

Brisner,
Nathaniel J.

Lt. N. J. Brisner
Supplies Air Forces
At Pearl Harbor Base

PEARL HARBOR—Nerve center of the far-flung aviation supply system in the Pacific area is the Naval Aviation Supply Depot here. This important activity, like a super mail order establishment, serves the widespread island bases, aviation supply ships and mighty carriers.

Engaged in vital task of supplying aviation forces now striking at Japan is Lt. Nathaniel J. Brisker, USNR, of Bethlehem, Pa., who has been attached to this activity for 12 months. His duties here involve that of officer-in-charge of aviation ordnance pool.

Lt. Brisker is the son of O. W. Brisker, 538 Seneca Street, Bethlehem. Before joining the Navy in November, 1941, he was employed by Sears Roebuck and Company.

Lt. Brisker has been overseas for 13 months, and prior to his transfer here he was stationed at Naval Air Station, San Diego, Cal.
