Yesterday

For Yesterday is but a Dream,
And Tomorrow is only a Vision;
But Today well lived
Makes every Yesterday a Dream of Happiness.
Salutation of the Dawn
From the Sanscrit.

Today

Happy the man, and happy he alone,
He who can call today his own;
He who, secure within, can say,
Tomorrow, do thy worst, for I have liv'd today.
—from Imitation of Horace.

THE CAULDRON

Volume 10

YEAR 1935

Foreword

THE last three years spent in Liberty High School were and probably will always be the most important years in the course of our lives. For the most part, to have spent this period of time here was a great pleasure, but to recollect and to relive its experiences in later years will be a still greater pleasure.

Yet no person, however retentive a memory he may possess, can keep fresh in his mind more than a mere fraction of all those things he desires to remember. Therefore, with a sincere hope that this book may serve as a mirror to reflect those incidents which will always remain dear to our hearts, the staff proffers this book.

Dedication

ALTHOUGH all of us may not have enjoyed the privilege of working under the supervision of Miss Murray, nevertheless we readily recognize the significance and value of her patient and sympathetic service rendered wholly in the interests of the pupils. We are grateful for her readiness and willingness as an advisor for all those seeking aid.

With sincere appreciation of her influence as teacher and friend, we dedicate this issue of the Cauldron to Miss Annie Victoria Murray.

Acknowledgments

The staff expresses its appreciation to all those who have assisted in the publication of this Cauldron. The following deserve special mention:

Miss Baum and her typists, Alice Dorn, Christine Feyock, and Dorothy Kunkle, for their efficient and careful work in preparing the "copy."

Miss Luckey for the supervision of the book.

Miss Keinard and these senior art students for the excellent art work:

Wilmer Behler

Grace Lewis

Kenneth Miller

William Persa

Jeanne Stauffer

Chester Zimny

William Persa for portraits from life, drawn in pencil

The following students for special help in doing "write-ups:"

W. H. Weiss
Superintendent Bethlehem Public Schools

To the Members of the Class of 1935 of Bethlehem High School:

YOU entered Bethlehem High
to learn. Go forth to serve.
Ever remember that you
have the good wishes of all who have come to know you. That good fortune may ever attend you
is the sincere wish of your friend,

Superintendent
Bethlehem Public Schools

A. S. Gruver
Principal, Liberty High School

A Message

From Mr. Gruver

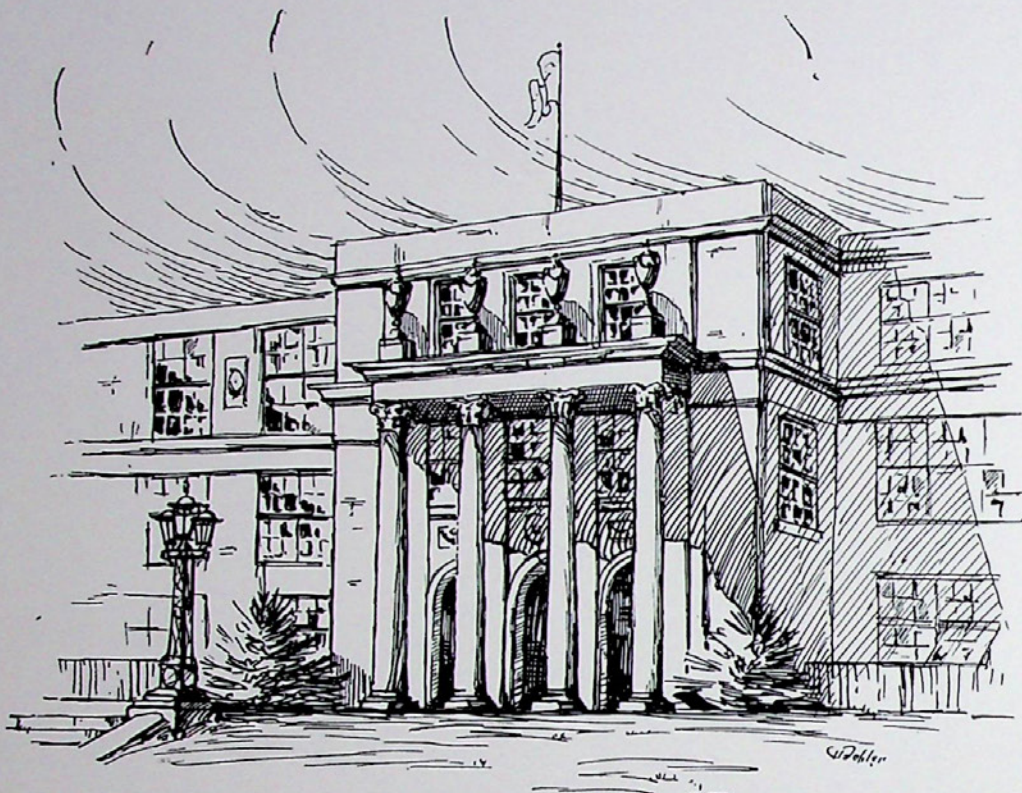

THE associations formed during the last three years in the class rooms, auditorium, gymnasium, and athletic field, are worth more than gold. May these memories instill in your hearts loyalty and service characteristic of Liberty.

I am interested in you, and hope for your success.

Very sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "A. Gruver".

Alma Mater

Hail to Alma Mater dear!
 Where we've spent our high school years,
 Now to Bethlehem High we raise
 Voices to extol thy praise.
 In thy stately halls we've spent
 Hours with hearts and minds content,
 Now to thee, dear Bethlehem High,
 In our loyalty we cry:

CHORUS

Bethlehem High School, hail to thee!
 Loyal Sons and daughters we,
 In the future as the past,
 We'll be loyal to the last.

Hail the dear old Red and Blue!
 To thy colors we'll be true.
 As the star of Bethlehem shone,
 So our love for thee has grown.
 In the world where e'er we are,
 Nothing shall thy honor mar,
 Though the future years pass by,
 This shall always be our cry:

CHORUS

Bethlehem High School, hail to thee!
 Loyal sons and daughters we,
 In the future as the past,
 We'll be loyal to the last.

Echoes of the Ransomed Harvest

You cannot break the chains of Time,
Nor can you turn his rusty wheels,
To peer back o'er your yesterdays.
But God bestowed within you minds,
That reap and mirror all your yore,
Into what man calls, memories.

On distant clouds, there mem'ries dream.
Each holding your mirrored Book of Life,
That reveals the birth of a new plantation,
You the Senior Class of thirty-five.
You waved and wandered through a jade pasture,
As do the fields of fair, young grain,
Roamed through the richness of the blessed earth,
Through the song-haunted valleys of happiness,
Whirled to the medley of the summer breeze,
Rustled to the mother river of all Knowledge,
Where she fondled you as her true children.
Erected there her stately palace,
Alabaster emerging from a spacious velvet frame,
Kingly halls and princely chambers
Where years you spent beneath her portals.
There she breathed upon you blessings,
Poured upon you her precious treasures,
That men's lives were lived to make.
By the jasper-tabled river banks
You partook of her choicest meats,
Of honesty, knowledge, justice, care,
Honor, love, truth, and wisdom rare.
Nurtured to be gallant soldiers,
Hearers, workers, strivers, doers.
Some her dearest to be fathers of the nation.
But, whether some be pinnacles of the mountains,
Or fathers of the nation,
You are the government and the people.
You are the harvest of a chosen grain
Which brought forth its fruit in its due season.
Reaped were you all as men and women
On that day of Graduation.

Stop awhile ere you leave her stately halls,
Linger inside those iron doors,
There pray God on one bent knee;
Thank Him for those yesterdays.
Go, now then, you stalwart harvest,
And climb the famous road called Life.

You can make this final journey
To your grasp among the stars,
Up the grayened scale to glory,
To the gate marked "Destiny's End,"
Receive the meed for all your labors,
For your strife along the way.
You will muse of Liberty High School,
And the gods who worked that mill,
Of the molds that shaped your mortal mind.
Then when life's sweet course is run,
You'll ne'er forget your loved friends,
From that dim and smouldering past,
From the day of Graduation.

—John B. Erdell.

Graduation

'Tis evening, and as shadows fall,
I see the pale moon rise.
I close my book and meditate
And rest my weary eyes.

And suddenly, as if in dreams
I see a picture clear:
Before me lies the wide, wide world,
And I recoil in fear.

And then I think of days gone by,
And turning 'round I see
Dear Liberty High and I recall
A pleasant memory.

I think of close companionships,
Of happy high school years,
Of bonds of friendship stronger made,
As graduation nears.

I think of recitations,
Exams and midnight oil,
Of books and clubs and teachers,
Of heartaches and of toil.

I think of all my classes,
Of brilliant students I've known;
I think of shattered ideals
And of the wild oats I've sown.

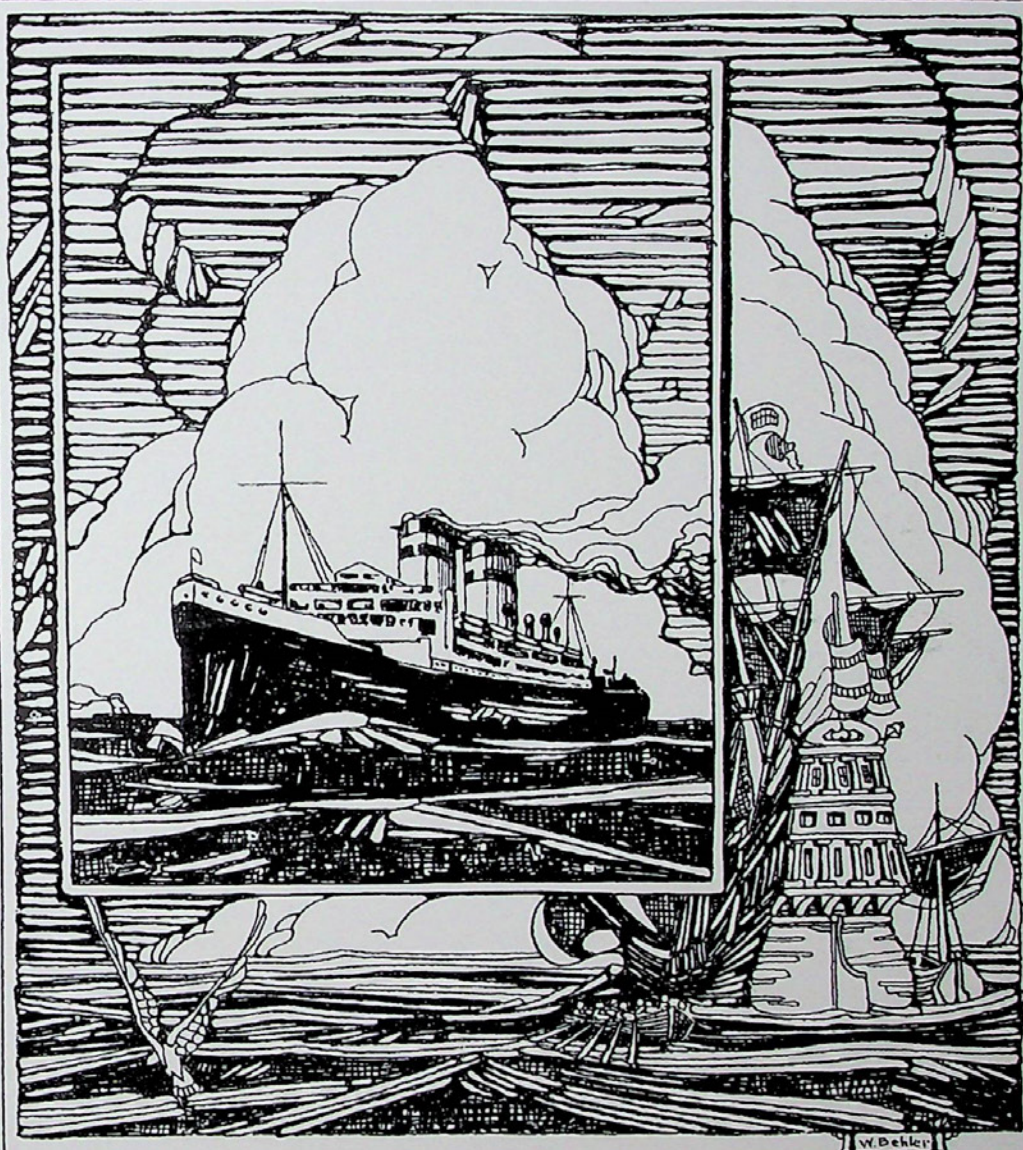

And now my heart is saddened,
I turn from thoughts of play
And think of junior classmates
Who fell beside the way.

And now the sun is rising,
The dawn of day is here,
We turn and face the sunlight,
And brush away a tear.

We drink a toast to Liberty High;
And with our flag unfurled,
We sing our dear old school song,
And go out to face the world.

—Milton Spilberg.

Senior Class History

ON an eventful day of September, 1932, as animated Sophomores we gazed curiously and admiringly upon the stately walls of our future Alma Mater. Emboldened by the businesslike and cheerful inhabitants within, we entered hesitantly into the vast corridors where we were gradually initiated into our respective homerooms after much excitement. Eventually, we made numerous acquaintances and assembled for the election of four commendable leaders to guide us through a year of unquestionable hardship. The leaders were Louis Orban, president; Joseph Ardinger, vice-president; Ruth Pazzetti, secretary; and Thomas Priola, treasurer.

In due time each spirited young person was participating in some literary club or athletic activity to bring new laurels to his school. The ten months of school were happy ones but exceedingly difficult because it took time to adapt ourselves to the new environment.

During the vacation period we scattered in all directions, but with one thought in mind: to develop our bodies and refresh our minds for the common school term. In September, with renewed vigor we set out to develop our mental capacity to a greater extent. After renewing acquaintances, the class of 1935 assembled in that very familiar auditorium to elect its class officers. These new leaders were Wilmer Behler, president; Ruth Pazzetti, vice-president; Mary James, secretary; and James Gillespie, treasurer.

In December we received either a class ring or pin, which gave a tangible symbol of our school days. We returned from the Christmas vacation with great zest, eager to gain greater laurels in the field of knowledge.

In order to become better acquainted with our lower-classmen, the Class of 1934 sponsored a "social" which promoted a proper admiration in the lower-classmen for the distinguished Seniors. Various social organizations of the girls of the Class of 1934 sponsored a "Dutch Treat" to which the Classes of 1934 and 1935 were invited. This served as a prologue to the annual Junior-Senior Prom. The major social affair of the year, of course, was the Prom with its color and gaiety. We were proud of our success and happy that we were able to please our upper-classmen.

Vacation time presented itself and with it the dethronement of the Junior Class. During the summer months great anxiety prevailed in the thoughts of the students of the Class of 1935 for the time when they could enter the stately portals of Liberty High as dignified Seniors.

On a September day this moment was realized, and the Seniors felt a new sense of responsibility and ambition. Consequently, the Class of 1935 gathered in the spacious auditorium to choose class officers. These leaders were Llewellyn Iobst, president; Mary James, vice-president; James Gillespie, secretary; and Robert Clark, treasurer. A tremendous job was undertaken by these students and was ably handled throughout the school year.

After the stability of the class was determined a staff was chosen by the class to publish a Cauldron which was to serve as a log for our educational voyage of yesterday and today. In response to the need of funds to publish the Cauldron, the Class of 1935 presented a play, "Captain Applejack," which was a success from a dramatic viewpoint and defrayed the expenses of the Cauldron.

During this year, further distinction and honor were brought to Liberty for its success on the gridiron in that it produced a State Co-Championship Football Team which displayed on the field the skill and determination that prevailed in the classrooms of the school.

Those few who attained special merit were given special honor. Betty Stead was selected valedictorian, and Sally Ann Geissinger, salutatorian. Llewellyn Iobst was elected class speaker, and Mary James, faculty representative.

On May 10th, the Class of 1935 was given a reception by their lower-classmen, the Class of 1936. Early in June the Alumni held their annual social and business meeting to which the Seniors were cordially invited as guests. This delightful reception acted as a reunion of all previous classes, and the Class of 1935 was received as Alumni.

On Sunday, June 16, 1935, the class assembled in the beautifully decorated auditorium to participate in the Baccalaureate service at which the Reverend W. Sherman Skinner, Pastor of The First Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon.

At an impressive and colorful graduation service, the class members received their diplomas, certificates of achievement. At this outstanding event, Albert G. Rau, Ph.D., L.H.D., LL.D., Dean of Moravian College, was the speaker. The class speakers delivered their orations in an impressive style. Scholarships and prizes were awarded to students who attained high rank. This event brought to a close the high school years of the Class of 1935.

We, as a class, feel that we have caught the spirit of Liberty High School, and as we have striven for its welfare while in school, so, since we have finished, we will ever be true to her, and count our school days as some of the happiest of our lives.

With this feeling in our hearts we extend to the Class of 1936 our best wishes for success in their future achievements.

Do you know that girl who is studying so hard? It is Issie. Yes, she is serious at times. She has a funny laugh and is very jolly. She likes sports but she enjoys reading books best of all. Her ambition is to become a secretary. COMMERCIAL COURSE.

MIRIAM G. ACHE "MIM"
315 EAST LOCUST STREET

As we see Mim walking through the corridors, some of us wonder if she ever gets anywhere on time. Well, she does—sometimes. She has the requisites of a stenographer, which position she hopes to attain. She is a "wiz" for remembering things, especially shorthand outlines. However, Mim is very modest. When she has graduated and looks for a job, we think she will readily acquire one and be a huge success.

MARION GRACE FREY
1064 SENECA STREET

"MARION"

Who is the girl that always has a smile for you, that is always ready to lend a helping hand, and whose sweet personality and winning ways make her everybody's friend? Marion, of course! Marion seems to be a very quiet and serious sort of person, but all those who have made her acquaintance agree that she is full of fun. Her one ambition is to be some businessman's "stenog." With her disposition and cheery countenance she'll brighten any dreary office.

524 ONTARIO STREET

Introducing Bernadine Leiderman! If you hear someone talking very fast and continually, you may be sure that is Dean. Conversation is never lacking when she is around. She is five feet two inches tall, and has blond, naturally curly hair that many girls envy. Living up to the saying that "good things come in small packages," she always manages to get on the honor roll.

Betty Lindner is the young lady who innocently says, "What funeral march is that?" when someone plays "Orchids in the Moonlight." Betty needs ten to twelve hours of sleep to feel rested, but when we see her in a swimming pool, we understand why she must store up her energy. A warning to her friends: If you ever get into an argument and Betty won't give in, just feed her a dill pickle and she'll weaken. But Betty isn't all dill pickles. She is seriously thinking of becoming a commercial illustrator, and we know that with her artistic ability she will attain her goal.

Charming Kay, always vivacious, ever gay. Her ready smile and infectious giggle have endeared her to all of us. Nothing is too much trouble for her. Not only as a spectator is she a sport enthusiast at our games, but also as a tennis player she is continually trying to improve her game. Perhaps an inheritance from her Spanish ancestors is the reason why her tangos and rhumbas are outstanding. Kay's dancing seems to have a certain rhythm and swing to it that defies imitation. Her ambitions, however, lie in another direction for she is planning to become a theatrical dress designer.

R. D. 3, BETHLEHEM

Do you know anyone who possesses great self-control, a person whose almost implacable calmness has won your admiration? Olin is a typical example. Olin also has those fine points of politeness, reliability, and punctuality. We don't venture to say that he is perfect in these characteristics, but we can say with veracity that he has developed them to a greater extent than the average person. This is sure to help him in later life.

HENRY MERRIMAN WILSON "HENNIE"
218 EAST FORNANCE STREET, NORRISTOWN

Henry is that curly-headed chap who enjoys fishing (let's hope they're not suckers). Some day, though, he'll be a good catch for some fair lass. They say he's a wizard on the dance floor. Let that be as it may—we know he blushes, too. Just mention Delaware Avenue and you'll find this out. He's a "reel" nice fellow, however, and we know he'll succeed.

THEODORE WINKLER "TED"
715 BEVERLY STREET

Ted is the proud owner of a crop of unruly hair and a cheery smile. He is one of the few who are on the good side of all the teachers, but this is probably due to his consistency in making the honor and high honor rolls. Ted likes to "cut up" in study halls and corridors, but at times he is very serious. He hopes to enter Princeton University, and we are sure that if he continues in life the same as in high school, he will be successful.

Last Will and Testament

WE, the class of 1935 of Liberty High School located in the City of Bethlehem in Northampton County in the State of Pennsylvania, being of sound mind (whether conscious or sub-conscious we do not know) and considering the uncertainty of this frail and transitory life, do hereby will and bequeath all the many cherished possessions which we have acquired during our high school years.

Upon the Juniors we bestow the brilliancy, modesty, and leadership of the present Seniors with the hope that, although they will never be able to surpass us, they will overcome to some extent their own prevailing stupidity and forwardness.

Likewise, we bequeath to the Juniors one of our most treasured possessions, the precious golden gift of Silence, which we have cultivated throughout our high school years and which has caused us to be the pride and joy of our teachers.

To them we also leave the pleasure of climbing the three flights of stairs to the third floor with the suggestion that they rest after each flight.

Last, but not least, to the Juniors who will be lucky (or unlucky) enough to take Chemistry we gladly give our Friday Chemistry test together with our deepest sympathy and the hope that they will be better "guessers" than we were.

And now dear Juniors gather 'round for some of you have been left wonderful gifts which we hope you will truly appreciate.

John Quigg leaves his Irish temper to Marie Reily, with the understanding that he may borrow it once in a while.

To Robert Baum is bequeathed John Worsley's friendly disposition.

Lucile Barrett leaves her affected "strut" to Jeanne Nevis.

Naomi Herman's big brown eyes are willed to Catherine Trout.

To Bogart Farquhar, Delbert Santee gives his Ford, including all parts available.

Elvira Panebianco falls heir to Betty Lindner's fantastic motions.

Joseph Kush bequeaths his gullibility to Sybil Conant, hoping she guards it so carefully that there's no chance of his regaining it.

William Forrest is the recipient of Fred Beckel's homemade "wise cracks."

Virginia Schlottman is asked to take care of Dot Kriebel's fancy strokes and dives.

Philip Chovan passes on his reputation of upholding the Alma Mater on the football field to Larry Rosati.

Alaire Bubser's originality is willed to Edwin Miller.

Catalina Panebianco's versatile personality is given to Helen Weingartner.

Percy Jermyn gives up his post at the xylophone to anybody Mr. Ricapito chooses.

Marie Curry leaves her flashing smile to Adelle Kahler.

Cornelius Montgomery receives John Kvachy's everlasting grin.

Elsie Bateman leaves her affinity for any sport to Doris Eckert.

Eleanor Dartt's literary ability is given to Jean Post.

To Stanley Brown, John Peters bequeaths his many yawns and stretches.

Cauldron

Edward McCance bestows his unique ability for making noise upon his brother, Donald. He believes in keeping it in the family.

To Gertrude Fleisher goes Joseph Donchez's talent for seeing and hearing all.

Elaine Jones leaves her package of Spearmint to Geraldine Fink. She says it satisfies.

Robert James receives Leonard Kramer's "I should worry" attitude.

To George Reussner, Gus Neimeister wills his pleasing bashfulness.

Edwin Schrader leaves his ability to get into trouble to Robert Lux.

Raymond Faust asks Harry Delp to take care of his "condensed energy."

Lynford Butz, our jazz enthusiast, leaves his title to Kenneth Titus.

Arlene Danner bequeaths her "peaches and cream" complexion to Jacqueline McGovern.

To Emily Zalabsky, Mary James leaves her craze for red hair.

Frances Kelly falls heir to Helen Sigmond's southern accent.

Robert Eastright is willed John Pors' broadminded view points.

Carlton Kresge bestows his jovial disposition upon Betty Jane Hummel.

Luther Eisenhardt wills his senior "freshmanship" to William Csellak.

Shirley LaRose leaves her girlish charm to Margaret Kincaid.

Grace Lewis bestows her artistic ability upon Ella Pastai.

To LeRoy Dietrich, Bernard Suess leaves his schoolgirl complexion.

Marjorie Lillis gives her eagerness to help Mr. Christ with his housework to anybody that wants it.

Ruth Sandel bestows her musical ability upon Hilma Stirk.

Donald Oskin and Henry Wilson are leaving. That puts Melva Schissler and Annette Stauffer back into circulation.

Betty Stead and Sally Ann Geissinger bestow their peculiar methods of getting to 311 on time, sometimes, upon Harriet Doppler and Mary Louise Jenkins.

Kemp Boot is the recipient of Llewellyn Iobst's way with the girls.

William Eisenhardt receives Llewellyn Kemmerle's batting average.

Flora Lees sadly relinquishes her claims on Popeye and Wimpy to anyone who shares her liking.

Louis Trumbauer leaves his brotherly qualities to William Gruber.

Enid Bever hereby informs Helen Gross that she may borrow some of her height in an emergency.

Mary Alice Goth is willed Betty Stead's high powered brain.

George Lease, our sport fan, confers his title upon Jane Louise Goodenough, who he thinks needs it.

Thirza Ward leaves her knitting needles to Annette Stauffer.

Irving Kroope's sales talk is left to Edwin Krassner.

Louis Beers bequeaths his exclusive haircut to Edward Bery.

1935

James Gillespie's dimples and girlish modesty are given to Paul Schlenker.

To Helen Steers, Bernadine Knecht passes on her bird-like strains.

Marguerite Thornton receives Grace Lawrence's reputation of knowing the most luscious gossip in the Senior Class.

William Barber wills his old ties, especially the orange one, to anyone who has the courage to wear them.

James Patton passes on his pipe and tobacco to William Gangwere.

Kenneth Bartholomew thinks Burton Bauder can be trusted to care for that art of concealing his secret passions.

Virginia Gehr gives her becoming hair ribbons to Ethel Steely.

Helen Karpelenia confers what remains of her chemical apparatus upon anybody who is interested and who has a faculty for dropping things.

Evelyn Boger leaves her absent-mindedness to Eleanor Lee.

Jeanne Stauffer wills her technique for applying lipstick smoothly to Catherine Trout.

Margaret Crooks leaves her glasses to Mary Kindig with the hope that Mary will take better care of them than she did.

Edward Hagerman bequeaths his pep, vim, and vigor to Vernon LaRose.

Sally Ann Geissinger wills her studiousness to Ethel Steely.

Marie Geiger bestows her title of man-hater upon Martha Jacobson.

Alice Snyder leaves her driver's license to Mary Hunsicker.

James Hartzell wills his characteristic laugh to Edward Bentz.

Jane Gruber leaves her shyness to Eleanor Moll.

Edwin Miller is entrusted with Nathaniel Brisker's political schemes.

Eileen Toohey leaves her ability to make faces to anyone who feels he can live up to her standards.

To Jean Post, Frances Alcorn leaves her good-natured disposition.

Henry Schwab bestows his powers of argumentation upon Paul Bishop.

Helen Leaman bequeaths her ability to make queer and unexpected noises upon any Junior who thinks it might be necessary at some time to arouse his classmates from their day dreams.

Raphael Scoblionko confers his affinity for science upon Joseph Riley.

Upon Charlotte Henry devolves the duty of caring for Elmer Biro's violin.

Lastly, some lucky Junior is given the privilege of taking over John Ulrich's thriving business of "pun-making."

We now proclaim that we shall exert all legal means and all known power to insure the fulfillment of the provisions of this document. We do hereby sign and seal in the presence of witnesses this last will and testament of the class of 1935.

Class Prophecy

AS our chauffeur, Alice Snyder, opens the door of our car, we find ourselves, for the first time in many years, in Washington, the capital of the United States. Our first impression is that it is the forty-fifth reunion of Liberty High School's class of 1935.

We find that a memorial, carved by Robert Weil according to plans drawn by Ted Winkler, is being dedicated to that dare-devil, Delbert Santee, who died of asphyxiation, a martyr, because he dared to read William Goodwin's love poetry.

The band composed of Percy Jermyn, Frederick Yochum, Charles Redline, Albert Cirino, Homer Heckman, Wilbur Eby, Edward Tyrrell, Arthur Hughes, Vincent Koprivsek, and Homer Schlenker, has just played the Dedication March, written by Everett Edwards and Ruth Sandel. The singers are Doris Moore and Roger Miller.

The tallest member of the class is very excited, for he, Stanley Yavorski, is to lay the cornerstone.

On the speaker's platform sits the president, Angelyn Butterfield, wearing an exquisite dress which has been designed by Eleanor Dartt and Betty Lindner. Her hair, which is beautifully dressed, was done by the noted hairdresser, Veronica Terr. Beside the president, sits Phillip Chovan, the quiet, but excellent vice-president, and close at hand are several secret service men including Sopherus Hendricks, Emil Csrnko, Carlton Weaver, and Alfred Agoes.

The Dedication speech is to be given by Sally Ann Geissinger, president of Elmer Zileh's College for the survivors of the 311 adventure. Also on the platform sit the Speaker of the House, Martha McCulloh, and the Minister of the St. Paul's Cathedral, the Rev. Percy Freeman.

After the dedication, we happen to see the broadcasting station which has been set up behind the speaker's platform. Elaine Jones, Walter Winchell's successor, is broadcasting, while Kenneth Woods and Dorothy Kunkle of the New York Times are typing their stories.

Hovering around are four nuisances—the reporters who never miss anything—Lew Iobst, Mary James, Morton Serfass, and Robert Dimmich. They are speaking to the secretaries of several important people who are present. Among the secretaries are Catherine Bender, Marguerite Smith, Margy Lillis, and Marie Curry.

During the broadcast, the Western Union Boy, Emanuel Guilli, and the Western Union Girl, Evelyn Boger, bring telegrams from the Spanish Ambassador, Cataline Panebianco; the Russian Ambassador, Rheta Miller; and Donald Oskin, the distinguished ambassador to the Court of St. James.

While strolling around we see many of the Cabinet members wearing their black shirts: Secretary of Navy, James Gillespie; Attorney General, Irving Kroepe; Secretary of War, Robert Clark; Secretary of Agriculture, Edwin Butz, Secretary of Treasury, Ruth Pazzetti, once our faithful class treasurer; and the Postmaster

General, Harry LaRose.

We think we see large ants on the walls of the White House, but on closer inspection, we find them to be people painting murals on the walls. They are Kenneth Miller, Chester Zimny, Wilmer Behler, William Persa, and Betty Miller, supervised by Grace Lewis.

Carefully watching the painters, is John Nolf, who is accompanied by his sixth wife.

The members of the Supreme Court are walking around in a solemn body. Beneath mustaches, beards, and goggles, Edward McCance, Blaine Frickert, Charles Fogg, Joseph Mangen, Raphael Scoblionko, Ruth Coleman, Margaret Crooks, Carl Brown, and Walter Uhler look out on the cool day.

Every time we shift our feet or elbows, we either poke or step on a Senator or Representative. The Senators, Burt Reese and James Green, the staunch prohibitionist, are so busy preaching their opinions that they get in everyone's way. Other Senators are Henry Wilson, Ruth Andrews, George Lease, and Jane Gruber. The Representatives are Helen Leaman, Louis Stoumen, Milton Spilberg, Catherine Groeger, and Carl Moyer.

One of our party trips over Johnny Quigg who is sitting on a stone still trying to put together his gold watch which was broken in 1935.

The programs, which announce the special wrestling match called Brain vs. Brawn, in which William Brown is to wrestle with Robert Finnegan, are being passed by Robert Jacoby and Rodman Vaughn.

Another outstanding announcement is Dr. James Patton's discovery of the seventh dimension which turns the air into liquid oxygen. This gives Sara Kardos and Gus Hagerman the opportunity to give a swimming exhibition.

Oh, my! Lynford Butz, who has improved television, has just had his face slapped by Alaire Bubser for getting his directions mixed.

Joe Waldschmidt, the rough-and-tumble boy, has graduated from his third story episode, by falling from the Washington Monument, and only breaking his neck.

While announcing the program, Legh Meyers accidentally swallowed a stray sparrow, but gossip has it that it was not accidental since he was said to be greatly hit by the depression of 1935.

Vernon Mancke, the noted deep-sea diver, is giving an exhibition in a glass of water, which greatly amuses the people.

The handlebar moustache which Carlton Laubach has finally succeeded in cultivating, wraps around the neck of Betty Stead, and Carlton Kresge and knocks their heads together with such a crash that a brain storm is begun which drives everybody home to shelter.

Junior Class History

The stage is set.

Time — 1934 - 1935.

Place — Bethlehem High School.

Characters — Members of our Junior Class.

AFTER another intermission we returned to our Alma Mater to enact the busy scenes of the Junior Year — the most important scenes of our High School Drama.

We organized early in the fall and decided upon the following officers: Woodrow Eisenhardt, president; George Strunk, vice-president; Joseph Kush, secretary; and Larry Rosatti, treasurer. After the resignation of Joseph Kush, Donald Fatzinger was selected secretary.

At a later meeting we decided upon fifty cents as the class dues for the year. We then ordered our jewelry, and after anxious waiting we received it just after Christmas. Of course, the biggest event of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom. After spending money, time, and energy, we decided that it was the greatest prom ever held.

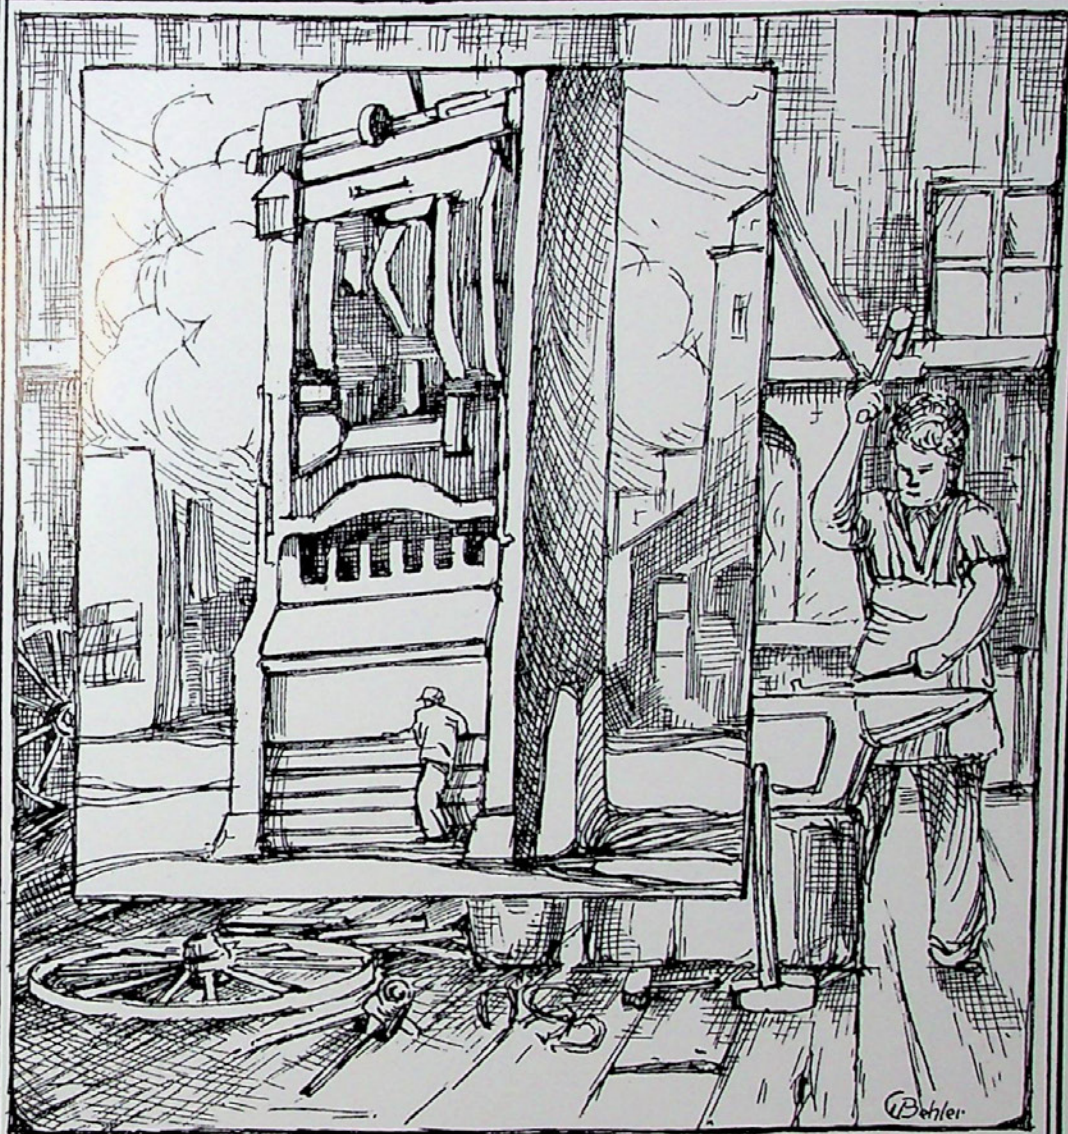

One more act remains to be completed, before turning off the foot-lights on our High School Drama.

We feel confident that our class of '36 will carry on its good work to graduation.

Woodrow Eisenhardt, President.

Donald Fatzinger, Secretary.

Sophomore Class History

THIS year approximately six hundred students entered the Sophomore Class at Liberty High School from all the Junior High Schools in the vicinity. This large group soon became adjusted to the work in the high school. There was no definite organization of the class. There are very few demands upon sophomores to necessitate class officers. This group is planning to enter the Junior Class prepared to be the best Juniors in the history of the school.

The Art Club

The Art Club of Liberty High School is under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Keinard. In its desire to cultivate appreciation for art, the exhibitions at Lehigh University were visited frequently. Talks on the lives of outstanding artists and their contributions to the art world were given at club meetings. A visit through Lehigh University to look at the pictures took place in the spring.

The club has twenty-seven members and holds its meetings on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Each aspiring artist tries to uphold the motto of the club: "Do all things in a beautiful way."

The officers were elected in September to serve the entire year. They were as follows: Robert Clark, president; Jeanne Stauffer, vice-president; Helen Sigmond, secretary; Betty Lindner, treasurer.

A glorious party was held on Valentine's Day in the Art room and the adjoining hall. Refreshments both dainty as well as tasty were served.

The Cauldron Staff

This year's Cauldron Staff was organized early in the Fall, and members of the staff began work immediately under the supervision of Miss Evelyn Luckey. The art work of the book was done by art students under the guidance of Miss Elizabeth Keinard.

In April, the staff visited the Sanders-Reinhardt Engraving Company in Allentown and witnessed a very interesting demonstration of the engraving of the staff picture.

With the co-operation of the entire senior class, the staff has successfully completed the best year book ever produced.

Debating Club

The Debating Club, coached by Mr. Randall, was organized in March, 1933. From a small club, it has grown to a large organization.

Formal debates are held bi-weekly. Current events talks, original poems, essays, and stories are given in these meetings. Business meetings are held on alternate Wednesdays.

Parent Night Debates are held to which the parents and friends of the Debating Club are invited. The Club schedules debates with other schools, but its debates were curtailed to the minimum this year.

The Libertas Staff

The Libertas has been a regular institution at Liberty High School for so long that its quarterly appearance in the familiar blue cover had long been taken as a matter of course by the majority of the students. This year, however, we attracted an interested attention among our readers with our new and attractive covers—just a little more unusual than ever before.

The material inside the Libertas has been noteworthy too. Each issue consisted of editorials, many true stories, essays, poems, interviews with prominent people, jokes and school news. As usual, we entered our magazine in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and carried away the laurels in second place.

The Libertas is printed at Broughal Industrial High School and is supported by a staff of willing workers, as well as contributors from the entire school.

Be-Hi Girl Reserves

The Be-Hi Club holds its bi-weekly meeting in Room 107 on Wednesday afternoon under the leadership of Miss Ruth E. Blessing. On alternate Wednesday, trips are taken to places of educational interest in the city.

The simple motto: "Learn to face life squarely," has been the aim of the Girl Reserves. At the bi-weekly meetings, problems of everyday interest are freely discussed. The club is indebted to the following persons for offering their time and service:

Miss Naomi Hauser, Superintendent of Nurses of St. Luke's Hospital,—“Social Hygiene.”

Mr. Harry S. Danda, Advisor of Hi-Y Club,—“The Ideal Girl.”

Miss Edith Stauffer, Dean of Moravian College for Women,—“Vocational Guidance.”

During Lent “Fireside Talks” were held on Sunday afternoons at the Y. W. C. A. Headquarters.

Social activities of the past year have been a Hallowe'en Dance, Kiddies' Party, Y. W. C. A. Supper, Christmas Service, Hi-Yi - Girl Reserve Dinner and Dance, Palm Sunday Service, Trip to New York.

The Be-Hi Club has done much to increase friendliness and fellowship among the high school students.

The officers of the club are as follows:

President .....	Irene Horvath
Vice-President.....	Catalina Panebianco
Secretary .....	Elvira Panebianco
Treasurer .....	Marion Kilpatrick

Biology Club

The Biology Club was organized in 1933 under the supervision of Mr. Hutchinson for students who plan to enter some branch of medicine or clinical work upon graduation. Only Seniors or Juniors who have received worthy marks in the second year of biology are eligible for membership. The training received from the study of physiology and bacteriology enables the members to cope with and discuss problems of science and life.

Meetings are held twice a month. At these meetings, lectures, usually accompanied by slides, are given by members of the club. Laboratory periods are also held where members are able to work out their own experiments and profit greatly by them. Trips are taken to various local and distant hospitals, universities, and other institutions of learning. On these trips the members can observe the very work to which they in time will devote themselves.

The officers are George Lease; president; John Pavel, vice-president; Dorothea Kissner, secretary; Charles Redline, treasurer; and Mr. Hutchinson, club advisor.

The Commercial Club

The Club, this year composed of just one hundred Commercial Seniors, was organized early in the term under the supervision of Miss Blanch Garlick. The Club's main objective is to secure first-hand information about the practical side of modern business life. To this end, the Club has had a number of guest speakers chosen for their varied business contacts.

The activities for the year will be terminated by a trip to Philadelphia.

The officers are as follows: Arthur Hughes, president; Catherine Bender, vice-president; Marguerite Smith, secretary; and Catherine McFadden, treasurer.

German Club

The German Club is composed of the members of the third year German class, and is under the supervision of Miss Mary L. Hess.

The purpose of this club, which meets on the last Friday of every month during the school year, is to give the club members a better knowledge and understanding of the German people, their customs, geography, and history. The music for the songs is furnished by members who play in the school's musical organizations.

Crafts Club

Under the supervision of Mr. Horne, instructor of the Crafts department, the Crafts Club began its second year with an enrollment of thirty-five members. Meeting every Tuesday and Wednesday after school for the purpose of further developing the talents of the students along Craft lines, the club is especially attractive because of the large variety of work it includes.

The projects are similar to those elected in the regular classes, such as leather tooling, stenciling, metal work, modeling, painting of glorified glass, painting and printing of tapestries, wood carving, construction of masks, soap sculpturing, and wood and linoleum block printing.

In connection with the regular activities of the club, the students enjoyed several socials held throughout the year. Toward the close of the term, members of the entire club attended the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibition, at the Keystone State Teachers' College, Kutztown, Pennsylvania.

Early in the year the following officers were elected:

President .....	Alaire Bubser
Vice-President .....	Naomi Herman
Secretary .....	Emma Jane Beam
Treasurer .....	Marjorie Lillis

The Latin Club

The Societas Latina, the Latin Club of Liberty High School, was organized during the month of November, 1934, under the supervision of Miss Mary L. Hess.

The club affords its members a broader knowledge of Ancient Rome—its famous countrymen, its customs, its classics, and its benefits to civilization.

This year of 1935 marks the second successful term for the club which consists of 37 members, made up of the third and fourth year Latin classes.

The Orchestra

OUR orchestra of seventy-six musicians has had a busy season. Under the capable directorship of Mr. Ricapito, the orchestra entertained several times in chapel and gave added effect to the operetta, the Senior Class Play, and the graduation exercises. The Christmas program and the Thanksgiving program would have been incomplete without the orchestra and the brass octette, which is a part of the orchestra.

On February 14th the orchestra gave its annual excellent program. It consisted of the following difficult numbers:

1. Unfinished Symphony .....Schubert
2. Fantasic Polonaise .....Paderewski
3. Symphony in D Minor .....Cesar Franck
4. Grande Valse Brillante .....Chopin
5. Euryanthe .....Weber

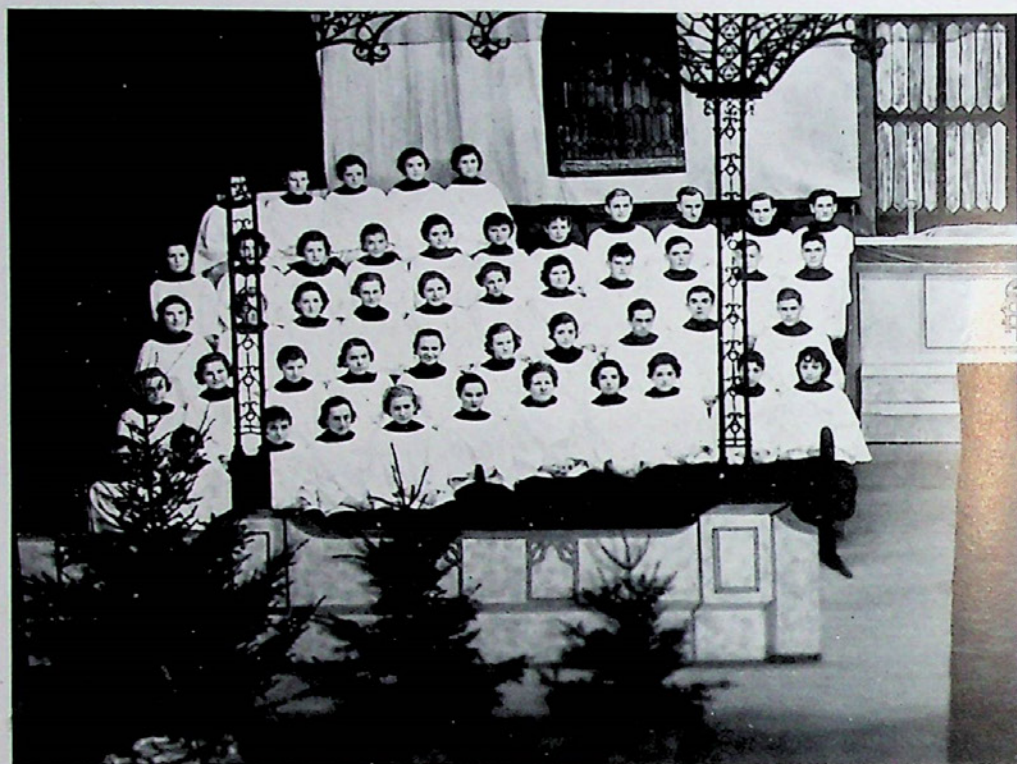

This group also gave a free concert in the spring.

The officers of the orchestra are Betty Hess, president; Elmer Biro, vice-president; Ruth Sandel, secretary; and Rosemary McCandless, treasurer.

The members of the 1934-35 orchestra were Wallace Alexander, Anna Ashton, Floyd Bartholomew, Kenneth Bartholomew, Mabel Beam, Bernard Beitel, Bernard Benner, Elmer Biro, Paul Bishop, Kemp Boot, Marjorie Bramwell, Burns Brodhead, Henrietta Butler, Edward Coyle, Ray Czapko, Robert Dech, Everett Edwards, Solomon Finkelstein, Mervin Fry, Charles Gehring, Mary Gergits, Frances Ginsberg, Dorothy Goldberg, Homer Heckman, Charlotte Henry, Betty Hess, Naomi Hittinger, Conrad Hilpert, Walter Hoffert, Fred Hornung, Percy Jermyn, Albert Johnson, William Jones, Richard Keiper, William Kindig, Richard Kleintop, Melanie Kuhar, Virginia Kuhn, Kenneth Lindner, James McCandless, Rosemary McCandless, Eugene McHugh, Sterling McNeal, Jean Mecherly, Claude Mertz, Richard Michael, Alfred Mitman, Mary Mulhearn, Jean Mutzberg, George Overdorf, Merritt Pharo, James Ray, Charles Redline, Troy Ruth, Ruth Sandel, Anthony Schadler, Homer Schlenker, Paul Schlenker, Irvin Schoen, Morton Serfass, Joan Shimer, Andrew Stanko, Hilma Stirk, Lee Stoughton, Betty Troxell, Edward Tyrrell, John Ulrich, Frank Voros, Robert Wallander, Carlton Weaver, Robert Weil, Mary Whitcomb, Ted Winkler, Willard Wolf, Frederick Yochum, and Quentin Zell.

GLEE

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club is one of the foremost organizations in Liberty High School. The usual try-outs found many striving to be one of the fortunate fifty to be chosen. In addition to singing in chapel, the activities of the Glee Club during the season included the rendition of a fine Thanksgiving Day program, the annual Christmas Cantata rendered in an impressive manner, singing for the Lehigh Valley Arts Association at its meeting held March 23rd, and the closing of the season with the operetta "High Jinks."

The social activities of this organization are usually limited to an evening of entertainment. This year's entertainment was a dance held on March 15, which was attended by many of the members and their friends.

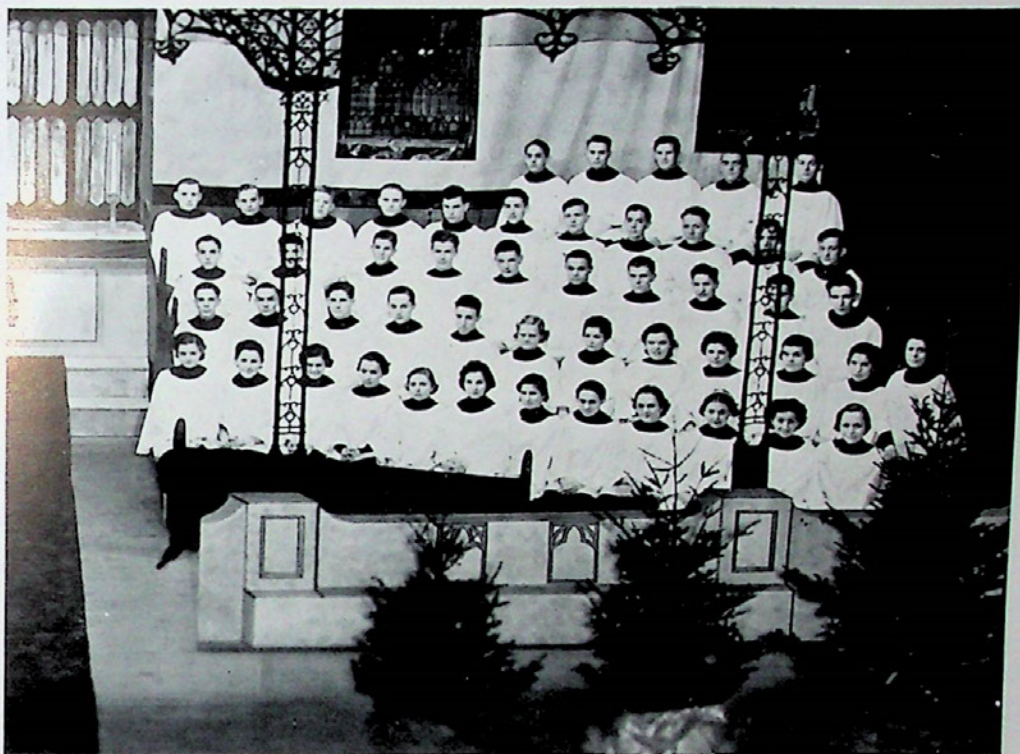

The following are the officers:

President .....	Eileen Toohey
Vice-President .....	Doris Moore
Secretary .....	Elizabeth Watkins
Treasurer .....	Margaret Johnson
Librarians .....	Ruth Eastman, Ethel Steely

Boys' Glee Club

Tryouts for the Boys' Glee Club were held early in September, and by the middle of the month fortunate candidates were beginning to loosen up their vocal cords in dear old 307. Under the fine leadership of Miss Graham and Mrs. Fitch, progress was rapid and well-merited. Combining their efforts with the Girls' Glee Club, they presented the annual Thanksgiving program in chapel. Next in order was the Christmas Vesper Service, also presented by the combined organizations. This service was one of the best of this type ever presented, since it contained a great deal of new music, all of which was beautifully rendered. The scenery for this presentation was new. In addition to these two annual performances, the boys gave three recitals in chapel, singing classical and popular music besides the Negro Spirituals. All the numbers were well received by the audience.

CLUBS

Officers for the year are Willard Bilheimer, president; Kenneth Woods, vice-president; Edward Bentz, secretary; John Nolf, treasurer; Robert Schreiber and Percy Freeman, librarians.

The Operetta

The annual operetta, a musical farce called "High Jinks," the book and lyrics of which were written by Otto Hauerbach and the music by Rudolf Friml, was given on May 24, 25, and 27. The audiences greatly enjoyed the wit and humor of the play, the many outstanding musical selections, as well as the varied new formations of the chorus. The principals were directed by Miss Marion B. Graham and the choruses by Mrs. Van Dora McKee Fitch.

The principals were as follows:

Dr. Robert Thorne.....	Llewellyn Iobst, John Kichline
Florence .....	Margaret Johnson
M. Jacques Rabelais .....	Percy Freeman
Mme. Rabelais .....	Betty Shimer
Mrs. Marion Thorne .....	Doris Moore
Dick Wayne .....	Willard Bilheimer
Mr. J. J. Jeffreys .....	William Emrey
Fritz Denkmahl.....	John Mackey
Adelaide Fontaine .....	Virginia Gehr
Sylvia Dale .....	Bernadine Knecht

Dramatics Club

Try-outs for the Dramatics Club were announced early in the year by Miss Clark who, together with Miss Gibson, advised the club and coached its plays. Soon after the results were posted, a meeting was held, at which the following officers were elected: Mary James, president; Anna Hutchinson, vice-president; William Sheldrake, secretary; Margaret Schilling, treasurer.

It was decided to hold meetings on alternate Mondays. The members expressed the phase of dramatic work which appealed to them most and were placed on committees accordingly. At the meetings very interesting programs were presented consisting of speeches on tone, utterance, make-up, and costuming; reviews of plays, and one-act plays presented by club members. One of these plays "The Diabolical Circle" was presented at a meeting of the Plays and Players, and another "Solemn Pride" was given in chapel. A group of members presented the play "Elmer" in the contest given by the Plays and Players. "Captain Applejack" was selected for the annual senior production and was presented successfully with the co-operation of the entire senior class.

Captain Applejack

by WALTER HACKETT

The three-act play, "Captain Applejack," was very successfully presented by members of the Dramatics Club for the benefit of the Senior Class. It was given on April 26 and 27 under the direction of Miss Marion J. Clark and Miss M. Price Gibson.

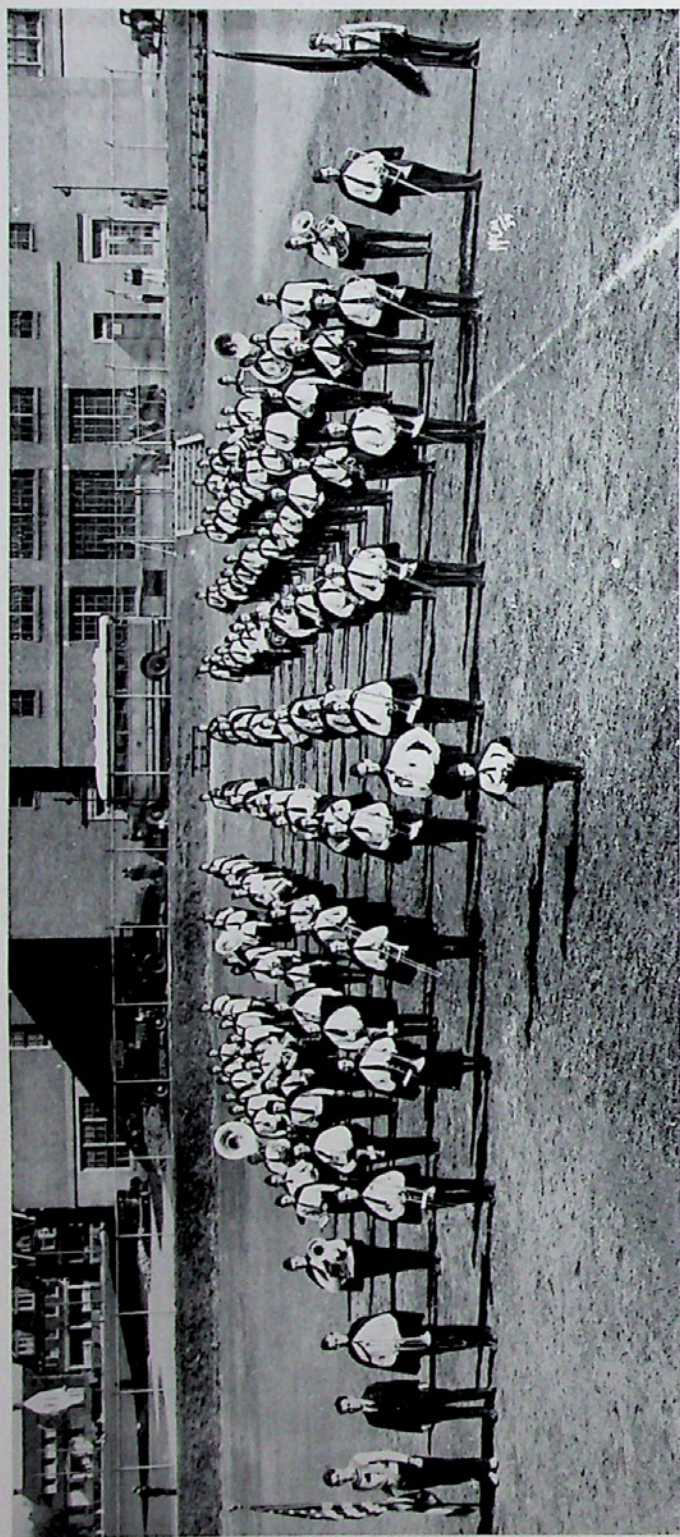

The cast included the following:

Lush .....	Raphael Scoblionko
Poppy Faire .....	Dorothy Hulsizer (Friday)
	Mary James (Saturday)
Mrs. Agatha Whatcombe .....	Margaret Kunkel (Friday)
	Angelyn Butterfield (Saturday)
Ambrose Applejohn .....	Kenneth Woods

Ivan Borolsky .....	Irving Kroope
Palmer .....	Angelyn Butterfield (Friday)
	Margaret Kunkel (Saturday)
Dennet .....	Llewellyn Kemmerle
Johnny Jason, Morton Serfass .....	Pirates

A lot of preparation was done to make this play such a success. The business managers were James Hartzell and Betty Stead. The stage-craft committee played an important part. Included in this group were Catalina Panebianco, Jeanne Stauffer, Wilmer Behler, Chester Zimny, and John Ulrich. Closely connected with this group was the property committee which consisted of James Laidman, Ruth Koch, and Martha McCulloh. Rosemary McCandless acted as wardrobe mistress. This year the characters in the play were made up by members of the make-up committee. Margaret Crooks, Eleanor Dartt, Dorothea Kissner, Catalina Panebianco, Angelyn Butterfield, and Helen Karpenia were in this group. The electricians were Richard Hartzell and Theodore Winkler. The pirates in the play were all members of the Senior Class.

The Band

THE Bethlehem High School Band had a very successful year in 1934-35. As usual, the band appeared at the football and basketball games, and gave a series of concerts. It was also proclaimed the best band in the state. But this year it received additional praise from the guest conductor at the annual concert, Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman, who termed it the best high school band in the East.

This year Joseph Ricapito's aggregation contained 117 pieces. The mascot for the season was little Joseph Ricapito, Jr. The officers were as follows: Homer Heckman, president; Homer Schlenker, vice-president; Percy Jermyn, secretary; and John Ulrich, treasurer.

The band played a fall concert, the annual concert, the annual Parents' Day concert with the orchestra, and a series of outdoor concerts. Among the outstanding selections played at the annual concert were the following:

Il Guarany Overture .....	Gomez
The Hymn to the Sun (from Le Coq d'Or).....	Korsakow
Celebrated Minuet .....	Boccherini
Slavonick Rhapsody .....	Friedmann
Choral .....	Bach
Finlandia .....	Sibelius

The members of the band were as follows: James Adams, Henry Albert, Michael Anthony, Anna Ashton, Fred Bahnsen, Floyd Bartholomew, George Barton, Mabel Beam, Fred Beckel, Bernard Beitel, Kenneth Bender, Bernard Benner, Helen Best, Paul Bishop, Leonard Black, Kemp Boot, Burns Brodhead, Stanley Browne, Ernest Buss, James Clause, Glenn Cooper, Roy Cowin, William Coyle, Victor Damiani, Charles Derr, LeRohn Deysher, Wilbur Eby, Arthur Feist, Robert Finnegan, George Fox, Mervin Fry, Charles Gehring, Kenneth George, Hilliard Gottlieb, Dan Haas, Vernon Hammer, Homer Heckman, Ruth Heil, Naomi Hittinger, Howard Hoch, Ray Hoffert, Walter Hoffert, Roy Hoffman, Harold Hottle, Roy Houston, Emerson Ivey, Lewis Jaxheimer, Percy Jermyn, William Jones, Robert Kelehner, Jeannette Kern, Samuel Kilpatrick, Charles Kuhar, John Kunkle, Elsie Lichty, George Lindner, Kenneth Lindner, Willard Litzenberger, Vernon Mancke, Richard Marsten, James McCandless, James McCord, Eugene McHugh, Claude Mertz, Charles Miesse, Graham Miller, Richard Michael, Robert Miller, Alfred Mitman, Eleanor Moll, John Mulhearn, Robert Neifert, John Nolf, Wesley Radcliffe, Charles Redline, Jack Riley, Donald Renner, William Rothrock, Arthur Ruth, Gertrude Salber, James Seiple, Margaret Shilling, Homer Schlender, Ben Schrader, Francis Schrader, Nettie Salvage, Paul Salvage, Morton Serfass, Joan Shimer, George Solt, Curtis Steyers, John Strohecker, Allen Strouse, Irene Todd, Betty Troxell, Edward Tyrrell, John Ulrich, Frank Voron, John Vuksta, Robert Wallander, Carlton Weaver, Jennie Weaver, Merritt Weaver, Robert Weil, Agnes Weiskopf, Mary Whitcomb, Ted Winkler, Carolyn Woodring, Grace Worsley, John Worsley, Willard Wolf, Edwin Yeisley, Fred Yochum, and Donald Young.

INDUSTRIAL FACULTY

The Industrials

The Industrial Department of Bethlehem High School is located in the Broughal High Building. It is under the supervision of Principal Paul W. Memmert. This year was a big year for the Industrials because they received a "New Deal" that improved the course much to the benefit of the students.

Exactly half the time spent in school by Industrials is spent in learning the theory and in the practice of their chosen trade. The instructors of the various trades are Mr. Frey, cabinet-making; Mr. Kehler, drafting; Mr. Hartman and Mr. Lerchenmiller, electrical; Mr. Ross, machine shop; Mr. Cressman, pattern making; and Mr. Hunsinger, printing.

During the remaining half the time the boys study academic subjects with instructors as follows: Mr. King, English; Mr. Fishel, history; Mr. Koons, mathematics; Mr. Engels, chemistry; and Mr. Alexander, related drawing.

Besides regular classwork the Industrials did a lot of outside work such as stage properties for school productions, school printed matter, school repairs, etc. This work gives the boys a wealth of experience under actual working conditions.

The Industrials established a Hi-Y Club and also an Athletic Association which sponsored intra-mural sports on a "Give Everybody a Chance" basis. Both ventures were successful.

We, the graduating Industrials, wish to extend our sincere appreciation to our principal and faculty for their kind co-operation and hearty efforts during our four-year sojourn.

The following are Industrial seniors: Wallace Birk, John Bloeser, Joseph M. Check, Lawrence J. Cook, Dominic A. Curatola, John Durich, William A. Evert, John F. Fogel, Roy U. Fogel, James F. Groman, Earle Harpel, Harry Herbst, Harold M. Keple, Joseph W. Kerecz, Gerald L. King, Elmer J. Lopert, Henry R. Nicholas, Paul Remely, William Stecker, Roy C. Snyder, Hector A. Tarquin, Warren Unkle, Joseph A. Unger, Francis W. Williams, Fred Wolfe.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club of Liberty High School was organized during the latter part of September, 1934. The club, as a whole, was inducted into the nation-wide movement the following month.

To the organizer and advisor, Mr. H. S. Dando, no little credit is due for the splendid work accomplished during the year.

The officers chosen were as follows: Theodore Winkler, president; Robert Weil, vice-president; Llewellyn Iobst, secretary; Llewellyn Kemmerle, treasurer.

The purpose of the Hi-Y is to create, maintain, and preserve throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character. Meeting every other week in room 309, the club has endeavored to attain these ends by means of lectures on character building and Bible study, combined with athletics and social events.

The program for the year was as follows:

Music as a Character Builder—Mr. Zolton Biro.

Fear Versus Character—Mr. H. S. Dando.

Conscience and Character—Dr. Schwartz.

The Seven Enemies of Youth—Study Course conducted by Mr. Dando.

Vocational Lectures on Law, Engineering, and Medicine.

The outstanding social activities of the club included a party at the D. A. R. Hall December 27th and a dinner-dance with the Girl Reserves at the Y.W.C.A. February 20th.

Football

BETHLEHEM High School made history during the 1934 football season. For the first time since the establishment of an athletic program in the Bethlehem Public Schools, the Bethlehem High School football team has won the Eastern Pennsylvania Football title and is co-holder of the Pennsylvania State title.

Coach Leo F. Prendergast called his one hundred and twelve candidates together the first day of the 1934 school term. Light and heavy equipment was issued, and the basic fundamentals of football, namely blocking and tackling, were stressed and illustrated by our genial coach. At it is said, "only the fittest can survive," so it was with the football candidates. After that first two weeks of practice, the coach cut the squad to eighty men. Finally the group dwindled to forty-seven men, who comprised the 1934 football squad.

Our coach worked diligently and patiently to mold a dauntless and snappy gridiron eleven. Indeed, his versatility was rewarded, for in the first game of the season, the Liberty gridsters turned back a plucky Lansdowne team by the score of 7-0.

On September 29, the "Red Knights of Reading" traveled to the Liberty greensward only to be vanquished by a mighty Prendergast-coached phalanx 38-0.

The following Saturday, October 6, the John Harris aggregation, boasting of fourteen straight victories, invaded the Liberty gridiron only to be overcome by an aggressive and fast-stepping Liberty eleven 18-0.

On October 13, Coach L. F. Prendergast and his team traveled to Pottsville to defeat our coal-mining friends in a close battle, 12-6.

The next Saturday, October 20, the Liberty boys traveled to Lebanon to win out in a slow game by a score of 6-0.

Next, our arch rivals, "The Red Rovers" from Easton were smothered by an air-minded Liberty eleven, 20-0.

Lancaster High School, exulting in eleven straight victories, was the next victim of the unconquerable Liberty eleven, Liberty winning 14-0.

Our tricky opponents from P. S. D. were the next to be victimized by the Prendergast charges 14-0.

On November 17, the "Black Diamonds" of Ashland, glorifying in twenty-three straight victories, were vanquished by the great Liberty aerial attack 13-0.

After this heroic battle, Coach Leo F. Prendergast concentrated his efforts in perfecting plays and animating his great football team for the annual Turkey Day Melee at Allentown.

This climaxing game was played in a sea of mire. After most of the game had been a punting duel with Bethlehem deep in Allentown's territory, an Allentown player was tackled behind his goal line and Bethlehem scored a safety. Coach Prendergast's proteges emerged victorious 2-0.

Since Bethlehem defeated Allentown, Coach Prendergast's boys clinched the Eastern Pennsylvania Football title.

Bethlehem was now to meet Altoona, winner of the Western Pennsylvania Football title, in a play-off for the State Championship.

On December 8, Altoona met Bethlehem's great gridiron machine, at Bethlehem. After a bruising battle this magnanimous gridiron spectacle ended in a 13-13 tie.

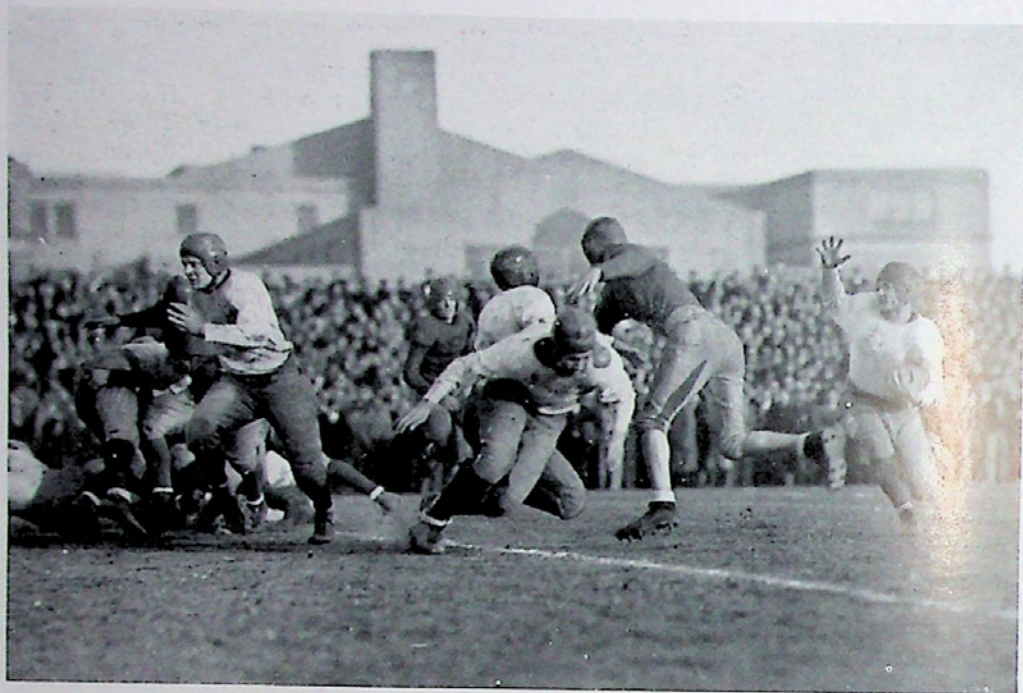

Thus Coach Leo F. Prendergast, with the aid of Joseph McLernon, a great scout and assistant, climaxed the greatest football season in the history of our outstanding school.

Hail to Coach L. F. Prendergast and his Champions!

To the players goes the most illustrious achievement in high school ranks.

Wrestling

Although the Liberty High wrestling team was faced with one of the most difficult schedules in the history of the school, the grapplers came through with only one defeat. With practically a whole new team, Coach Stark had the perplexing task of developing his men so that they could uphold the usual high standard set by the wrestling teams of former years. This was accomplished with the surprising result that the Red and Blue wrestlers defeated some of the outstanding prep schools, high schools, and college freshman teams in the state.

In the first meet of the season, the Liberty High matmen, after a hard struggle, defeated Mercersburg Academy by the score of 14 to 11.

Next, Temple Frosh were conquered by the Red and Blue wrestlers, the score being 24 to 5.

Bethlehem went on to turn back the Stroudsburg State Teachers' College to the tune of 28 to 5.

The fourth meet of the season and the tenth straight victory for the Liberty High team saw the defeat of Franklin and Marshall Academy by a score of 21 to 9.

The boys then journeyed to Shamokin where they lost to an excellent team. This was the first time the Bethlehem wrestlers were outscored for two years, and the first time they ever lost at Shamokin.

Following their lone defeat, the grapplers came back and won the most decisive victory of the season. The Red and Blue vanquished the Pennsylvania University Frosh by the perfect score of 25 to 0.

In March the team participated in the interscholastic wrestling championship meet at Lehigh University. LaRue Bodder was crowned champion in the 105 pound class and Hudi was runner up in the 165 pound class.

Coach Stark and his boys are to be congratulated on their remarkable performance in producing this successful team.

The members of the squad were Charles Frankett, LaRue Bodder, Joseph Mangan, Joseph Shegina, Legh Meyers, Jr., Steve Hudi, Votrol, Vitez, Skibo, Bedics, Ralph Knouse, Robert Baum, Carl Malloy, George Strunk, Elmer Stefko, and Peter Malinowski.

Basketball

The 1934-35 basketball season has truly been a success. The team won 18 out of 22 games, ending league competition as runner-up to Allentown, the State Champions. Besides this, the boys kept up our prestige and brought home the title of the best defensive team in the league.

Bethlehem opened the season with the usual first game with the Alumni and ended on the long end of a 52-29 count. After polishing off two non-league teams, the locals journeyed to Allentown for the first league game and returned home with a stinging 26-22 defeat staring them in the face. After returning to the winning column at the expense of Lebanon and Pottsville, the latter a league encounter, they dropped a close game to Tamaqua by the score of 32-29 on the local hardwood. Next the Emreymen journeyed to Hazleton and returned with a 27-25 victory. This victory was followed by two more triumphs before they dropped a league game to Mahanoy City.

Then came a stretch of seven victories, six with league opponents and one non-league game. During this streak they administered to the Allentown Canaries their only league defeat by a 26-17 score. Incidentally this defeat was one of the two defeats Allentown suffered during the whole season. The Emreymen closed league competition by dropping a close game to Easton on their court by the count of 25-24. However, the local cagers were to be given chance for revenge for this setback as Coach William "Bill" Emrey entered his team in the Lafayette Tournament.

For this tournament, Coach Emrey dropped the seniors and used only boys he will have as a nucleus for the 1935-36 campaign. They captured the first game from Palmerton by a one sided score of 45-14. Easton also won their game and the two teams entered the finals. It was then the Emreymen got revenge by defeating Easton by a 40-32 score. Upon winning this tournament the team closed a successful season. We all wish the best of luck to Coach Emrey and his teams in the future.

At the close of the season, a meeting was held and Gus Neimeister was elected honorary captain of the team.

Our Junior Varsity had one of the best seasons of any Junior Varsity team ever turned out by our school. They won 17 out of 20 games, ending their season as runner-up to Mahanoy City in the Junior Varsity standings. Gordon Brandt was elected honorary captain of the team.

Those who will be lost to the team are as follows: Neimeister, Krasowski, Quigg, and Gillespie.

Those left for next season are as follows: Spevak, Kovacs, Zigray, Simon, Melloy, Hochella, and O'Donnell.

Those who were on the Junior Varsity and are eligible for next year's teams are as follows: Brandt, Karabin, Sweigard, Kichline, Mar, Cherkis, Marcinein, Slafkashy, Howlett, Grube, and Emrey.

The "stock-room" boys for this season were Robley Ehret, manager; Edward McCance, Jr., custodian; and William Forrest, a junior, was assistant manager.

Soccer

Under the expert eye of Coach Stark, Liberty High School again produced a good soccer team. Suffering only one defeat, Bethlehem scored some very noteworthy victories over Abington High School of Philadelphia, Hill School of Pottstown, Springtown, Hellertown, East Mauch Chunk, and Lehigh Frosh.

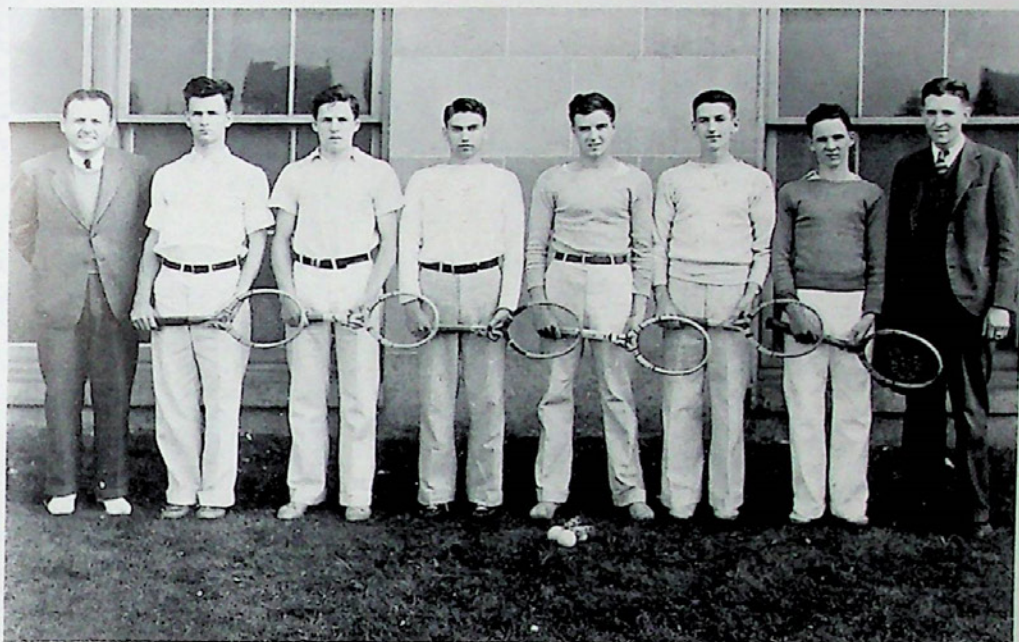

The loss of John Molnar in mid-season spoiled a well-balanced team. Coach Stark had no reserve goalie available, and Alexander Radchuck was put between the uprights.

The return game with Hellertown was lost through the lack of an experienced goal keeper. Liberty completely outplayed their Borough rivals in every respect but lost to the score of 4 to 3. Hellertown was allowed only a comparative small number of shots at the goal and receive two of their four goals on their lone corner kick and on a penalty kick.

The excellent playing of Steve Hudi, captain of the team, and Bob Compton did much to add to the team's successful season.

The varsity was made up of the following: Steve Hudi, Joseph Shegina, Carl Ebeling, Norman Wachter, John Peters, Howard Carrington, Alexander Radchuck, William Forrest, John Ferguson, William Fulmer, Chester Zimny, Leland Achey, Ward Hilbert, Michael Albarella, Kalman Elek, Nicholas Ratusling, Robert Compton.

Tennis

The Liberty High tennis men are working hard getting into shape for the Lehigh Valley League campaign. With three lettermen from last year, Coach Sinclair Chiles hopes to develop a commendable team.

Captain Gillespie, winner of the spring tournament, is first man. Kilpatrick and Kreidler, last year's veterans are second and third men respectively, with Wise holding fourth position.

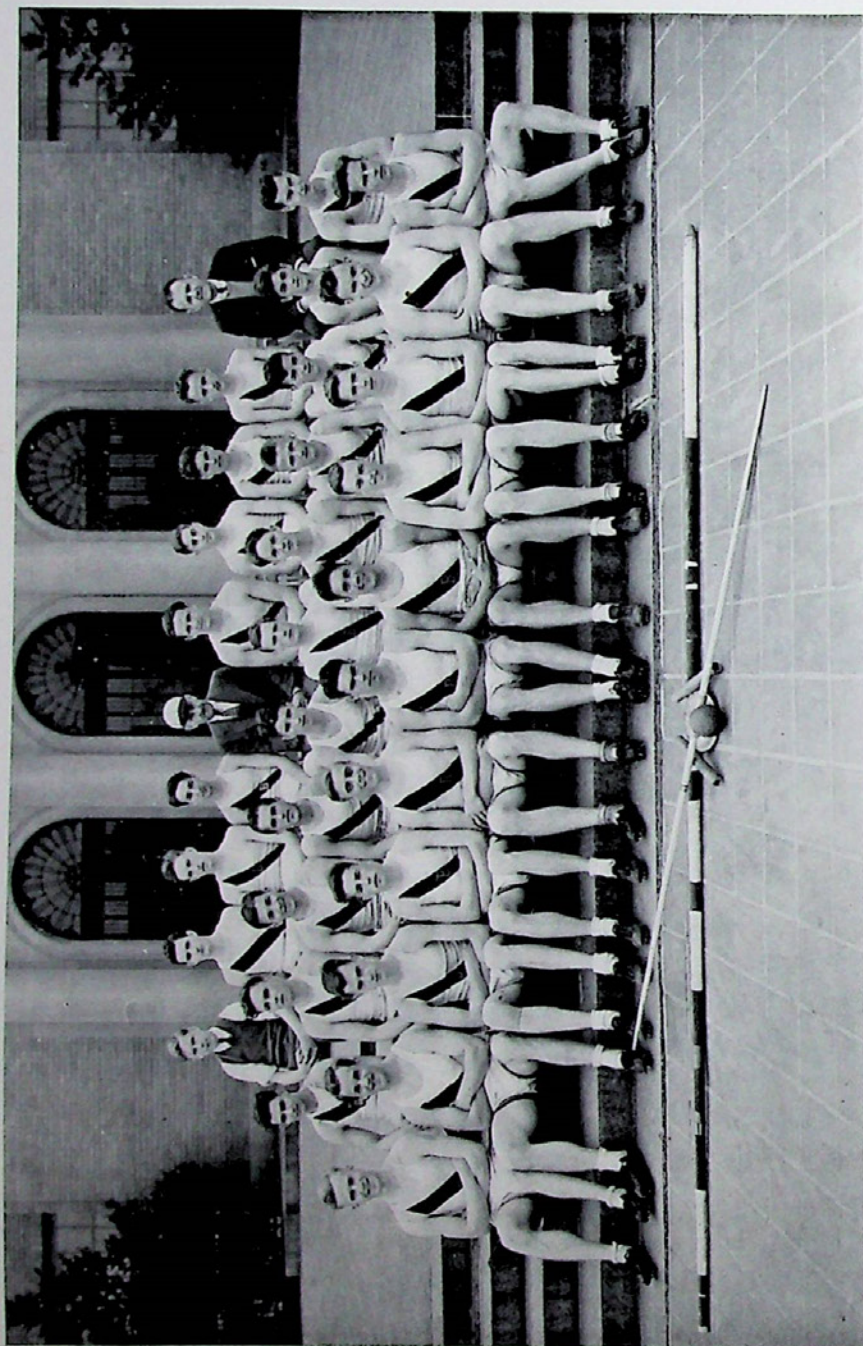

The doubles are made up of Captain Gillespie and Kilpatrick on the first team and Winkler and Haas on the second.

The schedule follows:

- May 7—Easton, away.
- May 9—Palmerton, at home.

Track

WHEN the call for track candidates was issued this year, the largest number in track history (151 to be exact) signed up. Of this large number only ten letter-winners were left to serve as a nucleus.

Coach "Bill" Emrey conducted trials and finally chose the boys whom he expected to wear the Red and Blue. Before the interscholastic dual meets were started, Mr. Emrey took a relay team composed of Bill Rooks, captain of this year's team, George Melloy, Marvin Brandt, and Lawrence Cook, to the annual Penn Relays to compete against the best teams in Pennsylvania. This quartet upheld the school's prestige, finishing second to Altoona by a stride to the tape. The first dual meet competition found the team as guests at Allentown High and the locals emerged with a 84.5 - 22.5 victory. Next in line was the Seventh Annual Relay Carnival sponsored by our school. Entered in this were Class A, Class B, and Junior high schools from the eastern part of Pennsylvania. Bethlehem finished second to Atlantic City, a new comer. Bethlehem scored 15 points and the victors 18.

The next meet was a dual meet with Wilson Boro and resulted in one of the most decided scores ever registered by any high school track team — a 90-18 victory for the local spike-shoe artists.

A unique performance is scheduled for May 11 when Coach Emrey will send his leading performers of each event to the Lafayette Interscholastic meet and also have a dual meet with Palmerton. For this latter meet the other boys will give their best efforts toward winning a victory.

Reading, which always has a strong team, will be the next opponent, and although their team is well-balanced, the Red and Blue looks forward to a victory.

On Saturday, May 18, Bethlehem will be hosts to the District No. 11 P. I. A. A. meet. With our well-balanced team, the Red and Blue anticipates capturing the district title.

The closing dual meet of this season finds Easton here. Although they have never had a strong team, they always make things interesting.

On May 25, the winners of the district meet go to Penn State for the State Championships. We are sure there will be several athletes from our team represented there, and we wish them the best of luck.

Saturday, June 1, finds the team in its last meet of the 1935 campaign. Again we are hosts to the Eastern League meet. There is always strong competition and the meet should prove very interesting. We wish success to Coach Emrey and the boys.

Baseball

Play ball!—The 1935 baseball season opened with a game with Reading. The team, under the coaching of Leo Prendergast, had bad luck and lost the first game to the score of 14-3.

However, a defeat at the start does not mean a bad season. Bethlehem had nine hits to ten for Reading, but due to the lack of sufficient practice, the Red and Blue suffered many costly errors which accounted for the final score.

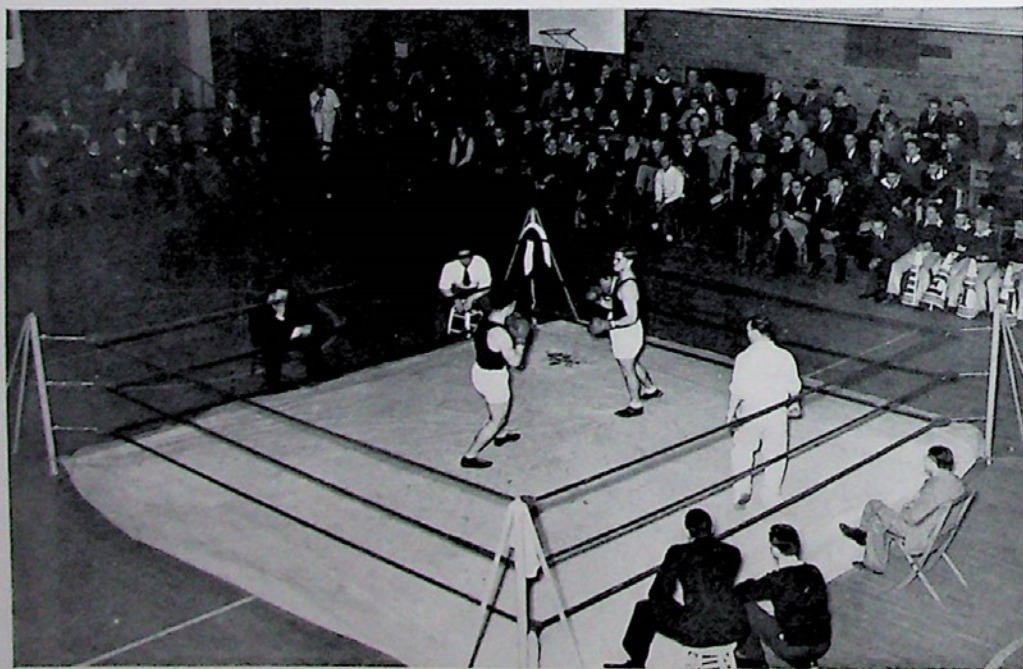

The varsity is composed of Ruth, Oravec, Felker, catchers; Marcincin, Schaller, Budura, pitchers; Krasowski, Simons, first base; Neimeister, Kerchmar, second base; Compton, short stop; Redline, third base; and Hudi, Matesky, Chickey, Spevak, Cherkis, outfield.

With this aggregation Coach Prendergast hopes to get to the top in the Eastern Pennsylvania Interscholastic League.

Boxing

For the first time in the history of Liberty High School, candidates for boxing were called out by Coach Stark. A large number of boys responded and work was begun. Without the aid of any veterans from a previous season, Coach Stark was faced with the hard task of developing a formidable team.

The time from the beginning of December to the twenty-fifth of February was spent in training and learning the various points in boxing. New equipment was furnished, such as suits, gloves, punching bags, and a ring. Sparring bouts were held twice a week where Coach Stark explained methods of attack and defense.

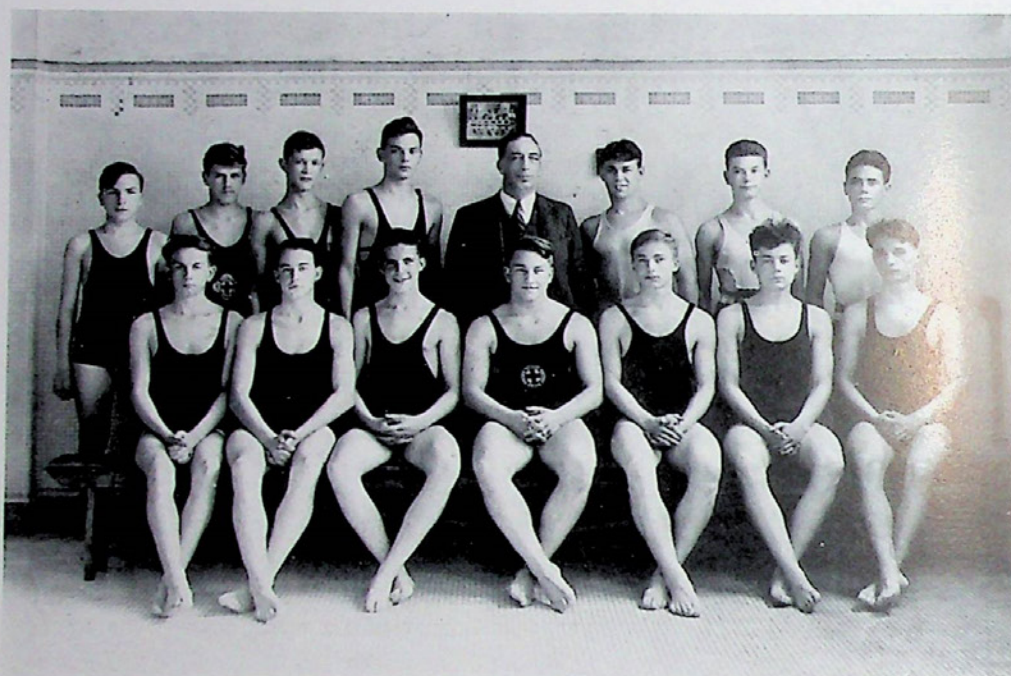

The only meet of the season was scheduled for the twenty-third of February with Penn State Frosh. On the twenty-first, bouts were held in the gymnasium to decide who would box against the Penn State team. The result of the meet with the Penn Frosh was a decisive victory for the Bethlehem boxers, the score being 5 to 1. Mr. Stark, on behalf of the team, issued a challenge through Mr. Edmund Wicht, secretary of P. I. A. A., to box any team in Pennsylvania for the P. I. A. A. Championship, but received no response to the "defi."

Liberty High School sponsored its first annual Lehigh Valley Amateur Boxing Championship Tournament on April 22 and 23. The tournament was quoted as having the finest array of fistic talent ever brought together. The athletic committee is to be congratulated on the success of its first undertaking in the interests of boxing.

Under the guidance of Coach Stark, boxing was successfully introduced as a major high school sport. Let's hope more schools will sponsor boxing next year.

Swimming

Since swimming is operated on an intra-mural basis in Liberty High School, there was no varsity team or interscholastic competition. However, a large number of boys took part in the interclass meets and in that way earned points for their letters.

The majority of the swimming meets were won by the Seniors with the Juniors always running a close second. These meets took place once a month under the supervision of Mr. Stark.

The swimmers who excelled in sprints were Edward Hagerman, John Jacobs, Allen Bender, Robert Rice, George Malloy, Jack Crawford, Henry Wilson, Wilbur Eby, William Ruth, James Green, Adam Reiser, Edward Benz, and Edwin Krassner.

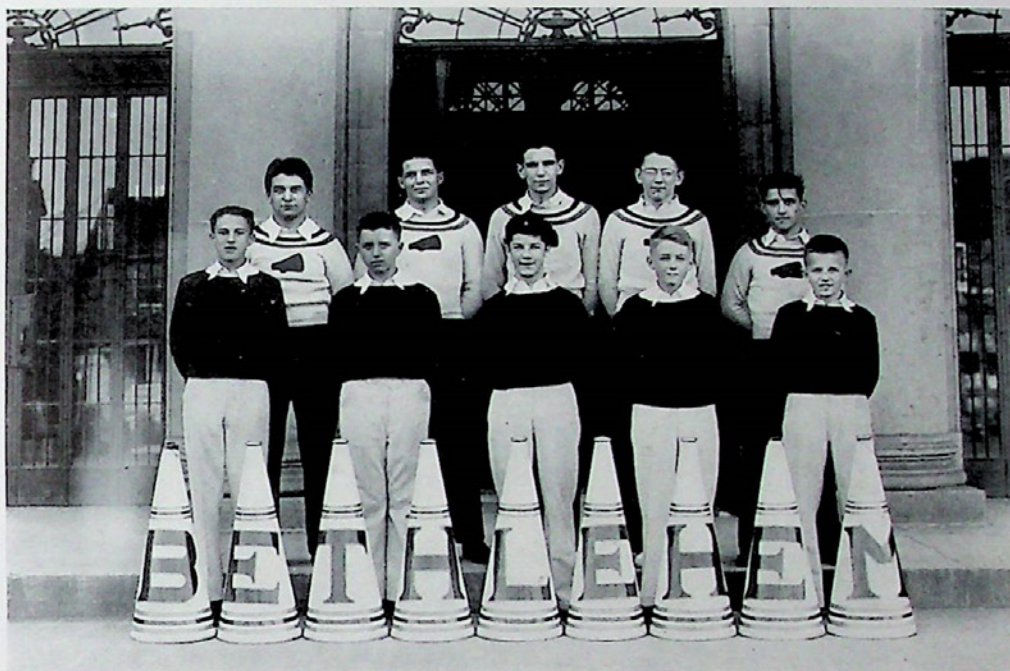

The best breast-strokers were William Rooks, George Malloy, Robert Eastright, and John Mulhearn.

The Cheerleading Squad

The Liberty High School Cheerleading Squad, under the direction of Mr. Kernan, has received much commendation from the sport fans. The boys began the season with four of the five senior leaders without experience and concluded it with every boy a veteran. At the close of the year, Rodman Vaughn was elected Honorary Head Cheerleader for 1935.

The Junior Squad, although inferior in size to the Seniors, managed to keep up with the larger boys when it came to pep. In the future, the Cheerleading department of Liberty High School may boast of a group of boys almost perfect in their motions.

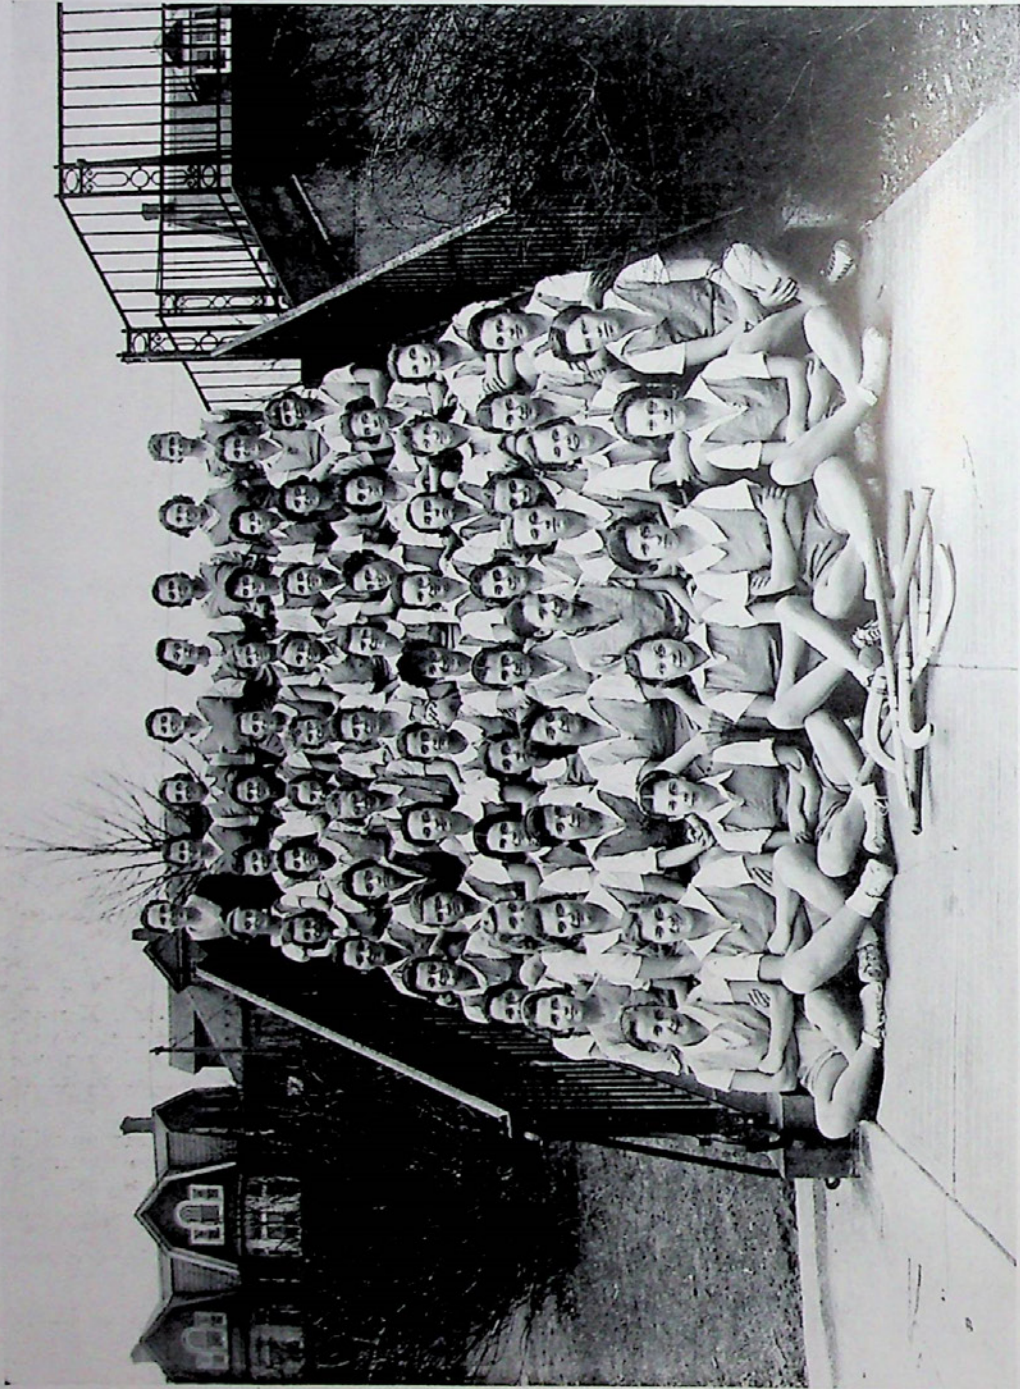

Congratulations to Mr. Kernan and all his loyal band of noisemakers!

Those comprising the senior section are as follows: Rodman Vaughn, head cheerleader; William Barber, Luther Eisenhart, Kenneth Woods, Edwin Krassner.

The junior section consisted of the following boys: Robert Cornmeyer, Jerome Lang, Elwood Hochella, Michael Hochella, William Clewell.

Hockey

The seventh season of hockey for the girls was completed just before the Thanksgiving Holidays. This sport was one of the last to enter Liberty High, but it is now on an equal basis with the other sports.

This season the intra-mural championship was won by the Seniors who were undefeated throughout the season, winning seven straight games and tying one with the Juniors. The lack of substitute material was partly responsible for the Sophomore and Junior losses.

Statistics show that the Freshman team was not very successful. If investigations were made, we would discover that they did have the honor of being the first team to score on the Senior Champions.

This sport is under the instruction of Miss Louise Snyder.

Girls' Swimming

FOR the third consecutive year the girls' swimming team of Liberty High, composed of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, met in intramural competition. The absence of varsity and outside competition did not lessen the ardor for aquatic sports. A fine program of interclass swimming meets was held under the direction of Miss Louise Snyder, instructor of girls' swimming.

The Junior team won the first and second meets. In the second meet the Juniors gained only a one point advantage. The Seniors were victorious in the third and final meet.

The Senior swimmers are Theresa Priola, Dorothy Kriebel, Luba Logechnik, and Clementine Grosset.

Girls' Baseball

"All candidates for girls' intra-mural baseball report in room 217 at 3:05," was the call which was eagerly awaited by 120 girls of Liberty High. Although the girls have no outside competition, there is plenty of fight, spirit and rivalry in the games.

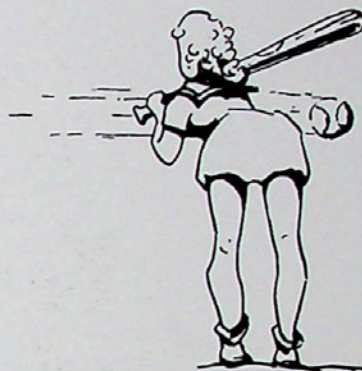

The captain and managers were elected by the respective teams. The result was as follows:

	Captain	Manager
Senior .....	Myrtle Nelson	Elsie Bateman
Junior .....	Mary McCool	Doris Eckert
Sophomore .....	Hilda Wartman	Louise Beatty
Freshman .....	Dorothy Henning	Virginia Alcorn

The tournament is under the supervision of Miss Charlotte Abernethy. The schedule is as follows:

May 1—Freshmen vs. Juniors.
           Sophomores vs. Seniors.
 May 2—Freshmen vs. Seniors.
           Sophomores vs. Juniors.
 May 6—Freshmen vs. Sophomores.

Girls' Life Saving

"Help! Help! Someone is drowning," is the cry that will often be heard this summer. But the witnesses will not have to worry if there is a girl present who has taken a course in Life Saving during the winter and early spring under the tutelage of Miss Louise Snyder.

There are approximately fifty girls who are hoping to pass the Junior and Senior Life Saving Course.

The requirements are as follows:

1. Age, seventeen years.
2. Ability to comprehend work.
3. Will to learn all methods.
4. Regular attendance.

The examination consists of the following:

1. Carrys
  - (a) Cross-chest carry.
  - (b) Head carry.
  - (c) Hair carry.
  - (d) Chin carry.
  - (e) Tired Swimmer's carry.
  - (f) Fireman's carry from the water.
  - (g) Saddle-back carry from the water.
2. Holds
  - (a) Front strangle hold, left and right.
  - (b) Back strangle hold, left and right.
  - (c) Double grip on wrist, left and right.
  - (d) Breaking two people apart.
3. Approaches
  - (a) Front approach with correct carry.
  - (b) Back approach with correct carry.
  - (c) Under water approach with correct carry.
4. Additional requirements
  - (a) Surface diving, three times.
  - (b) Floating, one minute.
  - (c) Treading water, one minute.
  - (d) Disrobing in deep water and a hundred yard swim.
  - (e) Essay on demonstration of artificial respiration—Schaefer method.
  - (f) Oral quiz on Life Saving.

By completing and passing all the requirements of the American Red Cross, a girl is entitled to wear a Senior or Junior Life Saving emblem. Any girl who succeeds in mastering these tests may well consider herself a help to humanity.

A FACE

I woke to look upon a face,
Silent, white, and cold;
O, friend, the agony I felt
Can never half be told.
We'd lived together but a year;
Too soon, it seemed to me.
Those gentle hands, outstretched and still,
That toiled so hard for me.
My waking thought had been of one
Who now to sleep had dropped.
'Twas hard to realize, my friend,
My Ingersoll had stopped.

REMARKABLE REMARKS

Helen of Troy—"So this is Paris."
Noah—"It floats."
Socrates—"Gosh all hemlock."
Eve—"I'll bite."
Samson—"Guess I brought the house down."
Cleopatra—"Stung again."
Rebecca—"Well, well, well."

"It's the little things that tell," remarked the big sister as she pulled her small brother out from under the sofa.

"Say, I'd like to try that new suit on in the window."

"Sorry, but you'll have to use the dressing room."

Nurse—"It's a girl."

Father—"Glad I sold the porch swing this summer."

A certain girl thinks phonetic spelling is the kind you find on the walls of telephone booths.

Famous last words—"Well, I'll blow out the gas and go to bed."

Teacher—"Class, come Monday prepared to take the life of William Shakespeare."

Young man who took French—"Oh, je t'adore."

She (who did not)—"Shut it yourself; you left it open."

Teacher—"Well, there's one thing you can always count on."

Pupil—"What's that?"

Teacher—"Your fingers."

Bill—"Where are you from?"

Charlie—"Pennsylvania."

Bill—"What part?"

Charlie—"All of me."

"Didn't you see me downtown yesterday? I saw you twice."

"I never notice anyone in that condition."

Lucia (describing Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House)—"Lee was dressed in a fine Confederate suit, while Grant wore an old ragged Union suit."

The dean was exceedingly angry. "So you confess that this unfortunate young man was carried to the pond and drenched? Now what part did you take in this disgraceful affair?"

"The right leg sir," answered the sophomore meekly.

Johnny—"Dad, you remember that you promised me a dollar if I passed in school this term."

Dad—"Yes, my boy."

Johnny—"Well, I just thought that you might like to know that that's one expense you won't have to figure on this year."

A Bostonian was on his way West on important business. In the opposite section of the Pullman sat a sweet-faced, tired-appearing woman with four small children. Being fond of children, and feeling sorry for the mother, the Bostonian soon made friends with the kiddies.

Early the next morning he heard their eager questions and the patient, "Yes, dear," of the mother, as she tried to dress them. Looking out, he saw a small white foot protruding beyond the curtain. Reaching across the aisle, he took hold of the large toe and began to recite:

"This little piggy went to market;
 this little piggy stayed home;
 this little piggy had roast beef;
 this little piggy had none;
 this little piggy cried, 'Wee, wee,
 wee, all the way home'."

The foot was suddenly withdrawn, and a cold, quiet voice—that of the mother—said:

"That will be sufficient, thank you."

The cub reporter saw a hearse start away from a house.

"Who's dead?" he inquired of the corner storekeeper, who was watching from his door.

"Chon Schmidt."

"John Smith!" exclaimed the cub. "You don't mean to tell me that John Smith is dead."

"Vell, by golly," said the grocer, "vot you dink they doing mit him — bractising?"

 A sufferer who lives close to a railroad yard in the suburbs wrote the following to the railroad company complaining about the racket made by a switch engine:

"Gentlemen: Why is it that your switch engine has to ding and dong and fizz and spit and bang and hiss and pant and grate and grind and puff and bump and chug and hoot and toot and whistle and wheeze and jar and jerk and howl and snarl and puff and growl and thump and boom and clash and jolt and screech and snort and snarl and slam and throb and roar and rattle and yell and smoke and smell and shriek like the dickens?"

 Ruth—"Sort of a dumb party, isn't it?"

Mary—"Certainly is."

Ruth—"Let's go home."

Mary—"I can't, I'm the hostess."

Going To A Dance — by "Eddy" Tyrell

—1935—

A Young Man Going to A Dance

"Mother. Where's my other silk sock?"

No answer.

"MOTHER. Where's my other silk sock?"

Feminine voice faintly heard from lower floor. Youth manages to extract two words from hubbub — "whatchamajigger on the whatchamacallem." Looks frantically on the "whatchamajigger in the whatchamacallem," and finds missing sock. Sigh of profound relief. Retires to room whistling softly.

An interlude of silence.

Door opens with warning creak. Little brother, favorite in every household, pokes in a frowsy head. Stares curiously at youth, who is in the throes of a terrific struggle with a willing shoehorn and an obstinate shoe. Tortured victim lifts one burning eye.

"SCAT."

Rank failure. Little brother remains. Shoe on. Breathes easily. Goes over to mirror, carefully pats down hated cowlick. Cowlick refuses to be patted down and rises to the situation magnificently. Youth turns his attention to picture of girl at his elbow. Kisses picture fervently.

Snickers from the rear. Youth turns around, blushing furiously.

"Beat it."

Little brother grins wisely.

"Gonna tell mother. Gonna tell mother. Gonna tell ——."

Pillow hurled in direction of door. Hasty retreat of brother. Youth slaps chest manfully. Great to be young. Suddenly remembers something. Dashes madly across the room, tiptoes down hall, enters his sister's room with the stealth of a burglar. Bureau is his destination.

Sister dances into room wrapped in heavy bathrobe. Look of astonishment and of incredulous mirth crosses her face.

"John Henry! Well, I never! Mother! Dad! He's putting cologne on his h-hair."

Youth flees in horror amid wild shrieks of feminine laughter.

Unappreciative — that's Woman.

Loud grumbles. Door slams. Collar button lost. Collar button found. Woman. Disdain. Sees picture on dresser. Frowns darkly. Looks again. Smiles. Approaches—hesitates. Frown returns. More grumbles. Can't have car. Must take trolley. Disgust.

Oh, she was wonderful!

Misses last car. Walks home in a dream. Reaches his room out of breath but safely. Sees picture on dresser. Approaches. Does not hesitate. Kisses picture.

Ah! WOMAN.

"Are you really on the football team? What position do you play?"

"Well, I do the air work."

"Oh, you're the forward passer; is that it?"

"Well, no, I blow up the footballs."

Oskin (arrested for reckless driving)—"But officer, I'm a high school student."

Cop—"Ignorance is no excuse."

"If you stand facing the north, what do you have on your left hand?"

"Fingers," replied the student.

Marie—"What makes you breathe so fast?"

Jimmy—"My lungs."

"Aren't the stars numerous tonight?"

"Yes, and aren't there lots of them."

Teacher—"Where else besides Brazil do we get coffee?"

Student—"At the A. and P."

Fat man in crowd—"Say, who do you think you're pushing?"

Little man—"How many guesses do I get?"

Mr. Cox—"Your pneumatic contrivance has ceased to function."

Kroope—"Huh?"

Mr. Cox—"I say your tubular air contrivance has lost its rotundity."

Kroope—"Say, what do you —"

Mr. Cox—"The cylindrical apparatus which supports your vehicle is no longer inflated."

Kroope—"But —"

Mr. Cox—"The elastic fabric surrounding the circular frame, whose successive revolutions bear you onward in space has not retained its fistic roundness."

Bob—"Hey, guy, he means you have a flat tire."

Brown—(translating Latin) "Haec in Galliam important." "The hike in Gaul was important."

Bob—"Well, at last I've passed my Chemistry exam."

Grace—"Honestly!"

Bob—"Don't be so inquisitive."

Officer—"Hey, you can't turn around in the middle of the block."

Jeanne—"Oh yes, I think I can make it."

Mr. Cox—"What's As203?"

Percy—"I've got it right on the end of my tongue."

Mr. Cox—"Spit it out, it's white lead."

For success keep your eyes open and your mouth closed. For eating grapefruit reverse the order.

And he said: "Let there be light."

And there was light, — and the next month came the light bill.

"Do you know," beamed the lecturer to his class, "as I came into the room this morning I read printed on a door a single word, without which not one of you could dream of success in the scientific world?"

"Pull," shouted the class in unison; and the instructor knew that he had taken his motto from the wrong side of the door.

TEN COMMANDMENTS??

- 1—Never do yourself what someone else will do for you.
- 2—Don't study today what you can cram tomorrow.
- 3—Whistle and be merry; fill the halls with music.
- 4—This is depression; don't pay a quarter when you can crash a gate.
- 5—Be late and enjoy the trip to the office. Let's have a large attendance.
- 6—Don't work the last quarter when your average will pull you through.
- 7—Come early, avoid the rush, and enjoy a nice quiet walk through the halls.
- 8—Use the nearest entrance; time is valuable.
- 9—Walk on the grass. It's safer, softer, sooner.
- 10—Go to see your teacher after school. It's fun.

STATISTICAL NOTES

If all the hit-and-run drivers in the country were laid end to end, it would be a good idea if they all stayed that way.

All the chickens that were killed to supply the chicken in cafeteria salad throughout the land would, if stored in a room eight feet deep, die of loneliness.

If the largest ocean liner in the world were put on end beside the Empire State building, the furniture and everything else would be in a terrible mess.

"Breakfast, seven to eleven"; answered the clerk; "Lunch, eleven to three; tea, three to six; dinner, six to eight; and supper, eight to twelve."

"What!" shouted the astonished visitor. "When am I going to get time to see the town?"

"Is this the Fire Department," yelled the excited chemistry professor over the phone.

"Yes, what do you want?"

"How far is the nearest alarm-box? My laboratory is on fire and I must send in an alarm at once."

Student—"I want to exchange this textbook."

Teacher—"Too late now, you've had it a whole term."

Student—"But I just discovered that every other page is missing."

IN YOUR TOWN

They took a little gravel,

And took a little tar,

With various ingredients

Imported from afar;

They hammered it and rolled it,

And when they went away

They said they had a pavement

To last for many a day.

They came with picks and smote it,

To lay a water main,

And they called the workmen

To put it back again;

To lay a railway cable

They took it up once more

And they put it back again

Just where it was before.

They took it up for conduits,

To run the telephone,

And then they put it back again

As hard as any stone;

They tore it up for wires,

To feed the 'lectric lights,

And then they put it back again

Which was no more than right.

Oh, the pavements full of furrows,

There are patches everywhere;

You'd like to ride upon it,

But it's seldom that you dare.

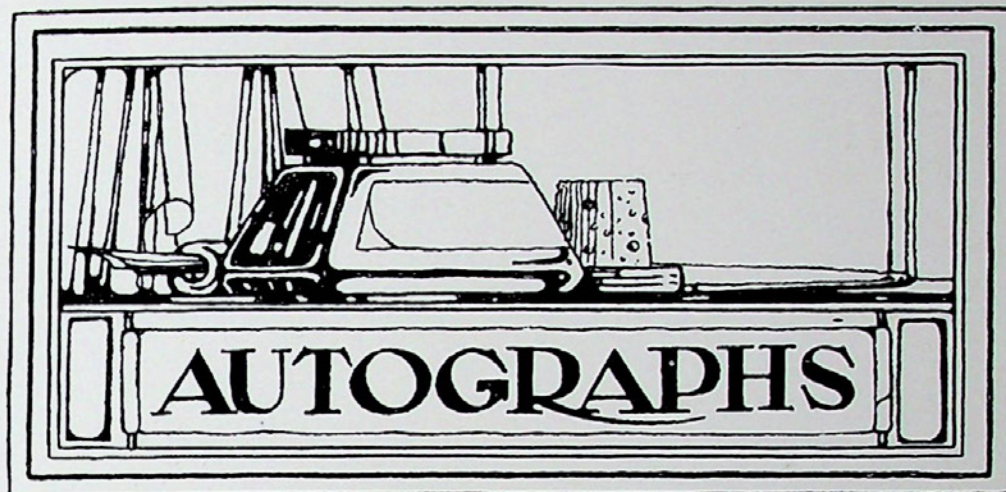

It's a very handsome pavement,

A credit to the town;

They're always digging of it up

Or putting of it down.

L'Envoi

The steel electrified fingers of infant Science
Flex nimbly as they awake yawning from slumber,
Gathering precision and ponderous momentum
With the measured passing of years.

But for what are all these cool new-born visions
Of an earthly Utopia if the human heart and brain
Be firmly bound in chains of greed and precedent
And bigotry forged by nearsighted blacksmiths?

Be it ours, Youth's, to snap these chains—
With our votes, with our tongues, with our pens,
And set free a mighty youthful Prometheus
Who will bring the light of truth to a darkened world,
The heat of beauty and passion to frozen hearts!
