Casino has plans for major expansion

BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI
njastrzemski@tnonline.com

Sands Bethlehem announced in a release Nov. 14 the plan for a $90 million expansion to the Southside gaming and entertainment campus to begin development next year.

The current expansion plan is to add a new gaming floor and more than 1,000 gaming seats along with more restaurant space, restrooms and back of house (staff-only) facilities, all of which will measure about 60,000 square feet.

The casino expansion is proposed within the existing parking lot located to the north of the casino. The existing parking lot will be reduced in size, however parking will be provided within the casino property as well as the recently constructed parking lot near the Hoover Mason Trestle.

"We are proud to continue with our commitment towards reinvestment in the property by making this significant addition," said Mark Juliano, president of Sands Bethlehem. "With our outstanding gaming, entertainment and dining options Sands Bethlehem will continue to be one of the Northeast's premiere gaming and entertainment destinations."

CITY BUDGET

Taxes remain unchanged Focus still on streets, bridges, savings

"This is great progress, but the challenges remain and it will demand our continued effort and creativity."
Bethlehem Mayor Bob Donchez

BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI
njastrzemski@tnonline.com

Days after a nationwide election shocker, Mayor Bob Donchez eased some tensions among local business leaders at Moravian College Nov. 11 during his annual Lehigh Valley Chamber breakfast at Moravian College by delivering good news: His proposed 2017 budget is balanced and there will be no need for a tax increase.

He also explained the city's massive debt has been whittled down by many millions of dollars in the past few years. "Each year, we have quantified the value of our five-year cumulative deficit. If you recall in 2014, we measured this five-year deficit as over $40MM. We have made incremental progress each year. I am pleased to report that, based on the proposed 2017 budget, the five-year deficit is now reduced to $12.8M. This is great progress, but the challenges remain and it will demand our continued effort and creativity."

has struggled along with the rest of the state in maintaining pension funds, but has managed to keep them all funded at 88 percent, which is the third best among the top 10 most populated cities in Pennsylvania. Only Allentown and Harrisburg have done better, and each did so by selling city assets, which he promises Bethlehem will not do under his administration.

The proposed general fund budget is set at $74,055,000, though the recent Pa. Supreme Court decision invalidating casino host fees has raised questions. The city and surrounding municipalities have made significant use of those funds in past years and Donchez said, "Based on the collective desire of the state legislature to resolve this uncertainty in a manner that makes us whole, I am budgeting the expected $9.8 million."

Donchez said the priorities for investments in 2016 were streets, parks and downtowns, and they will continue to be the focus of his efforts next year. "One of the more pressing issues of 2016 was the city's ability to improve the condition of our streets. I challenged the Department of Public Works to pave more miles and fill more potholes than ever before. I am happy to report we achieved this goal paving more than six miles using cost-effective, in-house labor and filling more than 10,000 potholes on our 520 lane miles of city streets."

Dozens of valley personalities, from politicians and former mayors to community activists and business owners hear Donchez's presentation.

Projects such as the Lynn Avenue and High Street bridges have been expanded, and efforts to curb damage at local parks have been successful and will continue, while $600,000 has been budgeted for parks improvements and renovations.

And with the holidays approaching, he said, time, energy and cost-cutting by transitioning the hundreds of trees placed around the city each year with energy efficient artificial versions.

While cooperative efforts in the downtowns continue in various ways, what may prove especially useful will be a comprehensive parking analysis to evaluate current and future capacity and to ensure we are maximizing parking in those areas. This is especially important as he wishes to see the success of the hundreds of planned or developing apartment units in those downtowns.

For public safety, Donchez said the police will have a new barn for the mounted unit, new police dogs, and he proposing the reintroduction of car dash cameras and the purchase of officer body cameras next year.

Catalyst for Thanks
God's character is the foundation upon which our faith rests and the catalyst for giving thanks at all times. "O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever" (1 Chronicles 16:34); "...give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness" (Psalm 30:4); "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy name (character). O most High: To shew forth thy lovingkindness in the morning, and thy faithfulness every night" (Psalm 92:1-2).

In Psalm 119 we see that God's just and righteous nature inspires thanks and praise to God in difficult circumstances. Five times in Psalm 119 David refers to God's "righteous judgments" and other times he mentions that His judgments are "right" and "upright." The word "judgments" means "a verdict pronounced or a determination." David is acknowledging that God never has and never will make a mistake in His verdicts or decisions! This is cause for us to thank and praise God! "I will praise thee with uprightness of heart, when I shall have learned thy righteous judgments" (vs. 7); "At midnight I will rise to give thanks unto thee because of thy righteous judgments" (vs. 62); "Seven times a day do I praise thee because of thy righteous judgments" (vs. 164). Knowing that God will always do right in every situation induces thanksgiving! "I know that the LORD will maintain the cause of the afflicted, and the right of the poor. Surely the righteous shall give thanks unto thy name..." (Psalm 140:12-13).

Thanking and praising God in the midst of hardships affirms that we believe God is just and right in all His actions! Job is a perfect example of this. After he had heard the terrible news that all of his possessions had been destroyed or taken from him and that all of his children were killed, he "worshipped, and said, Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord" (Job 1:20-21).

Communicator Award. "Simply put, Dr. Roy is an extremely talented educational leader," said BASD Board President Mike Faccinotto. "He is a visionary at a time when politics and budgets in Pennsylvania don't allow many of us to see past the next hurdle. Over his six year tenure in Bethlehem Area, Dr. Roy has changed the culture, outlook and reputation of the district. I can't imagine where we would be without Dr. Roy and his leadership." Responding to a request for comment, Roy said, "While the recognition was for Superintendent of the Year, it's a team effort including our teachers, administrators, support staff, families, students and community partners. It is nice for the district to gain statewide recognition for the work we are doing. We are absolutely viewed as a leading district in the state."

Steelworkers honor veterans

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The United Steelworkers Union and Lehigh Valley Chapter of Nam Knights teamed up on Veterans' Day at the Third Street Armed Forces Memorial to pay tribute to those who served. In a ceremony attended by about 70 people, every veteran who was present was asked to come forward and identify himself. Each was provided with a carnation and a handwritten "Thank you" note written by a Broughal MS student. That school's marching band and choir also provided musical entertainment. The Nam Knights were born in the summer of 1989 when a small group of Harley-riding combat vets of the Viet Nam War, who were also police officers, banded together. They perform acts of charity that most recently included the installation of a ramp at the home of WWII vet William Putar. There are 939,000 veterans in Pennsylvania, and nearly 700,000 of them served while we were at war. About 57,000 are WWII vets.

Holiday traffic monitoring set

Members of the Lehigh Valley DUI/Highway Safety Task Force and community partners will participate in the 2016 Thanksgiving Click It Or Ticket "Operation Safe Holiday" enforcement effort scheduled for Nov. 20 - Dec. 4, which includes the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The mobilization is designed to maximize both day and nighttime seat belt use compliance by focusing on roadways with high numbers of unbelted crashes, injuries and deaths by initiating a combination of enforcement and public awareness activities.

Members of the Task Force provided educational information about seat belt use and aggressive and impaired driving to students and testing their alcohol IQ at Lehigh University Nov. 17 in anticipation of traditionally strong Thanksgiving weekend travel.

Stabbing

Following the report of a man being stabbed by another on Evans Street, police arrested Edgar Rodriguez, 39, of Bethlehem, Nov. 13.

According to police, Rodriguez stabbed the victim twice in the leg around 1:55 a.m. The man was taken by friends to St. Luke's University Hospital, where they provided officers with a description of the attacker.

Around 2:40 a.m. the three women who had assisted the victim to the hospital were at the 101 E. Broad St. 7-11 when Rodriguez entered.

This time he allegedly threatened them, grabbed a golf club one was using to protect herself, and used it to hit another woman. He picked up a cinder block and threw it at the third. He fled on foot as police were arriving and was apprehended after a brief chase.

The initial victim's life was not endangered by his injuries.

Rodriguez is charged with several counts of threats, harassment, reckless endangerment, simple assault and aggravated assault. He was remanded to Northampton County Prison.

Failure to register

Police arrested Amin B. Taylor Nov. 16 after a warrant was issued for his failure to register as a sex offender in the city.

According to court records, Taylor, 33, received similar charges in Northampton County in 2014 and Berks County in 2013.

Taylor was unable to post bail and was remanded to Northampton County Prison.

Heather Kasarda, Intake Supervisor for Juvenile Probation, informed the group about what that branch of the county justice system does and can do, not only in the courthouse, but also in schools, to make the juvenile probation process more effective.

Senior Deputy District Attorney Anna-Kristie Marks, who does presentations on the dangers and consequences of "sexting" in county middle schools, gave background on that program. It began in 2010 and over 50 presentations have been given since its inception. The meeting concluded with remarks from Senior Deputy District Attorney Jeffrey Dimmig, who heads the juvenile division, and who spearheaded the organization of the meeting. Dimmig emphasized resources available to schools to combat the challenges facing them. Dimmig encouraged educators to reach out to those offices represented at the meeting.

The next task force meeting is planned for April 2017, during which school personnel who deal directly with students will be the main participants and will be asked to give input into the meeting's agenda.

Foundation celebrates 50th anniversary

Kick-off grant goes to the City of Bethlehem for 275th Legacy Gift

The Lehigh Valley Community Foundation (LVCF) celebrated its 50th anniversary, by doing what it does best: Making grants to community organizations that work to improve the lives of those in the Lehigh Valley.

Bernie Story, president and CEO of LVCF, welcomed the group of over 200 community members to the kick-off in the Fowler Blast Furnace Room at Steel-Stacks recently.

"When we began discussing what we should be doing to celebrate our 50th anniversary, we considered the traditional activities: a breakfast, a lunch, or perhaps even a black-tie gala," Story noted. "But soon it was suggested that we not just celebrate the 50th on one day in 2017, and that we should focus on the thing we're really good at...making grants that spark interest in support of community needs in the Lehigh Valley."

The Lehigh Valley Community Foundation traces its roots to 1967 when community leaders in Bethlehem established an endowment with the $50,000 that remained after the city's 225th anniversary celebration. In recalling the Foundation's history, J. Marshall Wolff, president of Kressler, Wolff & Miller, and longtime member of the LVCF Board of Governors, said, "A lot has changed for the Foundation from 1967 to 2016.

In 1992, the Bethlehem Area Foundation's name was changed to the Lehigh Valley Community Foundation to reflect the beginning of a strong sense of regionalism among valley community leaders.

In 2006, the annual grant total reached $1 million for the first time. Ten years later annual grants to the community reached $3.5 million, bringing the lifetime total to more than $30 million.

In 2017, the Community Foundation will direct $50,000 of discretionary grant dollars to each of six chosen issues: Mental & Behavioral Health; Cultural Enrichment; Food & Housing Access; Environment & Sustainability; Human Trafficking; and Veterans Affairs.

Curtis "Hank" Barnette, a former governor of the Community Foundation, serving from 1992 - 2000, and a member of the Bethlehem 275th Anniversary Committee, opened the LVCF anniversary year by announcing a kick-off grant that has a very special meaning to the Foundation.

"What better way, then, to kick off the Foundation's 50th anniversary than to give back to the legacy from which we were born," said Barnette. "It is my honor to announce that the Community Foundation is granting $10,000 to the City of Bethlehem to launch its 275th Anniversary Legacy Gift."

"An important part of any anniversary celebration is an acknowledgement of its history, and Bethlehem's 275th Legacy Gift does just that," Barnette continued. "A memorial will be built to honor the more than 500 revolutionary war soldiers who drew their final breath in the general hospital, homes, inns and makeshift tents of Bethlehem."

Pa. coroners release overdose report

BY SUSAN BRYANT
sbryant@tnonline.com

The Pennsylvania State Coroners Association recently released the 2015 Report on Overdose Deaths in the Commonwealth.

All 67 counties have provided their data on the number of deaths and the drugs involved in those deaths.

While coroners are in regular contact with their local law enforcement and provide current information to various county officials, this report represents a compilation of the types of drugs and user demographics across the commonwealth.

Drug related deaths have increased 30 percent from 2014 to 2015.

That means there are 10 Pennsylvanians who die every day from drug misuse.

Heroin, cocaine and marijuana use continues to rise, along with the increase in the co-occurring use of fentanyl and synthetic fentanyl.

The use of synthetic cannabinoids is now being seen in the toxicology.

There are several ways in which these drug related deaths may be characterized and each requires a solution which considers the Take-back nets 670 lbs.

Lehigh County residents disposed of 670 pounds of expired and unused over-the-counter and prescription medications during the 12th National Take Back Day Oct. 22.

The total of drugs collected during all Take Back Day events since 2010 is 10,774 pounds.

In addition to the drugs discarded during the Take Back Days, 9,969 pounds of medication have been collected from 16 permanent medication collection boxes that are located in 12 police departments, three Lehigh Valley Hospital sites and Air Products. The boxes were first installed in Lehigh County police departments in 2013, and other locations later were added.

"The large amount of drugs collected shows that Lehigh County residents are aware of the dangers of accumulating medications in their homes and want to properly dispose of them," said District Attorney James B. Martin. "There is a greater awareness of opioid addiction and overdoses, and these collections are an important initiative in combatting the prevalence of addictive drugs in our communities."

unique variables:

- There is the group of children either born with Narcotics Addiction Syndrome or toddlers exposed to drugs and those drugs used for treatment who in error access them with fatal results.
- There is the group of teens and younger adults who are experimenting with drugs, perhaps as a matter of peer pressure.
- There is the vast majority of adults who perhaps believe that the American Dream has passed them by, have become addicted and see no clear path to recovery or have been unable to readily access the means of recovery.

- There are the elder citizens who are generally not experimenting with illegal drugs but are overdosing on prescribed medications.
- And, lastly, there are the veterans who have volunteered to serve our country and who come home with medical issues and mental health issues for which they have been receiving inadequate treatment in the form of a cocktail of drugs – a sleeping pill, anti-anxiety medication, an anti-depressant, and an anti-psychotic and sometimes, even a stimulant.

PSCA commends the Center for Rural Pennsylvania, chaired by Senator Gene Yaw for its extensive hearings in the matter of heroin use.

PSCA also commends the House Policy Committee chairs, Representative Kerry Benninghoff and Representative Mike Sturla for their initiation of a continuing discussion on the nuances of the drug abuse issue and how it can be tackled.

Drug abuse and addiction has no one-size-fits-all solution.

It is an issue that has no age boundaries and doesn't matter whether you are rich or poor. It affects all of us.

No one can sit and passively observe this epidemic.

It affects every one of us through our families, communities and work places.

Pennsylvania's coroners are willing to assist the legislature in finding solutions in answer to the drug crisis.

Hawks advance in state playoffs

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

There are plenty of things to be grateful for during the Thanksgiving holiday, but if you're a local high school football player who's still playing, a Thursday practice might be just as satisfying as a roasted turkey.

Bethlehem Catholic coaches and players certainly acted that way following last week's 51-20 victory over Pottsgrove in the opening round of the PIAA 4A quarterfinals at Northern Lehigh.

The Hawks ability to capitalize on Pottsgrove mistakes, coupled with their proficient offense clicking on all-cylinders in the second half pushed Becahi to a convincing victory over their District One champion counterparts, as they now prep for this Saturday's quarterfinal contest against District 6 champion Johnstown.

But the elation of grabbing a state tournament win was only magnified by the resounding importance of being able to practice on Thanksgiving.

"Practicing on Thanksgiving has always been an important goal for any team at this point of the season," said Hawks head coach Kyle Haas. "I think it shows what this team has been all about this season. We preach team all the time to our kids and when you watch our games, it seems like a new player steps up every week. When you get to this point of the season you have to eliminate mistakes and increase your physicality. There's only four teams left in the East, so it's just going to get tougher from here on out."

The Hawks (10-3) were able to take advantage of Pottsgrove miscues and eventually wear down the Falcons (8-5) in the fourth quarter with their physical play up front.

Becahi took advantage of two early Pottsgrove mistakes to pave their way to victory, none bigger than a 97-yard fumble return by defensive back Nick Petros with 1:28 left in the first quarter to give the Hawks a 17-0 lead.

Pottsgrove's star running back, Rahtul Faison, was en route to having his team score their first points of the night late in the first, until defensive end PJ Weierbach punched the ball loose, leading to Petros scooping it up and racing the other way for a 14-point swing.

The Hawks first TD of the night came when Pottsgrove fumbled an attempted punt at their own 14-yard line, leading to a 14-yard TD run by Randy Terry.

But it was Petros' big-play that kept swinging momentum in Becahi's favor and set the tone for the night.

"I just saw the fumble, picked it up and was hoping nobody would

Freedom falls in District 11 final

BY MIKE HAINES
mhaines@tnonline.com

Freedom came into the district title game as the hottest team in the area. The Patriots had won five straight, including their last three games of the regular season and two district playoffs games.

But they ran into a team that seems to get hot every November when they fell to five-time champion Parkland 24-14 in Friday's District 11 Class 6A title game at J. Birney Crum Stadium.

The Patriots started the game with the momentum of their five-game streak and last week's win over top-seeded Emmaus, but Parkland overcame a 14-3 deficit with three unanswered touchdowns.

"We were able to pound it late and wear them down," said Trojan head coach Tim Moncman. "They're a heck of a football team. They have a lot of weapons. I'm proud of our kids, especially our defense. They got a couple big plays but after that we came to play."

Freedom (8-5) opened the scoring on its second possession, when Cyrus Thompson got free for a 42-yard touchdown run to give his team a 7-0 lead with 5:28 left in the first quarter.

A Brian Hanton field goal made it 7-3 late in the first quarter.

The Patriots, which forced punts on two of Parkland's first three possessions, took a 14-3 lead when quarterback Joe Young found Sean

Greater Johnstown next up for Becahi

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

You can say that Bethlehem Catholic and Greater Johnstown are both happy to be where they are in the PIAA football playoffs when they square off at 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon at Chambersburg High School in a PIAA 4A quarterfinal matchup.

On one hand, you have Becahi (10-3), who aren't newcomers to the PIAA dance party and then you have Greater Johnstown (12-1), the District 6 champion, who defeated Jersey Shore 42-32 last week for their first ever PIAA tournament victory.

The win also set the mark for the most wins in school history, as they head into this week's bout with the Hawks.

The winner of this contest moves on to the state semifinals against District 12 champion Imhotep Charter (12-0), who you can conceivably punch in to the semifinals already with their mini college talented roster.

Becahi will look to slow down a Trojan offense that got 120 yards and two touchdowns on the ground from running back Bryce Gibson and 272 yards and three TD's from quarterback Austin Barber.

The Trojans got off to similar footing as Becahi did against Pottsgrove in their win over Jersey Shore, by taking a commanding lead early and never looking back, as Gibson took the opening kickoff 72 yards for a TD. Barber then threw a 33-yard TD pass on their first offensive series and just like that, Johnstown had a 14-0 lead just under four minutes in their state opener.

Warrington for a 61-yard touchdown with 8:07 left in the first half.

Parkland (10-3) responded by riding the hot hand of junior quarterback Michael Ruisch and it resulted in a 15-yard touchdown pass to Frank Guida that cut the lead to 14-10.

Ruisch completed five passes to four different receivers on the scoring drive, moving his team 69 yards in five plays.

After forcing a Freedom punt, Parkland took the lead with a 10-play touchdown drive that culminated with Nick Surliel's two-yard touchdown and a 17-14 Parkland lead with 1:05 left before halftime.

The Trojans stuck with their passing game on the touchdown drive as Ruisch completed three of seven attempts before handing off to Surliel for the score.

"We knew if we spread it out they'd be in a 3-4," said Moncman. "We knew Michael was comfortable with that.

Kayla Drago breaks Arcadia swim mark

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Liberty High School graduate, Kayla Drago, began her collegiate swimming career by breaking a school record in the 100 butterfly on Oct. 15 at Arcadia University in Glenside, Pa.

In the Knights' season opener against Hood College, Drago took first place in the fly with a time of 1:02.58.

Drago was also part of the 200 medley relay team, which placed first in the same meet, with a time of 1:51.91, just .68 seconds off the school record, and she was part of the 200 free relay team, which also placed first, with a time of 1:43.60, just .49 seconds off the school record.

The following week in Arcadia's tri-meet against FDU-Florham and Misericordia, Drago took first place in the 100 fly with a time of 1:03.21.

Two weeks later, Drago came in first in the 100 fly with a time of 1:02.68 during Arcadia's meet against Wilkes. She also swam in the 200 medley relay, which placed first in 1:57.27, and in the 200 free relay, which also placed first in 1:44.62.

On the weekend of Nov. 18-20, the Knights competed at the Diamond City Invitational in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. where their 200 free relay team, on which Drago swam, set a new record with a time of 1:41.60. The previous record had been set at the Mid Atlantic Conference Swimming Championships in 2015 in 1:43.11.

As of Press deadlines, Arcadia was in first place at the Diamond City Invitational with 421 points and 24 events completed.

The Knights are also undefeated on the season, winning their meets against Hood 132-17, FDU-Florham 218-27, Misericordia 182-76, and Wilkes 177-33.

Liberty won the EPC championship but unfortunately fell in the District 11 finals.

Hurricanes season ends in opening round of states

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Liberty's run on the volleyball courts ended in the first round of the PIAA tournament, as the Hurricanes fell to Bishop Shanahan in four sets 25-19, 15-25, 24-26, 16-25.

It marked the end of a successful campaign for Hurricanes, who finished the season 21-2, but lost their final matches of the year to Parkland in the District 11 championship and then to the Eagles in states.

"Our goal all year was to get to states," said head coach Missy Lynn. "We were happy to earn a chance to play. It was disappointing to all of us to lose in the district finals. It put us against much tougher competition in states and unfortunately, we just couldn't pick up the win in the first round."

Liberty did take away an East Penn Conference title to show for their undefeated run this year before stumbling to Parkland in the district championship. The Trojans ended the year as state runners-up, but Lynn doesn't look back at the season as a lost opportunity to capitalize on the talent the Hurricanes had, rather as a reflection of what they achieved.

"I've learned that the journey is more important than the destination," she said. "We fought through some very tough times as a team, school and community this season and we've come out stronger for it. I'm so proud of who they are as young student athletes and I hope our seniors have some awesome memories of their time with us at Liberty volleyball. They should be extremely proud."

Players that will graduate from the program include Amanda

Rachwal and Sydney Wilson, who both earned first team EPC honors, as well as Taylor Rezac and Kristin Kaleycik.

"Three of these seniors have been on varsity since they were freshmen, and all four of them have played key roles in the growth of our program," Lynn said. "They've been a part of seasons that didn't make conference playoffs or even districts. The past two years, they all became the leaders we needed on our team."

"We are very proud of the impact we've made in the conference and hope to continue our growth and remain highly competitive in the future."

Pates cheers take first

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Freedom High School's cheerleaders took first place in the large varsity division at the 2016 Moravian College Turkey Bowl Cheerleading Competition on Nov. 19 at Moravian College.

"We went crazy," said Freedom captain, Camryn Spina. "This year we were so confident. We have a lot of talent on our team, and this is one of the first years everyone is tumbling, so we're making a lot of progress and working together as athletes."

The Patriots have been preparing for competition season since August, and this was their first competition of the year.

"We've never competed in November before because we were never ready," Spina said. "We were as nervous as any team would be, but it was more like a positive vibe. We were excited about competing."

The Patriots' routine began with a cheer, followed by the music portion, which is now bound by new restrictions due to copyright issues.

"We have to use one song or a mix of original songs, so we chose the mix because our band drum line is in it, and it brings out the heart of our spirit program," said Spina.

The Freedom Family theme is one the Patriots take seriously and have for a number of years.

"It includes the band, the Riot Squad, and all of our sports teams,"

Spina said. "We were working [football] game stuff while working our competition routine, but I think that helped because the spirit of the whole school was working."

While competing, the Patriot cheerleaders hit their partner stunts perfectly, as well as their tumbling passes.

"Our pyramid had a few bobbles, but we were able to save that," said Spina.

The Patriots were awarded a gold team trophy for their Turkey Bowl victory.

Freedom's next competition will be the East Penn Conference Cheerleading Competition scheduled for Dec. 7. The team is coached by Lynn Spira

Kipp takes second place

BY KATIE MCDONALD

Freedom High School cheerleader, Keri Kipp, placed second in the tumble-off at the 2016 Moravian College Turkey Bowl Cheerleading Competition on Nov. 19 at Moravian College.

The individual tumble-off competition was in addition to the team competition, and Kipp, a junior, was awarded a certificate after completing a round off, handspring, whip, handspring, handspring, full.

Upper Perkiomen's Kayla Meyers placed first in the tumble-off.

Four Patriot cheerleaders then participated in the jump-off competition. All were required to do a double toe touch.

Seniors, Connor Grozier, Stephanie Keeler, and sophomores, Alexa Francera, and Tatiana Francis competed. Francera and Francis advanced to the second round.

The tumble-off and the jump-off were open to any cheerleader who wanted to compete.

He threw it around. It was a huge drive. The kids never quit. And we just kept plugging, kept plugging.

"In the second half our defense played lights out."

A Guida interception three plays later put Parkland in position to attempt a field goal at the end of the first half, but Hanton's attempt was just short.

The Trojans opened the second half with an 11-play drive that covered 74 yards and ended with a nine-yard Guida touchdown run.

With a 24-14 lead, Parkland relied on its defense to close out the win.

The Patriots put together three long drives in the second half, but they were unable to turn them into points. One ended with a red zone interception and another stalled on downs on the Parkland 30-yard line.

"They're going to fight to the bitter end," said Patriot head coach Jason Roeder. "They're going to stay together and they're not going to point fingers. That's who we have to be. That's Freedom football. That's our way. They exemplify that, the senior group."

Roeder will miss Young and his senior classmates. The group led the team back from a 3-4 start to the season all the way to the district title game.

"It was a special journey," said Roeder. "We had our backs against the wall for a long time. Whenever you get high school kids to respond to adversity it's neat to see. This one hurts real bad tonight."

The pain wasn't just about the loss. It was more about having to say goodbye to a group of players that put their hearts and souls into the program for the past four years.

"They've helped turn the program around," said Roeder. "When they were freshmen we were 2-8. They got us to the playoffs three straight times. They won a league championship last year and got close to that next goal of winning that district title. I'm going to miss them."

catch me," said Petros. "It was a big shift in momentum and really got us going. We knew it was going to be a tough game, so that was a big turning point."

Becahi looked like they had wrapped up the night just before the half when Javon Clements threw a 44-yard TD strike to Karim Powell with 20 seconds left to give the Hawks a 24-0 advantage heading into intermission.

Pottsgrove, however, didn't go down without a fight, scoring three touchdowns in the third quarter, only to have them nullified by three Becahi touchdowns in the same frame, giving the Hawks a 45-20 lead entering the final quarter.

By the time the final 12 minutes had started, the result was in hand, as the Hawks capped the scoring with an 18-yard TD run by Daizhun Rhodes with 3:38 left in the contest.

After a slow start, including a first half interception, Clements finished the night strong, completing 9-of-11 attempts for 211 yards and three touchdowns (two passing).

Rhodes ran for two touchdowns and Terry collected 129 yards on 17 carries to go along with his first quarter TD. Powell caught three balls for 115 yards and a score, as Becahi was hitting on all cylinders as Friday's contest gathered more steam.

"As the game went on, I thought our defense did a great job," said Haas. "Our kids had a great week of practice and to beat a team like Pottsgrove 51-20, I think we're definitely heading in the right direction."

That direction means football practice and turkey for the Hawks this Thursday, which is something everyone in brown and gold is thankful for.

"It's kind of a measuring stick for every football program in the state of Pennsylvania," said Haas. "If you're practicing on Thanksgiving it means that you're winning football games. We'll get in early, get out early, enjoy our Thanksgiving and get ready to play next weekend."

Prediction: Johnstown 35 — Bethlehem Catholic 31 position. But, a two-hour road trip to Chambersburg, against a high-scoring team could mean the end of Becahi's season.

NEXT

A fast start is what both teams would like to achieve this week, but just as Hawks coach Kyle Haas noted following the win over Pottsgrove, things only get tougher at this point of the season when you're battling with the final four teams left in eastern Pennsylvania.

"I'm excited to see how our kids are going to react," Haas said of the prospects of this week's contest. "It's going to be a long trip, but they've been embracing the process all year long. I've told them that we've seen more ups and downs this season than anybody. That builds character and I think they have to understand that as long as we stay in games mentally, we'll be in it. It's just another step for the program and we're ready to get after it."

Jersey Shore was able to throw for 325 yards against Johnstown last week, showing signs of cracks in their secondary that Becahi's talented skill position players can take advantage of this week.

Unlike Pottsgrove, Johnstown is a bit more seasoned, in terms of playoff experience, but have a more versatile offensive attack, topping the 40 point more six times this season, as their only loss was a 21-14 defeat to Bishop Guilfoyle on October 21.

Barber, a junior QB, has thrown for 2,239 yards and 24 touchdowns this season with only four interceptions. Gibson, a senior, has run for 1,318 yards and 17 TD's.

Both players are fielding D-I offers.

Senior wideout Exree Loe has 34 catches for 863 yards and seven touchdowns to lead the team, and senior Theo Tinsley has 17 catches for 375 yards and four touchdowns.

Loe, a West Virginia commit, who also plays safety, had eight catches for 155 yards and a TD last week.

This matchup for the Hawks will be night and day from Pottsgrove's power approach. Johnstown is a spread based offense that has plenty of weapons and D-I talent Becahi has to worry about. The Hawks have the luxury of their own film playing against a spread team like Central Catholic twice this season, so that should benefit Haas and company.

This will be a battle between which skill units out perform the other, but football is always a game won in the trenches and the Hawks have the advantage in that area.

If Javon Clements can play a consistent game for four quarters, the Hawks will be in good

FOUNTAIN HILL No tax increase in 2017 budget

BY TRACY RICE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The announcement that there will be no tax increase for 2017 for the Borough of Fountain Hill, was met with resounding applause at council's Nov. 7 meeting. The original proposal was to raise taxes, but the council was able to take $50,000 out of the fund balance to cover the cost. The library tax rate also did not go up.

The borough has the opportunity to have PPL change out all 257 streetlights in the borough. The total charge would cost the Borough $172 and PPL will have it done in 90 days. Having PPL change all the streetlights to LED bulbs will save time and money. A motion was made by Carolee Gifford and Annamarie Jordan made the second. The motion carried and Executive Administrator Tony Branco will move forward with the project.

Mayor Jose Rosado thanked everyone for maintaining the family atmosphere during Trick or Treat Oct. 28. The firehouse had a continuous flow of people going through its haunted house. There were no incidents to report from that night, so the police were able to stop and talk to kids and hand out candy.

The American Legion of Fountain Hill presented the Borough council with an unrestricted donation of $7,200.

Harold Wagner, a concerned citizen, expressed his concern to the council regarding the curb cut out at the doctors pavilion off of Delaware Ave. The problem he sees is that people are making the turn and not seeing the curb there. They are having to get their cars towed and tires are ruined. Harold spoke with the engineers at St. Luke's and they told him to talk to Fountain Hill Council. Council assured Harold that they would speak with St. Luke's concerning the matter.

The Public Works committee brought up the topic of replacing the borough dump truck this year. The current truck is a 2001 Ford F450 with a plow and salt spreader. The body is rusted out and there are some mechanical issues. They would like to purchase a new one. The proposed purchase would be for a 2016 F550 4x4 diesel dump truck with a stainless steel body. It comes with a plow, lights and salt spreader. The borough can get $9,000 trade in value and a five-year lease to purchase. The only changes would be to switch the plow that comes with it to an angle plow and it would need a tarp.

Branco stated the borough should get 20 years out of the new truck. The dealership will hold the truck until Jan. 1. Norm Blatt made the motion to approve the purchase and Doug Trotter made the second. The motion carried and the borough will move forward with the purchase.

The Christmas Tree Lighting will be held on Dec. 4 at 4 p.m. at the Tinsley-Jeter Triangle. Due to unforeseen circumstances it does not look like the fire department will be selling Christmas trees this year. Residents can look for signs regarding the situation.

Fountain Hill has added lots of new personnel this year and the borough will see a few more changes. The Public Works Department is down one person. Through word that the borough was looking for someone. Christian Smith stepped forward. The committee interviewed him and it went well. He came with great recommendations. He has a Class A CDL license and has the experience for the job. The department sought council's approval to hire Smith. There was much discussion on this topic, as council members discussed the way they went through the hiring process in the BLACK FRIDAY ONLY! 15% OFF EVERYTHING IN THE STORE!

Excludes sale items and special orders. Spend $50 or more & receive $10 SNF Cash good toward next purchase

As Thanksgiving draws near, retailers begin dropping hints about their Black Friday promotions. Some stores have begun to open their doors on Thanksgiving evening, after many people have filled up on turkey and trimmings.

Smart shoppers recognize that Black Friday is a great time to find deals on holiday gifts, and following these tips can help shoppers save even more.

- Begin researching early. Since many retailers begin posting information online or send out advertisements about sale items far in advance of Black Friday, shoppers should pay attention to each retailer's offerings so they can better coordinate their shopping efforts.
- Establish a shopping budget. It's tempting to go out shopping with credit cards blazing, but that may lead to overspending. Determine what you can afford and set a budget for Black Friday shopping.
- Look for extra discounts. The early bird often gets the worm, but late shoppers also may benefit on Black Friday. Determine which times of the day stores are offering their biggest discounts. Doorbuster sales tend to start very early, but such sales might be irrelevant if only items you do not need are being discounted.

The borough would interview any prospects. The problem is that the department is already short handed and does not want to go into the winter season down one person, that could affect the entire borough. Public Works feels that this should be an exception, because it saved the council money from advertising. The also committee felt it had a good fit with Smith. He came with great recommendations, he had the job requirements and they felt he would be a good fit for the department.

The motion was made by Annamarie Jordan to hire Christian Smith and the second was made by Doug Trotter. It was not a unanimous decision, but the ayes were 3-2 over the no's.

The next personnel discussion was brought up by Doug Trotter. Bethany Sebesta, who works for the Finance Department, discussed the pros and cons of what she could do to help Tony Branco, executive administrator. Finance is recommending a promotion for Sebesta. The motion was made by Doug Trotter and the second was made by Carloe Gifford. This decision was unanimous and the motion carried.

One last item was an update to the search for a new solicitor for Fountain Hill. Council will have four people to interview and will set up an evening session to conduct the interviews.

BLACK FRIDAY DEALS

- Divide and conquer. Split up the shopping responsibilities so you and your family can get your shopping done quickly. The divide and conquer approach allows you to cover more ground and ensures someone will be there to claim the best deals from various retailers.
- Dress comfortably for shopping. Malls and department stores may be crowded and can be warm, so dress in layers so you can remove clothing if you get hot. You'll probably do a good deal of walking on Black Friday, so make sure to wear comfortable shoes.
- Have discount codes at the ready. Many retailers now use digital apps or emails to keep in touch with customers. These same apps may enable smartphone users to search for discount codes and other coupons. Keep digital coupons handy so they can be presented quickly at checkout.

Black Friday is one of the best days of the year to land steep discounts on a variety of merchandise and services. Make the shopping trip even more successful this time around.

Engaging in circles

The International Institute of Restorative Practices attracts hundreds to its world conference in Bethlehem

BY CAROLE GORNEY
Special to the Bethlehem Press

More than 300 people from 10 countries attended the three-day International Institute of Restorative Practices' World Conference held in October at the Hotel Bethlehem and the IIRP's graduate school campus on Main Street in Historic Bethlehem. Countries represented included Pakistan, Australia, the Netherlands, Singapore and Canada.

Restorative practices is an emerging social science that studies ways to restore and develop social well-being and interaction through participatory learning and decision-making. The institute in Bethlehem is the world's first graduate school devoted exclusively to teaching restorative practices. It offers a master of science degree and a graduate certificate locally and, with its partners, provides train-the-trainer programs worldwide.

The conference featured 70 sessions with speakers and presentations on how restorative practices are being applied in a myriad of situations, such as resolving relationship issues involving education, communities, law enforcement, penal systems, business and work environments.

Two conciliation specialists from the U.S. Department of Justice tackled the timely subject of "Affectively Engaging Police and Communities When Responding to Allegations of Racial Profiling and Racial Tension." Mildred Duprey de Robles from the DOJ's Miami field office began by showing a video that reported that 54 percent of African Americans say they have been discriminated against by police because of race and color.

De Robles explained that conciliation specialists "are not investigators or prosecutors. Our goal is to seek cooperation with those in conflict. We facilitate dialogue."

That dialogue takes place through "study circles," an approach that involves bringing together all the major parties affected by the issue under discussion. That can mean the mayor, other city officials, community leaders, the police chief, the business community, schools and residents.

De Robles said a very important aspect of the circles is "to unite the community through informed sharing of the local racial history and its consequences." She added that these discussions happen in real time. "Sometimes people are rallying or demonstrating, and they agree to come together."

Conciliation specialist Kim Milstead from the DOJ Houston field office explained that study circles involve four phases: 1) "Who we are" - trying to build trust by getting the parties to talk about their personal experiences; 2) "Where are we?" - describing the overall state of race relations in the community and highlighting different individuals' perceptions; 3) "Where do we want to go?" - moving the group from the "me" to thinking and talking about possible directions for change; and 4) "What can; what will we do to make a difference?"

During one of the "teach-engage" sessions, about 60 attendees participated in "Circle Up: Using the Framework of Restorative Practice to Facilitate Dialogue Around Diversity." The demonstration circle was led by Dr. Stacey Miller, a diversity training expert, who began her session by asking participants to pair with another person in the room, and discuss what they found most challenging and most inspiring about diversity conversations.

"This is how I begin almost all my diversity training," Miller said. "I get people to get up and move around. We don't know each other. As presenter, I want to know immediately how they are. [It's also] a temperature read of the space. You want people to be safely grounded in the space." She recommended always training in circles because everyone is on equal footing and no one can hide. Circles also can accommodate different group sizes and learning styles.

Her advice for facilitators dealing with conflict: "To be effective, you have to be vulnerable—open up, share personal stories about your challenges, your mistakes. We engage by role modeling vulnerability and authenticity."

Restorative practices are being used in juvenile detention centers to train staff and help reintegrate juvenile offenders into society. Kathryn Rayford is director of training and program development for Illinois Balanced and Restorative Justice (IBARJ). She said work is just beginning. In the future, they hope to expand to involve families, judges, courts and lawyers.

Audience member Sonja Smith is a hearing officer for the Charlotte-Mecklenberg Schools in North Carolina. She told attendees at the presentation on police and community tensions, that students in her schools wanted a conversation and a voice after the fatal police shooting of a black man in Charlotte in September. As a result, discussion circles are being planned to include students and school newspaper editors, as well as police officers. There will be 28 separate meetings in what is being called the "Your Voice Matters Tour."

Diversity trainer Stacey Mill, Ed.D, told about 60 participants in her circle that diversity means race for white people, but it is very broad. It includes sexuality, skin color, language, age, mental and physical abilities, religion and political affiliations.

Michael Calvert, an elementary school principal in Pittsburgh, and Mary Ann Mason from Baton Rouge, La., were paired in the "Circle Up" dialogue on diversity. Calvert said he is struggling as a white principal with white teachers and a student population that is 60 percent black. Mason, who received her diploma from the IIRP graduate school the day before the conference, said restorative practices help build trust, ease tensions and encourage acceptance.

Family workshop marks Veterans Day at the NMIH

The National Museum of Industrial History in South Bethlehem celebrated Veterans Day with guest speakers and exhibits honoring American veterans and the workers of Bethlehem Steel. An exhibit of the 75th anniversary of the "E" Flag and related items that recognized the production excellence of Bethlehem Steel during World War II was featured in the hallway entrance to the museum. Family workshops encouraged children to make paper pennant versions of the historic "E" flag and woven holiday ornaments in recognition of the local silk industry. The Smithsonian-affiliated museum, which opened earlier this year, is open Wednesday through Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and is located at 602 E. Second St.

Classical Ice

CLASSICAL VIEWS

By Diane Wittry

Great images come to mind when you think of a "Symphony Orchestra on Ice."

I can see the tuba player skating along next to the piccolo player, and maybe the cellists sitting on chairs being pushed by the percussion section, but it got a little tricky when I tried to figure out how they would hold their music, skate and play their instruments all at the same time.

So, when we say it is a "Symphony on Ice" I have to admit that although the members of the Allentown Symphony will be performing great holiday music while sitting on a platform on top of the ice at PPL Center in downtown Allentown, we won't actually be the people on the skates.

The first "Symphony on Ice Holiday Spectacular" is at 7 p.m. Dec. 1, PPL Center, Seventh and Hamilton streets, Allentown. With a cast of almost 400 people, including skaters, singers and symphony musicians, this is sure to be a night to remember.

"Jim and I wanted to create an event that would showcase the arts by bringing together the Allentown Symphony Orchestra, local choirs and figure-skating groups for an exciting performance of what we hope will grow to be an annual tradition," says Rob Brooks, co-owner, BDH Development LLC.

"We believe this is a great way to support the strong arts community we have here in the Lehigh Valley and we hope that this event can expand the reach and viewership of one of the Valley's great assets: The Allentown Symphony," adds Jim Brooks, co-owner, BDH Development.

Joining us for this fun-filled evening of holiday cheer will be Adam Rippon, the 2016 Gold Medal National Skating Champion, and about 100 members of the Penguins Figure Skating Club.

Rippon, 26, is famous for his effortless triple axels and his signature quad lutz. The Scranton native was propelled into stardom when in 2008 he won the U.S. Junior Skating title and also Gold medals in the Junior Worlds competition. He continues to excel and just a few weeks ago won the bronze medal in his international season debut in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he set a new International Skating Union personal best score and was credited with landing his first quad toe loop in competition.

The Penguins Skate Club has been part of the Lehigh Valley for more than 75 years. The Penguins Skate Club, formed originally at the Allentown Ice Palace in 1941, moved to the Steel Ice Center, 320 E. First St., Bethlehem, in 2004. The Penguins is the second oldest figure skating club in the Pennsylvania.

Members of the Penguin Figure Skating club range in age from 5 to 75, and the club offers programs for skaters in all disciplines. Many of the club's skaters have gone on to great success, receiving gold medals at regional and national competitions.

Also performing with the Allentown Symphony for "Symphony on Ice" is the William Allen High School Chorale, Easton Area High School Concert Choir and Parkland High School Women's Select Choir. They will help us "sing in the holidays," See IEWS on page B2 intense student of the obsolete technology that was commercially introduced in 1873.

The process involves Shillea mixing his own photochemical compounds to develop the images taken by one of his vintage cameras. Three of Shillea's view cameras are on display at the gallery. Each camera was designed to hold a ground-glass plate for focusing and composing the image, which would be replaced with a film negative or plate mounted in a holder. The hand-mixed developing solution would be brushed on platinum paper, then dried before being exposed to ultraviolet light.

The photographs of nudes, portraits and still-lives in the PSU gallery start with Shillea's work from 1977. He shot these with his replica of an antique model 4x5-inch view camera. The print is the same size as the negative, as it would have been in the early years of photography. Each frame holds two prints, like his "Two Portraits No. 2" (platinum prints). One photograph is of a female nude reflected in the round mirror of an antique dresser. The other is of an interior wall where a painting of a well-dressed woman is displayed.

In "Artist in a Floating World" (platinum print and pigment print; 1978-2016) Shillea juxtaposes the image he shot with his 8x10-inch view camera with a ukiyo-e print of a Japanese Kabuki theater actor for an "east-meets west" theme. His self-portrait from 1978 was taken with a Krohn Kodak Model classic field-studio camera circa 1930s. The work was created by the artist this year.

Shillea explains, "The Kabuki image was overprinted via an archival inkjet printer on top of my platinum print self-portrait." According to Shillea, "The term 'ukiyo-e' translates as 'picture[s] of the floating world.'"

Says Shillea, "My extensive studies over the past 40-plus years of ancient Greek and Roman art and mythology and the Italian Renaissance have had a profound influence on my personal artwork."

With "Mars and Venus" (platinum print; 2014), the artist makes a combination print with two negatives. The male model represents "Mars" while the female model represents "Venus." Shillea then colored in the female model's jewelry with color pencil. He calls this process "over-tones," creating visual pieces akin to audio sounds in music.

"Recent trips to Italy allowed me to make even stronger connections with the art of Renaissance Humanism, and hence the world of sacred and profane imagery, or as the Italians refer to, 'fra secoloe devoto,' between the secular and devout, and my own artwork," Shillea says.

"Vandalized Christ" (platinum print with gold leaf; 2014) depicts a vintage print of a suffering Jesus wearing a crown of thorns under a pane of broken glass. The image has a gold-leaf halo and there is gold leaf randomly applied on the glass shards.

An 11x14-inch Universal Model view camera circa 1930s was used by Shillea in creating "Binjinga No. 1" (platinum print and hand colored; 2015) of a young, light-haired woman wearing a kimono. Multi-color Japanese calligraphy is rendered onto the black background.

Shillea continues to work in and teach the Platinotype process. He sustained a concussion when struck by an outdoor café umbrella pole in September. Shillea expects to return to Northampton Community College where he is director of art programs, once he is fully recovered.

October LV house sales up marginally

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased ever so slightly in October, continuing a rebound that began in September after two straight months of declining closed sales, according to figures released Nov. 14 by the Greater Lehigh Valley Realtors (GLVR).

Closed sales were up 0.7 percent in October to 687, compared to 682 in October 2015.

For the year-to-date, closed sales have increased 7.3 percent to 6,650 from 6,200 in 2015.

Pending sales again increased, but by single digits in October not the double-digit increase in September, by 8.5 percent to 678 in October from 625 in October 2015.

For the year-to-date 2016, pending sales have increased 8.5 percent to 7,060, compared to 6,508 for 2015, the GLVR reported.

New listings decreased 8.6 percent to 868 from 950 in October 2015.

Predictable market

According to a statement in the GLVR report, the October data shows that, as we enter the final quarter of 2016, not much has changed since the year began.

"Market predictions have been, in a word, predictable," said GLVR CEO Justin Poremba. "A relatively comfortable pace of activity has been maintained thanks to continuing low unemployment and mortgage rates." However, Poremba noted, the one basic drag on market acceleration has been inventory decline. "There is little to indicate that the low inventory situation will resolve anytime soon," he said.

Inventory levels in October decreased 41.4 percent to 2,608 units from 4,452 units in October 2015.

Prices continued to gain traction. The median sales price increased 1.5 percent to $174,000 from $171,500 in October 2015.

The average sales price decreased 1.3 percent in October to $197,846 from $200,487 in October 2015.

The percentage of list price received was again stable, up 0.5 percent in October to 96.8 percent from 96.3 percent in October 2015.

The housing affordability index decreased incrementally, down 0.5 percent in October, compared to October 2015.

Days on market was down 22.9 percent to 54 days from 70 days in October 2015.

Sellers were encouraged, according to the GLVR report, as months supply of inventory was down 45.8 percent to 3.9 months from 7.2 months in October 2015.

Confounding the inventory issue, according to GLVR President Christopher Raad, is that while builder confidence is as high as it has been in more than a decade, the pace of economic growth has been slow enough to cause pause.

"A low number of first-time buyer purchases and a looming demographic shift also seem to be curbing the desire to start new single-family construction projects," Raad said. "As older Americans retire and downsize, single-family listings are expected to rise. The waiting is the hardest part."

Monthly closed sales

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased 5.7 percent in September to 673, compared to 637 in September 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley decreased 4 percent in August to 769, compared to 801 in August 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley decreased 11.4 percent in July to 714, compared to 806 in July 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased 3.7 percent in June to 858, compared to 827 in June 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased 14.9 percent in May to 681, compared to 629 in May 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased 15.5 percent in April to 617, compared to 534 in April 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley decreased 4.6 percent in March to 520, compared to 545 in March 2015. Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased 23.8 percent in February to 437 from 353 in February 2015.

Closed sales of houses in the Lehigh Valley increased 14.4 percent in January to 445 from 389 in January 2015.

Carbon County overview

In Carbon County, new listings declined 4.9 percent to 78. Prices ticked up slightly with a 0.2 percent increase to $101,250. Inventory remained low, sliding 33 percent to 370 units.

The monthly housing data is collected by the GLVR from its Multiple Listing Service, a comprehensive database that includes housing market information from its more than 2,000 Realtor members.

The GLVR is a not-for-profit trade association providing professional development and training resources, competitive market information, legislative advocacy, a peer review and mediation process for members, and a dispute resolution service for consumers.

The GLVR owns and operates the Greater Lehigh Valley Multiple Listing Service, the Greater Lehigh Valley Real Estate Academy and is publisher of Greater Lehigh Valley Real Estate Weekly.

Never take a moment for granted

Waiting in line at the grocery store, I heard a short conversation as two friends greeted each other.

"What's new?" asked the guy. "Same old, same old?" he quizzed.

"Yeah, it's just same old, same old," answered the woman.

Both were fairly young. Too young, I suppose, to know that anyone who says life is "same old, same old" is without complaint because that means they haven't been stabbed with misfortune or big problems.

When we get older we know life can turn on a dime. We know that life can swing from routine to troubling or even tragic.

It's not being a pessimist to say that. Recognizing that life doesn't stay the same forever can actually help us better appreciate the good moments we have before us.

If we're smart, we treasure it while we can.

A few decades ago when I was facing life-threatening neurosurgery, I vowed if I got through it I would never take one day of life for granted.

That's one vow I have kept in a serious way.

Now that many years have passed, I've grown much more introspective and appreciative of every little thing in life.

I'm at the point where I don't take a moment for granted.

You'll never hear me complain about a so-called ordinary day. I'm convinced there is nothing routine about any day I am given.

Take today, for example. It's my writing day. That means with deadlines for two newspapers before me, I sit at my computer for hours writing my column along with this week's feature.

On writing days, I have to cut out the outside activities that I love. My friends know not to call me on deadline day because I'm wrapped up in what I'm writing.

When my stories are in, the big highlights of my day are going to the supermarket for what I need and cooking dinner.

Does that sound like a boring, ordinary day?

Perhaps to some. But I find myself being grateful for the high I get when I write. With a mother who died from Alzheimer's, I don't take for granted the ability to organize a story in my head and write it in as compelling a way as I can.

I don't take for granted being able to shop in a supermarket for the food I want. Many people around the world don't have that option.

I know many financially struggling people who find it painful to go in a grocery store because food prices keep going up but their income either does down or stays the same.

I am so very grateful we have so many good people who keep donating to food pantries that help the poor.

My friend Pat, who

WARMEST REGARDS

By Pattie Mihalik

runs our local food pantry, keeps telling us stories about how her clientele keeps changing. The surprise was how many are elderly who used to donate food now are among those who need it.

"When a spouse dies, the other one can't pay the same bills on only one Social Security check, Pat said.

It seems that even the ability to pay a mortgage is something we can't take granted.

Lately, when I'm having an especially sweet moment, I hold it close to my chest and think how blessed I am.

That happened once again this week when I was waltzing with David. As we were gliding across the floor to the song, "Can I have this dance for the rest of my life," I thought about how very precious that dance was to me.

We dance at least once a week. Yet I seldom take one dance for granted.

Am I a fatalist to think what I treasure now might not be mine forever? Or, am I a realist who doesn't take a moment for granted?

OK, as long as I'm being totally honest about those feelings, I'll tell you one more of my "secret thoughts."

If David and I ever have a difference of opinion that leads to hard feelings, I never, ever, let the night go by without holding or hugging him.

I know too many people who admitted their last contact with the person they loved remains a painful memory. You've heard the joke about the woman who says she "hasn't slept in three nights" because she and her husband never go to sleep angry.

Yes, it's a joke. But it also carries a message. I believe in being aware of the moment. Every moment. I try extracting meaning and gratitude from each moment.

Yesterday as I was on my way to a church event with my friend Jeanne and her brother, I thought about what good people they are and how lucky I am to have such good friends in my life.

And as I looked around church to see all the people there who grace my life I felt a deep sense of gratitude.

Most of the time, but not always, I keep that gratitude to myself because people think you're a kook if you share too much deep emotion.

It's a lot harder than one might think not to take a single moment for granted. But I work at it. In the process, I find I put a greater value on each and every ordinary day.

It brings home the fact that there is no such thing as an ordinary day.

Holy Family appointment

Dr. Alaa-Eldin Mira, Chief of Geriatric Medicine at St. Luke's University Health Network, has been appointed Medical Director at Holy Family Manor, a nursing and rehabilitation center in Bethlehem.

practices at St. Luke's Center for Positive Aging, St. Luke's North, 153 Brodhead Road, Bethlehem.

"In geriatrics, our goal is to help maximize quality of life for the aging as well as their families and caregivers, even as they experience complex health issues," Dr. Mira said.

Mira graduated from medical school at Al-Azhar University in Medicine. He completed a geriatrics fellowship in Geriatrics at Oakwood Hospital and a fellowship in infectious diseases at East Tennessee State University. His clinical interests include memory disorders and debility in older adults.

Get caught napping; live longer

Q. I babysit quite a bit for my infant grandson and this interferes with my naps. I'm tired all the time when he's around. Does giving up a nap affect your health?

My mother has a valuable tip for you. Nap when your grandson naps. That's what she did with her children and grandchildren. In fact, she napped almost every day of her life. Her other habits were not the healthiest, but she knew how to rest. And she lived to be 89.

In a study published in The Archives of Internal Medicine, researchers found that people who napped regularly had a 37 percent lower coronary death rate than those who never napped. The study was done on more than 23,000 Greek men and women ages 20 to 86.

The curiosity of the study's authors was piqued by low rates of heart disease in European and Latin American countries where siestas are an integral part of their lifestyles.

Another study published in Annals of Emergency Medicine provided evidence that nurses and doctors on night shifts perform better when they take a nap at work.

"There is a belief that people who nap are lazy, and that attitude needs to change," said Dr. Rebecca Smith-Coggins of Stanford University, lead author of the study. "Naps are a powerful and inexpensive way to improve work."

There have been many prominent nappers. These include Sir Winston Churchill, Thomas Edison, Napoleon Bonaparte, Albert Einstein and John F. Kennedy.

Said Churchill about napping, "You must sleep sometime between lunch and dinner, and no halfway measures. Take off your clothes and get into bed. That's what I always do. Don't think you will be doing less work because you sleep during the day. That's a foolish notion held by people who have no imaginations. You will be able to accomplish more. You get two days in one, well, at least one and a half."

Churchill had abominable health habits. He was a heavy drinker and he smoked about 10 cigars a day his entire adult life. He lived to be 90.

A NASA sleep study to help astronauts function better demonstrated that 24-minute naps significantly improved alertness and performance.

Dr. David Dinges, a sleep researcher at the University of Pennsylvania, advocates "power naps" to counter sleep deprivation. He says that insufficient sleep causes "microsleeps," involuntary dozing that causes accidents.

Sleep experts divide naps into brief snoozes that revive the brain and long ones to compensate for major sleep loss. A pick-me-up nap should be no longer than 30 min. If you sleep beyond a half-hour, your body will drop into a deep sleep. When you get up from deep sleep, you can feel groggy for a while.

Here are some nap

tips: When you feel like you need a coffee break, take a nap.

Don't nap in the late afternoon because you can shift your biological clock. This will make it harder to fall asleep at night and rise the next morning.

Try to take your nap about the same time each day, about eight hours before you go to bed for the night.

If you don't want to nap a long time, set an alarm.

In the hour or two before your nap time, eat foods high in calcium and protein, which promote sleep.

Try to nap in the dark. Darkness stimulates melatonin, the sleep-inducing hormone.

Remember that your body temperature drops when you fall asleep. So, pull a blanket over you even if you don't feel cool when you begin your nap.

'Mooseltoe' to take flight at State Theatre, Easton

BY ERIN FERGUSON
Special to The Press

"Mooseltoe" is a musical with a message as big as a moose call. "Mooseltoe" imparts valuable lessons for children and adults alike. It's never too early for kids to hear those lessons and learn them," says Jim Semmelman, who wrote the book, music and lyrics and is the producer of "Mooseltoe."

"It's the perfect vehicle for parents to introduce their children to a new Christmas tradition. In this day and age of social media and videos, it's the first time many kids will see a live production and that makes it special," Semmelman says.

"Mooseltoe" will be presented at 2 p.m. Nov. 26, State Theatre Center for the Arts, Easton.

The whimsical production is about a moose that pursues his impossible dream, which is that of flying with Santa's reindeer while setting out to find the great, wise moose.

The production includes 17 costumed characters, including three snobby Penguins, an Edward G. Robinson-esque snowman, a walrus named Willie, two elves and Santa Claus.

There are eight original songs in the one-hour long show that is geared towards children.

The music for "Mooseltoe" was pre-recorded by George Kramer. Also pre-recorded is the narration by NBC "Today Show" meteorologist Al Roker. Broadway and TV celebrities and veteran actors, including John Cullum, Christopher Plummer and Carole Shelley, provide voices for some of the characters.

Lead set designer Kelly Tighe has created an imaginative and magical world for the show. Costume designers David Leanza and Randy Carafagno created the costumes for the Broadway hit, "The Lion King."

"I love seeing the children's reactions and love putting on the show. I love making it special and memorable. It is a labor of love," Semmelman says.

Semmelman, a stage manager for ABC's "The View" and NBC's "Today Show," has performed on stage and stage-managed numerous Broadway productions. He published "Mooseltoe" as a picture book illustrated by Tighe. Semmelman also wrote the lyrics and adapted the book, "Brush Strokes," about a couple who find love later in life through a bond of art and painting.

"One important message is believing in yourself and that anything is possible. It is about friendship and not judging a book by its cover. During the show one of the characters is bullied and Mooseltoe befriends him. He's being bullied because he's fat and with all that is going on in our world right now I think it's a very important lesson for anyone to take away," says Semmelman.

"I like the children to be surprised. It's really filled with a lot of stuff for an hour-long production. Parents like it as much as their children do. It's magical, fun and enjoyable," Semmelman says of his production now in its 12th year.

St. Luke's, LV Zoo bring penguin to visit patient

The staff of St. Luke's Hospice House is accustomed to providing little acts of kindness to make their patients' last days brighter, but arranging a penguin visit was a first. The lively little black-and-white, web-footed callers succeeded in their mission to bring smiles to the faces of 38-year-old patient Ann Marie Carl and her family.

Several months earlier, Ann Marie Carl, an animal lover, was excited for an upcoming trip to Sea World in Florida with her husband Dennis. But then, she got a cough that wouldn't go away. She went to her physician, who ordered a blood test. After several additional tests, she was diagnosed with liver cancer.

"She was given three and a half months last fall, but she lasted until April," Dennis says of his wife of 11 years. On April 22, during the last days of her life, she moved to the St. Luke's Hospice House in Bethlehem.

Hearing of the cancelled trip, the Hospice staff decided that if Ann Marie couldn't go to Sea World, they would bring Sea World to her, says Hospice Patient Care Manager Judy Scott.

"They decorated her room with blue streamers, a sun and an inflated dolphin," she said. "I even saw Ann Marie and a nurse tossing a beach ball." But that wasn't good enough. So, knowing that the Lehigh Valley Zoo in Schneeksville had penguins, they made a few calls.

"We were more than happy to accommodate their request to have the penguins visit Ann Marie," said Cheryl R. Vatalaro, Director of Conservation Education, Lehigh Valley Zoo. The zoo used dog kennels to transport the penguins, which are called black-footed or African penguins. About two feet tall, the penguins are trained to come out of the kennels and onto tables, Cheryl says. In addition to Ann Marie and Dennis, Ann Marie's mother, sister and two small nephews shared the penguin visit.

"It was a special day," Judy says. "The family was so gracious. There were other children in the building and Dennis encouraged them to come in and see the penguins."

"Ann Marie welcomed the children," Dennis says. "She worked in daycare most of her life and loved children."

Ann Marie passed away two days later. Although nothing will replace the loss Dennis feels, he is grateful for the support he received from Hospice, he said adding, they continue to call him every now and then.

"They did everything they could to comfort my wife and me," he says.

'Fancy Nancy' in last tour at Miller Symphony Hall

BY ERIN FERGUSON
Special to The Press

"Fancy" Christmas: "Fancy Nancy: Splendiferous Christmas" is a children's show that adults should enjoy, too.

"The adults like this show very much, as well. It is not dumbed-down and the music is pretty sophisticated so they can sing along to it too," says the show's director-choreographer Sam Viverito.

"Fancy" Christmas: "Fancy Nancy: Splendiferous Christmas" will be presented at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Nov. 26, Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown, in what may be the last stage version of the touring show.

The musical, with book by Cara Lustik, lyrics by Matthew Hardy and music by Randy Klein, is based on the book written by Jane O'Connor and illustrated by Robin Preiss Glasser.

Viverito is a director-choreographer who has worked on many Broadway shows as well as internationally and regionally. He is a Best of Broadway Award nominee and an Independent Theater Award winner. He has worked on television programs, including some for PBS and CBS.

"There are some carolers, Dickens-style, that open and close the show with 'It's Christmas,'" says Viverito. "You will hear typical musical-theater songs as well as nine original songs and some that are comical. 'The True Meaning of Christmas' is a song that could be a hit pop song."

The musical has six main characters: Fancy Nancy (Samantha Rose); Jo Jo (Amber Dickerson), Nancy's little sister; Mrs. Clancy (Sarah Mae Banning), Mr. Clancy (Jonny Rouse), and Grandpa Clancy (Cole Smith, who also plays Miss Divine, the flamboyant neighbor).

The storyline revolves around a Christmas tree-topper that Nancy sees and simply must have. Not having enough money to buy it, she decides to have a sale and sells off all her old clothes and jewelry, making just enough to buy the tree-topper.

During the sale she notices her little sister, Jo Jo, really likes a rhinestone necklace she is selling. She winds up selling it to Miss Divine and feels terrible, knowing how much her sister adored it. Nancy then decides she's going to return the tree-topper to get her sister the necklace back.

She climbs a ladder to get the tree-topper from the top of the tree and breaks it, leaving her nothing to trade Miss Divine for the necklace. Rattled by this turn of events, she comes up with the idea to make a home-made ornament that Miss Divine truly adores and Nancy is able to trade that for the necklace, leaving everyone happy.

"The kids gasp because they know she is doing something she shouldn't do in climbing the ladder and it's a bit dangerous, too. Her naughty deed is for a good cause, but goes wrong," Viverito explains.

"Fancy Nancy: Splendiferous Christmas" is presented by Vital Theatre Company. Disney Jr. has picked up the rights to the show so the tour is expected to be the finale for "Fancy Nancy: Splendiferous Christmas."

"There will either be an animated film or television show. Something is being done with it within the next year," Viverito says.

Model trains back for holidays at Lehigh Valley Heritage Museum

Walnut St., Allentown, starting Nov. 25.

"Trains are most magical at Christmas. They capture the imaginations of young and old," said Joseph Garrera, Executive Director of the Museum. "We see this in the Polar Express, Thomas the Tank Engine, and the lure of trains everywhere."

The Museum's holiday exhibit features railroad layouts, the sound of steam locomotives, depictions of the power of modern diesels, and the role of railroads in building America.

Thomas the Tank Engine occupies the Museum's "Thomas Fun Room." Here, children can watch Thomas the Tank Engine and his friend Percy travel the rails. Children can color pictures of Thomas, play with a wooden Thomas train set, and enjoy other railroad crafts and activities.

The exhibit continues through Dec. 30. Exhibit hours are 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Tuesday - Saturday, noon - 4 p.m. Sunday. The Museum is closed Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24; Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, and Christmas Day, Dec. 25.

'Arrival' a departure for sci-fi films

After you depart "Arrival," you may wonder what you just saw.

I really can't help you there, not only because it would set off multiple Spoiler Alerts as you read this review (and that would be annoying), but because, having seen the extraordinary film, "Arrival," I am still pondering what I saw.

What might be helpful to you, in determining whether or not to see "Arrival," is to compare it to other films so as to give you some idea of what to expect. "Arrival" is comparable to "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" (1977) for its scene-setting of an alien spaceship landing; "2001" (1968) for a sense of wonder as well as unease regarding the spaceship design and aliens' interaction; "War of the Worlds" (2005 version) for the worldwide panic that sets in, and "The Tree of Life" (2011) for its "Who are we and why are we here?" philosophical questions.

In "Arrival," Dr. Louise Banks (Amy Adams, an Oscar best actress nominee contender for the role), is a linguist brought in by the Army to decipher sounds and images emanating from giant squid-shaped creatures, who squirt circular ring-like blotchy black images as they float in their gray, granite-like ovoid-shaped spaceship, one of 12 that has landed, or more accurately, hovered, on planet earth.

At an ovoid landing site in Montana, where the Army deploys a military platoon and sets up camp, Louise is teamed with Ian (an excellent Jeremy Renner), a physicist, and Colonel Weber (always compelling Forest Whitaker).

Adams (five-time Oscar nominee: actress, "American Hustle," 2013; supporting actress, "The Master," 2012; "The Fighter," 2010; "Doubt," 2008; "Junebug," 2005) conveys a palpable nervousness in her facial expressions and body language. Her fears, tensions and understanding becomes ours. The film begins and concludes with voiceovers by Adams. She and Renner have a perceptible rapport. And she is wonderful in scenes with her daughter.

Director Denis Villeneuve (director, "Blade Runner 2049," set for 2017 release; the superb U.S.-Mexico border drug crime thriller, "Sicario" 2015, and the explosively-intense "Prisoners," 2013) works from a spare screenplay by Eric Heisserer ("Lights Out," 2016; "Hours," 2013; "The Thing," 2011; "Final Destination 5," 2010; "A Nightmare on Elm Street," 2010) based on a short story, "Story of Your Life," by Ted Chiang.

Flashbacks (or "flash-forwards"?) gives us impressionistic information about Louise, but not much. The rest is left to our imagination.

One clue is the emphasis on Louise's daughter's name, Hannah, a palindrome (word, phrase, number or sequence of characters which reads the same backward or forward).

Is the film "Arrival" a palindrome? See it and figure it out, if you can.

"Arrival" is a cinematic tone poem, a meditative experience unlike most traditional films.

Cinematography by Director of Photographer Bradford Young ("Selma," 2014; "A Most Violent Year," 2014) is a palette mostly of blue and gray (especially for the mist-covered alien scenes) with an overall washed-out tone. Credit Production Designer Patrice Vermette ("Sicario," "Prisoners").

The avant-garde soundtrack by Jóhann Jóhannsson ("The Theory of Everything," 2015; "Sicario," "Prisoners"), with drone-line electronic sounds, stirring strings, repeated notes and percussive elements, enhances the film's dramatic tension.

"Arrival" confounds our expectations about close encounters of the third kind. There may be another way. Arrive at "Arrival" to find out.

"Arrival," MPAA Rated PG-13 (Parents Strongly Cautioned. Some Material May Be Inappropriate For Children Under 13.) for brief strong language; Genre: Science Fiction, Drama, Mystery, Thriller; Run time: 1hr., 56 min.; Distributed by Paramount Pictures.

Credit Readers Anonymous: "On the Nature of Daylight," written and performed by Max Richter, is included on the soundtrack of "Arrival."

Box Office, Nov. 18: Weekend box office results were unavailable because of the early deadline for the Focus section for the Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Unreel, Nov. 25:

"Moana," PG: Ron Clements, John Musker, Don Hall and Chris Williams direct the voice talents of Dwayne Johnson, Jemaine Clement, Alan Tudyk and Nicole Scherzinger in the animation comedy about a young woman who sails to a fabled island and is helped by the demi-god Maui.

"Allied," Robert Zemeckis directs Brad Pitt, Marion Cotillard, Jared Harris and Daniel Betts in the war drama about an intelligence officer in North Africa in 1942 who befriends a female French Resistance fighter and later reunites in London.

"Rules Don't Apply," PG-13: Warren Beatty directs Haley Bennett, Alden Ehrenreich, Taissa Farmiga and Lily Collins in the romantic comedy about an aspiring actress, her chauffeur and the billionaire form whom they work.

"Lion," PG-13: Garth Davis directs Rooney Mara, Nicole Kidman, Dev Patel and David Wenham in the drama about a five-year-old Indian boy who is adopted by a couple in Australia and 25 years later looks for his biological family.

"Bad Santa 2," R: Mark Waters directs Billy Bob Thornton, Kathy Bates, Tony Cox and Christina Hendricks in the comedy about a character actor playing Santa Claus who again turns out to be a real character.

Classics rule at PSF for 26th season at DeSales

Following a record-breaking 25th anniversary season, Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival (PSF) will feature Shakespeare's "As You Like It" and "Troilus and Cressida," along with three world classics in its 26th season, June 2 through Aug. 6, 2017.

The season will open with the seven-time Tony Award winner, "Evita," by Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber, directed by PSF Associate Artistic Director Dennis Rasse, on the Main Stage, June 14 through July 2.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's celebrated Sherlock Holmes thriller, "The Hound of the Baskervilles," becomes a madcap quick-change comedy in an adaptation by "Brit wits" Steven Canny and John Nicholson which ran in London's West End, and features three actors playing 16 roles, on stage June 21 through July 16.

"The Three Musketeers," the swashbuckling romp of danger, comedy and romance by Alexander Dumas and adapted by award-winning playwright Ken Ludwig, will run July 12 through Aug. 6 in repertory on the Main Stage with the rollicking festive comedy, "As You Like It," July 20 through Aug. 6.

Heroes, kings, lovers and clowns expose the follies of war in the satirical "Troilus and Cressida," PSF's sixth "Extreme Shakespeare" production where actors arrive with their lines learned and rehearse the way Shakespeare's company likely would have. The actors take charge and make the artistic decisions typically made today by directors and designers, positions which did not exist in Shakespeare's time. Some of PSF's finest actors will open this dynamic play after just a few days of rehearsal, fueled by adrenaline, spontaneity and creativity.

The season will continue its tradition of two productions for children, a new play: "The Ice Princess," by Brandon E. McLauren, and "Shakespeare for Kids," by Erin Sheffield.

"The thirst for adventure is a powerful one," said PSF Producing Artistic Director Patrick Mulcahy. "Like Rosalind's journey into the forest in 'As You Like It,' it can lead to self-discovery, to recapturing dormant or undiscovered aspects of ourselves through refreshingly new and expansive experiences.

"This season charts a course through five locales and five different centuries, creating one grand adventure for our artists and our patrons," said Mulcahy.

In 25 years, PSF has expanded the number of annual summer productions to seven and nearly tripled the number of performances to 140-plus in a 10-week performance season. The company has set multiple attendance records in recent seasons, including last summer, and now draws patrons from 30 counties in Pennsylvania and 30 states in the United States each season.

PSF, the professional theater company at DeSales University, Center Valley, Upper Saucon Township, features acclaimed actors from Broadway, television and film, winners and nominees of the Tony, Obie, Drama Desk and other major theater awards, from New York, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and around the U.S.

Subscription renewals were available as of early November. New subscriptions will be available after Jan. 13.

PUBLIC NOTICE
ZONING HEARING BOARD OF BETHLEHEM TOWNSHIP,
NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA
NOVEMBER 30, 2016

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE FOLLOWING APPELLANTS HAVE FILED AN APPEAL FOR A PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE ZONING HEARING BOARD OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHLEHEM, A HEARING TO BE HELD AT 6:30 PM ON WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 2016 AT THE TOWNSHIP MUNICIPAL BUILDING, 4225 EASTON AVENUE, BETHLEHEM, PA 18020. THE MEETING, AMONG OTHER ISSUES, CONCERNS THE FOLLOWING ZONING APPEALS:

Appeal # 16-2016 Pauline K. Senick, owner of real estate located at 1553 Lindberg Street, Bethlehem Township PA, seeks two dimensional variances from Section 275-124D of the Bethlehem Township Codified Zoning Ordinance, as amended, to create a minor subdivision consisting of two lots that will be undersized due to a steep slope condition. Zoning Code requires a minimum of 2 acres for any residential dwelling built within 25 feet of a steep slope with an average slope of 25% or greater. The applicant proposes a lot area of 0.37 acre for Lot #1, which will maintain the existing residence of the applicant, and a lot area of 0.25 acre for Lot #2. Therefore a dimensional variance of 1.63 acre for Lot #1 and a dimensional variance of 1.75 acre for Lot #2 are being sought. The property is located within the Medium Density Residential Zoning District (MDR). The property maintains Northampton County Tax Parcel Identification number N7SW2 4 3 0205.

Appeal # 17-2016 has been filed by Applicant Frank Oleni, owner of an undeveloped parcel of real estate consisting of .407 acre located west of the intersection of William Penn Highway and Indiana Street, which parcel maintains Northampton County Tax identification number M8SW2-1-4-1, and is further described at Northampton County Deed Volume 1999-1 page 178744. Applicant Oleni seeks to construct a single residential dwelling upon the parcel, and requires zoning relief from the Bethlehem Township Zoning Code as follows:

(a) A variance from the "steep slope" minimum requirements as found at Section 275-124 of the Code. The Applicant proposes to build a single residential unit on a lot consisting of .407 acre, while Zoning Code requires a lot with steep slopes to be built on 2 acres. Therefore a variance of 1.593 acre is sought.

(b) Multiple variances from the "Streetscape Overlay District" requirements as found at Section 275-261 (C) regarding sidewalks; subsection (D) regarding street trees; subsection (E) regarding curbs; subsection (F) regarding curb cuts; subsection (G) regarding pedestrian crosswalks; subsection (H) regarding ornamental streetlights; subsection (I) regarding street edge strips; and (J) regarding street edges.

The real estate is located in the Medium Density Residential District and is also impacted by the Streetscape Overlay District.

All interested parties are invited to attend and be heard.

In the event that the Board of Supervisors do not consider for adoption the Ordinance described hereinafter at the Public Hearing, the Board of Supervisors will consider the Ordinance for adoption at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors to be held on the 10th day of January, 2017, at the Hanover Township Municipal Building, 3630 Jacksonville Road, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.
 Copies of the proposed Ordinance are available for review at the Hanover Township Municipal Building located at 3630 Jacksonville Road, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania during normal business hours.
 The following is the proposed Ordinance:
ORDINANCE NO.
AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HANOVER, COUNTY OF NORTHAMPTON, COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA AMENDING THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HANOVER BY ADDING A NEW CHAPTER 66, SUPPLEMENTAL BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION CODE PROVISIONS
WHEREAS, on April 27, 2004, the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Hanover adopted Ordinance No. 04-07, adopting the Uniform Construction Code ("UCC"); and
WHEREAS, on July 1, 2004, the Pennsylvania Legislature passed Senate Bill 1139 of 2004 ("Act 92") signed into law by Governor Rendell on July 15, 2004, amending Act 92 to exempt any regulation of utility and miscellaneous use structures less than 1,000 square feet from the UCC; and
WHEREAS, Act 92 also amended Act 45 to permit municipalities to adopt ordinances enacting stricter construction and building code requirements than the UCC for the regulation of utility and miscellaneous use structures, and to adopt ordinances placing additional code requirements upon the alteration and repair of residential buildings; and
WHEREAS, Act 92 also allows municipalities to adopt stricter building and construction code requirements for the regulation of certain building construction; and
WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Hanover desires to address certain issues not otherwise addressed by the UCC;
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Hanover, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, that the Code of Ordinances of the Township of Hanover is amended by adding a new Chapter 66 to read as follows:
SECTION 1. Chapter 66, Supplemental Building and Construction Code Requirements, Section 66-1. Permit Requirements shall be established to provide for the following permit standards:
 A. Pursuant to and in accordance with Act 92, Section 104(B), permits are required for all residential alterations and repairs pursuant to the International Residential Code 2009 Chapter 1 Section 105, or any subsequent edition thereof or amendment thereto, unless otherwise exempted by this Section.
 B. Pursuant to and in accordance with Act 92, Section 104(B), building permits are required for utility and miscellaneous use structures in excess of 200 square feet.
 C. No water heater shall be installed in any structure without first having procured a plumbing permit for such installation.
 D. Occupancy of any structure which is altered or erected without securing the permits required by this Section is hereby declared unlawful and a violation of the UCC, unless the alteration or erection would otherwise have been exempt from permit requirements pursuant to International Residential Code 2009, Section R 105.2 which is incorporated herein by reference as though fully set forth in its entirety.
SECTION 2. CONFLICT.
 Whenever the requirements of this Chapter are in conflict with other requirements of the ordinances of the Township of Hanover, the most restrictive, or those imposing the highest standards shall govern. Privileges granted by this Chapter do not constitute a waiver or impairment of the rights of the Township at law or equity now or hereafter existing to proceed versus Grantee for enforcement of the Chapter or violation of this Chapter or Ordinances of the Township.
SECTION 3. SEVERABILITY.
 It is hereby declared to be the intention of the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Hanover that the parts, sections, paragraphs, sentences, clauses and phrases of this Ordinance are severable. If any part, section, paragraph, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is declared unconstitutional, illegal or otherwise invalid by the judgment or decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, that invalidity shall not affect any of the remaining parts, sections, paragraphs, sentences, clauses or phrases of this codification.
