

Hudak, John

HOME FROM AFRICA

Mrs. Andrew Hudak, 52 East Union Street, came into the Globe-Times office this morning, smiles of happiness wreathing her face. Her son, John E. 23, a technical sergeant in the Army Medical Corps, arrived last night from duty in North Africa. He has not been home since last November, when he and his outfit went overseas.

Sergeant Hudak came into town on the 9 p. m. bus, having been at Camp Kilmer, N. J., since disembarking from the ship which brought him to the United States.

He has been in service since March 18, 1942 and is a former employe of the Bethlehem Steel Company. He went directly into the Medical Corps and trained at Boston, Mass.

July 8, 1943