

Many Doctors From Area In Armed Forces

OCT 21 1943

Four thousand of Pennsylvania's 13,000 physicians will have been inducted into the Army and Navy Medical Corps by January 1, 1944, according to the Pennsylvania Historical Commission. The remaining physicians and surgeons must provide medical attention for 9,000,000 Pennsylvanians. The ratio of one doctor for 1000 persons is smaller than the peacetime 704 "margin of safety" but higher than the army's prescribed 1 to 1500.

As far as can be ascertained 34 of Northampton County's physicians and surgeons, members of the County Medical Society, are in the Army and Navy Medical Corps service.

Lehigh County has 72 physicians and surgeons serving in the armed forces, according to the August issue of the Pennsylvania State Medical Journal. That number may have been somewhat increased in the past two months. Dr. Willard C. Masonheimer, of Allentown, is president of the Lehigh Valley Medical Society.
