

Maurer, William

DOING HIS BIT

Master Sergeant William Maurer, 534 Lehigh Street, father of two children, is doing his bit for Uncle Sam.

In 1935 he was honorably discharged after doing two "stretches" in the U. S. Army, and after this country became involved in the world strife, he again signed up. He is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., a member of an ordnance unit. Before signing up for his third enlistment he was employed as a rigger by the Bethlehem Steel Company. His wife is the former Miss Mary Pulley, a sister of John Pulley, head of a U. S. Navy Gunnery School, "somewhere in the Pacific." Sergeant Maurer has qualified for entrance to an officer's training school at Fort Benning, Ga.
