YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER FOR THE BETHLEHEM SCHOOL DISTRICT

MAY 27, 2020

Celebrating our 15th year serving our communities

50¢ A COPY

2020 GRADS Share senior memories

Every June for the last 14 years, Bethlehem Press has published a special graduation supplement in addition to the graduation ceremony coverage we provide in the newspaper.

The special publication features the names of seniors from all the high schools we cover, and usually a profile of either the class president or valedictorian.

In addition, we publish additional photos taken during the graduation ceremonies at each school.

That is obviously going to be difficult, if not impossible, this year.

What we would like to do is this. First, we are going to invite all nine of our student reporters to write about their class. Next, we are inviting high school seniors (or their parents) to send us photos from their school careers with captions. We will use as many of the photos as possible.

Photos should be high-to-medium resolution jpegs. Send photos and caption information (who, what, when, where, and possibly why) to taylor@tmonline.com by July 15.

The graduate supplement is scheduled to be included in the Aug. 5 Bethlehem Press.

We fully intend to cover as many of the graduation events as we can during this most unusual year.

Thanks in advance for your help.

And congratulations seniors!

You see it on television - small businesses closing their doors due to the COVID-19 pandemic sweeping the nation. But it only happens in those other places, not your own neighborhood and not to someone who has become a friend to the community.

This friend, Dave Soska, owner of Allentown Bethlehem Goose, formerly Allentown Goose, was one of the first to say "yes" when a gift certificate was needed for a community fundraiser.

Yet when his business needed assistance due to COVID-19, help did not arrive.

Soska decided to close his business the first week of April.

In 1995, Soska bought the existing Goosey Gander on Emmaus Avenue in Salisbury Township. In 2001, the name was changed to the Allentown Goose. In 2011, the business storefront closed, catering continued and the business reopened in 2013 as the Allentown Bethlehem

Goose, 2501 Willow Park Road, Bethlehem.

On March 23, when Pennsylvania Gov. Tom Wolf issued a stay-at-home order as COVID-19 was becoming more prevalent in the United States, Soska remained open as an essential business.

"The virus count was not too bad," Soska said. "I tried to muddle through it, but immediately customers dropped. I was planning on staying open for a couple of weeks, but no one expected this to go on as long as it has."

He, like others, saw the news reports announcing available funds for small businesses, including a pay-

COMPILED BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI

Information sought

The Bethlehem Police Department is looking for help finding/identifying a person of interest in a sexual assault that occurred a little after 5 a.m. May 19 on Hillside Avenue.

This male may have been operating a 2018 or newer dark colored Jeep Compass Trail Hawk edition or similar vehicle. The vehicle left Hillside Avenue around 5:40 a.m. and may have traveled toward Route 378.

Overdose death arrest made

Police have arrested Tomas Santos, 30, of East Sixth Street for his involvement in a drug overdose death which occurred in March.

Around 8:10 a.m. March 29, police officers responded to a report of an unresponsive female in a vehicle parked in the WaWa lot at 741 E. Broad St., and emergency responders determined she was deceased.

In early May 2020, the Northampton County Coroner ruled, after toxicology testing, that the female died as a result of an accidental overdose of Fentanyl.

Through investigation, a search of the female's vehicle was conducted which resulted in the seizure of suspected controlled substances. Surveillance footage was reviewed and showed the female meeting a male in a red Ford Focus at the WaWa March 28 at 5:10 p.m. and a transaction occurring.

An investigation of cell phone communications conducted at the David Petzold Digital Forensics Lab at DeSales University, in Lehigh County, provided corroborating communications.

Santos was identified as the male in the red Ford Focus, and on May 18, search warrants were served on Santos and his residence.

Santos is charged with Drug Delivery Resulting in Death (Felony 1) and Delivery of a Controlled Substance (Felony).

Santos was committed to Northampton County Prison in lieu of $75,000 bail.

roll protection loan. While Soska evaluated the process to apply, he watched the customer count rapidly dwindle as residents did not leave their homes.

"Catering just stopped and the price was too high to get those government loans," Soska said.

"This was the first March in 25 years where I had no catering jobs booked for the summer."

Weddings, graduations, funerals and other events have all been canceled or postponed.

"The government promised this $10,000 forgiven loan," he explained. "I applied for that loan at the end of March and received an email confirmation on May 3 saying they received my application."

Soska said he had to let go most of his six staff, plus the many others who assist with catering events.

At the end of March he was preparing to close temporarily, as the COVID-19 cases grew in number and the government grant money ran out. In the first week of April, he decided to close permanently.

Soska knows he is not alone in these uncertain times.

"My insurance agent told me he lost six restaurants so far and he is just one broker. My friends tell me they have heard of many other businesses that have closed their doors as well."

Soska said he does not know of any small business that received the government money earmarked for small businesses.

"Twenty-six percent of that money went to big business," Soska said. "It was supposed to be for the small guys like me."

"I know of a business that was approved for a loan, got a letter saying it was approved and then a couple days later received another letter saying no funds were available. The letter said if funds become available, you can reapply."

Soska understands the frustration of business owners who want to open, but he doesn't see how opening is going to solve anything.

"How are restaurants supposed to survive with less seating?"

Soska said his landlord would have worked with him, but now landlords are stuck with properties they won't rent.

"Businesses are closing. I realized I wouldn't have catering for one or two years and taking a loan wouldn't have solved the problem."

His catering involved events with the school districts, youth associations, parent teacher organizations, fire companies, funeral homes, FedEx, 99 The Hawk, Trans-Bridge Lines, school district bus companies and more. With many of these groups meeting remotely for the foreseeable future, catering has ceased.

"I've enjoyed being part of each community I've served, which is why I always provided gift certificates for fundraisers," he said. "I did it because it was important to be part of the community. But when these small businesses needed support, the government didn't come through," Soska said.

"You think you have enough insurance to cover times like this for the loss of business and food and interruption of services, but even the insurance companies are slow to respond. Most of the claims have been denied, including mine."

When Soska made the decision to close, $6,000 in food was thrown away or donated. He said there was no benefit to staying open - he was not making enough to pay the staff.

"Catering is not going to come back for a long time. Large gatherings will be restricted and people won't have money," Soska said. "When we come out of this, there will be a new normal."

His suppliers have also felt the crunch and his garbage collector has been hauling away unused produce from customers.

Soska does not know what his future holds.

"Everything is up in the air," he said. "When will it be safe to open up a type of business I'm accustomed to running?"

This is the business he has been in since a youth at his parents' luncheonette in Bethlehem. He has gone from working six to seven days a week to not working at all.

"Everything has just stopped," he said. "I believe with this pandemic it will be about two years before things get back to normal. It will be a long time before it is safe."

boxes if more are produced than are needed to fulfill CSA orders. All information on ordering can be found on the farm's website.

The farm share program grew substantially this year, in part by plan, and in part by circumstances.

Tessa said, "Not knowing that this pandemic was around the corner, Willow Haven Farm had already planned to expand our capacity this year. We found starting in March that there was a heightened interest in local food and buying directly from farms. Our farm was able to easily accommodate significant growth, and we sold out of memberships on May 1."

In addition to a delivery program, Willow Haven has a farm store, and order pickup at the farm. How did the isolation/shutdown affect this part of their business?

Tessa said, "Our farm store is run predominantly by our family, but we have hired personnel to help us pack orders and make deliveries."

Did Willow Haven

Tessa and her husband Reuben own Willow Haven Farm, 7686 Herber Road, New Tripoli, and run it with their family. The farm has been in Tessa's family for generations.

have any issues getting the products they stock from other farms out of the area? Or getting supplies for their business? According to Tessa, they have.

Tessa said, "Yes, it is becoming more difficult. Small farms are able to produce more product, but under normal circumstances they limit their production to what they can sell regularly. What our region is experiencing is a sudden increased demand, which causes small farms to sell out of products that would normally take them months to sell. This is what has now made local farm food much more difficult to find. Another important thing to note is that March and April are the planting season in our growing zone, not a harvest season. Fresh vegetables are starting to appear from farms that have greenhouses, but field vegetables won't start being harvested until late May/

early June."

Tessa had some more thoughts about the effects of the isolation/shutdown on the area's food supply:

She said, "Now is a great time to consider what kind of food system you want to support. If you really want to support local food and build the food security of our region, you should make a commitment to buy local food not just during a crisis, but for the long term. If local farms can count on your food purchases, year round, they will find ways to produce more food for you."

More information about ordering from Willow Haven:

Tessa said, "Our online store is a buying club that is sourcing high quality, hard to find farm food from local farms in and around the Lehigh Valley. Our own organically grown vegetables, organic sourdough and gluten free breads, are being supplemented by pastured, organic eggs and raw grass-fed milk and dairy products from other superb local farmers in the area. You can find out more at www.willowhavenfarm.com."

Jason Zimmerman

Giving back to a community that has embraced him.

BY JIM MARSH
Special to The Press

A conversation with Jason Zimmerman does not get too far along before it is peppered frequently with the word “community.”

Zimmerman is the director of athletics and student activities for the Northwestern Lehigh School District, comprising Heidelberg, Lowhill, Lynn and Weisenberg townships in the extreme northwest area of Lehigh County.

Zimmerman lives in the home along Route 309 where he grew up.

“I’m where I’m at in life because of this community,” Zimmerman asserts. “If I can give back a small portion of what I’ve been given, that’s what I want to do.”

Zimmerman lost his father, an assistant principal in the Parkland School District, when he was a teenager.

“This community rallied around me and supported me through that. They were there to give me a kick in the pants when I needed it and to lift me up when that was appropriate,” Zimmerman remembers.

“The way people support their neighbors in this community is almost unbelievable — especially these days,” Zimmerman said.

An active school system professional and a diverse community volunteer, Zimmerman has been a cheerleader for the Northwestern Lehigh School District his whole life.

“What you see in Jason is 100 percent genuine,” Northwestern Lehigh HS Principal Aileen Yadush said. “He just loves being a Northwestern ‘Tiger,’” she said, referring to the school district mascot.

Zimmerman has been giving back to his community in a large way since Governor Tom Wolf closed Pennsylvania schools and issued a stay-at-home order.

“Before all this happened,” Zimmerman said, “I’d been able to participate in Northwestern’s opening exercises. Since I was a student, and through the decades, we start our day with the Pledge of Allegiance to the American flag, followed by a moment of silence.”

That ceremony at the high school was sent to all classrooms in a student-produced morning program broadcast with closed-circuit TV technology.

When the pandemic shutdown occurred, Zimmerman was looking for a way to provide the community with some sense of continuity and a roll-back to “simpler times.”

After educating himself on video technology on the Internet, Zimmerman set out with his two sons, Eli and Brady, as his smartphone video technicians.

Zimmerman was determined to seek out different flagpoles daily throughout the school district to lead the pledge and a moment of silence.

With the help of his wife, Nicole, Zimmerman amended a segment of inspirational or humorous video in the production.

He also visited small businesses in the community as the broadcast location, to show support for the businesses and to encourage community patronage. At each business, an American flag was always part of the scene.

“During this time of uncertainty, Jason has been able to bring some sense of normalcy to people’s lives,” Northwestern Lehigh School District Superintendent Jennifer Holman said. “Inspiration and patriotism in Jason’s video productions have helped to unite us in a common cause.”

Jason Zimmerman, director of athletics and student activities at Northwestern Lehigh HS, assisted by his video helpers, sons Brady, left, and Eli, center, records a ceremonial Pledge of Allegiance. Zimmerman has been producing a video pledge, followed by a moment of silence and a patriotic or inspirational moment, at different flagpoles or other locations in the Northwestern Lehigh community. The videos, produced daily since late March during the coronavirus stay-at-home period, are digitally distributed to school alumni, staff and supporters and have received positive feedback from across the United States.

Holman said positive comments on the videos have been coming in from student alumni and supporters across the country. One day’s feedback recorded 2,000 views of a segment on Facebook.

Zimmerman’s community activities are not limited to those associated with his school position.

For many years, he has been active as a baseball and football coach for the Northwestern Youth Athletic Association. He is quick to emphasize the importance of sports in building character in his community’s youth.

“You chose your classes and read a lot of books, but there comes a time when you have to apply what you’ve learned in real-life situations,” Zimmerman said. “That’s what sports does for you. It teaches you to be on your toes and work as a team. You find yourself in different situations, and you must react and sort it out in real time.

“That’s what sports has given me. Probably 95 percent of what I use in my job today, I learned on a sports field or court,” he said.

Zimmerman is also a volunteer with the Germansville Fire Department, where he is an engine driver.

Germansville Fire Department Chief Jay Scheffler sees Zimmerman’s service as a reflection of his community spirit.

“Jason understands the need for community volunteerism,” Scheffler said. “Without volunteers, a community just doesn’t work.”

Zimmerman sums up his love for his community simply: “It’s been awesome to live here. I would not want to raise my kids anywhere else. When push comes to shove, we rally together and take care of our own.”

CITY COUNCIL: The June 3 Bethlehem City Council 7 p.m. meeting will be live-streamed via the “City of Bethlehem Council” YouTube channel, www.youtube.com/. To view previous meetings, visit www.youtube.com/results?search\_query=City+of+Bethlehem+council.

The council president will announce two public comment periods during the meeting. The first period is for subjects not being voted on at this meeting. The second is reserved for subjects being voted on at this meeting.

The public comment phone number is 610-997-7963. Before calling, turn off all speakers, including computer speakers, televisions or radios. There is a five-minute time limit per call. At the start of the call, state caller’s name and address. If the line is busy, call back when the current speaker is finished.

CITY POOLS: Bethlehem Mayor Bob Donchek announced that Bethlehem’s five pools will be closed this summer. Significant funding from the state supports the city’s parks and pools programs and they are subject to state restrictions. Lehigh and Northampton counties are currently in the red phase and, even in a yellow phase, the restrictions do not make it feasible to open the pools. The length of the stay at home policy has stalled lifeguard certification processes. After six weeks of being shut down, Memorial Pool construction has restarted with an expected opening in 2021.

Music in the Parks series and Movies in the Parks are canceled for the summer. Sand Island courts, skateplaza, dog park, basketball courts, pavilion rentals, Charles Brown Ice House and Illick’s Mill are closed until further notice. Neighborhood parks are open but will not be staffed this summer. Residents are asked not to use the playground equipment. Tennis courts and walking trails are open. Guidelines are posted at the tennis courts.

Visit www.bethlehempa.gov and social media for information on city facilities, public meetings and updates on COVID-19.

BASD KINDERGARTEN REGISTRATION: The Bethlehem Area School District incoming kindergarten virtual open house will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. on various dates via ZOOM and will be structured in the same format as a face-to-face open house. There will be meetings with the school principal, a teacher and a guidance counselor; a virtual tour of the school; and information about the kindergarten program.

The dates and schools are: June 1-Farmersville, Fountain Hill, William Penn; June 2-Calypto, Donegan; June 3-Clearview, James Buchanan, Miller Heights; June 8-Hanover, Marvine and Spring Garden; June 9-Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson; June 10-Asa Packer, Freemansburg, Gov. Wolf.

21 are $301,787,268, and expected revenues are $295,125,047. The district has two options (or some combination thereof) to make up the shortfall of $6,662,221: raising taxes and dipping into its fund balance.

Board President Mike Faccinnetto said both federal and state contributions to the district are still “up in the air.” Superintendent Dr. Joseph Roy and board member Dr. Kim Shively both noted the important symbolism of not raising taxes in a difficult environment, and the importance of public support for the district, with Roy advising the board not to raise taxes and Shively indicating that although she’d prefer not to, she’d consider it. Final budget adoption is scheduled for June 15. The approval of the budget gave the public 30 days to communicate their thoughts to the board.

The board also held a combined committee meeting to discuss curriculum, facilities, finance, and human resources concerns to be voted on at the May 18 meeting.

A major curriculum point of discussion was the submission of a grant application for federal Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief funds in the amount of $3,218,394. As discussed at the April 27 meeting, these funds are BASD’s share of federal monies to be disbursed to the state Department of Education, and are meant to help school districts pay for costs incurred during the coronavirus-related school shutdown. However, there is still quite a bit of uncertainty as to how much of this money the district will actually see. One question is whether the state will pass the money on to BASD without changing the state contribution to the district, or offset it by reducing the state’s Basic Education Funding to BASD.

Even if the state passes the entire grant amount to the district without reducing its own contribution, BASD is required to share the money according to yet-to-be-determined factors with private, parochial, and charter schools. (Guidance from the federal Department of Education is available at <https://oese.ed.gov/files/2020/04/FAQs-Equitable-Services.pdf> with relevant information particularly in the answers to question 10.)

“The CARES funding can play a critical role, but a big question is what percentage of that we have to distribute to non-public schools,” Roy cautioned. “The federal Department of Education has put out guidance saying that the traditional Title I funding formula should not be used – that formula is based on the number of poverty-level students a non-public school has.” Roy further explained, “The Trump administration’s guidance [...] says that a school’s total enrollment should be used, regardless of how many low-income students are enrolled. If we used the Title I formula for the CARES funds, what we would equitably distribute to non-public schools would be $57,600, based on their

BETHLEHEM

In another pandemic-driven remote meeting, most members of Bethlehem City Council listened to comments and voiced their votes via teleconferencing May 5. Members of the public who wanted to speak had been asked to provide phone numbers to Council President

Adam Waldron, who explained the process he has devised to accommodate public comments. Waldron was the only council member present; the rest being linked via the internet. "I will them call on them much as I would call on them if they were in the room," said Waldron.

As has become tradition, the "Bethlehem Moment" was presented when retired Lehigh University Professor Ed Gallagher was called in to read an historical factoid. His script was prepared by Sharon Brown honoring African-American Main Street business owner Steve Holloman Sr., who founded and operated a business in Bethlehem in 1986 and gained the unofficial sobriquet, "The Mayor of Main Street."

Musician and frequent mayoral hopeful Artie Curatola called in his public comment contribution to suggest that fines be tripled for scofflaws who discard facemasks and leave rubber gloves on the ground. He also suggested that all cats, who he claimed to be susceptible to COVID-19, be kept inside during the coro-

PENNSYLVANIA

JUNE 5 YELLOW: Gov. Tom Wolf will move the remaining 18 currently red-phase counties situated in the south-central and southeast of the state into phase yellow June 5. Wolf made the announcement May 22.

That means the counties of Bucks, Berks, Chester, Dauphin, Delaware, Franklin, Huntingdon, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Montgomery, Monroe, Northampton, Philadelphia, Pike and Schuylkill counties will transition to limited operations on June 5.

WOLF VETOES: Governor Tom Wolf vetoed three bills related to the state's response to COVID-19 that he said violate the separation of powers and make other changes that go against the administration's measured plan for reopening the state safely.

Senate Bill 327 would authorize counties to develop and implement their own mitigation plans and decide when businesses within their county can reopen, and includes a provision that prohibits commonwealth agencies from performing an essential governmental operation, the promulgation of regulations, until 90 days after the COVID-19 disaster emergency declaration is terminated unless the legislature grants permission for a regulation to advance.

House Bill 2388 and House Bill 2412 would allow various industries to reopen in red phase counties.

"Since the beginning of this month, my administration has been gradually transitioning counties from the restrictive red phase to an intermediate yellow phase," Wolf wrote. "The decisions to move counties from the red phase to the yellow phase are based on the advice of expert epidemiologists. These decisions are not based just on the number of cases of COVID-19, but are also based on other critical factors, such as how community members interact, the county's number of potential transmission points, a county's geographic location, the capacity to undertake contact tracing, and testing availability."

NURSING HOME/FIRST RESPONDER SUPPORT: The state Senate approved new funding May 12 to provide critical support for nursing homes, programs for seniors and first responders that are struggling due to COVID-19, according to Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Pat Browne.

Senate Bill 1122 would distribute $507 million in federal CARES Act funding to long-term living and community-based programs to ease the considerable strain placed on these organizations by COVID-19.

Long-term living facilities have been a hotbed for COVID-19 cases in Pennsylvania, accounting for nearly a quarter of all cases and more than two-thirds of all deaths associated with the virus. navirus crisis.

Bethlehem may award a contract to Historic Bethlehem Museum and Sites, headed by Charlene Donchez Mowers, for a study that may result in the city being designated a World Heritage Designation. A proposal for the study was added to the agenda for the next regular meeting May 19.

Also adopted for the next agenda was a proposal to extend, without penalty, real estate tax payments.

Council approved a proposal expressing support for state and federal laws restricting food delivery services "that threaten the economic viability of local restaurants and food during the COVID-19 crisis."

The measure asks the mayor to investigate local food delivery practices and to consider regulatory measures to "protect vulnerable food establishments, their workers and consumers"

Mayor Donchez reported that as of May 5, the city had 577 positive cases of COVID-19 and 19 deaths. He said one city employee has tested positive, but was "back at work and doing fine."

"I want to thank all the city employees for doing a great job during these challenging times."

He said the yard waste facility is open Monday through Saturday for drop-off only and that masks are required. He said the recycling center remains closed until further notice. He said the golf course is open and following state and CDC guidelines.

Donchez said he will make decisions on public swimming pools before Memorial Day weekend. He said he expected guidance from the state on swimming pools.

He thanked Wind Creek casino for making its $2 million payment.

Donchez reported New Bethany Ministries had entered into a contract with Comfort Suites to provide transitional housing for the homeless population. He said Lehigh County has an agreement with a motel to provide housing for homeless people testing positive for COVID-19.

He reported that $300,000 had been allocated to the business relief fund for the first round. Donchez said he hoped the fund could provide 150 companies $2,000 each. He said that 188 potentially eligible businesses have applied for the program. "No one has received any funding as of now. We hope to get that finished by the end of the week."

The mayor reported that he had recommended to U.S. Senator Robert Casey that the next Community Development Block Grant (CDGC) Program payments come directly to the city instead of being passed through the state.

Business Manager Eric Evans briefed the council on predicted effects of the pandemic on the current budget and on next year's projections. "There will be a substantial reduction in revenue," said Evans. "We do plan to cut expenses whenever the opportunities present themselves".

He said the cuts could be applied to purchasing, projects or personnel. Up to $7 million in projects could be put off, according to Evans. He said the hiring freeze imposed April 1 has now resulted in 18 open positions. He said Donchez would need to approve any future hires to the city workforce until further notice.

Evans reported that six full-time employees in the Housing Bureau have been furloughed and will remain so until Governor Tom Wolf determines that real estate work can begin again. He said these furloughed employees will be recalled once authorized.

Evans said seasonal or temporary hiring will be reduced, as well as for divisions such as public works, traffic, Sand Island tennis courts, swimming pools and camps.

The opening of Memorial Pool will likely be pushed to the end of 2020 or the beginning of 2121 according to Evans. He said the city has not yet decided, but held out the possibility that some of the other city pools may open this summer.

Mayor Donchez said that, pending clarity from Harrisburg, he hopes to make a decision of opening swimming pools and playground by Memorial Day.

On a bright note, Evans predicted the cost on gasoline for city vehicles will drop because the global cost of oil has dropped.

"We may just freeze the budgets for 2021 and ask department heads to come in with a five to 10 percent cut for their 2021 budget," said Donchez in response to a request for more information by Council President Adam Waldron. "Or we may do [what] hasn't been done in many, many years [and] give each department a certain dollar amount and say, 'This is what you have to work with and prepare your budget with this dollar amount.'"

He said the fund balance is much better than it's been in the past. "So, that's kind of a silver lining to a point."

Council voted to amend the 2020 General Fund budget by increasing the amount of money dedicated to the Health Department from $83,864 to $753,284.

Former Pate Long named LHS coach

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

The Liberty-Freedom rivalry is arguably the best in the Lehigh Valley and Nigel Long cherished those memories as a point guard for the Patriots.

However, at 24-years-old, Long has now moved to the other side of town, as he was approved as the new boys' basketball coach for the Liberty program last Monday night.

The 2014 Freedom graduate will take over for the departed Chad Landis, who spent the past 12 seasons leading the charge on the Hurricane bench before resigning over the spring.

"I'm just excited to have the opportunity to lead a program," said Long. "I wish we could be out at Cedar Beach playing, but I'm excited to build relationships with the players and get ready for the new year."

Long spent the past two seasons as an assistant at Bethlehem Catholic, heading the JV program in 2018-19 and then becoming the top varsity assistant last season. He's also spent the past six years as head coach of the L&L Running Rebels AAU program.

"I think what made me want to become a head coach was seeing my grandfather's team in South Carolina and the relationships he formed with those players," he said. "My dad works with the AAU team and I just loved being apart of a team, the camaraderie and giving kids an opportunity. Coaching the past two years at Bethlehem Catholic taught me all the work, scouting and preparation that goes into coaching in the EPC, so I feel like I'm really prepared for this."

Liberty went 20-6 last season and lost in the EPC championship game.

The Hurricanes graduated four seniors from the team, but bring back plenty of contributors that Long has experience coaching at the AAU level.

"There's a handful of guys that play on our AAU team, so I have relationships with some of these guys already," Long said.

Most of the staff is already in place and will include some holdovers from the previous regime, as Long hopes to instill an aggressive style on the defensive end and an unselfish mentality on the offensive side of the floor.

He also can't wait to step inside Memorial Gymnasium to coach his new team, even though it may feel odd at first.

"It'll be weird when I walk into the gym the first time," said Long, "but I'm just looking forward to all of it and helping kids out."

Coach Jose Medina talks to the Bechahi girls during last year's state championship game.

BC disappointed having to wait to defend title

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

When Bethlehem Catholic's girls' basketball team first heard about the possibility of a suspended or canceled state tournament, there were some tears in the realization that their state quarterfinal victory on March 11 may have been the final game of six seniors' high school careers.

"It was the first week, and everybody was still in school. Hearing about that possibility, the finality started to hit a little bit," said Bechahi coach Jose Medina.

About one month after that quarterfinal win over Gwyned-Mercy Academy at Reading High School, the PIAA officially canceled the rest of the state girls' and boys' basketball tournaments.

"At first, it was a little disappointing, and then there was a shift in that this is beyond a state title and basketball. We want them to be safe and that means more to us," Medina said. "I'm disappointed, especially for our seniors, but their career and what they have been able to accomplish will far exceed the disappointment."

Over the course of four years, the Lady Hawks compiled a record of 112-10, and were 10-0 in championship games.

"As a coach, this year's goal was to play 32 games, and we wanted our seniors to go out, taking their jerseys off on their own terms, to win the last game they ever played. And they did," said Medina. "Obviously, we wanted it to be in Hershey, but it was in Reading."

Those seniors include Talayah Medina, Abby Brown, Jaleesa Lanier, Isabelle Rosario, O'neviah Scott, and Kamryn Williamson.

Medina noted the Lady Hawks' 2019-2020 season was the first undefeated (29-0) season in Lehigh Valley basketball. In addition, the team has been undefeated (41-0) since January 2019, last losing to city rival Freedom.

"Our girls have been part of a magical season," Medina said. "Unofficially, the champs this year. Nobody beat us this year. We were the 2018-2019 champs, and we're still the champs."

Lanier saddened with loss of season, but has big things ahead

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic senior guard Jaleesa Lanier knew the Lady Hawks could get to a state final and win a state championship with a plan and a so-far undefeated season, but no one could have had a plan for the cancellation of PIAA state basketball playoffs after they had already begun.

"Personally, I was really upset because we worked so hard," Lanier said.

Lanier copes with what could have been by talking about the situation with her parents at home and her teammates via Zoom.

There are also the issues of prom and graduation, but a survey was sent to Bechahi seniors regarding both.

"No one wants virtual anything right now," said Lanier.

While she goes through the rest of her senior year in an unconventional way, Lanier has something to look forward to: the continuation of her academic and athletic career at Lincoln University in Oxford, Pa. in late summer.

"Lincoln is known for being an HBCU (Historically Black College and University). I want to explore my culture, and the coach had been recruiting me for some time," she said.

Lincoln coach Darrell Mosley compiled a record of 23-6 this season, losing only one game at home.

"When I talked to the coach and another student, it felt like it was the place for me," said Lanier. "He said he saw me as a leader and point guard."

Lanier visited the campus in October when she was treated to a tour, dinner, and a men's versus women's basketball game with a deejay. She is planning on majoring in accounting.

Jaleesa Lanier will continue her basketball career at Lincoln University.

"I'm really excited to start a new chapter, but I'm really sad I couldn't experience all those high school things," Lanier said.

The things Lanier did experience will be taken with her to Lincoln University.

"My work ethic, intensity in practice, and the willingness to work hard. Coach Medina has helped us put in time and see results," said Lanier. "I'll definitely miss how we were as a team, very resilient and very together. We were a family and we wanted to win."

Sen. Toomey hosts youth sports talk

BY SCOTT PAGEL
spagel@tnonline.com

U.S. Sen. Pat Toomey (R-Pa.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee Subcommittee on Health Care, convened a virtual roundtable about youth baseball and softball leagues safely resuming play.

The event took place on Thursday, May 21, and the public was invited to watch on YouTube. The roughly hourlong discussion can still be viewed on Sen. Toomey's YouTube page.

Major League Baseball's Baseball and Softball Development Executive Vice President, and former Los Angeles Angels General Manager, Tony Reagins joined the conversation as did softball superstar Jennie Finch, Little League President Stephen Keener, Dr. Jay Bhattacharya, a physician and public health expert, and perhaps the greatest shortstop in Philadelphia Phillies history, Jimmy Rollins.

Toomey wants to help figure out how kids can safely start playing sports again.

Toomey started by saying there hasn't been enough conversation about the prolonged lockdown and how it has affected children. He went on to say there are many benefits kids derive from taking part in youth sports.

Rollins backed up Toomey's feelings about how kids prosper when playing sports.

"I've learned a lot of patience through baseball," Rollins said. "I can only have one at bat, I only get one chance to field the ball, I only get one chance to make a throw and then we're on to the next. I either execute or I don't. The pitcher gets one pitch at a time and the hitter gets one chance to hit it so you learn to lean on others, trust in others."

"Kids are selfish, everything in mine. Mine, mine, mine. In sports there is no mine, it's ours. Everything has to be shared. The ball has to be shared, there's one dugout. You have to understand how to work with others, how to get along with others. There are some people you're not going to like but how

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Jimmie is at 102. How long does the winless streak last?

GODSPEAK: How many races are left in the season? JJ has one left in the tank but there's no telling when it will happen.

KEN'S CALL: He's showing real good signs, so I'm gonna say it ends at the Brickyard on the Fourth of July. Two big celebrations in one swoop.

Was his post-Charlotte infraction a potentially good sign?

GODSPEAK: Win at all costs. I have a feeling as the season goes along JJ's team will be tempted to assist any way possible, but hopefully keep it better hidden.

KEN'S CALL: Maybe, maybe not. Either they learned something about avoiding detection, or attracted the inspectors' attention from here on out.

THROUGH THE GEARS:

Chasing bad luck

By Godwin Kelly
 godwin.kelly@news-jrnl.com

NASCAR has blasted out of the starting gate with three Cup Series races at two tracks in eight days as stock-car racing plays catch-up after its coronavirus break. The first three races of this blitz have been won by different drivers, but there have been a lot of what-ifs surrounding Chase Elliott.

After a Sunday-Wednesday double-header at Charlotte it's on to Bristol as we shift through the gear box and get up to cruising speed . . .

FIRST GEAR: With a bit of luck, maybe just a fleck of good fortune, Chase Elliott could be sitting on a two-race winning streak right now. Instead, he finished 38th in Darlington's midweek run after being clipped and crashed out by Kyle Busch, who spent a week apologizing for his error.

Four days later, Elliott's No. 9 Chevrolet was leading the Coca-Cola 600 with two laps left when teammate William Byron spun out in Turn 2, bringing out a caution. Elliott opted to give up track position and pit for four new tires, handing the lead to Brad Keselowski.

When the dust settled, Elliott came up one spot short behind "Kez."
 "Just trying to make the best decision you can and those guys are going to do the opposite of whatever we do," said the 24-year-old driver. "That's just part of it."

You make decisions and live with them."

SECOND GEAR: Elliott actually finished third on the track but was moved to second after teammate Jimmie Johnson's No. 48 Hendrick Motorsports Chevrolet was disqualified in post-race inspection.

NASCAR Cup Series managing director Jay Fabian said the sanctioning body's optical scanner eyed an irregularity with Johnson's rear end, so to speak.

"The No. 48 car has failed the post-race alignment numbers in the rule book and will be DQ'd," Fabian said after the longest race (607.5 miles) in NASCAR's history.

"The failure was rear alignment," Fabian said. "It's the same thing that we check at least a handful of cars for post-race after every event. I can't really give specifics on the numbers."

THIRD GEAR: After a frantic, two-week reopening, beginning Sunday the Cup Series will race five more times over three weeks. The lone Wednesday night affair will be June 10 at Martinsville.

Bristol, Atlanta, Homestead and Talladega are the Sunday shows.

FOURTH GEAR: The only strange looking thing on the upcoming schedule is a weird NASCAR Xfinity doubleheader June 13-14 at Homestead-Miami Speedway.

NASCAR says no fans will be allowed at any of these races because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The upside to no fans in the stands? When fans are finally allowed to attend, it will look like a sellout.

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

Will 'Next-Gen' NASCAR include a 600-mile race?

Probably. At least in the beginning. When the highly anticipated 2021 schedule is released (next month, we're told), big changes are expected, but several "major" events figure to be left alone for the sake of tradition. Charlotte's 600-miler seems like a race that would remain untouched, along with the season-opening Daytona 500 and the Labor Day weekend Southern 500. However . . .

Did you say 'however?'

Every year when there's a delay and the Coca-Cola 600 runs beyond midnight and way past most folks' bedtime, you have to wonder if it's good for the overall product. True, there's no accounting for rain delays and no way to limit their length, so these things can happen. However, maybe they should consider starting that race a couple hours earlier. Or hey, maybe change it to the Coca-Cola 600k and see if anyone notices.

A major national accounting firm found that 70 percent of nursing homes in the country will be in a negative cash position by mid-May.

In an effort to help ease financial stress on our first responders during the COVID-19 outbreak, this legislation would also establish a special one-time grant program for Pennsylvania's volunteer fire companies and EMS squads. The COVID-19 Crisis Fire Company and Emergency Medical Services Grant Program would provide a total of $31 million in grants from the federal CARES Act to organizations that were approved for annual funding by the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency (PEMA) and the office of the State Fire Commissioner (OSFC).

Companies that did not receive a grant from PEMA and OSFC would also have a new window to apply for this grant funding.

ATV TRAILS: Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (DCNR) Secretary Cindy Adams Dunn announced that May 19 opening day statewide for all All-Terrain Vehicle (ATV) trails in state forests. Dunn noted this is occurring several days before the start of the normal season - typically the Friday before the Memorial Day holiday - to reduce opening weekend crowding and provide more opportunities for social distancing.

UNINSURED PATIENT REIMBURSEMENT: Through the federal stimulus bills providers of COVID-19 testing and treatment services will be able to be reimbursed for providing those services to uninsured patients. The Department of Human Services (DHS) also reminded Pennsylvanians of the continued availability of health coverage through the state's Medicaid program, known as Medical Assistance (MA), or the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP).

As part of the Family First Coronavirus Relief Act and CARES Act, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services will provide reimbursement to health care providers generally at Medicare rates for testing uninsured individuals for COVID-19 and treating uninsured individuals with a COVID-19 diagnosis. Payments for uninsured individuals will be administered through the Health Resources & Services Administration (HRSA).

HRSA is accepting claims as of May 6 and will accept claims for services dating back to Feb. 4, 2020. Providers should access the HRSA website at <https://coviduninsuredclaim.linkhealth.com/> to learn what services are covered, determine who is eligible, submit claims, and find more information.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS: Pennsylvania Department of Labor & Industry (L&I) Secretary Jerry Oleksiak has announced the launch of Pennsylvania's Pandemic Emergency Unemployment Compensation (PEUC) program to provide an additional 13 weeks of benefits to people who exhaust their regular unemployment compensation (UC).

PEUC is included in the new federal unemployment compensation benefits provided by the federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. Pennsylvania has implemented all programs under the new CARES Act and paid out nearly $7.4 billion in total unemployment benefits since mid-March.

Important information about the extended benefits program follows and has also been emailed or mailed via the United States Postal Service to all individuals who potentially qualify for PEUC.

Most reliable, organizational advocate volunteers honored during virtual 'Breakfast With Champions'

BY SARIT LASCHINSKY
Special to The Press

As the Volunteer Center of the Lehigh Valley's month-long "Breakfast With Champions" virtual series continues to highlight exceptional volunteers across the region, a new round of nominees for the "Most Reliable" and "Organizational Advocate" categories were celebrated April 14-20.

Jan O'Keefe was recognized as a "Most Reliable" volunteer contender for her dedication to the NORWESCAP Food Bank and the group's thrift store, the Traditions Family Success Center, where she performs a wide variety of tasks.

"Jan O'Keefe has garnered more service hours than any of our volunteers," food bank staff wrote about O'Keefe's nomination. "She goes above and beyond on a regular basis."

"She has helped our thrift store realize increased sales over the past few years through her hard work and dedication. We love her!"

The next "Most Reliable" nominee was Karen Kane with the Cancer Support Community of the Lehigh Valley. Cancer Support Community staff praised Kane for her 100 percent commitment to her weekly volunteer duties.

"She is one of the first people they contact when in need of a last minute volunteer," the Volunteer Center wrote in Kane's commemorative post. "She is able to fill in at any capacity from office work to outreach. They are very grateful to have Karen as part of the volunteer team!"

Furthermore, Kelly Nelson from the Eastern PA Down Syndrome Center was also featured as an entrant for "Most Reliable" volunteer.

"Kelly stepped in as board president when the current president had to take an unexpected medical leave," EPDSC staff wrote. "In the past year since, she has been an incredible asset to staff, volunteers and families at the EPDSC, giving hours of her time weekly to ensure everyone is taken care of and is being heard."

Another featured selection for "Most Reliable" was Kristy Minier, with The Salvation Army Children Services: Foster Care and Adoption Program, where she serves as an active member of the advisory board and agency volunteer.

"Kristy is the person we could call day or night with a need, and she would make it happen, no questions asked," Salvation Army Children's Services wrote in honor of Minier's nomination. "As anyone who works with volunteers knows, a truly reliable, trustworthy volunteer is pure gold!"

Rosanne Venditto was the next nominee for "Most Reliable" volunteer for her work with the Mercy School for Special Learning, where she "embodies the spirit of volunteerism and fully supports our mission," according to Mercy School staff.

"Her keen attention to the academic needs of our students, her desire to take part in our Reading projects, her willingness to play the organ at school masses, her openness to chaperoning school trips, just to name a few, truly make her 'volunteer extraordinaire!'"

Additionally, Liz Christ was also honored as a "Most Reliable" candidate for her over 20 years of volunteer work with Forgotten Felines and Fidos, Germansville.

"She is always just a phone call away if the shelter manager is in need of help and always willing to lend a hand!" the Volunteer Center wrote about Christ. "The animals definitely know they are not forgotten when Liz is around!"

Closing out the "Most Reliable" category was Edie DeProfio for her work with the Third Street Alliance for Women & Children.

"Edie is our most steadfast volunteer," Third Street Alliance said in DeProfio's nomination post.

"Whatever the need - clerical, event, helping hands, Edie is always there first to step up."

The next day the "Organizational Advocate" volunteer series kicked off with the nomination of Barat Smith, senior director of operations with the PHL-1 Wolf Pack Walmart e-commerce team, who volunteers with New Bethany Ministries, Bethlehem.

New Bethany Ministries said Smith and the Wolf Pack have been community partners for more than 20 years, donating time, food and money in support of their mission, and said in 2018 they donated over $26,000.

"The team has committed to serving our community members facing poverty, hunger and homelessness," ministry staff said. "This is a true example of the power of corporate social responsibility and a reliable community partner."

The second nominee for "Organizational Advocate" was Pearl Schmier for her service with the Cancer Support Community of the Greater Lehigh Valley, where she is a new member orientation volunteer.

"She has dedicated her time to giving new members a positive and

REPRESENTATIVE FOR U.S. CONGRESS 7TH DISTRICT

There are three candidates for U.S. Congress 7th District: Democrat Susan Wild and Republicans Dean N. Browning and Lisa Scheller.

Issues

The Republican candidates were asked to respond to the following question in 100 words or less: What is the greatest need facing the people in your district as a result of the shutdown due to the COVID-19 pandemic?

Democrat Susan Wild

Susan Wild is running unopposed and was not asked the question.

Republican Dean N. Browning

The greatest need is for us to reopen and to start the work of repairing our economy after the devastation from the COVID-19 virus. That is assuming we have an economy to repair. We took the steps that we did to flatten the curve so that our hospital system would not be overwhelmed. We are long since past that and are at the point where we are flattening our economy, flattening millions of jobs and flattening hundreds of thousands of small businesses – some of them permanently. We need to reopen businesses in the PA-7th Congressional District now.

Republican Lisa Scheller

During this period of health and economic crisis, small businesses, and the jobs they represent need fighters in their corner now more than ever. As congresswoman, it will be my highest priority to work with leaders in the Lehigh Valley, Congress and others to get our economy back on track. I will bring my experience running a small business and creating jobs to Washington to stand up for the working men and women across the Lehigh Valley desperate to get back to work and feed their families.

ELECTION BOARD NOTICE

In accordance with Pennsylvania Statutes 25 P.S. § 2726, notice is hereby given to the electorate of Lehigh County, Pennsylvania of polling place changes before the June 2, 2020 General Primary. Most changes are temporary. Permanent changes will be notified by mail prior to November 3, 2020 General Elections. Please note that most of the facilities, County-wide, are only open for voting and not regular business.

Aviso de Junta Electoral

De acuerdo con los Estatutos de Pennsylvania 25 P.S. § 2726, se notifica al electorado del condado de Lehigh, Pensilvania, de los cambios en los lugares de votación antes de las primarias generales del 2 de junio de 2020. La mayoría de los cambios son temporales. Los cambios permanentes serán notificados por correo antes de las elecciones generales del 3 de noviembre de 2020. Tenga en cuenta que la mayoría de las instalaciones, en todo el condado, solo están abiertas para votar y no para negocios regulares.

On May 14, more than 200 cars carrying mobile headstones caravan through Allentown, protesting President Donald Trump's handling of the COVID-19 crisis and demanding an end to the exclusion of immigrant, mixed status and undocumented families from stimulus benefits. Although 69 percent of all immigrant workers and 74 percent of undocumented workers are essential workers, immigrants were excluded from the trillions in stimulus benefits passed by Congress, including $1,200 payments and COVID-19 testing and treatment.

ANOTHER VIEW - ED'S WORLD

Graphic commentary by Ed Courier

The caravan, organized by Make the Road Action in Pennsylvania, extended more than two miles long through Allentown. Cars carried headstones reading "RIP Trump Failed. 3,943 Pennsylvanians dead from COVID." Allentown, whose population is 52 percent Latino, has a per capita infection rate nearly 4.5 times higher than the rest of Pennsylvania. At least 3,943 Pennsylvanians have died from coronavirus so far.

'A minute passed, and an eternity both'

BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI
njastrzemeski@tnonline.com

Thanking Pennsylvanians for their sacrifices Friday, and as ever warning of the need to be cautious, Governor Tom Wolf announced good news as more counties will soon see lightened restrictions, with 17 western counties even moving into Green status by May 29.

During his video briefing, he said the results of taking early action to impose restrictions and encourage social distancing is now being seen, as it is estimated in a study by Drexel University that 60 days of staying at home has saved more than 7,000 lives and prevented 68,000 from hospitalization in Philadelphia alone.

"I think I speak for a lot of folks when I say it feels like a minute passed, and an eternity both, since the first known case of COVID-19 on March 6. Back then, there were many unknowns about this virus. We didn't know how severe Pennsylvania's outbreak would become, or if we could stop it."

Health Secretary Dr. Rachel Levine said, as always, diligence is required and that everyone should continue to be safe, keep their distance, wash their hands and wear a mask, even as some businesses reopen. Emergency responders, epidemiologists and administrators are carefully monitoring the earliest Yellow-level re-opened counties for outbreaks, and the initial batch has successfully maintained this for two weeks without severe incidents, though infections have not completely ceased anywhere.

"Instead of setting a new bar for counties to meet, our metrics to move a county from Red Counties moving to yellow May 29 include Dauphin, Franklin, Huntingdon, Lebanon, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, and Schuylkill. The 17 counties moving to green, also on May 29, include Bradford, Cameron, Clarion, Clearfield, Crawford, Elk, Forest, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Montour, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Tioga, Venango and Warren. Counties that remain in red on May 29 and are expected to move to yellow by June 5 include Berks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Lehigh, Northampton, Montgomery, and Philadelphia.

to Yellow have proven to be sufficient to forecast how a county will react when social distancing is relaxed and when they move to the Green zone," she said.

Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency Director Randy Padfield said his agency is now working with county and municipal partners to plan for the coming months, modifying response plans for emergencies such as severe weather, with the further complication of this coronavirus environment. "We plan for the worst, but expect the best," he said.

Wolf, in response to a question regarding presidential criticism of his keeping religious institutions closed, reminded viewers he's done no such thing. "We never close religious organization. If you are the leader of a religious organization, I think your first mission is to keep your parishioners safe, your congregants safe. That's always been true."

As of Monday, the state has 67,713 confirmed COVID-19 cases and 5,124 deaths. Lehigh County has 3,651 confirmed and 206 deaths; Northampton County has 2,911 confirmed and 198 deaths; the city of Bethlehem has 851 confirmed and 40 deaths.

informative first time experience," CSC staff wrote about Schmier's dedication. "She communicates our mission to each and every new member who attends our orientation, as well as the community at outreach events!"

On April 20, two more "Organizational Advocate" nominees were announced by the Volunteer Center.

The first was Patti Meckes from Forgotten

Felines and Fidos.

"Patti has been volunteering at Forgotten Felines for about three years," Meckes' nomination post said. "For the last year, she has been the person that is handling the calls and scheduling cat and kittens for our spay and neuter surgery days."

The volunteer center thanked Meckes and Forgotten Felines for "helping to control the pet population and supporting healthy lives for our four legged friends!"

The second "Organizational Advocate" entrant for the day was Heather Kasarda, an intake and unit supervisor with Lehigh County Juvenile Probation, who volunteers with the Mercy School for Special Learning as board secretary and co-chair of the school's annual gala fundraiser.

"Not only has Heather been a primary planner for this event (and for others, such as our annual golf event), she also participates at the gala itself in song and dance performances by our students," Mercy staff wrote about Kasarda's dedication.

"Heather has been giving generously of her time and talent at Mercy for a long time, and is always shouting our mission from the mountain tops."

New entries into the "Breakfast With Champions" virtual series were posted every weekday morning in April on the Volunteer Center's Facebook page at facebook.com/volunteerlv.

industry to operate in red phase and yellow phase counties.

Previously, businesses and employees in the real estate industry were permitted to conduct limited in-person activities in counties in the yellow phase of the commonwealth's phased reopening plan.

The real estate guidance requires businesses and employees to follow all applicable provisions of the Guidance for Businesses Permitted to Operate During the COVID-19 Disaster Emergency to Ensure the Safety and Health of Employees and the Public, which includes provisions requiring that every person present at a work site, business location, or property offered for sale wear masks/face coverings, and provisions requiring the establishment of protocols for execution upon discovery that the business has been exposed to a person who is a probable or confirmed case of COVID-19.

All in-person activities should be scheduled and limited to no more than the real estate professional and two people inside a property at any time, exercising appropriate social distancing.

When conducting settlements/closings, utilize remote notary, powers of attorney or the exchange of contract documents electronically or by mail wherever possible. Where it is not possible to conduct settlement/ closing via remote notary or POA, attendance in-person must be limited to required signatories and their legal counsel or real estate professional only, and steps to preserve social distancing must be followed to the maximum extent possible.

Businesses and employees are also encouraged to provide sellers with relevant safety information and protocols for cleaning and sanitizing properties; utilize electronic marketing as much as possible; provide all individuals at an in-person activity with a verbal health screening; stagger scheduling of property showings; avoid physical contact with the property by staging in advance to prevent the need for interaction with items like lights, interior doors, drapes and blinds; and minimize time spent in the property by having discussions away from the property via remote means.

EVICITION/FORECLOSURE: Gov. Tom Wolf has amended his executive order protecting Pennsylvanians from foreclosure and eviction to specify that the order only applies to evictions and foreclosures enacted due to lack of payment or because a tenant has overstayed a lease. The executive order, signed by Gov. Wolf on May 7, 2020, suspends evictions and foreclosures until July 10, 2020.

STATE STORES: The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has announced that 50 more Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores in counties designated in the yellow phase of COVID-19 mitigation efforts will resume limited in-store public access beginning Friday, May 22, abiding by guidance for businesses issued by the Wolf administration detailing social distancing requirements and other

Grade: 12

Family members: I live with my mom, dad and younger brother.

Favorite subject: My favorite subject is sports exercise health science. I have a passion for health and the class is very interesting. It is a subject where I retain information easily. My mind is blown every single class.

Activities: I am a member of National Honor Society, Science National Honor Society, vice president of Music Honor Society (Tri-M), Spanish Honor Society, step team, Student Council, concert band, jazz band and Girls Empowerment Club.

Next steps: After high school I plan to go to Moravian College to pursue my career as a doctor of physical therapy.

Career goals: My goals for being a doctor of physical therapy are to successfully help make people's lives easier and make a difference in people's lives.

Heroes: As corny as it may sound, my mom is my hero. She inspires me in so many ways. She has inspired me to be proud of who I am, to be enthusiastic about life, and much more. She has taught me many lessons too. She has taught me that one of the most important things in the world is to be happy, to never give up, and how to be strong, just to name a few. She's my number one supporter, always believes in me, and she loves me unconditionally. I would be completely lost without her.

Hobbies: I enjoy playing soccer for my community's team, playing volleyball with my friends, learning piano, hiking, going on adventures and traveling.

Volunteer/community work: I volunteer at Physical Therapy at St. Luke's. I have been volunteering there since the fall of 2018.

Likes: I like fall because of the weather and activities. I like to watch Disney movies. I like musicals, the color white and giant pandas.

Dislikes: I do not like rude people, being stressed, and olives.

Greatest accomplishment (so far): My greatest accomplishment occurred in my sophomore year. In sophomore year we are required to do a Personal Project, in which the student thinks of a topic to explore and is designed to assess self-management, research, communication, critical thinking and collaboration. For my project I decided to teach myself the alto saxophone. I had been in band since fourth grade, so I did not have to learn things like tempos, notes, rhythm, etc. I completed my project over the course of my sophomore year. During this project I participated in band and jazz band, where I played the alto saxophone. At the end of my project, not only was I able to teach myself how to play the alto saxophone, I was able to effectively teach myself six years of technique and skill in less than a year. To this day I still play alto saxophone in my school's jazz band.

Advice for peers: My advice is to know that it is okay to make mistakes. It is okay to be wrong sometimes; that is how we learn. Also, try to be optimistic. It is amazing how even just a small change in attitude can affect your life in a positive way.

COVID-19's impact Through the eyes of seniors

BY NEHA SKANDAN
Moravian Academy junior

For seniors, the second semester is the time to finalize college decisions and cherish precious moments of high school before a new chapter unfolds. While the current situation has made numerous seniors feel disappointed about missing out on memorable experiences, students at Moravian Academy have still tried to discover ways to value their time.

Evan Edelman, a Moravian Academy senior who will attend Johns Hopkins University, reflected on his new norm of social distancing and a virtual second semester of school.

"I've taken more time out of my day to engage with my friends, whether it be for physics homework or to simply connect," he said. "The entire senior class recently had a Netflix party, and being with my friends and teachers really connected me. The crisis has opened my eyes to how much I enjoy the social interactions that we previously took for granted."

Seniors also hope to still experience the memorable end-of-year events someday.

"The school is trying to postpone graduation instead of canceling it altogether," said Isha Kaza. "While the situation has been very difficult to adjust to. I am grateful to have had a place like Moravian that makes it so difficult to leave."

But not being able to tour colleges has served as an impediment to the college decision-making process. Lavinia Burchielli has been utilizing her time to figure out which university she would like to attend.

"The process has been more difficult and inconvenient as I'm unable to revisit the colleges I was admitted to," she said. "As a result, I've attended virtual campus tours, live information sessions, and researched on the colleges' websites, which have been helpful in making my decision."

Similarly, Neil Deshmukh has felt the college process to be much more tentative.

"I, and many peers, have been in personal contact with current students at some of our college options in order to get a better sense of the culture and community at each," he said. "This is especially important, considering that a deciding factor for many students is the general fit they have with the community, and this is harder to determine virtually."

But these times have also demonstrated why we should be appreciative of what we have, which John van Gelder emphasized.

"Even though life has been disrupted for the foreseeable future, I can't complain about it," he said. "Instead, I'm grateful for what I have. My parents are able to work from home and Moravian Academy facilitates online learning. I have food, a home, and a healthy family. I know people who aren't as fortunate as me and my best wishes go out to them."

Ultimately, the situation boils down to working together to defeat this crisis.

"The work currently being done by our front-line health professionals is amazing, and they really are heroes, putting their lives into their work, treating and supporting those who have fallen ill," Neil said. "I believe that it is important to make the best of the situation that we are in, and continue social distancing to flatten the curve and protect at-risk people from disease."

"So, when I hear my friends talk about their stormy days during quarantine and how they can't hang out with each other," John added, "I smile and I think that should be the least of our worries."

'A sign of hope, empowerment'

When Teaching Artists Pau Quintana-jornet and Mallory Zondag launched their artist residencies, they were thrilled to work side-by-side with nearly 200 students at two Bethlehem Area School District elementary schools, sharing their passion for the arts and teaching the children how much of an impact creativity can have on the learning process.

Quintana-jornet, a world-renowned muralist from Germany, worked alongside Tiffany Anderson's fifth grade art class to develop the first-ever exterior mural at Donegan ES, while fiber artist Zondag and Miller Heights Elementary School Art Educator Jayne Preletz's art class were creating a "Living Wall," featuring a variety of small, fiber art pieces, including vines, rocks and other natural elements. Both residencies, each intended to be 6-8 weeks long, were presented by ArtsQuest's Banana Factory and made possible by a grant from The Borgenicht Foundation.

While both residencies got off to solid starts, the learning process changed overnight in early March, with classes canceled throughout the school district and later the Commonwealth. Due to COVID-19-related school closures, the artists' and students' visions were altered substantially. Working diligently, both Quintana-jornet and Zondag buckled down and continued the projects to ensure the students' hard work came to fruition - Zondag from her home studio in upstate New York and Quintana-jornet from ArtsQuest Resident Artist Devyn Briggs' studio, where she was staying while in the United States. The question became how to continue engage the classes when they couldn't get together in person.

The Donegan project was especially challenging, as students were tasked with creating their own tiles that would all be put together in one mural once completed. Although they were able to finish a good portion of the tiles while at school, Quintana-jornet still had to create several tiles after the school closures.

To combat the challenges brought on by social distancing, Quintana-jornet and Anderson held video calls with the students, offering fun projects that they could do at home, like creating flowers with home-found materials. Quintana-jornet also kept her students in the loop about how she was adapting to finish their project, which will now be installed at a date to be determined.

Compounding the situation, Quintana-jornet's world was in a state of flux. After coming to the United States in large part to work on the mural with the Donegan students, she was caught between a rock and a hard place as travel restrictions were

PEOPLE

Bethlehem residents named interns

Three Bethlehem area residents and Bloomsburg University students have completed academic internships during the 2019 fall and winter sessions.

Olivia Cleary, a bachelor of arts major in mass communication, completed an academic internship with BU Now. Alexa Diaz, a bachelor of science major in exercise science, completed an academic internship with PHOENIX Rehabilitation and Health Services Inc. Colin Jupina, a bachelor of arts major in psychology, completed an academic internship with Central Columbia School District.

For-credit, academic internships must meet certain requirements set by academic departments and include a formal agreement between the university and the internship site. Students work with a site supervisor and faculty advisor throughout the internship, gaining hands-on learning and practical experience for their future career.

HEALTH NEWS

Lehigh Valley Health Network Some visitation guidelines updated

During the COVID-19 crisis, Lehigh Valley Health Network (LVHN) is acting as a trusted health partner by putting the safety of patients and caregivers and staff first. One way they helped ensure safety at the onset of the pandemic was to temporarily restrict visitation across the health network. While they understand and appreciate how difficult these changes may have been, the efforts helped slow the spread of infection in the community.

For ongoing updates about all LVHN is doing to keep colleagues and patients COVID-SAFE, visit LVHN.org/COVIDSAFE.

Unit ready to treat Covid-19 child cases

Pediatric specialists at Lehigh Valley Reilly Children's Hospital have been closely monitoring the incidence of pediatric multisystem inflammatory syndrome regionally and internationally and are prepared to care for children with the illness.

Several children with PMIS have been treated in the pediatric intensive care unit (PICU) and the pediatric inpatient unit at the Children's Hospital and are recovering.

Rehab services reopen

Lehigh Valley Health Network (LVHN) and Coordinated Health Rehabilitation Services have reopened for outpatient physical, occupational and speech therapy services, as well as outpatient cardiac rehabilitation services. These services are now available to patients with a referral in all previously served regions, including Lehigh, Northampton, Bucks, Berks, Carbon, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe and Schuylkill counties, and Phillipsburg, N.J. Patients are being contacted for scheduling by members of the outpatient registration team. For information about reopened locations, please visit LVHN.org/reopenings.

Mammogram screening resumes

Lehigh Valley Health Network (LVHN) Breast Health Services has reopened 15 locations to provide COVID-SAFE screening mammograms for women age 40+. During the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, LVHN could only offer diagnostic mammography services for women with suspected breast cancer.

LVHN staff at all locations are following important safety measures to help ensure patients receive mammography services in COVID-SAFE facilities.

St. Luke's Health Network Campuses earn 3 stars

The Society for Vascular Surgery's Vascular Quality Initiative (SVS VQI) has awarded St. Luke's University Health Network's Bethlehem and Allentown campuses three stars for their active participation in the Registry Participation Program.

The St. Luke's campuses are the only facilities to receive the highest star rating from SVS VQI in the Mid-Atlantic region, which includes Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington DC.

best practices in the interest of public health and safety.

A total of 283 Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores in 48 counties are allowing limited in-store public access.

Prior to opening to the public, each location was professionally sanitized, and Plexiglas was installed at registers to provide a physical barrier between employees and customers at checkout. All Fine Wine & Good Spirits employees are being provided masks, gloves, and frequent opportunities to wash hands.

The stores offering limited in-store public access - as well as stores offering curbside pickup only - and their hours are identified on the store locator page of FineWineAndGoodSpirits.com (link is at the top, center of the homepage).

FIRE ARMS LICENSES: The Pennsylvania State Police announced that Governor Wolf has granted an additional extension to license to carry firearms permits. Permits which expired on March 19, 2020 or later, have now been extended to July 31, 2020. The previous extension was set to expire on May 30.

TAX/RENT REBATES: Governor Wolf and Treasurer Joe Torsella today announced that many older homeowners, renters and people with disabilities will receive early rebates through the Property Tax/Rent Rebate Program. Rebates are typically issued starting July 1, but the governor and treasurer are issuing the rebates earlier to approved applicants. The governor also signed HB 1076, which authorizes the early distribution.

COCKTAILS TO GO: Governor Wolf signed House Bill 327 May 21, now Act 21 of 2020, allowing the temporary sale of cocktails-to-go from bars, restaurants or hotels with a liquor license. The law takes effect immediately.

Zondag and Preletz

have kept their students involved in the "Living Wall" project through video calls and sharing photos and videos of the progress. Both instructors felt that continuing the work was incredibly important to show students that the world can and must go on.

"People are still going and the world is still continuing in the midst of this. We're still working, we're still active, we're not giving up on anything," Zondag says. "The Living Wall continues and it will be finished with the same amount of love and joy that it was going to be."

"Even though there is something terrible, scary and strange that we're all going through together right now, that doesn't change what we are doing or how we act with each other."

Zondag has kept her hands busy in other important pursuits as well. While social distancing from her studio, she has created several hundred masks to donate to those working on the front lines during the epidemic. Her work is part of an initiative being led by the Troy, N.Y.-based Arts Center of the Capital Region in collaboration with The Turban Project.

"It felt like something I could do to try and help in this crisis, so I started sewing non-stop," she says. "I've been both donating and selling masks to help pay for materials for the past several weeks."

Levitt Pavilion concerts go virtual at SteelStacks

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN
 pwillistein@tnonline.com

An announcement about the 2020 edition of Musikfest is expected in mid-June, according to ArtsQuest officials.

Meanwhile, the Levitt Pavilion concerts at SteelStacks on Bethlehem's southside, are going virtual, at least to start the 10th annual season when the "Levitt in Your Living Room" series, Thursdays-Saturdays, begins May 28.

Musikfest, July 31 - Aug. 9, SteelStacks and downtown Bethlehem, is still on, as is the Great Allentown Fair, Sept. 1-7, as of the publication date for this article.

However, the Kutztown Folk Festival joins the parade of pandemic postponements and cancellations in the Lehigh Valley region that includes Pride Fest, Blues, Brews & Barbecue Festival, both Allentown; Tunes at Twilight, Bethlehem, and the summer theater season at Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope.

ArtsQuest officials say they're hopeful that as coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic restrictions are eased in the region, concerts can resume at the Levitt Pavilion following social distancing and health and safety guidelines put in place by the city and the state.

No date has been established for in-person concerts to take place this year at Levitt Pavilion.

"We are in touch regularly with our local government and public health authorities to stay updated on our state and city's mitigation efforts and, as this situation evolves, we will continue to keep everyone updated," says Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks Executive Director Anne Sturm.

"We look forward to helping our community heal and celebrating our region's resiliency when we are all able to get back together in person to enjoy great live music," Sturm says.

"Right now, the number-one priority for everyone is the safety and well-being of our patrons, performers, volunteers and staff," says Sturm.

Concerts at Levitt Pavilion are presented on a big grassy lawn, with hundreds, sometimes, thousands, relaxing on chairs and blankets that they place in front of a modern stage with the backdrop of Bethlehem Steel Corp. blast furnaces and the Hoover-Mason Trestle 1,650-foot elevated walkway.

Says Bethlehem Mayor Robert Donchez, "The Levitt Pavilion is a tremendous asset to the SteelStacks campus and to the City of Bethlehem. It brings people from all over the Lehigh Valley to enjoy all types of music. In many ways, it is Bethlehem's Town Square."

Artists originally to perform at the 2020 free outdoor concert series prior to coronavirus pandemic postponements include The Wailers, The Verve Pipe, The James Hunter Six, Ruthie Foster, Tinsley Ellis, Eileen Ivers and Lil' Ed & the Blues Imperials.

Musikfest officials have announced free livestreams by The Slackers, Kat Wright and Yam Haus, as well as a glimpse of the virtual programming at the eight Levitt Pavilions in the United States, highlight the start of the 10th year of the Levitt Pavilion

Third of six parts

On what would have been the second weekend of the 113th Bethlehem Bach Festival, Robin Kani went outside and turned on her Bluetooth to hear a prior year's recording of Bach's "Mass in B Minor" performed by the Bach Choir of Bethlehem.

The performance of the "Mass," which takes place on the Saturday in Packer Church of each of the festival's two weekends, which would have been May 8 and 9 and May 25 and 16, is one of the most anticipated events of the Lehigh Valley arts and cultural scene and a highlight of the renowned Bach Festival, which has continued largely uninterrupted in Bethlehem since 1898.

Gigless in the Valley

The Bach Festival was canceled this year because of coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic stay-at-home orders, social distancing guidelines and limits of gatherings to 10 or fewer.

Any other year, Kani, a professional classical musician, would have been playing the flute for the "Mass" as principal flutist of the Bach Festival Orchestra.

Not performing the iconic piece was a disappointment, but Kani says she got a different perspective tuning into the recording which the Bach Choir

Baum School brings artists to 'Your Residence'

BY ED COURRIER
 Special to The Press

Editor's Note: The Baum School of Art, including its students, administrators and supporters, is adjusting to the time of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Second of three parts

With the order for statewide closure of non-essential businesses, The Baum School of Art was required to suspend its Spring Session and cancel its Post Session of classes.

The classroom studios and galleries at 510 Linden St., Allentown, are closed to the public until further notice.

To serve art students already enrolled when the pandemic hit, "Our instructors have been continuing to create online curriculum and content for their students," says Baum School of Art Marketing and Development Coordinator Lauren Faulr.

"We are hoping to continue on with our Summer Camps as scheduled as long as it is safe to do so, and we are committed to following the health and safety protocols that will guide us in the future," Faulr says.

In the meantime, the staff and faculty at Baum created another way to interact with students and reconnect with the public.

"We have been rolling out an instructional video series titled, 'Artist-In-Your-Residence,' in order to keep our students, as well as the general public connected and creative," says Faulr.

The lessons, suitable for all ages and skill levels, use simple materials that are generally found around the house.

Among the instruction is "Tonal Gradients," "Optical Illusion" and "Kandinsky's Squares with Concentric Circles," taught by Baum School of Art Program Coordinator Karri Schreppel.

Other online sessions include "Mandala Art" with Mellen Reinhold, "Springtime Cartooning and Card Making Lesson" with Baum School instructor Travis Hill, and "Still Life Lesson Inspired by artist Jan van Kessel the Elder" by Hannah Kottke.

The series on YouTube is accessible from Baum's website and posted to its social-media channels.

The school partnered with City Center's Strata Flats, with Schreppel giving art demonstrations for the Sixth and Linden streets apartment complex "Live at Five" video series on Thursdays.

Baum School is moving its scheduled exhibitions to a virtual platform.

Baum's "Children and Teen Virtual Student Exhibition" can be viewed online.

Scholarship and other award ceremonies are handled as virtual events.

The pandemic has impacted the nonprofit's fundraising efforts. The Annual Art Auction, scheduled May 16, is postponed until summer as an online event.

COVID-19 emergency fund donations are "gratefully accepted" by Baum.

The bottom line on tipping-in-place

Dear Jacquelyn, The shelter-in-place has made it clear that just about anything you can buy can be delivered right to your doorstep. Our delivery workers play an essential role and put themselves in germs' way. Please offer some guidance for tipping etiquette in this coronavirus era.

RESPECTFULLY YOURS
By Jacquelyn Youst

Dear Reader, We have come to rely on the on frontline workers who put their health before our own to deliver groceries and all the items we bought to make our time indoors as comfortable as possible this time of the coronavirus (COVID-19) stay-at-home mandates. Delivery workers provide a lifeline to the homebound shoppers while the virus circulates.

The etiquette for tipping during a pandemic isn't clear. This is the time when we should be generous, if we can. But there are no hard rules for how much extra to give.

What constitutes a fair tip in the age of COVID-19 is complicated.

Everyone is a little bit strapped, making it difficult to establish a set rule about how much to tip. Be a little bit generous and couple that with some common sense for your own situation. Whether you're getting a pizza delivered or a grocery delivery, right now you should tip at least 15 percent. If you're picking up a meal at a restaurant offering curbside, leave a tip.

There is a difference between curbside pickup and actual delivery. With home delivery, there's more involved. A delivery person driving to your front door should get a little more money.

When you look over your bill, you may notice that a delivery fee has been added to your order total. Keep in mind that this money doesn't go to your driver. Don't use it as an excuse to pinch pennies with the tip. The delivery fee most likely covers costs for the restaurant. It's really important not to confuse a delivery fee with a gratuity. They are two different things.

This is a tough financial time for many. When you are tipping and you aren't able to tip above and beyond your normal amount, just do what's in your budget.

The bottom line is we should give what we can afford at this time.

Respectfully Yours, Jacquelyn

Small pleasures still grow in importance

Although it's been five months since I've been able to spend time with my family, we are getting together once a week thanks to Zoom.

While it may seem silly to shower and do my hair before our weekly video sessions, I just want to approximate real life.

There are about 10 of us family members from multiple states who look forward to Zoom as our only way to actually see each other.

After we each give a short "what's new" synopsis, Carrie will often ask a question for each of us to answer.

This week her question was, "What positive change have you enjoyed during the time you spent sheltering in place?"

I was glad she put a positive spin on her question, forcing us to look beyond the misery of lost employment, no paychecks and none of the socializing we all enjoy.

My son-in-law Greg said what he is most enjoying is something new in his life: silence.

"I don't hear the usual heavy traffic on the street and don't even hear airplanes overhead. It's nice to just walk the dog and enjoy all the peace," he said.

My daughter Andrea said she is enjoying time for herself to do what she wants instead of what she has to do. Now she has more time to exercise and just relax sitting on the porch, she said.

(Anyone who knows Andrea knows she doesn't sit still for long. She's a perpetual motion machine.)

She's enjoying trying new recipes as she whips up special meals each day.

Granddaughter Sophie, who is spending her freshman year of college having online classes, said she is enjoying having more time to do yoga with her mom and to work out.

My daughter Maria said she most enjoys time to leisurely read several newspapers thoroughly instead of just reading the headlines like she had to do when she was rushing to work.

Carrie, who owns the unique toy store puccimanuli is a confirmed workaholic who normally works seven days a week.

Since stores had to shut down, she says she's enjoying a slower pace, realizing what's important in life and what's not.

Time to reflect has made her realize the importance of spending more time with what's truly important to her — her family.

Ironically, the travel restrictions caused by the coronavirus are making it harder than ever to spend time with family.

I think that's why she came up with the idea of having us all get together each week via Zoom.

My answer to the question of what positive change I am most enjoying during sheltering in place probably doesn't sound like much of a change for me.

What I am most enjoying are my daily nature encounters. While it's true that's something I've always enjoyed, I am now doing it with a new intensity.

There is no need to tell myself I can only walk along the waterway for a half-hour because I have an appointment to rush off to. I am truly enjoying nature at my leisure.

Normally, back in everyday life before the coronavirus invasion, my mornings were highly structured just about down to the minute.

I started each day with a brisk half-hour gratitude walk that rejuvenated all of my senses.

When we began our forced social isolation, I continued doing those half-hour walks. As a creature of habit, it didn't dawn on me that I could lengthen my walk because I didn't have to rush off to an appointment.

When I started my walk today, I was all set for the half-hour. But then I heard the distinctive sound of a nearby sandhill crane. Like many people here in Florida, I love seeing those birds.

Today was a special treat I didn't anticipate. Instead of seeing one or two cranes that I normally see, there were six of those magnificent creatures having breakfast on the golf course across from my house.

I abandoned any thought of leaving and stayed there watching them until two golf carts came into view. I figured the golfers would make the cranes fly away.

Instead, as one golfer lined up his shot, all six of the cranes surrounded him in a wide circle while the biggest crane seemed to be a sports announcer calling out the golfer's shots.

I never saw them do anything like that. I tried to capture their funny antics on video but I wasn't fast enough.

Later that day it was the unusual antics of an osprey that captured my attention.

Normally I only see osprey in flight or guarding their nests high above ground.

I was happy to see one come to my backyard pond where it suddenly started doing its own version of jumping jacks. With flapping wings and its high-pitched call the osprey was wildly hopping up and down.

Someone said it was a mating dance. If so the bird must have been disappointed because the only thing it attracted was a small wren that for some crazy reason jumped on the osprey's head.

My husband commented that the birds are singing much louder and sweeter than usual.

I think it's only because we are now listening more and noticing more.

In this pandemic we are much more apt to tune into small pleasures.

Blue blockers, losing weight, nicotine gum

Q. What are "blue blockers" and are they worth getting?

There's a controversy over the possible harm done by blue light.

There is blue light in the bright glare from snow or water. Lenses that block blue light are usually amber-colored. This color is supposed to help you see distant objects more easily. Amber sunglasses are used by many pilots and hunters.

If you are shopping for sunglasses, the most important feature to look for is the ability to protect your eyes from invisible ultraviolet (UV) light, which also causes sunburn.

Long-term exposure to the high-energy ultraviolet radiation in sunlight is linked to eye disease. Buy sunglasses that block 99 percent or 100 percent of all UV light. Look for a label that lists protection.

If you want to be extra careful, get wrap-around sunglasses because they keep out more light. Eye doctors also recommend wearing a brimmed hat when you're going to be in the sun for a long time.

If you don't protect your eyes from the sun, you risk getting cataracts, macular degeneration and cancerous growths on the eye.

Q. Any tips for losing weight?

First, always discuss any weight-loss program with your physician.

Here are 12 tips I found from reputable sources:

1. Keep track of the food you eat. This prevents overeating.
2. Don't cut back too much because your body will begin conserving energy and make it difficult to reduce.
3. Begin exercises to develop muscle so your body burns more calories.
4. Avoid fads. Eat a balanced diet or you may deny yourself important nutrients.
5. Losing weight is difficult so don't be tempted by reduction plans that make it sound easy.
6. You know what's fattening without checking a book. If it tastes heavenly, avoid it as much as possible.
7. Drink water. It has no calories and will help you with your hunger.
8. Eat because you're hungry, not because you're bored. Take a walk instead.

9. Eat slowly and savor your food so you don't feel deprived later.

10. Don't skip meals or you will become ravenous and then overeat.

11. Alcoholic drinks are loaded with non-filling calories. They also dissolve your inhibitions and make you eat more. Be careful.

12. Eat off smaller plates; it will make you feel you're having more than you are.

Q. Does nicotine gum work to get you off cigarettes?

Using nicotine gum can double the quitting success rate from about 10 to 20 percent.

Over-the-counter nicotine gum, which is sold under a variety of brand names, was introduced in the United States in 1984. Each year, about two million Americans use nicotine gum to quit smoking.

The nicotine level in the gum is much lower than it is in cigarettes. You're supposed to use the gum no longer than 12 weeks. More than half of those who use the gum stay with it for longer than six months.

The gum is available in 2-mg and 4-mg pieces. Users are instructed to use a piece of gum every 1-2 hours for the first six weeks, then to reduce use to one piece every 2-4 hours for three weeks, and one piece every 4-8 hours for three weeks. In highly dependent smokers, the 4-mg gum is superior to the 2-mg gum.

Most side effects such as a sore jaw or headache don't last long. If you absorb too much nicotine accidentally, you may suffer some dizziness, a racing heart, nausea, and insomnia.

'Bach at Noon' at St. John's goes online

The summer 2020 "Bach at Noon" series at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Allentown, will not be open to the public.

The sixth annual "Bach at Noon" at St. John's begins June 9 with the first of three virtual "Bach at Noon" performances presented by The Bach Choir of Bethlehem.

Because of the restrictions on large gatherings during the COVID-19 outbreak, the concerts will be videotaped, featuring smaller ensembles of musicians who incorporate safe social distancing. In lieu of the Choir and The Bach Festival Orchestra.

The summer concert series offers solo pieces, duets and small ensemble compositions performed by favorite vocal soloists and featuring members of the Orchestra.

The concerts will be presented on the second Tuesday in June, July and August on The Bach Choir YouTube channel.

No audience members will be admitted to St. John's during the tapings. Only a few musicians will perform for each concert. One videographer and one sound engineer will be present.

"Bach at Noon" is a series of 10 free concerts the Choir performs each year, led by Bach Choir of Bethlehem artistic director and conductor Greg Funfgeld. The summer series in center city Allentown is presented in collaboration with the "Arts at St. John's" program at the church.

"Our 'Bach at Noon' concerts have come to mean a great deal to so many people," said Funfgeld.

"This musical and spiritual oasis is our gift to the community, offered to young and old, and all, who wish to listen to Bach's extraordinary music and hear his profoundly spiritual message of hope and peace.

"Though the pandemic precludes our gathering together, these musical offerings will be available this summer online and for that we are grateful and glad," Funfgeld said.

Here is the "Bach at Noon" summer program, subject to change:

June 9
The June program is supported by The Baker Foundation in honor of Dorothy Hess Baker and her mother Elizabeth Leith Hess, both former members of The Bach Choir of Bethlehem, and includes:

Soloists Sherezade Panthaki, soprano; Robin Kani, flute; Loretta O'Sullivan, cello
J.S. Bach, Soprano Arias with

Flute obbligato from "The Coffee Cantata" and "The Saint John Passion"; Soprano Aria from "Cantata 61 - Öffne dich"; "Flute Sonata in G Minor," BWV 1020; Felix Mendelssohn, "O for the wings of a dove"

July 14
The July program is in honor and memory of Alice Anne Miller, and made possible in part by The Century Fund and Alice's sister, Joan Miller Moran.

Soloists: Sherezade Panthaki, soprano; Dashon Burton, bass-baritone; Mary Watt, oboe; Loretta O'Sullivan, cello

J.S. Bach: Duet from "Cantata 140 - Mein Freund ist mein"; Soprano Aria from the "Magnificat - Quia respexit"; Gabriel Fauré: Soprano Aria from the "Fauré Requiem - Pie Jesu"; Ralph Vaughan Williams, "Five Mystical Songs - Love Bade Me Welcome"; Georg Philipp Telemann, "Oboe Sonata in G Minor," TWV 41

Aug. 11
The August performance is endowed by the Rev. Ronald R. Miller in memory of Maestro James A. Simms.

Soloists: Nola Richardson, soprano; Janna Critz, mezzo-soprano; Elizabeth Field, violin
J.S. Bach: Arias and duets include the duet from "Cantata 78 - Wir eilen"; George Frederick Handel: "Violin Sonata"

Nola Richardson and Janna Critz are winners of the bi-annual Young American Singers Competition, sponsored by The American Bach Society and The Bach Choir of Bethlehem.

"Family Project" resumes June 3

"The Family Project" column does not appear in the May 27 Focus section. "The Family Column" is planned to resume in the June 3 Focus section.

GIGLESS

streamed at the exact time it would have been performed during the Festival.

"I really enjoyed sitting down and just listening to the 'Mass,'" says Kani.

Across the Lehigh Valley, classical musicians have had performances, from concerts to tours to venues, shut down by the coronavirus pandemic.

Kani is typically a very busy musician playing for multiple ensembles. She is married to another equally busy musician, Lawrence Wright, who plays trumpet for the Allentown Symphony Orchestra.

"All of sudden, there was absolutely nothing," Kani says.

In addition to the Bach Festival Orchestra, Kani is principal flutist for Pennsylvania Sinfonia Orchestra and Allentown Symphony Orchestra.

Concerts by all three nonprofit arts organizations, including in the PSO's popular "Valley Vivaldi" series, were canceled.

Kani's biggest disappointment was the postponement of the Bach Choir's tour to "Bach Fest" in Germany, at which the choir and festival orchestra were to perform in June in Leipzig and Dresden in Germany and Prague in Czech Republic. The tour is rescheduled for June 2021.

The lack of concerts completely changed the once-hectic lives of Kani and Wright.

"At first, I thought I had all this free time to practice, but that's gotten old," says Kani.

Unlike rock, folk, blues and jazz musicians and singer-songwriters, who have turned to the internet to perform, classical music doesn't lend itself as easily to online performances because of the size of the ensembles.

The technical challenge of synchronizing a live performance in real time of a multi-instrumental classical piece or multi-voice choral work is daunting. For classical works that have been streamed online, performers usually record each part separately, the parts are edited and assembled and a recorded version is posted.

After the coronavirus quarantine and shutdown began in mid-March, the Allentown Symphony Orchestra posted video clips of previous performances on its website, as has the Bach Choir.

Kani has been fortunate to be able to do some virtual performing as a soloist.

She was featured in a segment of Bach Choir's "Moment of Comfort" series which the choir posts at:

bach.org/season/a-moment-of-comfort/.

Kani played flute on Bach's "Sonata in E-Flat Major." Bach Choir Artistic Director and Conductor Greg Funfgeld offered his thoughts about canceling the Bethlehem Bach Festival in the clip intended to provide listeners some comfort during these challenging times.

The Bach Choir is taking its popular "Bach at Noon" series online for the summer. Kani is also a part of that effort.

The concerts, which have been performed for five years at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Allentown, will be streamed on the Choir's YouTube channel and website at the regularly-scheduled noon second Tuesday in June, July and August. The concerts will be broadcast later, at to-be-announced times and dates on WWFM, the Classical Network.

Kani will perform in "Bach at Noon" June 9, along with soprano Sherezade Panthaki and Funfgeld on piano and harpsichord. The musicians will record the concert with social distancing, and without the typical capacity audience of approximately 600, at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Allentown.

The concert will include the arias with flute obbligato from Bach's "Coffee Cantata" and "Saint John Passion," the aria from Bach's "Cantata 61 Offne dich," Felix Mendelssohn's "O for the wings of a dove" and Bach's "Flute Sonata in G Minor, BWV 1020."

Kani is glad to have opportunities to perform online, but it's not the same as having her usual full schedule of live performances.

"I'm still practicing, but it's easier for me when I have a lot of things dangling in front of me," she says.

In the meantime, Kani has reconnected with nature, through gardening and long walks.

"I've been doing hikes I didn't know about before," says Kani. "But sometimes anxiety hits me for no reason."

Kani worries that having so much unstructured time will make it harder when classical music concerts resume.

"Part of me really wants to go back, but I worry it will be hard to get back into things," Kani says.

Next week: "Gigless in the Valley," Part 4: Classical musicians Lawrence Wright and Steve Reisteter.

SteelStacks.

The 2020 Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks Concert Series presented by Coordinated Health, will feature a virtual format that includes Thursday night livestreams by artists originally scheduled for the Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks stage, web broadcasts of past Levitt Pavilion concerts Fridays courtesy of Service Electric Cable TV & Communications, and virtual content and livestreams Saturdays presented by the other Levitt Pavilions around the nation.

“Levitt in Your Living Room” series schedule: www.levittsteelstacks.org/

The “Levitt in Your Living Room” series is funded by Coordinated Health, now part of Lehigh Valley Health Network, and the Mortimer & Mimi Levitt Foundation.

During each evening, donations will be accepted to support Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks, which has presented more than 525 free concerts to more than 585,000 since opening in July 2011.

Fans of Levitt Pavilion can help it prepare for when everyone can get back together in person by:

- Making a donation at donorbox.org/levitt
- Purchasing one of the special (100 only) Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks face coverings being made available

- Becoming a “Friend of Levitt” supporting member and enjoy exclusive online and in-person benefits

- Sponsoring a concert, virtually or live. Information: ArtsQuest Director of New Business Development Nicole Dotta, ndotta@artsquest.org; 610-332-1334

Sponsors funding Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks include: ABARTA Coca-Cola Beverages, Aesthetic Surgery Associates, Christmas City Veterinary Hospital, Embassy Bank, Highmark Blue Shield, Joshua Tree, King, Spry, Herman, Freund & Faul LCC, Lindenmeyer Munroe, One Financial Services, PPL Corp. and Service Electric Cable TV & Communications.

The Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks is part of a national network of outdoor Levitt music venues and concert sites. Each year, 600-plus free Levitt concerts are presented in 28 towns and cities. Information: Levitt Foundation, www.levitt.org.

Pandemic cancellations

With pandemic predictability, the first headliner at Musikfest 2020 postponed its concert because of the coronavirus pandemic.

The July 31 Wind Creek Steel Stage concert of The National, scheduled to open the 37th annual Musikfest, is postponed, according to Musikfest and The National websites.

CONTRIBUTED PHOTO

Citing coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic concerns, the rock band, The National, canceled its 2020 summer tour, including its July 31 concert, Wind Creek Steel Stage, SteelStacks, that was to open the 37th annual Musikfest, Bethlehem.

Pride Fest, Blues, Brews & Barbecue Festival, both Allentown; Tunes at Twilight, Bethlehem; summer theater season, Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, and Kutztown Folk Festival join what has become an ever-expanding list of arts and entertainment postponements and cancellations in the Lehigh Valley, including:

- Mayfair, May 22-24, Cedar Crest College; Baum School of Art auction, May 16; concerts through June, Miller Symphony Hall; concerts through May, Godfrey Daniels; Northampton Community College Summer Theatre; 17th annual SouthSide Film Festival; 113th Bethlehem Bach Festival; 40th Muhlenberg Summer Music Theatre, 29th Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival, 18th Freddy Awards, and theater productions and film screenings, Civic Theatre of Allentown.

Pride Fest
Bradbury-Sullivan LGBT Community Center announced May 13 the cancellation of the 27th annual Pride Fest, Aug. 16. Last year’s event attracted an estimated 5,000 to the Jewish Community Center of the Lehigh Valley, Allentown. The 2020 fest is to be held as a virtual event on the same date.

Bucks Playhouse
Bucks County Playhouse, in a May 14 press release, announced: “In response to the continuing coronavirus pandemic and with the knowledge that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania’s reopening of Southeastern Pennsylvania is still pending, the historic Bucks County Playhouse has announced it will cancel its 2020 Summer Season.”

In making the announcement, Bucks Playhouse producers said a revised 2021 season will include “Auntie Mame,” “Kinky Boots,” “Dames at Sea” and “Evita.”

Blues, Brews

The Downtown Allentown Business Alliance announced cancellation of the 13th annual Blues, Brews & Barbecue Festival June 14 in center city Allentown. The event attracts an estimated 25,000 to center city Allentown.

Tunes at Twilight
The Downtown Bethlehem Association canceled the Tunes at Twilight concert series, May 7 - June 24, Sun Inn Courtyard, Bethlehem, instead, Virtual Tunes at Twilight is being presented.

Kutztown Folk Fest
The 71st Kutztown Folk Festival was to have been held June 27-July 4.

According to the Kutztown Folk Festival website: “Although COVID-19 has impeded many of our annual festival traditions, it hasn’t stopped us from offering our annual Raffle Quilt, July 6, with advance tickets available.”

Musikfest headliners The National cancels

The indie rock band, The National, stated May 14 on its website: “We are sad to announce that our 2020 summer tour dates are being postponed due to COVID-19. We are working hard to reschedule each of these dates for 2021. As soon as we have dates and details confirmed we will let you know.”

“All tickets will be honored or refunded at that time. Please stay safe and we’ll see you next summer.”

The National, founded in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1999, received a Grammy award for Best Alternative Music Album for “Sleep Well Beast,” released in 2017. The rock band released its eighth studio album, “I Am Easy to Find,” in 2019.

Musikfest Wind Creek Steel Stage headliners include: Rob Zombie, Aug. 2; Shinedown, Aug. 4; Willie Nelson and Family, Aug. 5; Kelsea Ballerini, Aug. 6; Poison, Aug. 7, and Darius Rucker, Aug. 8.

According to the Musikfest website, Wind Creek Steel Stage headliners are not listed for Aug. 1, Aug. 3 and Aug. 9.

Discover Lehigh Valley, the tourism website, describes Musikfest as one of the largest music festivals in the United States, with 500-plus concerts on 16 stages, and more than 900,000 attending the music, food and beer extravaganza.

Zombie’s concert at the “Riff Fest,” July 18, DTE Energy Music Theatre, Detroit, is canceled “as a precautionary measure and for the health and safety of our community, patrons, partners and staff,” according to a May 8 post on Zombie’s website.

Zombie’s website states: “The Zombie-heads: Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, please keep it locked to robzombie.com and click here to follow the tour news category for any updates regarding changes to dates, postponements or cancellations of forthcoming scheduled tour dates. Stay safe!”

Zombie’s tour lists two concerts: “Rock USA 2022,” July 17, Oshkosh, Wisc., and Aug. 2, Musikfest.

Shinedown’s tour includes 29 concerts July 31 - Sept. 12, with a concert, Aug. 7, Battery Park, Sioux City, Iowa, canceled, but Musikfest, Aug. 4, listed, according to the band’s website.

Willie Nelson and Family’s tour includes 18 concerts, with several concerts postponed, including April 22, Birmingham, Ala.; April 26, New Buffalo, Mich.; April 28, Nashville, Ind., and April 29, Milwaukee, Wisc. Concerts listed July 30 - April 24, 2021, include Aug. 5, Musikfest, with Sept. 4 - April 24, 2021, dates rescheduled from earlier dates.

Kelsea Ballerini’s tour June 6 - Oct. 4 lists nine concerts, including Aug. 6, Musikfest.

Poison’s tour June 18 - Sept. 5 lists 37 concerts, including Aug. 7, Musikfest, Aug. 7.

Darius Rucker’s tour June 11 - Aug. 15 lists eight concerts, including Aug. 8, Musikfest.

Allentown Fair
The Great Allentown Fair, Sept. 1-7, has three Martin H. Ritter Grandstand concerts listed on its website: Toby Keith, Sept. 3; Carrie Underwood, Sept. 4, and 5 Seconds of Summer, Sept. 6. Grandstand concerts are not listed Sept. 1, 2 and 5.

Toby Keith’s tour June 6 - July 24, 2021, lists 26 concerts, including, Sept. 3, Allentown Fair, according to his website. Keith has been doing “The Furniture Guitar Sessions” online.

Underwood’s tour July 23 - July 23, 2021, lists six concerts, including Sept. 4, Allentown Fair.

5 Seconds of Summer tour Aug. 12 - May 8, 2021, lists 50 concerts, including Sept. 6, Allentown Fair.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Township of Weisenberg, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania will hold a regular meeting on Monday, June 8, 2020, at 7:00 p.m. remotely on ZOOM due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, and will consider at that meeting adoption of the following Ordinance

ORDINANCE NO. 20 -

AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WEISENBERG, LEHIGH COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, ESTABLISHING THIRTY (30) MILES-PER-HOUR AS THE SPEED LIMIT FOR KECKS ROAD (T-546) BETWEEN OLD US 22 (SR3022) AND KLINES MILL RD (T556).

WHEREAS, Kecks Road (T-546) is a Township Road; and WHEREAS, the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Code (the "Code") authorizes the Township to alter or establish speed limits on Township roads subject to the applicable provisions of that Code; and

WHEREAS, Mack Engineering Inc., consultant for the Hails Minor Subdivision of 1778 Kecks Rd., conducted a speed study in accordance with the guidelines for safe running speed test as found in the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation Publication 201; and

WHEREAS, the Township believes that reducing the speed limit on Kecks Road to thirty (30) miles-per-hour is warranted for the health, safety and welfare of residents driving on those portions of Township roadway.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, by the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Weisenberg, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania, in lawful fashion duly assembled, as follows:

SECTION 1: SPEED LIMIT REDUCTION

The speed limit on the following portion of Township roadways is hereby set at thirty (30) miles-per-hour: Kecks Rd. (T-546) between Old US 22 (SR3022) and Klimes Mill Rd. (T556) for a total length of .23 miles.

SECTION 2: ERECTION OF SPEED LIMIT SIGNS

The Township Roadmaster is authorized and directed to acquire and post signs setting forth the speed limit in accordance with the regulations of the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, which regulations require posting at the beginning and end of each speed zone, and at intervals not greater than one-half (1/2) mile.

SECTION 3: PENALTIES

Any person violating this Ordinance by failing to observe the speed limits set forth above, shall be subject to the penalties set forth in the Code, which states:

Penalty (a) Any person violating this section is guilty of a summary offense and shall, upon conviction, be sentenced to pay a fine of Thirty-Five and 00/100 Dollars ($35.00) for exceeding the maximum speed limit of thirty (30) miles-per-hour. (b) Any person exceeding the maximum speed limit by more than five (5) miles-per-hour shall pay an additional fine of Two and 00/100 Dollars ($2.00) per mile for each mile in excess of five (5) miles-per-hour over the maximum speed limit.

SECTION 4: GENERAL REPEALER

All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances conflicting or inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance hereby adopted are hereby repealed.

SECTION 5: SEVERABILITY

The provisions of this Ordinance shall be severable, and if any provision hereof shall be declared unconstitutional, illegal or invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this Ordinance. It is hereby declared as a legislative intent of the Township that this Ordinance would have been amended as if such unconstitutional, illegal or invalid provision or provisions had not been included herein.

SECTION 6: EFFECTIVE DATE

The provisions of this ordinance shall become effective on the fifth (5th) day following enactment.

Weisenberg Township is required by law to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Any person that requires special assistance to understand the nature of the business conducted at the above meeting because of visual, hearing or other impairment is requested to contact the Township Administrator at least five (5) days prior to the scheduled meeting to arrange for the necessary assistance.

Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, the June 8th 2020 Board of Supervisors meeting will be held remotely via ZOOM. Any interested party wishing to participate in the meeting should contact the Township at 610-285-6660 by 3pm on June 8th, 2020 in order to obtain the meeting login information.
