Truth... I just saved a bunch of money by canceling my sports package with DirecTV and I don't have to hear all the racist, anti-white, complaining, leftist, divisive, hatred from a bunch of multimillionaire spoiled little brats.

Hey Hollywood, you're next!

Spoke with the Mayor this morning and heard that several of you viewed a post I re-posted. On Sunday, I re-posted a post in which showed a scene from the movie "Jurassic Park" with the character "Newman" from "Seinfeld" and LeBron James. Both the movie and Seinfeld are two of my favorite shows.

When I re-posted the post, I noticed nothing written underneath it. Within half hour, I learned from people that know me, that there was a message underneath the photo that was not right. I immediately deleted the post.

Several of you know me, know my stand on fairness and issues, and you know I admit when wrong. I'm sorry if this re-post caused anyone any concerns.

I will not be posting or re-posting anything in the future. The lesson learned here is don't trust what is on Facebook when you post and/or re-post. It may not be what you actually see or want posted.

FYI.....in addition to the memo yesterday sent to you, I also posted this message on my Facebook page to my friends.

“On Sunday, I re-posted a photo. After posting it, I learned there was a message attached to it that does not represent me and which I find offensive. I immediately deleted the post after it was brought to my attention.

This message does not represent what I have stood for over the past 40 years as a law enforcement officer. I extend a heartfelt and sincere apology to all who read this offensive post. In the future, I will not be posting on matters of public or political interest.”

If you have any questions, as usual, you can contact me anytime.
