SteelStacks incident concludes safely

BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI
njastrzanski@tnonline.com

City police report that a man climbed high onto the former Bethlehem Steel blast furnaces at ArtsQuest SteelStacks Friday evening, causing concern and forcing the cancellation of events held on the grounds.

Police Chief Mark DiLuzio said in a public statement the man continued to climb to the very top of a structure and took up a position on a single steel beam approximately 300 feet above the ground.

Bethlehem Officers started to climb the structure in an attempt to speak with the man. Bethlehem Crisis Negotiation Team Officers reached a metal platform 25 feet below the man and started a conversation while Bethlehem Fire Technical Rescue along with EMS took positions.

Crisis Negotiation Officers spoke with the man for approximately 20 hours. Meanwhile, he was identified by posting his photo on Facebook and to local media outlets, and his family was located. At approximately 4 p.m. on Saturday, the man climbed down and peacefully surrendered to ERT Officers and Crisis Officers on the metal platform.

U.S. vs Netherlands Valley watches FIFA final

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

People from all over the Lehigh Valley converged on SteelStacks' PPL parking lot in South Bethlehem to watch the United States women's soccer team win the Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) World Cup July 7. The U.S. team won the game 2-0, defeating The Netherlands' team as local soccer enthusiasts and fans sweltered on the sun-baked pavement in front of a huge, trailer-mounted television screen. Beer and food vendors kept the crowd happy between goals by star athlete Megan Rapinoe and tournament first-timer Rose Lavelle, who clinched the victory.

Hotel Bethlehem to host Latino convention

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Bethlehem City Councilwoman Olga Negrón and other leaders in the state's Latino community joined Norman Bristol Colón July 8 as he announced that the Pennsylvania Latino Convention will hold its annual gathering Oct. 29-31 at the Hotel Bethlehem.

Colón and Latino leaders from around and outside the Lehigh Valley made the announcement to a group of supporters in the lobby of the main street hotel.

Mayor talks Southside car parks

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Even though it was not an agenda item, Mayor Robert Donchez invited the Bethlehem Parking Authority (BPA) to brief the Bethlehem City Council June 3 on its plans to build a parking garage on a lot near the intersection of East Third and Polk streets.

"This is a project that has been a priority of mine for several years," said Donchez in preamble to asking BPA Director Livingston to take the floor. "It is critical to support the parking needs of Northampton Community College and other business in the eastern corridor on [East] Third Street."

"I think it is important for the economic development of the eastern corridor," said Donchez. "Out of 470 [parking spaces] they have roughly 370 commitments for leases."

He said he wants to wean the City off of contributions from BPA when the TIF (Tax Incremental Financing) ends. "I do want to fulfill that commitment."

Bethlehem Parking Authority Director Kevin Livingston and Tim Tracy from Desman Consulting explained the City Council the Parking Authority's plans to expand parking in Bethlehem.

Helping establish the BPA as a self-sufficient financial entity able to finance its own capital improvements is also a goal of PFM officer Scott Shearer.

"We can secure a [bank] financing package under very good terms and conditions for the Authority without having to put the City guarantee and the taxpayer's pledge behind the debt," said Shearer.

Donchez said the BPA had the responsibility to research all possible ways to finance the project and to find the method that was in the best interests of the taxpayer.

Parking Authority Director Kevin Livingston said he had explored both public and private financing for the Polk Street garage.

Construction on the Polk Street garage could start by the end of 2019, according to Livingston.

He said, "The garage is currently planned to be a 470-space garage with a 30-space parking lot. In the bids for construction, we intend to add a bid alternate to build the garage 91 spaces larger, or an additional one and half floors. The bid alternate will be executed if the pricing for the garage comes in less than anticipated, or the BPA realizes new commitments and/or revenue prior to the start of construction."

Livingston also said plans allow for "an opportunity for a horizontal expansion of approximately 159 spaces."

"This would include building additional garage spaces over the parking lot," said Livingston. "The maximum size of the garage is 750 [parking] spaces."

Livingston brought the team of consultants and public finance experts who have assisted the BPA in determining See CITY on Page A12

The 2019 Boutique at the Rink cancer fundraiser was a rousing success as over $282,000 was raised to support three area agencies, Cancer Support Community, St. Luke's Hospice and St. Luke's Cancer Center. Co-chair Carol Jacoby reported that 303 volunteers provided 15,069 hours to set up, run and pack up the 45th annual event. Jacoby was joined by co-chair Janet Binsau to run the 2019 sale. Premiere night May 28 saw hundreds of shoppers pay $10 to enter and shop from amongst the best inventory of donated items, followed by four days of full price, half price and bag purchase options. Proceeds are divided equally between the three organizations.

The Little Foxes
The "little foxes, that spoil the vines" (Song of Solomon 2:15) are "pet" sins excused as harmless, but certain to destroy fruitfulness and growth in a Christian's life! They are the "little" soft choices of the Proverbs 6:9-12 sluggard resulting in spiritual "poverty" and "want."
"Little foxes" desensitize little by little! That which was once viewed as shocking, repulsive, vile, and immoral becomes acceptable and normal! Christians who in the past experienced Holy Spirit conviction over watching TV have adapted to trash far worse today—yet they feel no compunction! Why? "Know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump?" (1 Corinthians. 5:6) "For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning" (II Peter 2:20).
Let one of these "little foxes" find refuge in your life and it won't be long until his cousin foxes will be invited in! Jesus said an "unclean spirit" does just that, "Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than the first" (Luke 11:26).
Tolerating "little foxes" or "little" sins that you once would have resisted indicates you are headed away from God. God says, "...if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him" (Hebrews 10:38). Jesus says, "...I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love" (Revelation 2:4).
You'd better destroy those "little foxes" before they "spoil the vines." -Written by Pastor Daniel E. Lundmark Blöse is to maintain a two-inch distance from the building details above and below the sign. He will also relocate an existing conduit and resubmit the plans to Long for final review.

East Allen Rental owns the brick building that once housed George's Light Lunch.

The commissioners tabled a signage proposal for a new eatery featuring Spanish cuisine for 123 W. Fourth St. Representing the Casa de Campo Restaurant were owner Adriel Almonte and contractor Johnny Ramirez. The application for a store front vinyl sign was considered incomplete and the board provided the applicants with guidelines so they could present a more detailed submission at a later date.

The residential over retail circa 1890 brick building, owned by Jose Nunez, was previously occupied by Golazo House.

Bruce Campbell sought advice on his rehab project for the two-and-a-half story building he owns at 601 E. Fourth St. The Happy Tap Bar had occupied the circa 1895 building and Campbell looks to remove the aluminum siding to expose and restore red brick walls and wood trim. He also requested permission to demolish the rear one-story garage built in 1940 to make way for outdoor dining. The garage had been heavily altered when it was converted into an apartment unit.

Campbell's rendering of the project depicts the main building with the brick exposed and a back patio extending to the sidewalk behind it where the apartment is. Short stone columns support wrought-iron fencing with roofing over part of the dining area. The establishment would be renamed "The Nest."

A COA was granted for the removal of the siding and restoration of the main building. Campbell will need to return with a more detailed proposal for the back of the property, incorporating board input, before the commissioners would permit demolition of the rear structure.

All voting on agenda items was unanimous.

The Bethlehem HCC is charged with the task of determining if new signs or other alterations to a building's exterior would be an appropriate fit for the neighborhood in one of three designated historic districts. Hearings are regularly scheduled on the third Monday of the month.

Obtaining a certificate of appropriateness is only a first step for business owners and residents in a designated historic district who wish to make alterations to a building's exterior. The BHCC's recommendations are later reviewed, then voted on by city council before any project is allowed to proceed.

Vaping policy added to handbook

BY MARK KIRLIN
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The 2019-20 student handbook for the Saucon Valley MS has been approved. There was one change involving the policy on smoking, tobacco and vaping. Assistant Principal Amy Braxmeier was on hand to update the board. Per the 2018-19 handbook it states "smoking and tobacco use and possession are prohibited in school buildings, on district property, and any other jurisdiction 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 52 weeks a year."

School district property includes playgrounds, parking lots, athletic fields and stadiums." Under the 2019-20 it will specifically mention vaping even though vaping has been prohibited because it falls under tobacco products. Vaping is not just a growing concern at Saucon, but all the school districts in the Lehigh Valley.

Numerous published statistics continue to show vaping is on the rise among middle school and high school students. According to the American Heart Association, "vaping is now the most common form of tobacco use by kids and teens."

Board member Dr. Shamim Pakzad, Supt. Dr. Craig Butler and Board President Susan Baxter participate in the vaping discussion.

In 2018, vaping by high school students in the U.S doubled from the previous year." According to the centeronaddiction.org, "vaping is the act of inhaling and exhaling the aerosol, often referred to as vapor, which is produced by an e-cigarette or similar device." These devices often contain nicotine and other chemicals associated with lung disease and cancer. Another common vaping product that has become very popular with teens is the juul. This popularity in part is due to the different flavors offered that range from cream, fruit, candy, drink and desert flavors. Another aspect to its popularity for teens is its small size (about the size of a usb flash drive) which makes it more easily concealable.

At Saucon, if a student possesses or uses any tobacco related product, they are subject to a $50 fine or the fee can be waived if the student takes a smoking cessation education program instead.

Board member Dr. Shamim Pakzad asked Braxmeier if this is a one time fine or if the fine is progressive if the student is caught again. According to Braxmeier the fine is the same each time the student is caught. Braxmeier said the smoking cessation program is an eight-week program and they encourage students to go that route. Pakzad also asked Braxmeier how many students were caught. According to Braxmeier, she believes it was around 9 or 10 that were found to either possess or used tobacco products this past year at the middle school. According to Braxmeier, "the problem is there and it exists and we're working at eliminating it, but it is a problem."

Braxmeier said they are continually attempting to educating faculty and students on the dangers, and that back to school nights provide an opportunity to talk to parents about the issue. Braxmeier got to the heart of the matter when she said students often perceive vaping as not smoking and she said, "they really do think it's safe."

Wolf's end run over voting machines

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Last year, Governor Tom Wolf decreed that all 67 counties must have voting systems with voter-verifiable paper trails in time for next year's presidential election. But on July 5, he vetoed a bill that would help them pay for it because it also eliminated straight-party voting. Now he's attempting an end run. With no legislative authority, he's attempting to borrow $90 million through the Pennsylvania Economic Development Financing Authority (PEDFA). Good luck with that!

Whether the PEDFA has authority to float bonds for voting machines is highly questionable. Wolf himself suggested that a legislative solution is preferable.

"It's a proposal that we can move forward with, I think, and if there's something that the Legislature wants to do that they think is better, again I'm all ears," he told Pittsburgh Action News in an unrelated news conference.

According to House Republicans, Wolf has no authority under the state constitution to borrow or spend money unless it is authorized by the state legislature.

"It's important to show good faith and that's what I'm doing here," Wolf said.

In addition to eliminating the straight-party vote, the legislation Wolf vetoed also extended the time for absentee ballots to be received and still counted by local elections offices. Every year, thousands of absentee ballots are rejected because they are not received by the Friday prior to an election.

"Our counties appreciate the governor finding a way forward that recognizes both the county need for funding assistance as well as the broad funding support we had in the General Assembly," said Kathi Cozzone, president of the County Commissioner Association of Pennsylvania.

lieved the price was too high while Angle said part of the property would have to be razed.

As it happens, Angle was correct. Both the former law office and its parking lot are slowly falling off a cliff. This is mostly because it was built on fill that had never been properly packed down. Stormwaters add to the erosion.

The plan is to demolish the building and place an underground tank beneath the parking lot to drain rainwater. After the property is shored up properly, a new and larger parking lot is planned. Six of the eight handicapped spaces will be van accessible.

This project has already been bid in its entirety twice, but without success. Dertinger said contractors have been reluctant to assume responsibility for shoring up the cliff because they are on the hook if there's a problem. So bids were sought from three local firms. Paul Giroux, Inc. was the lowest.

CEO Borland says zoo in great shape

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Lehigh Valley Zoo President and CEO Melissa Borland sounded excited and happy as she reported a series of milestones to the Lehigh County Board of Commissioners June 26; revenue up from $1 million in 2014 to $4.1 million in 2018; expected recertification by the Association of Zoos & Aquariums, which indicates that the Lehigh Valley Zoo is rated among the top 10 percent of zoos in the country; plus a new initiative to reduce consumption of one-use plastics. She also reported the zoo had 230,000 visitors in 2018.

But the mood changed quickly when Commissioner Marc Grammes started grilling Borland as to why she had not submitted financial information to the board either in 2018 or by the April 30 deadline this year.

Grammes expressed concern that the Commissioners weren't being kept adequately informed of the Zoo's operations and finances. "I have not heard anything about 2018," said Grammes. "I didn't see anybody from the Zoo last year."

Borland, seemingly surprised at the Grammes' line of questioning, responded, "Time after time I requested [to come before the board], but I was bumped – I was placed on the agenda and I was, in fact, bumped."

"I submitted my financials to the county and to the liaison on the board." She was referring to Director of General Services Richard Molchany and President Marty Nothstein, who is on the board of directors of the Lehigh Valley Zoological Society, which leases and runs the Lehigh Valley Zoo, which operates independently of the county.

Borland said the county contracts with the Lehigh Valley Zoological Society to care for the elk and bison herds. The other animals, such as the giraffes, are owned by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums and the Lehigh Valley Zoological Society.

Molchany took responsibility for the perceived lack of reporting, confirming Borland had made her reports to him. He offered to share the reports directly with the board if it desired.

A review of the lease indicates it requires the Zoological Society to "Prepare and submit an annual report, which consists of a profit and loss statement, budget and capital plan for the current year no later than April 30 of each year describing the Lessee's activities and accomplishments in the use and development of the facility during the preceding year."

Water Street bridge to close July 22

BY MARK KIRLIN
Special to the Bethlehem Press

At the July 1 Hellertown Council meeting borough engineer Bryan Smith announced that after several date changes, the Water Street Bridge will close July 22. The bridge is structurally deficient and is to be replaced by Kriger Construction.

According to PennDOT, the Dickson City, Lackawanna County based contractor has 60 days to complete the project and if it goes beyond that for any reason other than weather, fines will be imposed. The old 117-foot long steel I-beam bridge that crosses the Saucon Creek was completed in 1938 and approximately 8,000 drivers traverse the bridge daily. The new bridge will also be two lanes wide and have a sidewalk connecting directly to Water Street Park.

The Water Street Park and the Heller Homestead, both located next to the bridge, will remain open. According to a statement by PennDOT, east of the bridge a sign reading "Road

Open to Water Street Park" will be located at the northeast corner of Front Street and Water Street. West of the bridge, a sign reading "Road Open to Heller Homestead" will be located at the intersection of Friedensville Road and Meadows Road.

Separate detours have been announced for non-trucks and trucks. For non-trucks, the detour will go from Friedensville Road to Meadows Road to Skibo road to Main Street (Route 412). For trucks the detour is much longer. The route they will have to take is from Main Street (Route 412) into South Bethlehem. From there they will need to follow East Fourth Street to Daly Avenue to East Third Street to Wyandotte Street, following route 378 to Seidersville Road to Friedensville Road.

The bridge closure has forced the Saucon Valley Farmers Market to move from the Water Street Park to an area next to the Hellertown Library at 409 Constitution Ave. The Market is open on Sundays between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

LHS HIRES XC COACHES

Liberty High School is excited to announce Erin Matyus has been recommended to be our head boys and girls cross country coach.

Eric is a 2005 graduate of Liberty High School where she was arguably the most decorated female athlete in school history earning 16 varsity letters during her four years.

A 2019 Liberty High School Hall of Fame inductee, Matyus went on to run at the University of Maryland from 2006-10 where she was team captain and a member of the Student Athletic Advisory Council during her four years.

Erin has served as an assistant cross country coach at Moravian College in 2010. Eric has also served as an assistant cross country coach at Lehigh in 2011 and as an assistant swimming coach at Lehigh from 2011-18. She is currently employed as Assistant Director of Athletic Leadership at Lehigh University.

Coach Matyus will be assisted by Trevor Van Ackeren. Trevor is a 2008 Liberty graduate and a 2015 Liberty Athletic Hall of Fame inductee. Trevor also earned 16 varsity letters during his tenure at Liberty.

Graduating second in his class, Trevor was the national recipient of the Wendy's High School Heisman Award in 2008 and went on to run three years of cross country at Princeton and one year at the University of Texas.

Trevor is currently employed at Liberty High School as a social studies teacher and assistant basketball coach.

NW divers do well

Northwest swim team hosted Trident for its last home meet of the season on July 9 when Eli Kovar and Windsor Reiss scored first place points for Northwest in diving.

Keller Pooley and Jeffrey Eisenhardt scored second place points for Northwest.

The diving event in summer swim meets consists of three dives for each competitor.

Reiss, who is in the girls 13 & over division, also placed first the day before during Northwest's meet against Lehigh Country Club.

In the meet against Trident, Reiss did a front double in tuck, a front full in free, and a back layout in straight. The front double has the highest degree of difficulty.

"My front double was a little off, and then my front full was good. I got good scores on it.

Jeffrey Eisenhardt was second in diving.

Keller Pooley was also second for NW.

My back layout was good. I just had a correction to make with my hands," Reiss said. "I try to maintain my corrections in my head and make sure I keep them and keep building them up throughout the meets, and try to make each dive better and better every single meet as well as I can."

Reiss scored 107.00 points against Trident and Lehigh. Pooley scored 100.60 points against Trident and Lehigh.

"Diving is a lot less stressful for me, based off of gymnastics, which I've been in my whole life, so it's just easygoing," said Reiss. "I love the coaches, I love having a team, and getting to see everyone grow throughout the meet. It's really cool."

Kovar scored 58.20 points and Eisenhardt scored 45.85 in the Trident meet.

NW swim tops Lehigh

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Northwest swim team finished its meet against Lehigh Country Club with a 12-0 victory for Northwest after heavy rain forced its continuation to last Monday.

Abby Mack, Madison Drager, Greta Stuckey, and Treasa Burke won the 13 & over 200 medley relay in 2:23.57, and John Jones, Andrew Layne, Seth Coleman, and Jeffrey Eisenhardt won the same event for the boys in 2:13.05.

In 8 & under events, Desmond Murray won the 25 free in 24.85 and the 25 backstroke in 31.06. Estella Mikovich came in first in the 25 breaststroke in 28.13, and Connor Eisenhardt was also first in the 25 breast in 35.87.

In 9-10 events, Adam Barlow was first in the 50 free in 39.39 and the 25 butterfly in 19.84. Elizabeth McClarin won the 25 back in 22.42. Felix Ogden also won the 25 back in 24.33, and Drew Daignault was first in the 25 breast in 32.81.

In 11-12 events, Lora Flynn won the 50 free in 37.60 and the 50 fly in 40.59. John Cornish won the 50 free in 38.30 and the 50 back in 45.57. Sarah Barlow was first in the 50 back in 24.33, and Cole Daignault took first in the 50 breast in 56.78.

"The 50 free, 100 IM, 50 back, and crescendo, all of those I love, and I've been swimming them for awhile," said Cornish. "My 50 free-style was pretty close. Probably trying to beat my time [was a challenge]."

In 13-14 events, Corbin Eisenhardt placed first in the 50 free in 29.0 and the 50 fly in 34.29. Luke Daignault won the 100 IM in 1:35.57 and the 50 back in 47.27, and Jaina Eisenhardt was first in the 50 back in 46.33.

"Breaststroke was really close. I was always told not to look at the other lanes because that makes you scared," said Jaina Eisenhardt.

"Swim team is a lot of fun, you have a lot of friends here, and I teach here, treading, teaching how to do breaststroke, teaching how to do backstroke."

In 15 & over events, Stuckey won the 100 free in 1:08.26, Mack was first in the 100 IM in 1:12.82, the 50 fly in 32.19 and the 50 breast in 37.59. Coleman won the 50 fly in 33.28, Drager took first in the 50 back in 37.66, and Layne won the 50 breast in 36.04.

In 12 & under events, Sarah Barlow took first place in the 100 IM in 1:29.15, and Cornish took first in 1:42.83.

In the mixed 10 & under 100 free relay, Ogden, Nicholas Muniz, Drew Daignault, and Nathan Rothbauer placed first in 1:39.79.

Desmond Murray, Cornish, Layne, Corbin Eisenhardt, and Adam Barlow combined to win the crescendo with a time of 2:19.24.

Lehigh beats VW

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Lehigh Little League's 12U tournament team handed Valley West its first loss in the Section 6 tournament, and with that, took its two-game win streak home on Sunday night with a 3-1 victory won in Southampton, Pa.

"We're in a pretty good spot," said Lehigh manager Buck Horvath. "If we win on Tuesday, it's over."

Lehigh will take on the winner of Valley West and Council Rock Holland, past Press deadlines. Stroudsburg is the other team in the Section 6 tourney.

On Sunday, Aidan Dancho and Rocco Sciarra pitched three innings apiece.

Valley West scored its only run in the first inning on an RBI triple.

Lehigh scored all three of its runs in the second inning.

Connor Martinez had a leadoff walk, followed by a walk to Andrew Bowser, and an RBI by Sciarra. Justin Frey walked, and Dancho had a 2 RBI single.

Defensively, Lehigh was solid on Sunday.

"Our infield was immaculate today. They made every solid, headsy play," Horvath said.

With Valley West runners on first and second with no outs in the fifth inning, their leadoff batter lined to Sciarra, and Lehigh turned a double play, ending a potential rally.

Offensively, Lehigh had base runners in every inning, but Horvath thought his team was being too selective with pitches.

"One base hit was enough, but it won't be enough moving forward," he said.

Lehigh tops CR

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Lehigh Little League's 12U tournament team opened Section 6 play-offs on Saturday with an 8-6 victory over Council Rock Holland in Southampton, Pa.

Knowing the Section 6 tournament is less than a week long and that Lehigh could be playing multiple games within a short amount of time, Lehigh manager Buck Horvath and his coaches decided to use four pitchers on Saturday. That way, no one pitcher would be spent for future games.

"It ended up working to our advantage because the other team couldn't feel comfortable with any one pitcher," Horvath said.

Jacob Strong started the game on the mound, followed by Rocco Sciarra, Aidan Dancho, and Andrew Bowser.

"Andrew was really effective and held it there for us at 6-3 and gave us the belief we could do this," said Horvath.

It was Council Rock Holland who had the 6-3 lead that included a three run home run in the first inning and another run in the second. Lehigh also committed two errors in the first and were down 6-1 until the fifth inning.

In the fifth, Jacob Matthews singled and with two outs, Nicholas Bowser walked and Kam Kensicki, who had 5 RBIs in the game, doubled.

"When we were down 6-1, we were kind of going through it, but not giving up," said Horvath. "We were just going through our game plan and keeping the pitch counts down."

With Lehigh's last chance in the sixth inning, Connor Martinez led off with a hard single, Jaxon Horvath walked, and Andrew Bowser hit a hard single to make the score 6-5.

Justin Frey tied the game on a sacrifice fly. Dancho singled, Nick Bowser was hit by a pitch, and Kensicki hit another 2 RBI double to give Lehigh the lead and ultimately, the win.

"We were excited but not really jumping around," said Horvath, "but I think we could see it when the score was 6-3."

Hurricanes 8-2

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

The Cedar Beach summer league keeps pushing its way through July and Liberty is keeping on pace as one of the best teams this summer.

The Hurricanes came into this week with an 8-2 record, good for second place in the standings behind Reading (8-1).

Liberty, thus far, has been the only Bethlehem team finding success in summer action, as Bethlehem Catholic (3-7) and Freedom (1-8) have struggled.

Liberty hopes it can get back on track this week, following a 52-41 loss to Wilson West (8-2) Lawn last week, which tied both teams for second place.

The Canes took on Reading Tuesday night in a pivotal showdown for both teams in the standings.

Becahi lost to Parkland 49-39 last week, but they got a glimpse of what they hope will happen during the winter, following Isaiah Alexander's 26-point performance in the contest.

Freedom didn't play last Thursday, but face Allen on Tuesday night.

Below are the Large School Division standings.

Wanderers wins title

BY PETER CAR
pca@tntonline.com

The expected championship matchup in the NORCO finals between Wanderers and Northampton became a reality last week and as expected, the two best teams in the conference all summer took things to the max of their three-game series.

Wanderers pulled out the championship Monday evening 1-0 to now advance to the Region 2 tournament starting on July 19.

Gabe Rodriguez threw a four-hitter in the victory for the Wanderers, who got the game's only run in the bottom of the fifth inning off a Eli Lesley's sacrifice fly.

It was the first NORCO title for the program since 1986 and it was well deserved.

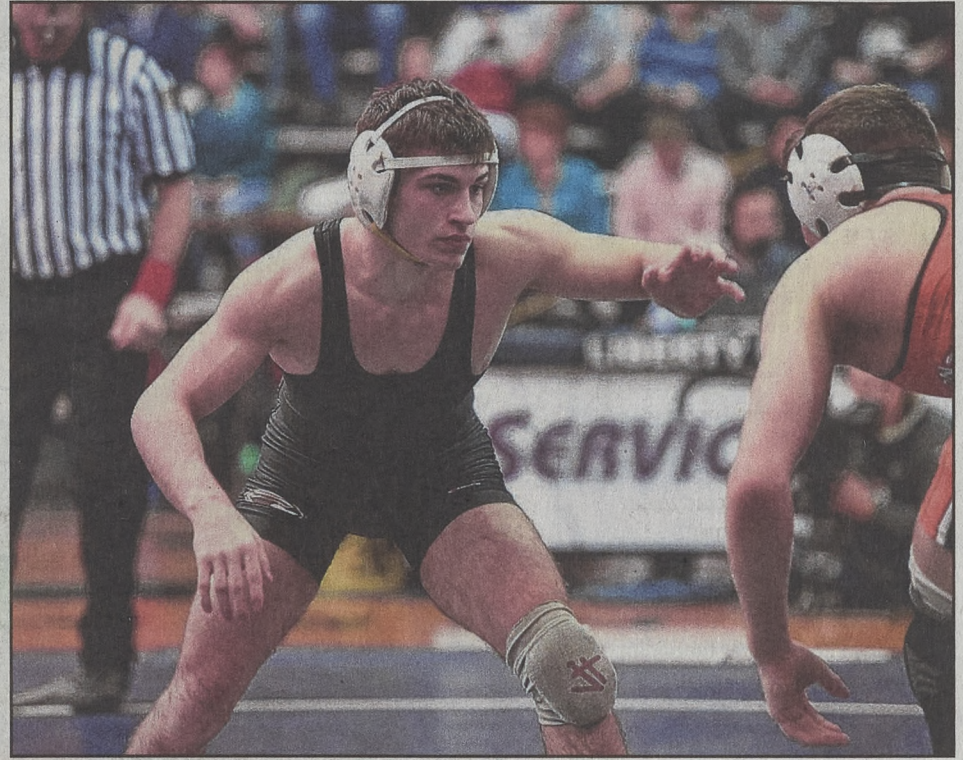

"As I mentioned before our strength is pitching depth and defense," said long time Wanderers manager Dwight Pulieri. "I believe Northampton and us are almost mirrors of each other. Both of us have quality pitching and both of us can go deep in our pitching staffs. A lot of our players faced off with Northampton in the EPC final so there was a sense of urgency with our guys."

Dwight Pulieri's squad took game one of the series with a 1-0 victory, following pitcher

Todd Erney's one-hit performance. In game two, Northampton came back from a 3-0 deficit to muscle five runs in the third and fourth innings to prevail and force a game three.

Monday night's showdown took things down to the wire again, as Rodriguez had to work his way out of a bases loaded jam in the fifth to help his team escape with the win.

For Northampton, it was the third straight year they fell short in the finals, as the Wanderers will now head to Boyertown for the double-elimination region tournament.

Cole Handlovic will attend Cornell University.

Handlovic to Cornell

BY PETER CAR
pca@tntonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic's Cole Handlovic announced that he's heading to Cornell University to continue his wrestling career.

Handlovic, a rising senior for the Hawks, made the announcement on Twitter last week, signaling another Golden Hawk from the wrestling program heading to a Division-I program.

"I am very humbled to announce that I am committed to Cornell," Handlovic said. "Thank you to all of my coaches, my family, and my teammates who put me in the position for this to happen. Without all of you I wouldn't be the athlete, student, or the person I am today. Thank you!"

Handlovic has a career record of 86-22. He finished sixth in the state as a sophomore and fourth this past season at 152-pounds, as he finished with a 42-7 season. Handlovic was a district and regional champion last season as well.

Outdoors: Best fishing could be lakes, ponds

BY NICK HROMIAK
Special to the Press

With all the heavy rain we've been having, stream and river fishing has been curtailed. During these times, anglers are best advised to fish lakes and ponds that aren't affected as severely. As such, selected local waters are fishing fairly productively.

Willie Marx of Willie's Bait & Tackle in Cementon, says the Lehigh River has surprisingly receded quickly. "I have a Hollywood block placed vertically on the shoreline below my shop, it's my water level measurement device. There was a foot of dirt in front of it before the rains came and afterwards, the water level was covering the first hole in the block. A day later the water level was down and dirt again was a foot in front of the block. I never saw the river drop so fast. "However, it's still a bit stained."

Willie attributes this to less rain upriver in the Poconos.

Despite this, the river is fishing good for smallmouths, fallfish, rock bass and an occasional trout. Most river anglers, he said, are buying minnows and night-crawlers and a few are using Berkley's 3-inch, Power Trout Worm in Bubblegum scent.

Leaser Lake is fishing good for Muskies and largemouths, mostly all on large shiners. One customer said he latched onto a couple trout where the creek enters the lake at the North landing.

Willie also hears the Bethlehem Canal is producing large carp.

And although there was no official announcement, Willie heard the Pennsylvania Fish & Boat Commission stocked Muskies in the Lehigh River in Allentown, presumably below the Hamilton Street Dam. The agency did announce it was stocking Muskies in the Susquehanna River this week, so maybe a few found their way to Allentown.

Hefty largemouth bass can often be found in farm ponds with this one being caught on a golf course pond.

Rick, from Rick's Bait and Tackle in Mertztown, reports Ontelaunee Reservoir in upper Berks County has been fishing good for sizable bass. Two customers picked up several largemouths in the 5-pound range while throwing 10-inch worms in black and brown colors and Culprit's Water Dragon Lizards in dark green. Crappies are also hitting there.

Down at Blue Marsh Lake in Berks, two customers waded the shallows there and are picking up large and smallmouth bass on Salty Spider jigs, Z-Man's and Chatter Baits.

Up north in Carbon County, there are still some trout remaining in Buckwa Creek, Aquashicola, Pohopoco Creek and Mahoning Creek, but few anglers are fishing for these leftovers.

In the northern lakes, Mauch Chunk has been offering some viable bass action, however, most are small and not of legal size. Panfishing though has been good around the fishing pier at the boat launch at Chunk and a good place to take a youngster fishing as the action will maintain their attention. A few anglers are also picking up some catfish at the boat launch during evening hours.

At Beltzville Lake, boat anglers are reported to be catching sizable stripers in the morning and evening hours when heavy recreational boat traffic is nil. A few brown trout measuring 24-26 inches are being hooked while bass action in the upper areas of the Pohopoco Bay and power lines and dam breast has picked up, according to On the Water Magazine.

Anglers should not overlook local farm ponds. Many harbor some hefty largemouths and panfish that will hit mostly anything artificial or live.

I once fished a small farm pond in New Tripoli and caught, weighed and released a 3-pound smallmouth bass. I had no idea where it came from as the water there didn't seem conducive to a smallmouth. So these rural ponds could hold some surprises, even snapping turtles.

SWAP MEET
The Ontelaunee Rod & Gun Club in New Tripoli is hosting a Sportsman Swap Meet on Sunday, September 22, from 8 a.m. - 1 p.m.

It's an opportunity to sell your shooting, hunting, archery, fishing, hiking and outdoor related items that you no longer need.

The meet is offering three options: Option A is outside in a 10x10 space, no table, no covering for $20; Option B is a 6-foot table outside under their pavilion for $25; Option C is a 6-foot table inside the clubhouse for $30.

EYE ON THE IRONPIGS

Checking out some former IronPigs

BY CHUCK HIXSON
Special to the Press

Are you going through 'Pig withdrawal yet?

The IronPigs haven't played a home game since July 7 and they won't be back home for another week yet, leaving Coca-Cola Park empty for 15 straight days. The current 11-game road trip saw the 'Pigs fly from Rochester to Gwinnett Sunday night to start a four-game series against the Strippers.

With the gang out of town, it's a good time to take a look at some former IronPigs who have also flown out of town, only on a more permanent basis.

After making a strong MLB debut with Baltimore on July 1st, Tom Eshelman was sent right back to Triple-A Norfolk. The Orioles needed another starter for this past Sunday and recalled him to start against Tampa Bay. In the game, Eshelman made it through five innings, allowing just two runs. The O's sent him out for the sixth inning and he got the first two outs before giving up a single to Nate Lowe, which was followed by a home run by Mike Brosseau that put Tampa Bay up 4-0 and ended Eshelman's day. If that Sunday Orioles/Rays game sounds familiar, it may be because the Rays Ryan Stanek and Ryan Yarbrough combined on a perfect game for eight innings before Yarbrough gave up back-to-back singles to start the ninth.

After being released by the Tigers back in May, Cameron Rupp signed a minor league deal with Oakland and is playing in Las Vegas for the past couple of months. While the PCL is known as a hitter's league, it hasn't been very hospitable to Rupp, who is batting just .204 with three home runs in 17 games with the Aviators. Another former IronPigs catcher, Erik Kratz, is with his third organization so far this season. He opened the year with San Francisco, was released and wound up with the Rays and is now playing for the Yankees at Triple-A Scranton/Wilkes-Barre. The 39-year old is batting .314 with three home runs and eight RBI in 17 games with the RailRiders.

Carlos Carrasco was a member of the IronPigs starting rotation when he was dealt to Cleveland on July 29, 2009 in the deal that brought Cliff Lee to the Phillies. The ironic part of it was that the 'Pigs were at home against the Indians Triple-A affiliate, the Columbus Clippers when the deal was made. Carrasco literally packed up his locker and walked down the hall to the Clippers clubhouse. Carrasco, who has been on the IL since June 5 when he complained of severe fatigue, was recently diagnosed with Leukemia. Carrasco, 32, is undergoing treatment and hopes not only to pitch again, but to return to the mound at some point this season.

Carrasco's battery mate from that 2009 team is also still playing. Tuffy Gosewisch is a member of the San Antonio Missions, the Triple-A affiliate of the Milwaukee Brewers. Gosewisch, who is now 35, is batting just .149 in 34 games with the Missions.

Carrasco also pitched for Lehigh Valley in 2008, the first year of the team's existence. He is one of just two players from that team to still be playing. The other is J.A. Happ, who is 7-5 with a 4.93 ERA in 18 starts with the Yankees this season. Happ was the starter in the first-ever International League game at Coca-Cola Park against the Richmond Braves.

ROTATION HELP...
The IronPigs have had to piece together a starting rotation for a while now, but they received some help in the form of 24-year old lefty Damon Jones. The Phillies bumped Jones up from Reading and he made his Triple-A debut with the 'Pigs on Sunday, going 5 1/3 innings, allowing two earned runs. With Clearwater (11 starts), Reading (4 starts) and Lehigh Valley, Jones is 5-3 with a 1.47 ERA this season and has struck out 125 batters in 85 2/3 innings of work.

CATCHING DILEMMAS...
Rob Brantly, made his first major league appearance since 2017 on Friday when he pinch-hit for the Phillies after having his contract purchased when J.T. Realmuto went on paternity leave for the birth of his second daughter. Brantly struck out to end the game and following the game was designated for assignment to make room for Realmuto's return. The question of whether Brantly (3-18-.306 with Lehigh Valley) should have been kept on the Phillies roster over Andrew Knapp, who is batting just .155 in 42 games with the Phillies. Knapp still has all three options remaining and could have been sent out to Lehigh Valley either by being optioned or designated for assignment.

LO-MO...
The Phillies signed former major leaguer Logan Morrison to a minor league deal and assigned him to Lehigh Valley. Morrison has played in 959 major league games with four different organizations. He was given his release by the Yankees, who had him playing with Scranton/Wilkes-Barre where he was hitting .289 with 15 home runs in 43 games. Morrison could wind up being a bat off the bench in Philadelphia.

NASCAR THIS WEEK

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Kurt vs. Kyle, final lap. Who were you pulling for?

GODSPEAK: Kurt needed that win more than his kid brother, so I was glad to see the old guy win again.

KEN'S CALL: Ricky Craven! Oh, wait, sorry about the flashback. Of course you're pulling for Kurt at that point, for a variety of reasons.

Does Kurt have more in him for 2019?

GODSPEAK: Based on his top-10s this season, he's going deep into the playoffs. Final four driver? I don't know about that.

KEN'S CALL: Hey, the guy is up there nearly every week. Yes, two more wins, makes the final eight in the playoffs, with the final four an outside possibility.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

JOEY LOGANO VS. YELLOW FLAG

Logano was heading toward an easy win until Bubba Wallace spun because of a flat rear tire in the closing laps, making Logano a sitting duck on the final restart.

GODWIN KELLY'S TAKE:

Logano had a win pulled from his grasp and he was not happy. "It is frustrating when you are fast enough to win and you don't win, yes it is frustrating," he said.

GODWIN'S PICKS FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE

WINNER: Kevin Harvick

REST OF TOP 5: Joey Logano, Denny Hamlin, Jimmie Johnson, Ryan Newman

FIRST ONE OUT: Ryan Blaney

DARK HORSE: Daniel Suarez
DON'T BE SURPRISED IF: Harvick comes out the pack and busts out a badly needed win.

NEW HAMPSHIRE THREE THINGS TO WATCH

Kurt Busch (1) and Kyle Busch (18) lead the way after a late restart at Kentucky. [AP/TIMOTHY D. EASLEY]

1. Brotherly love

After last weekend's Kurt Busch vs. Kyle Busch battle for the victory, you have to wonder if Kentucky was a preview of the second half of the Cup Series season. Kurt has just 19 starts under his belt at Ganassi Racing and is stringing together top-10 finishes, while Kyle is a front-pack fixture with the No. 18 Toyota. Like or not, they are talented drivers and now that Kurt has won, his team has a new confidence. Is 2019 the Year of the Busches?

2. One race

Don't forget, New Hampshire only gets one NASCAR Cup Series race a season after its parent company moved the fall race to Las Vegas Motor Speedway. So Sunday, it's a one-and-done stop, like Kentucky Speedway last weekend. Speedway Motorsports Inc. made the change in 2018 because of falling attendance at the 1.058-mile oval. Kevin Harvick won the lone race at N.H. last season.

3. Pacing Bruin

Because of its location — in the heart of New England — New Hampshire Motor Speedway is one of the few tracks to celebrate and honor hockey heroes on a regular basis. Chris Wagner, who is a forward for the Boston Bruins NHL team, will trade the ice for asphalt and drive the pace car Sunday. "Wagner really showcased that hard-nosed, blue-collar New England vibe this past season," said track GM David McGrath.

KENTUCKY THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

1. Compelling storyline

Kurt Busch probably should have won the rain-plagued race at Daytona. Instead the win was awarded to super underdog Justin Haley. Busch wins in the same week thanks to a late caution period and battling his kid brother Kyle to the checkered flag. Hollywood, are you watching?

2. 40-something

Kurt Busch kind of stands out from this year's other winners. Why? Because he is the first driver 40 or over to win this season. Busch, who turns 41 next month, knows any win at this point could be his last. "We'll take it," he said. "This is a perfect feather in the cap."

3. Chevy's streak

You have to go all the way back to 2015 to find a three-race Chevrolet winning streak in the NASCAR Cup Series. The last time it happened, Jeff Gordon, Jimmie Johnson and Dale Earnhardt Jr. won consecutive races. This time: Alex

Kurt Busch celebrates his first victory in the No. 1 Chip Ganassi Racing Chevy at Kentucky. [AP/TIMOTHY D. EASLEY]

Bowman, Justin Haley and Kurt Busch.

— Godwin Kelly, godwin.kelly@news-jrnl.com

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

Where do Kurt and Kyle Busch rank among NASCAR brothers?

They're now at 86 after Kurt's 31st career Cup win last weekend. Two more and they catch Darrell and Michael Waltrip, eight more and they catch Bobby and Donnie Allison. But if you want to get all technical, Richard and Maurice Petty have a combined 200 victories. Maurice eventually reached the Hall of Fame on his engine-building prowess, but between 1960-64, he made 26 starts behind the wheel. No wins, but 16 top-10s in those 26 starts.

What became of Cinderella?

Daytona's lottery winner, Justin Haley, stuck to his full-time day job at Kentucky and finished 10th in the Xfinity Series race. He's 10th in overall points, too. The Spire Motorsports No. 77 car that got the win at Daytona had no positive carry-over. With Quin Houff back in the saddle, the Chevy finished 36th.

Mauro Solano

Liberty HS

Grade: Graduated senior

Family members: Oscar Solano (Dad), Yiniva Polo (Mom), Heylis and Silyeh Solano (siblings)

Favorite subject: My favorite subjects are math and technology. I like math because it will be important for my professional development. I love technology, like computer programming, because technology helps us accomplish things more easily.

Activities: I was involved in the soccer team and I really loved it. That was how I spent most of my time.

Next steps: I plan to go to a four-year college or university.

Career goals: I plan to work at St. Luke's Hospital as a physical therapist.

Heroes: God is the guide of all my steps, but my heroes are my parents. I am thankful for their daily efforts to get up and work just so that I have a much better life than they had. I owe them everything.

Hobbies: My hobbies include soccer, hanging out with my friends, watching movies and spending time with my family.

Current job(s): I usually worked at the hospital during the summer in the transportation department. My main responsibility is to ensure the comfort and safety of patients while taking them to their destination.

Volunteer/community work: Aside from working at the hospital, I used to volunteer at a church.

Likes: I like soccer, singing, and playing video games.

Dislikes: I dislike dishonest people.

Greatest accomplishment (so far): I think one of my greatest achievements was last year when I received a certificate for completing the School-to-Work Program. The program is a partnership with St. Luke's to give ESL students a chance to explore health careers.

Advice for peers: Never give up. Keep dreaming and fight for everything you love.

Student profile subjects are selected by faculty and administration at the individual schools.

Gate Enterprise Awards Promoting world-class workforce

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

"We're here because of Elmer's leadership," said Katie Walter, executive director of the SkillsUSA Council.

She was speaking to a ballroom full of red-jacketed students who have honed useful skills applicable to the modern demands of the work place. The breakfast ceremony May 23 was held at the Homewood Suites and Conference Center in Center Valley.

Walter was presiding over the Elmer Gates Enterprise Awards ceremonies where local students were being recognized for their scholastic achievement, their positive work ethic, their community service and their entrepreneurial spirit.

Gates' granddaughter, Emily Silfies, was the keynote speaker.

"My grandfather believed in leadership by example," Silfies said.

She summarized his advice by saying, "You don't need to be the smartest person in the room; just smart enough to know what they don't."

The awards were presented by Gates' daughter, Patti Gates-Smith who presented each student with a certificate.

The certificates attest to the skill of students and are part of SkillsUSA's mission to "create a world-class workforce through professional development of local career and technical education students and partnerships with the local business community and to support local economic and community growth in the greater Lehigh Valley."

The organization offers opportunities for almost 6,000 students attending career and technical schools in Lehigh, Northampton, Monroe, and Upper Bucks counties.

Elmer Gates was a prominent businessman and philanthropist. He was a U.S. Army veteran of the Korean War.

According to his biography provided by event organizers, his "educational, military, and career background as an engineer and manager provided important experience in preparing his to be an international industry leader."

"The BPA explored both a public bond and private financing of the Polk Street Garage," said Livingston. "PFM, BPA's financial adviser, released a request for proposal to privately finance the garage. I previously sent council the Polk Street Garage pro forma outlining the financials. The bank loan does not require a fine increase or a city guarantee of the debt."

Livingston said BPA paid $2.1 million for the land for the proposed garage from Sand's Casino in 2019.

"It is the intention of the BPA to close on the private bank loan in July and hope to start construction in December 2020," said Livingston. "The BPA December 2019 with an anticipated completion official request to council in the summer of 2019 to consider a fine increase to improve the parking system."

Bruce Haines objected to the plan to build a parking garage on Polk Street outside "the central business district" while tearing down and replacing the downtown Walnut Street garage with 280 fewer parking spaces.

He said the Polk Street parking garage would be outside the central business district and would mainly serve the Lehigh Valley Charter HS for the Arts and Northampton Community College.

He said that the fact that the building is 50 years old is no reason to tear down the Walnut Street parking garage.

In other business, Peter Hepler got a citation from President Adam

Silver Jubilee

A 'Season of Celebration' for Conductor Diane Wittry in her 25th anniversary year with the Allentown Symphony

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN
 pwillistein@tnonline.com

A quarter of a century is a significant milestone: a silver jubilee.

For Diane Wittry, her 25 years as Allentown Symphony Orchestra Music Director and Conductor will be celebrated all-season-long in 2019-2020. It's a "Season of Celebration."

During Wittry's 25 seasons of artistic leadership, the Allentown Symphony has risen to increasing standards of excellence, performing with passion and dedication and honored nationally with the prestigious "American Prize" for artistic quality in 2014 and 2017.

Single tickets for the 2019-2020 season go on sale Aug. 1.

The Allentown Symphony performs its "Classical Series" weekends in Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown. Concerts are at 7:30 p.m. Saturdays. New for the 2019-2020 season, the Symphony performs at 2 p.m. Sundays.

A survey of patrons determined an overwhelming preference for 2 p.m. instead of the previous 3 p.m. Sunday concert starts. This way, concert-goers should be able to return to their residences before dark during winter. It also should reduce traffic congestion on Sunday evenings before the puck drops for Lehigh Valley Phantoms' hockey games in PPL Center.

The Allentown Symphony Orchestra "Classical Series" for 2019-2020 is five programs of back-to-back performances.

Wittry's 25th season with the Allentown Symphony has a roster of award-winning guest soloists, timeless masterworks, including Beethoven's "Pastoral"; an "All-Tchaikovsky" program; eclectic contemporary compositions, with a world premiere by American composer Christopher Theofanidis, and ongoing partnerships with Lehigh Valley arts organizations, including the Allentown Band and Repertory Dance Theatre.

Award-winning soloists include Olga Kern, Van Cliburn Gold Medalist; Drew Petersen, Avery Fischer Career Grant; Irina Muresanu, 1997 winner of the Schadt Competition, along with violinist Lindsey Deutsch, Cathy Yang, erhu, performing Tan Dun's "Concerto" from "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon," and ASO Concertmaster Eliezer Gutman.

In observation of her tenure, Wittry has programmed a season of concerts emphasizing Allentown Symphony's ties to the Lehigh Valley.

"I really tried to bring out wonderful pieces and also to highlight relationships we've had with people in the community," says Wittry of her curating the 2019-2020 season.

"For example, particularly, the final concert, which is the 25th anniversary celebration concert, April 18 and 19, it's ending with Respighi's 'The Pines of Rome,' which was the very first concert I ever conducted with the Allentown Symphony when I auditioned," says Wittry, who took over the baton for the orchestra in fall 1994.

"We're also showcasing the very first winner of the Schadt Competition, Irina Muresanu, violin. And we're having her perform the same piece that she performed, the Prokofiev 'Violin Concerto No. 2.' People still talk about her and her performance."

"We're doing the John Rutter 'Gloria,' featuring the Allentown Symphony Chorus, which I'm very proud of and which we founded about six ago."

"We're doing the 'Concertino for Organ and Orchestra' by Eric Ewazen, which Allen Organ helped commission. I wanted to pay tribute to the more than 50-year relationship that the Allentown Symphony has had with Allen Organ."

"The opening work is the 'Festive Overture' by Shostakovich. And with this piece and 'The Pines of Rome,' we're paying tribute to our relationship with the Allentown Band as both pieces have written-out parts for extra brass."

"In addition, we're going to have a pre-concert program by our El Sistema musicians, noting its 10th anniversary."

The 2019-2020 Allentown Symphony "Classical Series" opens at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21 and 2 p.m. Sept. 22 with Olga Kern playing Rachmaninoff's "Second Piano Concerto," plus the Strauss "Blue Danube."

Wittry complements the "Blue" opener with two contemporary compositions, Michael Torke's "Bright Blue Music" and Jennifer Higdon's "blue cathedral."

"I'm having a little fun with that. We turned it into a blue-tie event for orchestra members," Wittry says.

"I try to bring the world's best artists to the Lehigh Valley, both established artists and up-and-coming artists. Olga Kern is a very renowned established artist."

The season kicks off with a "Rach and Blue" pre-concert event Sept. 21 in Miller Symphony Hall's Rodale Room.

The second concert in the "Classical Series" is "All-Tchaikovsky - 1812 and More," 7:30 p.m. Nov. 9 and 2 p.m. Nov. 10.

Drew Petersen performs Tchaikovsky's "First Piano Concerto." Repertory Dance Theatre takes the stage with the Allentown Symphony for selections from "Swan Lake."

Counter Culture tenor: Art Garfunkel is in concert, 8 p.m. July 24, State Theatre Center for the Arts, Easton. The New York Times described Garfunkel as a "beautiful countertenor." Garfunkel is best-known as one half of 1960s' counter culture folk-rock group, Simon & Garfunkel. Highlights of Garfunkel's solo music career include a Top 10 hit, three Top 20 hits, six Top 40 hits, 14 Adult Contemporary Top 30 singles and five Adult Contemporary No. 1 hits. Through his solo and collaborative work, Garfunkel has received eight Grammys, including a Lifetime Achievement Award. In 1990, he and Paul Simon were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. Garfunkel has appeared in theatrical feature films, published a book of poetry and released 12 solo albums, the most recent, "Some Enchanted Evening" (2007). He released an autobiography, "What Is It All But Luminous: Notes From An Underground Man," in 2017. On his concert tour, Garfunkel is accompanied by a guitarist and keyboardist, performs Simon & Garfunkel songs, solo hits, covers, and he reads from "Luminous." Dave Roper Trio returns for 'Jazz Upstairs' in Rodale Room

BY GEORGE VANDOREN
Special to The Press

Legendary Lehigh Valley pianist Dave Roper returns to the Rodale Community, Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown, for the "Jazz Upstairs Series," 7:30 p.m. July 19.

Paul Rostock, bass, and Gary Rissmiller, drums, long-time trio members, join Roper, with Tommy Crist on vocals on some of the tunes.

Roper started piano lessons as a child when his mother noticed he seemed to like playing the piano in the house.

Says Roper, "My piano lessons were all about classical music. I wasn't particularly good at reading music. Gradually, I turned around to jazz."

"I heard Oscar Peterson. He's my hero. I said, 'Boy, that's the guy I want to copy.' I haven't succeeded yet, but nobody else has either."

Roper still listens to Peterson and to music from the Great American Songbook.

At Lafayette College, Roper played piano for the college choir for one year. "After that, I quit and just played for my fraternity brothers."

After graduating from Lafayette in 1960, Roper began playing several nights a week at local establishments, including the Cellar Door, Allentown, and held forth at the King George Inn, Dorneyville, for 15 years.

By day, Roper was an English teacher at Emmaus High School, a post he held for nearly 30 years. In his retirement, Roper and his trio have been playing the first Thursday of the month at the Hotel Bethlehem, dating back to 2004.

Although he's been performing for nearly 60 years, Roper has had only three drummers and four bassists with his trio. Paul Rostock and Gary Rissmiller, first-call Lehigh Valley musicians, are on the Moravian College faculty.

"Maybe 10 years ago, Moravian invited me to play with the Moravian Big Band and then with a trio. I asked if it would be my trio and they said I would be playing with Paul and Gary. They were so good that I decided they would be my next trio."

Bassist Rostock has recorded with Nancy Coletti, Nellie McKay, the late Urbie Green and had a long association with the late Frank Sinatra, Jr. He also played on a CD for the late Maynard Ferguson.

Drummer Rissmiller has recorded with Rob Stoneback, Skip Wilkins and the late Bill Watrous, and with a big band he co-led with Tony Gairo.

In Roper's trio, the interplay among the three is seamless. Rostock and Rissmiller follow Roper's flow flawlessly. "That's what they do. They make it easy for me. They read my mind. If I go astray, they'll go astray with me."

Vocalist Crist will join the group for "Georgia On My Mind." Says Roper, "That's his number. Years ago, he started sitting in with us once in a while at Hotel Bethlehem. He'll probably sing another number as well."

"We'll play quite a few numbers from times we've played before [at 'Jazz Upstairs']. We'll do 'Rhapsody in Blue,' 'Evita' and 'Ice Castles.' As usual, we'll play some jazz standards and tunes from the American Songbook with a little classical music mixed in."

WITTRY

The program includes Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 6, Pathétique" and the "Finale" from "The 1812 Overture."

"Drew Peterson is up-and-coming," says Wittry.

"In paying tribute to relationships, I invited Repertory Dance Theatre. We've done the 'Nutcracker' with them."

The third concert in the "Classical Series" is "Movie Classics - The Sound of Cinema," 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8, 2020, and 2 p.m. Feb. 9, 2020.

"The February concert is outside the box," Wittry says. "About two years ago, a member of our chorus sent me a YouTube link of the Danish National Symphony Orchestra performing 'The Good, the Bad and the Ugly.' He said, 'Wouldn't it be fun if the ASO did something like this?'"

"That was the first spark of the idea."

"Last May, I was in China giving a talk at a women's concert. I was asked to conduct a concert. And they had a Chinese erhu player. It's kind of the equivalent of a violin, but it only has two strings not four."

"And then I thought of doing a concert of Academy Award-winning film composers, but epic pieces."

"We're featuring composers from 10 different countries, a United Nations of music," says Wittry.

It will be epic movies and epic music from "Ben-Hur," "Psycho," "Lawrence of Arabia," "E.T." and "Lord of the Rings," in other words, classic movies powered by classical music.

The "Concerto" from Tan Dun's score to "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon" features Cathy Yang on erhu. The Allentown Symphony Chorus performs "O Fortuna" from "Carmena Burana." Allentown Symphony Concertmaster Eliezer Gutman plays the tango from "Scent of a Woman."

"We have the contrast between the violin soloist and the erhu soloist. They're both string instruments, but totally different in their sound and character," Wittry says.

Wittry's putting out a call for extra trumpets, trombones and snare drums for the opening piece, "Ben Hur." There will be open auditions. Information will be available on the Miller Symphony Hall website. The fourth concert in the "Classical Series" is "Beethoven's Pastoral," 7:30 p.m. March 7, 2020, and 2 p.m. March 8, 2020.

The Allentown Symphony celebrates the 50th anniversary of Earth Day with Beethoven's Symphony No. 6, "Pastoral." Violinist Lindsay Deutsch, who has toured with Yanni, performs two other masterworks as soloist on selections from Vivaldi's "The Four Seasons" and Piazzolla's "The Four Seasons of Buenos Aires." There's also the world premiere of a work by American composer Christopher Theofanidis, commissioned by the Allentown Symphony.

"Chris will actually go to the Wildlands Conservancy [near Emmaus] and be site-inspired for 50th anniversary of Earth Day," says Wittry.

The 2 p.m. Feb. 22 "Family concert" also has the theme of "Go Green! - 50th Anniversary of Earth Day."

The Allentown Symphony "Pops Series," which began with Classical Mystery Tour, July 13, continues with "The Best of Broadway - Stephen Sondheim and Andrew Lloyd Webber," 7:30 p.m. Oct. 12; "Music and Sports," 7:30 p.m. Jan. 18, 2020, and "Women Rock," 7:30 p.m. May 9.

Ticket information: Subscription packages for Allentown Symphony Orchestra 2019-2020 concerts are available. Single tickets go on sale Aug. 1. Box Office hours: 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday. Summer hours (through Aug. 30): 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Monday-Friday, Miller Symphony Hall Box Office, 23 N. Sixth St., Allentown. MillerSymphonyHall.org; 610.432.6715. Allentown Symphony Orchestra tickets for students 21 and under are free.

Trim emotions to ask for loaned item

Dear Jacquelyn,
My neighbor borrowed my tree trimmer a while back and he hasn't returned it. I would like to do some yard work and really need my trimmer. How do you politely ask someone to return something that you let them borrow?

Dear Reader,
This happens to most of us. We kindly lend an item to someone, trusting he or she will return it as soon as they are finished.

Time goes by and we forget until we need the item. Now we find ourselves in an uncomfortable situation, embar-

RESPECTFULLY YOURS

By Jacquelyn Youst

rassed to ask for the item back.

Give the person the benefit of the doubt. There is a chance your neighbor simply forgot about the tree trimmer.

A gentle reminder may be all it takes. It wouldn't be unreasonable to come right out and ask for the item back.

Be up front and ask if the neighbor is finished using the trimmer and that you would like it back as soon as he is able to get it to you.

If you aren't sure of the words to use, try saying in a friendly tone, "Hey, remember that trimmer I loaned you a few months ago? I hope you're done with it because I need it back this weekend."

Hopefully, this will motivate the neighbor to be respectful and return the item to you.

Worst case scenario: If the neighbor lost or broke the item, then hopefully he will do the right thing and offer to fix or replace it.

Because this is a neighbor, it isn't worth a big falling out if the person was careless with your property. Just write it off as a loss and resolve not to lend things to the person again.

In the future, when you lend something to someone, set a time limit from the start. You can say, "Yes, you can borrow the trimmer, but I'll be needing it back for some yard work next weekend."

Respectfully Yours,
Jacquelyn

When families drift apart

Last week I told readers about my cousin Marie, the most inspirational part of my young life.

One of the most extraordinary things about Marie that showed her character was when she walked 1 1/2 miles home from her high school at lunch time, just so I would have a place to go for lunch.

When Marie graduated, I watched while she took almost every award for top student as well as three activity awards.

As I watched her march up to the stage time and again, that fueled my academic ambition.

I wanted to be like my cousin Marie.

What I don't understand is how I could lose contact with a cousin who was so instrumental in my life.

But that's what happened. When her husband left her for another woman, she never recovered. The divorce was hard enough. When she lost their home as well, it did her in.

So what did I do for her?

Absolutely nothing. She made a series of moves to other states and never let us know where she was.

In our family we used to joke that we got together as a family only when there was a death or wedding.

For those occasions, we all traveled back to our hometown and revealed in being with each other.

I can remember times during a family viewing when we cousins were "shushed" by our older relatives because we were laughing too much.

It was impossible not to laugh when finally we all got together.

After thinking about it all week, I realize what made my cousins and I so close growing up was that we all lived in the same town. I stayed close with my aunts by getting together to play cards every Sunday, or by dropping in to see them.

Those things are easy when you live in the same town. Geographically, when everyone scatters over the face of the earth like dandelion in the wind, it's all too easy to lose contact. Especially after the family glue is gone.

"The glue" in many families is the mother. Siblings and relatives can lose track of each other when there is no longer a mother to come home to visit.

After my mother and Marie's mother passed away, we also lost our line of family communication.

We were all busy with our jobs, immediate family and the "gotta dos" that are always there.

I'm sure we thought of each other. But we didn't do anything about it.

Things were different in the days before the internet, Facebook and Ancestry.com let us track people.

It was the ancestry site that allowed Marie's daughter Stacey to contact me.

What she had to say was devastating.

Marie is dying.

Ever since her message I kept wondering how I could let Marie dis-

WARMEST REGARDS

By Pattie Mihalik
newsgrl@comcast.net

appear from my life.

Part of the reason it happened was because we lost touch. Because of Marie's depression, perhaps she wanted it that way.

I am so sorry I let it happen. But I learned a lesson. I'm not going to make that mistake with other family members.

Using Facebook, I contacted my wonderful niece Francine after I realized I wasn't in contact with her for more than a decade.

Fortunately, Framy agrees with me that we have so few family members left. Those of us still here have to make a concerted effort to stay in touch.

I was thrilled when Francine accepted my offer to have her stay with me in my Florida home during her next vacation.

Both of us vow not to lose contact again.

Through Ancestry.com, I also reached out to other relatives I haven't seen in 10 to 20 years. While we may not visit, at least we can use Facebook and Ancestry to stay in touch.

Yet, with all the means of communication we now have, some still stay out of touch with family members.

Some people prefer it that way.

Sometimes there are hard feelings over something silly, so family members stop talking.

And sometimes, it's because of fights over money or possessions after parents pass away.

One of my girlfriends lost her brothers over "personal possessions" after their mother died.

The mother's will was vague, leaving her "personal possessions" to Doris, the only daughter.

Doris said that meant her mother's diamond rings were meant for her.

The brothers insisted if their mother wanted her to have her rings, she would have said so in the will. They said the rings were part of the estate and should be sold.

Finally, after a three-year battle, my friend told her brothers they were worth more to her than any material thing.

But hard feelings remained and they all drifted apart.

Sometimes a family splits up over a fight that never gets resolved. No one wants to be the one to extend the olive branch.

I know a man who didn't talk to his sister for decades. He claimed they would make up "someday."

I told him he better hurry because he's now 81 and his sister isn't much younger.

Some day they might be sorry because they waited too long to mend fences.

Is there a relative or good friend you haven't contacted in a long time?

Perhaps you should do it now.

Don't wait until it's too late.

Chances are you'll feel good about yourself if you take the initiative.

Mother needs to be supportive of sons

Q. My eldest son barely graduated from high school and will be released from juvenile detention. I am a single mother, and his brothers will be entering their freshman and sophomore high school years. Since graduating, my son has done nothing to find a job, and he shows no signs of wanting to move out. How can I help my younger sons stay on track despite their older brother's influence?

The best thing the mother can do for all her children, according to panelist Michael Ramsey, is to let them know that she is going to support them through whatever happens. "The younger sons will be motivated more by seeing their mother supporting the older brother."

How she models her behavior with the older son is important to the behavior of the other boys, panelist Mike Daniels said. "The mom has a negative view of the son.

THE FAMILY PROJECT

By Carole Gorney

She seems stuck on the probation and the idea that he 'barely graduated from high school,'" Daniels said, adding that she should focus on the fact that he did graduate.

Panelist Chad Stefanyak recommended that the mother go out to lunch with the son and start a conversation that begins by her saying, "I love you. We're not getting along so well, and I want that to change. How about you?" Then, he said, mom could say she is concerned and wants to help. "Mom needs to find out what the son is interested in. What is his passion, and how can she help him pursue it?" Stefanyak said.

Before she has the conversation, Daniels said the mother needs to get clear in her head if she has written off the older son, or if she wants to be supportive. "She needs to understand that there is difference between being supportive and judgmental or supportive and enabling. The son's sitting home and doing nothing is not an option," Daniels said.

Getting angry with his mother when she brings up getting a job may be a reaction to his own fear of the future, or his feelings of inadequacy, panelist Erin Continenza said. "The mother can help by stressing the boy's strengths, and helping him see them."

Calling the juvenile parole officer an "ally," panelist Pam Wallace suggested that the mother get in touch with him to identify any barriers there may be to the son's employment, and to discuss programs and resources that are available to help.

This week's team of parenting experts are: Pam Wallace, Program Coordinator, Project Child, a program of Valley Youth House; Wanda Mercado-Arroyo, former teacher and school administrator; Chad Stefanyak, school counselor; Michael Ramsey, MS, LPC, Program Supervisor, Valley Youth House; Mike Daniels, LCSW, Psychotherapist, CTS; and Denise Continenza, extension educator.

Blood-pressure monitoring explained

Q. Whenever I go to the doctor and she takes my blood pressure it is a little high. Then, at the end of the office visit, she takes my pressure again and it's normal. Do you know what causes this?

What you describe is a common symptom of "white-coat hypertension." This means that your blood pressure goes up whenever anyone in a white coat (or reasonable medical facsimile) comes near you. I suffer from this myself so I have a visceral understanding of the problem.

In a study employing 24-hour ambulatory monitoring, about one-third of patients thought to have "resistant hypertension," actually had white-coat hypertension. The study was published by the American Heart Association.

Resistant hypertension occurs when a patient's blood pressure remains above treatment goals, despite using three different types of drugs at the same time.

"Ambulatory monitoring showed that many of these patients' blood pressures were in the normal range when they were at home or participating in their usual activities," said Alejandro de la Sierra, M.D., lead author of the study. "While those who actually had white-coat hypertension are not risk free, their cardiovascular outcomes are much better."

HEALTHY GEEZER

By Fred Cicetti
fred@healthygeezer.com

You can determine if your high blood pressure only occurs in the doctor's office, or if it's a persistent condition that needs treatment. All you need is a home blood-pressure monitor that you can buy in a pharmacy.

All monitors have the same basic parts: an inflatable cuff or strap, a gauge for readouts, and sometimes a stethoscope, depending on the type of monitor you choose.

Cuff: The cuff consists of an inner layer made of rubber that fills with air and squeezes your arm. The cuff's outer layer is generally made of nylon and has a fastener to hold the cuff in place.

Gauge: Blood pressure monitors are either digital or aneroid. The aneroid monitors have a gauge with a dial on it that points at a number related to your blood pressure. Some older gauges look similar to a thermometer.

There are two types of home blood pressure monitors: manual and digital devices. Manual blood pressure monitors use a stethoscope and an inflatable arm cuff connected by a rubber tube to a gauge that records the pressure.

Digital monitors have a cuff and a gauge that records the pressure. The cuff automatically inflates at the touch of a button. These devices automatically calculate heart rate and check your blood pressure. Digital monitors can be fitted on the upper arm, wrist or finger. Arm devices are the most accurate.

Doctors say you have high blood pressure if you have a reading of 140 over 90 or higher. A blood pressure reading of 120 over 80 or lower is considered normal. "Prehypertension" is blood pressure between 120 and 139 for the top number, or between 80 and 89 for the bottom number.

The first number represents your "systolic" pressure when the heart beats. The second number represents the "diastolic" pressure when the heart rests. If only one number is elevated, you still have high blood pressure with all of its dangers.

'Echo' and the Dylan man

"Echo in the Canyon" is not one of the greatest-ever documentary films, but it has its charms, especially for contemporary music buffs.

MOVIE REVIEW

By Paul Willistein
pwillistein@tnonline.com

The film depicts the 1965-1967 Laurel Canyon, Los Angeles, music scene when singer-songwriters, musicians and groups, including The Beach Boys, The Mamas & the Papas, Buffalo Springfield (and later, Crosby, Stills and Nash) and others gathered to live, hang out and write one pop-rock music charter-topper after another.

The film is directed by Jakob Dylan, son of singer-songwriter Bob Dylan. The linchpin of the documentary film is a concert that Jakob Dylan put together for himself, Beck, Regina Spektor, Fiona Apple, Jade Castrinos, Cat Power and Norah Jones in the Orpheum Theatre, Los Angeles, in 2015, to perform hit songs and lesser-known songs by singer-songwriters and pop-rock music groups associated with Laurel Canyon.

Jakob Dylan is noted for the rock group, The Wallflowers; the hits, "6th Avenue Heartache" and "One Headlight," and has received two Grammy Awards.

Jakob Dylan tools around Laurel Canyon, the Sunset Strip and Pacific Coast Highway in a silver 1967 Pontiac Firebird convertible. He and others ruminate about the significance of the songwriting nexus and how it echoed, not only across the winding roads of the canyon, but throughout the pop music and into mass culture.

One of the film's more interesting points, bolstered by interviews with producer Lou Adler, The Beatles' drummer Ringo Starr and The Beach Boys' songwriter Brian Wilson, is the influence of The Beach Boys' "Pet Sounds" record album (1966) on The Beatles' "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band" (1967) record album.

The songs, songwriting and the Laurel Canyon scene are discussed by, in addition to the aforementioned interviewees, The Mamas & the Papas' Michelle Phillips, Lovin' Spoonful's John Sebastian, Buffalo Springfield's David Crosby and Stephen Stills, the Byrds' Roger McGuinn, The Hollies' Graham Nash, singer-songwriter Jackson Browne, rock star Eric Clapton, and the late Tom Petty, to whom the film is dedicated.

The interviews are insightful and frequently funny, some intentionally so, some inadvertently. It's a wonder any songwriting or recording got done given the laissez-faire hippie lifestyle of most of the songwriters, singers and musicians.

Jakob Dylan has a nice offhand manner in his way of questioning. If he ever wants to quit his night job, he has a career as a video journalist.

The film is directed by Andrew Slater (his film directorial debut) and written by Slater and Eric Barrett (producer, music videos, and "I'm Gonna Get You Sucka," 1988) in a meandering way, not unlike the two-lane road that winds through Laurel Canyon, which isn't so much a canyon as a succession of hills. The casual style fits the subject matter.

The film is interlaced with performances of hits from the Laurel Canyon songbook performed by Jakob Dylan and friends. Jakob Dylan sings lead vocals on many and manages to Dylanize most of the songs. That's not necessarily a bad thing. It's just his style.

Hearing the revamped versions balanced against snippets of the original recordings makes you realize how great, powerful and Oz-like were the original hits. Archival performance footage of Laurel Canyon-based groups performing their hits back in the day makes the case for greatness even more so.

Among the sole survivors performed by Jakob Dylan and company is The Beach Boys' "I Just Wasn't Made for These Times" and The Mamas & the Papas' "Go Where You Wanna Go."

Scenes from the remarkable feature film, "Model Shop" (1969), directed by Jacques Demy ("The Young Girls of Rochefort," 1967; "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg," 1964; "Lola," 1961) and starring Anouk Aimée and Gary Lockwood intercut with footage of Jakob Dylan in concert and walking and driving.

Curiously, there are few echoes of Bob Dylan in "Echo in the Canyon." Bob Dylan's landmark hit, "Like a Rolling Stone," released in 1965, reached No. 2 on the Billboard charts. Jakob Dylan didn't see fit to meander up the Malibu Hills to visit his dear old dad, ask him a few questions and determine how the original folk-rocker fits into the mix. For whatever reason, Jakob Dylan eschews pulling back the curtain to ask The Great Bob any questions. Also missing in action is Joni Mitchell.

That said, "Echo in the Canyon" is a must-see for popular music aficionados, especially those who lived to hear it, want to relive it or learn more about it, and also for those who want to know what a time it was. And, yes, what a time it was.

'Anything Goes' brings Jarrod Yuskas home to MSMT

pwillistein@tnonline.com

It's the seventh season for Jarrod Yuskas at Muhlenberg Summer Music Theatre (MSMT).

For 2019, Yuskas plays Lord Evelyn Oakleigh in "Anything Goes," through July 28, Baker Theatre, Trexler Pavilion for Theatre and Dance, Muhlenberg College, Allentown.

Yuskas played Henry Higgins in "My Fair Lady" in 2017 and had lead roles in "Gypsy," "Hello, Dolly!" and "Spamalot" since 2012 at MSMT.

Henry Higgins is his favorite role so far at MSMT. "He's a lot to dig into. And I enjoyed that," Yuskas says.

Does Yuskas specialize in playing British aristocrats? "I don't mind it. They're lots of fun," says Yuskas.

He also enjoys the suits he gets to wear for his role as Lord Evelyn Oakleigh. Tony Award nominee Michael McDonald designed costumes.

"Michael McDonald's costumes for this show are sublime. It's just a pleasure to walk on stage.

"Michael [McDonald] and I have known each other for 20 years. And it's the first time we've worked together like this."

Bob Fahringer plays Moonface Martin and Jim VanValen plays Elisha Whitney in "Anything Goes."

"Anything Goes" reunites Yuskas with Mia Scarpa in the starring role of Reno Sweeney. Scarpa played Dolly in "Hello, Dolly!" in 2015 and Rose in "Gypsy" in 2016 at MSMT.

"It's the third time Mia and I fall in love onstage," says Yuskas, who was Horace Vandergelder to her Dolly Levi in "Hello, Dolly!" and Herbie to her Momma Rose in "Gypsy."

"We have a dance number together, which is a hoot and a half," Yuskas says of a scene he has with Scarpa in "Anything Goes."

Shelley Oliver, longtime member of the Muhlenberg College Department of Theatre and Dance, choreographed "Anything Goes." Oliver has appeared internationally with tap world legends, including Savion Glover and Gregory Hines. She is a founding member of Manhattan Tap and the Shelley Oliver Tap Dancers, and has many credits on the stage and in television.

"The title sequence is just a knockout. The dancers are just extraordinary," says Yuskas.

Bryan L. Wade is music director. John Raley designed the set. Gertjan Houben designed lighting. Ian Scot designed sound.

"The design behind this show is stunningly beautiful: the scenic, the sound, the costumes."

It's the first time for Yuskas in the role of Lord Evelyn Oakleigh, although he did the musical in 2001 at Bucks County Playhouse and the former Pocono Playhouse.

"Anything Goes" is directed by MSMT Founding Artistic Director Charles Richter with a wink, nod, nod to a different time in musical theater.

Cole Porter's musical features the standards "I Get a Kick Out of You," "You're the Top," "It's De-lovely," "Friendship," "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" and the title song, "Anything Goes."

The show has a book by Timothy Crouse and John Weidman, after an original book by P.G. Wodehouse, Guy Bolton, Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse. Cole Porter wrote the music and lyrics.

"Anything Goes" is about madcap antics aboard an ocean liner bound from New York to London. Billy Crocker is a stowaway in love with heiress Hope Harcourt (Laura Frye), engaged to Lord Evelyn Oakleigh. Nightclub singer Reno Sweeney and Public Enemy No. 13, "Moonface" Martin, aid Billy in his quest to win Hope.

"It is a creation of the 1930s. Charlie [Richter], Shelley [Oliver] and Bryan [Wade] have really worked to honor that era. The comic timing, the vocal sounds and the choreography are all an homage to that great era of American musicals.

"It was in its prime at this point. It's prime American musical-comedy. It's so silly and fun and engaging.

"It's just very classic. Boy meets girl. Boy loses girl. It's a very straightforward story, but just enhanced by these incredibly lyricized songs that are brilliantly funny. And then, of course, there's the dancing."

Yuskas also likes Baker Theatre, a Broadway jewel-box of a theater: "It is a beautiful space to work in."

Yuskas has completed his eighth year as Moravian Academy Director of Theater. He usually is in one Lehigh Valley regional theater show per year.

Of directing and producing theater and also acting on stage, he says, "They serve each other. I don't think I could do one without the other as effectively as I hope I do. I'm constantly learning new things about being a better actor and producing. And I've learned so much in being in a classroom. What I've learned from students is amazing."

At Moravian Academy, Yuskas produces and directs three shows annually, including the "Coffeehouse," a fall variety show; a play, and a musical.

"We've been recognized multiple times and it's always great to be recognized by the wider community for the work that we've created," says Yuskas, referring to the annual Freddy Awards for high school musicals.

Yuskas, a Tamqua Area High School graduate, received a BA in Theater from DeSales University, and an MFA in Acting from University of Alabama-Alabama Shakespeare Festival Professional Actor Training Program.

Of MSMT, Yuskas says, "It feels like coming home. It's such a loving family there to be part of. Charlie [Richter] has been a remarkable mentor since I came back to the Valley."

Yuskas says the Lehigh Valley has a vibrant theater scene:

"It's remarkable. And it just gets better every year. I don't know if it's an anomaly, the quality of the work and the variety. If you love theater, it's a great place to live."

Lehigh Valley Hospital - 17th Street landmark in LVHN 120th anniversary

The year was 1899 when The Allentown Hospital opened its doors at what is now Lehigh Valley Hospital (LVH) - 17th Street in Allentown.

One-hundred-twenty years later, the Lehigh Valley Health Network has grown to provide care at eight hospital campuses throughout eastern Pennsylvania, numerous physician practices, health centers and ExpressCARE locations.

Allentown was a city of about 35,000 when the first patient, Clinton Troxell, an Easton bricklayer who fell from scaffolding, came through the new hospital's doors in 1899. The latest United States census shows an Allentown population of more than 121,000, ranking it the third largest city in the state.

A move to build the hospital began in 1892 when a group of community leaders incorporated and obtained a charter naming The Allentown Hospital. A fund was created by The Allentown Morning Call newspaper to collect donations to purchase the land and build the hospital.

Over the next several years, enthusiasm for the hospital waned and the project stalled. But Morning Call publisher David Miller, who established the hospital fund, continued to publicize the concept and raise money and eventually turned over $1,900. The project began to move full-speed ahead. By February 1896, the Board was organized, the hospital chartered, and an active Ladies Auxiliary with 13 initial members was founded.

Next on the agenda was to find a suitable piece of land on which to build. Organizers settled on a very valuable piece of property that was available, the Solomon Griesemer (a farmer and hotel operator) tract at 17th and Chew streets. Unfortunately, the land was put up for sale with the stipulation it not be used to build a hospital.

Acting as individuals, community leaders that included Col. Harry C. Trexler, Henry Leh, Frank M. Trexler, J.H. Pascoe and Dr. C. S. Martin purchased the property and in March 1897, transferred the deed to The Allentown Hospital Association. The land was purchased for $5,297.51 and was paid for by the Ladies Auxiliary. Money was raised in various ways, including the sale of a cookbook, "The Up-to-Date Cookbook," which is digitally preserved by Library Services of Lehigh Valley Health Network.

Construction began in 1898 as fundraising continued. Once the hospital opened with 30-beds, the staff cared for 18 patients a day the first year. That number grew to a peak of 102 patients a day during the first 10 years to almost 8,000 patients, which led to several additional expansions.

LVH - 17th Street is the health network's inner-city outpatient hub with services that include: outpatient surgery, emergency care, Sleep Center, Transitional-Skilled Unit, Geriatric Medicine through the Fleming Memory Center, Comprehensive Health Services including HIV and AIDS counseling and treatment, and adult and West Side Hammer Electric President Luke Cunningham distributes weekend meal bags during the Summer Meals Program.

Wells Fargo, Hammer Electric aid St. Luke's meals program

Free summer lunches for students at St. Luke's Sacred Heart are being provided with help from Wells Fargo and West Side Hammer Electric.

St. Luke's University Health Network launched the Summer Meals Program in Allentown to make sure no child goes without a nutritious lunch during summer months.

Children and teens ages 18 and younger can visit St. Luke's Sacred Heart Campus, noon - 2 p.m. Monday - Friday for a free healthy meal.

The program, also offered at St. Luke's Quakertown Campus, was created in response to the Network's 2019 Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA).

The CHNA revealed that more than 75 percent of students who live within a one-mile radius from the Sacred Heart campus in Allentown are eligible for reduced-cost or free lunches during the school year. When school lets out, these children are at risk of going hungry during the summer.

West Side Hammer Electric made a gift of $10,000 to support program enhancements and supply backpacks of food that children can take home each Friday to eat during the weekend. Luke Cunningham, President of West Side Hammer Electric and a former St. Luke's Allentown Campus board member, was all smiles as he met some of the children receiving their lunch June 28.

Also supporting the Summer Meals Program, Wells Fargo contributed an $2,000. Wells Fargo, a partner of St. Luke's Sacred Heart Campus, is committed to innovative, sustainable initiatives that meet a community need.

Children who come to campus for lunch will have access to healthier meals during the week at the hospital and in the packs they can take home for the weekend.

"It is so important to all of us at West Side Hammer Electric to know that children in our community have a safe space to gather, have a nutritious lunch, and build meaningful relationships during the summer months," Cunningham said. "The Summer Meals Program provides an outlet for them to interact with others and make new friends while improving their overall health and well-being."

West Side Hammer Electric is a friend to Allentown schools and students. In 2018, the business partnered with Francis D. Raub Middle School to brighten up the Allentown building at no cost to the district. More than 2,000 LED lights were installed throughout the school and gymnasium, so that students could learn and be active in a comfortable, illuminated environment.

The Summer Meals Program is in the Physicians' Lounge on the second floor of St. Luke's Sacred Heart. Fresh produce from local farms is available for children to take home Thursdays. Backpacks equipped with food for the weekend will be provided Fridays.

St. Luke's compliance officer teaches at DeSales, Moravian

Growing up in the projects on the South Side of Chicago, Nicole Huff would help her younger siblings learn to read. Later, in high school, she was part of a peer ministry that would tutor elementary students.

Huff's love of sharing knowledge would ultimately bring her to St. Luke's University Health Network as Chief Compliance and Privacy Officer and, eventually, as an adjunct professor at DeSales University and Moravian College.

She said being a college professor dovetails with her role at St. Luke's, where her duties include guiding staff on following health-care regulations and on making ethical decisions regarding patient care.

Nicole Huff

"I'm an educator, even on my job," Huff said.

Huff credits her late mother, Deborah McCall, for saving whatever she could to send her and her older sister Denise to Catholic school. "She knew education was a way for us to rise above our circumstances," Huff said.

From there, Huff received a bachelor's in business administration-accounting from Loyola University of Chicago. After graduating, Huff got a job in the private sector to bolster her accounting skills and then switched to her real passion: health care accounting and compliance.

She said her desire to work in health care grew out of the positive experience she had receiving asthma care in the emergency room as a child. She said wanted to be in a position to advocate for children with barriers to health care.

As she built her on-the-job skills, Huff received a master's in health care administration from the University of Dallas. She didn't think about teaching until she started studying for her doctorate in health administration (DHA) at Central Michigan University.

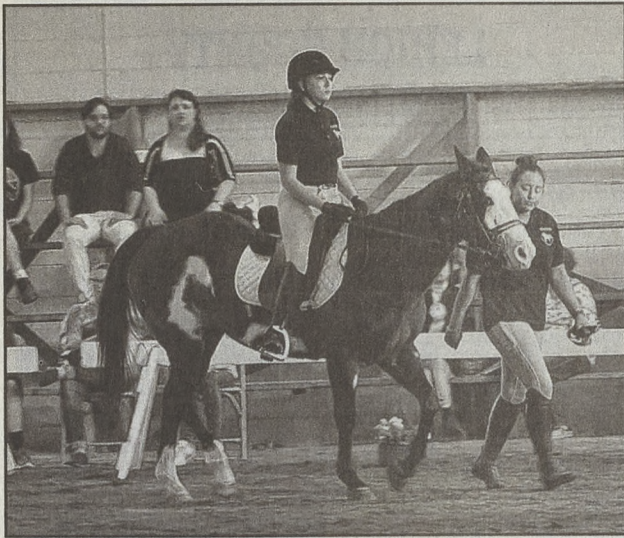

"Teaching has come naturally to me whether it is at home, on the job, in the community or in the classroom," Huff said.

Huff received a DHA in 2013, one year after joining St. Luke's and moving to the Lehigh Valley with her two sons, Xavier, now 19, and Julius, now 13. By 2014, she was in front of the classroom.

students, ranging from physicians to students. Her subjects include managed care, health law, health economics, bioethics and finance.

Huff said she brings a global perspective to her classes, encouraging students to have an open mind to industry ideas in the United States and abroad. She underscores the need for health administrators to be well-versed on diverse subjects and be confident in their ability to use their knowledge while on the job.

Huff said teaching is one of her ways of putting St. Luke's commitment to community into practice, by helping to train leaders for the ever-growing health care sector.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Lower Macungie Township Board of Commissioners will consider for possible adoption an ordinance making omnibus amendments to Chapter 27 - Zoning of the Lower Macungie Township Code of Ordinances which also includes amendments to the Zoning Map, constitutes a comprehensive rezoning under the Pennsylvania Municipalities Planning Code (53 P.S. §§ 10101-11202), and is entitled: "AN ORDINANCE OF LOWER MACUNGIE TOWNSHIP MAKING OMNIBUS AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 27 - ZONING OF THE LOWER MACUNGIE TOWNSHIP CODE OF ORDINANCES BY AMENDING CERTAIN DEFINITIONS OF TERMS; ESTABLISHING NEW DISTRICTS AND REVISING DISTRICT BOUNDARIES; AMENDING USES WITHIN DISTRICTS; PROVIDING FOR REGULATIONS WITHIN DISTRICTS COVERING LOT AREA AND WIDTH, LOT COVERAGE, BUILDING COVERAGE AND HEIGHT, FRONT, SIDE AND REAR YARDS, SIGNAGE, DESIGN GUIDELINES AND SPECIFIC CRITERIA FOR CERTAIN USES, ALONG WITH OTHER ADDITIONAL STANDARDS, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, THOSE PROMOTING SMART GROWTH AND OPEN SPACE; REVISING THE OFFICIAL ZONING MAP, INCLUDING THE REZONING OF LANDS WITHIN THE NEW ZONING DISTRICTS; PROVIDING FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF PARTS OF THIS ORDINANCE DEEMED TO BE INVALID; REPEALING ORDINANCES, RESOLUTIONS, OR PARTS THEREOF IN CONFLICT HERewith; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE."

The ordinance is summarized as follows:
Chapter 27, Part 1 is amended to retitle the Chapter as the Lower Macungie Township Zoning Ordinance of 2019 and modifying and updating the purposes of the Chapter.
Part 2 is amended by removing, adding, and modifying certain words and terms which include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following: accessory building or structure, adaptive reuse, adult entertainment, agricultural uses, amusement and outdoor recreation, antenna support structures, architectural grade cladding, artist, artisan or craftsman studio and gallery and sales area, automotive service station, bakery/confectioner, retail, boarding kennel, brewery or distillery, industrial, brewery, craft, brewpub, buffer yard, building code, cabaret, car wash, club, lodge or social building, collocation, commercial catering, baking and confectioner establishments, community center, adult education center or similar facility operated by an educational, philanthropic or religious institution, comprehensive plan, conditional use, crematory, cultural center/cultural facilities, data center, distillery, craft, drive-thru service establishments, multi-family apartment dwellings, enhanced architectural features, farmstead, floodway, floodway fringe, flood hazard area, floodplain, food and beverage processing, fuel dispensing station, grading, greenway, height of building or structure, historic dwelling or structure, hotel/motel, household pets, impervious surface, impervious coverage, life care center, light manufacturing, lot width, Lower Macungie Township design guidelines, mixed use development, mobile home, monopole, mortuary or funeral home, motel, nameplate, naturalize/naturalization, nonconforming building or structure, nursing home, official road classification map, open space neighborhood, outdoor movie theater, personal service establishments, place of worship, planned/coordinated commercial development, planned/coordinated industrial development, preexisting towers and antennas, professional service establishment, project design companion, public or private educational institutions, recreation use, non-profit, private or commercial, research park, restaurant, riparian buffer, scientific and research development laboratories, shopping center, illuminated signs, township, transportation terminal, ultra-light manufacturing, vernal pool, WBCA, winery, and zoning ordinance.

Part 3 is amended by adding the following new classes or districts: Wescosville Commercial, Highway Commercial and Highway Enterprise; and by modifying the delineations and restrictions associated with certain overlay districts.

Parts 4 - 16 set forth the zoning regulations governing each class or district, which include, but are not necessarily limited to, its purpose, uses permitted by right, uses permitted by condition, uses permitted by special exception, accessory uses, lot area, width, building coverage and height regulations, minimum yard requirements, and special regulations. These Parts make reference to an Exhibit 1: Zoning Use Matrix, which functions as a table with a consolidated listing of the uses with respect to each class or district. Certain use regulations may be additionally provided for within the text of the zoning regulations in each class or district. These Parts also reference Exhibit 2: Residential Lot Layouts, which illustrate typical residential lot layouts. These Parts include the aforementioned new classes or districts. The proposed ordinance adds multiple new uses to current classes or districts. As the ordinance represents a comprehensive rezoning, any interested party who wishes to understand the regulations and uses of a particular class or district is advised to review a complete copy of the relevant Part, along with the table found in Exhibit 1, as well as the new Zoning Map which delineates the boundaries of each class or district.

Part 17 is amended by modifying certain general regulations, including but not necessarily limited to, those relating to multiple uses and coordinated commercial and industrial developments, future right-of-way widths for roads, and development on collector and arterial roads. Part 17 establishes general regulations for residential accessory uses, which include, but are not necessarily limited to: parking spaces, fences and walls, private buildings and structures, decks and patios, detached garages, storage sheds, farm stands, recreational vehicles, swimming pools, garage sales, household pets, amateur radio antennas, home occupations, temporary structure or use, wineries, accessory recreational agricultural activity, accessory residential dwellings, wind turbines, solar panels, common areas and facilities of homeowner and condominium associations, and leisure camping. Part 17 also establishes general regulations for non-residential accessory uses, which include, but are not necessarily limited to: accessory buildings, off-street parking, signs, temporary structures or uses, outdoor storage use areas for equipment supplies and materials, storage of highly flammable materials, fences and walls, buffer areas, satellite dish antennas, amateur radio antennas, home occupations, wind turbines, solar panels, and daycare for children.

Part 18 is amended by modifying general performance standards relating to buffer yards.

Part 19 establishes standards intended to protect environmentally sensitive lands and historic buildings, structures and sites. Parts 20 and 21 establish standards to protect and regulate lands in the Agricultural Protection District and the Urban Residential Overlay District. Part 22 establishes regulations for signs. Part 23 establishes requirements or off-street parking and loading.

Part 24 sets forth criteria and procedures which must be met before conditional uses, special exception uses, and certain uses by right that are subject to specific additional criteria can receive approval and be granted a zoning permit. Part 24 is amended to add criteria and procedures for the following uses: places of worship, planned/coordinated commercial and industrial development and open space neighborhood development. Once again, as the ordinance represents a comprehensive rezoning, any interested party who wishes to understand criteria and procedures associated with the uses identified in Part 24 is advised to review a complete copy of this Part.

Part 25 establishes regulations relating to nonconforming structures and uses. Part 26 sets forth the process for administration and enforcement of the ordinance.

The ordinance contains an exhibit entitled Lower Macungie Township Design Guidelines, which will be adopted separately by resolution. These guidelines set certain standards for residential, commercial, industrial and mixed-use subdivisions and land developments. The guidelines consist of general standards, commercial and industrial district standards, residential development, mixed-use development, design elements, parking, buffers, and environmental preservation, management and design. The guidelines contain photos and illustrations that provide examples of application of the standards.

The ordinance amends the Zoning Map, including, but not necessarily limited to: establishment of the Wescosville Commercial District in an area along Hamilton Boulevard from South Krocks Road to Kessler Road; establishment of the Highway Commercial District in an area proximate to Interstate 78 and the Route 222 Bypass; conversion of the current Highway Industrial District to the Highway Enterprise District; rezoning certain portions of existing Commercial and Suburban Districts to the Urban District in an area proximate to the intersection of South Krocks Road and Hamilton Boulevard; and rezoning certain portions of the existing Suburban District to the East Texas Village - 3 District in an area proximate to the intersection of Brookside Road and Lower Macungie Road. All interested parties are advised to review a complete copy of the new Zoning Map to identify classes or districts associated with the location of specific properties.

The ordinance also amends the Road Classification Map.
The purpose of this notice is to provide a summary of the content of the ordinance. Because the ordinance constitutes a comprehensive rezoning, it contains extensive details, regulations, requirements and criteria. Any interested party is advised to review a complete copy of the ordinance in order to understand it fully.

A public hearing will be held on July 25, 2019 at 7:00 p.m. at the Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building located at 3400 Brookside Road, Macungie, PA 18062 to receive public comment on this ordinance. A second public hearing will be held on August 1, 2019 at 7:00 p.m., also at the Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building, to receive public comment and to consider the ordinance for adoption and enactment. A copy of the full text of this ordinance is available to any interested party for inspection and/or download at no charge on the Township's website (www.lowermac.com), or for inspection at no charge, with copies obtainable for a charge not greater than the cost thereof, during normal business hours at the Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building. A complete copy is also on file at the offices of this newspaper, East Penn Press, 1633 N. 26th Street, Allentown, PA 18104 and the Lehigh County Department of Law, Room 440, 17 S. 7th Street, Allentown, PA 18101. All interested parties are invited to attend the public hearings.

The Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building is accessible to the physically handicapped. Any person that requires special assistance to understand the nature of the business conducted at the above meeting because of visual, hearing, or other impairment is requested to contact the Township Secretary at least five days prior to the scheduled meeting to arrange for the necessary assistance.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Lower Macungie Township Board of Commissioners will consider for possible adoption an ordinance entitled "AN ORDINANCE OF LOWER MACUNGIE TOWNSHIP AMENDING CHAPTER 22, SUBCHAPTER 22A - SUBDIVISION AND LAND DEVELOPMENT OF THE LOWER MACUNGIE TOWNSHIP CODE OF ORDINANCES BY REVISING THE PRELIMINARY PLAN SUBMISSION PROCEDURES AND REQUIREMENTS FOR CONSISTENCY WITH CONCURRENT AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 27 - ZONING; PROVIDING FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF PARTS OF THIS ORDINANCE DEEMED TO BE INVALID; REPEALING ORDINANCES, RESOLUTIONS, OR PARTS THEREOF IN CONFLICT HERewith; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE." The proposed ordinance amends Chapter 22, Subchapter 22A, Part 4, Section 403 Preliminary Plan Requirements by adding a table identifying certain site constraints to be deducted from or factored into when calculating land available for new lots in a subdivision; and adding provisions applicable to an open space neighborhood subdivision. In addition, a "Life Safety Plan" sheet shall be required as part of a submission to the Township. Further, various minor text amendments for the requirements and provisions of general preliminary plan submission requirements have been made within Section 403. Such amendments are intended to establish consistency between Chapter 22 and Chapter 27 of the Code of Ordinances of Lower Macungie Township as a result of pending omnibus amendments to the latter.

A public hearing will be held on July 25, 2019 at 7:00 p.m. at the Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building located at 3400 Brookside Road, Macungie, PA 18062 to receive public comment on this ordinance. A second public hearing will be held on August 1, 2019 at 7:00 p.m., also at the Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building, to receive public comment and to consider the ordinance for adoption and enactment. A copy of the full text of this ordinance is available to any interested party for inspection and/or download at no charge on the Township's website (www.lowermac.com), or for inspection at no charge, with copies obtainable for a charge not greater than the cost thereof, during normal business hours at the Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building. A complete copy is also on file at the offices of this newspaper, East Penn Press, 1633 N. 26th Street, Allentown, PA 18104 and the Lehigh County Department of Law, Room 440, 17 S. 7th Street, Allentown, PA 18101. All interested parties are invited to attend the public hearings.

The Lower Macungie Township Municipal Building is accessible to the physically handicapped. Any person that requires special assistance to understand the nature of the business conducted at the above meeting because of visual, hearing, or other impairment is requested to contact the Township Secretary at least five days prior to the scheduled meeting to arrange for the necessary assistance.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of Bethlehem Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, will consider for adoption at a Public Meeting to be held at 7:00 p.m. on the 5th day of August, 2019, at the Bethlehem Township Municipal Building, 4225 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, an Ordinance amending Chapter 201, Sewers and Sewage Disposal; Article III Rentals and Charges; Section 202-20 Rules and Regulations; Violations and Penalties, Subsection G of the Code of Codified Ordinances to provide changes to the Penalties of the Township of Bethlehem. Copies of the proposed Ordinance are available for review at the Bethlehem Township Municipal Building located at 4225 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania during normal business hours.

The following is the proposed Ordinance:
ORDINANCE NO. _____ - 19
AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHELEM, NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA AMENDING CHAPTER 202, SEWERS AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL; ARTICLE III RENTALS AND CHARGES; SECTION 202-20 RULES AND REGULATIONS; VIOLATIONS AND PENALTIES SUBSECTION G OF THE CODE OF CODIFIED ORDINANCES TO PROVIDE CHANGES TO THE PENALTIES OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHELEM

WHEREAS, the Board of Commissioners of the Township of Bethlehem, Northampton County, Pennsylvania have enacted, by Ordinance, certain regulations dealing, in part, with rules and regulations with regard to sewers and sewage disposal and specifically violations and penalties, which Ordinance has been amended from time to time; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Commissioners of the Township of Bethlehem, Northampton County, Pennsylvania has determined that it would be in the best interest of the Township of Bethlehem to amend its Ordinance to include amended violations and penalties for sewers and sewage disposal.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT AND IT IS HEREBY ORDAINED AND ENACTED BY THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHELEM, COUNTY OF NORTHAMPTON, COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. CHAPTER 202, SEWERS AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL; ARTICLE III, RENTALS AND CHARGES. Section 202-20 Rules and Regulations; Violations and Penalties subsection G of the Code of Codified Ordinances of the Township of Bethlehem be amended to read as follows:

"G. No person shall discharge or cause to be discharged to any sanitary sewer, without prior written approval of the Township, any stormwater, surface water, groundwater, roof runoff, subsurface drainage, uncontaminated cooling water, or unpolluted industrial process water. Where existing surface water, groundwater, roof runoff, subsurface drainage, uncontaminated cooling water, or unpolluted industrial process water or roof drains are connected, directly or indirectly, to the sanitary sewer system, they shall be removed within 24 hours of receipt of a notice from the Township to remove said connection, or shall pay a daily charge of $150 for each connection. Should the Township desire to meter the wastewater discharge when it suspects a surface water, groundwater, roof runoff, subsurface drainage, uncontaminated cooling water, or unpolluted industrial process water or roof drain is connected, the Township will charge an additional $3.00 (over $150) for every 16 GPM above 40GPM."

SECTION 2. SEVERABILITY. The provisions of this Ordinance are severable, and if a court of competent jurisdiction declares any provision of this Ordinance to be invalid or ineffective in whole or in part, the effect of such decision shall be limited to those provisions which are expressly stated in the decision to be invalid or ineffective, and all other provisions of this Ordinance shall continue to be separately and fully effective.

SECTION 3. REPEALER. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances or Resolutions conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict.

SECTION 4. EFFECTIVE DATE. This Ordinance shall be effective five (5) days after adoption.
