Grenadier majorettes offer sparkling shows

Hard work during the summer and before and after school was reflected in the well-executed routines presented throughout the year by the LHS majorettes. The twirlers appeared with the band at school functions, parades, and the halftime shows of sports events. Head Majorette Terry Ungurean was aided by Barb Fried and Cindy Schultz, first and second co-heads, respectively, in directing and organizing the group throughout the year.

The Highland Dancers were a specialized group of talented Liberty majorettes including Jane Morano, Sue Maxwell, Cheryl Batt, Sharon Heacock, Ann Finn, and Barb Fried.

Before the last basketball game of the season, Cindy Schultz, Terry Ungurean, and Barb Fried await the playing of the Anthem.

Pipers provide music for school, community

The Liberty High School Grenadier Bagpipers, a colorful extension of the band, added a touch of authenticity to the British Grenadier motif. Throughout the year, the Pipers accompanied the Grenadier Band on several trips, including journeys to Florida and a professional football game in Washington, D.C. As well as appearing at all Liberty football contests, the LHS Pipers went out on their own to entertain various organizations and to bring a bit of prestige to community social functions. These concerts included performing at the opening of Westgate Mall, entertaining Bethlehem Steel officials at the Holiday Inn, and playing at the testimonial for outgoing Mayor Gordon Payrow.

The Pipe unit consisted of 22 pipers, five drummers and one drum major. Pipe Major Daniel Tarola and Pipe Sergeant Brian Dillman were assisted by Drum Major Larry Kish and the Head Pipe Drummer, Senior James Huber.

Grenadiers win honors

The LHS Grenadier Band returned from its visit to the Florida Festival of States with a trophy placing it second of all high school bands in the nation. Once again the excellence of the Grenadiers' routines and musical abilities brought the applause and admiration of thousands. Band members raised the additional funds needed for the Florida trip through the sale of hoagies, band posters, and their new, highly successful band album.

National recognition was not new to the Grenadiers who have performed at a number of professional football games which received nationwide television coverage. The task of organizing the aforementioned events fell to Band Director Ronald Sherry and his assistant, Mr. Clark Hamman. Officers of the band were President Tom Pecuch, Vice-President Priscilla Taylor, Treasurer Al Jordan, and Secretary Kathy Temlin.

As always the Grenadiers found time to entertain their local audiences at football and basketball games, in area parades, in the annual band concert, and in various community events.

Mr. Sherry acknowledges the applause.

Choraliers represent LHS in community

The Choraliers were an ensemble selected from members of the Senior Glee Club to represent Liberty High School and the Glee Club in the community. The main purpose of the Choraliers was to perform at various civic functions where the entire Glee Club would be too large. Their repertoire was largely secular music and contained many popular numbers. The Choraliers were under the direction of Mr. Donald Snider. Memorable concerts at which the Choraliers sang were given for the Band Parents, the patients at Fountain Hill Manor, the Cosmopolitan Club at the Y.W.C.A., and the Masons at the Masonic Temple.

The Choraliers, shown here performing for the Band and Orchestra parents, were a crowd-pleaser wherever they went.

Glee Club delights audience with concerts

Members of the Glee Clubs worked and practiced diligently to present various outstanding performances. Mr. Donald Snider, the director, worked especially long and hard to prepare for the annual shows. The first program of the year, at Thanksgiving, was performed for the student body and faculty only. Christmas Vespers were held in December where Glee Club members, wearing robes and carrying candles, sang numerous religious and secular songs. The inspirational messages made these holidays more meaningful for all. The annual Spring Concert was held early in May. The Sophomore Choir, Junior, and Senior Glee Clubs each presented their own portion of the program. They combined to perform with excellence the classic Broadway show, "The Sound of Music." The presentation was enhanced by special effects and scenes from the play which were portrayed by members of the Senior Glee Club.

Orchestra provides music for community

Community involvement was the key move of this year's LHS orchestra. The ensemble rendered classical as well as contemporary melodies to appreciative audiences at Broughal and Nitschmann Junior High Schools. Residents of the Litzenberger House were also delighted to find themselves hosts to the LHS orchestra. The success of this musical group in the community was a testimony to its fine and distinguished performances.

The orchestra continued to fulfill its traditional engagements in the school community also. Throughout the year, performances were held at the Thanksgiving Day program, Christmas Vespers, the Spring Musicale, and Graduation ceremonies. The annual Liberty version of the "Pops" concert was a success as the orchestra completed an exciting year with its usual capacity crowd.

Kathy Kucsan served as president. She was aided by Vice-President Judy Gilbert, Secretary Sarah Zimmerman, and Treasurer Beth Williams. The Orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Ronald Sherry.

Art Gallery active in esthetic endeavors

Under its outstanding president, David Hottenstein, and Secretary-Treasurer Susan Gangwere, the Art Gallery Club formed an active organization dedicated to the advancement of art and culture in the school community. Club members designed and constructed elaborate Christmas ornamentations for Vespers. Following a Mexican motif, they also provided decorations for a Schoolmen's Club party. The Ford Foundation art collection was displayed in the school gallery under the sponsorship of this organization. To raise money, the Art Gallery Club drew and painted target figures to be used by the local police in range practice. As its final event, the club presented monetary awards to the senior boy and girl who displayed the most achievement in art throughout the year. Mr. Carl Langkamer and Miss Anita Sonnenfeld served as club advisors.

Avant-garde drama presented by TAC

The Theater Arts Club, affiliated with the International Thespian Society, was an organization for pupils interested in all types of drama. Membership in the Thespian Society was granted after a student earned ten points, which represented 100 hours of work in any field of the performing arts.

The Expanding Theater was a new facet of the club. This group tried to develop skills which would be useful to them in careers on the stage or in public speaking. They learned to use the full range of their voices and the capabilities of their bodies and relate it to their environment. "Bits and Pieces," a series of experiences in mind and body dramatics, was presented in the Amphitheater at Liberty in the fall. Mr. Kehler, the advisor, was assisted by President Scott Lank, Vice-President Ellen Pongracz, Secretary Elizabeth Rodgers, Treasurer Stephanie Batz, and Scribe Rebecca Doersam.

The All-School play, "Spoon River Anthology," was sponsored by the Theater Arts Club. The club also had the opportunity to view the Broadway show "Gigi" in the winter of the year.

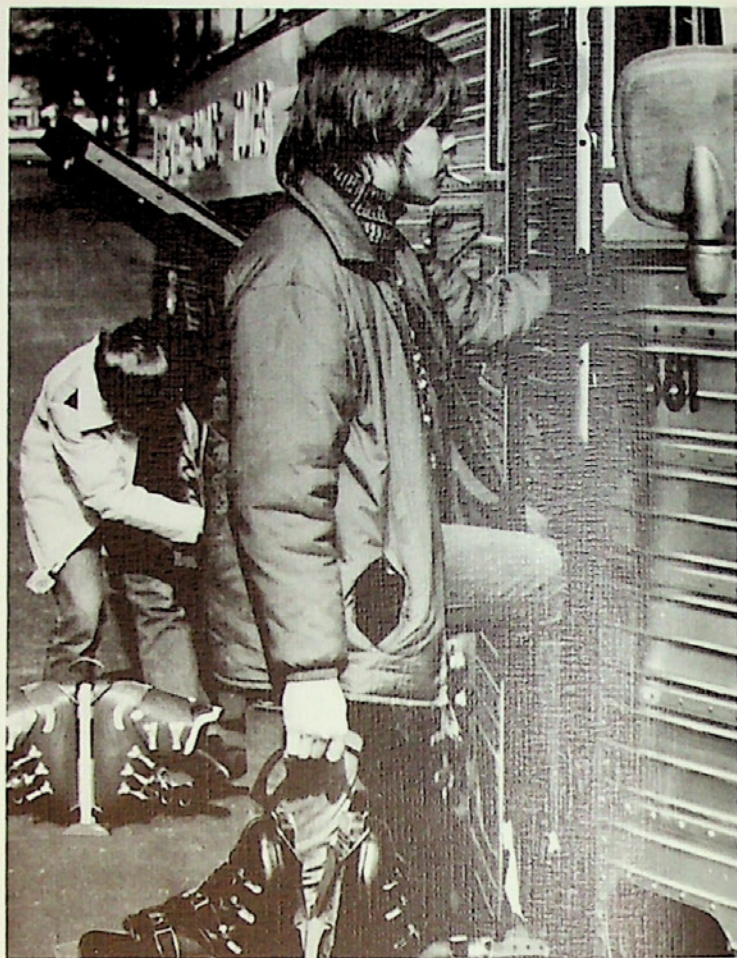

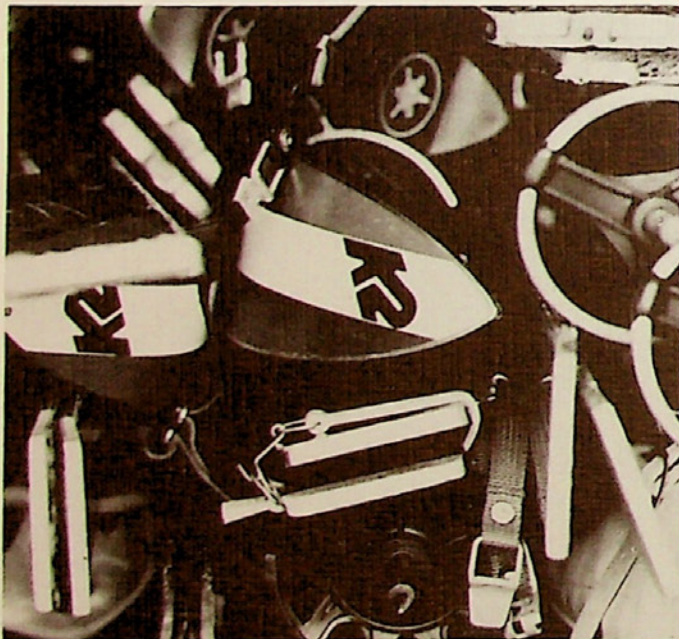

Cora Hook speaks with Mr. Kehler about a fine point of the Expanding Theater.

Skiers soar down slopes of Vermont

The Ski Club provided an opportunity for all pupils interested in skiing by enabling students to frequent slopes at a reduced cost. This hobby gained increasing popularity at Liberty through the enlarged club membership.

Field trips were taken to local slopes, such as Camelback and Big Valley. Members took available lessons, thus improving their techniques and knowledge of the sport. A special trip was taken to Mt. Snow, Vermont in February. This trip was restricted to the more experienced skiers because of the difficult nature of the slopes in Vermont. Many snowfalls increased the number of field trips taken during the winter. Machines that produced artificial snow made it possible for the students to ski when no natural snow was available. Beautiful ski lodges provided facilities to make the sport more comfortable and convenient.

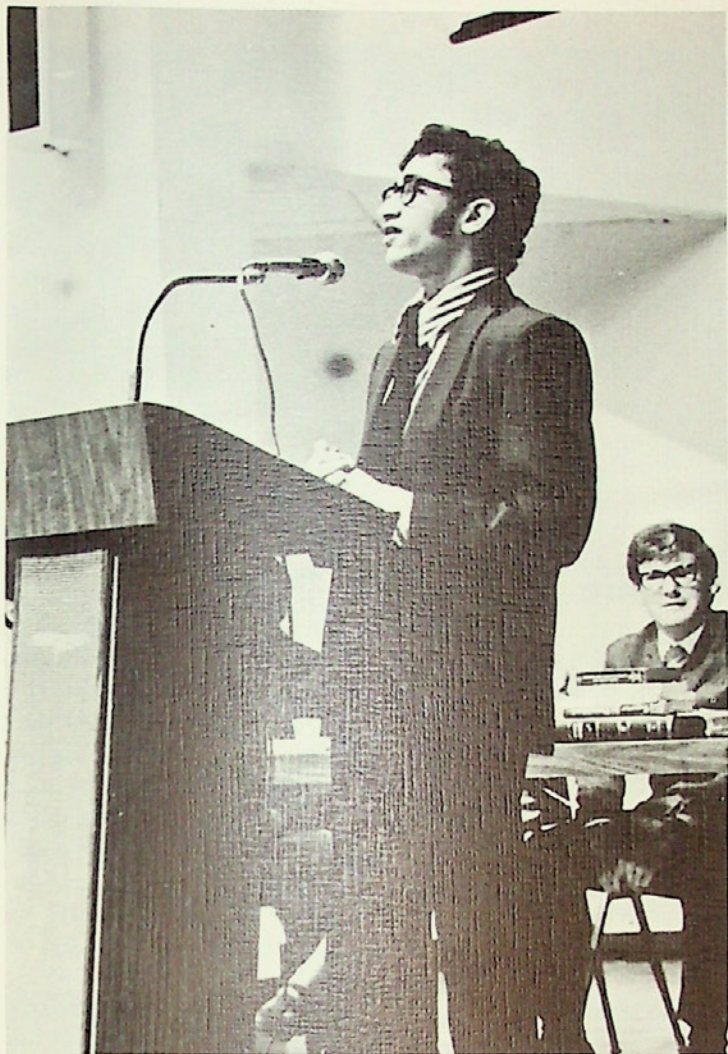

Candle sales helped members to lower the the cost of the field trips. Mr. Wilson, the advisor, greatly promoted the fund-raising activities. Senior Don Cummings assisted Mr. Wilson. Films were also seen of skiing from all over the world. Skiers enjoyed the films and looked forward to using their improved techniques.

The ride is about to begin as Kevin Connolly boards the bus for Vermont.

Debaters resolve controversial subjects

The Debating Club did an excellent job this year in the sixth annual Freedom-Liberty debate. The first debate, which was held at Freedom, was "Resolved: That the President of the United States should be impeached." Liberty lost the debate, but won the second one held at Liberty, which dealt with the issue of high school final exams.

Team members were Satish Iyengar, Bob Tallon, Stephanie Bolen, Henry Knies, and Jeff Phillips. Scoring is based on poise, data, speech and language.

Mermaids present theme of "Grease"

The Mermaids of LHS devoted many hours of planning and practice to present their water show held in spring. Their aquacade was presented April 18 and 19 in Liberty's Natatorium. Under the supervision of Miss Anita Sonnenfeld, members performed to the theme of "Grease," a current Broadway musical.

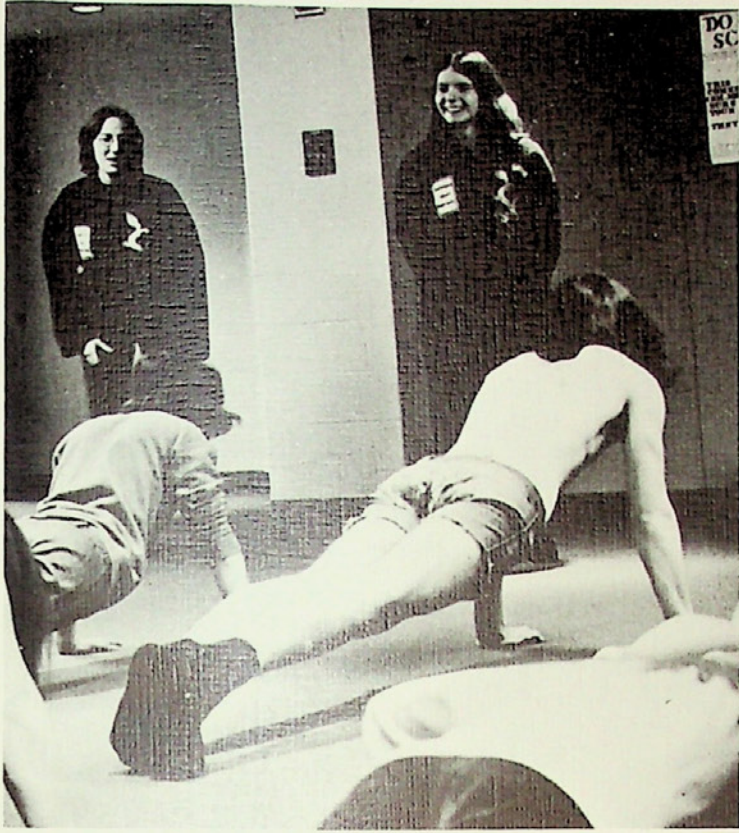

Lengthy practices were held during the school year. Prior to the show the club practiced two or three times a week. Members learned the numerous strokes and then set them to music. The costumes and scenery carried out the theme.

Participants included sophomore, junior and senior girls and boys. Mermaid President Donna Kunsman performed a solo swim. The three remaining officers, Beth Blandy, Vice-President, Terry Fluck, Secretary, and Judy Fradeneck, Treasurer, also performed in a special routine. A duet and several other numbers were executed.

Members took a weekend trip to see the Penn State Synchronized Swim Club. This provided an opportunity for the members to view a college water ballet and also to improve their own styles. Members learned that polishing techniques is the key to a well-executed performance.

Karate Club goes for white belt

The Karate Club was continued this year with Diane Donchez serving as President. Mrs. Judy Adams was the advisor. The organization met every Tuesday to study Kung Fu, which deals exclusively with defensive moves. The goal of each club member was to achieve the white belt, the first degree in Karate achievement. Kata, which dealt with punches, blocks, and kicks in a dance form, was also practiced in order to develop gracefulness.

The meetings were held after school on the second floor of the Classroom Center in the lounge area. The Karate Club provided an interesting and unusual activity for all to enjoy.

Language Clubs enjoy pleasing gourmet meals

Gaining knowledge of the life customs and culture of other countries is an important part of studying a foreign language. The Language Clubs of Liberty carried out this objective with various projects and trips.

Members of the French Club prepared a meal in December, topped off with the dessert, cherries jubilee. The club Christmas carolled throughout the city, an activity which greatly enriched the vocabulary of the participants. Trips to Quebec during Washington's Birthday and to France were taken by interested members. Miss Kathleen Rich advised the organization and was assisted by President Roberta Chase, Vice-President Kathy Kucsan, and Treasurer Terry DiGiovanni. Funds for the trips were provided by donut and bake sales.

The German Club viewed slide presentations of Germany by Ingrid Ockenhouse, a student from Liberty, and Mr. Worsley, a teacher from Freedom High School. The German meal was held in March and the Club sponsored a trip to New York City to see the Vienna Boys Choir. German games and films were also activities throughout the school year. Mr. Damandl, as advisor, promoted many of these activities with Thomas Cressman, Charles Kereczman, Ruth Joachim, and Ann Haggerty, as President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively.

The Spanish Club meal was held in December, with Paella, a traditional meal of Spain, as the main course. Members have enjoyed many slide presentations of Spain provided by the advisor, Mr. Corriere, the President, Paula Rider, and the Vice-President, Mary Ann Hagelgans. Wanda Rosario served as Secretary and Yolanda Gonzalez was the Treasurer. At the Christmas fiesta, participants enjoyed the breaking of the pinata, the papier-mache pot shaped like a donkey and filled with candy. The members were blindfolded and given chances to break the pinata with a stick to obtain the candy. Candy sales provided funds for the club's activities.

Advisor, Miss Rich, works diligently in preparing crepe suzettes.

Chess Club posts best season ever

Combining strategy and a genuine knowledge of the game, the Liberty High School chess team participated in various chess meets throughout the season. The club spent many hours after school practicing new strategy as well as the classic moves.

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Horst, the chess squad ended their most successful season ever, finishing at 7-3. Top players this year and their records are as follows: Charles Knauss, 6-0-1; Mark Kohls, 8-1-1; Satish Iyengar, 7-2; Mike Fetcho, 3-2-5; Tom Folk, 3-3-4; Rob Wiley, 6-3-1; and Kevin Kametz, 1-0.

Because of the excellent example the senior members set, the junior and sophomore chess men gained much insight into the game.

Brotherhood celebrates Negro History Week

Members of the Brotherhood Club worked together to learn more about their surroundings, including the knowledge of various cultures. Their activities were unique to this current school term. Mrs. Ruth Ann Veruki served as advisor of the organization. Cheryl Crowell fulfilled the office of President, with Joseph Cabassa as Vice-President, Ivy Young as Secretary, and Judy Eggleston as Treasurer.

Speakers highlighted many meetings. Nate Harris talked about admissions and a tour of the Lehigh Campus. A representative of the O.I.C. (Opportunities Industrialization Center) discussed job training programs, and Manpower Development personnel from the Bethlehem Steel Corporation spoke to the members. The Goodwin Scholarship Club explained the financial aid program. These speakers benefited the college preparatory students as well as those members desiring employment after graduation.

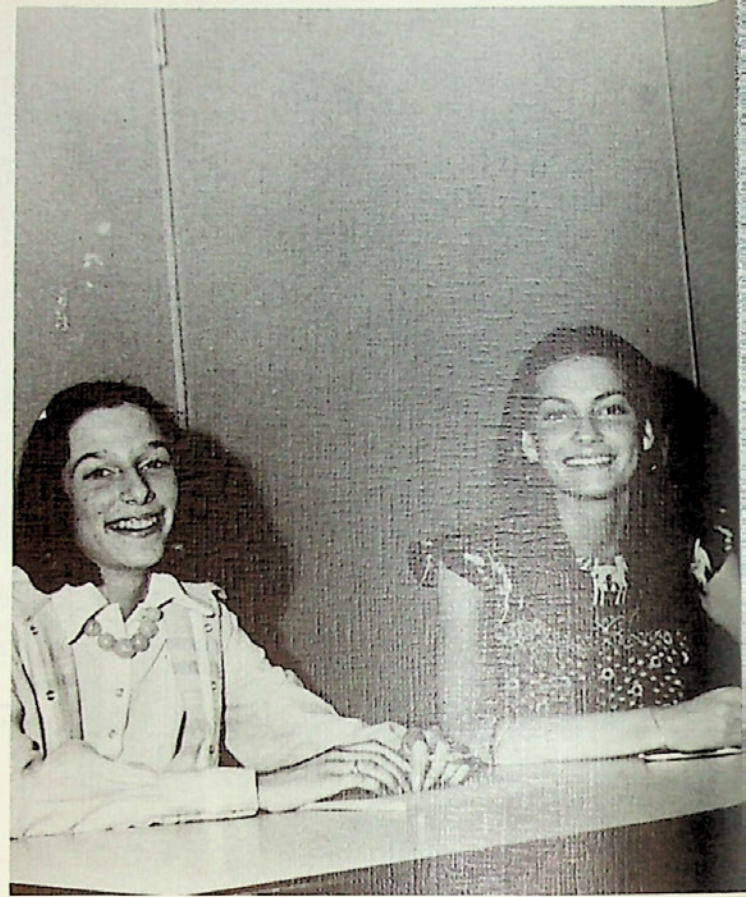

A mini-course in Swahili was a group activity along with a trip to New York City to see "Raisin." The club also celebrated annual Negro History Week by recognizing contributions by black Americans. The week was highlighted by an assembly with speaker Reverend Jerry Hargrove, the Gospel Singers, and Liberty's Stage Band. Members enjoyed these numerous activities and gained profitable knowledge which will be useful to them in the near future.

Speakers inform students of future careers

The 1973-74 Commercial Club, under the guidance of Mr. Glenn Koplin, researched the numerous careers available to students after graduation from high school. President Lorraine Hasenecz and Secretary Kathy Temlin obtained various speakers to add to the club's knowledge. Representatives from Ryder Tech, an institute where a two-year technological degree can be earned, and various local businesses spoke to the members about future career opportunities and possible continuation of education. The membership consisted of 24 senior girls who gave of their free time working in the offices of the school. They performed many clerical duties and were a great aid to the school while enriching their own experience.

SERVICE

Foreign exchange students welcomed

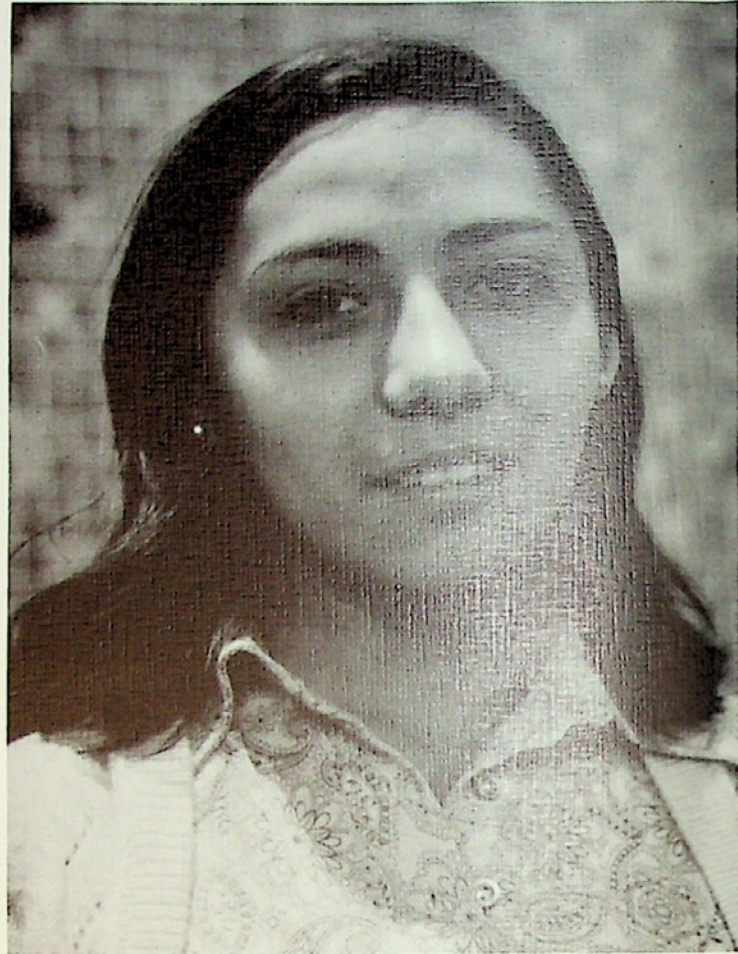

This year, three foreign students were welcomed as seniors at Liberty. The countries of Peru, Honduras, and Germany were represented by Alicia Zigarra, Esther Hill, and Arno Altmayer, respectively.

Alicia was sponsored by the school chapter of the AFS and stayed with the J. T. Sikorski family. She spent some time sightseeing in Bethlehem including visits to the Bethlehem Steel, City Hall, Lehigh University, and various shopping centers.

Unfortunately, because of a sudden illness in her family, Alicia was unable to complete the year at Liberty. She returned to Peru in December with many fond memories, leaving behind many friends who would not forget her.

Esther Hill attended Liberty through private arrangements and stayed with Dr. and Mrs. Warren Miller. Esther came to Liberty to gain experience both as a student and as a person. Most noticeable as a difference between her own small country and the United States was the fast-moving and often hectic lifestyle followed by most Americans. Esther listed swimming, bike riding, and picnics on the lovely beaches of her own hometown as the pastimes she most enjoyed. With her warm personality and ready smile, Esther made many new friends at Liberty and felt that this was the most valuable result of her visit.

The D. D. Feaver family served as hosts for Arno who commented that schooling in Germany is very much different from his experience here. In his own country the students are assigned to stay in one room while the teachers move from class to class. He also noted that Germans take their schooling far more seriously, and Arno's scholastic success at Liberty seems to verify this fact. He returned to Germany in June with many exciting and memorable experiences and a new knowledge of the American lifestyle.

AFS raises funds with "Greaser Dance"

The main goal of the American Field Service was to raise money so that a foreign student could attend Liberty for one year. This objective was successfully accomplished through the guidance of Mr. David Stewart, advisor of the club, and through the diligence of the co-officers, Ruth Joachim, Kathy White, and Polly Foster. AFS raised over $900 by sponsoring two very successful events. At the Greaser Dance, "The Dukes," a rock and roll musical group, provided an air of authenticity. The atmosphere of the 50's prevailed as students appeared with pony tails, bobby socks, saddle shoes, greased hair, tee shirts, and bubble gum. The second AFS fund-raising event was a film festival starring the Marx Brothers in Monkey Business.

Throughout the year, club members enjoyed various presentations, including those of the foreign students concerning their own countries. As the year closed, AFS participants were rewarded with a trip to New York City where they viewed the Broadway play, "Good Evening," and dined at a famous Italian restaurant.

Future Nurses' League studies medical career

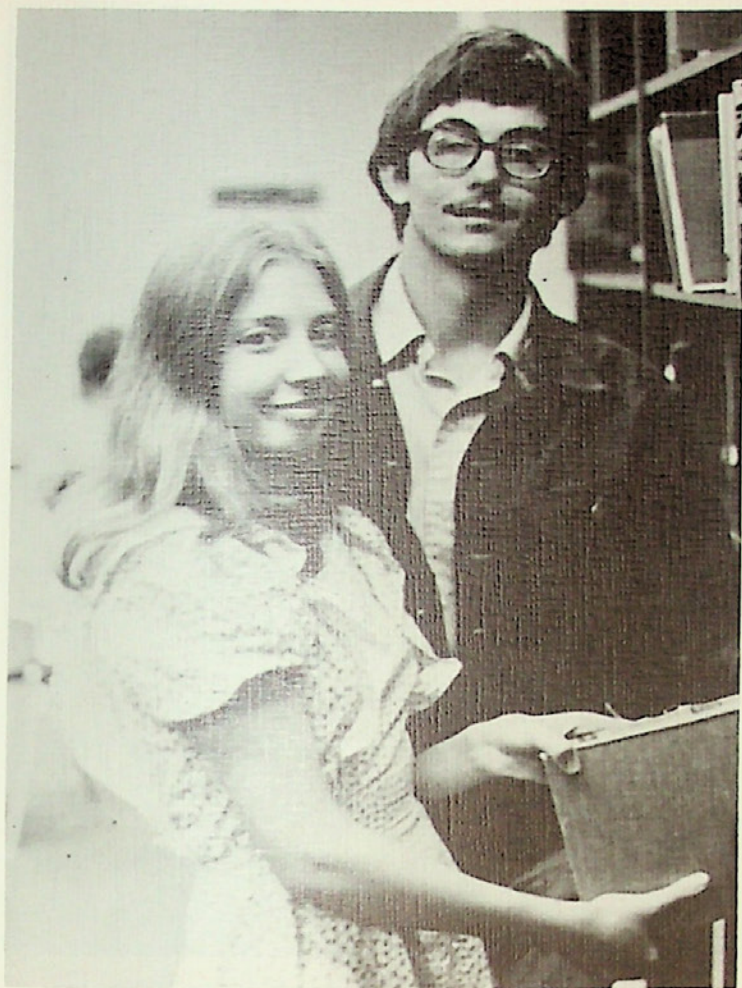

Students interested in a medical career met twice a month to discuss their mutual interests in nursing and related fields. Miss Kathryn Eckert, the school nurse, advised the group about various aspects of medical careers.

Guest speakers appeared at many meetings, helping to broaden and supplement the group's knowledge. Various field trips to area hospitals and schools of nursing were taken as well. A bake sale, held in the dispensary, helped to raise funds for Korean orphans.

The officers, who included Pam Hunter as president and Carol Vasiliadis as vice-President, carefully planned the meetings and arranged for the speakers. Chris Paden served as secretary and Mel Kralik was treasurer.

Diligence trademark of library club

Helping to keep the library running efficiently was one of the main functions of the Library Club. Though diligent workers in the library, the group had many other activities which were interesting and fun for the members.

During the past year various fund-raising activities were held. Unique football t-shirts were sold to the students to boost school spirit for the annual football clash with Freedom. A second drive, the selling of safety kits, was successful as well.

The club, advised by Mr. Jay Schuler, repeated the annual Italian Dinner. The meal, served this year by candlelight, was a great success.

President Ed Stellato and Vice-President Alice Ernst led meetings, held every first and third Wednesday of each month. Linda McCandless assisted them as Secretary-Treasurer of the club.

Key Club teaches members citizenship

Teaching its members responsibility and good citizenship was the aim of the Key Club. The boys learned the importance of serving the community by actually getting involved in civic affairs. They sold calendars and peanuts on Peanut Day at several area shopping centers to raise money for charities. Collecting for the Heart Fund, setting up for the Bethlehem Book Fair, and aiding in the cleaning up of Monocacy Creek were other services contributed to the community. To help the school initiate the patio system the Key Club placed "Butt Cans" in the appropriate areas. To aid inter-club relations and to promote team work and good sportsmanship, basketball games were set up among various key clubs in area high schools.

The Key Club was sponsored by the Kiawanis Club under the direction of advisor, Mr. Natale Gencarelli. The officers of the Key Club were: Tom Cressman, President; David Brown, Vice-President; Robert Tallon, Secretary; and Dann Tarola, Treasurer.

Interact dedicated to community service

Being active in community affairs is the major purpose of the Liberty High School Interact Club. The club raised funds by selling candy and Burger King Whopper tickets. Service activities included purchasing disposal receptacles for the patio as well as planning an Easter egg hunt for about 16 children at Allentown State Hospital. They also sponsored a "greaser dance" on May 17.

The advisor, Mr. George Pitsilos, was ably assisted by Ann Haggerty, who served as president. Joni Harder, Debbie Brueningsen, and Cindy Fissel were the vice-president, treasurer, and secretary, respectively.

Hoop Girls, Pep Club encourage enthusiasm

The Hoop Girls and Pep Club encouraged student enthusiasm through creative handiwork. This year, they colorfully decorated the school and went into the city to adorn the homes of LHS athletes with banners, balloons, and streamers in preparation for each Freedom rivalry.

The Hoop Girls and Pep Club were present at every game urging the teams to do their best. The Hoop Girls, true to their name, continued to delight fans with their hoops through which the LHS athletes ran to start sports events. All this was possible through the hard work of organizing that fell into the hands of the Social Activities Secretary, Brigitte Hoyer, aided by her assistant, Leslie Smith. Advisor David Stewart coordinated activities of both organizations.

Opening of patio highlights achievement of student association

Voting at the end of the 1972-73 school year resulted in the election of Peg Salvatore and Jane Prosser as President and Vice-President of the Student Association. Also elected into office were Debbie Roman, Sue Snyder, and Brigitte Hoyer, who served as secretaries, while Bob Bilheimer handled finances. Overlooking each operation was Mr. David Stewart.

The members of this influential school organization met with members of the faculty and a representative number of students to develop a new school discipline code. The committee was responsible for creating the rules which were to be followed by the student body and also for putting the entire program into effect. The new code allowed for the opening of the patio as a social center where smoking was permitted. Since assigned study halls were abolished, to accommodate students, the cafeteria and adjacent rooms were used. Each person was supplied with an ID card to insure that there would be no abuse of the patio privileges.

Study and service promoted through NHS

The National Honor Society provided recognition to outstanding pupils in academic achievement. A high scholastic standard required all members to maintain a 3.5 cumulative average.

Mr. Midway, as advisor, furnished ideas for club activities. Janet Hunter presided as President, with Dan Persing as Vice-President, Jean Tallarico as Secretary, and Kathy White as Treasurer.

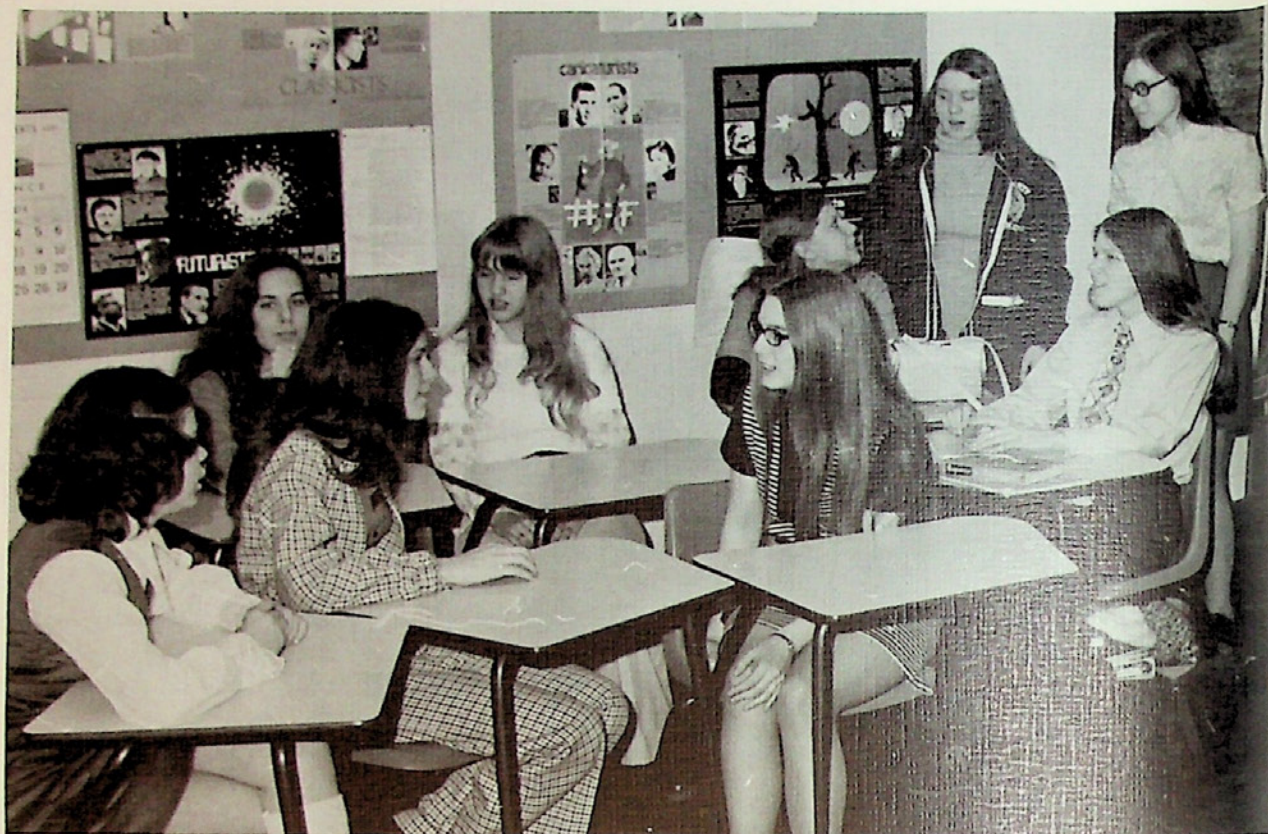

As a Christmas project, the members raised money to purchase toys for the Interphase Flood Recovery program to be distributed to flood victim families in the Wilkes-Barre area. Through donations and a bake sale, the organization collected $519.86. At the three lunch periods, students and faculty were very generous in contributing to this project.

Tutoring sessions were also available for students desiring academic help in any subject. Valid results insured the usefulness of this service in the future. Members had the opportunity to vote for two scholarship nominees. Janet Hunter and Dan Persing were chosen and competed with 75 other NHS members. The organization gained great respect from the entire student body because of their involvement in community affairs.

YEA dedicated to service, education

As its name implies, the Youth Education Association consisted of an energetic group of young people interested in education and community service. Club activities this year were numerous and interesting. YEA members visited the Centennial School, an educational institution dedicated to teaching children who, because of social or domestic problems, cannot function in the usual school environment. One meeting centered upon the topic of student rights, as presented in the proposed state Bill of Student Rights, in relation to the new discipline code adopted this year at Liberty. In April the organization sent representatives to the state YEA convention in Harrisburg.

Under the leadership of Sonya Hoyer, the club made Christmas favors for hospital patients and worked as teacher aides. All club functions were funded through money raised at candy and bake sales. Assisting Sonya were Vice-President Heather Scholl, Secretary Marian Checkly, and Treasurer Jackie Crocus.

Miss Phyllis Dragotta, YEA advisor, suggests a new activity.

1973-74 school term sees beginning of new mathematics club

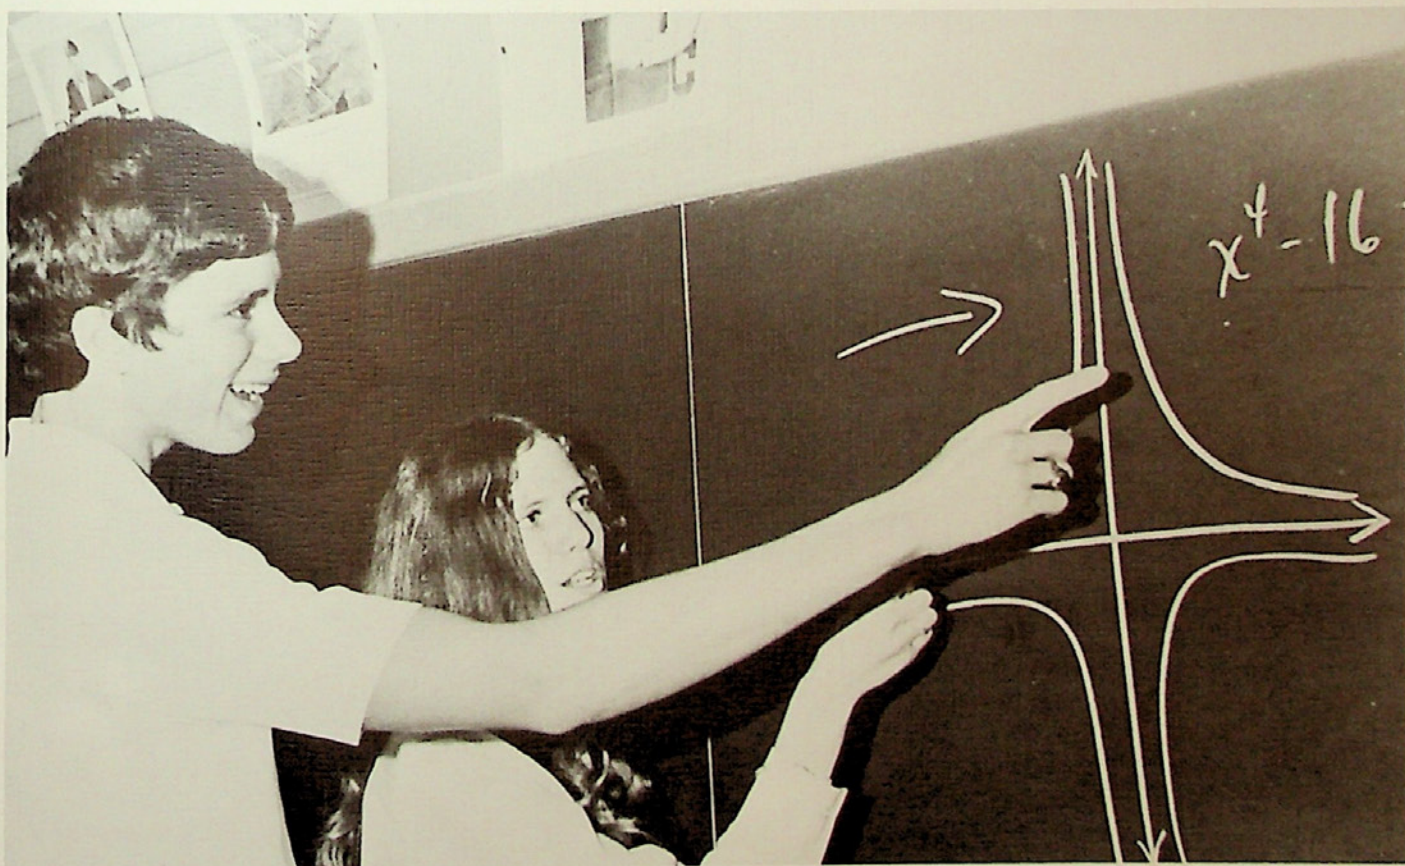

Devoted to the subject and concerned with all the fields of mathematics was the newly-formed Math Club of Liberty High. Under the supervision of Mr. Neil Wetcher, the club, otherwise known as the "Null Set," provided tutoring sessions for students having trouble with mathematical skills.

The "Null Set" scheduled trips which would further their knowledge of mathematics, including excursions to the I.B.M. Company, Bethlehem Steel, and Lehigh University. The Math Club also entertained guest lecturers from all areas of mathematical fields and from local universities.

Stage crew provides dedicated service

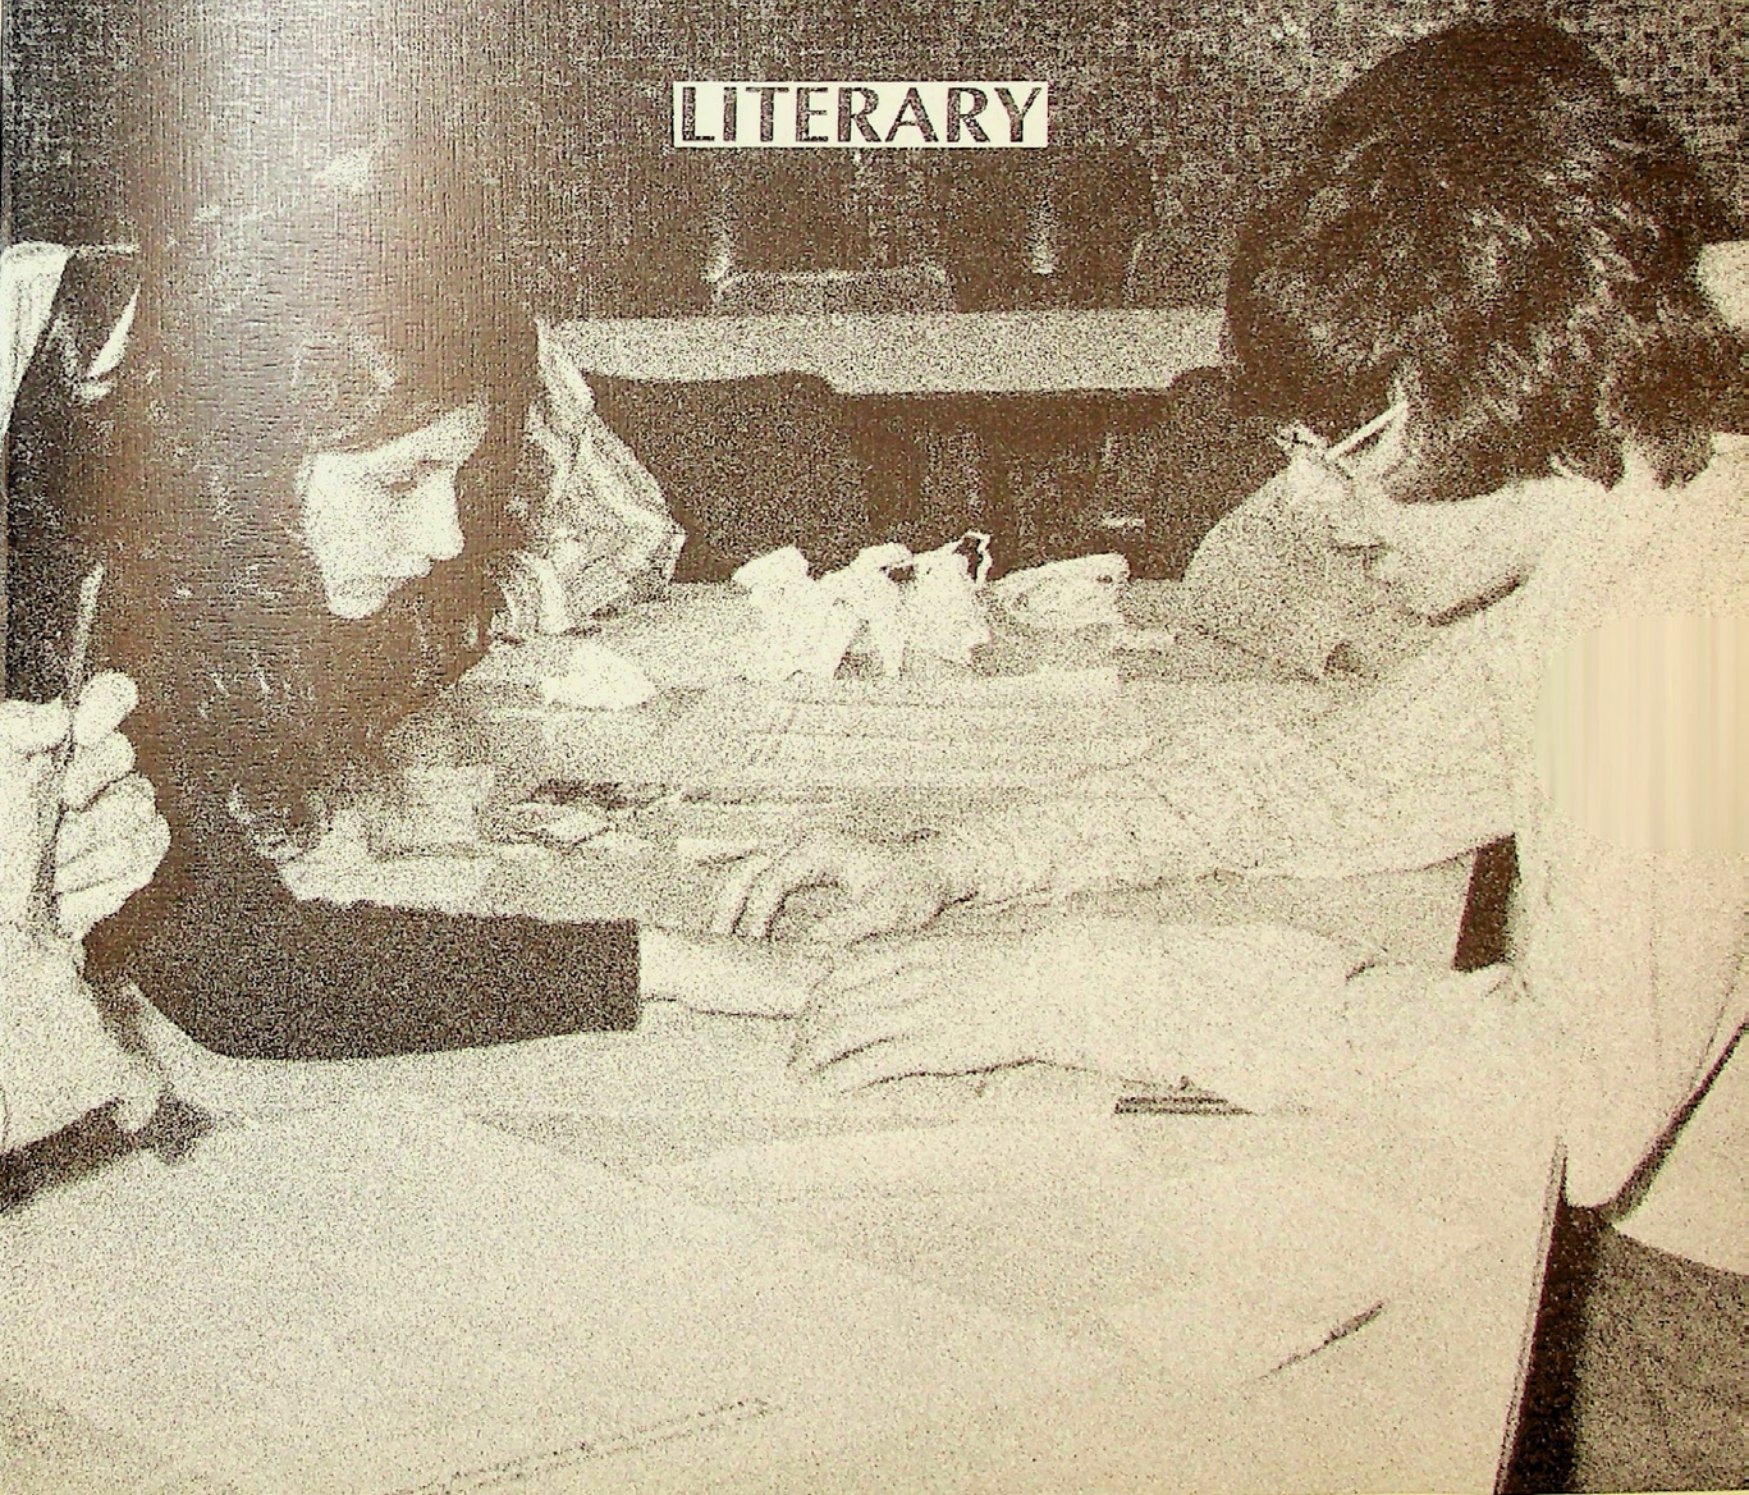

Behind the scenes of every play and musical production staged at Liberty High School was a group of hard-working, dedicated individuals known as the Stage Crew. They were responsible for constructing the scenery, controlling the lighting, and assuring a successful production. With the assistance of Mr. Dale Kehler, the advisor, this year's stage crew worked behind the scenes of the Christmas Vespers, the Senior Class Play, the All-School Play, the Junior Class Play, the Aquacade, and the Spring Musical.

The Stage Crew spent many long hours after school and evenings working on the sets. They also made sure that the backstage and equipment were in working order at all times.

LITERARY

Magazine expresses student creativity

Published annually, Young Writer supplemented its usual collection of short stories, poems, and other literature with photography and art. All contributions, pictorial as well as scriptural, were supplied by the student body. Cheryl Peters, literary editor, and Ann Sikorski and David DeAngelo, art editors, headed this year's staff with diligence and enthusiasm. The Young Writer magazine was successfully completed with the assistance of Advisor Lorraine Smith. Fund-raising activities included several bake sales and a concert presenting the rock group "Morning Song."

The Staff of the award-winning school newspaper, Liberty Life, worked diligently during the entire school year, publishing a total of ten issues. The prime function of the publication was to keep students accurately informed about school and community events. Full coverage was given to all activities including club functions, sports, coming events and controversial items. Many debatable issues such as open concept schools and present gym classes were discussed through editorials and interesting feature articles.

As proof of the excellent job done by the Liberty Life staff, two awards were presented to them. The newspaper won first place from the Columbia School Press Association, a national organization. The Keystone, the highest possible award from the Pennsylvania School Press Association, was also awarded to Liberty Life.

Satish Iyengar was elected editor-in-chief. Jeff Schiff assisted him, serving as managing editor. Much time was spent compiling each issue in order to meet deadlines on time. Three special editions were printed this year, centering on the Liberty-Freedom football festivities, the band's trip to Florida, and Graduation. Mr. Roger Hudak supervised the staff, enabling the assembly of each edition to run smoothly.

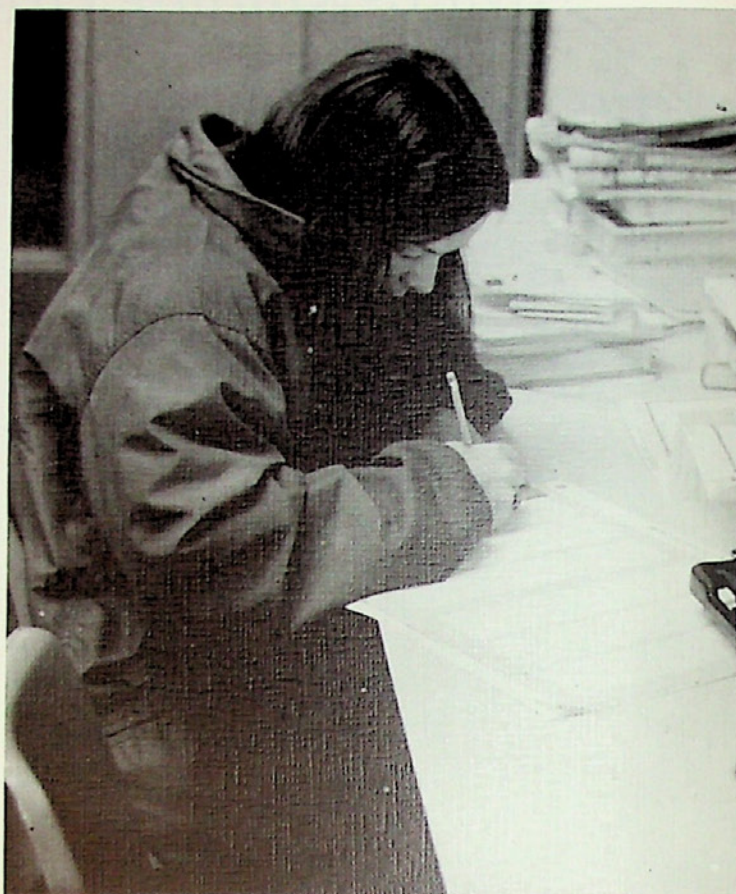

Satish suggests a possible correction to Peg Salvatore, Laura Young, and Jeff Schiff.

Yearbook work poses exciting challenge

Rough drafts, copy, layouts, captions — these are a few of the words heard every day in Room 850. They represent only a very few of the multitude of operations needed to complete a successful yearbook. This year's staff found the reward for its diligence in the excitement and experience of creating Cauldron '74.

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association awarded first prize to the LHS Cauldron for the seventh consecutive year in 1973. Advisor Dennis Temlin and Co-Editors Liz Rogers and Scott Lank displayed an enthusiasm which inspired the entire staff to a greater feeling of accomplishment. Through the efforts of the staff, Cauldron '74 is a chronicle of this class's achievements, activities, memories and, most important, its participants.

Preparing a "dummy sheet" for the senior section is Carol Re.

As a deadline nears, the Cauldron staff works to complete the necessary copy.

"Around the World '73"

"Around the World in Eighty Days," directed by Mr. Dale Kehler, was a smashing success. Based on the novel by Jules Verne and adapted for the stage by Rodney Dawes, the story begins in London in the year 1872.

The lead role of world traveler Phileas Fogg was played by Scott Lank. Scott's acting ability enabled him to portray with ease a character both precise and yet somewhat of a mystery. The part of Passpartout, who assists Fogg on his journey, was capably played by David Brown.

Integral to the success of any play are the committees which must be organized to perform the preparatory duties. In spite of the difficulties involved with staging so complex a play, all went particularly well thanks to the determined efforts of those committees. The remainder of the cast performed energetically and the result was an evening of highly pleasurable entertainment.

At a crucial moment, Mr. and Mrs. Fix and Fogg anxiously await the outcome of the tribal ritual.

Oliver!

Oliver Twist musically came to life on November 16, 17, and 18 in the Liberty High School auditorium. As directed by Mr. Dale Kehler, the play "Oliver!" was performed before a capacity audience and was proven well received by standing ovations. The characters of Charles Dickens' novel recreated the 1850 British scene successfully with valuable help from the stage crew and various committees. The box settings, backdrop, and coffins proved that innovative and extraordinary settings could be effectively employed. The cast themselves reset the stage after each scene.

Michele Leposa did a fine job of portraying the orphan hero of the play as she danced and sang her way through a host of misfortunes to find happiness. Bob Bilheimer as The Artful Dodger and Dan Persing as the criminal mastermind Fagin turned in excellent performances. Also noteworthy was the polished singing and acting of Debbie Roman as Nancy, and the realistic portrayal of the brutal Bill Sikes by Don Cummings. Of course much credit is also due the list of minor characters who did their part to help the play come alive.

Helping Jean Vitalos to prepare for the play are make-up committee members Nina Patino and Shirley Kromer.

A dance held in the girls' gym on Thursday night, sponsored by the Senior Class, led the way for the festivities to follow. Music was provided by the group "Ralph." Cynthia Schultz was crowned Queen of the Football Festival by Senior Class Treasurer Jeffrey Phillips, and President Dan Persing presented her with a bouquet of red roses during the pre-game performance of the bands.

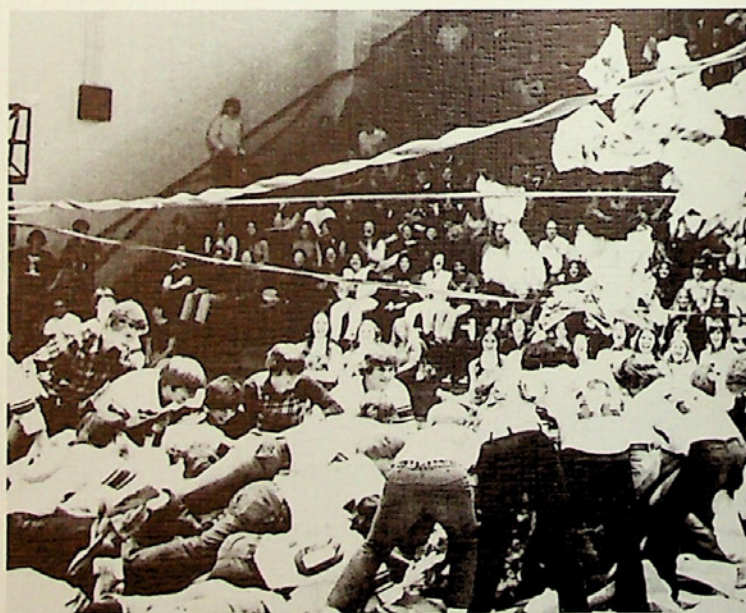

In place of Homecoming, the festival aroused the necessary spirit of Liberty. Impromptu bands marched through the halls and cafeteria, inspiring many to sing school fight songs and cheer. A pep rally held seventh and eighth periods heightened the already intense excitement and enthusiasm for the game.

Liberty stands were a mass of red and blue thanks to the Senior Class which distributed over 3000 shakers throughout the crowd. At halftime Liberty and Freedom bands had their own battle — both regiments enacted the "Battle of Bunker Hill." Even though history repeated itself and the Patriots "won," the Grenadiers "fought" hard and well. After halftime the two bands gathered their ammunition and fired away with various signs, slogans, and mock songs berating in a friendly fashion the opposing band.

The victory of the football team brought to a close both the Football Festival and the football season. And the spirit of Liberty still remains.

Vespers emphasize true meaning of Christmas

The time to celebrate the birth of Christ drew near, and with it came the annual Christmas Vespers. Held amidst the usual hustle and bustle of pre-holiday preparations, the Vespers are a combined effort of the musically harmonious voices of the Sophomore Choir and the Junior and Senior Glee Clubs, directed by Mr. Donald Snider, interwoven with skillfully blended orchestration.

The music was both secular and spiritual in nature. The Sophomores sang "Christmas Day" and "The Virgin Mary Had a Baby Boy" while the Junior Glee Club presented "The Innkeeper" and, appropriate to the weather outside the auditorium, "Whispers the Falling Snow." Highlighting the program, the Seniors offered "The Vision of the Shepherds" and "All My Heart This Night Rejoices," and then combined with the Sophomores, Juniors, and the orchestra for a stirring performance of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

Emphasizing the true significance of Christmas were the tableaux, directed by Mr. Carl Langkamer and Miss Anita Sonnenfeld, which represented the original events that occurred nearly 2000 years ago.

The organist and orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Ronald Sherry, performed admirably and combined with all those involved in the production to make the Vespers a memorable and meaningful experience for the many people who attended.

Augmented by antiphonal choirs of Sophomores and the orchestra, the Juniors and Seniors close with the mighty "Hallelujah Chorus."

All-school play is challenging production

Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" tells the story of a group of people, now deceased, who regret ever having lived in the town of Spoon River. Their ghosts return to tell of the life they found so unhappy.

The play provided a stiff challenge for student actors, but under the leadership of Student Director Scott Lank, the cast performed admirably. No specific attempt was made to provide realistic settings, thus forcing the audience to actively participate with its collective imagination. The spectral appearance of the cast was enhanced by excellent make-up. The players had no specific parts and relied greatly on spontaneity and instant reaction to the words and deeds of others. Uniquely indicating the changing roles was a group of singers who introduced each new personality.

Greaser Day — 1974

So successful was the AFS-sponsored "Greaser Dance" earlier in the year that the Interact Club decided to take advantage of the Fifties craze and hold a "greaser" dance itself in order to raise funds. But Interact decided to go one better and decreed Friday, May 17, to be "Greaser Day." The response of the students and teachers was enthusiastic as pony tails, bobby socks, cigarette packs in rolled up t-shirt sleeves, and slicked-back hair were once again seen at Liberty High.

Juniors, seniors dance in the moonlight

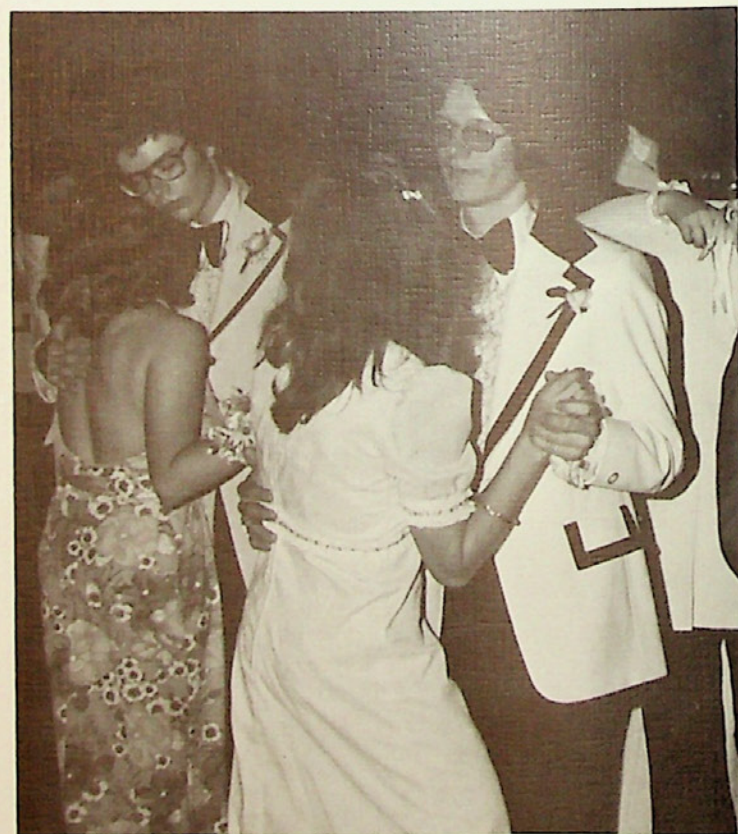

On May 10, the annual Junior-Senior Prom was held in the Grand Ballroom of Hotel Bethlehem. "Dancing in the Moonlight" was the theme, with the "Now Jazz Band" providing appropriate melodies.

Highlighting the prom was the crowning of the queen, Lynn Graver, by Prom Chairperson, Hugh Dugan. Jane Fradeneck and Camilla Shearer assisted Hugh by each presenting the queen with six long stemmed roses. Lynn was selected from a court of 23 girls by the balloting of the senior class prior to the prom.

Serving as advisors to the Junior Class and Prom Committee were Mrs. Debra Brown and Mr. Donald Midway. They handled ticket distribution and worked closely with the Committee to insure the success of the Prom.

Sounds of Puerto Rico fill the air at Liberty

As a part of Puerto Rican Education Week in Bethlehem, the bilingual students of Liberty High School performed a colorful program of songs and dances both for the public and the student body. Mr. Raul de los Santos and Mrs. Anita Amigo were responsible for the organization and direction of the program which attempted to give a brief picture of the culture of Puerto Rico. Masters of ceremonies for the show, which was conducted entirely in Spanish, were Jose Cruz and Emilia Albuquerque.

The Rosario Sisters offered two soft love ballads.

New format unveiled at '74 commencement

Smiles and tears, anticipation and regret, enthusiasm and indifference — all were part of the graduation exercises which took place in Memorial Gymnasium on the evening of June 8. For the more than 2000 parents and friends gathered to watch the Class of 1974 and Liberty bid each other farewell, the scene was somewhat different from past commencements. No guest speaker graced the dais, and the traditional recognition of prize and scholarship winners was limited to having them stand in place rather than move across the stage as had previously been the policy. Undoubtedly the greatest change in the proceedings was the distribution of a token diploma to each member of the class.

Student speakers Tom Hartzell and Tom Cressman, utilizing the theme "Education Beyond Books," emphasized the need for continued and continuous learning for all. They stressed that the end of a formal education should not necessarily mean the end of all learning. Senior Ruth Joachim provided a musical interlude and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buzzard, class advisors, were given a token of appreciation for their work. The class presented as its gift a donation to the Lehigh Valley Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Shortly after 9:00 the orchestra struck up Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," and the 575 graduates left an old life behind in search of the new.

To the stirring sound of Verdi's "Triumphal March" from Aida, the class enters Memorial Gymnasium.

The ceremonies are over, but there's still time for friends to gather for one last photograph, and one last shared memory.

The foreground is filled with dark, jagged rocks. The overall mood is contemplative and serene.

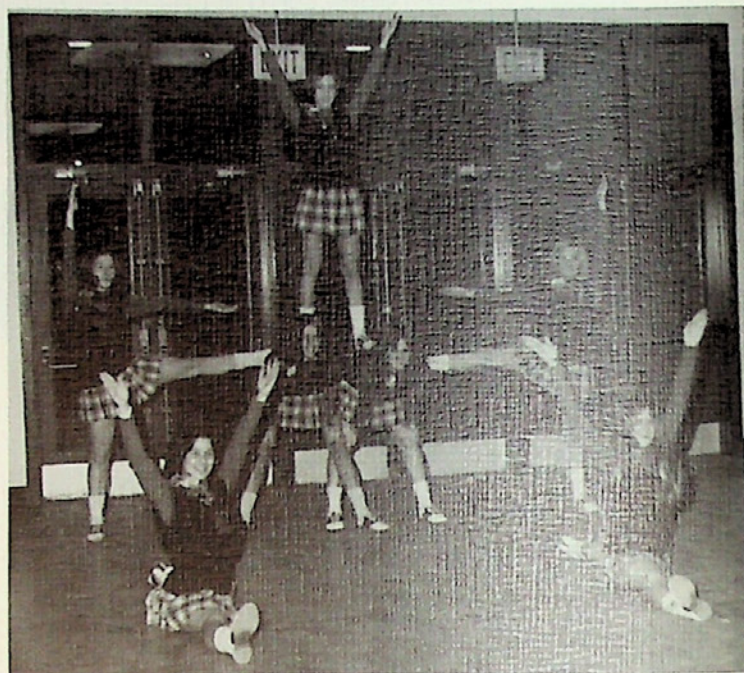

Spirited cheerleaders generate enthusiasm

"Enthusiastic," "committed," and "cheerful" are just a few of the words which could be used to describe this year's LHS varsity cheerleaders. Captained by Lynn Graver and under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Fissel, the squad appeared at all football, soccer, wrestling, and basketball contests, lending their support and encouragement.

Talented underclassmen pace Hurricane booters

Under the leadership of Coach Jim Kennedy, the Liberty soccer squad displayed excellent hustle as they swept through the season with a record of 11 victories, two losses, and a tie. Composed primarily of talented underclassmen with a great deal of potential, the team breezed through its first six games. Unfortunately Emmaus and Freedom proved to be stumbling blocks in the Hurricanes' path toward the league title, which was eventually won by the Patriots when they handed Liberty a 3-0 setback late in the season.

One of the reasons for the Red and Blue's success was the play of Senior Goalie Tom Maurer who won a berth on the East Penn League All-Star team. Others named to the honorary squad were Juniors Bob Ehrlich and Kirk Shelley, and Sophomore Jim Stamatis. Gus Belaires, a defensive standout, and Jim Boland were key seniors on the team. The brother tandem of Jeff and John Shireman also played excellent soccer throughout the season.

Bruising ground game keys gridgers' success

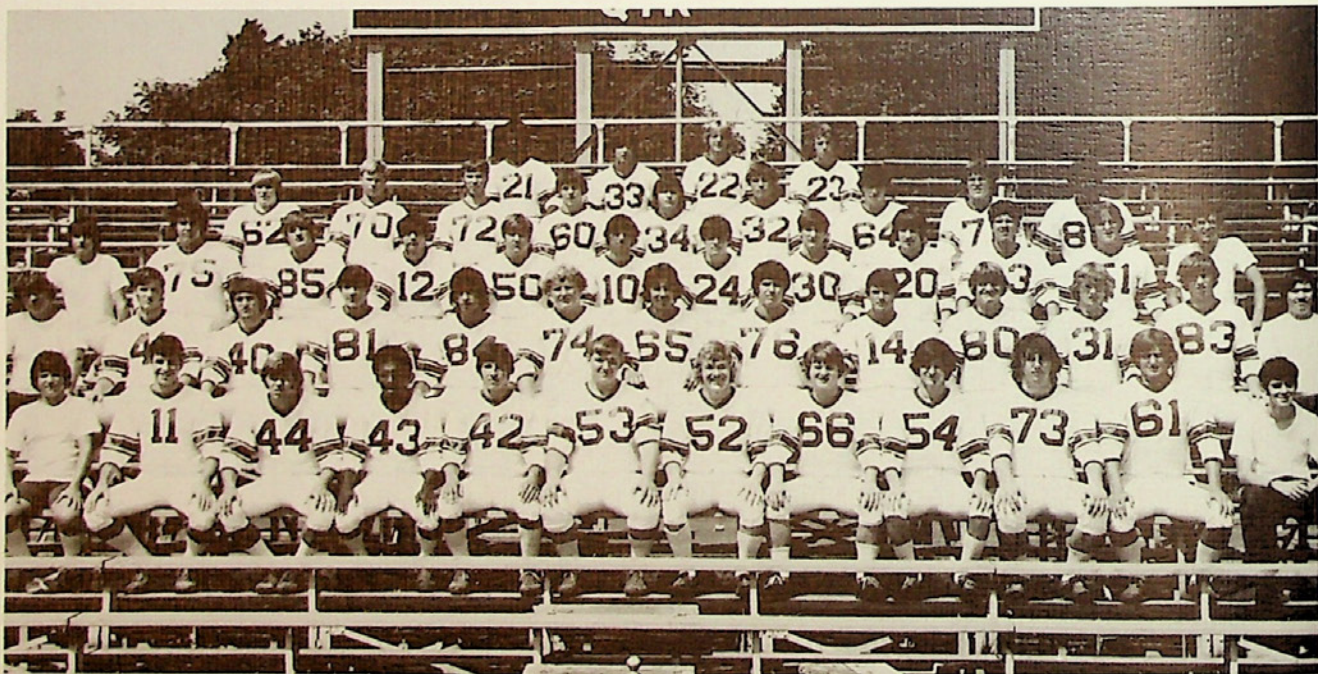

One of the most vital factors in winning a football game is ball control. There is no better way to accomplish this than to run clock-killing plays on the ground, and this year's Red and Blue squad was blessed with the talent to do just that. Time and again Fullback John Contrino or Halfbacks Bryant Perry and Rusty Tinajero would slice their way through openings created by the young but powerful Hurricane offensive line to gain valuable yardage and pick up key first downs. When the ground game had trouble getting in gear, Sophomore Quarterback Jim Villani proved capable of moving the club through the air.

Naturally the defense, spearheaded by two-way performers Steve Benway, Tom Henning, Kyle Wescoe, and Rich Garza, did its share of the work. Another standout was Senior Safety Bruce John, while third-year Center Bob Whitehead teamed with Senior Bob Antolick and 230-lb. Junior Scott Schneider to open the holes on offense.

It was the infamous "big play," such as the one-handed over-the-shoulder-while-falling-down catch by an Allen receiver in the closing seconds of a close game, that held Liberty to a 5-4-1 record. But how sweet that 22-8 whipping of Freedom!

LHS cross country squad builds for future

Senior Captain Vince Hilaire rounds the marker and heads for home.

It was a rebuilding year for Liberty's cross country squad which managed a pair of wins in seven outings. Captain Vince Hilaire was the only senior to compete for first-year coach Jay Schuler, but a number of promising underclassmen picked up valuable experience and should make the Hurricanes a team to be reckoned with in the future.

Junior Larry Talotta proved himself to be a runner with a good deal of potential, and Sophomore Bill Hagelgans has shown his dedication by sharpening his skills through participation in grueling 26-mile marathon races. Other talented newcomers included Junior John Terry and Sophomores John Couch and Dave Oravec.

Girls' tennis posts second perfect log

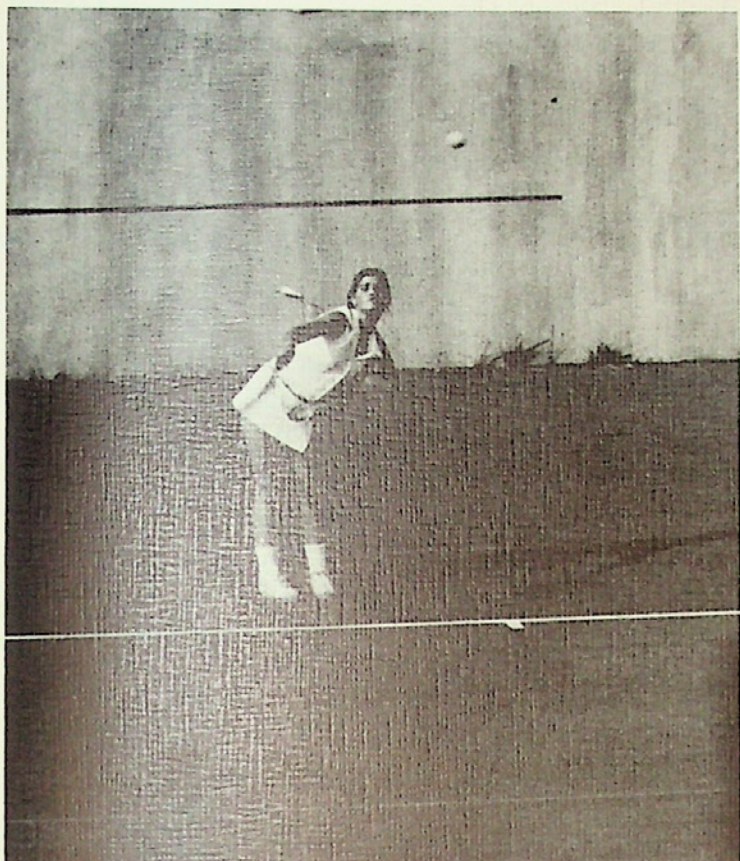

"They did it again folks." The girl's tennis team served up another great season, going undefeated, 9-0-0, for the second year in a row. Seniors Carol Vogler, team captain, and Patty Handwerk played an outstanding season as key singles players. Kathy Walchonski and Sue Vitez played as one of the doubles teams. Sporting new light blue tennis dresses, they played excellent tennis the entire season. Coach Sandy Seidel was pleased with the overall play and spirit of the squad. In addition to the seniors on the team were Juniors Tina Venanzi and Sue Santanasto. The Sophomore class was represented by Linda Balogh, Betsy Handwerk, Gay Jandras and Carol Evans. Intramural programs attract hundreds

Liberty's intramural program continued to flourish this past year as hundreds of students sacrificed an early ride home to take part in the wide variety of sports offered by the Physical Education Department. Mr. Robert Wilson added a new dimension to the program by sponsoring a gymnastics club that met twice a week in the early evening.

The sport of floor hockey was introduced and was particularly well received as witnessed by the number of students seen trudging to classes with their books, pencils, and their hockey sticks.

Zavacky chosen new head basketball coach

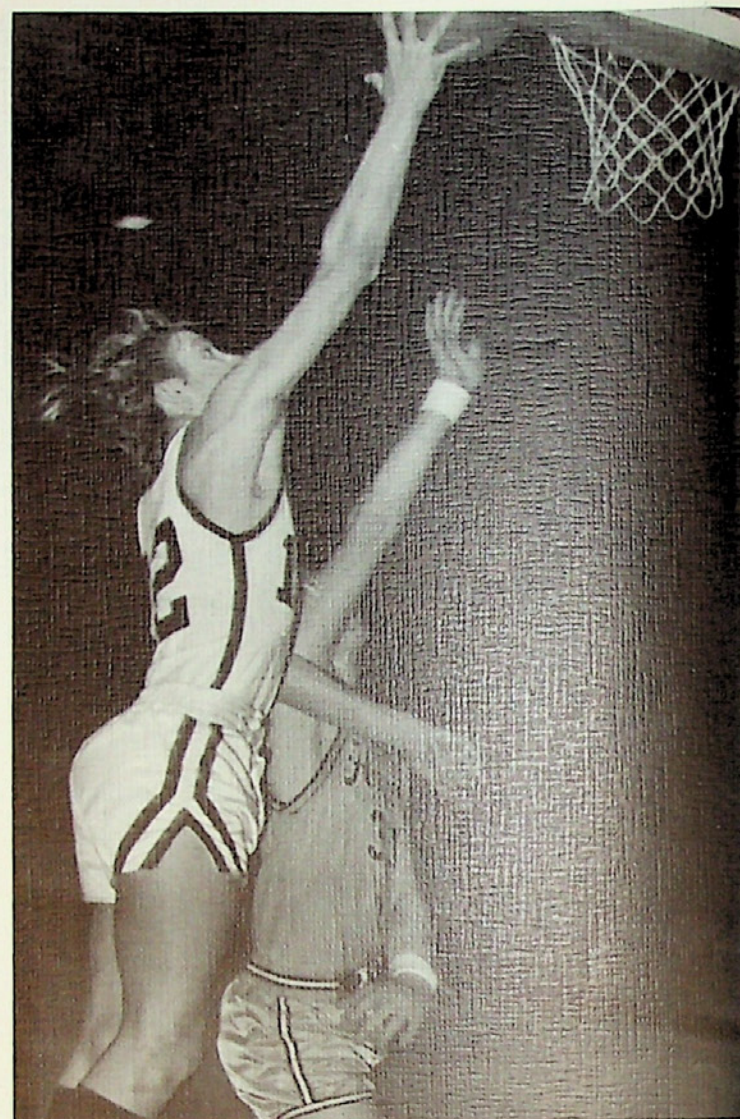

Assuming the responsibilities of head coach is the dream of all assistants, but for first-year mentor Len Zavacky the dream was more of a nightmare. In the early part of the season Liberty lost the heartbreakers — one and two-point games that could just as easily have gone the other way with a couple of breaks. Then there was the riddle of player combinations to figure out, and only the Sphinx seemed capable of posing a tougher problem.

But it wasn't all bad. The 7-14 record was an improvement over last year, and one of the victories was a stunning upset of league champion Dieruff in the finest game played by the Red and Blue all year. Seniors Bruce John and Al DeAngelis served as co-captains and performed well during the season. Junior Kirk Shelley paced the team in scoring while second-year men Ken Houser, Gordon Smith, and Kal Illyes, and Sophomore Paul Rosko provided strength underneath.

Hurricane matmen finish with 8-5-1 log

An underclassmen-laden wrestling team overcame the proverbial inexperience of youth to make a fine showing in the East Penn League circuit with an 8-5-1 record. Dave Turner, Bob Whitehead, and Larry Marshall — all steady performers — were the only seniors on Coach Frank Gutierrez's squad which opened with a pair of decisive wins over Central Catholic and Northampton. After a tie with Neshaminy the Red and Blue went on to defeat Pennsbury, Dieruff, Allen, Wilson Borough, and Notre Dame, closing the season with a 22-18 triumph over arch-rival Freedom. Perennial wrestling powers such as Easton and Phillipsburg were a little too much to handle this year, however.

Leading the youth movement for the Hurricanes were Sophomores Brian Statum, Bernie Fritz, and Doug Heimbach. Juniors Kyle Wescoe, Jon Unangst, and Gary Martinez were other steady wrestlers.

Lack of height, bench undoes girl hoopsters

A lack of height and an inexperienced bench proved to be too much to overcome for this year's girls' basketball team. Rebounds fell into the wrong hands too often, and opponents many times were able to work the ball in deep for a relatively easy shot over the smaller Hurricanes. Coach Fran Bentkowski was unable to go to her bench as much as she might have wanted to because the reserves, including several freshmen, were just too inexperienced. As a result, the starters and one or two key replacements were usually tired or in foul trouble or both by the last quarter.

Despite the 3-15 log there was never a lack of hustle or enthusiasm. Karen Reitbauer and Eileen Laughlin, a pair of juniors, were the offensive mainstays while Senior Audrey Field and Juniors Ann Capuano, Mitz Krafty and Karen Schiavone did battle underneath. And no one who saw Senior Deanie Francis play will ever forget her aggressiveness and determination — so much at times that spectators had to wonder if there weren't at least two or perhaps three of her on the court.

Girl swimmers parlay talents for 5-5 season

Combining the skill and experience of upperclassmen with the drive and energy of some talented newcomers, the Liberty girls' swimming team came through a season of tough competition with a 5-5 record. Spirit and determination were never lacking, and although the final scores are not always indicative, the individual races were almost invariably decided by close margins.

Co-captains for the year were Seniors Beth Williams and Rose Shaffer. Another senior, Sheila Luchtenberg, handled the diving chores for the squad. Cheryl Shegina, Barb Easen, Terry DiGiovanni, and Terry Fluck — all juniors — were vital to the team's success as were Sophomores Diane Shegina and Jean Transue. Probably the most welcome addition to the squad was sophomore sensation Sue Andrews who already has proven herself to be a potential Olympian with her fine performances.

Victory over Freedom highlights swimmers' year

Asked to comment on this season's success, Coach Robert Snyder replied, "Last year we were a club, but this year we were a team." And that does say a great deal when you realize that the concept of a team implies depth, unselfishness, dedication, and a never-say-die attitude. Probably most rewarding was the win over the Patriots, something no Liberty team had ever managed to accomplish before.

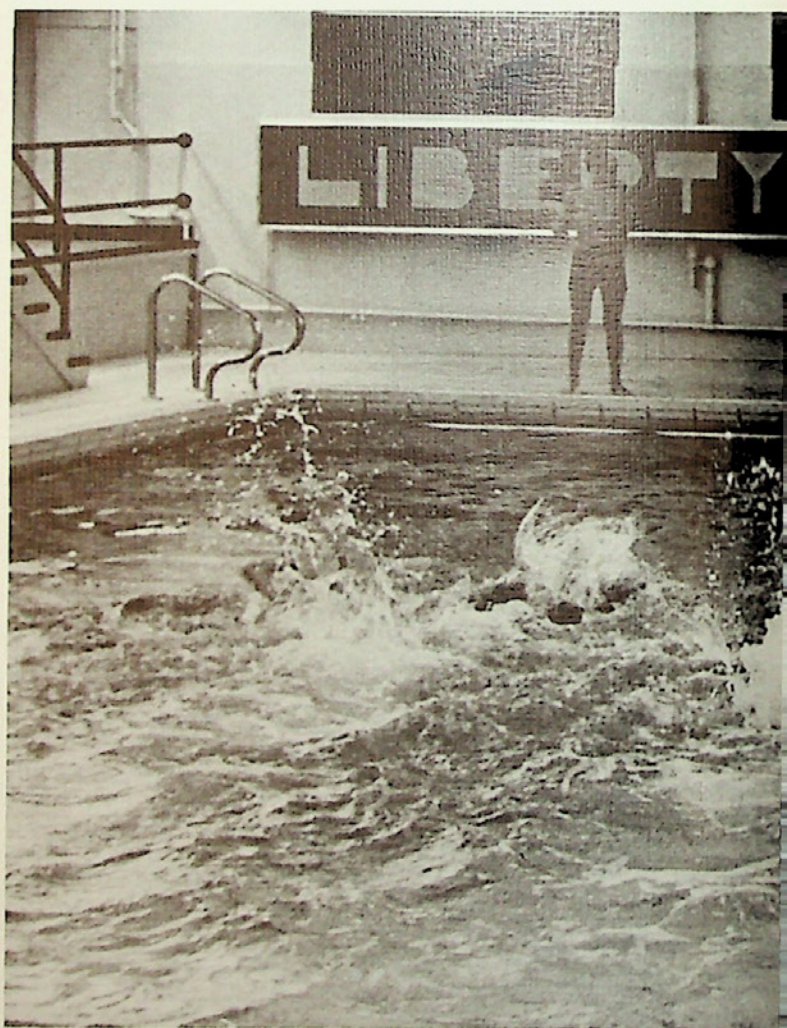

Although the squad was composed mainly of underclassmen — Co-captains Wayne Whitesell and Dave Sam were the only seniors — they performed admirably while compiling a 5-4 record. Sam was particularly outstanding as he went undefeated in dual meets, captured the District XI diving crown, and placed fourth in state competition. Sophomore Tom Williams, a third-place finisher in District butterfly, turned in strong performances all year as did Whitesell, Dan Danner, John Franssen, Mike Richardson, Bill McCauley, and Mark Gravez. With practically all of the team returning next year, it appears that Liberty's swimming fortunes are on the rise.

With the aid of a new range, the LHS rifle team once again captured the Southern Division Championship of the Northeastern Rifle League. Their 12-4 record included two perfect 500 performances against Southern Lehigh and Emmaus. Coach John Bauman's riflemen held the highest team and individual averages in the league this year thanks to perfect score shooting by Tom Cressman, Tom Hrichak, Walt Zalewski, and Marie Saunders. In addition to Cressman and Hrichak, other seniors on the squad included Glenn Yeakel and Keith Terry. Regrettably, since rifle is not officially recognized by the PIAA, Liberty was unable to advance beyond regional competition in the sport.

Edwards' no-hitter highlights baseball season

Solid hitting and good baserunning led to an 11-6 season which was highlighted by Junior Wayne Edwards' no-hitter against Reading. Only some mental lapses and errors on defense kept the Red and Blue from seriously challenging for the league crown. Coach Bernie Fritz's squad was once again paced offensively by Bryant Perry, the league's premier base stealer. Workhorse of the pitching staff was Senior Tom Lasko with a 5-2 record, while Junior Jim Broderick threw well in his appearances on the mound. Jim Dunstan, Mike Popowycz, Chuck Kereczman, John Miller, and Matt Capuano — all playing their last season — were instrumental to the success of the team as were underclassmen Rich Garza, Kyle Wescoe, and Floyd Schaffer.

It was a fine season for Coach Larry Deutsch's volleyball squad, which finished with a solid 28-14 record, good for third place in the East Penn League. Things might have been better had it not been for the loss of several key players during the week the band was in Florida. The Hurricanes closed with some tough play in the District XI tournament where they were defeated 17-15 by eventual champion Freedom after splitting the first two contests with the Pates. Instrumental to the team's success were Seniors Dave McDonald, Bruce MacMurtrie, and Clark Greene.

With many gaps to fill after the departure of last year's seniors, the track team utilized the talents of some promising underclassmen to record a 3-7 log. Valuable experience was gained by a number of athletes who competed for the first time, and although the team scores do not seem indicative, many of the individual competitions were decided by very small margins. District honors went to Junior Duane Sedlock in the javelin and Sophomore Art Statum in the high jump.

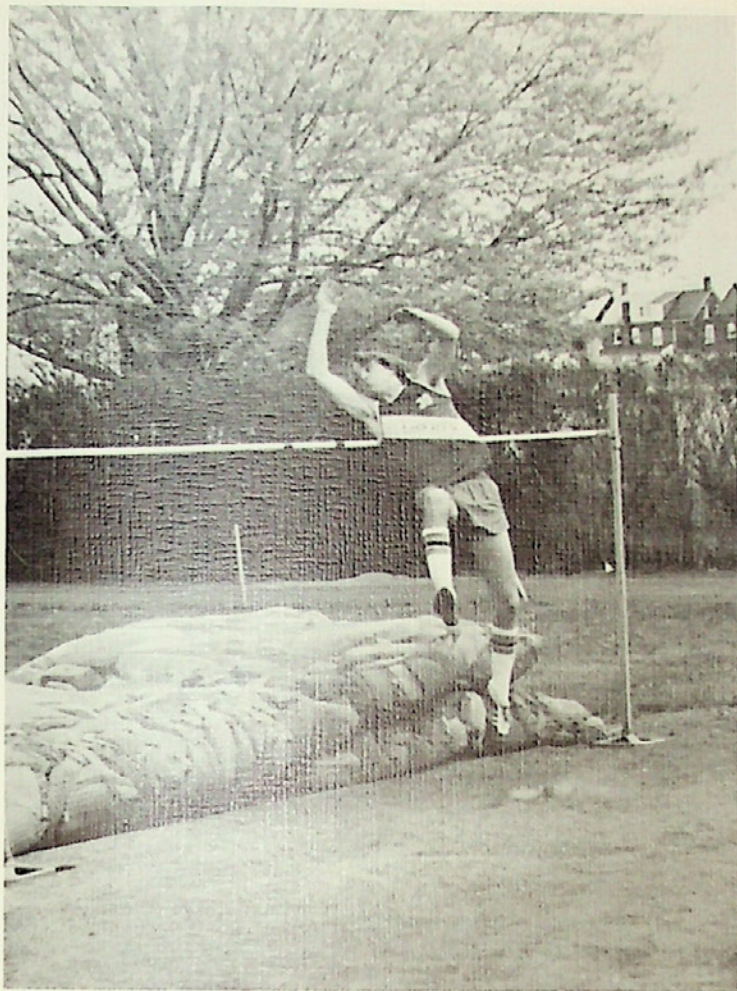

Mr. Robert Williams served as head coach and was assisted by Mr. Jay Schuler and Mr. Michael Potkovak. Tri-captains for the year were Vince Hilaire, Larry Talotta, and John Contrino.

Girls' softball ends winning season

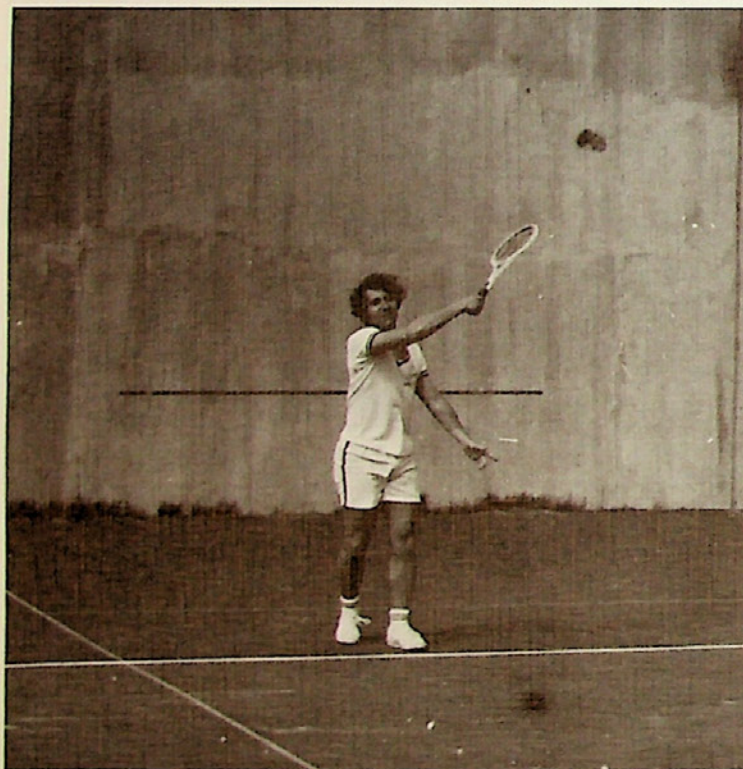

Behind excellent pitching, solid hitting, and good fielding, the 1974 edition of the girls' softball team romped to a 9-3 record. Junior Karen Reitbauer was the mainstay of the mound staff which also featured Mitz Krafty and Karen Schiavone, both juniors. A solid infield was anchored by the keystone combination of seniors Kathy Walchonski and Bonnie Keeler, while junior Eileen Laughlin turned in a sparkling job behind the plate.

Probably the most satisfying win was a come-from-behind 5-2 verdict over defending New Jersey State Champion Phillipsburg to close the regular season. Unfortunately Liberty was once again a victory short of gaining a berth in district competition. But Coach Phyllis Fissel has plenty of talent returning to try again next year.

Only two seniors, Al Jordan and Rich Richardson, were members of this year's tennis squad, but the youth of the remainder of the team was certainly no disadvantage as witnessed by the netters' 7-2 record. Coach Robert Wilson was blessed with enough talent to allow for frequent line-up changes, and that meant everyone got the chance to play. Sophomores John Speer, Greg Sweigard, and Jim Stamatidis were all solid performers, and Speer already has won recognition as one of the foremost singles players in the district.

Golfers set records, finish undefeated

It was a season of broken records for the golf team and smiles for Coach Charlie Peters as his squad played superbly enroute to a 7-0 log. So dominant was the play of the Hurricanes that they often blew the opposition off the fairway by thirty or more strokes, and the hot hands continued into East Penn and District competition. Jeff Mowrer made it to the State tournament and played well despite not being among the top finishers.

Undoubtedly the finest match, and one which will long be remembered, was against Dieruff. Senior Dave Burke broke the school's individual record with a sizzling 73. But even more amazing was the new team mark set by Burke, Captain Frank Boyer, Jon Herasimchuk, Jeff Mowrer, and Marty Rzucidlo. All five finished with scores below 80 to break both the old East Penn league and District XI standards. As if that weren't enough, the next two Liberty players, whose scores did not count in the contest, also totalled fewer than 80 shots during the round.

Administration works to benefit students

Since the arrival of Dr. William A. Bost four years ago, the Bethlehem Area School District has made great progress. The open concept schools on the elementary level have proven successful, and the new Interim School has shown itself to be an effective and practical means of providing an education for those students who have never been able to relate effectively to a regular school situation. In addition to instituting these two programs, Dr. Bost has also worked closely with school administrators in an attempt to combat truancy on the part of those students who have become apathetic to the educational system.

Principal Charles A. Klein has continued to strengthen the character of the Liberty school community. His efforts to improve faculty-student relationships have won him respect and recognition, both of which he richly deserves.

Aiding Mr. Klein with the operations of the school were a pair of tireless principals, Mr. John F. Spirk and Mr. John C. Saunders. They gave unselfishly of themselves and insured the smooth functioning of Liberty High School.

Counselors provide excellent service

As has been the case for many years now, the Guidance Department provided the finest service to students by advising them regarding course selection, dealing with scheduling difficulties, and aiding in the search for the right college or career.

The five counselors at Liberty were part of a special program implemented by the Bethlehem Area School District this year which provides an opportunity for concerned parents to meet with one of the guidance personnel on Monday evenings. Counselors were also available before and after school to provide students with yet another chance to discuss any problems.

Three young social restoration workers aided the counselors by dealing with extremely difficult cases and providing tutorial service.

Yet another change this year involved assigning students to counselors on a purely alphabetical basis rather than by grade and sex. This system helped to more evenly distribute the student load.

Successful humanities program expanded

Mr. Roger Hudak/English 10

After a highly successful first year of operation during the 1972-73 school year, the Humanities program was expanded this past term to include an even greater number of students. Further expansion of the course, which correlates American history and literature on the junior level, is anticipated for next Fall. Mr. C. Barry Lutz, English Department chairman, was especially pleased with the results and expressed a desire to initiate a similar program on the sophomore and senior levels.

Greater use of videotape replays and other audio-visual aids highlighted the school year for English students. In addition, a number of trips to local theaters as well as those in New York and Philadelphia augmented the normal classroom routine.

One of the major projects which the department has undertaken is the revision and standardization of a style sheet for all students faced with the task of composing a research paper. It is hoped that this project will eliminate much of the confusion and controversy caused by current methods.

Fundamentals integral part of languages

Foreign language courses were offered in the fields of Spanish, German, French, Latin, and Russian. Students learned to converse by practicing exercises in textbooks and listening to tapes while films, slides, and magazines helped supplement the educational process.

Realizing that the fundamentals of a language are most important, the foreign language staff devoted the first years of study to vocabulary and basic sentence structure. Later years stressed fluency, reading ability, and culture. Mrs. Dianne Kucera, chairman of the department, found that the diversity in languages enabled students to follow their own preferences for as many years as they desired, including a fourth year. Advanced placement was offered to German students who had completed the basic courses and wished further enrichment.

Students benefit from varied electives

A wide range of electives was available to students last year, including courses in art, music, and English. These courses were designed to supplement the students' schedules and to provide for personal enrichment.

Following the current trend of education, the Art Department emphasized the importance of art for certain careers. Pupils interested in a future in commercial art or designing found the courses to be particularly relevant to their needs. Mr. Carl Langkamer and Miss Anita Sonnenfeld undertook many new projects, one of which was a new studio area for advanced students who were interested in working on large paintings or sculpture. The Fine Arts classes provided a more meaningful understanding of our culture, both artistic and emotional.

Students yearning for other expressionistic outlets found Mr. Dale Kehler's classes highly stimulating and useful. Public Speaking and Creative Writing were courses developed to strengthen each individual's ability to relate to others by both the spoken and written word. The dramatics classes not only delved into the background of theater and drama, but also included modern views and gave students a chance to perform or even write their own dramatic production.

Music was another area which received an enthusiastic response this past year from the students. Music Theory and Music Appreciation were available to those interested in majoring in music as well as those merely curious about the complexities of this art form. Mr. Donald Snider taught the music classes and led the glee clubs. Mr. Ronald Sherry was in charge of both the band and the orchestra. New to the staff this year was Mr. Clark Hamman, who assisted Mr. Sherry and was in charge of the school stage band.

Special services made available to students

In order to insure the smooth running of any school, certain special services beyond the regular classroom, such as the library and the dispensary, are a must. Reading and instruction in non-English studies were also offered, although the reading program has since been phased out.

The course in non-English studies was designed to teach students to function at their maximum potential in their own language. Taught by Mrs. Anita Amigo, Mrs. Rosita Hanily, and Mr. Raul de los Santos, the course received praise from state evaluators. Meanwhile many books, viewers, filmstrips, and resource materials were available in the library under the supervision of Mr. Jay Schuler and Mrs. Ellen Beers.

Miss Kathryn Eckert and Mrs. Mary Strubeck efficiently administered aid to students in the dispensary. Specific tests in sight and hearing as well as general physical examinations were held to insure the well-being of all students.

Supervision of the bookroom belonged to Mr. John Clark. He replaced mislaid or stolen books and was also in charge of dispensing stationery supplies and aiding teachers, counselors, administrators, and the office staff in mimeographing.

Increased interest in new math courses

Five new courses were added to the math curriculum at Liberty High School this past year, each one stressing a practical and relevant aspect of mathematics. Mrs. Ruth Fidorack, head of the department, feels that the courses will enable students to select a more individualized math program geared to their future vocations. Those interested in practical arts found Shop Math to be both useful and interesting. Investment Math and Consumer Math were two of the new offerings which attempted to clarify the complexities of our economic system and provide a basis for financial situations later in life. Pupils planning a career in medical technology chose the Medical Math program and found it to be highly beneficial.

The department felt that by offering courses that met the needs of the students, a greater interest in mathematics would develop. Math 10 has been revised, for example, to place more attention on the individual's requirements and interests while Solid Geometry was dropped to free teachers for more practical courses.

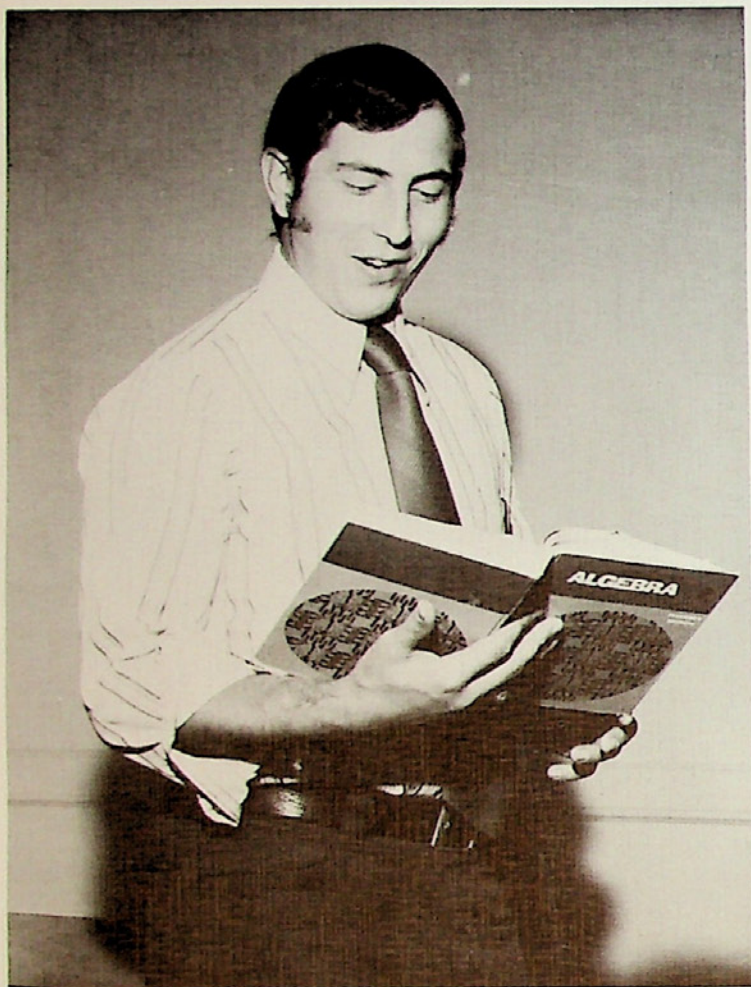

One side development of the changing and expanding mathematics curriculum was the founding of a club known as the Null Set. Members of this organization devoted themselves to an even more thorough study of higher mathematics and offered tutoring aid to students experiencing difficulties.

Social studies places emphasis on seminars

The emphasis was on seminar and small discussion groups this year as the Social Studies department strove to make students aware of the relevance and practicality of this subject area. More opportunities were presented for non-textbook learning in order to accomplish this purpose. Chairman David Stewart summed up the philosophy of the department by saying: "I feel a student can often gain more knowledge from a real-life situation than solely from a textbook."

A model United Nations was organized, enabling students to learn the customs and philosophies of foreign countries while relating this information to the current world scene. Plans to institute a model Congress along the same basic lines are being considered for the near future.

Electives such as Government, Economics, Civil Liberties, Urban Studies, Psychology, and Sociology proved particularly popular and were also vital in providing students with a better understanding of themselves as individuals and their roles in the society in which they live.

The fundamental courses of Biology, Physics, and Chemistry provided a strong background in the natural sciences. Experiments were found to be especially helpful in gaining full understanding of the various rules and laws of natural science. Striving to keep abreast of the latest developments in the business world, the Business Department instituted three new courses this past year — Computer Programming, Computer Accounting, and Clerical Skills. Both business and non-business students were involved in the computer programming classes. Once each week they were given the opportunity to visit Northampton County Community College to work with that school's computer. Meanwhile key punches, transparencies, recorders, and filmstrips were used extensively to help emphasize the importance of automation in the business world of today.

Mr. Vincent Gilbert, department chairman, was pleased with the turnout of students for the variety of courses. Although the courses are designed basically for those interested in a career in this field, it is hoped that continued expansion of subject offerings will interest non-business students as well for the purpose of personal enrichment.

Driver Education stresses awareness

Safety and awareness were two of the ideas instilled into the minds of students by Driver Education teachers Henry Kichline, James Delgrosso, and Harold Dudeck. Students were taught to recognize the hazards of driving and made to realize the enormous responsibility associated with what all too often seems a very simple task.

At the age of 16, students were allowed to get a learner's permit after which they were required to complete six hours of on-the-road work under the supervision of one of the instructors. The first experience behind the wheel usually came on the school district practice range at Freedom. In addition to actual driving, thirty hours of classroom work were required before a license could be obtained. Movies, guest speakers, and a driving simulator were all a part of the program which required special reports by all involved.

New elective program begins in gym classes

The Physical Education Department of Liberty High School implemented a new type of program for this year's classes. Students were allowed to select activities on an individual basis with the exception of swimming, which was required for all. Tennis, track, football, wrestling, and the newly-devised and extremely popular game of floor hockey were only a few of the alternatives available for boys while girls chose from a group of activities that included field hockey, gymnastics, and volleyball.

Physical education instructors were also responsible for the highly successful intramural programs which attracted hundreds of students to after-school competition. Health classes, a requirement for all sophomores, were also taught.

Personal satisfaction key to Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department at Liberty, with Mr. Michael Fidorack as chairman, gave students the chance to select projects themselves in order to fulfill course requirements. The school supplied everything necessary for the smaller endeavors, although students themselves provided material for the major projects. At all times students were advised to keep their ideas practical so that the finished product might be useful.

A new program, headed by Mr. Jack Morrison, was available to those interested in automobile mechanics. An entire auto shop was set up in one of the school's garages and cars were supplied by teachers, members of the community, and students themselves. Judging from the success enjoyed by the industrial arts program to date, other specific areas in this field will soon be added in order to provide greater opportunities and diversity.

Instruction centers around practical arts

Singles Living was a new subject added this year to the curriculum of the Home Economics Department, increasing the already impressive list of courses designed to prepare students for adult life. Courses such as Nursery School, Child Care, Family Living, Basic and Advanced Foods, and Advanced Clothing gave students a first-hand look at the everyday problems of the homemaker. Particularly emphasized were methods of determining the true quality of merchandise in order to avoid inferior goods and overcharging.

Students in the Work Experience Program attended classes in basic subject areas during the morning and then spent the rest of the day working for local businesses. Much credit for the success of the program must necessarily be given to the merchants and industries of the Bethlehem area which generously provided job opportunities for the students who were involved in Work Experience.

Custodial, cafeteria staffs vital to LHS

Very often overlooked and never fully appreciated are the custodial and cafeteria staffs of Liberty High school. Students and teachers alike were accustomed to seeing a well-vacuumed and scrubbed building as they entered every day, but they seldom left it in the same condition. The job of cleaning up after the day's classes then fell to the hard-working janitorial staff under the direction of Head Custodian John Brown, and they handled the task well.

Meanwhile members of the kitchen staff worked tirelessly to provide food for the over 2000 hungry students who passed through the doorways of the cafeteria daily. Seldom did anyone stop to think of the tremendous amount of work involved in preparing meals on such a large scale, yet that work was done without fail.

Both the custodial and cafeteria staffs were integral to the smooth functioning of the school and deserve much credit and many thanks.

Mrs. Lehn, Mrs. Guth, and Mrs. Benny prepare barbecued chicken.

1974 class officers promote school enthusiasm

The success of many Liberty events should be credited to the four Senior Class officers. President Dan Persing concentrated on organizing activities which entailed student involvement. Helping to execute these plans were Vice-President Ed Collier, Treasurer Jeff Phillips, and Secretary Terry Ungurean. Time-consuming tasks such as telephone calls to make reservations for the band and the hall added to the success of the Junior-Senior Prom of 1973. Similar procedures were undertaken to lay the foundations for the Football Festival and school dances.

With the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buzzard, the class advisors, dues were allotted and divided among the many activities which took place throughout the year. Money from class dues provided the financial support for the Class of '74's Junior and Senior plays as well as making purchase of red and blue shakers for the Football Festival possible. Class dues directly paid for the Cauldron, the rental of caps and gowns for graduation, and the purchase of a class gift.

Mr. Robert Buzzard

Ed Collier and Terry Ungurean review the minutes.

Exchanging Football Festival ideas are Dan Persing and Ed Collier.

Mrs. Carolyn Buzzard

Financial status of the class is the topic as officers and advisors meet with Mr. Klein.

*The books we once valued
We have quite exhausted.*

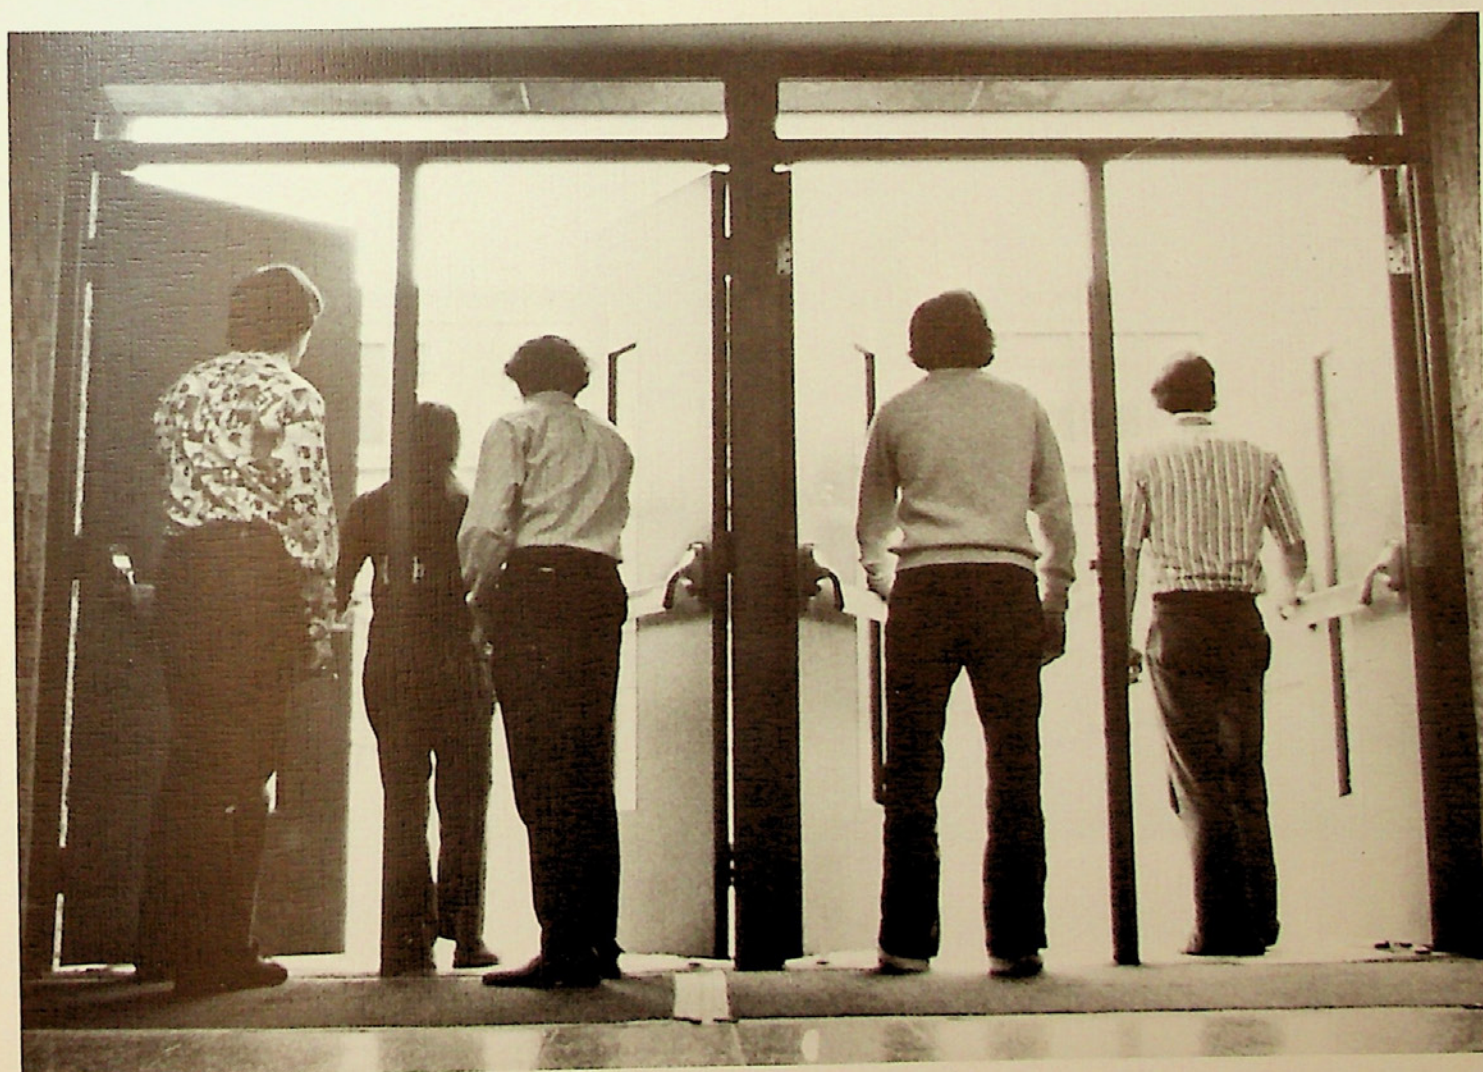

*Our yesterdays follow us,
Constituting life's foundation.*

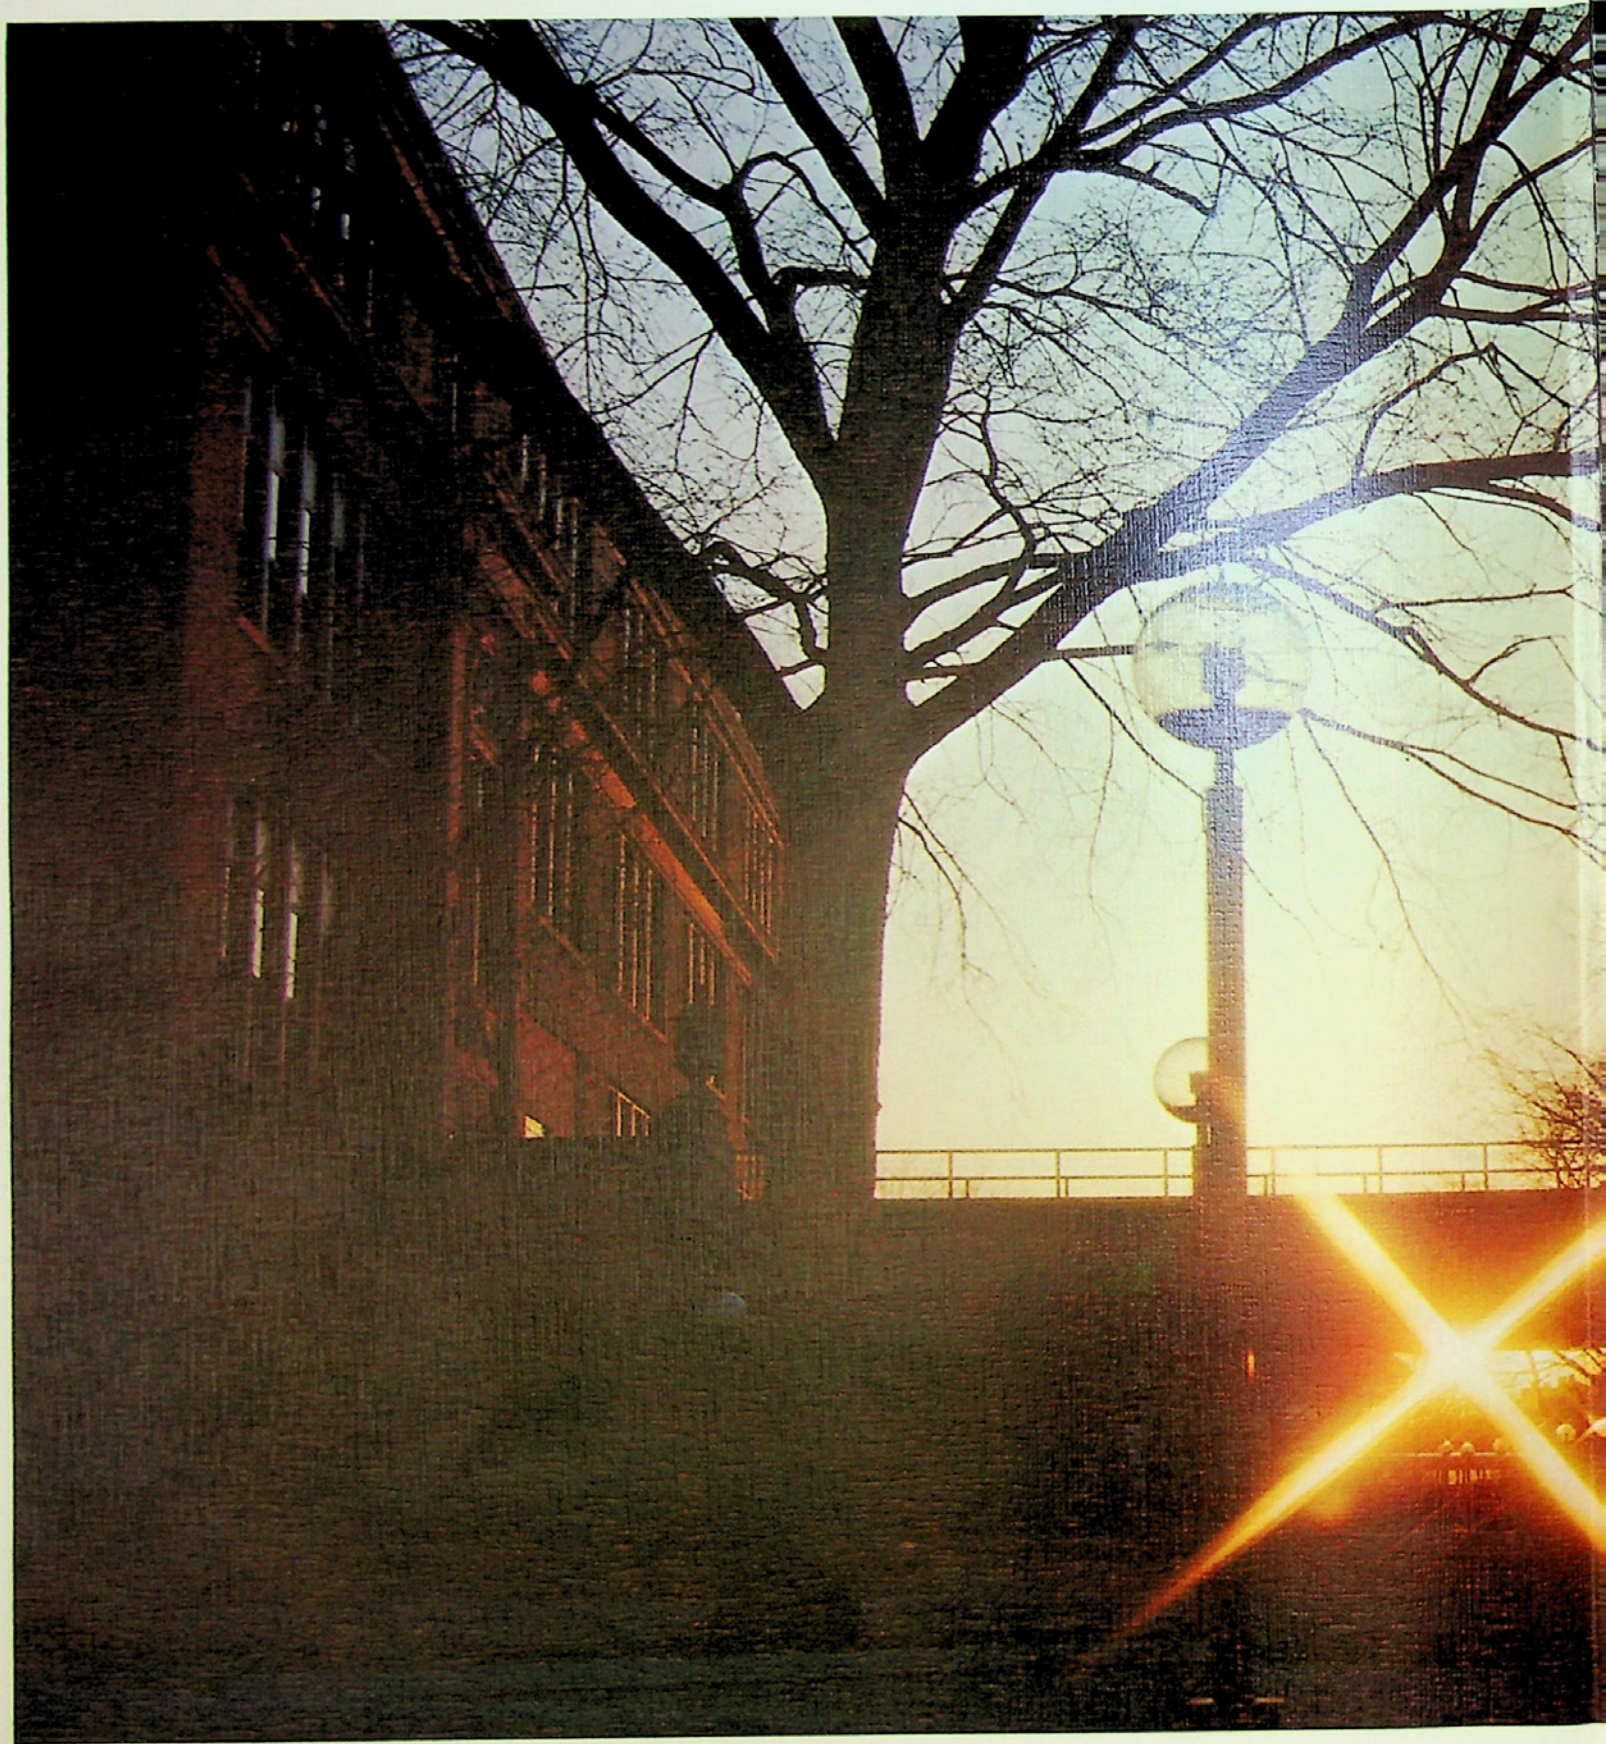

*But yesterdays cannot be relived —
Only the future remains.*

*Reach out and possess it
Lest it be lost forever.*
