases, it's apparent why that's the case," Mondillo claims.

"We would like people to look at this as an economic issue and not through the typical frame of ideology," adds Mondillo.

"A lot of people over the years have talked about the uninsured. But people don't talk about the underinsured, meaning high-deductibles and high out-of-pocket. That has a huge impact on people with serious illness. Medical costs are still the No. 1 cause of bankruptcy in the country. And the majority of those are people who have insurance," according to Mondillo.

"Doctors and nurses have such an immense burden dealing with paperwork and getting patients what they need. And that has gotten worse than ever," Mondillo says.

"The idea for this is to reframe the health-care issue in terms of economics and impact on businesses and families.

"And this all ties into quality. What good is having the best hospitals in the world, which we arguably do? There's very little doubt that we have the best health care in the world. But unless everyone has access to it, in terms of outcomes, we don't do very well," Mondillo says.

Jillian Kleintop

St. Luke's appoints patient-care manager

St. Luke's Older Adult Behavioral Health Unit has appointed Jillian Kleintop, RN, BS, as patient care manager.

"We are pleased to add Jillian to our management staff," said Cindi Reade, MS, RN, St. Luke's University Health Network Director for Behavioral Health Inpatient Services, which marked its third anniversary in February.

"Jillian joined us after graduating from St. Luke's School of Nursing at Moravian College," said Reade.

"I have a passion for caring for individuals suffering with mental illness," Kleintop said.

The unit, located at St. Luke's University Hospital - Bethlehem, provides specialized inpatient care that addresses the mental health needs of older adults.

Kleintop joins a staff of behavioral health care professionals with specialized training in caring for older adults. The team consists of physicians, nurses, mental health technicians, case managers and activity therapists.

The unit comprises 15 single rooms for individual, group and activity therapies, and family visits. The unit's design lends itself to a peaceful, quiet and safe home-like setting.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of Bethlehem Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, will consider for adoption at a Public Hearing to be held at 7:00 p.m. on the 18th day of April, 2016, at the Bethlehem Township Municipal Building, 4225 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, an Ordinance amending the official Zoning Map of the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance Chapter 275 of the Codified Code of the Township of Bethlehem to provide for an amendment to Chapter 275, Section 27 of the Codified Code by rezoning of a certain tract of land located at 4120 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem Township, Pennsylvania from Medium Density Residential (MDR) to Neighborhood Commercial (NC). In the event that the Board of Commissioners do not consider for adoption the Ordinance described hereinafter at the Public Hearing, the Board of Commissioners will consider the Ordinance for adoption at a regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners to be held on May 2, 2016, at the Bethlehem Township Municipal Building, 4225 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Copies of the proposed Ordinance are available for review at the Bethlehem Township Municipal Building located at 4225 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania during normal business hours.

The following is the proposed Amendment to Ordinance:
ORDINANCE NO. 16-16
AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHLEHEM, COUNTY OF NORTHAMPTON, COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, TO AMEND THE OFFICIAL ZONING MAP OF THE BETHLEHEM TOWNSHIP ZONING ORDINANCE CHAPTER 275 OF THE CODIFIED CODE OF
THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHLEHEM TO PROVIDE FOR THE AMENDMENT OF CHAPTER 275, SECTION 27 OF THE CODIFIED CODE OF
THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHLEHEM BY REZONING OF A CERTAIN TRACT OF LAND LOCATED AT 4120 EASTON AVENUE, BETHLEHEM TOWNSHIP, PENNSYLVANIA FROM MEDIUM DENSITY RESIDENTIAL
(MDR) TO NEIGHBORHOOD COMMERCIAL (NC); REPEALING ALL ORDINANCES OR PARTS OF ORDINANCES INCONSISTENT HEREWITH; PROVIDING A SEVERABILITY CLAUSE; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE

WHEREAS, pursuant to the Pennsylvania Municipalities Planning Code 53 P.S. 1010 et seq., of the Board of Commissioners of the Township of Bethlehem, Northampton County, Pennsylvania desires to amend Chapter 275 Zoning Article II Districts, Section 275-27 of the Code of Ordinances to provide for the amendment to the Zoning Map to rezone certain property located at 4120 Easton Avenue from Medium Density Residential (MDR) to Neighborhood Commercial (NC); and

WHEREAS, the Board of Commissioners of the Township of Bethlehem, Northampton County, Pennsylvania finds that the proposed amendment will promote, protect, and facilitate the public health, safety and welfare; and

WHEREAS, THE Board of Commissioners of the Township of Bethlehem has conducted a public hearing pursuant to public notice concerning the following amendment to the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance as set forth hereinafter.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED AND ENACTED by the Board of Commissioners of the Township of Bethlehem, County of Northampton, and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as follows:

SECTION 1. The Board of Commissioners of Bethlehem Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, under powers vested by the "First Class Township Code" of Pennsylvania and the authority and procedures of the "Pennsylvania Municipalities Planning Code", as amended as well as other laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, does hereby enact and ordain the following amendments to the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance, as amended.

SECTION 2. ZONING MAP. Chapter 275 Zoning, Article III Districts, Section 275-27 Zoning Map of the Codified Code of the Township of Bethlehem is hereby amended by amending the existing Zoning Map, as revised, by changing the current zoning classification of the land at 4120
Easton Avenue, Bethlehem Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania on the map attached hereto as Exhibit "A", consisting of .3 acres, and described in the metes and bounds description which is attached hereto as Exhibit "B", from the current Medium Density Residential (MDR) classification to Neighborhood Commercial (NC).

SECTION 3. If a court of competent jurisdiction declares any provision of this amendment to be invalid in whole or in part, the effect of such decision shall be limited to those provisions expressly stated in the decision to be invalid, and all other provisions of this amendment to the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance shall continue to be separately and fully effective.

SECTION 4. All provisions of Township ordinances and resolutions or parts thereof that were adopted prior to this amendment to the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance and that are in conflict with this amendment to the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 5. This Ordinance shall become effective within five (5) days after adoption.
