

Morganello, James F.

Sgt. Morganello at Texas Air Field

Sgt. James F. Morganello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morganello, 754 East Fifth Street, is now stationed at the Lubbock Army Air Field, Texas, where combat returnee pilots are being taught the latest methods of all-weather flying by instrument. Sgt. Morganello, a former Bethlehem Steel Company machinist, returned in May from a tour of duty in the European Theater. He was an aerial gunner on a B-17 from October 1944 until coming home. He has been awarded the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters and three battle stars on the ETO ribbon.
