BENJAMIN BARRETT SEES
ACTION WITH U. S. NAVY

Benjamin F. Barrett, son of Edward Barrett, of 559 East Broad Street, who has served with Uncle Sam's naval forces since August, 1941, is spending a furlough in this city.

While the young man has had some thrilling experiences during the past four months, his exploits must be treated as naval secrets.

A former student at Bethlehem Technical High School, he is in the radio service, made a crossing of the Atlantic, has witnessed airplanes in action, and also saw the U. S. battle craft in action against enemy wolf packs.
