NORCO Hotel tax grants awarded

County Executive Lamont McClure and the Department of Community and Economic Development (CED) recently announced that County Council approved $1,020,299 for 51 Hotel Tax Grants. Hotel Tax Grants are funded through the county's tax on hotels and Airbnbs. For a project to be eligible, it must enhance tourism and/or promote community development and be completed within the 2022 calendar year.

"Northampton County's Hotel Tax Grants promote culture and increase tourism to our area," said McClure. "Municipal festivals, our park and trail system, art organizations, living history exhibitions and events like Musikfest are instrumental in bringing art, theater and music to our communities."

Hotel Tax Grants are awarded through a competitive process. Applications are screened by the Hotel Tax Review Committee, which forwards its recommendations to the County Executive. The grants are distributed at the discretion of County Council. Applicants must either be a federally registered nonprofit entity, 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4), or a municipal entity located within Northampton County.

Scout shares how continuity built emotional strength

BY THERESA O'BRIEN
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Neil Rana has been involved in scouting since first grade. He "crossed over" from Cub Scouts to Boy Scouts in fifth grade, when he joined Troop 302, chartered at First Presbyterian Church in Bethlehem. Now a sophomore at Liberty HS, Rana is a senior patrol leader for his troop, through which he has served the community for years.

During 2020, though, Rana discovered that taking care of the community also means taking care of the troop. When he read the recent series on teen mental health in the Bethlehem Press, Rana reflected on what Troop 302 did during 2020 to help members stay socially and emotionally healthy.

When Americans were told to stay home for "two weeks to

THE LIMITS OF RESILIENCE PART 5

In our series 'The Limits of Resilience,' we have explored the toll the past 20 months have taken on the mental health of children and teens, examining data about the increase in mental health disorders and the challenges of mental health treatment in the pediatric population. Today, we share the story of a Scout patrol leader whose troop prioritized mental health, giving youth leaders agency to advocate for themselves and their peers, and maintaining real and virtual togetherness.

flatten the curve" in March 2020, local scout troops paused their activities. Repeated school closure extensions and the eventual cancellation of the school year, however, set off warning bells. Troop 302, led by Scoutmaster Sam Phillips, knew that they needed to do something.

"Our whole leadership team," Rana explains, "adults and youth, met in June 2020 via Zoom, and decided we needed to start holding meetings every Monday night over Zoom to promote the advancement of scouts." These weekly meetings included breakout sessions for smaller groups for demonstrations of skills like knot-tying.

Echoing what the Press heard from Rob Nicolella of Catholic Charities about teen anxiety regarding long-term goals, Rana tells us that a shutdown would

NATIONAL LUNG CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

Survey suggests more screening recognition

Only 36 percent of survey respondents know that lung cancer screening is now available for early detection of the disease for those who are high risk.

Survey data released recently show that only 36 percent of people know that lung cancer screening is available and 29 percent know that lung cancer is the leading cancer killer of women and men. Today, the American Lung Association's LUNG FORCE initiative released the 2021 Lung Health Barometer, as it recognizes the start of Lung Cancer Awareness Month.

"Here in Pennsylvania and across the nation, lung cancer is the leading cancer killer. It is estimated that in 2021, 11,170 people will be diagnosed with lung cancer and 6,140 will die from the disease," said Lance Boucher, Division Assistant Vice President - East, at the Lung Association in Pennsylvania. "However, there is hope. The five-year survival rate has increased 33 percent in the past 10 years, thanks to advancements in treatment, research and lifesaving lung cancer screening."

The 2021 Lung Health Barometer surveyed 4,000 Americans nationwide about lung health and lung cancer. Some key findings show that:

- 29 percent of Americans know that lung cancer is the leading cancer killer of women and men, which is an 8 percent increase from the 2020 Lung Health Barometer.

- Only 10 percent of adults understand that lung cancer is among the most likely cancers to affect women, while 35 percent know that it is among those cancers most likely to affect men.

• Only 36 percent of respondents know that lung cancer screening is now available for early detection of the disease for those who are high risk.

Robbery

The Bethlehem Police Department is investigating a robbery that occurred Oct. 30 at Sim's Market (609 W. Broad St.). The suspect entered the store, confronted an employee, and demanded money from the cash register.

The suspect fled the store with an undetermined amount of money. The suspect was wearing a mask while inside the store. Police are attempting to identify the pictured suspect, and also locate the pictured dark in color vehicle which was used by the suspect to flee the scene.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Bethlehem Police Department at 610-865-7000 or at bethlehempolice@bethlehem-pa.gov.

jeopardize scouts' ability to earn merit badges on their path to Eagle Scout.

"Because we age out at 18," he says, "there's a time limit on getting that done."

Rather than let anxiety build among troop members, however, leaders scheduled skills demonstrations over Zoom, and in September 2020, began regular in-person meetings for demonstrations requiring more open space.

"We decided to meet at a local park every other week, so we could have proper presentations in person: skill demonstrations like setting up a tent or setting up a backpack for a backpacking trip," Rana says. But it wasn't all about earning merit badges. Rana describes playing "COVID-friendly games" that could be done with six-foot distancing, "so everybody could stay engaged, meet together, talk together, and keep the mental health up, along with meeting with the leaders to get sign-offs [for merit badges]."

For the scouts, another benefit of regular meetings was spending time with adults who knew them. Rana says he believes the adult leaders "would be able to tell" if their scouts were becoming depressed. He notes that the leaders were able to gauge troop members' moods by cues like making eye contact and speaking confidently during Zoom meetings.

Troop 302 even managed to hold its annual week-long campout, with coronavirus protocols in place. Scouts worked on skills and enjoyed fellowship, albeit six feet apart.

"The whole time," Rana says, "we wore masks, ate meals at tables and chairs six feet apart, used single-occupancy tents, had hospital-grade disinfectants, and spent most of our time in outdoor areas for constant ventilation." Despite the restrictions, the scouts stayed connected to the troop and stayed on track in the pursuit of their goals.

VACCINATIONS FOR CHILDREN: The Bethlehem Health Bureau is partnering with the Bethlehem Area School District to hold COVID-19 vaccine clinics for children ages 5-11.

The Bethlehem Health Bureau is moving forward with the clinics after the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved the vaccine for children in the younger age group Nov 2. Children ages 5-11 will receive a one-third dose compared to the one given for individuals 12 and older.

Over the next several weeks, the Bethlehem Health Bureau will hold vaccine clinics tomorrow at Broughal MS; Nov. 16, at Northeast MS; Nov. 18, at East Hills MS; and Nov. 22, at Nitschmann MS.

The COVID-19 vaccine is completely free of charge and available to anyone who needs it. In addition to the opportunities listed above, children and adults can get the vaccine by consulting their healthcare providers.

This approval by the FDA marks a major milestone in our ability to manage the COVID-19 pandemic and reduce the spread of the virus in our community," said Mayor Bob Donchez. "Getting more of our eligible students vaccinated will reduce the number of potential cases in our local schools. It will also cut down on quarantines and reduce the likelihood that schools or classrooms will need to shift to virtual learning due to a high number of cases."

Please visit www.basdschools.org to register for an appointment.

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY

COUNTY PRISON: The Director of Corrections reports that, as of Nov. 1, there are 11 cases of COVID-19 among inmates at Northampton County Prison (NCP). Since the start of the pandemic, 290 inmates have tested positive; 279 have finished their quarantine periods or are no longer at NCP. Currently, two Department of Corrections staff are in quarantine after testing positive for the virus.

Since March 2020, NCP has conducted 5,316 tests for COVID-19 on inmates. All new inmates are tested when they come into the facility and must show a negative result before they are transferred to General Population; residents are tested on a random basis. PrimeCare Medical does daily temperature checks, movement of inmates is restricted within the facility and meals are served in the housing unit. In-person visitation is prohibited and no volunteers are permitted in the facility. Cloth masks are provided and inmates must wear them whenever they leave their cell. Any inmate participating in work release or work programs within NCP must be vaccinated.

NCP has held 24 vaccination clinics this year and vaccinated 442 inmates. Currently, 309 inmates in the facility are fully vaccinated. Shots for inmates and staff are administered by PrimeCare Medical. The vaccinations are not compulsory and are only provided to those who request them.

There are currently 641 inmates in residence at NCP.

Lehigh Valley American Gold Star Mothers, a group of mothers who lost a child in service to our country, recently packed boxes for 12 soldiers who are currently deployed in Africa. 'Continuing the service our children were not able to complete'

American Gold Star Mothers, Lehigh Valley Chapter, offers help to military veterans and their families.

Gold Star Mother Carol Resh of Lowhill Township recently spoke with The Press.

"Our chapter was originally formed as the Bethlehem Chapter in 1947 by the WWII mothers," Resh said. "We reorganized in 2012 as the Lehigh Valley Chapter, as our mothers are from many areas.

"A Gold Star Mother is a mother or stepmother who lost their child in service to our country or as a result of their service," Resh said.

This includes any active member of the military who dies while on active duty.

Resh and her husband, Charlie, are the parents of the late Army Capt. Mark T. Resh, who served as an Apache Attack helicopter pilot in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Assigned to the 4th Attack Recon Battalion

227th Aviation Regiment, 1st Air Cavalry Brigade, 1st Air Division, Capt. Resh bravely piloted his helicopter to support the coalition ground forces until his aircraft was struck by enemy fire and crashed Jan. 28, 2007.

Resh, who was killed at the age of 28, was posthumously awarded the Purple Heart and the Silver Star for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action.

Carol Resh explained that Gold Star Mothers is a volunteer service organization with a mission to serve.

"Most of us feel we are continuing the service our children were not able to complete," Resh said.

The group participates in Wreaths Across America at a few local cemeteries.

"We are also associated with the Vietnam 50th anniversary Commemoration Committee," Resh added. "We pin the Vietnam vets and thank them for their service."

The chapter has 12 active members.

Members include Margaret "Marge" Kauffman, Vietnam War mom from Bethlehem; Patricia Geiger of Northampton; Kathy Andreas of New Tripoli, Dolores Reed of Whitehall; Nancy Smith of Emmaus; Sally Wargo of Lehighton; Joyce Eckhart of Orefield; Suzy Jones of Orwigsburg; Mary Ann Robertson, Nicholson, Wyoming County; Marie Daud of Easton; Joanne Wolff of Albrightsville; and Resh.

"We know there are more local moms who are eligible to join but don't for whatever reason," Resh said.

While the chapter's main focus is helping veterans and their families, they may also help members of the community.

"Each year we try to send boxes to military personnel who are deployed," she explained. "We have adopted a veteran with no family and make sure he is remembered for his birthday and Christmas."

"We usually visit him for his birthday and take a cake and balloons to celebrate. At Christmas time, we also buy gifts for a needy veteran family and include a gift card to buy groceries."

Each Gold Star Mother performs service that is close to her heart.

The chapter's members are mothers but other family members can join as associate members under the member mom.

"Our chapter tries to meet monthly at one of the mom's houses," Resh said. "We meet at lunch time for fellowship before the meeting starts."

"Most of the moms are retired and can do lunch."

"If we have a mom who would like to join us and is still working, we will alternate our meetings between day and evening."

"Our busiest times are summer for events. Winter is very slow."

Ola B. Cehelsky

of St. Josephat's Ukrainian Catholic Church

Ola B. Cehelsky, of Bethlehem, died Oct. 30, 2021, at Above and Beyond Assisted Living, Allentown. Born in Liviv, Ukraine, she was a daughter of Volodomyr Bilozor and Maria Fedynska Bilozor. She was the wife of the late Yaroslav Cehelsky with whom she came to the United States in 1949.

She trained in a conservatory for voice and opera. During World War II she and her family fled to Germany. While a refugee in a Red Cross camp, she performed for United States troops.

She taught piano and sang in the choir at St. Josephat's Ukrainian Catholic Church. She taught children the Ukrainian language. She helped organize the Lehigh Valley Ukrainian Millennium Choir, and traveled with the choir to celebrate 1,000 years of Christianity in the Ukraine. She worked at various Lehigh Valley sewing factories for name brand clothing.

She is survived by four children, Martha M. (Cehelsky) Jarosh (Roman) of New Lebanon, N.Y., Adrian Cehelsky (Diane) of Covington Twp., N.Y., Nadiya Cehelsky Kidd (the late Owen) of Whitehall and Oksana Cehelsky Klapischak (George) of Santa Fe, N.M.; two sisters, Natalia Bilozor Koropecykj of Elkins Park and Oksana Bilozor Koropecykj of Catonsville, Md.; and three grandchildren, Julian Jarosh (Jennifer) of London, Ont.; Sofia Klapischak of Santa Fe, N.M. and Deanna Klapischak of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Contributions may be made to St. Josephat Ukrainian Catholic Church, 1826 Kenmore Ave., 18018; and / or Ukrainian National Women's League, Branch #91.

Paul H. Coachys

steel wire gang,
Steel Workers Memorial chairperson

Paul H. Coachys, 92, of Allentown and formerly of Whitehall, died Nov. 2, 2021, in Lehigh Valley Hospital, Salisbury Township. Born in Bethlehem, he was a son of the late Walter F.V. and Rose C. (Reilly) Coachys. He was the husband of the late Helen M. (Pendl) Coachys for 58 years.

He was a 1949 graduate of Liberty HS. He was in the Arctic Circle with the U.S. Air Force and Marine Corps during the Korean Conflict.

He was an electrician and a member of the "wire gang" for over 31 years for Bethlehem Steel Corp. until he retired in 1992. He was the union representative of the assistance program for nine years. He started the Veterans Outreach program at Bethlehem Steel, and was chairman of the Steel Workers Veterans Memorial Committee, which was built at Bethlehem Steel by its workers. He was a United Way representative at the Steel, a lifetime member of the United Steel Workers of American Local 2600, and a member of the retired steelworkers group.

He was a longtime member and volunteer at St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church, Allentown.

He received the Distinguished Service Award and the 2003 Unsung Heroes Award from Lehigh County Veterans Affairs. He helped veterans with P.T.S.D obtain assistance. He participated in the Toys for Tots Campaign of the Marine Corps League. He was the recipient of the Anna Bell Dittbrenner Award.

He was active with the Lehigh County and State Democratic committees. He was the campaign chairman for the late Kurt Zwikl. He was a volunteer for March of Dimes since it inception in 1939, and was a five-year campaign director and a 20 year board member. He was on the board of directors with both Halfway House of Allentown and Lehigh County Drug and Alcohol programs. He assisted seniors receiving drug and alcohol treatment.

HEALTH NEWS

Lehigh Valley Health Network

Patient Safety Award recipient

Coordinated Health of Lehigh Valley Health Network received the Healthgrades Patient Safety Award for the third year in a row. Healthgrades Coordinated Health-Allentown and Coordinated Health-Bethlehem received specialty awards for orthopedic procedures such as joint replacement and spinal fusion, as they have in years past. Bethlehem is the recipient of Healthgrades' Joint Replacement Specialty Excellence Award as the hospital is among the top 10 percent in the nation for joint replacements. It received a five star rating for total knee replacement for the fifth year in a row and for total hip replacement for the second year in a row.

"Receiving these awards further shows that Coordinated Health puts care and safety first," says Wayne Luchetti, MD, Chief of Staff and co-chair of the Department of Orthopedics, Coordinated Health. "Being recognized along with some of the best orthopedics specialists in the nation is an honor, and I'm proud of our team."

Healthgrades evaluates roughly 45 million Medicare inpatient records from nearly 4,500 short-term acute care hospitals across the U.S. to provide quality and safety information about hospitals, doctors and health care organizations.

Phase 2 of Lehigh Valley Hospital-Hecktown Oaks, 3780 Hecktown Road, Lower Nazareth Township. Speakers included James Miller, president, and Pat Toselli, M.D., Chief Medical Officer, both of LVH-Hecktown Oaks.

Phase 2 of LVH-Hecktown Oaks includes a four-story tower with 30 additional inpatient beds, rehabilitation space, and a grab-and-go café on the first floor. Three floors will remain unfinished for future growth. An Intensive Care Unit (ICU) is anticipated to open in summer 2022.

Phase 1 of LVH-Hecktown Oaks, completed in June 2021, was LVHN's first newly constructed hospital project in nearly 50 years.

'Most Wired' recognition

Lehigh Valley Health Network has been recognized for 16 consecutive years as a Level 10 Most Wired health care organization for acute and ambulatory care by Digital Health. Only 15 organizations were named to this level in 2021. This is the highest recognition an organization can earn.

The Digital Health Most Wired survey is managed by the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives. The program assesses how effectively health care organizations use modern technology to support clinicians and patients. In the Digital Health survey and assessment, health care organizations earn a level from 1 to 10 in three categories: acute, ambulatory and long-term care.

CHIME defines Level 10 organizations as leaders in health care technology who actively push the industry forward, often leveraging technology in innovative ways and encouraging deep adoption across their organization. To earn a Level 10 Most Wired recognition, LVHN demonstrated an outstanding record of leveraging the power of digital technology within a visionary corporate strategy.

Hudak calls projects 'spectacular'

BY ED COURRIER
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The Mayor's South Side Task Force again gathered in person Oct. 26 at the South Bethlehem Starbucks on East Third Street.

Task Force Chairman Roger Hudak expressed enthusiasm for the Goodman Building project at 30-32 E. Third St. As a member of the Bethlehem HCC, which oversees "historical appropriateness" within the Southside Historic District, Hudak said it is going to be spectacular.

Another project he brought up was the proposed demolition and replacement of a non-conforming structure that had lost all of its historical character at 128 E. Third St. It was once a Pep Boys, said Hudak.

The chairman also mentioned that Lehigh University does pay taxes on some of its properties.

With the increased development within the neighborhood, Hudak re-emphasized the importance of the city's Polk Street parking garage being completed as soon as possible.

MAYOR'S SS TASK FORCE

Task Force Chairman Roger Hudak describes new development projects in the works for the Southside.

Executive Assistant to the Mayor Stephanie Augello reassured him that the Polk Street garage construction is to begin "at the end of this year." She announced the city is looking to start the street-scaping on New Street in the spring from Third to Farrington Square. The Wind Creek adventure center "is moving along on schedule." Augello continued, "The Wilber Mansion project up on the hill also is moving along on schedule, with completion in 2022." The Boyd Theater will be torn down soon to make way for storefronts and apartments.

The Ideal Food Basket is still renovating the former Ahart's and hopes to open in early 2022, reported Augello.

The Bethlehem Health Bureau has scheduled a series of COVID-19 booster shot clinics. To register go to www.bethlehem-pa.gov.

Augello expressed excitement when she showed off the logo designed for The Bethlehem Parade of the Century celebrating 100 years of the popular event.

Janine Santoro from the Bethlehem Area Public Library South Side Branch reported a decrease in traffic brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic. "We just want folks to know that we're here," she said.

The branch offers hybrid and Zoom programming, including a "Woodland Life Skills: Exploring Indigenous Relationships to Nature." Presented by the Museum of Indian Culture, the Zoom workshop is scheduled for Nov. 16 from 6-7 p.m. To register for this or other offerings, Santoro referred to the library's website: www.bapl.org.

In-person services are also available, such as Homework Helpers, Fall Preschool Storytime, and mini book sales.

The Mayor's South Side Task Force regularly meets on the last Tuesday of the month.

Janine Santoro from the Bethlehem Area Public Library South Side Branch promotes their upcoming "Woodland Life Skills: Exploring Indigenous Relationships to Nature" Zoom program available through the BAPL.

Stephanie Augello expresses excitement when she discusses The Bethlehem Parade of the Century, celebrating 100 years of the event.

Magyer receives volunteer service award

Linda Magyer, of Bethlehem, was the recipient of the Presidential Volunteer Service Award for her extraordinary service to international disaster relief charity ShelterBox in 2020.

The Shelterbox Ambassador donated more than 100 hours of time to support families with the emergency shelter and supplies needed to survive after losing their homes to disaster or conflict.

She found new, innovative ways to raise awareness and funds to shelter more families amid lockdown.

The President's Volunteer Service Award is presented on behalf of President Joe Biden. The award is part of a national recognition program created in 2003 through the President's Council on Service and Civic Participation for individuals of all ages who contribute a significant amount of time to volunteer activities.

Since 2000, ShelterBox has provided and delivered boxes of disaster relief tents, blankets, a water filtration system, emergency lighting and other lifesaving supplies following more than 300 disasters in nearly 100 countries. The organization was nominated for a distinguished Nobel Peace Prize in 2018 and 2019. ShelterBox USA, based in Santa Barbara, Calif., is an official Project Partner of Rotary International. To volunteer, fundraise, or make a donation, visit www.shelterboxusa.org or call (805) -608-2400.

FROM THE DESK OF...

State Senator Lisa Boscola

She has announced as part of Pennsylvania's nation leading Farmland Preservation Program, the protection of a 29-acre farm located in Lower Saucon Township. The James D. and Barbara J. Hulett farm, a 29-acre crop operation, received an investment of $8,186.55 from the state program and $151,309.60 from the Northampton County Farmland Preservation Program. State-wide today, the Commonwealth announced the protection of an additional 1,999 acres on 21 farms in 13 counties. Since 1988, Pennsylvania's Farmland Preservation Program has purchased permanent conservation easements on 5,949 Pennsylvania farms, covering 603,646 acres, in 58 counties, ensuring they will remain farms in the future.

State Rep. Steve Samuelson

On Oct. 27, the Pennsylvania House of Representatives passed H.B.1260, legislation co-authored by state Reps. Steve Samuelson, D-Northampton, and Wendi Thomas, R-Bucks, to raise income limits by $6,000 for the PACENET prescription program. The bill now heads to the state Senate for consideration.

"This bipartisan legislation expands access to prescription medications for our seniors by building upon the proven PACE/PACENET program and expanding eligibility," Samuelson said.

The bill would increase enrollment for the state's Prescription Assistance Contract for the Elderly Needs Enhancement Tier, known as PACENET, by about 20,000 individuals and raise the income limits to $33,500 for a single person and $41,500 for a married couple.

House Bill 1260 would provide financial incentives for PACENET enrollees to also sign up for federal Medicare Part D prescription coverage. Additional funds generated by increased participation in the federal prescription program would be utilized to raise the PACENET income limits.

HELLERTOWN COUNCIL

More 'Blessing Boxes' are coming

BY CHRIS HARING
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The Nov. 1 Hellertown Council meeting kicked off the new month with an eye on helping the less fortunate in the community as the weather grows colder.

Borough resident Maria Smith joined the meeting to request approval for two projects with charitable aspirations. Project Keep Hellertown Warm, an annual Water Street display with winter hats, gloves and other items adorning a fence along the Saucon Rail Trail, was easily approved, as borough Manager Cathy Hartranft confirmed its timeframe, which will run from November through March.

The other project of interest was the installation of 'Blessing Boxes' throughout the borough. Smith and several other volunteers have constructed and stocked six boxes with non-perishable foods and hygiene products in Hellertown and two and Lower Saucon which are used rather heavily, she said.

A local Boy Scout recently built two more boxes which she asked for authorization to place at Water St. Park - one near the basketball courts and the other near bicycle racks. One would be dedicated to food products and the other to hygienic items, and both would be located near low-income housing and an apartment building for senior citizens, she said.

Rieger said, "I think they've been very successful" and pointed to an active Facebook group of volunteers who've charged themselves with the boxes' upkeep, as the council also approved the boxes. Public Works Director Barry Yonney requested Smith wait until spring 2022 for installation, and they also spoke about potentially recruiting Boy and/or Girl Scouts to repaint some weather-worn, pre-existing ones.

In other business, Mayor David Heintzelman thanked the community for coming together to put together a "huge" 2021 Spirit Parade, and signaled that after receiving inquiries about its name year after year, the popular annual gathering would be changing its moniker, likely to the more-traditional Hellertown Halloeen Parade.

He also thanked the community for robust attendance at the dedication of a fountain in the name of Joe Delfoe at Borough Authority Park after the parade. Delfoe, who served as grand marshal of the parade, was instrumental in the restoration of the fountain in 2013 and is currently vice-chairman of the Hellertown Borough Authority Board of Directors.

Police Chief Robert Shupp provided follow-up to the previous meeting's questions from council member Andrew Hughes about the efficacy of several recently-installed cross-walk flashers along Main Street Shupp said only four citations have been issued related to the flashers thus far, so he went out on two different days and spoke with residents near the 7-11 store at Thomas Avenue.

While people are very happy with the flashers, he acknowledged the possibility of a misunderstanding among many drivers about expectations, particularly during heavy traffic hours. He said the department would be deploying more education and enforcement at the flashers in the future.

Gingerbread Games return to town

Downtown contest/exhibit created as pandemic activity continues

Ready, set, decorate! Registration for downtown Bethlehem's Gingerbread Games is now open. Participants are invited to decorate two-foot tall gingerbread shaped cutouts which the city will display in December. The best decorated gingerbread will win a $100 downtown Bethlehem gift certificate.

The Downtown Bethlehem Association (DBA) originally created the Gingerbread Games last year as a fun way for families to enjoy a socially distant holiday activity during the height of the pandemic. The Fab Lab at Northampton Community College created dozens of wooden Gingerbread Friends for participants to decorate. The event was so successful that the DBA decided to make it an annual tradition. "We love celebrating holiday traditions in Bethlehem.

The more the merrier. We are the Christmas City, after all!" said DBA Manager Tammy Wendling.

To participate, you must order your Gingerbread Friend from the Heart of Bethlehem website by Nov. 22. Each one costs $30 and supplies are extremely limited. Decorate it at home, then drop it off at the DBA office. The DBA will display the completed gingerbread people from Dec. 1 through 21 near the Christmas Huts on Main and the path leading to Christmas in the Quarter at the Colonial Industrial Quarter. The public will vote for their favorites online.

When visitors check out the gingerbread artwork, they'll also be able to help select the winners in Bethlehem's annual window decorating competition.

CENTER FOR ANIMAL HEALTH & WELFARE

Animals are available for adoption at the Center for Animal Health & Welfare no-kill shelter, 1165 Island Park Road, Easton. The shelter is working to end pet overpopulation by running a clinic so animals can be spayed or neutered before they go home. For more information, call 610-252-7722 or visit www.healthyanimalcenter.org.

At 4 years old, Clyde is on the hunt for a place where he can cuddle and be loved. Although uncommon in cats, this tough little man is currently battling heartworm and hopes to make a full recovery in his furr-ever home. The road ahead for Clyde will be long and tough, but he knows his heart of gold is worth it.

Looking for a companion that enjoys giving feedback, cuddling and long walks? Then Boo is the boy for you. This 7-year-old puggle-mix is hoping to sing his way into your heart after being transferred from another rescue. Although new to CAHW, Boo is optimistic that his new family is right around the corner.

VOLUNTEERS

FAMILY VOLUNTEER DAY, Saturday, Nov. 20, is held annually the Saturday before Thanksgiving. It is an opportunity for families to work together to serve their community, have quality time for busy families, strengthen communication, and have a positive impact on local communities. The Volunteer Center of the Lehigh Valley has several local opportunities on their website <https://www.volunteerv.org/family-volunteer-day>.

NEW BETHANY MINISTRIES, Bethlehem, seeks volunteers to prepare for Luminaria Night 2021 from 3-5:30 p.m. Nov 9, 10, 11, 16 and 17 at a Valley Center Parkway location. We need to assemble 10,000 luminaria kits. Each kit will consist of 10 paper bags, 10 candles, and one large Ziplock bag of sand. They will take individuals or groups. Minimum age 15 (or 12 with adult). Please contact Emily Parker at 610-691-5602, ext. 206, eparker@newbethanyministries.org.

GRACEDALE NURSING HOME, Nazareth, is looking for friendly and courteous volunteers to wait on customers (residents, staff, visitors) and complete transactions in the gift shop. Stock shelves as needed, arranging items attractively. Available shifts are 1-3 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays. Background check and orientation provided. All volunteers must be fully vaccinated against COVID-19 and provide a copy of their vaccine card. Contact Jennie Repsher, 610-829-3686, jrepsher@northamptoncounty.org.

HOLIDAY HOPE CHESTS needs volunteers to donate wrapped shoeboxes filled with age-appropriate items for Lehigh Valley's children in need. Suggested gift lists are provided on the website. This program, coordinated by the Volunteer Center, is a great project for large/small groups, clubs, classes, families, and individuals. To participate, go to www.volunteerv.org/holiday-hope-chests and fill out a 2021 Donor Pledge Form.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS PA-GLV POCONO REGION, Berks, Carbon and Lehigh counties are looking for regional and local team leaders to help with coordination of Special Olympics sporting activities ensuring the mission is met and policies/procedures are followed. Head coaches for swimming, basketball, golf, rhythmic gymnastics and bocce are needed to help athletes train and compete at their very best. Contact Alexandra Rowlands, 610-850-0449, arowlands@specialolympicspa.org.

THE CENTER FOR ANIMAL HEALTH AND WELFARE, Easton, is seeking volunteers to walk dogs, assist with a.m. cleanings, attend off site events to promote the shelter, cat and dog enrichment and general shelter help. If interested in helping, please contact Walt Hoffman at 610-252-7722, ext. 4 or email cahwvolunteercoordinator@rcn.com.

US Senator Bob Casey

Senator Casey has announced the allocation of $631,000 for Lehigh Valley projects in 2022 for two projects around the Lehigh Valley in the Senate Fiscal Year (FY) 2022 Appropriations bills. Senator Casey advocated for each of the projects to be included in the appropriations subcommittee bills. The U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee released nine of the 12 bills Oct. 18; the other three had already been released.

They include:

- * Muhlenberg College - $231,000 to support the Inside/Out Prison Exchange Program.
- * Star Community Health Inc. - $400,000 to support the purchase of a dental van to serve children in Monroe County, Pennsylvania public schools, including children in rural areas.

Send us your event photos

We invite you to send us photos from your event. Here's what we need:

1. Well-lit and in focus photos only
2. Send high resolution jpeg files
3. A general caption answering the who, what, when, where, why and/or results of your event.
4. A specific caption for each photo identifying those in the photo and what they are doing if it isn't obvious (3 and 4 may be combined if you send one image).
5. You may not want to use last names of children.

Send copy and images as email attachments to: gtaylor@tnonline.com.

Smoke Alarms

Smoke alarms are a key part of a home fire escape plan. When there is a fire, smoke spreads fast. Working smoke alarms give you early warning so you can get outside quickly.

FACTS

- A closed door may slow the spread of smoke, heat, and fire.
- Smoke alarms should be installed on every level.
- Roughly 3 out of 5 fire deaths happen in homes with no smoke alarms.

The Becahi Hawks girls volleyball team won the District 11 title last week in Leighton.

Becahi girls win D-11 title

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic's girls volleyball team took three straight sets out of the hands of Pottsville, 25-20, 25-13, 25-13, to be crowned District XI Class 3A champions last Wednesday at Leighton High School.

"They did what they had to do. We served aggressive and Pottsville had amazing defense. They were getting a lot of our balls up, but we were able to find the floor and get some points," said Becahi head coach Kelly Brown. "We decided to come together as a whole, whether we were up or down, and push to the finish line."

That push to the district finish was all Golden Hawks from the start when Jodi Hewitt served for six straight points before a ball was hit out of bounds.

"I think it was very important for us because we're a team that dies down when we're down, so if we have a good lead, it makes us more comfortable and we can push farther," Hewitt said. "We had very long rallies that would make us tired, but we kept with it."

Becahi middle blocker Kyla Rodriguez registered a kill after a long volley in the first set to make the score 24-18 for the Hawks who never trailed in the match.

The Hawks opened the second set with six straight points again, and ran away with the lead. At the end of the set, Dhanica Babelonia served five straight points, including match point that skirted the net and tripped up Pottsville.

The Tide attempted a comeback early in the third set, winning a long volley and trailing by two points, but Rodriguez made two consecutive blocks, and 15 kills on the night by right side opposite hitter Mackenzy Ruggiero were more than Pottsville could handle.

"I just try my best. We tried to run faster plays in order to put the ball down right away, so doing that was very effective. We had to make sure our serve-receive was perfected in order to get a good first ball," Ruggiero said. "This feels amazing, especially to do it in a sweep."

Gold medals and the championship trophy were presented to the Hawks who will have taken on District 2's Berwick in the first round of the PIAA State Volleyball Tournament on Tuesday at Becahi.

"We're gonna go game by game like we did last year," Coach Brown said, "but after the way we've been competing in district play-offs, it's showing that we can compete with all the teams so I'm super excited for the rest of the season."

Heidemann takes 10th at states

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Freedom harrier Alex Heidemann knew it was his day from the start of the PIAA State Class 3A Cross Country Championships, and at the finish, the Patriot senior clinched a 10th place medal with a time of 16:25.70 on Saturday afternoon at Hershey.

Heidemann crossed the finish line and threw his arms up in the air, knowing he finished in the top 20, and knowing he ran a great race. His parents and sister thought he placed 15th, but soon after, Freedom assistant coach Devon

Harris delivered even better news: 10th place.

"I was super happy, jumping around, gave him a hug," Heidemann said. "From the start of the season, my goal was to run the best race I could and medal at states. My heart and mind were completely set on that, but my mind really did that for me."

Seconds later, Freedom head coach Bob Thear was at the finish to congratulate his state medalist.

"I was really excited, thrilled, elated!" said Coach Thear. "Devon and I had a feeling a good race for Alex would be to finish between 15th and 20th. At least that was our expectation."

But when Thear and Harris read the MileSplit (a cross country and track website) preview on Friday night, it said that Heidemann could finish in the top 10, something the two coaches kept to themselves.

"From the gun, I was in a great spot," said Heidemann, who found himself smiling as he looked around at all the other racers. "My plan was to maintain my pace on the uphill and make up ground on the downhill."

Freedom's Deante Crawford cruises into the end zone for a touchdown against Easton last weekend in the District 11 playoffs.

Pates rout Easton, K-Kids are up next

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

To say that Freedom manhandled Easton last week in the District 11 6A quarterfinals, might be an understatement.

The Patriots built a 30-0 lead in the first half and stomped their way to an impressive 44-14 victory over an Easton squad that never came close to competing at BASD Stadium.

Running back Deante Crawford, the newly crowned EPC South MVP, ran for 193 yards and three touchdowns, while quarterback Brian Taylor added three touchdowns (two passing, one rushing) for a complete offensive performance.

The Patriot defense also forced three turnovers to improve to 9-2 heading into this week's semifinal match-up with an undefeated Northampton (11-0) squad.

It was a stellar performance by head coach Jason Roeder's team, who look to be peaking right when they need to.

"I expected us to play well, to play fast and at a different level based on how we practiced coming into the week," said Roeder. "We just wanted to come out and play physical football. We took it one play at a time and it clicked. We made plays everywhere and it was a great effort by everyone."

Freedom stepped on the gas early and never let off, scoring on five straight possessions in the first half, two of which came on Taylor TD passes, as he hit Owen Johnson deep on a 52-yard TD strike and then lofted a 21-yard TD to Ethan Neidig. Crawford cashed in two of his touchdowns in first half from one-yard and 15-yards respectively, but he put the nail in the coffin to open the second half when he broke free on the second play of the third quarter on a toss and raced 61-yards to put the Pates ahead 37-7.

Freedom's running game racked up 263 yards on the ground, continuing its trend of being able to muscle teams up front.

Eight straight. It is a streak to be commended.

The Parkland High School girls volleyball team rises up when the lights are brightest, and it has shown over the last decade.

This time, Parkland defeated Freedom in straight sets last Wednesday night at Catasauqua High School to win the District 11 Class 4A championship, the eighth consecutive district title for program and 11th in the last 12 years overall. Scores of the match were 25-18, 25-17, 25-18.

"This is incredible," said senior middle hitter Brynn Dreisbach. "Everyone pulled through tonight. This shows our hard work pays off every year and it feels good. It's our eighth straight and it gets better every year."

Parkland improved to 22-0 overall and has dominated most of its opponents, winning in just the three sets a majority of the time. The Trojans were taken to four sets against Liberty in the semifinal round of districts, but pulled that one out. That test may have helped them and given them a little bit of a wake-up call in a positive way.

"I think we needed that," said head coach Mike Krause on the four-set victory against the Hurricanes. "We're not going to beat everyone in straight sets, so it was good to see how the girls responded to losing a set. They bounced back well, and I was happy to see their resiliency."

Against the Patriots on Wednesday, it was more of the way the season has gone, with Parkland taking control in each set.

"I think what's different about this team is their resiliency," Krause said. "A big thing is what these kids had to deal with through COVID."

Dreisbach finished with nine kills and 12 digs. Elena Pursell tallied a team-high 14 kills. Maggie Smith contributed 33 assists and eight digs. Scarlett Jago totaled 11 digs.

Pates fall to Emmaus

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Part disappointment and part disbelief permeated the Freedom Patriots boys soccer team on the realization of being knocked out of PIAA State playoffs with a 2-0 loss to Emmaus in a District XI Class 4A semifinal last Tuesday at Whitehall High School.

"It's a special group of boys. We have 13 seniors leaving. They've done so many great things. They deserved more than this today," said Freedom head coach Matt Reightler.

The Patriots were in perfect position to reach a berth in states after a double-digit winning streak and recent high-scoring games this season. The Pates also avenged early-season losses to Nazareth and Allentown Central Catholic, and won the East Penn Conference Championship against Parkland.

Emmaus, however, was a team Freedom hadn't faced all year.

"John (Cari, Emmaus head coach) said exactly what I think," said Reightler, "this should have been the final, but things didn't work out that way."

In the eighth minute of play, Emmaus forward Ryan Kiernan scored the first goal of the night for the Hornets.

"We had to score first. We didn't," Reightler said. "They dropped (Jaeden) Amato back, put two people on PJ (Tichy), took him out of the game, and took us out of what we wanted to do."

Tichy tried to chip in a shot in the 33rd minute that went too high, and took another shot in the 37th minute that was caught by Emmaus keeper Ty Bleiler.

At halftime, the Pates still believed they had a chance.

"We thought we weren't winning the 50-50 balls. The intensity wasn't there so we thought if we picked it up, we would get one," said Reightler, "but then they got another early one that forced us to change things again."

In the 49th minute, Emmaus forward Bryan Flor scored the Hornets' second goal on an assist by Jack Lawrence.

Tichy took two more shots, one in the 53rd minute and another in the 74th minute.

The Patriots ended the season with a record of 19-4.

"I'm proud of these boys," Reightler said. "It just wasn't our day."

LHS volleyball makes donation

The Liberty High School girls volleyball team announced that it has recently made a donation in the amount of $2,000 to Cancer Support Community of the Greater Lehigh Valley.

Liberty High School recently held a "Pink Out" volleyball match against crosstown rival Bethlehem Catholic Golden Hawks. The event included a basket raffle with donations from various businesses throughout the Lehigh Valley. Sponsors included Pat's Pizza & Bistro in Bethlehem, and Paranee Properties. With proceeds from the event, the Hurricanes were able to donate generously to help those fighting cancer.

Liberty girls volleyball head coach Connor Swigart said, "The young women on the Liberty volleyball team encompass the values of hard work and dedication on and off the court. This annual event is a team favorite, and a great opportunity for the girls to give back to our community."

Amanda Buss, Executive Director of Cancer Support Community of the Greater Lehigh Valley, was in attendance during the event.

"We couldn't provide such valuable assistance to people affected by cancer without the kindness and generosity from caring community members. The support from events like Liberty High School's Pink Out makes an important difference for patients and their loved ones struggling to cope, striving for wellness, and needing resources and guidance," said Buss.

The mission of the Cancer Support Community is to ensure that all people impacted by cancer are empowered by knowledge, strengthened by action and sustained by community - so that no one faces cancer alone.

Who would have thought that, at the beginning of cross country season, when Freedom had just three girls on its team, one of them would emerge as a state qualifier?

"Ava (Fihlman) ran fantastic," said Coach Bob Thear.

Fihlman, a sophomore in her first cross country season, took 51st place at the PIAA State Cross Country Class 3A Championships on Saturday morning at Hershey.

Thear maintained that a good race for Fihlman would be to finish in the top 100; that is, out of 238 runners, and that a time of 20:20 would be a good goal.

"She was nervous going in, and she was with another 100 people she hadn't seen before, but one thing that helped her was familiar faces," Thear said. "A girl from Pocono Mountain West was near her, and the Emmaus team was right next to her at the start, so I told her to let them set the pace."

Around the halfway point, Fihlman was in 70th place, then, moved up to the low 60s, and from there, the mid 50s.

"Ava was running really great and looked good too," said Thear. "She exceeded my expectations. She was really excited and rightfully so."

Fihlman's time was 20:12.90, and the only competitor from District XI ahead of her was

GIRLS SOCCER

Vikes edge Hawks 1-0

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcaldonald@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic and Allentown Central Catholic's girls soccer teams had already established a tradition of low-scoring games against each other this season, so it was probably no surprise that history would repeat itself in the District XI Class 3A semifinal last Tuesday at Catasauqua Middle School's Alumni Field.

In the end, the Vikettes came out on top with a 1-0 victory over the Golden Hawks.

"We had a lot of close games, and this one, I think honestly, could've gone either way," said Becahi head coach Brad Kratzer.

Midway through the first half, Central Catholic midfielder Molly Driscoll scored the lone goal.

"It was just rolling around, right in the middle of the goal, so I just kicked it," Driscoll said. "Coach (Rob Spatzer) said to come to this game mad because the scores from the other games don't really reflect who we are as a team."

The second half appeared to provide more chances for the Hawks when midfielder Teighan Boyle took a shot that rolled off the fingertips of keeper Armani Brickhouse.

Another shot by Tealyn Boyle went wide to the right.

"It looked a lot better in the second half. We knew exactly what Central was going to do, very direct," said Coach Kratzer. "We're just a very young team, returning nine of 11 starters, so I feel like this team is really well set for a deep run next year. We finished the season 8-9-3, closed the gap with all the big schools, made district semifinals for the first time in Beca history for girls. The accomplishments are endless."

If you own an outboard boat motor, now may be a good time to winterize it, says BoatUS.

Outdoors: Time to winterize your boat

BY NICK HRONIAK
Special to the Press

As we're now in October with dipping temperatures, the recreational boating season is about over for the year. Only avid boating anglers can be seen on local lakes and the Delaware and Lehigh rivers.

If you're not among the latter, this may be a good time to winterize your boat's outboard motor. According to BoatUS, when freezing temperatures prevail, and if there is water inside your engine or gear case, the result can be a cracked block or housing. This could cost you a repair bill that could run into four figures.

BoatUS recommends following the owner's manual for winterizing, but in the absence of one, the organization recommends the following.

Freshwater flush: Using a flushing attachment run your outboard in a tank filled with clean water.

Empty fuel lines and carburetors: While the engine is still running, disconnect the fuel line from the engine and when it dies, the fuel delivery components will be empty which prevents gums from forming in the stagnant gas and clogging lines, jets or injectors.

Fog the carburetor intake(s): Before the engine runs out of fuel, spray fogging oil into the carburetor(s). It acts as an anti-corrosive to protect the carb and cylinders.

Drain cooling passages: Disconnect the flush attachment or remove the motor from the flush tank. With the motor upright, let all water drain out of the pickup. Open the drain plugs. Crank the motor a couple times by hand or "bump" it with the starter to empty the water pump. Remove the spark plugs and spray fogging oil into the holes to coat the interior of the cylinders. While the plugs are out, check and regap or replace them.

Drain and refill gearcase: This will prevent condensation from forming inside the tank.

Drain fuel tank and supply lines: Drain the fuel that remains and use it in your car or snowblower, but leave the tanks empty. If emptying tanks is not practical, top it off to 95 percent full. Gasoline with ethanol is subject to phase separation if water gets into the fuel which will happen with a half-empty tank over the winter. Filling the tank limits the air space inside the tank and reduces the potential for internal condensation.

Stabilize the fuel: If leaving the tank full, dose it with an appropriate amount of gasoline stabilizer to combat the formation of passage-clogging gums.

Clean and lubricate propeller shaft: The off-season is perfect to have the prop(s) serviced. If storing your craft at home, leave it off to discourage theft.

Store upright: Laying the engine down risks water draining where it shouldn't. An engine stand is easy enough to cobble together.

These suggested BoatUS maintenance items will go a long way for trouble-free springtime boating.

Pete's Top-10: D-11 titles on the line

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

We are down to the final two weeks of the District 11 postseason, as we have four teams in the poll vying for championships with East Stroudsburg South and Whitehall battling for the 5A title, while Northwestern and Central Catholic lock horns again in 4A.

However, this week's Parkland and Emmaus 6A semifinal is the marquee matchup of the week, as the Trojans have the task of knocking off Emmaus for the second time in three weeks.

Top-ranked Freedom takes on an undefeated Northampton team that comes in as an underdog looking for respect.

Plenty of storylines on the table this week, so we'll see how these teams write their script.

1. Freedom (9-2)
Last week's rank: #1
Pates dominated last week and should be in control this week.
The Pick: Freedom 28-Northampton 7

2. Parkland (9-1)

Last week's rank: #2
Trojans are in the Game of the Week, but does Emmaus get some revenge?
The Pick: Emmaus 17-Parkland 14

3. Emmaus (8-3)
Last week's rank: #4
Hornets came back with an impressive win last week, but can they do it two weeks in a row?
The Pick: Emmaus 17-Parkland 14

4. Nazareth (7-4)
Last week's rank: #3
Blue Eagles had too many mistakes last week to pull out a district win.

5. N'ampton (11-0)
Last week's rank: #5
A lot of eyes will be on this game to see if Northampton's record will be validated or discredited.
The Pick: Freedom 28-Northampton 7

6. N'western (11-0)
Last week's rank: #7
Tigers are rolling, but EPC gets the nod in this district title.
The Pick: Central Catholic 28-Northwestern 24

7. Central Catholic (8-3)
Last week's rank: #8
Vikes will need a better performance this week than what they showed at Pottsville.
The Pick: Central Catholic 28-Northwestern 24

8. Easton (5-4)
Last week's rank: #6
Not a good performance to get routed last week.

9. East Stroudsburg South (8-3)
Last week's rank: #9
Cavs are looking for the district gold they should have had last year.
The Pick: ESS 35-Whitehall 28

10. Whitehall (4-6)
Last week's rank: Not ranked
Zephs sneak in, but can they defend their district title?
The Pick: ESS 35-Whitehall 28

Teams that dropped: Notre Dame
Teams that entered: Whitehall
Last week's pick: 6-2
Season records: 68-16

Thear saw Heidemann's starting spot was next to the team from Hempfield, contenders for a team title, including Aidan Hodge, who finished ahead of Heidemann in the Paul Short Run in October.

"The early stretch is very chaotic, so I told Alex to go out with them. They'll go out hard," Thear said. "I saw him at a quarter mile in, and I was happy. At the half-way point, he was 20th, and a half mile later, the pack had broken up a bit, but Alex looked good."

In fact, at each mile mark, Heidemann said he was right where he wanted to be: 5:01 at the first mile and 10:28 at the second mile. And on a steep downhill, where he definitely didn't want to fall, Heidemann passed a few competitors after catching others on that second mile.

"The third mile favored me because it was flat," he said. "Going into the last half mile, I was 15th with five guys in front of me and two next to me, and there's a hill that challenges you, and you don't want to kick."

But in the last 200 meters, Heidemann let it go and caught all five for a 10th place state medal.

"I saw Alex at 400 meters, and then I saw him kicking. He was going after them," Thear said.

Freedom teammates Dylan Boyle and Eric Chen were also there for moral support.

"Eric was a good part of my mindset," said Heidemann. "He helped me focus."

What meant a lot to harrier and coach was the medal ceremony because, as Heidemann said, Thear was the one who put the medal around his neck.

Said Thear, "That was a big thrill and honor for me. I gave Alex a big hug and told him I was proud of him. I was so happy that he was being rewarded for all his hard work and dedication."

a four quarter game," Roeder said. "We talked to the kids at half about taking the scoreboard out of the equation and to finish strong, because it was a similar situation when we played them earlier this season. They answered the challenge by putting this away."

Now the third-seeded Pates have to hit the road and take on second-seeded Northampton at 7 p.m. Friday night.

Northampton struggled to get by Pleasant Valley last week in their 21-7 quarterfinal victory. It was the first district playoff win in school history for the EPC North champions, who have beaten Bethlehem Catholic and Whitehall this season in their only EPC South encounters.

Roeder knows Northampton's run oriented offense can be difficult to prep for, but he's confident in how the team is playing at this juncture of the season.

"Obviously, we haven't seen a whole lot of them this season on film, but it's an exciting game," said Roeder of this week's challenge. "To go play an undefeated team at their place is a great opportunity for our kids in round two."

Animal Riddles

I eat leaves from the top of trees. My tongue is about 21 inches long. I come from Africa. Like my tongue, my neck is really, really long.
What am I?

I have short legs to crawl along the ground but I live mainly in waters. Slow is how I travel. When tired or threatened, I lay down and pull into my hard shell.
What am I?

When I fly through the air, I make a buzzing sound. My tail has a stinger. Workers collect pollen and help the flowers grow. Back at the hive, together we make honey.
What am I?

Pick an animal you like and write clues for your own "Who am I?" riddle.

ANSWERS: Giraffe, turtle, bee.

KID SCOOP'S MISSION

Children are born curious. From their earliest days, sensory exploration brings delight and wonder. New discoveries expand their minds. When they unlock the joy of reading, their world widens further.
Magic happens.

Kid Scoop opens the doors of discovery for elementary school children by providing interactive, engaging and relevant age-appropriate materials designed to awaken the magic of reading at school, at home, and throughout their lives.

BILL: A platypus is the only mammal with a bill. The bill is covered with skin that is hairless and moist. It has no teeth.

FRONT FEET: A platypus swims using its front feet, but not its back feet. When it gets out of the water, the platypus can roll back its webbed front feet and claws pop out to make it easier to walk on land.

BACK FEET: The male platypus is one of the world's few venomous mammals! He has sharp stingers on the heels of his hind feet. With these stingers, the male platypus can sting a foe with a strong venom that doesn't kill but does cause a lot of pain.

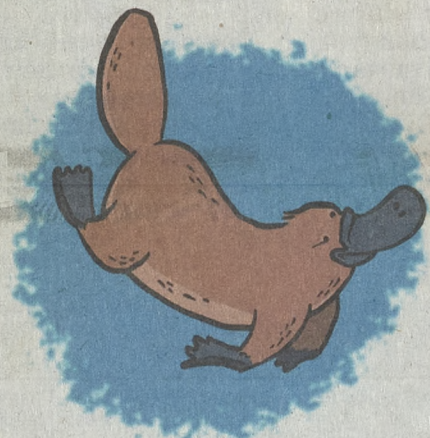

TAIL: The platypus uses its tail to steer through the water. It also stores fat for when food is scarce or when the water is very cold.

The Commonwealth of Australia reveres this remarkable mammal so much that it honors the platypus with a place on its 20-cent coin.

A mammal that hatches from eggs?

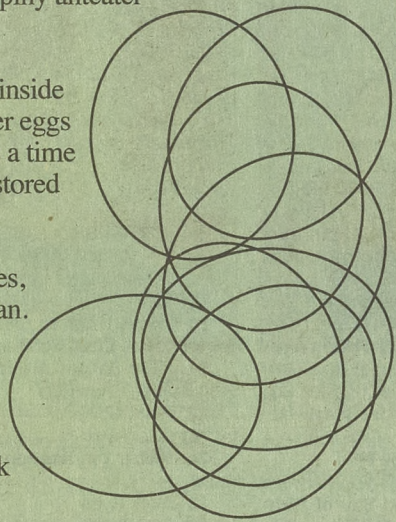

The platypus is one of two kinds of mammals that lay eggs. The other is the spiny anteater or echidna.

Mother platypus lays her eggs inside a chamber and curls up with her eggs for about 10 to 12 days. This is a time when she really needs that fat stored in her tail!

When the baby platypus hatches, it is about the size of a lima bean.

Baby platypuses stay in the nursery chamber for the first three or four months of life. Like other mammals they drink their mother's milk.

"In the future as the past, We'll be loyal to the last," sang the seasoned men and women standing together in the Hanover Grand Ballroom at the Hanover Valley Hotel and Conference Center Sept. 25.

As they finished their "Alma Mater," these venerable members of the Liberty High School class of 1965 finally got to enjoy their long-awaited, fifty-five plus one reunion.

Chairperson Sharon Retter Rehrig welcomed former Liberty classmates and their guests to the event that was twice-postponed by COVID-19. The fifty-fifth was originally scheduled for 2020.

friends rocked and slow danced to the soundtrack of their teen years. "Best of Times" DJ Courtenie Guion spun hits like "La Bamba" by Richie Valens and Chubby Checker's "The Twist."

Reunion committee member Susan Derr Kirk announced the Class of 1965's scholarship fund has reached $7,200 and they were still accepting donations through the end of 2021.

An empty chair with symbolic table setting was dedicated to lost comrades. Another table with names and images of 232 who have passed on over the years was nearby. A memorial tribute to five of their number killed in Vietnam was on display as well. Tony Belletti, Jack Derrico, Rich Lynn, Mike Yartymyk, and Jerry Zerfass were remembered as casualties of a war that the United States officially entered during their senior year.

Celebrants browsed another table of memorabilia containing a yearbook, snapshots and ephemera from their "happy days."

Toward the end of the evening, celebrants returned their name tags printed with graduation pictures to be worn again when they meet again for their sixtieth in 2025.

The Quakertown Farmers Market had an amazing response to its 28th annual Halloween Costume Contest! The event brought out over 300 children eager to gather treats and be judged in their costumes. The creativity, imagination and hard work put into the costumes made it truly hard to pick this year's winners. Above: One of the winners is a Bethlehem resident. Three-year-old Lilly won first place in the children's group for her "Little Old Lady" costume.

Bethlehem celebrates 100th Halloween parade

Downtown Bethlehem celebrated the 100th anniversary of their Halloween parade Oct. 31. Residents from all over the area showed support for the many participants in the parade. The city of Bethlehem partnered with local businesses and schools as the main participants in the parade. There was a section of the parade that was dedicated to celebrating healthcare workers. Bethlehem Health Director Kristen Wenrich served as grand marshal. The "Parade of the Century" marched down West Broad Street and Main Street in downtown Bethlehem.

Marybeth Fischer waves to parade-goers as part of St Luke's Honorary Nursing Faculty.

Marchers distribute candy dressed as characters from "Squid Game," a new series popular on Netflix.

Canine Skippy and friends march with their humans as representatives of The Puppy Palace Doggie Day Canine Spa.

There are plenty of costumes on display in the parade, as Ursula of "The Little Mermaid" leads a cast of characters.

It's a nice day for a fancy ride.

Some participants of the parade wore more simple costumes.

Healthcare workers are united in celebration, with representatives of Lehigh Valley Health Network, Bethlehem Health Bureau and St. Luke's University Hospital.

Bethlehem Food Co-op participants wave to the crowd as part of the last section of the parade.

Grade: 12
Family members: Orel (mother), Lucien (father), Noah (brother)

Favorite subject(s): I enjoy the logic and dependability of mathematics.

Activities: National Honor Society, debate team, girls' varsity tennis, marching/concert band, Peer Listeners, Hawk Ambassadors, Scholastic Scrimmage, Engineering Team, PMEA District 10 Band, Kaire Retreat Team, Math Club, Photography Club

Next steps: I plan to attend a four-year institution where I will major in biology in preparation for medical school.

Career goals: I hope to one day graduate from medical school and become a doctor, although I am not yet sure what kind. At the moment, I have a particular interest in cardiology, but I am open to learning about the other specialties as well.

Heroes: I have no single hero in particular, but I want to exemplify specific traits from each important person in my life, including my parents, teachers, and Becahi alumni.

Hobbies: Biking, learning new instruments, playing tennis, exploring my hometown

Current job(s): I am a registered member of the American Federation of Musicians of the United States and Canada, a union of professional instrumental musicians available to perform services for compensation.

Volunteer/community work: I volunteer weekly at St. Luke's Hospital (Anderson Campus) in Easton, in addition to repeated service to the annual Historic Bethlehem Turkey Trot 5K and the St. Joseph the Worker Knights of Columbus Parish Breakfast. My statuses as a Peer Listener, a retreat team member, and a Hawk Ambassador have also provided me with various service opportunities.

Likes: Ferries, classical music, scenic views
Dislikes: Being late, tomatoes, mini golf

Greatest accomplishment (so far): My greatest accomplishment is earning the title of junior drum major in Becahi's marching band, a title I value greatly because of the ability it gives me to lead my fellow musicians and shape underclassmen's high-school experience in the activity, just as now-alumni did for me.

Advice for peers: Never let anyone tell you what you are or are not capable of. If someone tells you that you cannot achieve something you are pursuing, that gives you even more of a reason to work for it anyway. Often, the best motivation is others' doubt.

BETHLEHEM CATHOLIC NEWS

Back on track

It's always "a great day to be a Golden Hawk" when that means fall activities were back in full swing at Bethlehem Catholic for the 2021-2022 school year. All Becahi students enjoyed a complete in-person return to school on the last day of August following the annual New Family Barbecue Aug. 22 and the opening day for freshmen and transfer students Aug. 30.

The fall sports teams fared well against the other schools' teams in the area. The field hockey team enjoyed a ride to district quarterfinals under the leadership of senior captains Emilia Lieb, Brooke Sodl and Kara Vasquez. In addition, Sodl was named to the EPC Second Team and will continue her field hockey career at Moravian University next year.

The girls soccer team, captained by seniors Teighan Boyle and Sarah Talpas and junior Emily Pepe, made it to district semifinals. Boyle and sophomore Summer Hill were named to EPC teams as well.

The boys soccer team won the first round of district playoffs against Salisbury 7-2, featuring a long-distance goal by senior Peter Martinez.

After a regular-season record of 13-4, the girls tennis team placed second in district competition after a final match at Lehigh University. Junior Cara Magliochetti placed second in district singles, and Magliochetti and senior captain Taylor Adams also placed second in the district doubles tournament.

The girls' volleyball team arguably had the most successful season so far, with a record of 15-5 and a victory in the district championship Nov. 4. Senior MacKenzy Ruggiero made the EPC First Team, and junior Kyla Rodriguez made the EPC Third Team. The girls continued to the first round of the state tournament Nov. 9 at home.

Other extracurricular activities have also been quite active this fall. The Golden Hawk Marching Band marched in the Bethlehem Halloween Parade Oct. 31, and Bethlehem Catholic Theater has been rehearsing for the fall play, "Death by Design," which will premiere Nov. 19 at 7 p.m. with other showtimes Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. and Nov. 21 at 3 p.m.

The Scholastic Scrimmage team has won its first and second-round matches against Catasauqua and Whitehall that will be aired on PBS in the coming weeks.

The debate team is also practicing hard for their remaining two debates, after a relatively successful run in the first three, especially since most of its speakers are new to the team.

Becahi's charity and service organization, The Movement, recently sold over 450 dozen Krispy Kreme doughnuts to fundraise for its yearly Lock-In to be held in 2022 to support Sassy Massey Smiles Foundation and other causes. For the month of November, The Movement will be giving back to the community through item collections and acts of service, especially for veterans because of Veterans' Day Nov. 11. In addition, the Fall Encounter Retreat for juniors and seniors was held at the Malvern Retreat House Oct. 25 to 27, and the school-wide day-long retreat was held at Bethlehem Catholic Nov. 1 during school hours.

The advent of the new year also brought honor to some of Becahi's most respected students. On Sunday, Oct. 24, the top 10 scholars for the classes of 2022, 2023 and 2024 were recognized at a ceremony in the auditorium for the students and their families.

On Oct. 27, the Sursum Corda chapter of the National Honor Society at Bethlehem Catholic inducted its new members with a full ceremony that also included the members inducted in 2020. Throughout the year, these students and others will serve as role models for their peers and assist them with whatever they need, like through the National Honor Society's tutoring program.

MJ DANCE CENTER

Storyed dance school has new home

BY TAMI QUIGLEY
Special to the Bethlehem Press

In 1945, Americans were cuttin' the rug to tunes like "On the Atchinson, Topeka and the Santa Fe" by Johnny Mercer and The Pied Pipers, and "Rum and Coca-Cola" by The Andrews Sisters. The big band music of World War II was booming.

Students at the new Miss Jeanne's School of Dance Arts were kickin' up their heels too.

The MJ Dance Center – formerly known as Miss Jeanne's – celebrated the school's legacy and its future Oct. 16 with a dual location event from 12-4 p.m.: an open house at the 1512 West Broad St. location and the new location of MJ Dance Center at 310 Stoke Park Road, where tours were offered of the new studio space.

All alumni, current dance families and prospective students and families were welcome to mingle, connect and share memories. Attendees were invited to dance in flash mobs every half hour, during which instructors taught them a quick combination and then videotaped anyone who wanted to learn and join.

"Today is about the past, present and future together, and present students and alumni," said Ashley Mooney, co-owner of MJ Dance Center with Chad Piotrowski, son of the late Barbara Piotrowski, Miss Jeanne's daughter. Mooney is also co-director with Sarah Hirsch. "I grew up dancing here and worked for Barbara here after college," Mooney said.

MJ Dance Center celebrated 75 years in business in 2020, but due to the pandemic was unable to honor the occasion or hold the planned Legacy Showcase. Since the studio considers its year September to June, it is now celebrating its 77th season.

"We tried to celebrate at Symphony Hall in

The MJ Dance Center – formerly known as Miss Jeanne's School of Dance Arts – at 1512 West Broad St. The studio is now closed, as the center has moved to its new location just four miles away at 310 Stoke Park Road in Hanover Township.

Co-owners Chad Piotrowski and Ashley Mooney, who is also MJ Dance Center co-director with Sarah Hirsch, take a moment to reminisce about Miss Jeanne's in Studio A.

Three generations of dancers surround the Miss Jeanne's School of Dance Arts sign that long hung outside 1512 West Broad St, from left, Patty Coxe, granddaughter Lia Zsilavec and daughter Jenna Zsilavec. The license plate BARRE-B belonged to the late Barbara Piotrowski – "Miss Barbara" – who taught at the school with her mother, Miss Jeanne.

Allentown, where the very first show was held in 1945," Mooney said. "We are creating a documentary about the studio where everyone can share memories and testimonials."

"I'm happy to be back today," said Chad Piotrowski, who now calls Miami home. "Before the doors shut forever it gives the alumni a chance to see it one last time and reminisce, then go see the new studio space – it's a new chapter."

In the fall of 1943, Jeanne Meixell, affectionately known by many as Miss Jeanne, rented the old Leh Cleaners building on East Hamilton St. in Allentown in the days of 50-cent dance classes. She went on to become a prominent and respected instructor who established Miss Jeanne's School of Dance Arts. She eventually found her permanent home at 1512 West Broad St.

Miss Jeanne brought her students to perform regularly at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City in two shows per day on Tony Grant's "Stars of Tomorrow." Her dancers also performed locally in the community at holiday shows, local summer festivals and city parades.

The school operated under Miss Jeanne's direction along with her daughter Barbara for 67 years. Upon their passing, Mooney was named artistic director of the studio in 2010. The late Miss Gwendel, Barbara's daughter, also taught at the studio for several years. The studio refers to Miss Jeanne, Miss Barbara and Miss Gwendel as "the three incredible forces of nature who have all taught us, guided us, inspired us and whose energy and commitment to the art of dance we honor daily."

The day held a special place in the hearts of a family with three generations of dancers: Patty Coxe, her daughter Jenna Zsilavec and granddaughter Lia Zsilavec.

Coxe, who was on the planning committee for the event, danced at Miss Jeanne's 1961-1968. "When I started, the studio was located at 314 East Broad St. Some highlights while dancing with the studio were dancing at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, at the New York World's Fair, and on the Chief Halftown show. Miss Jeanne and her daughter, Miss Barbara, were my teachers. I took tap, ballet and jazz."

Jenna started dancing when she was three years old until she graduated high school, spanning the years 1987-2002. Miss Jeanne, Miss Barbara and Miss Barbara's daughter, Miss Gwendel, were her teachers. Throughout her 15 years at the studio, she competed in many dance competitions, as well as danced at festivals like Musikfest and the Muhlenberg Fair. She says her years at the studio helped build confidence, poise, discipline and friendships.

Lia, age 6, is now dancing in her fourth year at the studio and was just invited to be a part of the mini competition team. She will get to compete in her first local competition this year. She currently takes ballet, jazz, and tap and is enjoying it very much.

Many former students have pursued careers as professional dancers on Broadway and stages around the world. One such alum is Broadway performer Tony Yazbeck, who attended the open house.

Mooney wanted to continue to honor the studio founder and roots while modernizing and bringing her own visions to the program. MJ Dance center will be the first of its kind in Hanover Township, offering ballet, jazz, tap, contemporary, lyrical, hip-hop, acro and more for both recreational and competitive students of all skill levels ages, three to 18.

Rabies warning issued

A stray kitten in the vicinity of Garrett Road in Bethlehem recently tested positive for rabies. An exposure to rabies can be fatal for a human or other mammals, such as dogs and cats.

It is recommended that citizens never attempt to handle a wild or domesticated animal that is not their own, as a health and safety precaution. All sick or injured animals should be reported to the local police department or animal control officer.

Anyone who is bitten, scratched, or otherwise exposed to an animal should seek prompt medical care. By law, all medical care providers must report these cases to the local health department for investigation.

To report an actual or potential exposure to a wild or domesticated animal, please call the Bethlehem Health Bureau at 610-865-7083.

Roxy to show movie starring grad of Northampton Area High School

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN
 pwillistein@tnonline.com

Jenn Gotzon, Northampton Area High School, Class of 1967, always wanted to be in a movie shown in her hometown.

"As a little girl, it was always a dream of mine to be in a movie at Becky's Drive-In and the Roxy Theatre. That's where I grew up going to movies," says Gotzon.

Last year, "The Farmer and the Belle: Saving Santaland," was shown at Becky's Drive-In Theatre, Lehigh Township, in a Bethany Wesleyan Church event held there.

"They [BWC] had their Christmas festival at Becky's Drive-In," recalls Gotzon.

This year, "The Farmer and the Belle: Saving Santaland" will be given its Lehigh Valley movie theater premiere, 7 p.m. Nov. 19, Roxy Theatre, Northampton, where the movie continues through Nov. 24.

"High Falls Creek, Ringing Rocks" (2020; ink wash on paper, 11 in. x 15 in.) was drawn at one of Travers' favorite secluded locations. "I start out by sketching these out in water soluble graphite," he explains. He then renders them with brushes, India ink and water on heavy cold-press paper.

Broadway returns to the State Theatre Center for the Arts, Easton, with the national touring production of the hit musical "Waitress."

"Waitress" kicks off the State Theatre "Broadway Series" with two performances, 7:30 p.m. Nov. 16 and 17.

Based on the 2007 independent film of the same name, "Waitress" is the first Broadway musical in history to have four women in the four top creative team spots, with a book by Jessie Nelson, a score by Grammy Award-winner Sara Bareilles, choreography by Lorin Latarro and direction by Tony Award-winner Diane Paulus.

The show opened in 2016 on Broadway and was nominated for four Tony Awards, including for best musical.

Bareilles' score, which also was nominated for a Grammy Award, includes the hit song, "She Used to Be Mine."

In the musical, Jenna is a waitress and expert pie-maker who dreams of a way out of her small town and abusive marriage. She pours her heart into her pies, making desserts that mirror her life such as "The Key (Lime) to Happiness Pie" and "Betrayed By My Eggs Pie" after she finds out she is pregnant.

When a new relationship with her doctor, and a baking contest in a nearby county gives Jenna a chance at a fresh start, it is up to her to find the strength to make a change.

The touring production stars Jiisel Soleil Ayon as Jenna; Kennedy Salters and Gabriella Marzetta as Jenna's friends Becky and Dawn; Shawn W. Smith as Jenna's husband Earl; David Socolar as Dr. Pomatter, and Michael R. Douglas as diner owner Joe.

celebrates Christmas with its new original musical comedy, "Home for the Holidays," Nov. 10 - Dec. 19.

"Home for the Holidays" is written by Pines Dinner Theatre Artistic Director Oliver Blatt, with original music and lyrics by Blatt and Pines Music Director Stacy Bechtel. There is additional music and lyrics by Jason Michael and Gene Culklin.

As Sam (Don Hart) and Marty Ferguson (Barbi McGuire) plan for their extended family to visit them in upstate New York, a winter blizzard makes travel difficult for everyone in the storm's path and ruins their holiday plans. To their surprise, friends Jane (Abigail Garrigan), Walter Marshall (Michael Covell) and their daughter Emma (Mia Moyer) are forced to change their plans and stop in for an unexpected visit.

Complete with newly-harvested Christmas tree and hot cider in hand, everyone gathers for an evening of new Christmas traditions.

The score has traditional Christmas favorites like "Oh, Christmas Tree," "Silent Night" and "Joy to the World," as well as original songs such as "Country Christmas Feeling," "Deck the Christmas Halls" and "Starry Night."

Appetizers, entrees, desserts and beverages are available for purchase ala carte.

Entrees include pineapple glazed ham, roast turkey, pot roast, striped Pangasius, grilled shrimp skewers, filet mignon, fettuccine Alfredo with broccoli, and butternut squash ravioli.

Dinner is served before the show. Audiences are welcome to BYOB.

Performances are dinner, 12:30 p.m.; show, 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, Sunday, and dinner, 6:30 p.m.; show, 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The theater, 448 N. 17th St., is at the northeast quadrant of the Allentown Fairgrounds, 17th and Liberty streets, Allentown.

"Holiday Inn" postponed: Rody Gilkeson, president of The Pennsylvania Playhouse, Bethlehem, has announced that its production of "Holiday Inn," Dec. 3 - 19, is postponed until December 2022.

Gilkeson says the Playhouse lost a weekend of performances of "A Gentleman's Guide to Love and Murder" in October because of a COVID-19 outbreak among the staff and out of an abundance of caution, the Playhouse board decided not to take a chance on another big musical until 2022.

The first two 2022 playhouse shows are comedies: "The Exes," Jan. 28 - Feb. 13, 2022, and "Nollywood Dreams," March 25 - April 10, 2022. The first musical of the season is "Bright Star," June 3 - 19, 2022. Other shows are "Pippin," July 22 - Aug. 7, 2022, and "Deathtrap," Oct. 7 - 23, 2022.

grandmother, Anna Sadowski, lived in Pine Island, N.Y.

"The reason why we are releasing it [The Farmer and the Belle] is because we are only releasing in small-town movie theaters to help them recover from COVID. We're creating a new Christmas tradition that will happen every year," Gotzon says.

Gotzon stars in "The Farmer and the Belle" as Belle Winters, a New York City model who meets the love of her life when she returns to a Christmas tree farm where she thinks she may have lost a family keepsake bracelet.

Gotzon's husband, Jim E. Chandler, stars in "The Farmer and the Belle," as Josh Carpenter, the love of Belle's life.

Gotzon and Chandler married in 2017 on his family's 100-acre Christmas-tree farm in Georgia.

"And we filmed it. It's in the end credits [of 'The Farmer and the Belle']," says Jenn Gotzon.

"Jim plays the farmer. And I play Belle. And the storyline is inspired by our true love story. And you're watching the real actors play themselves in a funny, family, Christmas kind of way."

The phone interview is momentarily interrupted by Baby James, 13-month-old son of Gotzon and Chandler, who live in the New York City area.

"He's [Baby James] got his own agent in New York City. He has a commercial coming out for Lovesac [modular furniture]," she says.

Gotzon is a daughter of Jo-Ann and Ronnie Gotzon of Moore Township. Ronnie Gotzon manufactures fishing lures and handcrafts wooden birdhouses.

Gotzon has 75 acting credits on the Internet Movie Database website, including five-time Oscar-nominated "Frost/Nixon" (2008), as Tricia Nixon; "I am ... Gabriel" (2012); "Forgiven" (2016); the Oscar-nominated "Alone Yet Not Alone" (2013); "Sinking Sand" (2016), and "My Daddy's in Heaven" (2017).

"The Farmer and the Belle: Saving Santaland" received best screenplay, was nominated for best picture, and Gotzon was nominated for best actor at the 2020 International Christian Film Festival.

Gotzon received best actress for "God's Country" (2012) at the 2013 Pocono Mountains Film Festival.

She began her acting career in murder-mystery dinner theater productions in Whitehall Township. She was a model at Chartreuse Talent Management, Allentown. "She was my childhood mentor," Gotzon says of Chartreuse.

When "The Farmer and the Belle" unreels at the Roxy, it won't be the first time Gotzon was on the big screen there. She was in a movie shown at the Roxy in 2012.

"I was in only one movie at the Roxy: 'I Am ... Gabriel.' And she [Chartreuse] interviewed me on stage to inspire the audience to live their dreams."

Gotzon studied for two years at The New York Conservatory for Dramatic Arts and for two years at the Joanne Baron-DW Brown Studio in Los Angeles.

In 1998, Gotzon moved to Orlando, Fla., to be a dancer for Walt Disney World's Entertainment Department in the inaugural parade for Animal Kingdom.

Gotzon has a motivational speaking program, "Inspiring Audiences." In 2014, China celebrity makeup artist, Brother Zhen, hired Gotzon to be the face of his company Jubilee, which she was, through 2018.

Gotzon's husband has 62 acting credits on the Internet Movie Database, including "Castle Falls" (2021), TV's "Lodge 49" (2018-19) and "Stranger Things" (2017), and "Sinking Sand" (2016).

"We met on a movie," Jenn Gotzon says of she and her husband. "He and I were both the leads," she says of "Sinking Sand," filmed in Savannah, Ga., in June 2014, when they met.

"The Farmer and the Belle" is a franchise," says Jenn Gotzon. "We use movies, books and jewelry to inspire inner beauty and value in people's lives."

DVD copies of "The Farmer and the Belle" are available at Miller Supply Ace Hardware, Rt. 329, Allentown; Walmart, and Christian bookstores.

Gotzon will be on QVC in December, selling jewelry she designed for the movie.

Of "The Farmer and the Belle," she says, "We spent years working and crafting the storyline to embed the message of inner beauty through an inspirational, Christmas comedy for the family."

The movie also stars Corbin Bernsen, John Schneider, Sandra Ellis Lafferty, Natasha Bure, Livi Birch, Kurt Yue, Henry Cho, Robert Amaya and Roxzane T. Mims.

The screenplay was written by James M. De Vince, Reuben Evans, Billy Falcon, Betty Sullivan and Bob Sáenz.

The film is directed by Wes Llewellyn (director, TV's "Sid Roth's It's Supernatural," 2007-2019).

A sequel is planned for "The Farmer and the Belle."

At the Roxy Theatre Nov. 19 screening, a children's group will sing Christmas carols before and after the movie. Gotzon and her husband will sing "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

Jewelry seen in the movie; copies of a book, "Beautiful Mabel," read in the movie; DVD copies of the movie, and CDs of the movie soundtrack will be available for sale at the Roxy.

"Our soundtrack has many original toe-tapping Christmas songs. We have John Schneider singing on it. Toby Lee, Beckah Shae," says Gotzon.

Mike Nawrocki, co-creator of "VeggieTales," wrote the book, "Beautiful Mabel."

"We hired Mike to write it. My character reads the book in the movie. It helps my character understand that beauty is within."

Continues Gotzon about "The Farmer and the Belle": "The whole story is about a girl who gets a bracelet from her grandmother and loses it at Santaland, on a pig farm."

"What's important about the bracelet is that the bracelet has secret inscriptions about what a beautiful girl is."

"God moved powerfully in the making of this film," Gotzon says.

"We had over 400 people use [the Bible's] first First Peter 4-10, which is to use whatever gift you have to serve others."

"The message of inspiring inner beauty has overwhelmingly impacted women age 34 and older."

"The grandmothers are showing it to their grandchildren. And the girls are saying, 'Grammy, I didn't know that I was pretty because God made me beautiful.'

"We made this movie as an inspirational movie so that people from all walks of life can enjoy being able to come together and have a new Christmas tradition."

"The movie is going to be available in theaters, only at the Roxy [in the Lehigh Valley]. And then it's available on DVD at ACE hardware or on our website. It's on Amazon Prime."

"And it really helps the movie if they rate it [on Amazon Prime]," Gotzon says.

"The Farmer and the Belle" is to be screened at movie theaters in New Orleans, Atlanta, Iowa, Arizona, Grand Rapids, Illinois, and Indianapolis, Ind.

The movie's world premiere was Nov. 9 in New York City.

"We're going to be ushering in the spirit of Christmas with the Lehigh Valley," says Gotzon.

Richard Wolfe, owner-operator of the Roxy Theatre, couldn't be more pleased.

"As a second-run theater, this is extremely rare. This might be the first real premiere that we had exclusively to the Lehigh Valley," says Wolfe.

Bernie Anderson will play the Roxy Theatre organ.

Director and Bethlehem native Dan Roebuck's "Getting Grace" (2017) had a "pre-premiere" at the Roxy, Banko Cinemas and the Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts.

"One of the reasons she's [Gotzon] doing this nationally is to help theaters that have been hurt by COVID," Wolfe says.

"Her family was regulars at the Roxy. She was in my son's class when they graduated Northampton. My son, Jason, is planning on coming up because he hasn't seen her in years."

Of "The Farmer and the Belle" screening at the Roxy, Wolfe says, "I'm certainly looking forward to it. I think it's a great thing for Northampton and for the Roxy Theatre. I'm hoping that it will help bring people back out to enjoy the holiday season."

St. Luke's trauma centers said largest state network

St. Luke's Lehigh Valley Campus and Geisinger St. Luke's Hospital have been accredited as trauma centers by the Pennsylvania Trauma Systems Foundation (PTSF).

The PTSF approved the hospitals' accreditation, effective Nov. 1, after a lengthy and in-depth review to ensure timely and appropriate care of the trauma patient is provided.

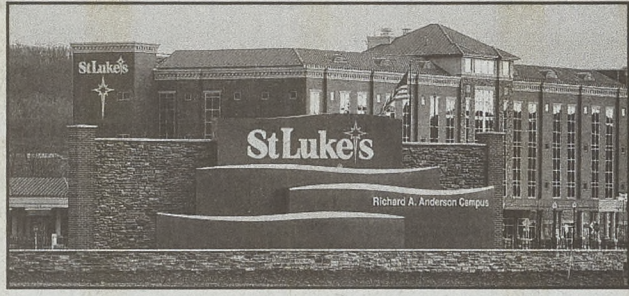

With the accreditations, St. Luke's University Health Network operates seven trauma centers in central eastern Pennsylvania, making it the largest network of trauma centers in Pennsylvania.

"St. Luke's has developed the biggest network of trauma centers in the state because we are committed to bringing St. Luke's world-class care to the communities we serve," said Dr. Peter Thomas, Medical Director of St. Luke's Trauma Program.

"Trauma center accreditation is a major accomplishment that assures the public that our physicians and staff are fully prepared to care for patients who have been injured in serious accidents," Thomas said.

Trauma centers are hospitals with resources immediately available to provide optimal care and reduce the likelihood of death or disability in patients injured in motor vehicle crashes, industrial accidents, falls and other life-threatening situations.

Schuylkill County, received Level IV accreditation.

The Level IV accreditation process includes an in-depth review to ensure timely and appropriate care of the trauma patient, extensive review of nursing and physician education, review of the physical plant and compliance with all PTSF standards, procedures and policies.

In Pennsylvania, there are four levels of trauma centers:

- Level I trauma centers provide the highest degree of resources with a full spectrum of specialists and must have trauma research and surgical residency programs.

- Level II trauma centers require the same high level of care, but do not require research and residency programs.

- Level III trauma centers are smaller community hospitals that do not require neurosurgeons and focus on stabilizing severely injured trauma patients prior to transport to a higher-level trauma center. They may admit patients with mild and moderate injuries.

- Level IV trauma centers provide enhanced care to injured patients within the emergency department and focus on stabilization and quick transfer to a higher-level trauma center. They may admit mildly-injured patients.

"Each trauma center, regardless of its level, is an integral component of the emergency medical services (EMS) system," the Pennsylvania Trauma Systems Foundation said in a statement.

In addition to St. Luke's Lehigh Valley Campus and Geisinger St. Luke's Hospital, the other hospitals in the St. Luke's University Health Network with trauma accreditation are:

- St. Luke's University Hospital Bethlehem - Level I Adult Trauma Center

- St. Luke's Anderson Campus - Level II Adult Trauma Center

- St. Luke's Miners Campus - Level IV Adult Trauma Center

- St. Luke's Monroe Campus - Level IV Adult Trauma Center

- St. Luke's Upper Bucks Campus - Level IV Adult Trauma Center

centers provide the highest degree of resources with a full spectrum of specialists and must have trauma research and surgical residency programs.

Level II trauma centers require the same high level of care but do not require research and residency programs.

St. Luke's University Health Network has five trauma centers in the greater Lehigh Valley, including its Bethlehem Campus Level II center.

"Each trauma center regardless of its level is an integral component of the emergency medical services (EMS) system," stated the Pennsylvania Trauma Systems Foundation.

St. Luke's Anderson Level II trauma center

St. Luke's Anderson Campus, Bethlehem Township, is a Level II trauma center.

The Pennsylvania Trauma Systems Foundation approved the hospital's accreditation after a lengthy and in-depth review of its specialized surgical services and other related medical resources.

"Accreditation as a Level II Trauma Center assures the public that St. Luke's Anderson physicians and staff are fully equipped to evaluate and treat all trauma patients," said Dr. Peter Thomas, Medical Director of St. Luke's Trauma Program.

Latest pain-relief technology offered by St. Luke's Network

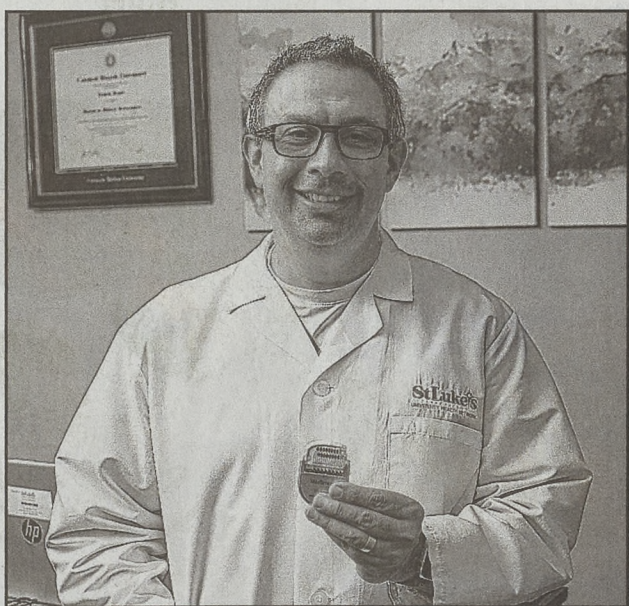

St. Luke's Center for Neuroscience has added an advanced-technology option in pain relief treatments for patients.

Chief of Neurosurgery, Doron Rabin, MD, implanted the FDA-approved Medtronic VANTA SCS Recharge-Free Spinal Cord Stimulator in a patient with chronic pain.

Rabin is among a group of specialists introducing the innovative device to leading hospitals nationwide.

"In keeping with St. Luke's University Health Network's culture of offering patients the most up-to-date, effective technologies to provide the best outcomes and quality of life, we are pleased to add this new device, which will improve convenience for persons whose pain is managed through spinal cord stimulation," says Dr. Rabin.

After undergoing a successful spinal cord stimulator trial through St. Luke's Spine & Pain Associates, the VANTA SCS Recharge-Free spinal cord stimulator can be implanted to manage chronic leg and back pain.

The device, whose pulse signal delivery can be adjusted by its user through a small, cell-phone-like controller, can accommodate the person's level of pain or physical activity or body position.

"This product is another example of how we work with patients to tailor treatments to individual needs based on lifestyle and individual wishes," Rabin said.

St. Luke's neurosurgeons are early adopters of new, proven technology that benefits patients. They recently were first in Pennsylvania to insert radioactive squares, called GammaTile®, into the brain to control the regrowth of cancerous cells.

Good Shepherd appoints clinical operations veep

Astrid Gonzalez Parrilla, OTD, MBA, FACHE, has joined Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Network as Senior Vice President, Clinical Operations.

Gonzalez Parrilla, an occupational therapist by training, Gonzalez Parrilla oversees Good Shepherd's adult and pediatric inpatient rehabilitation hospitals in Allentown and Bethlehem, long-term acute care hospital in Bethlehem, home health, long-term care facilities for nearly 160 residents in Allentown and Bethlehem, and the admissions department. She serves on Good Shepherd's Senior Leadership Team.

Gonzalez Parrilla, a native of Puerto Rico, arrived at Good Shepherd from the Brooks Rehabilitation in Florida, where she was Vice President of Operations for the Brooks - Halifax Health partnership. Gonzalez Parrilla oversaw the strategic direction, fiscal management and day-to-day operations of the physician practice, a 40-bed inpatient rehabilitation facility, adult and pediatric outpatient services and acute-care therapy departments.

Before joining Brooks in 2016, Gonzalez Parrilla held positions of increasing responsibility in a 14-year career with Lee Memorial Health System, Fort Meyers, Fla. Gonzalez Parrilla began as a staff occupational therapist and progressed to director of quality and education.

She led efforts to develop quality, safety and patient experience initiatives across the post-acute network.

Gonzalez Parrilla is a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico, Medical Sciences Campus, with a degree in occupational therapy. She received a master's degree in business administration from Columbia Southern University and a doctorate in occupational therapy from Rocky Mountain University of Health Care Professions in 2014.

She is board certified as a Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives, a Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities surveyor, and a member of the American Occupational Therapy Association, National Association of Latino Healthcare Executives and the National Society of Leadership and Success.

Hyland Center named by Good Shepherd Rehab

The Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Network Health & Technology Center, 850 S. Fifth St., Allentown, has been renamed The Hyland Center for Health & Technology.

An outdoor retirement celebration for Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Network President & CEO Michael Spiegel, PT, MHA, surprised Hyland and staff members in attendance by announcing the naming of the building.

"Frank has been a force, not just for Good Shepherd, but a force nationally, in the use of creative and innovative therapies to find solutions for our patients," said Spiegel.

"We know the power that he had in creating the essence of what the Health & Technology Center is. And so, we are renaming the Health & Technology Center to be The Hyland Center for Health & Technology," Spiegel said at the Oct. 12 event.

"And we pledge,

Frank Hyland

Frank, to continue your legacy in providing leading-edge innovation, expertise and, of course, compassionate care, not just in the halls of The Hyland Center, but really throughout all of Good Shepherd. That building and that name and whatever that building may be in 40 years or 100 years, it is going to be The Hyland Center for Health & Technology."

"You have no idea how much this means to me," said Hyland. "I know it was 40 years ago, but I still remember my first day at Good Shepherd. Our rehab department back then, we had 12 staff. Four of the 12 are still working stronger than ever."

"For the past 40 years, I have been blessed with the greatest job in the world," Hyland said. "I have had a job that I absolutely loved. I worked for an organization that I loved. I will always be connected to Good Shepherd. I'm absolutely positive that our future is great. Our future is golden."

In addition to naming the building in his honor, Good Shepherd commissioned a painting of The Hyland Center by area artist Ann Elizabeth Schlegel for Hyland's retirement home in Maine.

The Hyland Center for Health & Technology is one of the region's premier outpatient rehabilitation facilities, offering a fusion of comprehensive rehabilitation services and technology.

Patients and families access multiple services, including physicians specializing in physical medicine and rehabilitation (physiatry), neurorehabilitation, pediatric rehabilitation, adult rehabilitation and other outpatient services, all under one roof.

The building also is home to Optimal Fitness, an adaptive fitness center that supports the fitness and training goals of community members living with disabilities.

'French' souffle

"Fighting vainly the old ennui"
 - "I Get a Kick Out of You."

Cole Porter, John McGlinn,
 "Anything Goes" (1934)

"The French Dispatch" is not very French nor much of a dispatch.

It is, however, very Wes Anderson.

If you're a fan of writer-director-producer Wes Anderson's films, you will take great delight in "The French Dispatch."

If you are not a fan of Wes Anderson, what are you waiting for?

Anderson is the contemporary cinema's American auteur. His films are emblematic of a fierce, unflinching, yet sweetly sympathetic investigation of the human condition.

Anderson's films are typified by cartoon-like characters, brilliant casting, unusual, miniaturist production design, a silent-movie sensibility of physical comedy, and art direction that transports the movie-goer to the WACU (Wes Anderson Cinematic Universe). It's as if you are in Wes Anderson's brain. Soon, it's as if he's in your brain.

The film's full title, "The French Dispatch of the Liberty, Kansas Evening Sun," gives you an idea of where Anderson is going with his latest tome. Anderson has called the film a "love letter to journalists." Back at ya, Wes.

"The French Dispatch" has a list of thank-yous in the end credits to writers and editors associated with the New Yorker magazine, including Harold Ross, co-founder with his wife Jane Grant of the New Yorker in 1925.

In "The French Dispatch office," Harold Ross morphs into Arthur Howitzer Jr. (Bill Murray), editor of The French Dispatch, a magazine insert in the Sunday edition of the Evening Sun, not unlike The New York Times Magazine in the Sunday New York Times, or New York Magazine, which began in 1963 as a Sunday-magazine supplement in the New York Herald Tribune newspaper, becoming a stand-alone when the Trib folded in 1966.

There's an Oz-like sensibility to "The French Dispatch." At times, the movie is as corny as Kansas cornfields. Here, the Yellow Brick Road is a trail of words leading the characters back to square one, not unlike the feeling after reading a good book, story or article. Along the way, Anderson spoofs the art world, student activism and the culinary arts, among a movable feast of culture-war targets.

"The French Dispatch" is set in the fictional city of Ennui-sur-Blasé, France, where the anthology of the film's three main stories unfolds. Each writer reports to Howitzer, who like his namesake, takes aim at the writers' copy and egos, mowing them down like the artillery field weapon. I've worked for editors like him. They shall remain nameless.

Into the realm of the printed scourge, characters appear in vivid focus and hilarious complexity. Each of the three stories unfolds in a formalistic way with chapter titles, voiceover narration and Anderson's straight-on framing scene composition, incredible tracking shots, and alternating pastel colors and stark black and white. Welcome to the dollhouse.

In "The Concrete Masterpiece," Moses Rosenthaler (Benicio del Toro) is a prisoner whose artwork, inspired by Simone (Léa Seydoux), a prison guard, sends art dealer Julien Cadazio (Adrien Brody) and many a movie-goer all a-titter. Of course, it demands interpretation and that's where the critic J.K.L. Berensen (Tilda Swinton), a writer for "The French Dispatch," comes in. Get thee to a lecture podium. And away she goes.

Next up is "Revisions to a Manifesto," not by way of "All the Young Dudes," the 1972 recording by Mott the Hoople of the David Bowie song ("We never got it off on that revolution stuff"), but rather in the personage of Zeffirelli (Timothée Chalamet), a student revolutionary modeled after leaders of the May 1968 student protests in France. There to chronicle the ramparts is Lucinda Kremetz (Frances McDormand), a journalist for The French Dispatch, who gets a little too close to her subject.

Finally, and most deliciously, in the anthology is "The Private Dining Room of the Police Commissioner," as Roebuck Wright (Jeffrey Wright), a food journalist, spills the beans to a talk show host (Liev Schreiber).

Surfacing in this cinematic French soufflé is a huge cast, often in not much more than cameos, including Owen Wilson, Elisabeth Moss, Henry Winkler, Bob Balaban, Christoph Waltz, Edward Norton, Willem Dafoe and Saoirse Ronan.

The actors are chosen for their distinctive screen persona, magnified under the lens of Director of Photography Robert D. Yeoman (Oscar nominee: "The Grand Budapest Hotel," 2014), guided by director Anderson, who wrote the screenplay and cowrote the story with frequent collaborators, Roman Coppola (Oscar nominee, screenplay: "Moonrise Kingdom," 2012), Hugo Guinness (Oscar nominee, screenplay: "The Grand Budapest Hotel," 2014) and Jason Schwartzman ("The Darjeeling Limited," 2007).

The music by Alexandre Desplat (Oscar recipient: original score, "The Shape of Water," 2017; "The Grand Budapest Hotel") is effectively spare.

Anderson is a seven-time Oscar nominee: animated feature film, "Isle of Dogs," 2018; picture, director, screenplay, "The Grand Budapest Hotel," 2014; screenplay, "Moonrise Kingdom," 2012; animated feature, "Fantastic Mr. Fox," 2009; screenplay, "The Royal Tenenbaums," 2001).

The gift is sometimes to the regifter

Dear Jacquelyn,
I'm not trying to take the easy way out, but I have received several gifts over the years that I have no intention of using. I am considering regifting them this year. When I ask around, I get mixed answers about this. What's your opinion on regifting?

Dear Reader,
At one time it was considered poor taste to regift. Today however, it has become widely acceptable. There's nothing wrong with thoughtfully passing along an item that you won't use to someone who will appreciate it. That being said,

RESPECTFULLY YOURS
By Jacquelyn Youst

there is an etiquette of gracious regifting. You lower your chances of committing a holiday faux-pas by keeping a few things in mind.

As a general rule of thumb, only regift an item that is something you would have purchased for that person. For example, if you have a friend that is into candles, go ahead and give them the candle you have stashed away.

Your gift should always be something that you know the friend would genuinely want.

It's also very important to remember who originally gave you the gift. You certainly don't want to regift an item from someone in the same social circle.

If a family member gave you the gift, then you shouldn't give another family member that gift. Give it to a friend who isn't in your family circle.

Avoid regifting anything that was handmade for you, monogrammed or anything that's been opened.

Please, under no circumstances should you ever give a gift that was used. It's very important to check and remove any gift tags that might still be attached.

After you decide who is the perfect fit for your item, make an effort and rewrap it nicely. Wrapping gifts adds a personal touch. As an added bonus, it gives the feeling that you put time and effort into the gift.

A gift that comes from your heart with good intentions and thoughtfulness is what it's all about.

Respectfully Yours,
Jacquelyn

Missing small-town life

WARMEST REGARDS
By Pattie Mihalik
newsgirl@comcast.net

A small incident that happened to me this week reminded me of a line from "The Wizard of Oz."

"You're not in Kansas anymore."

We sometimes use that expression now when we are referring to something that isn't the same anymore.

What's not the same for me is living in a small town ... so small that everyone knows everybody.

I always loved the small-town feeling of knowing everyone, as well as their grandparents and pets.

I knew I was far removed from small-town living when a package that I didn't order arrived at my front door. When I looked at the name on the package I saw that it was meant for my neighbor two doors away.

When that happens, and it's happening far too often with both mail and packages, we just deliver it to the right door.

When my neighbor Kile answered the door and I handed him the package, he had a strange question.

"Do you live around here?" he asked.

When I told him I lived two doors away from him, he said, "Oh, did you just move to the neighborhood?"

I've lived here for 15 years yet he didn't know me.

When I thought about it, it brought home how much life has changed in what was once a small town.

There was a time when I knew the name of just about every neighbor on the block. That isn't true anymore and it's not because I've stopped being friendly with neighbors.

There were so many people moving from and moving into our development that it's hard to keep track. For at least the past two years that's been true all over town.

Our town's population is exploding. About five years ago there were only about a hundred new homes built each year.

Now we're getting hundreds of homes each month as people move here from cities they are fleeing.

Ironically when I moved here, our town was described as a sleepy fishing village. That's why I picked it.

Gone are the days when I can say I live in small town where we all know each other.

I often think about growing up in a town so small that we kids could walk everywhere. There aren't too many places like that today.

I sometimes make the comment about parents never driving kids all over when I was growing up. What that doesn't take into account is that today everything is too far apart for kids to walk everywhere.

I was always happy to live in my small coal region town. I never wanted to move and never would have if my husband didn't need to move for his job.

For others, once kids finish college, that often means they must move to find work in their field.

That changes life in so many ways.

My daughters are both "city girls." They both thrive on living in a big city that offers so much convenience.

Yet, my daughters admitted a while ago that they pay a heavy price for moving away.

It's no longer easy to get together for holidays, much less the weekly family dinners we enjoyed when we all lived near each other.

My daughters always had to decide which set of parents they would visit for a holiday.

I never had that problem. With both my family and my in-laws living in the same town we could manage to be with both sides every single holiday.

To me, there is nothing better than having the entire family together for holidays. That's the best kind of gift.

I have so many incredible memories of big family celebrations. Today, that's all they are — memories. I wish my grandkids had those memories. I think they are missing out when they only see relatives a few times a year.

With COVID, it's down to once a year, if we're lucky.

There is so much I love about small-town living. I like walking downtown and shopping in stores where we know the owners.

I love all the small-town events like parades, band concerts in the park, high school sporting events, community festivals and car shows. The Palmerton Community Festival and the band concerts in borough park were always events that gladdened my heart — glad that I lived in a small town and glad that I could look around and see so many nice people I knew.

Now, I can go to a so-called community event and I'm lucky if I see one other person I know. I always feel like I'm swimming in a sea of strangers.

My brother lives in the same coal region town where we grew up. But he tells me it's not the same small town I remember. "You have a small town romantic vision of towns that are no longer like what you remember," he said.

He also claims it's no longer true that neighbors all know each other. "When I go somewhere I look around and don't know most of the people I see," he says.

Is he right? Have small towns changed greatly over the years?

When I was a kid I read a children's book called "Country Mouse, City Mouse."

Even back then I knew which I preferred.

But I'm enough of a realist to believe in the saying, "Bloom where you are planted."

What about you?

A child's propensity for hugging a concern

Q: My son is six and has always been cuddly and touchy. My daughter is two and is not. We are trying to teach him consent and asking permission before giving hugs and kisses, but his sister sometimes thinks of it as a game and says, "No," leaving him feeling rejected and unloved. How do I balance the need for consent and avoid the feeling of rejection?

Every child has a different need for physical affection and needs to recognize that other children feel differently than he or she does, the Family Project panel recommended.

"Have a conversation with your son to help him to understand that not everyone feels the same way about hugs. Tell him it's OK if his sister says, 'No.' Talk to him about boundaries and reinforce that it's a good thing his sister knows doesn't want to be hugged," suggested Joanne Raftas.

Panelist Denise Con-

THE FAMILY PROJECT

By Kathy Lauer-Williams

tinenza wondered how your daughter is with hugging other people, and added you need to teach your son about personal space.

"It sounds like she likes the power in saying 'No.' And you want her to be able to say 'No.' It's not good for him to be going around hugging, especially with COVID-19. Talk to him about being respectful of each other," Raftas said.

"You can show that hugging mom and dad is OK, but you can't force it on her. Your son has learned to enjoy hugging, but your daughter hasn't learned hugging is as exciting," said panelist Mike Daniels.

Daniels and panelist Chad Stefanyak agreed that your son's enthusiasm might be too intense for your daughter.

"Her rejecting his hug might not be personal. It might just be overwhelming for a two-year-old," Stefanyak said.

"The two-year-old could be very sensory and it could be scary for her to be hugged like that," Daniels added.

"It seems the boy has a strong need for physical connection. It is a personality thing and it is the nature of children that there are difference in personalities," Raftas said.

"Talk to him about other ways to express affection and show connection such as a secret handshake," suggested Stefanyak.

"In a lot of schools, kids aren't allowed to touch, so this is a good conversation to have," Raftas said.

This week's panel: Pam Wallace, program coordinator, Project Child, a program of Valley Youth House; Chad Stefanyak, school counselor; Erin Stalsitz, Lehigh Children & Youth; Denise Continenza, extension educator; Joanne T.

Raftas, registered play therapist, and counselor and Mike Daniels, LCSW, Psychotherapist.

BPH common problem; ways for men to cope

Q: I know I have an enlarged prostate. Is this a sign of cancer?

Most men with enlarged prostates don't develop prostate cancer, but there's a lot more to this question.

The prostate is a walnut-size organ that surrounds the tube (urethra) that carries urine from the bladder. The urethra also transmits semen, which is a combination of sperm plus a fluid the prostate adds.

Benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH) is the term used to describe an enlarged prostate, which is common in men 50 and older. An enlarged prostate may squeeze the urethra, making it hard to urinate. It may cause dribbling after you urinate or a frequent urge to urinate, especially at night.

Some men with prostate cancer also have BPH, but that doesn't mean that the two conditions are always linked. However, because the early symptoms are the same for both conditions, you should see a

HEALTHY GEEZER

By Fred Cicetti
fred@healthygeezers.com

doctor if you have these symptoms.

The following are other symptoms of prostate problems: blood in urine or semen, burning urination, difficulty getting an erection, painful ejaculation, frequent pain or stiffness in lower back, hips or upper thighs.

Treatment choices for BPH include:

Observation. If your symptoms don't bother you a lot, your doctor may suggest that you delay treatment and come in for regular checkups.

Alpha-blockers. This medicine can relax muscles near the prostate and ease symptoms.

Finasteride (Proscar) acts on the male hormone (testosterone) to shrink the prostate.

Surgery. An operation can relieve symptoms, but it can cause complications.

Prostate cancer is one of the most common types of cancer among American men. Treatment for prostate cancer works best when the disease is found early.

In a physical exam, the doctor feels the prostate through the rectal wall. Hard or lumpy areas may mean that cancer is present.

Your doctor also may suggest a blood test to check your prostate specific antigen (PSA) level. PSA levels may be high in men who have an enlarged prostate gland or prostate cancer.

PSA tests are used for early cancer diagnosis. PSA test results alone do not always tell whether or not cancer is present.

When doctors suspect cancer, they also may perform a biopsy. Doctors can take out a small piece of the prostate and look at it under a microscope.

There are many options for treating prostate cancer.

Observation. If the cancer is growing slowly, you may decide to wait and watch.

Hormone therapy. This stops cancer cells from growing.

Surgery. There are several surgical options. These include radical prostatectomy or removal of the entire prostate, cryosurgery that kills the cancer by freezing it, radiation therapy to shrink tumors, and implant radiation that places radioactive seeds into the prostate.

Surgery can lead to impotence and incontinence. Improvements in surgery now make it possible for some men to keep their sexual function.

THE VERY REAL BENEFITS OF WEARING SEAT BELTS

The importance of wearing seat belts in vehicles has resonated with drivers and passengers across the globe. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the national seat belt use rate in passenger vehicles in 2019 was 90.7 percent. And despite their simplicity, particularly when compared to the various other technologies available in modern vehicles, seat belts remain an incredibly effective device against injury and even death, though only when drivers and their passengers remember to engage them. For example, the NHTSA notes that seat belts saved an estimated 14,955 lives in 2017 alone. Unfortunately, the NHTSA also reports that 47 percent of the 37,133 people killed in motor vehicle crashes in 2017 were not wearing seat belts. Studies have indicated that front seat riders in cars who wear their seat belts can reduce their risk of fatal injury by 45 percent, while front seat riders in trucks can reduce their risk for fatal injury by 60 percent.
