as Vegas Sands Corp. announced last week the sale of its Bethlehem casino to Wind Creek Hospitality for $1.3 billion.

Wind Creek is an affiliate of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians of Alabama.

The sale must still be must approved by the Pa. Gaming Control Board, which may take several months to a year, and Sands will be seeking a license renewal in April. According to Lehigh Valley Live, if the license is renewed for the Sands, Wind Creek will be in the clear to operate the resort for its duration; five years.

The Sands Bethlehem center opened eight years ago and has since become one of the best-rated casino hotels in the state. But it's one of Sands' smaller properties, eclipsed by massive complexes in Las Vegas, Macau and Singapore, and Sands had announced its desire to sell it over a year ago

The Poarch Band of Creek Indians became the only federally recognized tribe in Alabama in 1984 and opened its first gaming hall the next year. Today, Wind Creek Hospitality owns nine properties, from casinos to greyhound racing tracks. This is the company's first venture in Pennsylvania.

four words, delivered with a practiced indifference to a father of two concerned for the safety of his children, propelled a man already dedicated to common causes to a life in local politics.

Gerald Yob went for help with an infestation in his neighborhood – rats visible in the streets where his kids were playing - and was not impressed with the response by a member of Freemansburg Borough Council. He decided to run for office to provide the community with a better example in leadership. And he said pointedly, "I'm going to get rid of all the rats." That was around 1963, and he's been an integral part of the borough's government ever since, spending a dozen years on council and three dozen as mayor. Now 88 years old, he's returning to his council roots for another term before considering retirement. "I might beat my mom, but I don't want to stick around on council that long," he said with a laugh. Anna Yob died in 2012 at 102. Anna, a North Braddock native who worked in the silk mills, and Granville, a locomotive engineer, settled on Bethlehem's Southside in the College Hill neighborhood. Gerald, born in 1929, would live there for many years as well.

His commitment to service began in his youth. While he was attending Liberty HS, his scoutmaster father helped him achieve Eagle Scout status, and within a few years he was serving in the Army during the Korean War. He would go on to serve as a scoutmaster himself, as well as a number of other volunteer positions, including trustee, usher and others at College Hill Moravian Church, as a member of the borough fire department, Lions Club president and an American Legion district commander.

Yob and his wife Doris have lived in the borough on Garfield Street for 64 years.

Gerald Yob, a once and returned member of Freemansburg Borough Council, spent the intervening 36 years as the small borough's mayor. During that time he earned a number of awards and served as president of the Pa. Association of Mayors from 2011-13.

Over the decades, Yob has watched divisive councils sink Freemansburg in debt and opportunities pass by unrealized, but he worked closely with residents and local legislators to keep his community a family.

He woke daily at 4:30 a.m. and arrived at the office two hours before anyone else, checking in with police, taking calls about road problems or fallen trees, and immediately contacting the proper department or committee members to get on the issue. "I was always around," he said. "People would stop by and say, 'What about that one street?' I'd say, See YOB on Page A2

"I always said I liked what I was doing. I got to know a lot of people. A lot of them still call me mayor. They know I get the job done."

For a personal high note, Yob said he is proud he joined the Pa. Association of Boroughs, from which he earned Mayor of the Year in 2004, and of which he was president from 2011-13. At that time there were 620 mayors in the association

But he sees that time in office as a time Freemansburg was in the commonwealth's consciousness. "I'm proud of this, being from a small borough," he said. "I want to show that people from this little borough can go ahead. I put Freemansburg out front.

Yob said his great-est accomplishment as mayor is fairly recent; the expansion and modernization of the police department.

The former began when Las Vegas Sands began the groundwork for its Southside casino. "[Former Sands President Robert] DeSalvio came in here one day and said, 'Hey, we're going to close down the Minsi Trail Bridge and we're going to use

Hurry up spring!

The second nor'easter snowstorm in a week fizzled out last Wednesday, after a forecast of 8-12 inches for the Lehigh Valley resulted in an actual snowfall of only a few inches in the Bethlehem area. The March 7 storm began in the early morning with rain changing to snow before noon with windy conditions and temperatures around freezing. The Bethlehem Area School District closed for classes and after-school activities in anticipation of the snowy weather. The City of Bethlehem Mayor's Office declared a snow emergency to allow coordinated plowing of municipal streets from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. A snowfall accumulation of 2.2 inches was reported by ABE Airport at 1 p.m. The downgraded storm officially ended at 6 p.m with the sun coming out briefly between some clouds and temperatures peaking at 35 degrees, according to the National Weather Service. Some other areas in Pennsylvania reported much higher snowfalls such as 10.3 inches in Doylestown, according to the NWS. The winter snowfall total for the Lehigh Valley to date is 32 inches, reports AccuWeather. Spring officially starts March 20.

Recent sale 'music' to library's ears

The Bethlehem Area Public Library's one day music sale Feb. 17 drew a huge crowd to the Bob Cohen Room and raised $3,925 to help renovate this former children's library space into a multi-use community room. Fueled by a donation of 20,000 music CDs and another collection of vinyl record albums, the sale also included 20 local vendors who offered their own CDs, T-shirts, collectibles and more. Laurel Stone, the library's book sale coordinator, called the event "very successful," so much so that many who came were asking about another event like this being held in the future. Shamus McGroggan of Tape Swap Radio coordinated scheduling of the local vendors, saying he "had five or six in mind" initially. McGroggan said he then boosted the event on Facebook-looking for a mix that would be successful and complement the music sale.

Interest in vinyl recordings is heavy as the format is undergoing a resurgence among audiophiles and collectors.

"It's mostly just to get stuff out of the basement and let somebody else enjoy it," said Jeremiah Lormand, who was one of the 20 vendors who signed up for the library's music sale.

Two charged in 2017 gang slaying

BY BERNIE O'HARE Special to the Bethlehem Press

A little over a year ago, on Feb. 8, 2017, a man who was leaving his Bethlehem home for work noticed something unfamiliar on the sidewalk near the northeast corner of Sioux and Sassafras streets. Because it was 2 a.m., it was difficult to make out details. But as he drew closer, he realized it was a person lying on that sidewalk. That person was later identified as Teayahe Glover, a 19-year-old woman living in the area. She had suffered multiple gunshot wounds, including one to her face.

Bethlehem police opened an investigation. Detective Christopher Beebe suspected this shooting might be related to one that had taken place just six days earlier and about five blocks away. But he was unable to coax witnesses into talking and asked the Investigating Grand Jury, with its subpoena pow-ers, for help. Thanks to that investigative tool, Bethlehem police were able to crack the case.

On March 5, homicide and conspiracy charges were filed against Xavier Sheldon Snyder, age 18, of Washington, NJ, and Kasheem Abdullah Aiken, age 36, of Easton. District Attorney John Morganelli announced that both defendants were being picked up.

According to Morganelli, Glover was killed in retaliation for cooperating with police in the shooting that had occurred just six days earlier. Alan Young's gang allies also blamed Glover for that shooting. The evidence garjury is that Young, a next seven years

Teayahe Glover was killed Feb. 8, 2017, at Sioux and Seneca streets in Bethlehem.

Young was friendly with both defendants, and all three were associated with a third local gang known simply as Cherokee. The defendants allegedly began threatening Glover.

Shortly before Glover was shot and killed, she Glover witnessed the had received several text Two males were ringing

On her Facebook page, Glover posted this status: "The scariest s--t just happened to me. I'm freaked tf out yo! I want all this to be over. I can't deal. I'm gonna lose it."

It was the last Facebook message she ever sent.

Around that time, Defendant Aiken began pressuring Defendant Snyder to lure Glover out of her Seneca Street home. When Snyder initially demurred, Aiken grabbed him by the arm and told him to text her or "I'm going to shoot you in the face."

Snyder then texted Glover to say that he and his cousin had come by to see if she wanted to smoke marijuana. "I need a smoke," she answered and agreed to meet him outside.

The two began walking and talking. She was unaware that Aiken was behind her, and he allegedlyopened fire at the northeast corner of Sioux and Sassafras streets. She collapsed, but was moving along the sidewalk. Aiken then walked up and shot her in the face. Then, according to police, he turned to Snyder and said, "Let's go or you're next."

After reciting these facts as determined by the Grand Jury, Morganelli lamented the wall of silence" that surrounds gang activity, saying state law should be strengthened to make gang membership by itself a crime. Bethle-hem Police Chief Mark DiLuziocomplimented Assistant DA Bill Blake, Detective Beebe and the Grand Jury for "bringing the wall of silence down." The chief added, "We need to take notice of these organized criminals, and that's what

Saving Lehigh County's hex signs One barn at a time

BY CAROLE GORNEY Special to the Bethlehem Press

Take a long drive around Lehigh and nearby Berks counties, and you're sure to spot

The Heritage Center, and has studied hex signs in depth, and cataloged those in Berks County. He said he plans to do the same for Lehigh County, adding that Northampton Community College's main campus is located at 3835 Green Pond Road; Fowler Family Southside Center is located at 511 E. Third St. For information, contact NCC at 610-861-5300 or 1-877-543-0998 or visit www.northampton.edu.

at least one brightly painted disk on the side of a barn. Known more correctly as barn stars, today they are commonly called hex signs. These colorful disks are a very visible and important reflection of the state's distinctive Pennsylvania Dutch culture, but with the loss of farms and increases in housing and commercial development, they are at risk of becoming an endangered "species.'

To assure that hex signs aren't lost to future generations, the Pennsylvania Music Preservation Society (PAMPS) is collaborating with the Pennsylvania German Cultural Heritage Center at Kutztown University in a joint, multi year initiative to preserve, promote and catalog all of Lehigh County's hex signs. In keeping with its educational goals, the initiative also will include a student hex sign art competition, and hex sign seminars and painting demonstrations at PAMP's 2018 Great Pennsylvania Music and Arts Celebration on Memorial Day weekend.

Lehigh County Executive Phillip Armstrong praised the hex sign initiative, noting its potential educational, cultural and economic impact.

"Getting students involved in the initiative is a great idea," he said. "It's important that we maintain an appreciation for our heritage among the next generation, and the art contest is one important way to do that, along with cataloging and preserving the county's hex signs. These efforts have the potential to increase tourism and provide a huge economic boost for the county."

Armstrong added that he was happy to be part of the Great Pennsylvania Music & Arts Celebration "because it's fun."

Patrick Donmoyer, executive director of tourists "love" hex signs.

"The Lehigh Valley has something unique to promote," he said, referring to the endangered "Blumme" or flower hex sign style that the initiative with PAMPS is being created to save.

"Like two legs of the same pair of pants, Lehigh and Berks counties share the role of being the heartland of the Pennsylvania Dutch history and culture," Donmoyer explained. "Eastern Berks and Western Lehigh counties are the epicenter of the indigenous folk art of hex signs and barn stars."

Donmoyer will give presentations on Pennsylvania German culture, including hex signs, during the Celebration at the historic Allentown Fairgrounds.

and Their Meaning," Donmoyer said, "Some of the [hex sign] symbols date to Norse, and even pagan, art. It is no coincidence that the hub of hex sign activity is in Pennsylvania rather than, say, New York or New Jersey. There was freedom of religion in Pennsylvania.'

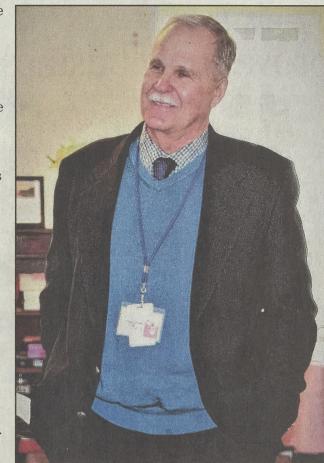

As for the controversy over the purpose of the art, Donmoyer said in a 2012 interview after the publication of his book, "The designs on barns both historically and today have a diversity of meanings, and the idea of witchcraft protection seems to be a comparatively recent interpretation of the designs. Ideas like blessing, fertility and spiritual protection seem far older.'

Pennsylvania's leading hex sign and barn star painter, Eric Claypoole, learned hex sign painting by watching his father. He will exhibit and give painting demonstrations at the Memorial Day event. He will also serve as one of the judges for the student hex sign contest. He said students will be encouraged to personalize their paintings to reflect their own unique backgrounds and experiences.

This year's competition is open to all Lehigh County students from kindergarten through high school, with plans to widen the competition next year, according to Siobhan "Sam" Bennett, CEO of PAMPS, which is organizing the inaugural three-day celebration.

Students will work with their schools' art instructors to design their own unique hex signs, and their drawings will be displayed at the Celebration. Each participating student will receive a "Fraktur" Certificate of Congratulations at the event's grand opening on Saturday, May 26. The winning drawing will be featured on the celebration's 2018 logo, Bennett said.

Lehigh County Executive Phillips Armstrong, in speaking about the joint hex sign initiative, made the connection between preserving Pennsylvania Dutch heritage and strengthening tourism and economic growth.

BETHLEHEM HARB Board approves new business signs

BY ED COURRIER Special to the Bethlehem Press

The Historical and Architectural Review Board granted a certificate of appropriateness to Gail Fly for proposed signage at 523 Main St. during their meeting in city hall Feb. 14. The Feb. 7 hearing had been cancelled due to inclement weather.

Gail Fly, owner of De-signer Consigner, was approved for a 19.2 inches high by 144-inch-wide sign with pink letters high-lighted in beige, on a black background surrounded by a beige pinstripe. The color scheme is the same as the Designer Consigner blade sign approved six years ago for another location on Main Street.

Since Fly has plans to install a larger blade sign on the building's façade than what was used at her previous location, she needs to go again before the board for approval for that. She was advised to bring along a paint chip of the color her landlord intends for repainting the wall around her sign for approval, if there is a color change. The location is owned by Mary Ellen Williams.

Maloney, a junior, made a run to the state semifinals, but lost 5-2 to Shaler's Ryan Sullivan, who also ended up winning the state crown.

Unfortunately, his bid for a bronze medal came up short when he lost to Northeastern's Cole Wilson 5-3, setting himself up in the fifth place bout against Nazareth's Andrew Smith, where he finally recovered from the day's earlier disappointment en route to winning 6-3.

The win also marked the 100th of Maloney's career, adding more to his celebratory night of bringing home his first state medal.

Bethlehem Catholic didn't waste any time erasing any notion that Friday's state playoff game against Greater Nanticoke Area High School would be a repeat of last year's meeting.

The Golden Hawks took command early, us-ing a stifling interior defense, along with some torrid outside shooting, to go up 19-3 after the first period.

From that point, they kept the Trojans from mounting any consistent offensive rhythm and breezed to a 71-30 victory at Liberty's Me-Gymnasium. morial The Hawks will now face Conwell-Egan in the second round of the 4A PIAA playoffs. That game is scheduled for March 13.

NASCAR THIS WEEK

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Is Kevin Harvick going to win all of them?

GODSPEAK: Yes. Go ahead and order the championship trophy and put Harvick's name on it. Richard Petty, 1967, all over again.

KEN'S CALL: Probably not, but he's definitely a one-man wrecking crew to this socalled youth movement that's invading NASCAR.

Who's the next driver, other than Kevin Harvick, who'll win a race?

GODSPEAK: One of two Kyles, and I'm going with the king of the 2-mile oval, Kyle Larson at Fontana this week. KEN'S CALL: Kyle Busch will win at Fontana this week, but let's expect Harvick to maintain his intermediate-track mojo and finish top-three.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

KYLE BUSCH VS. KEVIN

HARVICK: This is not so much a feud, but what is shaping up as a season-long battle between two veteran drivers looking for a second Cup Series championship.

GODWIN KELLY'S TAKE:

Yielding the floor to Busch: "They're certainly good, they have kind of picked up right where they left off and we beat them at Homestead ... ask me again in August, not next week."

GODWIN'S PICKS FOR AUTO CLUB

PHOENIX THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

1. Harvick's win

Kevin Harvick's third consecutive Cup Series victory was driven by vengeance (see below) but took him to a tie with Mark Martin at 40 wins on the all-time list. Harvick, 42, became the first over-40 driver since Harry Gant (1991) to win three consecutive races.

2. Harvick warning

Harvick won Las Vegas, and his team was slapped with a heavy fine and penalty days after. That made Harvick angry. "This win (Phoenix) was more important than winning at Homestead," he said. "I wanted to drive it home for all you supporters out there, and all you haters. I see you." Gulp.

3. Matty D's ride

Matt DiBenedetto didn't have a sponsor for his No. 32 for the race at ISM Raceway and used social media as a cry for help. Several drivers pledged thousands of dollars, and in the days leading up to the race, the team got a sponsorship deal from Zynga Poker. That's a full house.

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

How'd they overlook Kirk?

Good question, and frankly, it should be a little embarrassing. The NASCAR Hall of Fame nominating committee added five new nominees to the ballot last week, including the obvious addition of Jeff Gordon. But they also added former crew chief Kirk Shelmerdine, to which we all should've said, "Of COURSE, Kirk Shelmerdine, how'd they miss that one for so long?"

Can he get inducted?

He could, sure. And he should, it seems. Remember, Ray Evernham was inducted into the Hall this year. He had three Cup Series championships as crew chief for Jeff Gordon. Shelmerdine won four championships between 1986-91 with Dale Earnhardt. Four! Dale Earnhardt! He quit at age 34 to embark on his own racing career, but never found long-lasting traction. He should go into the Hall, and sooner than later.

It is a cliché that has been around for decades, but it was certainly on display at the Bethle-hem Municipal Ice Rink on Feb. 28: When these two rivals meet, you can throw the record books out

The Freedom Patriots ice hockey team was dominant over their Christmas City opponents this season. Freedom beat Liberty 11-0 in the season opener and the Patriots outscored the combined Becahi-Central Catholic squad 32-4 in three games this year.

But for the first two periods of the Bethlehem Winter Classic, that Freedom was missing. Liberty scored three goals in a seven-minute stretch to take a surprising lead over their cross-city rival

Then it all came to-gether for Freedom at the last possible second ... literally.

Lehighton Area High School senior football Nolan Ryan win this award with so player Wentz made history for his school and football program Sunday night, March 4.

Wentz became the second Indians student-athlete since 2006 to be awarded the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame football scholar athlete award at the 58th annual banquet at Northampton's Banquet and Event Center.

The Lehigh Valley Chapter of the Foundation holds the annual banquet to honor a high school football student-athlete from one of 33 schools that best represents achievements both on and off the football field.

Lehighton has been represented by a student-athlete from the football team at the event every year since 1963, Wentz gave the Indians program their first since Kyle Brong won the honor.

They Hawks fin-ished the game with 10 three-pointers, six of those coming in the first half. The Trojans were left reeling from the Hawks' perimeter precision, and staggered to the intermission trailing by 27 points.

"We always talk about throwing the first punch," said Barbosa. "And we did that tonight."

That allowed them to put the Trojans "on their heels right away," and the Trojans never recovered from that initial jab.

Paz was one of those players landing haymakers. He finished with a team-high 17 points, connecting on four threes, sharing that three-point total with Gardner. The junior said that while last year's game was still in the back of their minds, their mission was to keep the contest in perspective.

"There was definitely revenge in the game itself, but our coach preached that it was the same as any other game," said Paz. "Of course we watched film on No. 2 [Kreitzer], the point guard on their team, so I wanted to handle him, and then see what they can do as a team.

Kretizer, the lone starter from last year's squad that defeated the Hawks, spent much of the Trojans' possessions dribbling as he probed for an opening. But Paz didn't let the guard get comfortable as he repeatedly turned the ball over as the defense

The junior now has a career record of 77-6 and a bronze and gold medal to his name, as he became the 14th Hawk to be crowned a state champion under head coach Jeff Karam and the school's 26th state champ overall. The second team East Penn Conference selection is ranked third in the country by Intermat and will quickly have more major college eyes set on him moving forward.

The path Anderson has taken since being a freshman, where he didn't make weight at districts to a state champ his junior year is something that Karam has watched develop.

"Ryan has things that a coach can't teach," Karam said. "He gets into a routine and he just lets it fly. We learned our lesson from his freshman year when he didn't make weight and you can tell he has a little extra weight on him now, but the beginning of the year we had him at 132 and he just wasn't happy.

He needs to be in the right frame of mind and we made the decision to put him at 138 and not worry about his weight. He wasn't hungry this year that's for sure."

BY LORI PATRICK

Special to the Bethlehem Press A marvelous presentation of "Into the Woods" was performed in Dyer Auditorium, Moravian Academy last week. The opening night performance was moved to Sunday evening due to a winter storm and poor driving conditions. The production played March 3 and 4 and was directed by Jarrod Yuskauskas, along with associate director Elizabeth Burke. The music section included director Dr. Yvonne Robinson, orchestra conductor and Dr. Richard Fanning and the play was choreographed by Katie Keller. Technical director was Rob Riker. The cast consisted of over 50 students. The musical was adapted from a book by James Lapine. The music and lyrics were written by Steven Sondheim. "Into the Woods" debuted on Broadway in 1987. The plot largely includes fairy tales from Charles Perrault and Brothers Grimm. Some songs from the show are "Giants In The Sky," "No One Is Alone" and "Last Midnight.'

STUDENT PROFILE

Coordinated by Julie Swan

Vivek Adury Liberty HS

Grade: 11 Family members: Lilitha Adury, Neelima Adury and Prasad Adury

Favorite subject: My two favorite classes are AP chemistry and journalism. Over the past few months I have learned so much in chemistry, from kinetics to thermodynamics. I have thoroughly enjoyed the material. Journalism is one of my favorite my friends and family, and classes because I get to express myself as a leader since I'm the co-editor in chief of Liberty's school newspaper. I teach other students how to use Adobe InDesign while at the same time develop my own writing skills.

Activities: Debate, Liberty Life (school newspaper), PJAS/ LVSF, Young Democrats Club, Science Olympiad, Scholastic Scrimmage, DECA, Mini-THON and theater.

Next steps: I hope to pursue a career in public health and health management.

Career goals: Hospital CEO Heroes: My childhood hero has always been my sister - I hope to one day be as successful as she is. If it wasn't for her, I don't think I would be where I am today.

Hobbies: I love to cook, read, follow politics and conduct small-scale independent research.

Volunteer/community work: I volunteer at Holy Family Manor, a nursing home in Bethlehem, where I assist the activities staff on the Dementia Care Unit.

Likes: I like Indian food, meaningful discussion about pertinent issues.

Dislikes: Judgmental people, onions and a bad attitude

Greatest accomplishment (so far): In the 2016 election, I worked with the Hillary Clinton and Katy McGinty campaigns in order to raise the Latino voter turnout in Allentown. While Clinton did not win the election, I felt I made a significant difference in my community.

Advice for peers: Try new things! Never try to pigeonhole your area of study, your friend group or the activities you participate in when in high school.

Student profile subjects are selected by faculty and administration at the individual schools.

They were all there; clothing for children and adults, toys, household goods, decorative objects, cleaning products, and much more at the fifth annual Governor Wolf ES Mommy Market sale. Customers poured in from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, Feb. 24. Sellers, interested in cleaning out a closet or two, and buyers looking for great bargains, included Governor Wolf employees as well as community residents. There were refreshments on sale, including coffee, cookies, donuts, for all attendees.

On Friday evening before the sale, sellers had four hours to set up their merchandise on tables they had rented. Proceeds from the table rentals and the sale of refreshments are used to fund Governor Wolf PTA programs. Coverage continues on A16.

Angela, a student at Freedom HS who will be studying baking next year at Bethlehem Area Vo-Tech makes cakes of every sort from scratch, and then decorates them beautifully. She has produced cakes for weddings and other special occasions, among them a cake for a party honoring Pink Floyd, and another celebrating the film "Up." For the cake of your dreams, contact Angela at sprinkletownbakery@gmail.com. More photos on A16.

Culinary students from Bethlehem Area Vocational-Technical School created Lemonades® Pepper Chicken Bites with Mango Salsa to earn Ochoa the scrumptious "Cookie Crunch Champions" at the fourth annual Girl Scout Cookie Crunch hosted at the ArtsQuest Center March 4. Over 300 guests sampled 19 dishes and voted for their top choices. "Cookie Crunch Champions" are Jaevon Freeman, Liberty, 12; Kenya Harrell, BECA, 11; Gabriella Stocklas, Liberty, 11; Marc Anthony Olmo, Liberty, 11; and Culinary Arts instructor, Larry Fortunato.

"What's So Cool About Manufacturing" Cupcake Wars occurred in conjunction with the "What's So Cool about Manufacturing" video competition. The cupcake war theme was Manufacturing & Technology, with a maximum size of 4-feet by 6-feet by 6-feet and the materials had to be creative and safe and the design criteria had to incorporate both manufacturing and the culinary program. The electronics technology, industrial design and advanced manufacturing and welding program were all involved in the program. The programs designed and created a lighted revolving cupcake stand to display. The competition was judged on on the theme, the complexity and its appeal.

Masonry students have been designing a garden arch. The project began with students laying out two reinforced block piers. Upon completion of the block piers, students wrapped them with brick veneer, thus the structure size was 16 inches by 40 inches. Then they laid out the arch using a hand formed rough form brick to construct the arch and proceeded to lay up the two piers and then placed a form for the arch and laid brick. Once they had this step completed students placed 12-inch block up against the arch to strengthen the support. When this was complete prepped for the stone work. Then they laid the stone and pointed the stone. Currently they are adding two curved wing walls with a brick solder course on the end. From there an exterior brick fireplace will be built and herringbone style brick paver will create the floor. The final plans include a garden scene for decoration.

On March 22, BAVTS Culinary program students in Mr. Chavez's, Mr. Ferry's and Mr. Fortunato's classes will be competing in the ninth annual SkillsUSA Council Culinary Challenge, to be held at Lehigh Career & Technical Institute (LCTI) in Schnecksville. The night features 10 culinary students working with top chefs in the area and serving a six-course meal to the audience. Then the audience chooses the winner. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. and tasting begins at 6. Tickets may be purchased by contacting Marsha Rivas at either 610-841-1195 or marsha@skillsusacouncil.org.

Eric Mint-The Quartet brings its el unique style of jazz to Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown, 7:30 p.m. March 16, as part of the "Jazz Upstairs" series in the Rodale Community Room.

Audience members can expect to hear "originals and a lot of Dave Brubeck's music ... 'Take Five,' 'Blue Rondo a la Turk,' some television themes like 'Mission Impossible' and 'Mannix,' plus a standard or two,' says Mintel in a phone interview.

Mintel's jazz roots go way back.

"I've always played piano. We had a piano and I had a great fascination with it. I was an only-child and I entertained myself with it. I created my own melodies. I was probably three- or four-years-old when I started.

Tips on etiquette in the grocery store

Dear Jacquelyn,

Trips to the grocery store can be downright exhausting and RESPECTFULLY I have noticed that the grocery store checkout lane is a place where I encounter bad manners. What are your thoughts on grocery store etiquette?

Dear Reader,

The grocery store is fraught with inconveniences, but knowing how to navigate the grocery store will make your shopping experience a bit more pleasant.

As you shop, you are likely to find yourself faced with experiences that might rattle your nerves. When that happens, take a deep breath, and find some sort of peace in the circumstances. When it comes to the new-line dilemma, those who have been waiting the longest should be the

Use duct tape on warts? Not so fast

Q. Can you get rid of warts with duct tape?

For starters, check HEALTHY with your doctor before beginning any self-treatment for warts. You might mistake another kind of skin growth for a wart and hurt yourself.

The jury is still out on duct-tape therapy for warts. A recent study showed that duct tape wiped out more warts than conventional freezing did. In this study, warts were covered with duct tape for six days. Then, the warts were soaked in warm water and rubbed with an abrasive such as pumice stone. The treatment was or cut. # For 70th anniversary, 'My Father's Dragon' roars onto stage

BY DAWN OUELLETTE Special to The Press

In celebration of the book's 70th anniversary, Enchantment Theatre Company brings the beloved "My Father's Dragon" to the stage, 2 p.m. March 17, Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown.

Enchantment Theatre Company Artistic and original music, Directors Landis Smith, his wife Jennifer Smith, and Leslie Reidel collaborated to adapt author performance. Ruth Stiles Gannett's three tales of nine-year-old Elmer Elevator and Boris the Dragon.

The show's score is by Charles Gilbert, composer of Enchantment's "Peter Rabbit Tales." The production design is by C. David Russell, designer for Enchant-ment's "Peter Rabbit Tales.

"Elmer wants to learn to fly," says Landis Smith in a phone inter-view. "And he has all kinds of adventures trying to outsmart the wild animals and free the baby dragon. It's a classic tale of searching out and rescuing.'
