Foreword...

Our graduation produces in us a confusion of emotions. We are about to move into a seemingly new world. How are we to accept this transition? Are we to be enthusiastic at our release from this institution which has provided our education. Are we to be apprehensive about future insecurity?

The famous people shown on the divider pages never had to adjust to the changes incurred by graduation from Liberty High School but they, in their time and place, had to accustom themselves to their own changes. And in spite of, or because of, these adjustments they became great and contributed much to our heritage. Each attained his admirable status by making the best use of the talents he possessed.

Let us profit from what they have shown us, so that in examining ourselves we may properly determine what our talents are. When we have done this, we will have made substantial progress on our way to success.

DEDICATION

MR. JOHN D. ALEXANDER

The students and faculty of the Vocational Department of Liberty High School sincerely regret that the age of retirement has caught up with Mr. John D. Alexander, who in thirty-seven years of teaching, has made an indelible record. He has been a skilled and an exacting teacher of the drafting trade. He also is qualified and has taught related drawing.

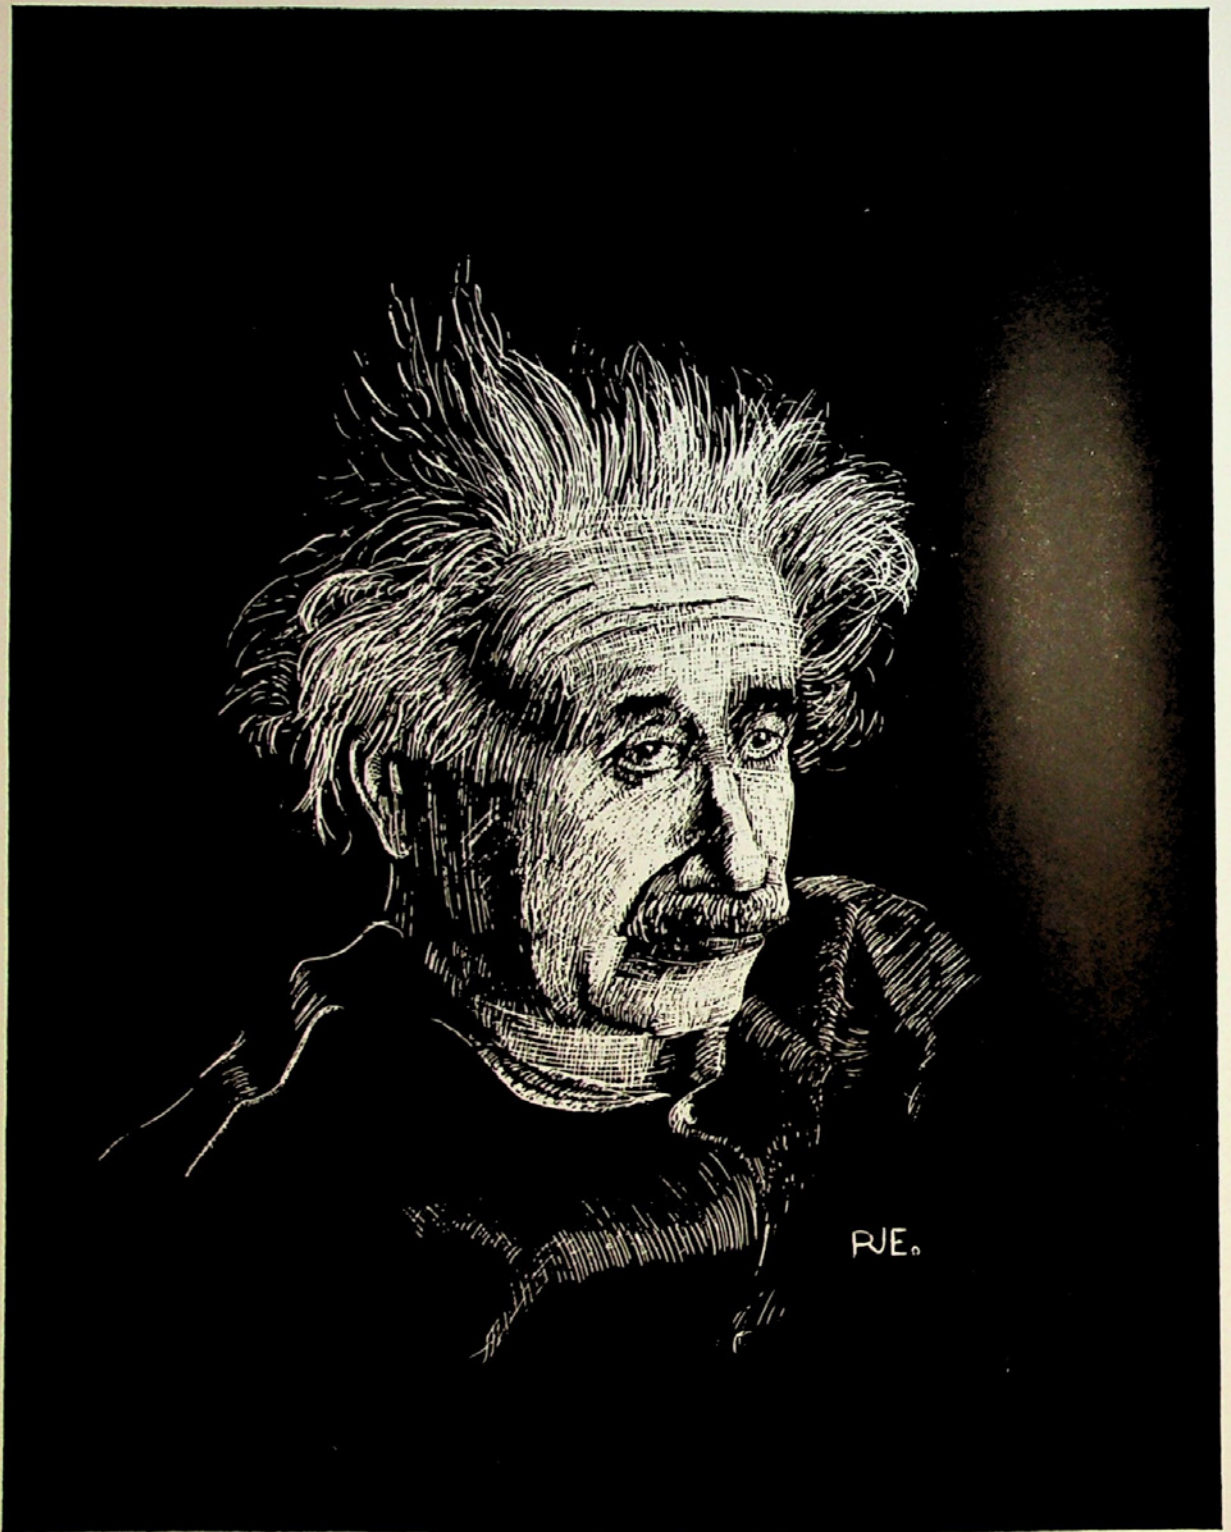

During his stay in the local district he has been employed as a teacher, in both the day and evening school programs. In educational circles he is highly regarded as an architect and as a mechanical draftsman. From his great store of academic and practical knowledge he has been able to give to his students the basic fundamentals so necessary in the fields of drafting, architecture and engineering.

He has enjoyed instructing the youth of Bethlehem and he has taken great pride in their good citizenship and their achievements in their chosen field. He is well versed in good citizenship since following World War II he was employed by the government in its Americanization Program For Immigrants.

Mr. Alexander received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering from Bucknell University.

Along with Mr. Lloyd Kehler he organized the Future Craftsmen of America Club for the Vocational Department.

It is always difficult to say good-bye to a tried and trusted friend, especially a man to whom so much is owed and to whom we have so little to offer. But as a token of our appreciation we dedicate the 1957 edition of the Cauldron to Mr. John D. Alexander. May the years of retirement be good to him and may American education be blessed by other men made in his likeness.

"All that is valuable in human society depends upon the opportunity for development accorded to the individual."

ADMINISTRATION

DR. CHARLES E. CHAFFEE
Superintendent of Schools

The Class of 1957 is thankful that the operation of the Bethlehem Public School System has been placed in the hands of such a capable administrator as Dr. Charles E. Chaffee. His strong guiding hand while not apparent in all the activities of the high school is nevertheless felt in the major workings of our Alma Mater. His task has been an arduous one since he took over the controlling reigns during a time of crisis. This crisis is one of mounting school enrollments and an inadequate number of classrooms to handle the bulging school population.

In an effort to solve this problem the school district has embarked on an extensive building program which has been guided successfully by Dr. Chaffee. In addition to this burdensome task he also supervises the work of the teaching corps, curriculum development, school attendance, and many other phases of educational administration. We are indeed happy that Dr. Chaffee administered the school program during our sojourn at Liberty High School; and we are deeply appreciative of his skilled leadership.

MR. CHARLES A. KLEIN

Principal Liberty High School

Without the very competent direction of our able principal, Mr. Klein, the efficiency that is so evident in our school would cease to exist. He has expertly managed all the academic problems with great tact and enthusiasm.

His thoughtful frankness in his decisions has been greatly appreciated. His sincere friendliness with the students has also contributed to his popularity. He has constantly shared with us the feeling of pride in our accomplishments.

So, when we reminisce on our high school careers we will remember that he always acted in our best interests.

Our Vocational Director, Mr. Lloyd B. Kehler, is highly respected by every member of the student body. We will remember him for providing us with the opportunity, and the facilities, for acquiring an education in the field of our choice.

He has gained the loyalty and the support of both faculty and students. Our department with its new building, equipment, and fine curricula, is known throughout the state as a leader in its field.

Mr. Kehler has gained the respect of industry and the community. He will live in our memory for the championing of "his boys" in every field of endeavor.

MR. LOYD B. KEHLER
Director of Vocational Education

Personal interviews are held with the applicants and samples of the applicant's ability are shown to the advisor. At the end of May the Cauldron staff for the coming year is announced.

trying to beat the deadline with their biographies of their classmates. At the same time the business manager is having a headache trying to get all the individual photographs without misplacing any. After the biographies have been checked and rechecked for mistakes, the typists go to work slaving over typewriters many hours a week. # JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

"FATHER KNOWS BEST"

"Father Knows Best" was a successful play based on the popular television show by the same name. Taking the part of a harrassed father for whom everything goes wrong was Gary Morgan. (Gary also overcame a physical handicap in this play by going on stage despite illness and almost total loss of his voice.) The plot of the play centers around father's wish that for one night at least the entire family spends the evening at home. This does not meet with the approval of the family as Betty (Marcee Ammend) has a date, Bud (Jack Jacobs) planned to meet some of his friends, and mother (Elsie Cziffer) planned to attend a Garden Club Meeting. To please dad, Betty invites her boy-friend to the home, Bud plans to practice basketball in the basement with his friend (Dick Haber) and mother invites the Garden Club to meet at her home.

Father is suddenly delighted to learn that a Mr. Brinkworth (John Steyers), who is interested in buying a large amount of insurance, can unexpectedly come to the house to settle the matter. Now the family gets in the way. The noise of the basketball game plus the antics of the two little girls Kathy and Patty, played by Dorothy Breinig and Barbara Ehret, add to the confusion. Betty rebels at father's dictum and on impulse takes the keys to the car and she and her date sneak out. The snooty ladies of the Garden Club (Sara-Ann Hecker, Helen Heller, May Ann Campbell) add their comedy to the play just as father, thinking his car has been stolen, calls the police. The police return with the daughter, Betty and her date who turns out to be Mr. Brinkworth's son (Frank Snyder) resulting in the cancellation of Brinkworth's large order.

However, as expected, the play has a happy ending. The gossipy ladies lose interest in the "scandal" when it is announced that the daughter of the president of the Garden Club has eloped: Mr. Brinkworth returns to place a bigger order, and Betty and Ralph are allowed to fall in love.

Playing valuable minor roles were Darlene Shook as a lady policewoman, Kay Scheetz and Aletha Riegel as friends of Betty, and Edward Gucker as an officer.

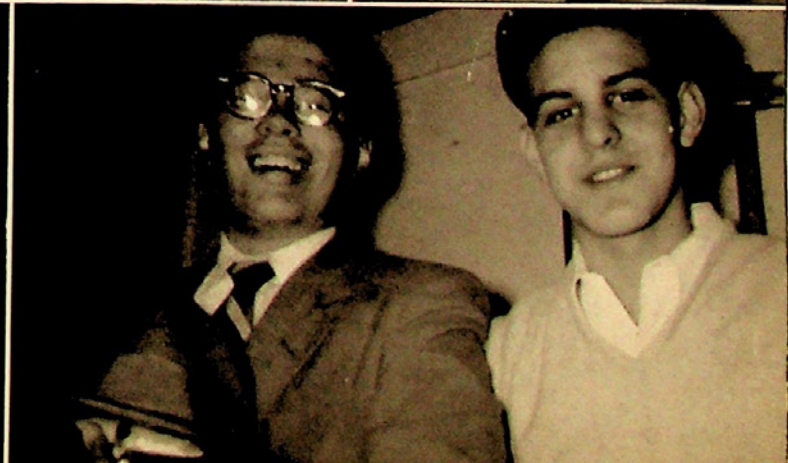

Doing yeoman duty behind the scenes were Susan Maclay as Co-ordinator, Ruth Peters and Catherine Neos as Assistant Directors, and committee chairmen Joanne Ritter, Janice Petresky, Nancy Mills and Ronald Seeds. Seniors who are Thespians assisted the committees. The play was directed by Stefan George, and Elizabeth Shimer.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"DOWN TO EARTH"

"Down To Earth" kept more people "up in the air" laughing than many a play at L.H.S. The antics of Pilone, an invisible half-angel with only one wing, as portrayed by Dick Haber captured the imagination of the audience at both performances and spirited the entire cast with laughter and a job well done.

Susan Maclay also won plaudits for her interpretation of the maid who had been jilted eleven times and was now in love with the invisible angel whose hand she held as they went for walks. She managed to see her love at last when she accidentally was hit by a car, died, and became a happy angel too.

Two full fledged angels, John Steyers and Helen Heller, who came down to earth to escort back to heaven two elderly people, played by Darlene Shook and Bernard Staller, found their plans balked by Pilone's antics and first by Darlene's attachment to her money, and later her attachment to the elderly gentleman with whom she fell in love.

Assisting in parts which were well rounded to balance the play were Edward Gucker, Ruth Peters, Elsie Cziffer, Cathy Neos, Gary Morgan, Mary Ann Campbell and Myra Glazier.

The play was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Shimer who was aided invaluablely by Libby Mendsen as the coordinator, Sara Ann Hecker as girls' assistant director and Palmer Jay Smith as boys' assistant director. Palmer won praise when he gave a last minute substitute performance to replace Frank Snyder who became ill. Also extremely important and helpful were Ronald Seeds, his stage crew and the many people on committees, without whom there could have been no play.

The Student Association, under the advisorship of Mr. Earl Evans, is the only organization that includes every enrolled pupil in Liberty High School. The organization, itself, which met every Wednesday in the Student Association Room, consists of a representative from each homeroom.

The officers this year were Gregg Ruth, President; Marvin Lisker, Vice-President; Rose Fatzinger, Secretary; Sally Subjin, Treasurer; and Bernie Staller, Social Activities Chairman.

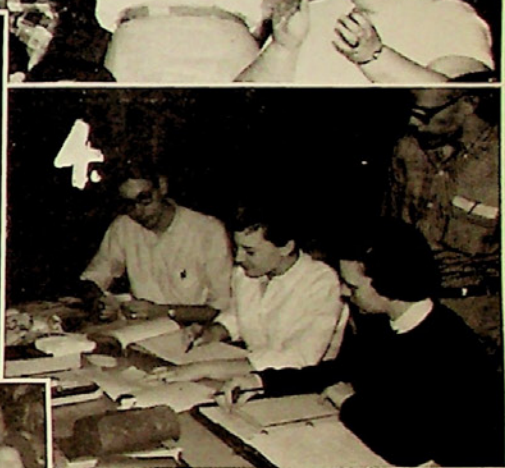

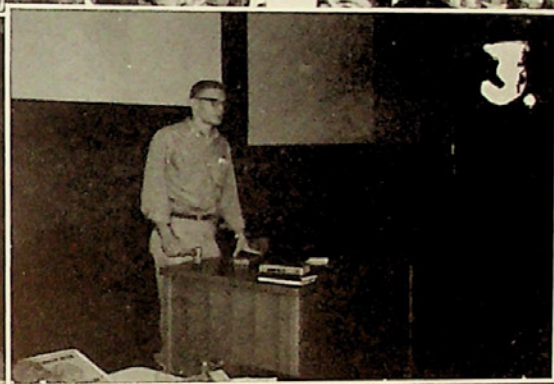

Objectives of the Student Association consist of encouragement of pride and respect for Liberty High School, good citizenship, promotion of respect for authority and the rights of others, development of leadership, stimulation of high standards of scholarship, creation of an atmosphere of cooperation among the student body, and to supply a practical student government under the limitations of constituted authority.

The association enjoys a fine record of achievement in the promotion of good pupil and adult relations with our neighboring communities. This is done through the exchange of assembly programs with Allentown and also exchange visits of the Student Association officers.

This year its main project was the issuing of charters to all clubs recognized as school organizations. Among its other activities were the conduction of several pep rallies and a quiz program for the sophomores to help to acquaint them with the school.

Sponsoring of dances and the sale of bookcovers, decals, Hurricane buttons, and booster cards were the fund-raising projects of the group. This money will be used to edit a handbook which is given to every student at the beginning of the school year.

Liberty Life has a new look this year. During the summer, a contract was made with the Globe Times Printer to print the school paper. New size, new print, and new headlines have been featured as the main points of the new paper.

Snappy Sketches, Co-produced by Mr. Walter Davey and Mr. Paul Leaser, is a variety show sponsored annually by Liberty Life, and is used as a means of raising funds to send the staffers to New York City for the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conferences. The paper also sponsors dances to help contribute money to this fund.

Along with their advisors, the staff of Liberty Life spends much of their own time working on the paper. They work both fourth period and after school to prepare the paper that keeps the students and community informed about the happenings at Liberty High School.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

Dr. Joseph A. Ricapito, a musical institution, himself, in the City of Bethlehem, again trained and conducted the high school band and orchestra and as usual developed two brilliant organizations. These ambitious groups play an important role in the life of the school since they form an important part in many of the outstanding school presentations; such as the Senior and Junior Class Plays, the Thanksgiving Programs, Christmas Vespers, the Spring Musicale and Commencement.

The band also keeps the school spirit running high at football and basketball games, pep rallies and school dedication programs. It marches in civic parades, and takes part in community activities. Probably its yearly highlight is its annual band concert.

Two social events are held by the combined organizations during the year; a Halloween Party, and a Christmas Party which is given for those in the Band and Orchestra Mothers Club. Bethlehem has also had the privilege and honor of sending outstanding band and orchestra members to the District Music Festivals and a select few have been chosen as members of either the All State Band or Orchestra.

LIBERTY HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

The Liberty High School Glee Club, under the very capable direction of Mrs. E. L. Fitch and Mr. Carlton Weaver, is both an elective activity, in the sense that a student chooses to participate in it, and a selective activity, in the sense that all prospective members must have an audition with the directors to determine their musical abilities.

The boys and the girls in the club are organized and rehearsed in separate groups. In both groups, the officers are elected by students who have been in the glee club for two years. The girls glee club rehearsals are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday after school from 3:00 p.m. until 4:15 p.m. The boys practice on Tuesday and Thursday before school at 7:45 a.m. and the fourth periods on Monday and Friday.

The two groups are combined for all Junior-Senior Assemblies in which the Lord's Prayer is chanted. The three big events as far as performances go are the Thanksgiving Program, given to the student body in November; the Christmas Vespers, given to the public just prior to the Christmas holidays; and the Spring Concert, given publicly early in May. Approximately two months before any one of these performances mentioned, combined rehearsals of both boys and girls begin both to integrate the choral singing and to add the necessary choreography and staging. The organization also participated in an exchange program with other school glee clubs in the area and travel to these schools to sing. The glee clubs also entertain local service clubs.

All is not work, however, in the spring an excursion is taken by the glee club, usually to either New York or Philadelphia.

The Liberty Choraliers, composed of thirty-three members selected from the regular glee club, sings for church groups, civic clubs, and at other functions.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

A fairly new but very energetic organization with the aim to increase interest in all phases of dramatics is the Thespian Society which meets weekly in the "Green Room". Behind that green door just off stage right is a room that the Thespians have designed and improved as one of their many projects. It contains a makeup table complete with makeup lights, storage for costumes and props as well as stage equipment. Also kept there are books on the theatre and copies of plays in the rapidly growing Thespian library.

Any student interested in any phases of the theatre may join. At this stage he is called a Thesdra or apprentice Thespian. However, he is not considered a full fledged National Thespian until he earns at least ten points which is the equivalent of 100 quality hours in any or many spheres of stagecraft, from acting to painting sets.

Upon achieving the minimum ten points the student is formally initiated into Troupe 1543 of the National Thespian Society. He may continue to earn as many as 60 points at which time he is declared an honor Thespian.

Among Thespian projects this year were a trip to New York to see "The Diary of Ann Frank"; presenting a special play for sick children at St. Luke's Hospital; doing radio programs; attending a Thespian theatre workshop in York, Pa.; presenting a special assembly, and assisting at both class plays.

Susan Maclay performed very capably as this year's president aided by Edward Gucker as Vice-President and Helen Heller as Scribe.

ART LEAGUE

All of the students at Bethlehem High School see examples of the fine workmanship of the members of the Art League frequently. The members spend much of their time learning different methods of painting and varied types of jewelry making. One of the biggest projects of the Art League is the preparation of scenery and costumes for the annual Christmas Vespers. The group also presents an assembly program, hangs paintings in the third floor, and serves an annual art tea.

At the meetings of the club, various phases of art are discussed to broaden the students' knowledge of the field of art and the possibilities of employment. Much time is spent actually working on paintings or jewelry projects. Some of this work is then sold at the Art Club sale held each spring. The Art League meets every month under the direction of Mr. Robert Doney. The officers for 1956-1957 were: President, Susan Allport; Vice-President, Debbie Makagon; Secretary, Kathleen Dugas; Treasurer, Joyce Barton.

BIBLE CLUB

That size is no indication of the importance of a club is illustrated by the thirteen members of the Bible Club. Meeting every other Friday, the club attempts to bring a richer understanding of the Bible to its members.

Acting as officers this year are Artis Flexer, President; Arthur McKensie, Vice-President; Diane Leeb, Treasurer; Miss Ethel Moll and Mr. August LaSasso, faculty advisors.

Among the programs held during the year were talks by head football coach Donald Schneider and Reverend A. C. McKenzie. At other meetings, the members played games which were aimed at better understanding of key portions of the Bible.

The main objectives of the group is to enrich their own lives and the lives of others by bringing Bible study and daily worship to more people.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

The primary purpose of the Distributive Education Club is to acquaint its members with various businesses particularly those in the retail field of selling. This club since its inception has been under the able leadership of Mr. Jerome A. Beidleman.

It's annual custom is to visit large department stores in the New York City and Philadelphia areas. Once again in the 1956-57 period these excursions were made along with inspection tours of the major merchandising marts of the Lehigh Valley.

The members of the club get practical selling experience through fund raising programs of their own. In rapid order they put on the following selling campaigns: sold book covers, dolls, school pens, and bears. The money realized from these sales is used to defray the expenses of the annual dinner held at the Hotel Bethlehem for employers, parents and club members. Some of the income is also used to cover the costs of the annual dance.

The organization is a member of the Pennsylvania State Distributive Education association and as such participate actively in its affairs on a state wide basis.

Serving as officers during the past year were the following people: President, Barbara Schaffer; Vice-President, Joseph Slapinsky; Secretary, Winifred Kline; Treasurer, Eleanor Callan.

CHEMPHYBIOGENS

The Chemphybiogen Society is a group of about thirty scientifically-minded students who wish to find out more about Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and Engineering, the sciences from which the club name is derived. The adviser is Miss Mabell Kelchner.

Meetings are held irregularly in the biology room to hear speakers or in the 1950 room to see films, also included in the program are various field trips to places of interest.

Several speakers came from the Lehigh County Medical Association to deliver lectures on different fields related to health.

Field trips included visits to the Chem Lab at Lehigh University, and the Suncrest Dairy. The highlight of the year was a trip to the Museum of Natural History and the Hayden Planetarium in New York City.

CHESS CLUB

(RED AND BLUE KNIGHTS)

The Liberty Chess Club was organized by Albert Snyder in his sophomore year. He and Edward Fulmer drew up a constitution which is still followed with the addition of three amendments. In 1955 the chess club acquired another name, "The Red and Blue Knights" and entered the Penn-Jersey Chess League composed of four teams. When Bethlehem entered it they had to play Quakertown, Nazareth, Phillipsburg, and Allentown, each twice, away and at home. The Red and Blue Knights won eight out of eight games and received a trophy which must be won three times before a team gains permanent possession.

In 1955, The Red and Blue Knights beat Lehigh University three to two and beat the winners of the Bucks County League two out of three times. In 1956, the club went to Philadelphia, to Lincoln High School which was second in the state and beat them four to two. They would have played the first place team in Pennsylvania but the school year ended and the seniors graduated and couldn't play.

This year is the first year the club has had an advisor. He is Mr. Nathan Auerbach. The club played Lehigh and Muhlenberg colleges this year. They lost to Lehigh one to four and beat Muhlenberg three to one. The officers for 1956-57 were: George Fiegel, President; Edward Gucker, Vice-President; and Nicholas Politi, Secretary-Treasurer.

LIBRARY CLUB

With the smallest membership in its twenty-year history, the Library Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Margaret Randt, school librarian, has been one of the busiest groups in Liberty High School. The Club was organized in March, 1938 with the same two-fold objective toward which it still aims:

1. To help students better understand the Library and the many services it offers. This is accomplished to some degree in sophomore library orientation classes, but Library Club members have an opportunity to study the library in greater detail; to get behind the scenes and discover how the library operates, what makes it operate that way, and why.

2. To try to interest students in Library Science as a vocation. Professional library training institutions can't begin to meet the demand for librarians — not only in schools, but in many specialized fields as well — industry, medicine, armed forces, technology, government, etc. Practical experience gained by Library Club members as a result of their assignment to such routine tasks as shelving books, reading shelves, mending books, checking mail, handling circulation, processing new books, setting up displays, etc., gives them a preview of a career in library service, and may encourage some of them to choose this field as their life's work.

The Library Club meets fourth period every Friday, and activities vary from week to week. The first Friday of the month is a business meeting; the second, a work period; the third, a program meeting; the fourth, a reading period; the fifth, when we have five, is devoted to a study of some aspect of library service — Dewey Decimal Classification system, card catalog, arrangement of books, reference books, etc.

The officers of the club are Jeanne Jacoby, President; Molly Cutler, Vice-President; Pat Pinkowski, Secretary; and Susan Pitcher, Treasurer.

Activities outside of Club periods include the Book Week Contest in November; a field trip to Kutztown State Teachers College Library in early Spring; the annual Club picnic at the end of the year.

FUTURE NURSES LEAGUE

Any girl who has an interest in nursing or the fields related to it; such as, laboratory technology, dental hygiene, etc., may be a member of the Future Nurses' League, for the main purpose of the league, directed by Miss Kathyne Eckert, is to stimulate an interest in these fields. An attempt is made to acquaint the girls with the educational and physical requirements necessary for entrance to the various nursing schools.

In order to achieve the aim of the club, a varied program is planned by students committees. Included in the program are speakers from nearby hospitals and community health agencies, films dealing with various fields of nursing, and field trips to schools of nursing outside of the local area. The group also attends recruitment teas sponsored by the hospitals in Allentown, Bethlehem, and Easton. At these teas the girls meet and observe student nurses in training, tour the hospitals, and meet future nurses from other high schools.

FUTURE TEACHERS' CLUB

The Future Teachers' Club is open to all students interested in teaching as a profession. This organization meets monthly under the leadership of Miss Ruth Overfield.

The meetings are planned to give members a birds-eye view of the education necessary for a qualified school teacher and of the many tasks included in the day of a teacher. This year the members visited classes at Lafayette Elementary School to aid in teaching and correcting papers there. They also attended the PSEA Convention held to raise the incentive of teachers in the Lehigh Valley. The girls began to choose books which they felt would be useful for future club members searching for information on the teaching profession as a basis for a Future Teachers' Club Library to be financed from money remaining in the treasury from previous years.

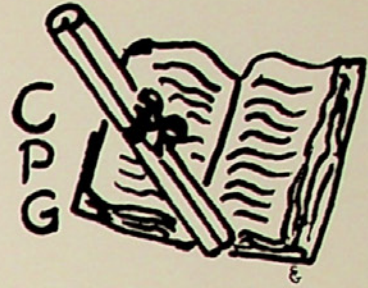

Working with the College Preparatory Girls' Club, the members of the Future Teachers' Club began to prepare an academic handbook which would supply the answers to questions pertaining to college life which are often present in the minds of college-bound students.

Through all activities carried on during the year, the girls received valuable information and grew to understand the teaching profession more fully.

The officers are Susan Allport, President; Ruth Teal, Vice-President; Sara Hecker, Secretary; and Helen Heller, Treasurer.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY GIRL'S CLUB

The College Preparatory Girls' Club is an organization designed to help all girls planning to attend college. In order to acquaint the members with college life, panel discussions pertaining to the various types of colleges-their advantages and their disadvantages, and movies dealing with these same problems are frequently included on the program.

This year the members of the College Preparatory Girls' Club and the Future Teachers' Club began to compile information to be presented in an academic handbook which will aid future members of both clubs in solving the many problems involved in choosing and being accepted by a college. It will also include information which will be of value in aiding the student to adjust to college life more easily.

The group met the first and third Monday of every month with Miss Evelyn Walper, Girls' Counselor, acting as advisor.

The officers of the club were: Aletha Riegel, President; Astrid Rorhus, Vice-President; Debby Makagon, Secretary; Johanna Snyder, Treasurer.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

The French Clubs II and III meet once a month during a class period. The purpose of the French Club is to inform the French students about the geography, customs, traditions, and culture of France. The students of French III, in their monthly meetings, give reports on French provinces; while in second year French, the students study French art, music, literature, history, and holidays. At each meeting the Journalist gives a brief account of French current events. The business part of the meetings is conducted in French, and the meetings are always closed by singing the Marseillaise, the French national anthem.

An added treat for third year students is their annual trip to New York where they see French movies and art exhibits, and where they eat in French restaurants.

French II officers: Alice Shields, President; Etorina Fantozzi, Vice-President, Margaret Todd, Secretary; Susan Branscom, Treasurer; Stephanie Rights, Journalist.
 French III officers: Carole Miller, President; Sandra Homer, Vice-President; Frank Bendrick, Secretary-Treasurer; Anne Willis, Journalist.

GERMAN III CLUB

The Deutschen Verein is composed of students sufficiently interested in German to elect a third year of this subject. Meetings are usually held during a class period, and Fraulein Wilson is the advisor. Officers are: Carl Jordan, President; Howard Whitcomb, Vice President; Don Latshaw, Secretary; Sue Anne Beidelman, Treasurer. Other members are Carol Heffelfinger, Linda Hofstetter, Stephanie Hombis, John Steyers, and Joan Wadolny.

The purpose of the club is to make practical use of the German language and learn more about German speaking countries from natives or visitors. At the first meeting in fall Monika Heusinger, now a sophomore at L.H.S., told us of her life in Germany before coming to the U.S. several years ago. Then Betty Birk Stearns showed us beautiful colored slides as she told us about her visit to Germany and Switzerland.

On the last day of school before Christmas Vacation the foreign language department broadcast a Christmas program over WGPA and the German part consisted of the German songs "O Tannenbaum", "Stille Nacht," "Jesu rufe nich" (from which Bethlehem received its name). and "Der Morgenstern" in which Stephanie Hombis did the solo part. Carl Jordan was our announcer and concluded the broadcast with "Frohliche Weihnachten."

At midyear the foreign language department put on an assembly program in an attempt to interest sophomores in studying foreign languages. Carl Jordan introduced the speaker Dr. Margaret Gump of Moravian College who received her university training in Germany. Stephanie Hombis sang Neine's "Du bist wie eine Blume" and the club scored a hit with their special version of the "Schnitzelbunk" for which Carol Heffelfinger had made pictures. Linda Hofstetter was the leader and narrator.

Of course we sing German songs now and then to the accompaniment of Fraulein's little organ. Also we have translated letters from Germany for Americans who understand only English. And we wind up the year in June with a social affair at the home of our teacher when we bid each other and Liberty High School "Leberwohl."

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club meets the last Monday of every month during the class period. The members play charades using mythological characters as subjects, have reports on famous characters, work Latin crossword puzzles, give plays, and generally try to increase their knowledge of Rome and the Romans. In May, the club takes a sightseeing trip to New York and attends a current Broadway play.

Consuls: M. Todd, S. Rights; Scriba: D. Makagon; Quaestor: E. Fantozzi; Adeiles: S. Pitcher, G. Bauder, G. Phillip, M. Erisman.

THE SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club, Los Amigos, under the supervision of Mrs. J. Marion Baker, meets on the last Friday of every month. It is open to all second and third year Spanish students and also to students who have a knowledge of the language because of Spanish parentage. The purpose of this club is to give boys and girls an opportunity to speak Spanish thus acquainting themselves with the language and learning about the life and customs of the people.

The officers serving for this school year are David Polefka, President (presidente); Aletha Riegel, Recording Secretary (secretaria del acta); Heidi Weinlick, Publicity Secretary (secretaria del propaganda); and Judith Smith, Treasurer (tesorera).

Each member of Los Amigos has a chance to serve on a committee to help plan the programs for the meetings. The highlight of the year is the breaking of the pinata at Christmas when each boy or girl receives a small gift. In spring members sell theatre tickets in order to raise money for the prize awarded to an outstanding first-year Spanish student.

Besides having a good time, the members of Los Amigos learn about the various Spanish-speaking countries in a manner which is more enjoyable than learning in the class room.

JUNIOR RED CROSS COUNCIL

For five years, the Junior Red Cross Council, under the leadership of Miss Mary Crow, has functioned as a successful organization of this school. It provides an opportunity for the students to work with the American Red Cross in helping people in all parts of the world. This is done through the packing of gift chests which contain supplies for twenty-five people. This year both the academic and the vocational departments are filling a chest. Also individual gift boxes are prepared and sent to needy countries of the world.

The group fostered several activities during the year in order to fulfill its program. In November a membership drive and a dance were held to raise the money needed for the gift chest. An assembly program was presented to acquaint the student body with the organization and its purpose. Miss Blanche Cao, Vietnamese linguist, and an aide to the president of the Vietnamese Red Cross, luncheoned here as a guest of the Junior Red Cross. Another project of the group was to bake twenty pounds of fruit cake to be sent to the Valley Forge Veterans Hospital.

There is one person from each homeroom in the academic department on the Junior Red Cross Council. There are also four boys, one from the Senior and Junior Classes, and two from the Sophomore class.

There is also an executive council consisting of the officers, and a boy and girl from each class.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club of Liberty High School is composed of senior pupils who are enrolled in the Commercial Curriculum. The purpose of the club is to arrange to supplement the regular classroom work by bringing to the meetings outside speakers from the business world.

These businessmen attempt to discuss job opportunities, qualifications necessary for employment, the various types of office positions open to a beginning employee, and the possibility of advancement.

During the course of this year the club heard a representative from the Pennsylvania State Employment Service discuss the service available from his agency to high school pupils and the various types of employment open in Bethlehem for a commercial course graduate. The manager of Sigal's Beauty Salon discussed Aspects of Good Grooming for Office Employees. The office manager of St. Luke's Hospital explained the duties of the office worker in an organization such as the hospital. On February 13, Union Bank & Trust Co., sponsored a tour of its facilities for interested commercial pupils. The tour was then followed by a training program for pupils who desired to enter bank work upon high school graduation. The year's activities concluded in the spring with a party for members.

LIBERTY HI-Y CLUB

The Liberty Hi-Y Club met every Thursday evening, 7 p.m., at the Bethlehem Y.M.C.A. Special highlights of the year were speeches by Coach Don Schneider on clean sportsmanship and the importance of team work at a meeting dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias; by Mr. Charles A. Klein on choosing the right vocation; and by Mr. Earl Evans on stocks and investments. Club members brought in and discussed various hobbies, including model airplanes, stamp collecting, photo-collecting, tropical fish, model railroads, and coins. Other interesting meetings were the showing of the Bethlehem-Allentown game film, a show of slides called "Mediterranean Vista-rama," and slides depicting a happy marriage. The Liberty Y-Teens joined the Hi-Y for two projects, a series of meetings on boy-girl relationships, conducted by youth officials of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., and a picnic in the Poconos.

Activity was abundant outside regular meetings. In athletics, the club won the indoor touch football and basketball Championships at the Y.M.C.A., participated in the city foul shooting contest, and enjoyed weekly swimming. A three team bowling league was formed. In the Memorial Gym, the club defeated the faculty and donated the proceeds to World Service. Hi-Y ushered during the Christmas vespers. Money-raising projects included name-cards sold to seniors, bake sales, and a spring dance in the old gym. The club presented two assemblies, with a brotherhood theme. The year ended with the annual trip to Washington, D.C. The tour was arranged by Congressman Francis E. Walters.

YOUNG WRITER

Once again the Young Writer opened the doors of writing to people, who had writing skill and entered their compositions to a board of judges. The Young Writer staff continued this year to uphold the fine traditions set in former years. John Freefield, a member of the school faculty, was chairman of the project.

Student responsibility in editorial capacities was given to the following students: Editor-in-chief, Janet G. Diehl; Assistant Editor-in-Chief, Peter Andrews; Feature Editors, Barbara Knipe, Judith Mosebach; Essay Editors, Susan Pitcher, Leon Goerlich; Review Editors, Kay Sheetz, Joan Beany; Poetry Editors, Sandra Barber, Donald Sassaman; Short Story Editors, Barbara Priolo, Nevagay Kressley; Layout and Makeup, Louis Supanek, Barbara Snyder.

As the material arrived on March 1, it was sorted and sent to the proper divisions. It was read and reread and finally initialed to meet approval or disapproval.

Each individual school had a given number of pages to completely fill. Only the best and most suitable material was chosen to complete these pages. Many good scripts were omitted because of numerous reasons, particularly the lack of space to be fitted into.

Every year, an effort is made to try to improve the Young Writer even if it is only the change in the grade of paper. Each year, the criticism that comes from the students and teachers are analyzed to the mutual benefit of the magazine and staff.

We certainly hope that the reading public has enjoyed the publication, written by the students of all the secondary schools of Bethlehem.

JUNIOR-SENIOR Y-TEENS

The purpose of the Y-Teen program is to help the girls involved to grow in friendship and understanding with people of all races and creeds and to grow in knowledge and love of God. The girls hope to meet these goals by actively participating in community and school affairs. Representatives from the group are sent to Y-Teen conferences held throughout the state.

The club members sponsor many social affairs including dances, parties, teas, demonstrations, bake sales, trips, and picnics.

Meetings held by the group included panel discussions, movies, and talks on various interesting subjects.

They were advised by Miss Elizabeth Weiss.

AUTO MECHANICS

Since the automobile is one of the most important forms of transportation in the world. There will always be a great demand for well-trained automobile mechanics.

The boys who come to the Vocational Department and take the course in automotive repair work get the best of training that is possible in the limited time available to them.

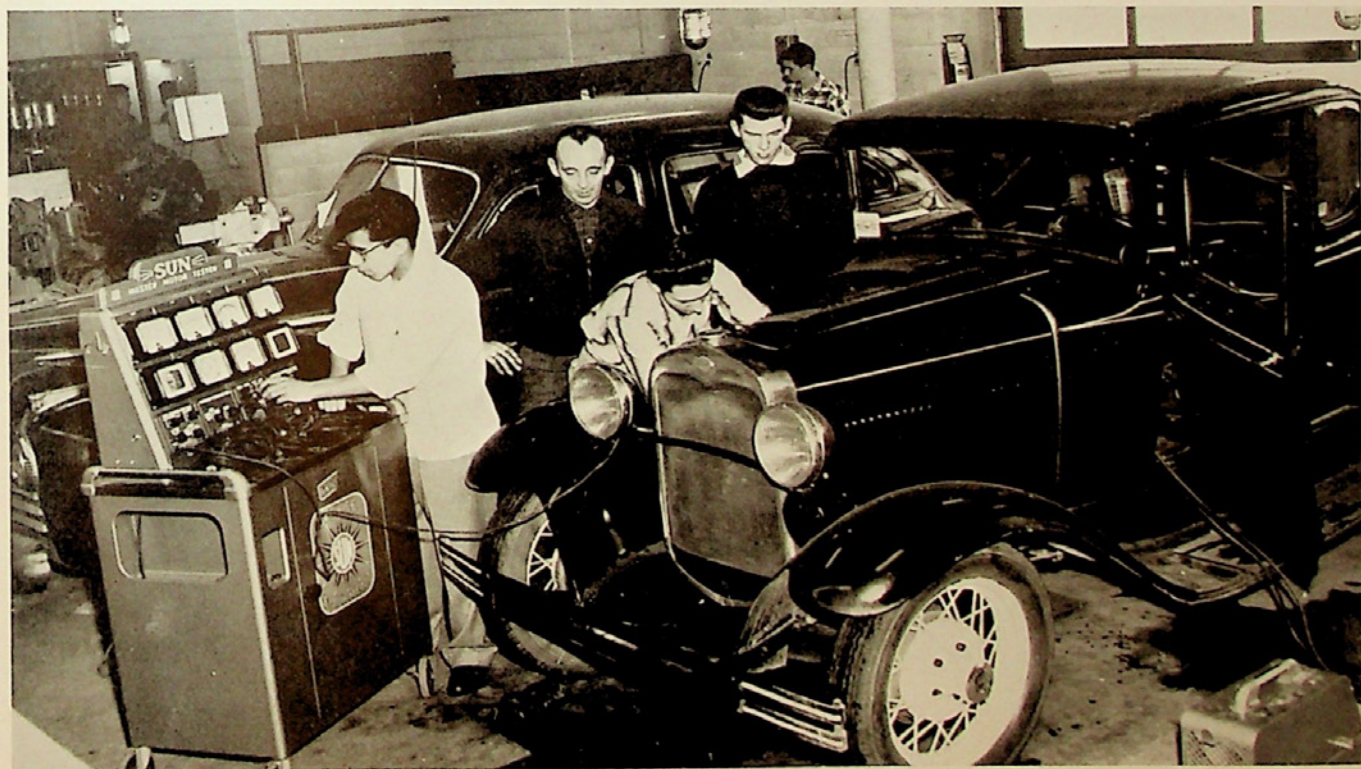

In the sophomore year the students are guided by Mr. Leidig in theoretical practice and theory for one half year. Then they are transferred to the auto body shop so they can make a selection of which shop they want in their junior year. This is done so that they can make the right selection of the shop in which they will permanently start to work. Each student in the auto mechanical shop receives one and a half hours of theory each day and then he goes into the shop and works on automobile engines which need repair.

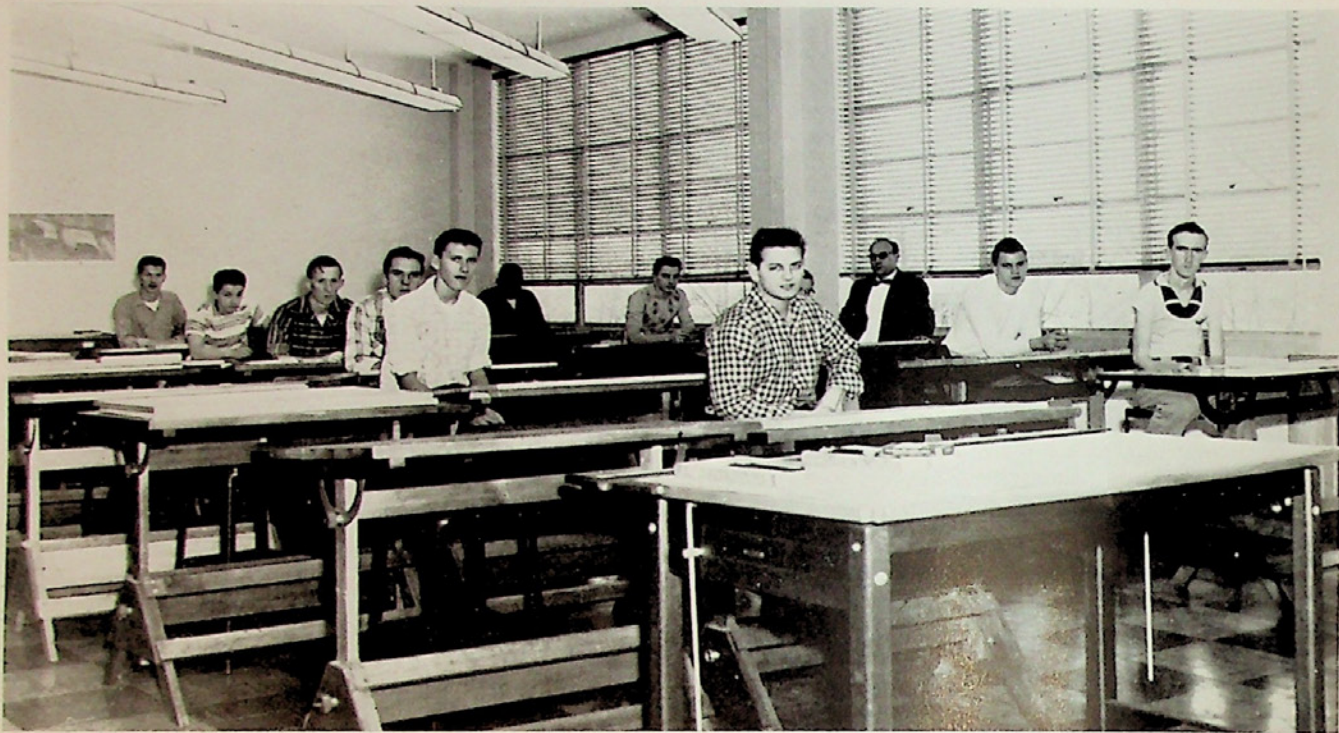

The juniors get more difficult jobs than the sophomores, but sometimes the sophomores help the juniors in their work. The juniors learn theory also, but they are allowed to help instruct the sophomores in their shop. The jobs that the juniors do are relining breaks, carbon valve jobs, overhauling engines, and tuning engines.

In the senior year the boys are fully trained. Their training is not too extensive, but enough to get them good jobs and learn more. Consequently the reason for this is because there are so many new things to learn about automobiles, and so they are constantly being improved and made more difficult to understand.

In the senior year the boys are given a chance to prove their ability in automotive repair work by actually going out on jobs at automechanical repair shops and earning money.

Mr. Leidig with the guidance of the juniors and seniors is doing a wonderful job to train the new students in this expanding field.

DRAFTING

Drafting opens the door for many young boys to a very bright future. Through the realm of drawing man now has learned many different methods to harness the powers of nature.

The need for engineers is very great. The need is so great that when a person takes an engineering course and applies himself accordingly he will be amazed by the job opportunities which are offered to him.

The teachers of the Vocational Department of Bethlehem High School knowing, the need for engineers, have striven to guide many students into the field.

The Vocational Department is proud to offer the boys three well-equipped drawing rooms, a blueprint and a discussion room. The boys have a choice of three different types of drafting. These include the following: mechanical, structural, and architectural drawing.

In the room which is under the direction of Mr. Alexander, the first year boys are taught the fundamentals of drafting which include the following: printing, functions and the uses of the instruments, pattern making, orthographic projection, auxiliary views, oblique projection, and the detailing of different machines.

In another room which is taught by Mr. Dubbeling, the junior and senior boys are taught structural drawing. This deals with the framework of a building. Upon taking this course the boys learn the standards and some non-standards used to connect different members of the building. The boys are given a month's period for the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of architectural drawing. They also learn ink drawing and the making of blueprints.

In the third shop under the direction of Mr. Andrucci, the boys learn mechanical drawing. This course entails many related phases of detailing. Most people think it deals only with the detailing and assembly of machinery, however, in general engineering plants, a mechanical draftsman must be versed also in the principles and uses of foundations, concrete formations, welding, piping, jigs and fixtures, gearing, uses of catalog standards and many other related types of drawings.

At the time of graduation the boys should have attained to a certain degree these fundamentals which are essential assets in helping to become a better citizen in the community.

ELECTRICAL SHOP

Electricity is a strange thing. If you touch a bare wire it can be felt, but you cannot see it in motion. It is like a river, it takes the shortest path to reach its destination.

The training at the Vocational Department is split up into three years of learning and during these three years Mr. Risbon, who is the instructor, spends tiring hours trying to teach us about electricity.

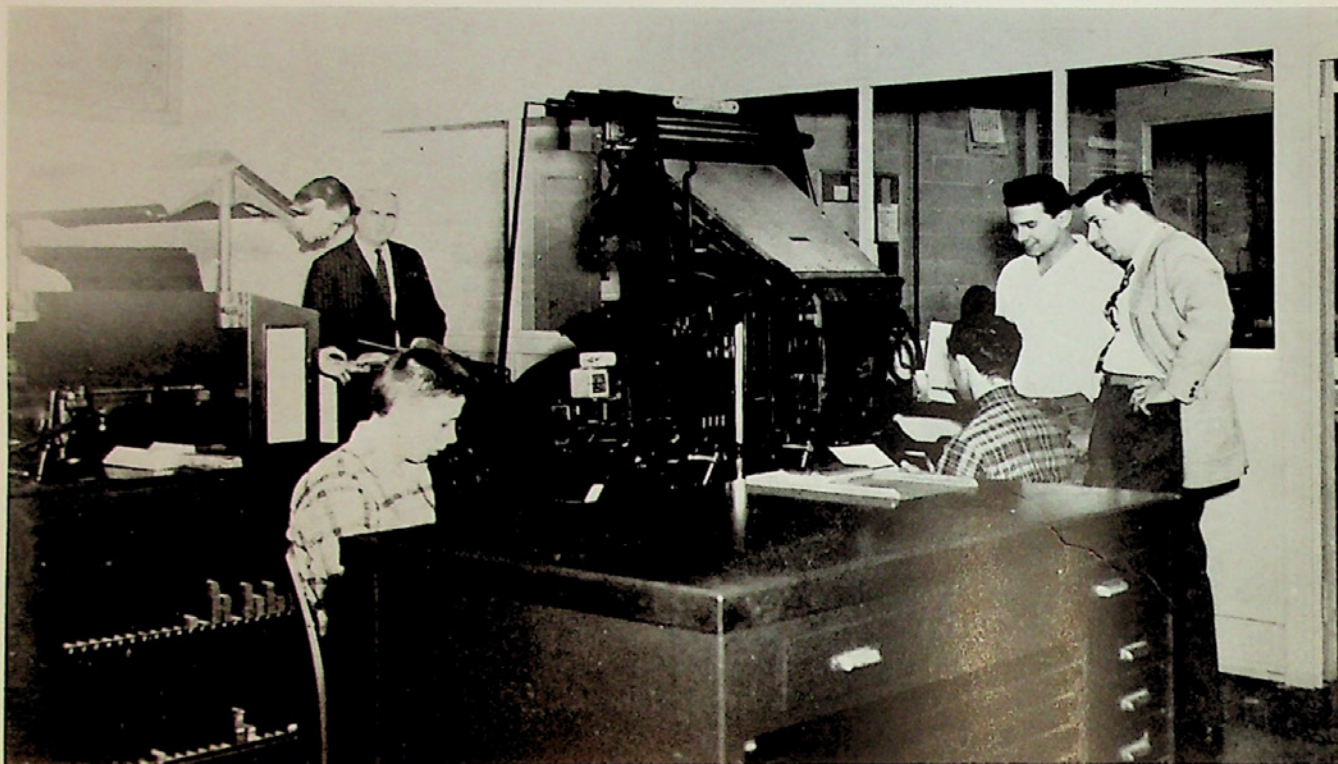

The first year one learns the fundamentals such as series circuits, parallel circuits, different kinds of tools, and simple set ups with batteries as power.

The second year the subject starts with motors. One learns the different parts of motors, operation principals and how to hook them up. The types of motors dealt with are: series, shunt, polyphase and compound.

The third year one learns more about motors because it is too big a field to cover in one year. In addition to motors the course also covers rheostats, speed controllers, and relays.

While absorbing this knowledge the students also do repair work on motors, mixers, toasters, drills, lighting, circuits, and the machinery in other shops.

PRINT SHOP

Printing or the lay of ink on paper for a variety of purposes is done through several different processes. Letterpress, offset, gravure, and silk screen are the major ones. Printing today employs hundreds of thousands of workers. Printing ranks third among American industries. The modern world could not be what it is today without printing for everyone depends on it. Printing is also known as "the art preservative of all the arts," and is one of the greatest factors in the promotion of human progress and development.

Johann Gutenberg of Mainz, Germany invented the first movable metal type for printing in 1456. His first known work was the "Bible of 42 Lines." From the Chinese invention of paper in 105 B.C. to the invention of movable type by Gutenberg in 1450 A.D. to the high-speed paper and type machines of the present all strive to meet our daily printing demands. Benjamin Franklin is the best known of early American printers for his publication called "Poor Richards Almanack" and his "Pennsylvania Gazette" which later became the "Saturday Evening Post."

Our Vocational print shop consists of a composing room where the copy for the jobs of printing are received, and the type is set, and assembled into forms. In the composing room there is a darkroom and camera used for platemaking.

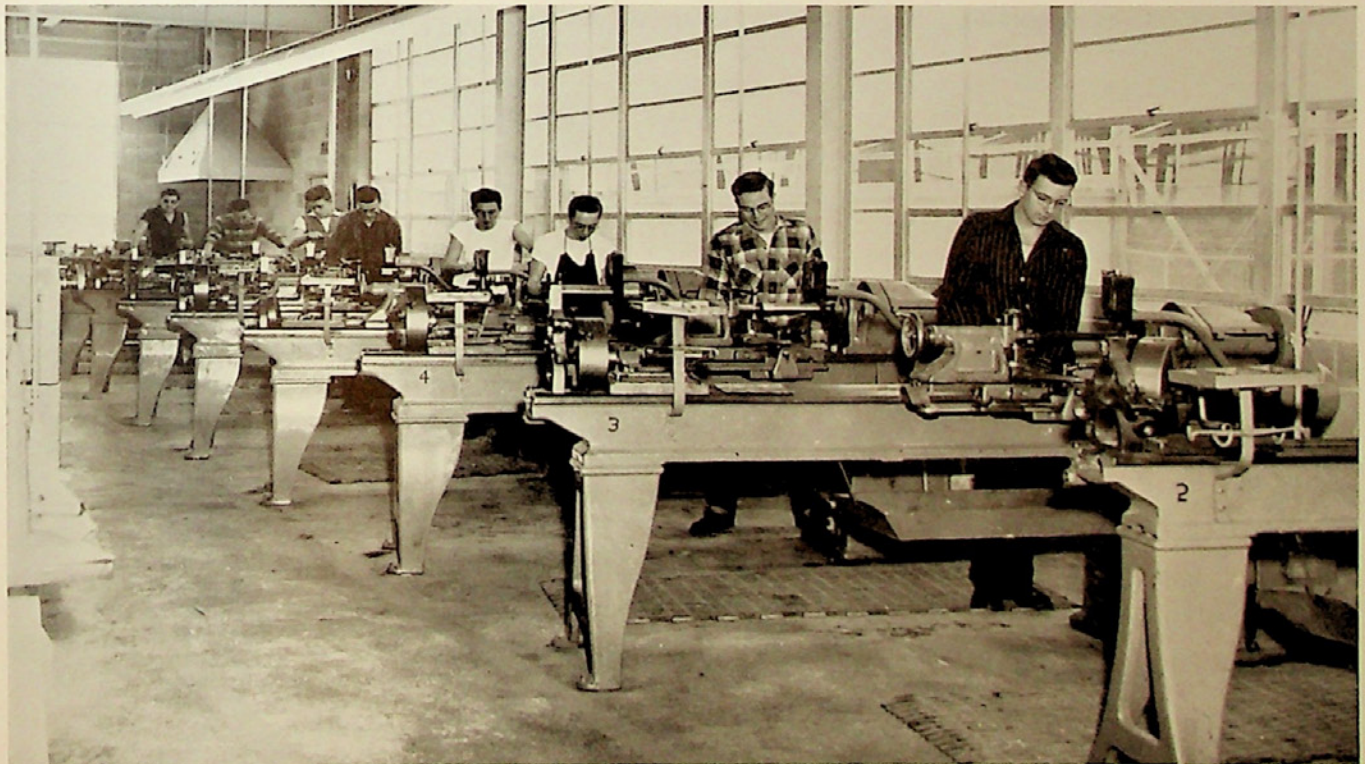

In the pressroom the type forms are locked up and placed on the presses, made ready, and printed. In the bindery such operations as folding, stitching, trimming, punching, and perforating are done.

When the students graduate from the print shop, they have all the fundamentals necessary for placement in a commercial print shop. Mr. Hunsinger and Mr. Bucchin have done a splendid job in imparting their knowledge to their students

MACHINE SHOP

The machine shop prepares a student for his apprenticeship in industry. In the shop you learn to be versed in the skill of using all the different machines and the precision machine tools with accuracy. The machine shop is the largest shop in the vocational department. It is also one of the best equipped. Our machines are the same type found in any machine shop. With the addition of eight new milling machines, two lathes, surface grinder and many new precision instruments our shop's capacity and versatility has increased. The shop has a capacity of over sixty working stations. The shop is conducted in the same manner as the shops in industry. Besides the practical work on the machines the students see movies on the latest methods of machine work. Great emphasis is put on safety, and the students are well instructed on safety in the shop. Although it is a dangerous shop, there are rarely any accidents. Mr. Rhoads and Mr. Cacciatore are our shop instructors. They have attended college and have completed their apprenticeship at the Bethlehem Steel. Our shop also has a student council which is the ruling body of the shop. There are two seniors, two juniors, and two sophomores from morning and afternoon shop, elected to the student council. They discuss the problems of students and the manner in which the shop is to be run. It is also their duty to plan the extra activities. Besides shop basketball, which is an intramural sport in which all shops participate, we have the Christmas party. At the end of the school year we have the machine shop banquet which is a happy annual event. It is a semi-formal affair and students bring their dates. We also have a summer picnic which is held at a park where we can play baseball or enjoy other outdoor sports.

WOODWORKING

Since mankind has been upon earth wood has always been in use. Wood is used to construct homes, factories, furniture and many other things. Many other products are derived from wood. In some places it is still the chief product to keep people warm, and it provides a good fuel for them. Without wood mankind could scarcely get along.

In the woodworking department at Liberty High a boy spends three years learning his trade. In his first year he learns how to recognize different kinds of lumber, how to make different kinds of joints and how to distinguish the many different tools. Sanding properly is the final thing he learns in his first year. In his second year he learns how to run every machine in the shop. Some of the machines are the surfacer, jointer, radial, circular, jig, and band saws, lathes, shaper, mortiser and sander. With the knowledge of these machines, he should be able to do a good job because learning to use them properly will save a great deal of time and also adds to safety. In his third and final year he helps the first year boys along. He takes on the responsibility of the most difficult jobs in the shop. Along with the assistance of Mr. D. L. Detwiler, woodworking instructor, a boy should have a good idea of woodworking when he graduates in his senior year.

Yes, woodworking will never go out of existence. Even though steel is very good in building plants and factories, without wood, the building could never be completed. Mankind cannot survive decently without wood and its many uses.

Mr. Detwiler has been teaching vocational woodworking for thirty-three years. After graduating from Altoona High School, he graduated from Penn State University where he obtained his B.S. degree in industrial education.

ELECTRONICS

Electronics is the study of the electron. The electron isn't something new; it has been a part of our existence since time began. The paper upon which this book is printed is made up of electrons.

The electron was discovered by Professor J. J. Thompson. The idea of the electron has changed since then, but this is where the electron got its start. From this discovery radio, television, and many other marvels were developed.

In the electronics shop we study the application of the electron to modern day communication. That is to say radio and television. No one man can be accredited with inventing or discovering this means of communications. It took time and teamwork of countless men to bring about this human asset we know as radio and television.

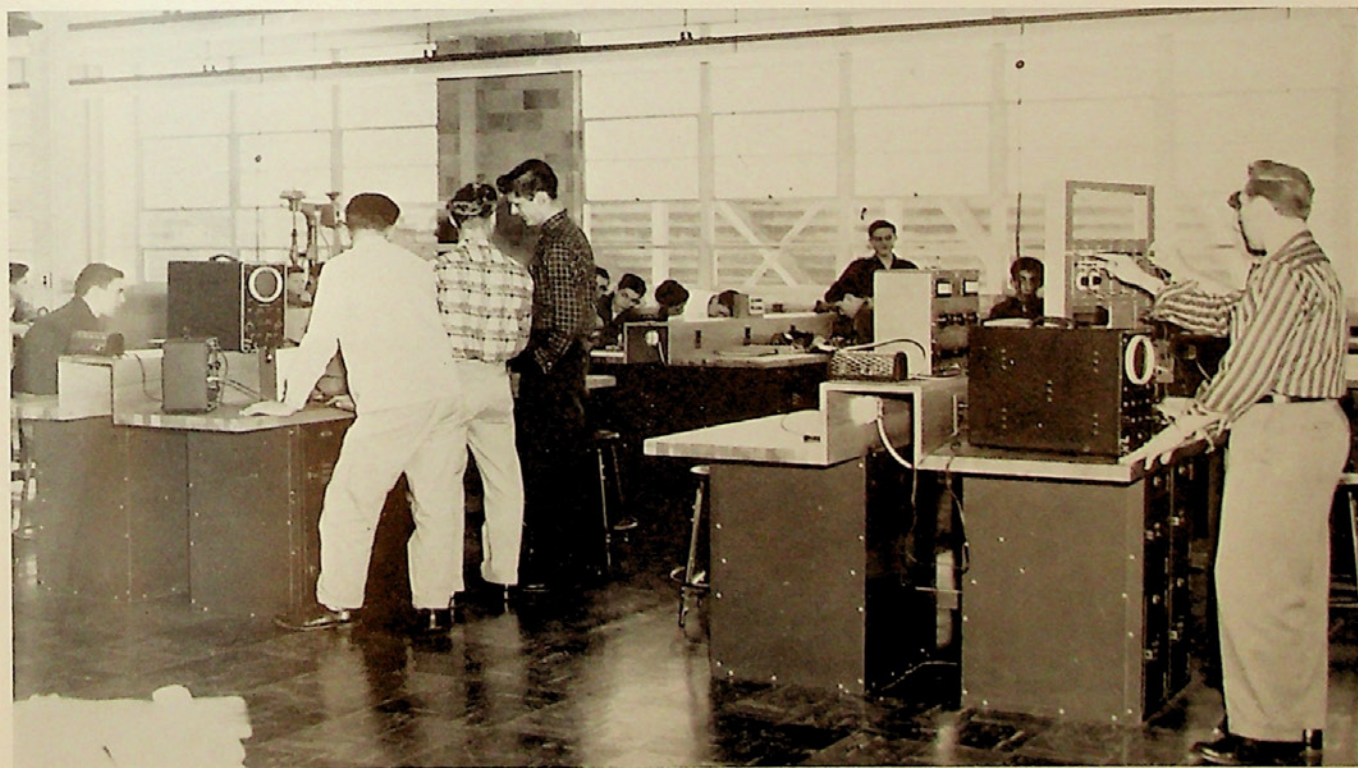

Communication as we know it today cannot be isolated. Adverse weather conditions no longer control this vital aspect of human living. The flip of a switch and a man's voice travels thousands of miles.

Our instructor, Mr. Hartmen, possesses the ability to make students concentrate on what he is saying. His ability to teach a subject of such great complexity has won him the admiration and respect of many students.

In the sophomore year the student studies radio theory. He also studies formulas and equations which he must know.

During the junior year the student studies the electron tube and its characteristics. Later in the year, when the student feels he has mastered this, he proceeds to study the different parts of a radio, such as amplifiers and power supplies.

During the senior year, the student studies the receiver as a whole. He also studies servicing procedures. This process of taking a useless radio and making it work.

AUTO BODY SHOP

Auto body work which is taught by Mr. Vallone provides a great future for the students much like the automotive repair shop.

Each and every day there are hundreds of accidents and if it wasn't for the body shops these cars would be junked and the owners would have to spend thousands of dollars to replace them.

In the sophomore year, Mr. Vallone assists the students in theory work in which they learn all about tools and how to use them properly. They have to learn all about this in a half a year because they have to make an informed selection in their junior year when they will stay permanently in their shop.

Each student is then assigned to some junior or senior who instructs him in doing his job. The sophomores are taught how to sand, straighten frames, align panels, and how to bang dents out properly.

The juniors are required to know more, and they don't need so much assistance from the seniors and the instructor as the sophomores do. They have to know how to lead in hollows which cannot be banged out. And they have to know about torch work such as: welding, soldering, leading, and sprinkling.

In the senior year the student has a vast knowledge of auto body work. They know how to spray cars entirely and how to straighten out badly smashed ones without hardly any assistance from the instructor.

Around the second semester they are allowed to go out on jobs, if their class work warrants it.

The auto body shop also has vast fields slowly being improved and soon will be used extensively. One of them is the use of fiber glass in making the bodies of cars. This product is not fully improved yet so it is just in an experimental stage.

The body shop has wide possibilities in which Mr. Vallone is doing a fine job of instructing the students.

BUILDING TRADES SHOP

The Building Trades course consists of different trades which have to do with construction.

These trades are: bricklaying, carpentry, plumbing, electricity, painting, plastering, and heating.

In this shop we learn all of the above trades.

The carpentry course gives us an opportunity to learn how to put up roofs, such as, the hip roof, gable roof, and the shed roof. They are also learning to do all the carpentry necessary in building a house.

In the electrical course the boys put outlets in a sample house which they have built themselves in shop, and also they put in electrical wiring throughout the house.

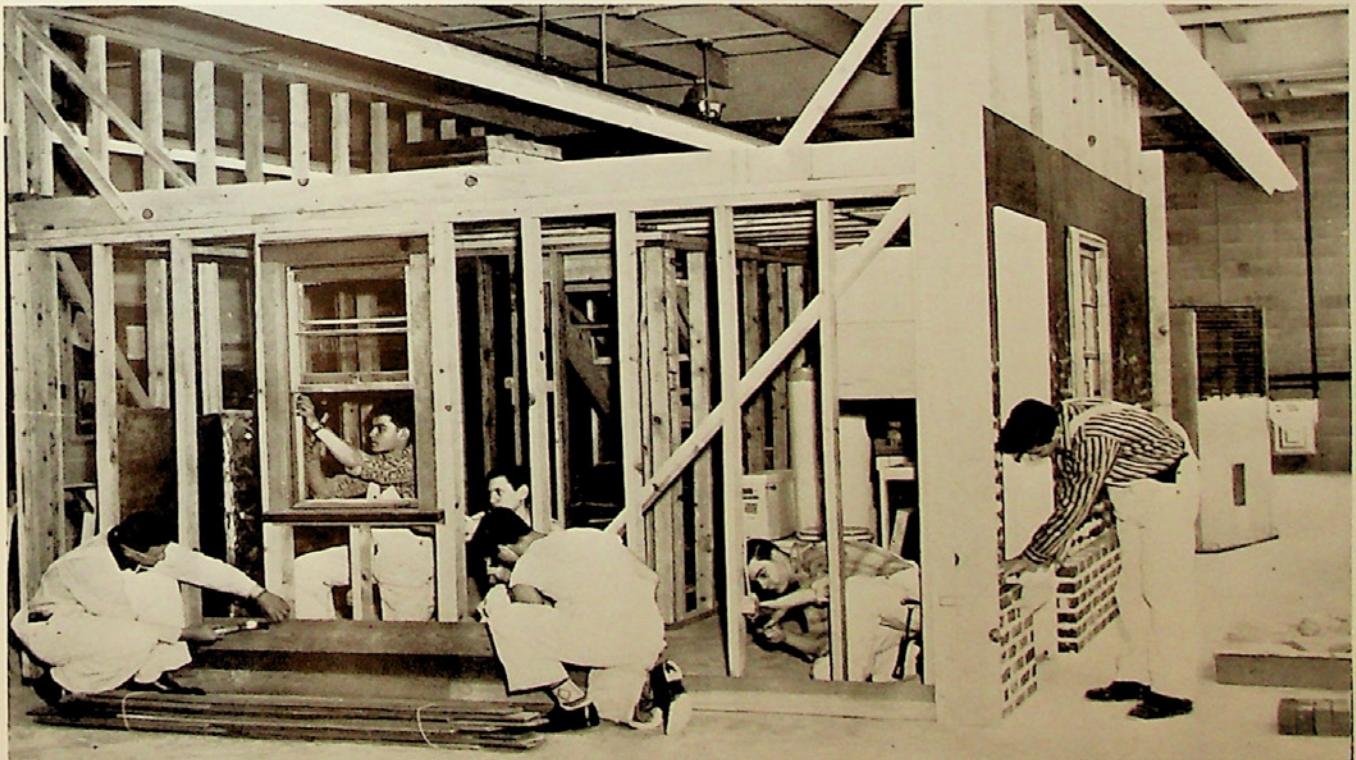

Mr. Earl Snyder, the shop instructor does a fine job teaching the boys the fundamentals of the shop courses. Previously, Mr. Snyder was an instructor at Phoenixville Vocational High School, and just started teaching at our new school this year.

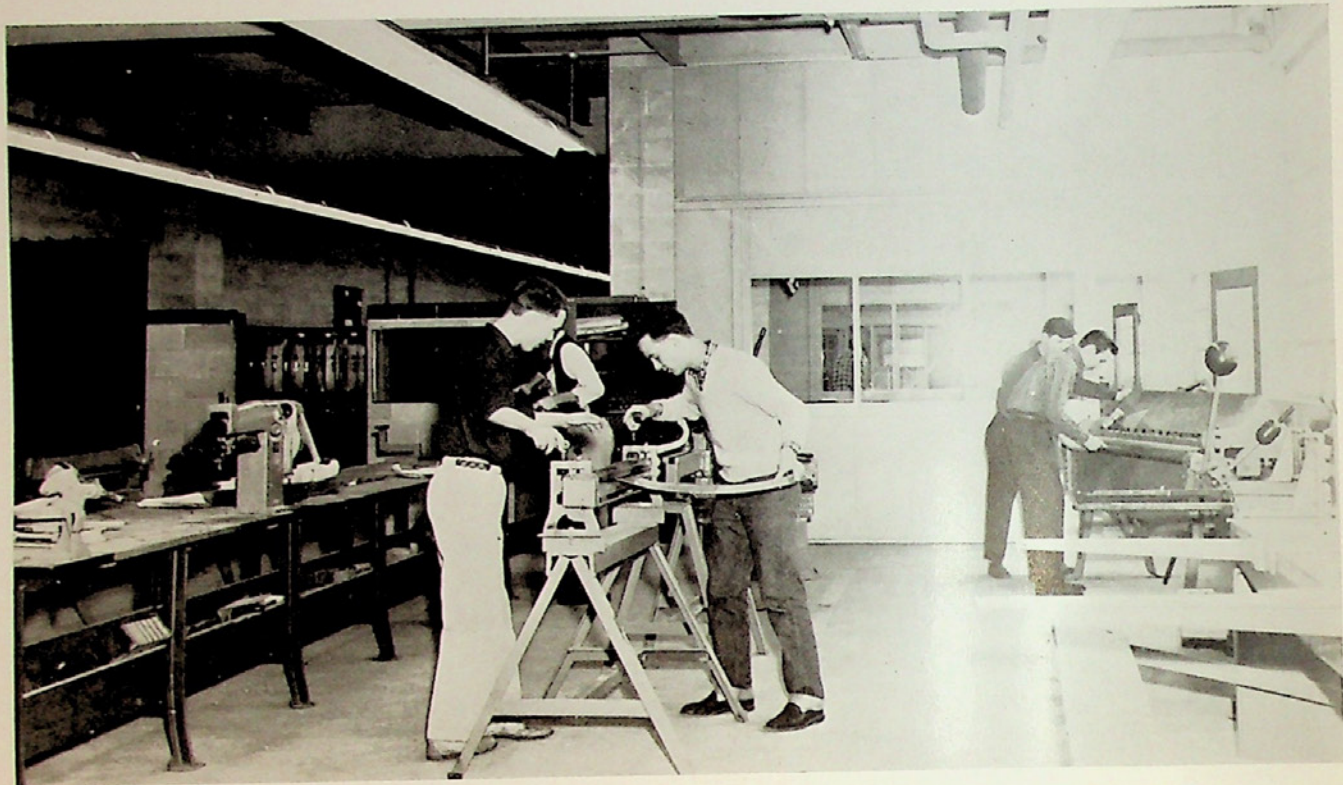

Building Trades is a new course that started this year, in the new Vocational Building. It is a wonderful trade to get into if you want to build your own home.

It provides a good future in many ways, because there is always a job for a good carpenter, bricklayer, or electrician. Of course these are all jobs that pay well.

Even though some of the boys may not take a job at one of the many trades which he has learned, it certainly will be helpful in years to come. Anyone who wants to build his own home, can't go wrong in taking this course which the Vocational Department offers.

If a boy is willing to learn he can make a good tradesman of himself and will have no trouble in securing a good position.

GENERAL METAL WORKING

This year for the first time the Vocational Department has introduced a new shop called, "General Metal Working." Included in this shop is a phase of fabrication for shop students and the related shop drafting students. General metal working is the working with all kinds of sheet metal. Every student in the shop works with the different types of equipment and tools necessary to complete a job. They also learn how to break a job down to easy step-by-step instruction. Before the student does any actual work, he must learn the fundamentals of metal working such as, soldering and riveting. He must also learn how to operate the different machines which are used to bend the metal into different shapes and put different designs on whatever he may be doing. The fabrication department of this shop is the art of assembling beams, columns, trusses, etc. Fabrication also teaches students to read and understand blueprints. They also teach spot welding which is used to hold the fittings in place and hold them securely when shipped out into the field. In the shop burning and template making are also taught. Fabrication is given to all the drafting students because in their shop they detail the beams, columns, and trusses and in related shop they fabricate them. Upon graduation there is always a good placement in industry for the better student.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Under the able guidance of head coach, Don Schneider, the Hurricane turfsters battled through a rough ten game schedule emerging with a season's record of five wins, two losses, and three heart-breaking ties. Bethlehem started the season off with a bang by beating Eastern High of Washington 30-19. The score conceals the fact that the red and blue had a substantial lead and the visitors used the waning minutes of the last quarter to make a battle out of the contest. The next two encounters saw the Hurricanes blowing the wind out of the sails of Philadelphia Southern and Chester to the tune of 44-6 and 35-7 respectively. Milton Hershey, the next foe reached into its bag of tricks and brought out a suprising 14-7 victory over the local forces. Bethlehem still shocked by the Milton Hershey defeat was tied by Reading 13-13. This was the first of the ties for the local eleven. The following week Easton delivered a 20-7 setback to a Bethlehem team plagued by injuries. DeWitt Clinton of New York fell prey to an angry Bethlehem eleven which pasted the boys from New York 35-12.

The local team was caught from behind and tied in its next two games. Bethlehem almost doubled the total yardage against the Scarlet and Gray of Phillipsburg but, the game ended in a 6-6 deadlock. A spirited underdog coal region eleven from West Scranton had to use a touchdown in the last ten seconds of the game to tie the Red and Blue 20-20.

At this point the record stood at 4-2-3 with only the traditional Thanksgiving Day contest against Allentown remaining. On that brisk Thursday afternoon the Hurricane came out of the locker room an underdog to a powerful Allentown football machine which had smashed its way to a brilliant 9-1 record, however, following the contest the Red and Blue charged back to the locker room a 20-7 victor. The fury of the Hurricane had the Canaries gasping for breath. Our team simply out played, out fought, and out maneuvered the opposition in every department of football.

Dave Kresge, a senior tackle, received an honorable mention on the All State team. Andy Mihalow, Bob Eckenrode, Ray Latzo, and Bill Chaikowsky led the backfield for B.H.S. Other seniors who gave their extra punch through the year were Gene Szabo, Fred Gerlach, Jim Fadule, Gene Buckno, Bob Sabota, Jim Frickert, and Fred (Mountain) Middleton.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

Coach Joe Preletz once more led his Jay Vee Football cohorts through a successful football campaign. In fact, it would have been an undefeated season if the junior hurricane could have swept past Allentown in the second game of the grueling schedule. However, the Canaries pinned a one touchdown defeat on the Red & Blue gladiators 13-6, but this defeat was atoned for later in the season, in the Bethlehem High School Stadium, when the junior varsity squad reversed the tables by toppling Allentown 7-6.

The season got under way with an initial defeat of Easton 13-0. This was followed by the loss to Allentown 6-13. But from here on in the future varsity performers really started to roll. Central Catholic went down to defeat, humbled by a 24-14 score, Northampton was crushed 40-0. Phillipsburg was mauled 31-6. In a return engagement the hard-hitting hurricane hammered Easton again, this time 19-0. And in the final contest of the season the Red & Blue set the record right by vanquishing Allentown 7-6.

Boys who played an outstanding role in the success of Joe Preletz's combine were the following: Mervine, Lutseo, Hoydu, DeLeon, Elek, Hittinger, Doster, Cook and Knupp.

VARSITY WRESTLING

The Bethlehem High Grapplers under the able supervision of Mr. James Harkins, terminated their East Penn Scholastic Wrestling League season with a record of eight wins and four losses. The team met defeat at the hands of Easton and Northampton once, and Allentown twice. The graduating matmen are Ricky Cabrera, Gary Fisher, Hank Hitner, Jack Jacobs, Wayne Klein, Gene Medei, Greg Ruth, and Richard Simmers.

The returning lettermen are Stan Carreras, Dave Grubbs, Wayne Hollinger, Bart Mosser, Ed Nickles, Bill Rinker, Butch Walker, Bill Werst, and their manager John Schultheis.

Greg Ruth, captain of the team, was highest scorer with seven pins out of ten matches that gave him a total of forty-four points. Greg undefeated for two years in duel meets was the recipient of the William Sheridan trophy. Liberty had two champions. Carreras and Ruth, in the District 11 meet held at Allentown this year, in which Bethlehem placed second. Success crowned the efforts of Greg also in the PIAA Northeastern Regionals where once again he emerged as the champion in his class.

Liberty's superb 147 pounder wound up his stellar career by capturing the runner-up title in the State PIAA Wrestling Finals held at Penn State.

MAJORETTES AND CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders are peppy, attractive girls who put in many extra hours planning routines and cheers to encourage our teams to victory and to add sparkle to the football and basketball games. As a new feature this year tumbling was added as an integral part of most of the cheers.

The advisor, Miss Elizabeth Shimer, encourages the cheerleaders to plan their own routines and their own activities. The girls devise all new material for cheers, stunts for pep meetings, and unusual features for many games. This year they designed and sewed new costumes for the basketball games. During football season the co-captains were Marion Barber and Norma Dias. For the basketball season Alice Shields and Astrid Rorhus shared the co-captaincy. Pat Cassano was the secretary for the year and also helped arrange transportation of the girls to games played away from school.

The girls also have to keep up their marks to a C average in order to be permitted to cheer.

As an experiment this year a squad of JV cheerleaders was formed of senior and junior girls. They cheered at home JV games and at girls' basketball contests. They were captained by Sandra Cowell

The fifteen majorettes, under the advisorship of Miss Shimer, can be found practicing with the band two mornings a week during the football and basketball seasons.

Poise, ability to march and height are assets to anyone trying out for the majorette squad. These girls under the leadership of head majorette Debbie Herold perform at all the major football and basketball games.

VARSITY

BASKETBALL

The Bethlehem High court proteges of Coach Johnny Howard racked up one of the best records in recent years, on the hardwood, winning fifteen contests and dropping five. The seasonal record was good enough for second place in the tough Eastern Pennsylvania Basketball League in which Allentown once more emerged as the champion. The great star of 1956, Gary Piff, had graduated along with three other first team performers leaving Coach Howard with a dismal approach to the 1956-1957 season. With Billy Packer a holdover from the starting five of last year and Ross Culligan a part time performer he knitted together a very interesting club, which fell just short of winning league laurels.

Allentown maintained its wizardry over the Red & Blue, downing them twice 66-55 and 60-54.

In addition to the Allentown losses the Red Hurricane also ran out of steam against Palmerton, Chester and Pottsville. Although later on in the season the Palmerton and Pottsville defeats were avenged in return engagements in which the Howard-men were triumphant.

The future looks bright in basketball since there will be five lettermen holdovers from which to mold the 1957-58 aggregation. This group will be headed by Billy Packer who will be supported by Al Senavitis, Dave Sellers, Jim Leslie and Ron Bayak. Of course the fine services of graduating seniors will be sorely missed. Those graduating are Ross Culligan, Don Wilson, Fred Donatelli, and Dave Jay.

In scoring Packer led the way with a point total of 318 based on 120 field goals and 78 foul shots, for an average of 15.9 a game. Next in line came Al Senavitis with 311 points, followed by Dave Sellers and Jim Leslie with 224 and 137 respectively.

Johnny Fuhr veteran J.V. coach carried his charges through a strenuous campaign of nineteen games winning ten of them and dropping nine.

SOCCKER

FRED DONATELLI

Bethlehem High's soccer team excelled this year, kicking its way to an Eastern Regional PIAA State Championship.

To gain this honor they battled their way through a rugged ten game TriCounty League schedule, completing it with a nine win and one loss record, good enough for first place. Their only setback was suffered at the hands of North Penn who finished in second place.

In non-league competition, Bethlehem lost a heartbreaker to Reading 2-1, and tied the TriCounty All-Stars 1-1. Injuries plagued Bethlehem during this phase of the season. Jim Welsh, halfback, suffered a broken ankle during a practice session while Doug Baillie starting left halfback, broke his leg during regular league play.

As a result of their fine league showing, Bethlehem played Kennett Square in the first round of state playoff competition. The Martz men gave Kennett Square a thorough drubbing, racking up a final score of 5-1. Greg Ruth, Fred Donatelli, John Koroyanis, and Howie Whitcomb provided the scoring punch. Lower Merion was the next inter district opponent in Bethlehem's march to the championship. Donatelli again led the way, scoring two goals as the red and blue booters dumped the maroon and white District 1 challengers 2-1.

Second-period goals by Greg Ruth and Earl Christman enabled the Martz men to nip James Buchanan of Mercersburg, 2-1, and to garner the first Eastern PIAA Regional State Soccer Championship in Bethlehem High's 34 seasons of play.

However, one out of three looks a lot better than one out of thirty-four. Bethlehem's forces have only been in a position to enter the playoffs three times, since they have only been a league member for that length of time.

The team finished the year with a 12-2-1 record, including the championship game.

Sophomore John Koroyanis and senior Fred Donatelli combined to score 41 of Bethlehem High School's record 58 soccer goals. Koroyanis, who lettered his freshman year, set two scoring records. He tallied 23 times to break the 1954 record of "Skip" Rodenbach, and also notched 7 goals in one game to break the record held previously by Mike Kush.

Donatelli, who captained the squad this season, was second in scoring with 18 goals. Greg Ruth was number three man with 11 goals. Shelly Chamberlain, Danny Groff, Dave Grubbs, and Frank McCarthy contributed outstandingly throughout the year.

The season gave Martz a won-lost-tied record of 55-16-11 for his nine year tenure as Bethlehem soccer coach. Since Bethlehem's entrance into TriCounty League play in 1954, Martz has won two of three circuit titles.

BASEBALL

The 1956 edition of the baseball team campaigning in the East-Penn Inter-scholastic Baseball League posted a .500 record; winning six games and dropping the same number of contests during the course of the season. For Coach John Howard it was a case of rebuilding following the loss, through graduation, of veteran performers.

In the victory column the Red and Blue batsmen pounded Bethlehem Catholic High into submission twice by scores of 5-2 and 9-2. They also took Reading into camp by the shutout route 7-0; laced Central Catholic in twin engagements 13-0, and 10-1 and topped Easton 5-4.

On the debit side it was old rival Allentown which served up a bitter potion for Bethlehem followers to swallow, when they squeaked past Bethlehem 1-0 in the first encounter but they really laid it on in the second engagement by a score 15-7. Then came Reading with a 6-4 win, followed by Easton with a 10-1 victory; and finally two setbacks at the hands of Phillipsburg 7-1 and 4-2.

If Coach John Howard can come up with a few good pitchers the 1957 team might be able to go all the way since he has the nucleus of a good infield in returning letter men Packer, Lake, Donatelli and Groff. He also has Fertal a mound mainstay from last year's squad. However, he lost most of his heaviest hitters by graduation when Pinter, Piff, Seaman, and Mika received their diplomas.

GIRLS VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Bethlehem High Lassies ended their East Penn League competition with a fine record of eight wins and two losses. The only team that remained an immovable object for the Red and Blue was Bechahi.

Responsible for this fine record is the excellent tutelage they received from their able and genial coach, Mrs. Elsie Weston.

Carol Heffelfinger terminated her three years of varsity competition with a total of 387 points, 189 of which were scored this year, which placed her in the position of high scorer. Judy Clay and Amelia Sniscak were second and third with 175 and 164 points respectively. The girls graduating this year besides those mentioned above are Ruth Teal who performed in a superb manner at guard; Mary Brogan, the first guard replacement; Sandra Cowell, top forward replacement, and Margie Santos, Senior Manager.

Returning lettermen who will form the nucleus of next years varsity are the two veteran guard performers Molly Erisman and Mary Kirka.

GIRLS INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

One week prior to the actual game competition, the girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Elsie Weston, are taught the fundamentals of basketball. During this period they contemplate their desired position — guard or forward.

The teams are chosen so each team is evenly balanced. The captains are girls picked because of their previous varsity experience. This year there were nine teams, with twelve girls on each. For six weeks there were three games being played almost daily in the old gym.

With all this spirited competition, the Oldsmobiles, captained by Molly Erisman, pulled thru to the championship.

INTRAMURAL HOCKEY AND SOCCER

This year, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Weston, a new system of playing hockey and soccer was instituted. The two sports were combined with the idea that the field available would determine the sport to be played that afternoon. By this method all the girls would have a chance to play on alternating teams.

These girls, impervious to the weather, swung their hockey sticks with vehemence and collided with the ball most of the time to their own amazement and the delight of their teammates. The advent of soccer season brought together muscle and brawn. Exponents of kick "em" high, and kick "em" low, with a kick in the shins usually thrown in for good measure had a happy time. Fortunately the season came to a successful and happy end with only a few bruises and no serious casualties.

Those who remained unscathed, able, and willing were chosen for an All-Star Team which consisted of the following:

LW	LO	CF	RO	RW	LHB
Joanne Stofko	Kathy Bier	Margie Santos	Christine Huk	Judy Clay	Leona Moser
CHB	RHB	FB	FB	Goal
Ruby Hatcher	Yvonne Bickert	Jackie Werkman	Rita Stuber	Charlotte Horvath

GIRLS INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball has developed into one of the most popular sports in which girls participate. This year approximately sixty girls turned out to test their prowess in batting the leather spheroid across the net. The whole program is conducted on an informal basis under the supervision of physical education teacher Mrs. Elsie Weston. There is no set pattern of league play, championships or competition of that nature. Each night the girls report, sides are chosen and several fifteen minute games are played.

The game is a carry over of the junior high school intramural sports program and provides an outlet for using up excessive energy between the basketball season and the Spring outdoor sports program.

THE GIRLS SWIMMING CLUB

The highlight of the year for the 30 girls who compose the Mermaid Club is the Aquacade. The theme for this year was Reflections with recorded music providing a background. The aquacade consists of routines worked out by the girls themselves. With the aid of their advisor Miss McIntyre they exhibit an excellent performance of grace, rhythm, timing and beauty. An annual feature of the aquacade are the races between the seniors, juniors, and sophomores with the girls presenting their speed ability the first night. The boys races are the following night. The winning team is presented a Little Brown Jug with their names inscribed on it.

BOYS SWIMMING CLUB

The boys' swimming club consisted of 27 students. Two-thirds of this group were sophomores. Kit Illick, Bill Ruth, Mike Sabo, John Gregoris, and Dave Greth were returnees. Illick was participating for the 4th year.

The club is held three nights a week to train and develop better and faster swimmers. It does not have any dual-meet competition, but enters the District XI Championships every year. This is the 6th year for B.H.S. On February 21, 1957, we competed against Allentown and Hazleton and placed 3rd. Illick, our number one man was ill and unable to compete. Lou Benzak placed 3rd in the 50 yd. free style for our best effort. We garnered only 12 points, losing 5 more on a relay disqualification for an illegal start. Two hopefuls for next year will be Tom Clements in the back-stroke and Bob Knies in the distance events. Clements is a sophomore and Knies, a Northeast freshman. Both placed 4th and 5th respectively in the swimming events. The Club is supervised by Mr. Ted Martz.

Some boys will perform in the annual aquacade in April: in such events as the clown act, diving, and the spirited inter-class relays.

TRACK

Track and Field, the oldest and one of the most honored of all sports, did not enjoy a prosperous year in 1956. True, there were some outstanding individual performers such as Doug Baillie in the mile, who shattered the school record in this event with a 4:31 performance in the P.I.A.A. Finals at Penn State. This mark is three seconds better than the official school record of 4:34. There also was Bill Pulley, who put the twelve pound shot 52' 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ " to enshrine himself in the school record book with a new mark in this event. But in the main the team lacked balance and so on the seasonal record it was not impressive winning only two meets against Whitehall and Emmaus and suffering losses to Easton, Pottsville, Northampton, Allentown and Reading.

The Relay Team of White, Heni, Jacoby and Baillie placed eighth in the Penn Relays and the only first place winner in the District XI P.I.A.A. meet was Doug Baillie in the mile run.

The 1957 road looks like a tough one for Coach John "Snooky" Hudak to traverse since he has only two returning letter men to count on. Fred Middleton in the shot put and Doug Ballie in the mile and 880 run. However, some promising returnees loom in the persons of Dave Sellers and Andy Mihalow, both hurdlers and sprinters.

TENNIS

Coach Frank Kernan after looking over his candidates in a round robin elimination tournament selected eight boys to carry the red and blue colors, on the clay courts, in quest of a league championship in 1956. With few lettermen returning from the 1955 team his task of moulding a winning combination was extremely difficult. He operated with great success, however, guiding his racquet wielders to six victories, one loss and one tie in league play, while dropping two exhibition games to a powerful Wyomissing aggregation. The league record was good enough for a second place; Easton High School emerging as the champion.

In the State P.I.A.A., finale a doubles team of Illick and Latshaw went as far as the semi-finals before being eliminated by the Abington High entry 6-3, 6-4.

Prospects for 1957 appear very bright since the three top seeded players and letter winners in 1956 Illick, Don Latshaw and Howard Whitcomb are returning for another campaign.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

(VOCATIONAL)

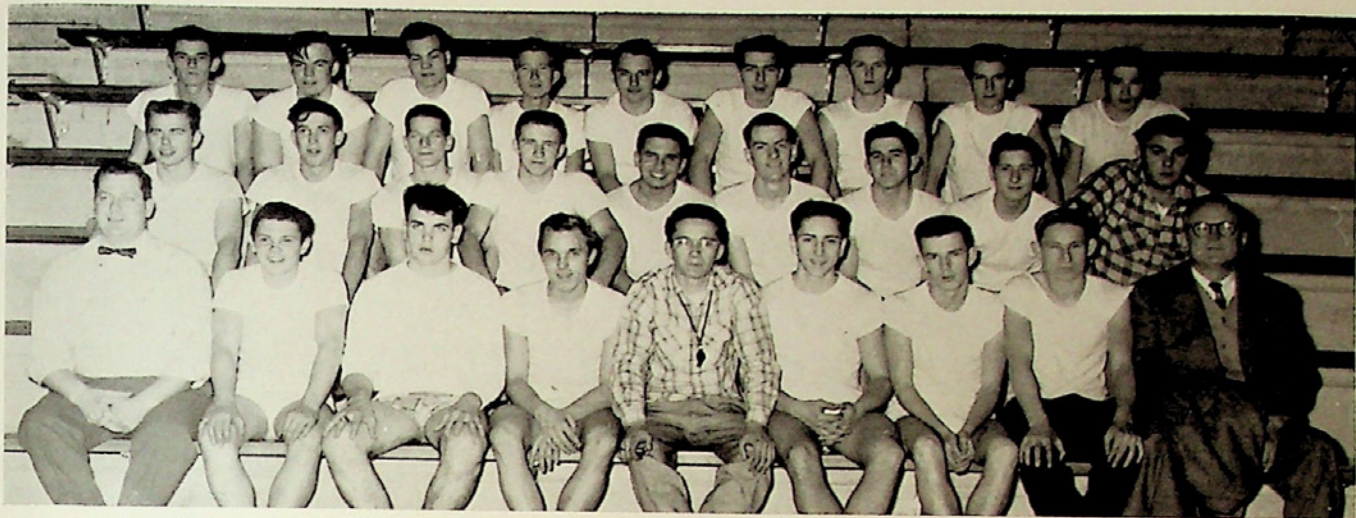

The most exciting and best liked sport engaged in by the boys of the vocational department is the intramural basketball program. This athletic activity had its inception prior to World War II and it has generated a great deal of enthusiasm with each passing year. A shop league is formed and a regular schedule is run off. At the completion of league play the four top teams are selected to compete in a Shaughnessy playoff. The playoff champion is then rewarded by being given a beautiful trophy, which has been purchased through the donations of the vocational students; and which is symbolic of basketball supremacy.

The four top teams this year were Automobile Mechanics, Drafting, Electric and Machine Shop. The finalists to emerge from the playoffs were Machine Shop and Automobile Mechanics. In the championship game the tall Machine Shop hoopsters were too much for the fast aggressive Auto-repairmen and defeated them in a well-played game 64-57 and with this victory won the coveted basketball trophy. In addition to team recognition the most valuable individual player is also the recipient of a trophy. This year the award was won by Jimmy Atkinson star guard for the Auto Shop quintet.

Below is the box score for the final game followed by the league standings.

FEATURES

Listen to all the children's voices. The next room must be the pediatrician's office. And there is Sue Anne Beidelman assisted by Gloria Banfy, Rosemarie Slabikosky, Patricia Skalics, Shirley Ronca, and Amelia Sniscak.

It's getting late and I want to see some more of the city so I guess I'll be moving on. But wait— What is that room at the end of the hall — the veterinarian's office. This is a complete hospital.

There surrounded by dogs and cats are Carter Ruth and Edward Ost. That certainly must be interesting work; I'd like to stay and talk, but I must be moving on.

I wonder why all those servicemen are standing along Pennsylvania Avenue. There, representing the Air Force are Stephen Schiffer, Kenneth Anthony, Walter Knouse, Louis Sabler, Larry Raub, James Frickert, Andrew Zacher, David Fehnel, William Bradford, Jay Moyer, Joseph Venanzi, Allen Young, Fred Middleton, and David Jay. Next dressed in Navy Blue are Herman Kresh, Paul Borst, Ronald Danyi, Dick Simmers, David Mulcahy, Monroe Bowles, Ray Latzo, Ronald Sewald, Eugene Sabler, and William Burkhardt. And there are Roberta Ackerman, Faithanne Stetz, Linda Hofstetter, and Kathleen Reick who are representing the women's division of the Navy.

Across the street I see Dave Welty, John Hrivnak, and Robert Stull, all shiny in their Army uniforms, and standing beside them is Lorraine Mench, the only member of the Women's Army Corps whose face is familiar. The Marines are being represented by Donald Shiner, Roger Rader, and Roger Kozemchak and last but not least there are Kenneth Moyer, George Drumbor, Samuel Kelly, and Ronald Narzisi, who are representing the Coast Guard.

Now I see why these servicemen are here. The President is welcoming an official visitor from South America. Here they come now, and accompanying them as an interpreter is Maria Parra. And look, there is that famous reporter, Patricia Vargo, covering the story.

Well, I certainly was fortunate in seeing that big welcome celebration . . . This is certainly a quaint little street. I wonder what that building over there is. I think I'll look in the window and see . . . Why it must be a music conservatory. There are Faith Strong, Maryrose Seruga, and Stephanie Hombis conducting voice lessons. In the next room Jackie Sterner is teaching a pupil an intricate dance step. Janet Diehl and Dorothy Gasdaska are practicing a piano duet while Luccille Scanzello, Molly Cutler, and Paul Stephen are conducting instrumental lessons. Hum-m-m very interesting.

I must be back on the main street of town. Look at that beauty shop, it's filled to overflowing. One of the women is wearing a button. Hum-m-m "Elementary Teachers Convention." It seems as if all the teachers have come between sessions to get their hair fixed. Working to make these teachers as pretty as possible are Adrienne Meyers, Linda Smith, Barbara Skerlak, and Darlene Shook. Occupying the chairs now are Joyce Sterlein, Ernestine Duran, Barbara Morgan, and Mary Jane Wolfe. The others waiting inside the shop are Shirley Mangold, Regina Gallucci, Phyllis Strohl, Phyllis Lehman, and Sally Subjin.

Here come some more teachers who look as if they have just been shopping. Among them are Nancy Helms, Aletha Riegel, Kay Scheetz, Sandra Smith, and Sandra Scheidel.

Look! Over there is the airport and a big plane seems to be about to take off. The pilot, walking toward the ship, is Donald Evanstruch, and accompanying him are Carolyn Lehr, Constance Meyers, and Pat Cassano, who are dressed in the airline stewardesses' uniforms.

Look at the distinguished guests who are about to board the ship. There are Nancy Warren and Arlene Beers. The roster of travelers states that they are missionary nurses. And there is Richard Haber, who is a well known jeweler, speaking with Theodore Beal, Daniel Groff, Andrew Kudlak, and Eleanor Bulanda, who are all connected with police work. There are Paul Sterner, David Fahs, and Douglas Hassler, who were delegates to the agriculture convention, conversing with Dave Peterson and Lee Coates, who have both entered the field of Forestry. James Zoks, that famous basketball player, is surrounded by a group of admiring stewardesses, among them Judith Uhrig, and Yvonne Kavas. There is Norma Dias, that famous physiologist conversing with Raymond Grant, a well-known geologist.

Hm-m-m this looks like Washington's biggest movie theatre. I wonder what's playing: Romance on Mars, starring Susan Maclay, Elsie Cziffer, and John Steyers. The fashion designers were Sandra Beck, Sandra Hendricks, Elizabeth Forte, and Sandra Kelly. Joseph Slapinsky was responsible for technology. Very interesting.

What does that sign on the next building say: "Quiet Artists at Work." I wonder if I know any of these artists. Yes, there are Georgia Lewis, Joan Getz, Thomas Burkhardt, Andrew Zacher, Clifford Lynn, and Richard Musselman. And modeling for them are Eleanor Callan, and Jean Wykosky.

This must be the court house. And here comes those famous lawyers Mark Refowich, Kit Illick, and Palmer Smith discussing a case.

Goodness. I feel like I have walked a million miles. Hey . . . stop that . . . what — t are you doing? Stop shaking me! Oh! I must have fallen asleep. Well, I may not pass my American Heritage exam with flying colors, but I had an insight of where my classmates will be in 20 years.

Academic Last Will and Testament

This "Last Will and Testament," which shall have been put into effect on the eleventh day of June in the 1957th year of our Lord, is the last and final document containing the wishes and desires of the class of 1957. It is as follows:

To Barbara Jones goes the terrific singing of Stephanie Hombis, who has thrilled everyone of us in all of the many musical programs.

The majorettes will their high-stepping ability and sore-muscles to all future girls who will fill their boots.

The early morning rehearsals of the band, especially those held on Friday mornings, before the football games, when neither rain, snow, nor sleet kept the enthusiastic members from marching on the field, are left to all the future musicians who will be playing in the band.

Carole Heffelfinger wills her daily pack of Keebler's Krispy crackers to Mary Kirka, in hopes that Mary will enjoy them as much as she has.

The seniors, known as the future engineers of Mr. Whytok's senior solid and trig classes, bequeath all of his jokes and other humorous antics to all of the juniors who will become next years future engineers. (Some advice, brave souls, don't try to use a slide rule, to build the Holland Tunnel, take ham sandwiches to banquets, or ask why ducks don't wear boots.)

Billy Packer shall be the lucky recipient of the wonderful personality and great leadership of our class president, Dave Polefka. We know Billy will do as great a job for the class of 1958 as Dave has done for the class of 1957.

All the senior members of this year's soccer team will their good fortune of winners, the title of state champions to the underclass team mates and all of the future soccer team players.

Ronnie Zelko, Mary Ann White, and Jimmy Welsh will their ability to get into trouble with the faculty, to any juniors who are willing to accept their problems.

The senior cheerleaders, Norma Dias, Austie Rohrus, Alice Shields, Pat Cassano, and Marion Barber will their new uniforms to the future cheerleaders of the next fifteen or twenty years.

This year's football team would like to will their ability to beat Allentown to next year's team, as well as all the future football teams. Every member of the class of 1957 will be backing you, so let's continue having victories over Allentown.

Ed Gucker wills all the knowledge that he has consumed, during his stay at Liberty High School, to Ralph Mancke. We know you will put it to as much use as Ed has. Best of luck, Ralph.

All the seniors whose homerooms are located on the third floor, as well as the members of Glee Club, and the Cauldron and Liberty Life Staff will their ability to roam the halls, during the fourth period to all the juniors who will be taking their places in the homerooms, etc.

Bart Mosser shall receive the great wrestling ability of Greg Ruth. We hope that you will be able to capture as many titles and victories as Greg has.

All the gossip and other news that every member of the senior class retains shall be passed on to Tony DePetro. We hope that you will have enough to talk about for, at least, the next six months.

All the members of the future girls gym classes shall receive the sore muscles that result from strenuous workouts on gym equipment, and exercises that are followed by five laps around the track.

Every member of the senior class who has ever bought any food in the cafeteria would like to will all of the leftover food to the dogs that are seen wondering through the halls. We hope that the dogs enjoy the food more than we have.

To all worthy and deserving juniors goes the ability of many of the seniors to stay awake a whole night in order to start and complete a whole semesters' notebook, and prepare for a test on the same.

Two certain senior English classes would also like to will their ability to read an eight hundred page book within the twenty four hours before they are required to complete a report on the book to all the juniors who will be taking their places in those classes. Lots of luck! You'll need it.

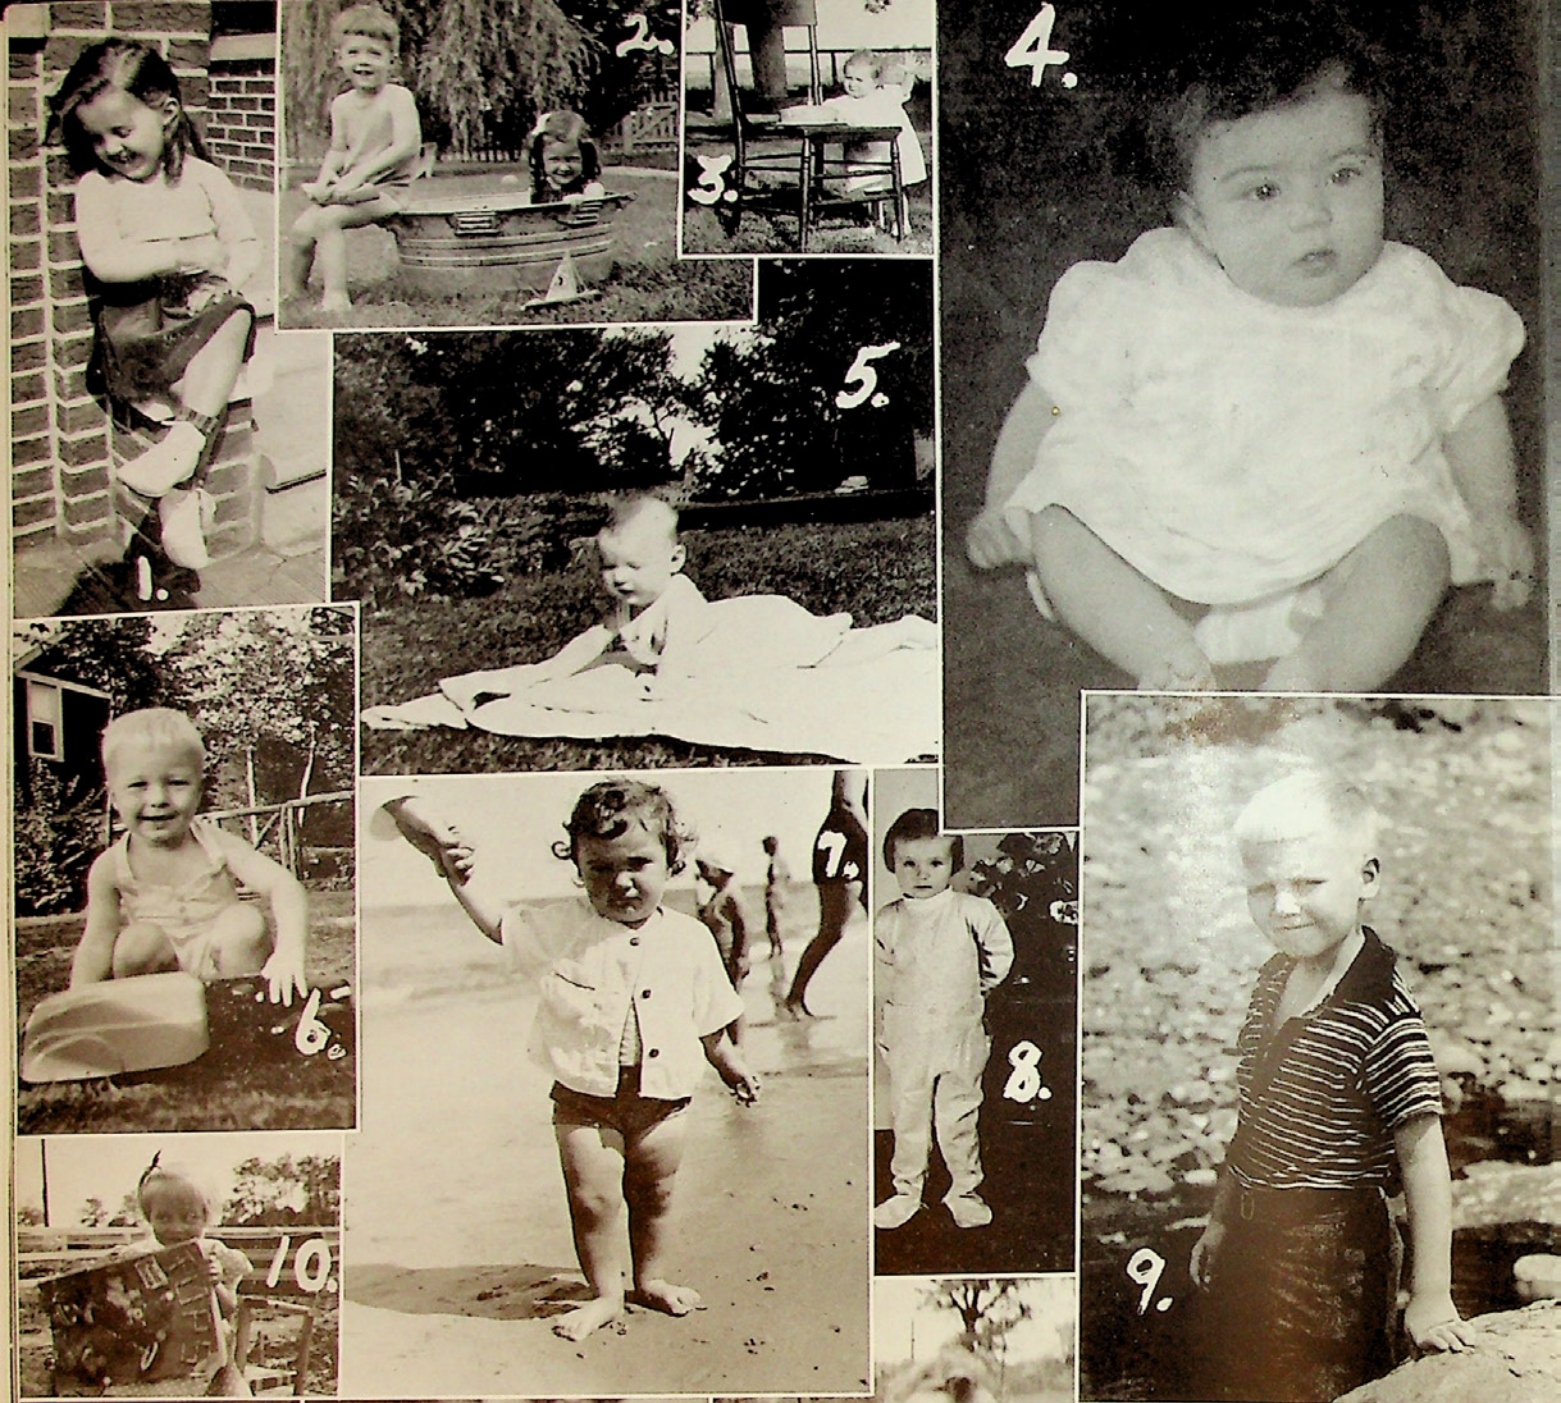

Ruth Teal, author of Teal's Spiels wills her columns to any interested junior on the Liberty Life staff.

All the members of the chemistry classes will the remains of the lab including the broken test tubes, graduates, beakers, etc.— to next year's chem classes, hoping that they will not have as many explosions as we did; thus leaving the lab in a better condition than this year's seniors did.

Last, the entire senior class wills the halls, lavatories, teachers, homework, books, desks, tests, rules, and regulations to all the forth coming senior classes.

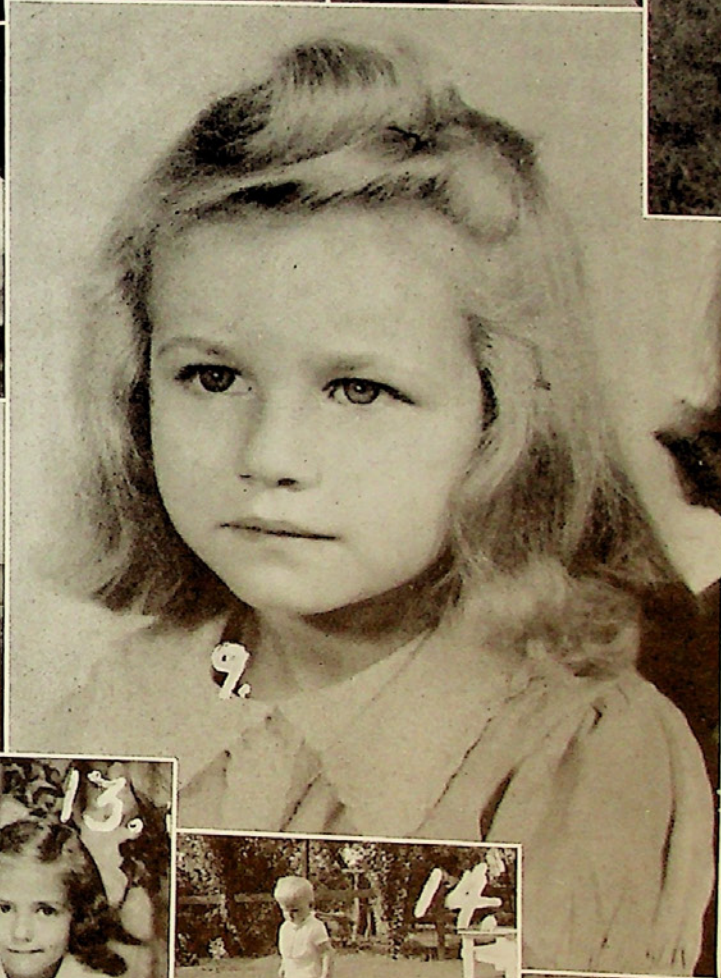

The senior class of 1957, Liberty High School, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, does hereby proclaim the preceeding to be our final say as to what shall be done with our remaining possessions.

TECH CLASS PROPHECY

It is the year 1977 and I, David Owens, as Secretary of State for the United States, have been asked to distribute the Nobel Junior Awards in San Francisco. I was glad to accept, as I hoped to work in a brief vacation during this trip to the coast.

For my trip to California, I decided to fly by airplane. My secretary, Bob Balint, made all the necessary arrangements for the trip. The next day I left on my transcontinental flight on a new super jet designed by Rick Cabrera, the country's greatest designer of airplanes.

The following day I went to the S & S Airlines Office to pick up my ticket. The co-owner's Larry Sell and Ed Sigley were on hand to see me off. Their airline is one of the biggest in the country. The airplane's crew consisted of: Dick Kropf, pilot; Richard Blanchard, radio operator; and Tyrone Paulus, navigator. The crew, after leaving the Air Force, all got a job with the same company.

During the flight to California we stopped in Chicago to take on passengers and freight. One of the new passengers was Rick Adams who told me he was the owner of a chain of printing companies located throughout the middle west.

When we landed in San Francisco, I thought I saw someone I knew. Upon further investigation I recognized Fred Gerlach who was working as a mechanic in the airport's hangar.

From the airport I went directly to a hotel. Larry Gubish who was the driver of the cab, drove me to a hotel that was owned by Todd Sassaman. After checking into the hotel, Todd talked me into going to a basketball game with him. Much to my surprise the West Coast Champs, The Aces, was comprised of Bobby Egan, Dave Kresge, Gene Szabo, Mike Jamicky, and Joe Kanarick. They lost their game with Rhode Island Prep but a good time was had by all.

Of course by now our stomachs were quite empty and hollering for food, so Todd suggested a little place near the hotel. In Willard's Place, run by Willard Shultz, we ate a heavy meal which sent us right to bed after finishing it.

The next morning I was invited to tour the Army Base near San Francisco. The Army sent a car, driven by Gary Fisher, for me. Upon arriving at the camp I was introduced to General James Sastoris. While inspecting the base I was surprised to see Bob Kloo, Elwood Jones, and Mike Matlaga doing K.P. duty. Down the road I noticed Sergeant Joe Tamandl instructing a group of rookies. After my tour we visited the Officer's Club where I met Generals John Galli and Leonard Haas.

In the evening I attended a movie premiere of the latest release from R.K.O. It was a musical story about a singing quartet. The singers were Steve Donchez, Jim Frommer, Doug Hebor, and Bill Weierbach. Their acting was not very good but their singing was vociferous. As the next day was the day the awards were to be given out, I went to bed early.

The first award was the Jim Thorpe Award, in sports, for the best athlete of the year which was presented to Bob Eckenrode who is now playing pro-football for the Los Angeles' Redheads. Among others was the Albert Einstein Award in Mathematics. It was presented to Joe Kerecz for his outstanding discovery that  $2 - 2 = 9$ . The literature award for the best writer went to John Iampietro. Doctor Ken Wedde, was presented with the award in the field of medicine. His discovery? Something to do with athlete's feet. There were many others which included Electronics, none other than Les Schoenberger, received it. Tommy Cope also was awarded in chemistry. There was also a special citation for the best orchestra of the year. You probably have guessed! It went to a group who called themselves the "Hi-Brows." It was conducted by Joe Murphy with Bill Stankus on the drums, Lou Kauffman on the trumpet, and Wayne Weber playing the piano.

In order to return to Washington, D.C., I hired a car chauffeured by Larry Schaller. While driving back we went through South Dakota where I decided to try and find Steve Kleinschuster, who is now a forest ranger in the sparsely populated mountains. After finding Steve, we noticed he had quite a collection of bee stings on his body. It seems that he was looking for something he couldn't find. Could it have been honey, Steve? After leaving Steve in his misery, we traveled eastward to North Dakota where I stopped at a logging camp which was owned by Tom Wandishin.

The next morning we continued our trip eastward to Ohio where we noted a cave alongside the highway. The sign over the entrance read "Check's Roadside Cave." Because we were tired of riding, we stopped to tour the cave. The man who was selling tickets, Mark Toth, informed me that the cave was owned by Richard Check formerly of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. After buying tickets, we went down into the cave. Whom should we meet, Paul Horvath, Vernon Lower, and Paul Stefancin who were all room mates of mine in high school. We had quite a discussion about the good old school days while they were guiding us through the cave. Selling souvenirs was Leonard Panik. Upon leaving the cave I saw a man sweeping the streets. He was none other than Nick Mory (typical American street sweeper.)

In the city of Cincinnati, we stopped for directions. After asking a traffic cop for them I asked him if he had gone to Bethlehem High School since he looked familiar. He told me he did and his name was Jon Yuhas.

Further on, along the road, I saw a man selling pretzels. He turned out to be Bruce Kane. He told me he had his own pretzel factory, but was selling them because his employees under the influence of Terry Silfies were on strike.

After a much needed rest I went back to the capitol to resume my duties as Secretary of State.

TECH'S LAST WILL & TESTAMENT

We, the vocational seniors (?) of the Class of 1957, being of sound mind (we hope), fully authorize the following nonsensical will of the Vocational Senior Class:

To all the up and coming Juniors we leave the remains of our brave, courageous, and bold faculty.

Steve Donchez bequeaths his ability to fix, or should we say unfixed, radios to Adelino Tavaras.

Leslie Schoenberger wills his ability to grow a mustache, beard, and sideburns to Richard Repasch.

Larry Sell, hesitantly, wills his ability to fall asleep in shop to Jay Borst.

Richard Adams and Louis Litkauch bequeath their ability to print counterfeit money to the up and coming juniors in the print shop.

Donna Fluck and Helen Bazeka will their quiet voices to Gloria Lucas.

William Weierbach wills his talent in bending wire to that promising wire-bender Dale Sheerer.

Ruth Goeppert and Connie Lopez bequeath their tardy slips to Barbara Reinhard and Shirley Strohl.

Gerald Schumacker and Leopold Petkavich bequeath their wood-butchering talents to Edward Wagner and David Salmon.

Louis Kauffman wills the curly curls on his forehead to Tony DeLeon.

Tony Parra and Jon Yuhás bequeath their craftsmanship in building flying saucers to Robert Frankenfield and Bernard Medei.

Eleanor Callan and Jean Brown will their chewing gum to Carol Rudolph and Helen Kozo who might get away with it.

Todd Sassaman bequeaths his money saving ability to Richard Price.

Francis Kerchner wills his catty wave to James Manley.

Nancy Weaver and Linda Damandl bequeath the Last Will and Testament to a Junior with a crazy imagination.

Robert Smith bequeaths his bashfulness to Ronald Bayak.

Richard Check wills his talent at playing hooky to Leonard Snellman.

Thomas Wandishin wills his welding helmet to Lucas Schoeneberger.

Leo Petkavich leaves his bent nails (including those still in the boards) to Johnny Kalata.

Wayne Miller wills his job as school electrician to Tony Valente.

Paul Horvath and "Georgie" Lawrence leave their chip boxes to anyone who will empty them.

Robert Egan leaves his extra tardy slips to Angelo Grello.

"Lover-Boy" Padilla wills the promenade east of the Vocational Annex to "Lady-killer" Carreras to stroll with his girl at 2.51.

John Triantafelow leaves his avoirdupois to any six juniors who need it.

Paul Anthony wills his seat in Math class to Roy Abel (may his eyes also be sharp enough to read the answers on Mr. Keim's desk.)

Elwood Jones wills his tremendous muscles to John Deily.

Jon Yuhás wills his "hot-rod" to Joe Stellato.

John Zieger leaves all his broken pencil points to George Weiland.

Joseph Tamandl wills his curly hair to any junior who is having trouble dating a girl for the prom.

William Shanaberger bequeaths his ability to tell "tall" stories to Gregory Hero.

Richard Caberera wills his truly square flat-top hair cut to Wayne Hittinger.

Joseph Slapinski and John Goodman will their bicycles to any junior who wants them.

The Yearbook staff of Tech leaves its pretty typists (P.B. and M.C.) to the staff of '58 (if they can get them).

Melvin Nickum bequeaths the dust in the stockroom to Richard Harobin.

Winnie Klein and James Martin will their incomplete homework to any lucky juniors, who want it.

Joe Kacmar bequeaths his weekly trip to the dispensary to Fred Jones who suffers just as much from too much "schooling."

Fred Gerlach and "Tex" Padilla pass on the delivery route for the daily School bulletin to Henry Kulp and Henry Miller.

Bruce Kelly leaves his blushing and butch hair cut to Jonathan Deputy.

Wayne Pollinger wills his "glamorous" blue eyes to Wayne Hittinger.

"Reds" Eckenrode leaves his "line" (or his way) with the girls, to Mike Tutolo.

Vernon Lower leaves all the deer and bear he missed to any junior who thinks he can do better.

Elwood Jones leaves his galley of "pied type" to Berny Traupman.

Ray Smock wills his seat next to Mr. Beidelman to John Simons who is a very lucky (?) junior.

Robert Kloo leaves his shirt cuffs with the chemistry answers scribbled on them, to any junior who has long arms.

The Yearbook Staff leaves its pains, headaches, miseries, heartaches, toil, sweat, blood, tears, and good times (we really mean it) to our successors, the 1958 Yearbook Staff.

ODE TO THE SENIORS '57'

As we take that fateful step today,
To a future quite unknown,
To the hopes and the goals we've been dreaming about,
And the lives that are now our own.
The wonder how so many years of our lives,
Could have passed so quickly away,
Ne'er to return for just one more chance,
No, we're graduates on this day.
Fond memories are left in our three joyous years,
Of happy days gone evermore.
We've those memories to share as we take that great step,
To open the future's bright door.
The future, we've thought about endlessly here,
In Liberty High School's dear halls,
The future of college days, then on to work,
Of success or perhaps of downfalls.
We've planned and we've worked, we've had happy, gay times,
How happy, yet sad it does seem.
Yes, happy to know that we've made the grade,
And sad, we must leave our bright dream.
The future brings dreams by the hundreds it's true,
But none are so thrilling as these.
Yes, these of our wonderful high schooling years,
There's none like them as anyone sees!
To look back brings a beautiful pang to my heart,
Overflowing with glorious days,
Of gay, carefree fun, we thought not of the time,
We'd all go our own separate ways.
We remember our classes, those ten minute talks,
And the homework we surely did dread,
The rush to get to our classes on time,
When we'd rather be lying in bed!
Those confusion-filled mornings, we'd rush out the door,
With hardly a moment to spare,

Just to find when we got there, the tardy bell'd rung,
And we'd breathe a small sigh of despair.
Our sports were terrific, we all will agree,
Yes, this was a fact made quite clear.
Perhaps we weren't champions in all that we did,
Yes, our losses brought many a tear.
But cleanly we played! every game fair and square,
The way a win should be achieved,
For our losses were wins in the hearts of the fans,
That's a code every student believed!
To relate all events in our three high school years,
Is a challenge one never can meet.
Of dances and parties, of studies and books,
These marvelous times can't be beat!
How we moaned, how we groaned, doing homework galore,
Never realizing may be someday,
We'd give all of the riches we ever possessed,
To spend just one short evening this way.
Yes, High School, its troubles, its sorrows, its woes,
Is more beautiful than any bright thought,
They might use to recapture those memories so
dear,
No, those memories can never be bought.
So it's on to a new world of freedom and strife,
We'll have many problems, it's true.
Let's forget our past failures and troublesome times,
We've a right to begin lives anew!
The future's our own to do with as we please,
With such spirit as ours we can't fail.
No, we've all been proud students of Bethlehem
High School,
And to death, its great praises we'll hail!
