

Taylor, Paul S.

Service Pilot

NOV 1 1944

Flight Officer Paul S. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Taylor, West Englewood, N. J., and husband of the former Joan Shimer, 205 East Goepp Street, was awarded the silver wings of a military service pilot at graduation exercises at the Advanced Twin Engine Flying School at Blytheville, Arkansas.

The winning of his wings marks the successful completion of two phases of flying training—basic and advanced. He will soon be assigned to the Army Transport Command.
