BASD

Data reveals sub shortage

BY HEATHER NIGRONE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

With the school year coming to a close, the Bethlehem school board is reviewing attendance data for students and teachers alike. Unfortunately, Bethlehem is just one of thousands of districts around the state that is experiencing a tremendous decrease in qualified substitute teachers.

Over the 2017-18 school year, only 82.3 percent of teachers' absences were covered with a substitute teacher. In a district the size of Bethlehem's, this equating to approximately 1,746 unfilled absences, or around nine classrooms affected per school day. This shortage is captured in data provided by the State of Pennsylvania as well. In the 2014 school year, nearly 22,000 substitute teaching certificates and permits were issued. But by 2017 that number had dropped to 12,862. This 58 percent decrease puts a major crunch on districts, the pool of available subs is so small and districts must remain competitive to win out against competing districts.

Subject areas with the greatest need include English as a Second Language, Special Education, Fine and Performing Arts, and Vocational Education, among many others. The state offers the opportunity in some areas for emergency permitting of qualified individuals, but the needs of the state still go greatly unmet.

The only foreseeable option for BASD is to increase the wage paid to substitute teachers, in the hopes that this will attract qualified participants to Bethlehem. The need to address this growing problem was discussed in depth at the April human resources committee meeting. At the April board meeting, See SUBS on Page A2

Stephen's Place 25th anniversary

BY KATYA HRICHAK

Twenty-five years ago, Sister Virginia Longcope opened the doors to a halfway house that would eventually serve more than 272 men returning to the community after incarceration. Stephen's Place, located in Bethlehem, was Longcope's answer to what she called the "revolving door."

As described by Stephen's Place Program Director Daniel Masaro, "Stephen's Place is a halfway house for men returning to the community after incarceration. We provide faith and [a] spiritual environment for them to address the issues that come along with early recovery from substance abuse."

Brook McIntyre presents Stephen's Place director Sister Virginia Longcope with a proclamation from state Rep. Steve Samuelson.

The idea for Stephen's Place began years ago when Longcope worked at a work release center in South Carolina, where she watched men return from prison and simultaneously return to their old habits, often including the use or selling of drugs.

"I would see the men coming in and out like a revolving door and I thought, 'There has to be a better way,'" she said.

After helping an 18-year-old man with no support system or place to go, Longcope received permission to help him find an apartment and became a mentor to him in the process. Through her experience with this man, she realized she could help others like him.

In the summer of 1992, Longcope returned See 25TH on Page A2

the board voted to approve a renewal of their substitute agreement with Substitute Teacher Service (STS). Under the renewed agreement the pay for substitute teachers will range from $90 for one day, up to $115 for consecutive assignments of six days or greater.

While this increase pay will hopefully help Bethlehem close the gap in substitute needs, the statewide trend will continue. The area presents a real need in the Pennsylvania job market, and could prove to be a fruitful career choice for those looking for work.

to Pennsylvania and assembled a team to help make Stephen's Place a reality. Issues with zoning and finances were not enough to hold them up, and Longcope met with a realtor to discuss finding a property for the halfway house.

"[The realtor] said, 'How much money do you have?' And [Longcope] said, 'A thousand dollars,' and then she said, 'Well, how are you going to get the where-withal for the rest of it?' And I said, 'When you find the house, then I'll get the money.'"

While touring the property the realtor located, Longcope noticed an emblem of a Sacred Heart embedded in the archway between the kitchen and the dining room. Being a missionary for Sisters of the Sacred Heart, she knew this was a sign that this was meant to be her property.

With that discovery, the realtor helped negotiate the price of the house down to $85,000 and Longcope was able to take out a loan from the bank to cover the cost, told she could pay it back as she was able.

In July of 1993,

Longcope moved into the house. Renovations were needed, but after having found a way to purchase the property, finances were not going to stop her from proceeding with her plans. With help from local parishes, she was able to complete the renovations and welcome community members in for an open house in October of 1994.

"We've been here since then," she said.

In its 25 years of operation, Stephen's Place has helped 272 men with a 73 to 75 percent success rate.

"The recidivism rate for our graduates, the rate at which they do not go back to jail, is 30 percent, which is very low. A regular jail recidivism rate, so somebody who gets released to the community out of jail, they return to jail at a rate of between 70 and 80 percent," said Massaro.

Stephen's Place is home to five men at a time and each man typically stays for between six months and one year. However, Longcope said it is not uncommon to see men stay for 13 or 14 months, and, "It seems that the longer they stay here, the better they do."

During the first 90 days at Stephen's Place, men are "charged with a pretty decent amount of tasks, enough to keep them busy and hopefully away from relapse," Massaro said. In the first seven days, men are able to call family to update them on their whereabouts, but are without cell phones. From there, men are immersed in the local recovery community.

"They need to do a 90 in 90, which is 90 NA, narcotics anonymous, or AA, which is alcoholics anonymous, meetings 90 days," Massaro said. Each man is also enrolled in treatment, which includes going through a drug and alcohol assessment, and paired with a certified recovery specialist.

Massaro stated that most men find a first-shift job within the first 30 days and acclimate to the routine of balancing work, their NA or AA meetings and treatment. In addition to helping connect men with these resources, Stephen's Place helps each man with budgeting, saving and meeting financial goals.

To celebrate its 25-year anniversary, the Stephen's Place Fund for the Future gala event was held at Our Lady of Perpetual Help's Marian Inn in Bethlehem, and a goal of raising $25,000 for 25 years in 25 hours was set.

The gala surpassed this goal with $27,245 toward the Stephen's Place endowment fund. With this fund, Stephen's Place continues to set itself apart from other halfway houses by not requiring men entering the program to pay to do so.

"Many people come out of prison and out of jail and out of rehab and they go back to the same places and they don't have that support, or they don't have access to resources and they get very distraught and they think, 'Why try? Why bother?'" Longcope said. "These guys come out with very little. They don't have any money that's their own. They may have some clothes somewhere, but in order for them to get a start, if they're serious about their recovery, they need something to help them get that start."

With the funds raised from the gala and the continued support of the community, Stephen's Place hopes to continue to be that start.

Too Narrow?

The preacher is sometimes accused of being narrow-minded because he insists upon the Christian's forsaking all to follow Christ. Is it necessary to be so narrow?

There is no room for broad-mindedness in the chemical laboratory. Water is composed of two parts hydrogen and one part oxygen. The slightest deviation is forbidden. There is no room for broad-mindedness in mathematics. Neither geometry, calculus, nor trigonometry allows any variation from exact accuracy. The solution of the problem is either right or wrong—no tolerance there! There is no room for broad-mindedness in the garage. The piston rings must fit the cylinder walls within one-thousandth part of an inch! How, then, shall we expect that broad-mindedness shall rule in the realm of religion and morals?

There are those who believe there are many ways to get to heaven, however, the Bible says, "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Proverbs 16:25). Jesus Christ said, "wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it" (Matthew 7:13-14).

How narrow is the way? The Bible narrows it down exclusively to one person! Jesus Christ declared, "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6). The Apostles affirmed that Jesus is the only way! "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). There are no other choices! "He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life" (1 John 5:12). The Bible assures, "as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12). See www.naog.ws/theway.htm

Charter suit strains district, taxpayers

BY HEATHER NIGRONE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Bethlehem school board members have never been soft spoken on the tremendous financial burden associated with charter schools, and the April 30 budget workshop was no exception. BASD has been working for months to put together a comprehensive budget for the 2018-19 school year. The board took months to create a budget that assesses cost saving initiatives, fairly balances education initiatives, building maintenance, increasing retirement costs and charter school tuition. The results of this work can be seen in energy reduction efforts that PPL recently assessed at an annual savings of $48,000 district-wide.

Outside control

As much as the board would love to have complete control of the entire budget, a large portion is outside of their control. This includes items such as the cost of pensions and benefits, determined by pensions, and the calculation of charter school tuition. A number of years ago, Pennsylvania decided that the best method to calculate the per student tuition rate for a charter school was a complex formula based upon the proposed district budget minus certain expenses. As the formula began to be applied, charter schools noticed that a few districts were cheating. Around the state, allegations were that some schools were intentionally setting low proposed budgets, paying charter tuition based on that figure, and overspending their budget to meet actual need. To try and alleviate this burden The Pennsylvania Department of Education enacted a new guideline in 2012, forcing districts to calculate their charter tuition based on the actual budget dollars spent. This closed the loophole on the few poorly budgeted schools, to allow charters to get a fairer per student amount.

BETHLEHEM AREA SD

In Philadelphia, a group of charter schools challenged this guideline, and the Commonwealth Court agreed. A decision was made that the language of the legislation was never to capture actual expense, but rather the proposed budget, and the 2012 guidelines were disposed of.

Budget research

BASD board members pride themselves on the amount of research and precision that goes into their budget process, but also on the fact that every year, the final expenditures wrap up under budget. The district operates with a threshold for the unexpected, but always comes out ahead. So based off of this court decision Bethlehem's 2018-19 was very suddenly turned upside-down. BASD was forced to recalculate charter school tuition, and this has placed an additional half-million dollar expense to the new budget, pushing the district back to a nearly $3.9 million deficit in their budget. Chief Financial Officer Stacy Gober pointed out that the district has no choice but to pay the increase, as failure to pay is deducted from money received by the state. Superintendent Dr. Joseph Roy said "as soon as the decision came out, we started receiving bills from charter schools left and right." He went on further to say that the law needs to be changed.

Law not fair

Dr. Dean Donaher agreed that the law simply is not fair, and that it is the duty of the state to step in, and they are not doing their job. There are approximately 25 districts in the state that fund nearly 75 percent of charter schools, and it is those districts specifically that need relief. Dr. Donaher went on to suggest that perhaps charter funding could be partially offset by the large private donations that charters sometimes receive, so the entire BASD community could share in the celebration of those financial accomplishments.

After reviewing the figures again, board member Angela Sinker spoke briefly, but passionately. "It is horrible that we now pay charters more than the teachers that keep our school district running. They (teachers) are our most valuable asset." Board President Michael Faccinotto added that at this stage, there is no real savings without some pain, and directed the board to go back to the budget and see if anything else could be reduced to close the deficit.

Looking for savings

The first area reviewed was extracurricular activities and athletics; Dr. Roy immediately pointed out that those activities currently account for less than one percent of the district budget, and Dr. Donaher added that removing any of those programs would only make charter schools more appealing.

Gober then discussed the option of increasing the withdrawal from the district's financial reserves, which is currently proposed at three million dollars of the 2018-19 budget. The board immediately agreed that as

Trinity Knights of Columbus mark 120th anniversary

Local Knights of Columbus members and their guests or family members gathered April 7 at the Lehigh Valley Hotel & Conference Center to commemorate the 120th anniversary of the founding of Trinity Council #13. Monsignor David James, the Vicar General of the Diocese of Allentown, was a guest of honor.

The organization--Our Mission is Charity--has raised $73,800 over the past five years. This number includes $6,600 to sponsor students and $6,300 for needy families.

The Trinity Council was founded Feb. 6, 1898, and is one the earliest councils in Pennsylvania centered on Bethlehem's Southside.

From the beginning, Trinity Council has benefited its members and their families.

trustees of that district money, they could not suggest tapping any further into that fund balance, and risk driving the district toward significant financial peril. Finally, Dr. Donaher put the idea on the table that as much as he does not want to support a tax increase of 2.495 percent, he simply cannot find any alternative.

The proposed tax increase, coming in around $87 for Lehigh County residents, and $47 for Northampton County, would provide an additional $3.8 million of revenue to the district, and erase the entire deficit. Under Pennsylvania law, the district is given a set percentage of property taxation which they are not allowed to exceed, and this proposed increase is within the permitted amounts. It is unfortunate that the burden for the 2018-19 school budget will fall on the backs of the taxpayers, but the decision puts BASD in better financial well-being for years to come, without requiring additional sacrifice from students. With a board compromised of members who are extremely active in Pennsylvania educational politics, BASD is expected to continue to push legislators to consider a more equitable solution to charter funding.

Christmas City Spirits light up meeting

BY ED COURRIER
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Christmas City Spirits, represented by Seth Cornish and Brett Biggs, was granted a certificate of appropriateness for proposed lighting for the courtyard adjacent to the venerable Sun Inn at 564 Main St. by the Historical and Architectural Review Board. Cornish's proposal was turned down the previous month, but found success when he returned to the Rotunda May 2 with highly detailed plans for the project. Three black lantern style fixtures are to be installed on posts, with smaller LED string lighting suspended from airplane cables zigzagging above the North Green. The iconic stone building is owned by the Sun Inn Preservation Association.

HARB agreed with Staci Hangey's proposal for a corporate sign using existing mounting holes for her business at 7 E. Church St. The 15-inch by 24-inch shaped placard sporting the company logo for "Advanced Communication Technologies (ACT)" in dark green letters and pinstripe with gray and lighter green icons on a tan background would be flush mounted to the brick wall.

Board member Genevieve Marcon recused herself for this application, as she is the building's owner.

Jennifer Rowe Hawk received approval from the board to replace her front porch "in-kind" for her residence at 450 High St. and change the color for the porch floor be used for the driveway and short connecting sidewalk. The parking area would be asphalt. Fencing would be employed to screen the parking lot with a pair of red brick piers, topped by bronze post lanterns. The piers would support framed wood vertical pickets that are painted to match the house.

Permission was granted for a similar fence along the eastern property line to screen the parking lot from a neighboring house. HARB had tabled Youst's original application in September 2017.

Youst's existing yard sign advertising his apartment building with phone number and email address didn't pass muster because it resembled a real estate "for sale" sign. Marsha Fritz suggested installing a placard that read "Manor House Apartments" on the shorter screening fence. Youst was advised to return at a later time for signage approval.

When Youst asked about a mature tree on his berm that is adjacent to where the driveway access would be located, Vice Chairman Philip Roeder advised he contact the city forester.

223 E. Church St. a COA was issued for the replacement of existing slates from the west portion of the roof with Antique Slate GAF Slateline shingles and the installation of lead coated copper flashings around the chimney. Since this was the third phase of a previously approved project, Vice Chairman Philip Roeder told fellow members that owner Susan Parks and her contractor, Kovacs Roofing, did not need to be present at the meeting.

The Historical and Architectural Review Board meets the first Wednesday of every month to review all exterior changes proposed to buildings in the Bethlehem Historic District north of the Lehigh River. When a proposed project receives a certificate of appropriateness from the board, applicants must wait for City Council to vote on it before proceeding.

Chamber, authority updates reviewed

BY MARK KIRLIN
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Jessica O'Donnell from the Hellertown Lower Saucon Chamber of Commerce addressed Hellertown Council with upcoming events and requested approval for a new event. O'Donnell discussed a ribbon cutting ceremony on Wednesday, June 13, at 6 p.m. for Farmers Insurance Agency owner Brandon Wimbish on Main Street in Hellertown. She also reminded everyone of the annual Music in The Park series, an event where local bands play live shows at Dimmick Park in Hellertown on weekends from June through August. Another important event highlighted is the annual Hellertown Summer Restaurant Week, which is being held from Sunday, July 29, through Saturday, Aug. 4. The event is designed to promote local dining, with many of the participating restaurants to feature special menus during the week.

O'Donnell asked the board for approval for a proposed event called "Movie in The Park." The event would take place on Friday, Aug. 24 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Dimmick Park. The plan is to show a free family-friendly movie for residents during a summer evening.

O'Donnell has already partnered with Mobile Technology Graphics to provide a large screen for viewing the movie. O'Donnell hopes to obtain sponsors for snacks to be handed out such as popcorn and ice cream. As a lead-up to the movie during the same day, O'Donnell hopes to include a "dine and unwind" occasion to promote and encourage people to dine at local restaurants. In addition, restaurant participation could also raise money for a local charity. Council voted unanimously to approve the Movie in The Park event.

In other news, Glenn Higbie from the Hellertown Borough Authority gave an annual update to the board of their audit from the last year. According to Higbie, the audit was clean, with no issues, and both the water and sewer authority are in good financial standing. Higbie also said due to higher costs, rates were raised Jan. 1 and all customers have been notified.

Higbie also highlighted new technology being used in Hellertown by the water authority. Over the last year, two new radio towers were installed. These towers are used to communicate via the internet with little gray boxes attached to each customer's water meter. The gray boxes are called MIUs (meter interface units). In the past, the borough needed water authority employees to drive out to neighborhoods in trucks with computers to track meters and for billing purposes. Also, whenever a new property owner moved into a location, the water authority would have to take a trip out to the location for meter service. With the new technology, these steps are no longer needed. The benefit of this new technology is increased efficiency and lower costs. Perhaps the biggest benefit to customers is the ability for the water authority to see each customer's meter readings daily. If a leak is occurring, they can notify a customer, often before the customer is even aware of it. Higbie believes Hellertown is the only municipality using this new technology in the valley.

Also, at the May 7 meeting, Mayor David Heintzelman swore in Dewey Fire Company's new Assistant Fire Chief John Lau. Lau is replacing Nick Keller, who is retiring after years of service to the Borough of Hellertown.

Bethlehem native Nick Hawkey named Distinguished Citizen

BY TERRY AHNER
tahner@tonline.com

He has volunteered for more than 40 years, and gives selflessly to all causes he holds dear.

It should come as no surprise, then, that Nick Hawkey recently received the Distinguished Citizen Award.

Hawkey, a retired corporal, U.S. Marine Corps, recently received the distinction from the Bethlehem Detachment Marine Corps League during the 43rd annual Mess Night.

"I was totally honored," Hawkey said. "I was thrilled with the fact that I knew a lot of the people that had won it over the years."

Hawkey, of Kunkletown and a Bethlehem native, said he also received calls from others who couldn't be in attendance who offered congratulatory remarks.

"It humbles you," he said.

Hawkey has a distinguished career, and his decades of volunteering read like a who's who list.

He joined the Marine Corps in December 1955, and he served on active duty from September 1956 to September 1958, when he attained the rank of corporal, MOS 6212 - jet mechanic.

Hawkey was a lab technician for Bell Labs; a production engineer for Weller Electric; and operated Hawkey's Motorcycle Shop for 45 years.

ber of the Bethlehem Detachment since 1977, and he served as Bethlehem Detachment Commandant from 1981-84.

Hawkey has served with Toys for Tots in Bethlehem and Allentown since 1977, Schuylkill Carbon Coun-

He was an assistant scoutmaster with the Boy Scouts of America for 20 years, and has been with Dream Come True for 30 years.

In 1986, Hawkey was recognized as the National Marine of the Year, as well as the Department Marine of the Year.

He was honored as a Carbon County Hero in 2015; won the American Cancer Society Courage Award in 2014; won the Palmerton Lions Volunteer of the Year Award in 2002; and was the Lions Club Lion of the Year - 2012, Melvin Jones Fellow Award.

Hawkey has been married to his wife, Mildred, for over 58 years, and is a father, grandfather and uncle.

Seabrooks takes first

BY KATIE MCDONALD

Bethlehem Catholic sprinter Zaheer Seabrooks clinched the gold medal in the 100 meter dash at the District XI Class 3A Boys Track and Field Championships last Wednesday at Whitehall High School.

"That was my best race all year. I was a hundred percent, and when I crossed the finish line, I looked at my teammate Joe Kurtz, and he was proud of me, and I was proud of him," Seabrooks said.

Kurtz placed fourth with a time of 11.32. Seabrooks's time was 11.25.

"I just wanted to prove myself here today. This year it was up for grabs, and I felt really confident about it," said Seabrooks. "Today in school, I kind of stayed to myself a little bit. I had to get in the zone, get focused, and get ready for the race. It worked really well. I was calm and ready to go."

Adding to the thrill of victory for Seabrooks was the medal ceremony.

"It felt amazing, especially coming from my old football coach [Chuck Dailey] freshman year at my old school [East Stroudsburg North]. He got to hand it to me, so it felt really good," said Seabrooks.

Kurtz, who also competed in the 200 meter dash, placed third with a time of 23.02.

Becahi's Bobby Kulp took second place in the high jump, and Matt Stianche took third. Both jumped a 6-03.00.

Liberty's Daeshawn Teague won a silver medal in the long jump with a distance of 22-06.50, and teammate Javonte Haynes won bronze in the same event with a distance of 22-02.50.

Also from Liberty, Christian Tackett took second place in the 300 hurdles with a time of 40.35.

In district team results, Liberty's boys placed fourth behind Easton, Parkland, and Liberty distance runner Greta Stuckey clinched the gold medal in the 800 meter run last Thursday at the District XI Class 3A Girls Track and Field Championships at Whitehall High School.

"It was good," Stuckey said. "I knew [Katherine Ellmaker] was very close, especially the last lap. I could feel her right next to me, and I knew I had to go because my first lap was slower."

Ellmaker, who is from Easton, came in second with a time of 2:19.25 to Stuckey's time of 2:18.55.

"It was really tight at the start," said Stuckey. "I was a second off [from leagues] and that was the second that I didn't get back."

Stuckey was also part of the Hurricanes' 4x4 relay team, along with Rachel Byrne, Payton Shaffer, and Olivia Sahaydak, that won a fourth place medal after placing with a time of 4:00.97.

Liberty's 4x1 relay team of Shaffer, Grace Mittl, Yamilet Ferrufino, and Gabrielle Phillips also medaled with a fourth-place finish with a time of 49.51.

Mittl and Ferrufino had third place finishes in the long jump (17-06.50) and the 300 hurdles (48.55), respectively.

Fellow Hurricane Eleni Prodes was the silver medalist in the javelin, throwing a distance of 121-07.

EPC SOFTBALL

LHS advances to finals, but falls to the Trojans

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

In the second game of a doubleheader for Liberty last Thursday, the Hurricanes lost in the East Penn Conference softball final, 11-0, to the Parkland Trojans at Pates Park in Allentown.

"We're not going to give any excuses. They beat us," said Liberty coach Sam Carrodo. "I know, it's tough to play two games in one day, and you've got to face whatever uphill battle, and that's what the girls did."

Liberty's day began around 4 p.m. when the Hurricanes faced Bethlehem Catholic in the EPC semifinal and won, 5-2. Parkland had played its EPC semifinal three days earlier, beating Easton, 1-0.

The EPC final between Liberty and Parkland began around 8:40 p.m.

"I mean, we hit her. That was the fastest pitcher we've seen in awhile," Carrodo said.

Kelly Dulaney was the winning pitcher.

The Trojans attacked early, scoring three runs in the first inning.

Chelsea Morgan led off with a base hit, McKenzie Wolfe hit a home run, and Megan Fenstermaker walked and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Ashley Gallina.

Wolfe had another home run in the third inning when the Trojans took a 7-0 lead.

"I know they came in fresh, but they hit the ball," said Carrodo. "Paige was tired there toward the end and that's why we took her out. We're not going to kill her out there. But I'm extremely proud of what we did."

Paige Zigmund was pitching her second game of the night, and Kyla Benner came in to relieve in the fifth inning.

"I knew sooner or later I was going to have to come in, but I didn't know exactly

Huertas' home run advances Patriots

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

It was the highlight shot of Alec Huertas' career and one that kept Freedom's postseason alive.

Huertas blasted a three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning of Monday's District 11 6A opener to help push Freedom past Nazareth 5-3.

Trailing 3-2 heading into their final frame, things played out perfectly for the seventh-seeded Pates (13-9), as Jonah Mateo led off with a double, followed by Griffin Connelly's bunt that moved Mateo to third and allowed Connelly to safely reach first.

The final blow for Nazareth (8-13) came when Huertas came to the plate and hammered a curve ball over the left field fence over Kyle Mahady for a dazzling walk-off victory.

"I just sat on my pitch and it worked," said Huertas. "It was an 0-1 count and he threw a curve already and I assumed I'd see a fastball, but I got another curve and I hit my hands back and drilled it."

The flurry of excitement quickly moves to preparation for today's quarterfinal round against second-seeded Easton.

The Rovers (19-3) are coming off an 8-0 defeat to Parkland in the EPC championship last week and face a challenge with their third match-up with Freedom this season.

Freedom won the first encounter this season 4-1, while Easton got the upper hand in the divisional rematch early this month with a 3-1 win.

Head coach Nick D'Amico hopes that some of Monday's momentum can carry over into Wednesday's affair.

"I mean Easton is an excellent team and they're tough," said D'Amico. "I feel like we can play with anybody, but we need to execute if we want to have a chance."

Huertas is certainly primed to start on the mound after splitting contests against the Rovers this season.

"We're pretty confident heading to Easton," Huertas said. "Pitching against them twice this year should help me. We're definitely going into this next round confident we can win."

Bethlehem Catholic (8-13) saw their season end on Monday with an 8-5 defeat to Central Catholic in the 4A quarterfinals.

Liberty (16-4) kicks off their district title defense on Wednesday with a home game against Stroudsburg (14-6) in a four-five match-up. The Canes won their only encounter with the Mounties this season 14-1, but head coach Andy Pitsilos knows things won't be that easy this time around.

"Stroudsburg is always a tough team," Pitsilos said. "We beat them the first time this season, but we didn't see their number one pitcher. We've been trying to get as much live hitting in as possible in our time off, so hopefully we'll be ready to go."

ways have them."

Benner gave up a walk and a base hit but no runs.

The Hurricanes will now compete in the District XI Class 6A softball playoffs, scheduled to begin this week.

"Listen, we were the number eight seed [in the EPC] and we got to the final," said Carrodo. "I told them to not take anything but positives out of what just happened."

Hawks aiming for a rematch against Dock

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic was so close to making the PIAA tournament last season. The Hawks now face that reality again this week when they opened up the District 11 2A tournament against Southern Lehigh Tuesday.

The winner of Tuesday's match moves on to Thursday's finals against top-seeded Dock Menonite at 6 p.m. in Bensalem.

Becahi (7-9) hopes they can make a repeat appearance in the final after coming up short in last year's fifth game of the title match against Dock (14-4).

"I think our potential match against Dock is something that is hard to ignore," said head coach Jeff Koch. "Although we haven't talked about Dock with our players, my players have to have that hunger getting ready to burst at that potential rematch. Being two points away from making the state tournament last year is something that still sits with us. We are hoping to finish what we couldn't from last season."

First in line is Southern Lehigh, a team that went (2-9) this season with wins over Dieruff and Kutztown.

To say that a two win team in the postseason is undeserving might be an understatement, but it was the first task at hand for the Hawks.

"Southern Lehigh is well coached," said Koch. "Despite their record or our record at this point we both start a brand-new season. We know Southern Lehigh will be well prepared and play very smart so we in return have to play consistent yet aggressive volleyball."

Becahi has nearly had two weeks off from the last time they competed and hope that the layoff can prove more as a chance to improve than accumulate rust.

"With our time off we have been able to bring back a lot of alumni from the program to help us prepare for our district and hopeful state run," said Koch. "Having my current guys play against alumni from our state title team back in 2012 has made us have to up our level of play. We hope the level that we have been playing at in practice will transfer over to our match play for the remainder of the season."

Freedom (15-6) fell to Nazareth in their district opener last week, losing in five games 25-21, 25-22, 21-25, 21-25, 10-15.

After winning the first two games, it was a hard pill to swallow for head coach John Yanek to see the season end.

"We knew what Nazareth was going to do down to a tee," said Yanek. "The players followed it for two sets, but went away from our match plan for some reason. Nazareth got the momentum and we could not get it back. We focused too much on playing safe and not forcing Nazareth to make mistakes. The resilient team won and unfortunately it was not us."

Liberty also lost their opener to Easton last week in four games to end their campaign at 10-9.

Liberty knocks off Becahi in semifinals

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcaldon@tnonline.com

In a Bethlehem rematch that stood at 1-1 from the regular season, Liberty and Bethlehem Catholic competed in the East Penn Conference softball semifinal last Thursday when the Hurricanes defeated the Hawks, 5-2, at Pates Park in Allentown.

"I was a little nervous going in, but I had a little break since Nazareth, so my arm felt good," said winning pitcher Paige Zigmund.

The Hurricanes were on the scoreboard first with an RBI single from Kyla Benner that scored Mikayla Ruppert in the first inning. Ruppert then had an RBI double in the second inning that scored Julie Curti, who had two doubles in the game.

"I think they were both supposed to be inside, but they had a little too much plate, I think," said Curti. "It felt good because I haven't been hitting good, so I've been making adjustments and it finally paid off."

The Hawks scored a run in the bottom of the second on an RBI by Morgan Christine, but the Hurricanes went up 3-1 when Alexa Burger had a base hit that went over the second baseman's head.

Becahi loaded the bases in the fourth inning on singles by Tasha Miner, Julia Sledz, and a walk by Christine but failed to score.

"I just threw my game," said Zigmund, who was feeling confident in her inside fastball and change up.

The Hurricanes scored their last two runs in the fifth inning when Brooke Zigmund singled to score Apryl Cruz, and Burger singled to score Sarah Curti.

Earlier in the week, the Hurricanes defeated Nazareth, 7-0, in the quarterfinal, highlighted by Ruppert's grand slam.

"I knew she threw first-pitch strikes, so I just went right after it, and it happened to go over," Ruppert said. "It kind of gave us a boost of energy, and we really knew we could do it. A lot of people doubted us going into Nazareth, but we knew what we had and what we were capable of doing."

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Was slower better at All-Star Race?

GODSPEAK: There was passing, side-by-side racing, and the field could see the winner at the finish. It worked.

KEN'S CALL: The general consensus says yes, so who am I to argue? Prepare for more blue-plate specials in 2019.

Where does Danica finish at Indy?

GODSPEAK: Maybe a bit cautious at first, then she sneaks up through the field for a top-10 finish.

KEN'S CALL: If she doesn't find a wreck, I'll say a solid 12th.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

JOEY LOGANO VS. KYLE LARSON

Near the end of the All-Star Race, Larson bumped into Logano, who skimmed the wall, then immediately turned Larson around off Turn 4.

GODWIN KELLY'S TAKE: Since this was a no-points race, both drivers shrugged it off. As Larson said: "He got into the wall, got mad at me and retaliated. It is what it is."

GODWIN'S PICKS FOR COCA-COLA 600

WINNER: Kevin Harvick

REST OF TOP 5: Martin Truex Jr., Kyle Busch, Joey Logano, Kyle Larson

FIRST ONE OUT: Chris Buescher

DARK HORSE: Kurt Busch

DON'T BE SURPRISED IF: Harvick stretches his winning streak to four, counting last weekend's All-Star Race victory.

ALL-STAR RACE

THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

Kevin Harvick and his wife, DeLana, celebrate his All-Star Race victory, which paid $1 million to the race winner. [AP/CHUCK BURTON]

1. When you're hot

Don't look now, but Kevin Harvick is riding another three-race winning streak following his All-Star Race victory. Harvick needed a push from Joey Logano to notch this win since the Cup cars were running restrictor plates. "That is just the way that most of us do it from Ford," Harvick said.

2. Charlotte plates

There was very little blowback from the garage area after the All-Star Race was staged with a restrictor-plate package. "Yeah, I actually had some fun, really," said Chase Elliott, driver of the No. 9 Hendrick Motorsports Chevrolet. "It was different for sure, but it wasn't all bad."

3. No carry-over

In years past, the savvy crew chiefs would use the All-Star Race as a test run for the Coke 600. Since NASCAR used a plate setup Saturday night, there was nothing for the mechanics' notebooks. "We will come back next week to a normal program and go for it there," Jimmie Johnson said.

— Godwin Kelly, godwin.kelly@news-jrnl.com

THREE THINGS TO WATCH

1. Defending champ

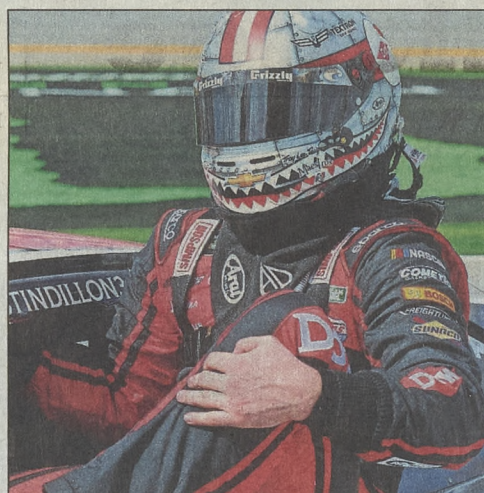

Oddly enough, Austin Dillon's first two NASCAR Cup Series wins came in crown-jewel events — last year's Coca-Cola 600 and this season's Daytona 500. Now it is time to defend his Charlotte title. "I'm really pumped about the 600," said Dillon, who won on one of them "fuel-mileage deals" in 2017. "If fuel mileage is the way we do it, we will do it that way again, it doesn't matter," he said.

2. Plate debate

Steve O'Donnell, who carries the title of executive vice president and chief racing development officer, made an appearance after the All-Star Race. Apparently, NASCAR hopes to use this same package at some tracks next season. "For us, we've got to take the time, be smart about this, really look at it, see where we can go from here," he said. "But I think it's fair to say that this is something we absolutely want to look at."

3. No. 47 sparked?

AJ Allmendinger won the NASCAR Cup Series race that everyone soon forgets about — the Monster Energy Open. The victory got

Austin Dillon climbs from the No. 3 Chevrolet. He hopes to take that team back to Victory Lane in Sunday's Coca-Cola 600. [NEWS-JOURNAL/PETER BAUER]

Allmendinger into the spotlight All-Star Race, but may have also sparked up the No. 47 Chevrolet team and driver. "The first stage was pretty awesome to go 18th to fourth in a couple of laps," Allmendinger said of All-Star Segment 1. "Really competitive and proud of the guys."

— Godwin Kelly, godwin.kelly@news-jrnl.com

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

Who's Jonathan Marshall, and why should I know him?

Marshall is the guy just hired by the NASCAR team owners who make up the Race Team Alliance. As the new executive director, he will obviously be a key figure in upcoming discussions (battles?) with NASCAR leadership over the direction of the sport. RTA chairman Robert Kauffman said "it was time to have a full-time executive who wakes up every day thinking of how to move the collective interests of the RTA member teams forward."

Should we care?

Only in the eventual changes to the business model, as it pertains to future schedules, race-day logistics, etc. It's somewhat interesting that Marshall was formerly an upper executive with the World Surf League, so if there's anyone who knows how to get back on the wave, it should be him.

The LHS boys team poses after clinching an unbeaten regular season.

LHS boys track has 11-0 regular season

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

The Liberty Hurricanes boys track and field team were honored at the East Penn Conference Track and Field Championships last week at Whitehall High School for their regular season conference championship which included an 11-0, undefeated season.

"It was a goal," said Liberty coach Andy Messa. "Two years ago when Chris [D'Emilio] and I took over, the boys were 4-7. Last year, we turned it around to 7-4, and coming into this year we knew we had a pretty good team."

"Last year, we never talked about the chances of undefeated anything, and this year we told them if they came together as a team, they'd have a chance to do something really good, and they all bought in."

Instead of focusing on themselves, the boys focused on the group.

"We brought 41 boys on the bus today because any boy who scored a point for us this year, we wanted to be a part of this. They did the work, they put in the effort, they decided this is something we're going for. They should be very proud of themselves. They worked their butts off this year. Ultimately, this is all for them," Messa said.

The Hurricanes also have leaders on the team, including sprinter Jayden Vazquez, who has been instrumental in Liberty's success.

"We have a good senior class, and Jayden Vazquez, I don't know if we go undefeated without him on our team. They rally around him. He's a leader in every sense of the word, and he's a big part of this," said Messa.

Vazquez took it upon himself to bring some solid recruits to the track and field team.

"In the off season I made sure I picked up some football players and some other kids that played other sports and excelled," Vazquez said. "We made sure we were in the weight room at least four times a week. From there we made sure we stretched every single day, put in full effort. No one was lazy and everyone was in for the team."

Vazquez also brought a passion for the sport of track and field to the Hurricanes.

"A lot of kids don't think track is an actual sport and that kids just do it on their off season. Track's always been in my life since middle school. It's such a great sport. That's where you see and reach true athleticism, people with speed, strength for throwing," said Vazquez. "It feels great that all of us came together as brothers, and the girls team also. They went 9-2, which is crazy, and it seemed surreal to see everyone train the whole season and get something in return."

Both girls and boys teams opened the season with victories over Easton and ended the season with victories over Freedom.

This week, the Hurricanes will compete in the District XI Class 3A Track and Field Championships at Whitehall High School.

"I was really excited to come in here and compete, so I was coming in with a positive mindset. I've been doing it for four years, so it's kind of ingrained in my head now, so I just do what I know," Prodes said.

"I'm happy to make states, but I feel like I have more in me. Now, getting comfortable up in the 120's again, I'm ready to fine-tune some things and hopefully that will bring everything together."

Bethlehem Catholic's Liz Lieb won two silver medals, one in the long jump with a distance of 17-11.25, and one in the triple jump with a distance of 38-00.00.

Freedom's Lauren Charboneau placed fifth in the 3200 meter run with a time of 11:38.38.

In district team results, Liberty placed fourth behind Emmaus, Stroudsburg, and Easton.

Phantoms head back to Valley down 2-0

BY CHUCK HIXSON
Special to the Press

The Lehigh Valley Phantoms went into Toronto on a mission to do something that no other team has done this postseason; beat the Marlies on their home ice. Toronto has gone 7-0 at home this postseason after winning all five home games in last year's playoffs. While the effort was there, the result wasn't and Toronto has jumped out to a 2-0 lead in games over the Phantoms in their best-of-seven Eastern Conference Championship series. The series now returns to Lehigh Valley for the next three games.

The upside for Lehigh Valley is that they've gone 3-1 at home during the Calder Cup Playoffs which would seem to bode well for their chances at a comeback.

On Sunday the Phantoms seemingly did everything right. They scored first and even held a one-goal lead going into the third period of the game, but the Marlies tied the game to send it into overtime. With visions of their classic five overtime period battle with Charlotte dancing in their heads, the Phantoms put together a couple of solid scoring chances including one that was so close that the goal judge activated the red light. When the play was reviewed it was found that Mike Vecchione's shot glanced off the crossbar and appeared to go into the net. What made it confusing was that the stick of a Marlies defender hit the inside of the net making it appear that the puck had caused the net to move and the light came on.

T.J. Brennan fired a laser on goal but goalie Garret Sparks made an athletic save to preserve the game and give the Marlies another shot, which they took advantage of to gain a 3-2 win.

The opening game was also a one-goal game with Toronto winning 4-3. Again, in that game, the Phantoms had some great chances but couldn't convert chances into goals.

Toronto came into the series with a 10-day layoff after they swept their division series championship. There was some talk that they might be showing a little rust against Lehigh Valley, but instead, they were simply refreshed and scored twice in the first 12-minutes of play to take an early 2-0 lead.

Vecchione has been in the middle of most of the action in the series. In addition to his near-goal in game two, he and Chris Conner went on a two-on-one break in the opener but Sparks made a big save to stop the threat. Sparks again robbed Vecchione when he was on a breakaway and fired a shot that Sparks was able to cradle into his glove.

"We had some momentum and made a couple of adjustments. We were working the puck and getting them down low," said forward Greg Carey. "I've got faith. We definitely can be better and I think that bodes well for us."

Lehigh Valley is hanging their hopes for a comeback on their success at home. During the regular season they posted the best home-ice record with a mark of 27-6-3-2 at the PPL Center. It's also encouraging that the team has seemingly learned from facing Toronto and seemed to be making adjustments that were resulting in better and more frequent shots later in game two.

It's worth noting that in each of their first two playoff series, Lehigh Valley split the first two games on the road and when the series returned home they made their move and went a perfect 5-0 in the two series to advance.

FROST ON ICE ... The Phantoms added Morgan Frost, a 19-year old forward from the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds of the Ontario Hockey League to their playoff roster. Frost was the Flyers first-round pick - 27th overall pick - in this year's NHL Entry Draft. He tallied 112 points on 70 assists and 42 goals with the Greyhounds. The 70 assists tied him for the OHL lead in the category. He hasn't seen any action in the first two games of the series and is likely not going to. Instead, he's just being given a chance to see how things work in the AHL.

RIDING THE LYON ... After going to Dustin Tokarski in two games earlier in the postseason, Alex Lyon has now played five straight for Lehigh Valley including the epic five-overtime game. He has made 72 saves in the first two games of the series and it's likely that he'll be back in goal for game three Wednesday night at the PPL Center.

Steel FC earn two victories

Bethlehem Steel FC turned in a complete performance as the club picked up its first shut-out of the year with a 3-0 win over rivals New York Red Bulls II in a midweek tilt at Goodman Stadium.

18-year-old winger Michae Ngalina struck for his first professional goal in the first half, collecting a pass from Philadelphia Union midfielder Adam Najem. With the goal, Ngalina became the youngest scorer in Steel FC's history. The second half saw former Steel FC forward Cory Burke collected two assists, finding Fabian Herbers and Adam Najem for insurance goals in the second half. Union goalkeeper John McCarthy made two saves while the defense added three blocks to pick up the clean sheet and snap New York's seven-game unbeaten streak.

Facing off against a new opponent, Bethlehem Steel FC claimed the first road victory of its 2018 campaign, defeating Indy Eleven, 2-1, at Lucas Oil Stadium.

After a scoreless and physical first half, Steel FC jumped ahead as Philadelphia Union midfielder Fabian Herbers connected with Santi Moar for the opening tally of the night. Indy Eleven countered with a goal from midfielder Zach Steinberger in the 70th minute but Steel FC responded four minutes later with a long-distance strike from defender Prosper Chiluya.

Steel to host soccer clinic at SoccerFest viewing party

Children and youth soccer players ages 6-12 are invited to learn a variety of soccer skills and techniques at a free soccer clinic presented by the Bethlehem Steel FC June 16, 11:45 a.m., at the Lehigh Valley SoccerFest & Viewing Party at SteelStacks. The hands-on event, led by Bethlehem Steel FC and Philadelphia Union Academy staff and players, is open to the first 200 children who register at www.lvsoccerfest.com.

During the clinic, which is perfect for youth soccer players as well as those who are new to the sport, children will work with coaches and players to hone their soccer skills and learn new ones. The 60-minute clinic will include several stations focusing on different skills, techniques and strategies players can use successfully on the pitch.

Celebrating the excitement of the World's Game, the Lehigh Valley SoccerFest & Viewing Party presented by Bethlehem Steel FC will feature all of the World Cup matches from Russia aired on the Levitt Pavilion and PBS39 outdoor screens on the campus. Several of the matches will also be broadcast in Spanish, including the matches taking place during the free Sabor Latin Festival at SteelStacks June 22-24.

Currently in its third season in the United Soccer League, Bethlehem Steel FC is the official USL affiliate of Philadelphia Union of Major League Soccer. Also owned and operated by Keystone Sports and Entertainment LLC, the team started its inaugural season March 25, 2016 at FC Montreal and played the home opener at Lehigh University's Goodman Stadium on April 3, 2016. Last season, Steel FC qualified for its first USL Cup Playoff appearance.

Launched in 2014, the Lehigh Valley SoccerFest & Viewing Party has aired the matches from World Cup Brazil™, the Women's World Cup and the Copa America Centenario over the past four years. In 2014, more than 50,000 people visited the SteelStacks campus for the festival. The following summer, 8,500 people came out to watch the U.S. Women's national soccer team top Japan in the finals of the Women's World Cup from Canada.

In addition to Bethlehem Steel FC, partners helping to make the free SoccerFest & Viewing Party possible include Discover Lehigh Valley, Kwik Goal, Klunk & Millan Advertising, Garfield Group and Lehigh Valley United. Step Outdoors back at Steelstacks June 2-3

BY NICK HROMIAK
Special to the Press

Steelstacks in Bethlehem is again hosting their fourth Step Outdoors Lehigh Valley program that is two-days of presentations, hands-on activities, educational programs for the entire family. It's an effort to promote what the great outdoors has to offer. The program is set for June 2-3 at Steelstacks.

The Step Outdoors program that includes a host of activities for children as well, will have over 25 local and state environmental and outdoor groups presenting their activities. The list includes archery, biking, gardening, art, hiking, nature photography, bluebird box building, fishing techniques and more.

On hand as well will be Falconers Sean and Margaret Young flying a red-tailed hawk and American Kestrel during falconry demonstrations plus hikes to see peregrine falcons that nest on site, L.L. Bean offering a Camping 101 to show tent set-up, campsite selection, water filtration and other camping tips.

The Appalachian Mountain Club and Hike It Baby will offer urban hikes on the South Bethlehem Greenway.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission will be on hand with a display on bald eagles in Pennsylvania.

Representatives from Hawk Mountain and Wildlands Conservancy will also offer presentations featuring live wildlife.

On June 2 and June 4 Dock Dogs competition returns and will feature hunting dogs doing what they love to do. They'll compete to see which dog can leap the farthest when thrown a duck decoy into a 40-foot pool. They'll be judged on the highest leap, longest jump and quickest retrieve.

For the athletically inclined, Your First Mud Run invites participants to navigate a two-mile course over 10 obstacles that include a 6-foot climbing wall, heavy jump ropes, mud pit, cargo net and secret obstacle. It's offered to families with children as young as five years of age. Entry fee is $50 in advance and $60 day of the event. Registration can be made at www.yourfirstmudrun.com; both individuals and teams may enter.

If you like wild game and fish treats, Taste of the Wild returns featuring dishes and hors d'oeuvres with items like Pulled Duck Tacos, Wild Boar Bacon, Alligator Fritters and Ostrich Sliders. After sampling these and other items, dessert is next. How about Burnt Lemon Curd Tarts, Oatmeal Cookie Pie Pop, Honey Cast Iron Corn Bread and Smoked Crme Fraiche.

Tickets for the event are $38 for ArtsQuest Members and $40 for the public. Proceeds from the Taste of the Wild go to support Step Outdoors Lehigh Valley.

For more information for this June 2 and 3 event, go to www.steelstacks.org/stepoutdoors.

Opening day for Fountain Hill's sluggers

PRESS PHOTOS BY DENNIS GLEW

On the morning of April 10 two "rookie" teams line up for the opening pitch of Fountain Hill Little League's 2018 season. The league enrolls 75 players on six teams for ages 4-6 (T-ball), 7-8 ("Farms"), 9-10 ("Minors"), 11-12 ("Majors") and 13-16 ("Seniors").

Opening the festivities are Fountain Hill's mayor, Carolee Gifford, and the president of borough council, Larry Rapp, who issued the order heard across America at this time of year, "Play ball!" Rapp was the president of the league for 10 years. Several people attributed the league's success to his leadership.

The busiest guy in the borough that morning is Mike Yurasek, the president of the Fountain Hill Little League. Mike also coaches one of the teams.

Devaughn Gordon brought his five-year-old daughter, Aubri, to her first baseball game. She will be playing T-ball. Her older sister, Avaughna, 7, is on the "farm" team.

A guest appearance by Ferrous, the mascot of the Allentown IronPigs, is welcomed by players and fans. More photos on page A16.

Players, coaches and guests come to attention as the "Stars Spangled Banner" is played over the audio system.

Final exams begin

The end of the school year is fast approaching, and students across Pennsylvania are anxious for the final bell to ring. For high schoolers in the Bethlehem Area School District, stress can mount quickly as the hype for summer grows.

At Freedom, underclassmen exams take place on June 6 and 7. While the next two weeks are sure to be filled with review and intense studying, FHS seniors have a bit more to look forward to.

Exams for seniors begin this week and wrap up after Memorial Day. The long wait to walk across the stage at Stabler Arena and shake Superintendent Joseph Roy's hand begins. In the time between exams and the graduation ceremony June 6, graduating students will attend the Senior Breakfast and three commencement practice ceremonies in the school gymnasium. After graduates receive their diploma at Stabler Arena, Freedom juniors will prepare to become the new leaders of the school.

This April, students voted to elect class officers for the upcoming school year. While candidates campaigned fiercely in all grades, the most intense race was by far the one between sophomores Jared Dowling and Alfredo Suarez. To achieve their goal of becoming junior class president next year, both students hung humorous campaign posters around the school. In the end, however, Suarez claimed victory and will work alongside senior class president Namrutha Kanakavelan to lead Freedom's student council next year.

Student council is not the only governing body with influence on Freedom. A new policy, which many students feel was long overdue, was recently put into place by the Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO). Starting this year, Honors and A.P. students will no longer have summer homework for their classes. While the assignments were not particularly challenging, many students complained that the work was time-consuming and pointless.

Check back next school year for another update on Freedom HS.

COLLEGE HONORS

Fairleigh Dickinson

Madison McTier of Bethlehem and Kaitlyn Weiss of Hellertown, students at Fairleigh Dickinson University's Florham Campus, Madison, N.J., have been named to the fall 2017 semester honors list.

To qualify for the list, a student must carry a 3.5 or better grade point average out of a possible 4.0 and be enrolled in a minimum of 12 letter-graded hours (four courses).

For information, visit www.fdu.edu.

Help us honor a special grad

The Bethlehem Press will be publishing a special graduation supplement on June 28 and we are looking for special graduation situations to spotlight. Do you know of a high school student graduating soon who has overcome extraordinary obstacles? We would like to feature such students in our supplement if they are willing to be interviewed. What we would need is the name and contact information for the student AND it would be very helpful if you (or whoever nominates the student) would make sure the student is open to this idea. Charter Arts presents 'Swan Lake': A ballet on ice

BY LORI PATRICK

Special to the Bethlehem Press

Lehigh Valley Charter HS for the Arts brought its production of "Ballet Sur Glace - Swan Lake" to the ice. The figure skating department of the school skated the scenes at Steel Ice Center in Bethlehem.

Thom Mullins is the department and production director.

"Producing a ballet on ice is a particular challenge, since skaters are accustomed to performing a routine, then leaving the ice for a costume change, returning many songs later," Mullins said. "With a ballet, the skaters are on the ice for six or seven songs before leaving the ice. So the performance takes more focus and stamina."

For this adaption on ice of "Swan Lake," Jiselle Bracaro portrayed the Swan, Kobe Wisner, Prince Siegfried; and Andrew Hampl, the evil sorcerer Von Rothbart, who casts spells on young maidens, turning them into swans.

The prince first encounters the beautiful swans at a lake made from their tears, falls in love and tries to rescue the swan from captivity.

Charter Arts opened in 2003. The school is audition-based and is tuition free as a public charter that provides a comprehensive curriculum for students in grades 9 - 12 who have a passion for the arts. The student body comes from over 45 school districts. Students major in one of seven artistic areas including dance, theater, vocal music, instrumental music, literary arts, figure skating or visual arts. Students spend half their day in artistic classes and half of their day in core academic classes. You can learn more at charterarts.org

IS AIRBRUSHED MAKEUP THE WAY TO GO?

Hair and makeup is an important part of wedding day planning. Brides and grooms want to look their best on their wedding days, when they will no doubt take dozens of photos, if not more. Men may apply some oil-absorbing powder to tone down shine on their skin, but women tend to pull out all the stops when selecting bridal makeup - often hiring professional makeup artists to create a signature look.

Airbrush-applied makeup is an option women may want to explore. The wedding resource The Knot says that makeup airbrushing is quite popular in the world of movies and modeling and is now becoming more popular among brides-to-be. When applied correctly by a professional, airbrush makeup can have a number of perks.

Understanding airbrush makeup can help brides determine if it's the best choice for them.

Airbrush makeup is comprised of a very thin liquid makeup that is applied with the use of an air gun. This produces a thin, even layer of foundation, often creating a matte finish. Makeup artists can custom-blend shades to get the right match for their customers' skin tones. And because the fine mist of airbrush makeup enables true skin tone to show through, it can appear much more natural.

Many airbrushed formulations are silicone-based, enabling long-lasting wear and water-resistant properties. This is advantageous when hugging and kissing on one's wedding day. Some airbrush makeup can last up to 16 hours.

Some airbrush formulations are water- or alcohol-based. Alcohol-based options can be used to cover tattoos or birthmarks.

Touchups are minimal with airbrush makeup, and the formulations can be layered to cover blemishes. Airbrush makeup also creates a pristine finish for applying other makeup.

Airbrush makeup is compatible with well-moisturized skin and takes to it well, but dry skin may flake, crack and look flat, advises Essence Designs.

Brides who end up shedding tears of joy on their wedding days might find that airbrush makeup can streak, which can be difficult to cover up.

Because it requires a certain skillset and equipment, airbrush makeup tends to be more expensive than traditional makeup when done by a professional.

Airbrush makeup can create a flawless look and may be an option for brides to consider.

BEST concert raises $18k toward college for disadvantaged youth

BY ELIZABETH KEMMERER
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The legendary Patsy Cline and Johnny Cash brought a packed house to its feet in Moravian College's Johnston Hall during a March special concert benefitting the BEST Scholarship Program. BEST (Building Educational Support Teams) Inc. is a local nonprofit that specializes in developing, mentoring and funding disadvantaged Lehigh Valley students to attend and succeed in college.

Tribute artists Josie Waverly as Patsy Cline and Terry Lee Goffee as Johnny Cash did not disappoint fans of these sweeping artistic icons at BEST Inc.'s first "Cash & Cline" concert, sponsored by Cohen, Feeley, Altemose & Rambo. The event drew a crowd of 374 people and, between ticket sales and donations collected throughout the evening, raised a total of $18,000 with the help of 34 volunteers.

"Students, mentors, board members and friends of BEST all pulled together to make [this night] a success," said co-founder Judy Tierney.

BEST Inc. was founded in 2008 by Tierney and Billy Staples with assistance from local philanthropist Linny Fowler (also named as a cofounder) to help youth from challenging circumstances fulfill their dreams of earning a college degree. The totally volunteer-run program provides students with modest financial assistance and, on a much larger note, a caring, stable environment where they are each paired up with mentors of the students' choosing (though it can't be a family member) who follow and support them throughout their college years. Currently, 30 students benefit from the program.

"A lot of our kids are first-generation college

PRESS PHOTOS BY ELIZABETH KEMMERER

Board members and BEST scholars can finally relax and enjoy the Cash & Cline concert they put together. From the left are; board member Kim Forsyth, BEST website designer and digital marketing specialist Jay Vega, board member Troy Walker, co-founder Billy Staples, BEST scholar Sabrina Lin, BEST graduate Taylor Shafer, board member Keith Gargone, co-founder Judy Tierney and board member Mary Charon.

students," Staples explained. "Many of them never planned to go to college because they didn't think it was an option."

"We have some first-generation high school graduates, too," added board member Troy Walker.

Marty Cohen of Cohen, Feeley, Altemose & Rambo has been involved with BEST for years, he says, because of Staples's commitment to the kids.

"I've been involved with many organizations that help youth and they don't all follow through like Billy does," Cohen said.

While being selected as a BEST scholar does require a household income limit, students are not required to be destitute. BEST scholars include students who would normally qualify for little to no financial help from their colleges because they fall in the middle where their families make too much money and they are not at the top of their classes. Some lack an environment supportive of their academic goals. Still, there are many who do come from humble means, unstable homes and have overcome some very tragic circumstances, according to Staples and Tierney.

BEST scholars receive a check sent directly to their colleges each semester totaling around $5,000 over four years. In exchange, the student must maintain a 2.8 GPA and send a report summarizing all he or she learned at the conclusion of each semester. If the student falters on this, BEST will hold the check until the student's grades improve and/or they receive the required semesterly report(s). Students are free to attend any college in the country, change majors and transfer schools without affecting their scholarship status.

Potential BEST scholars are nominated by their high school superintendents based on criteria that include household income, academic performance, involvement in community and school activities and character. They also consider, to the best of their knowledge, who would benefit most from the BEST's mentoring program, according to Staples.

"When we mentor our kids, we make an effort to truly know them, so much so that we know just where and how to push them," Staples elaborated. He, Tierney and the other mentors connect regularly with the students throughout the school year, make themselves available 24/7 and are ready to jump in the car and visit them when they hit a rough patch. They work with the students' colleges to make that support system even sturdier.

"We're committed to helping them through their struggles and we hope our caring will inspire them to be caring, too," See BEST on Page A19

Staples said.

Nicole Mejia, a nursing student at East Stroudsburg University, found strength from this mentoring while she grappled hard with her load of weighty medical courses, like anatomy and physiology. She said she found the courage to plow ahead from her BEST support system.

"BEST is family," said the Phillipsburg HS graduate. "It's like having a personal fan club."

James Hadinger, a graduate of Salisbury HS, is wrapping up his freshman year at Lehigh University with a major in engineering, which he plans to switch to marketing. He is one of 11 kids and says he can "feel" his siblings, looking up to him.

"My first semester at Lehigh was the hardest thing I've ever gone through," he explained. "I learned that it's not just about meeting the expectations that are put on you, but how you handle those expectations along the way that matters. My mentor knew how to motivate me the right way through that semester. In a society where kids just want attention, BEST gives you the right attention."

Sabrina Lin receives financial assistance from DeSales University, where she's studying nursing, for her stellar grades at Liberty HS. As a BEST scholar, she's benefitted mostly from the mentoring and relationships with her peers.

"I was a little over protected growing up and wasn't allowed to go out much, so I didn't have much chance to have friends my own age," she explained. "I found that chance at BEST, as well as people who knew how to support me academically."

"This is a wonderful organization," said Byron L. Grigsby, president of Moravian College, home to two current BEST scholars. "BEST is providing a stable background for these students who, coming from their circumstances, would normally fall in the lower 20 percent range for college graduation."

BEST boasts a graduation rate of 91 percent as compared to the state average of 62.9 percent for public colleges and 71.4 percent for private colleges in 2013, according to the Chronicle of Higher Education. Over the past 10 years, BEST has helped produce over 60 college graduates from the Lehigh Valley.

Students give back to BEST by helping at one event per year and are asked to devote two years of their time, energy and talent after graduation to helping BEST however they can, be it with events, welcoming and mentoring new students, and contributing in other ways.

Taylor Shafer returned to volunteer at the concert and also mentors a current student encountering similar challenges she faced while studying at Kutztown University before graduating with her degree in English and secondary education.

"To give back to BEST is to give back in a bigger way than just giving a little time," Shafer explained. "It's about having a purpose. I feel like giving back to BEST is purpose in itself."

Carly Seldow, a graduate of Liberty HS and Rutgers University with a degree in agriculture, added, "I want to be a part of this because it's for people I love. I was very welcomed at BEST and I want to give back by giving new students that same experience and in other ways, like working hard and being a good citizen and taxpayer."

Shafer is now a paraprofessional and volunteer cheering coach at her alma mater, Phillipsburg HS. Seldow works as a grower at Edible Garden in New Jersey.

"If a student goes to college in California and then gets a job out there, we certainly don't expect him or her to turn down that job to come back for two years," Tierney said. "But we do expect that they commit to doing what they can from a distance for two years, such as donating, or becoming a mentor

BEST scholars and siblings Nicole Mejia, attending East Stroudsburg University for nursing, and James Mejia, studying biology and chemistry at Rowan University, wrap up the Cash & Cline concert with BEST co-founder and mentor Judy Tierney.

Audience members rose to their feet for musical guest Josie Waverly as Patsy Cline.

for one of our new students." Waverly, who is from New York and has been bringing Patsy Cline to life for the past five years, performs all over the country for charitable organizations, but this one hit home, she said.

"My family moved around a lot when I was growing up, so I was constantly the new kid in school and felt out of place," she explained. "Having a mentor to take me under their wing would have helped. I wish something like this organization had existed when I was a kid."

Moravian College will host BEST's next fundraiser July 22, featuring a meet and greet with current and retired professional baseball players and an auction of baseball memorabilia, followed by its annual golf tournament and banquet July 23 at Silver Creek Country Club.

Mayfair heads for higher ground on Cedar Crest College campus

BY KATHY LAUER-WILLIAMS
Special to The Press

Mayfair returns to its roots this year as a free community festival, but at a new location.

Last year, Memorial Day weekend was left without the annual Allentown music and arts festival when Mayfair was canceled after nearly 30 years.

Now Cedar Crest College has taken over the reins and will present the three-day festival admission-free, noon-10 p.m. May 25-27, on its 84-acre, tree-lined campus at Hamilton and Cedar Crest boulevards.

Returning will be multiple stages featuring continuous music by popular local and regional bands, an artists' market, children's activities, food stands and beer and wine to herald the unofficial start of summer.

Lauren Condon, director of the Student Union and Engagement for Cedar Crest College, says college officials were approached last year by the previous Mayfair board and Cedar Crest officials thought it was a good fit.

"We have a beautiful campus and this is a well-established festival," Condon says.

She adds that the timing is perfect, since college classes have concluded for the year and organizers thought the festival would increase the visibility of the college.

"Cedar Crest College just celebrated its 150th birthday and we are well-established in the Lehigh Valley, but there are many people who have never been here," Condon says. "This is an opportunity to invite the community to our campus."

Condon admits running the festival has been a "huge undertaking," but says it helps to have lots of students and alumna volunteering.

The festival will feature two primary stages: a main stage off of College Drive, and a bandstand stage at the Blaney Hall Circle, as well as additional performances in Almunae Hall and strolling performers. The Artists' Market will be held outdoors and inside Lees Hall.

Children's activities will be in front of Miller Family Building and there will be a children's art tent next to the Quad. Food and drink vendors will line the roads on either side of the Quad.

Condon says the college also wants to emphasize education by having artists-in-action demonstrations and holding tours of the college's William F. Curtis Arboretum, a nationally-registered arboretum with more than 150 species of trees from around the world.

Mayfair was founded 31 years ago as a free arts and music festival in Cedar Beach Park. Although initially attracting thousands, the festival was plagued by inclement weather and struggled financially.

In 2005, the festival became a gated event with admission charged, but still faced the uncertainties of the weather in areas of flood-prone Cedar Beach Park.

In 2013, Mayfair moved to the Agri-Plex at the Allentown Fairgrounds, where it had the advantage of indoor and outdoor venues. Admission continued to be charged until the festival was canceled last year.

At Cedar Crest's Mayfair, the entertainment, activities and artists' market are free, says Condon. The Crest campus is west of and not far from Cedar Beach Park, but on higher ground.

There are more than 30 performances during the three days and Condon says all have ties to the Lehigh Valley.

Headliners on the main stage are local 1960s and 1970s music cover band, Large Flowerheads, May 25; disco band, Philadelphia Funk Authority, May 26, and the synth sounds of Go Go Gadjet, May 27. Jimmy Buffet cover band Jimmy and the Parrots will get the party going the afternoon of May 26. There are performances on the stage noon-10 p.m.

Pennsylvania music celebrated in new festival at Fairgrounds

BY KATHY LAUER-WILLIAMS
Special to The Press

Pennsylvania's contribution to music and the arts and a celebration of the military combine to highlight a new free Memorial Day weekend festival in Allentown.

The Great Pennsylvania Music & Arts Celebration will offer nearly 100 performances of Commonwealth-based music over three days as well as recognizing veterans when it debuts May 26-28 at the Allentown Fairgrounds, 17th and Liberty streets, Allentown. All performances are free and there is no admission charge. Hours are 10 a.m.-10 p.m. May 26 and 27, and 10 a.m.-8 p.m. May 28.

The celebration inside and outside the Agri-Plex also takes place on the former grounds of Camp Crane, the World War I training ground for the Ambulance Corps from 1917 to 1919.

"That was a very important part of Allentown history," says festival Executive Director Siobhan "Sam" Bennett. "This takes place on the footprint of the original Camp Crane and it is also the 100th anniversary of [the conclusion of] World War I."

The new festival, sponsored by Pennsylvania's Music Preservation Society, takes over the space where Mayfair was held, until it was canceled last year. Now Cedar Crest College is reviving Mayfair at its campus down the street and Bennett says the two festivals will complement each other.

"This is really a great opportunity to position Allentown as the go-to place for Memorial Day [weekend]," she says.

The new festival had its roots when Lehigh Valley native and Grammy-nominated polka king Alex Meixner became concerned about dwindling interest in the traditional music of the polka.

"He felt there was a lack of understanding about the street and Bennett says the two festivals will complement each other.

"This is really a great opportunity to position Allentown as the go-to Preservation Society to focus on telling the story of Pennsylvania's part in the history of music. The festival is the organization's first event.

The festival aims to highlight Pennsylvania's music heritage, including polka, folk, rock and Latin. There also is a strong component of marching band and military music.

"Allentown is known as 'Band City USA,'" Bennett says. "We have the Allentown Band, the nation's oldest civilian military band and other local bands."

Festival headliners are 1950s' rock 'n' rollers Bill Haley Jr. and The Comets, local percussionist and composer Hector Rosado with Steel Avenue Salsa, and Meixner.

There are five performance stages, or "schtells," featuring a range of music that includes Pennsylvania-German and polka bands, as well as rock, pop, folk, jazz, funk, Latin, bluegrass, gospel, R&B and Celtic. In addition, the Allentown Band, Municipal Band and Pioneer Band will perform.

Every day is beautiful

When I went for my morning walk last week, I thought it was an absolutely beautiful day for a birthday.

I liked the fact it was sunny and warm but still offered soft breezes to make it feel like a perfect day for a birthday.

But as soon as I had that thought I realized EVERY day is a perfect day for a birthday. It doesn't matter if it's cold or rainy. If it's your birthday, the day is special for you. At least that's the way it is for me.

There is another truth that dawns on us when we reach a certain age: Every single day is both beautiful and special because we realize that day is a gift for us to enjoy.

As I was walking back from my early morning walk I saw my next-door neighbor leaving for work. I greeted him by saying what a beautiful day it was to enjoy life.

"It's just another day," he grumbled.

My neighbor is a renowned chef who works hard almost every day of the week. For him, the day becomes beautiful only when he gets a rare day off to actually enjoy being out in the sunshine.

Regardless of weather or personal circumstances, I have always believed every birthday was special. Didn't matter if it was pouring rain or if I had to work all day.

The day would be special because I would make it special. That is one resolve I've always kept.

For the past 10 years David and I cook up something special for our birthdays. Mostly, that means going away for two or three days to a new kayak and biking destination.

We put a lot of time and effort into finding a new area we might like and then planning a special trip for the birthday celebrant.

This year we decided we were going to Fort DeSoto in St. Petersburg because the kayaking is wonderful there with plenty of dolphins, manatee and other wildlife.

We changed those plans when we learned our treasured friends Moe and Colleen would be spending only a few days here during my birthday week.

We both thought nothing would make us want to miss their visit. We figured we could kayak anytime but we rarely get to spend time with those special friends.

Sometimes, when we are lucky enough to find extraordinary "forever friends" we know enough to value them for the treasure they are.

There are a few people in life you might not see for a long time, but when you do, the conversation flows as if you just saw them yesterday.

Well, Moe, Colleen, Lenny and his wife are those kind of friends for David and me. Since we now live many states apart, it was extraordinary that I got to be with all four of them during my birthday week.

For the day itself, my painful back ruled out kayaking. Instead, we traveled to a part of old Florida called Babcock Ranch where one can take a swamp buggy tour and feel like you are transported back in time.

I especially loved all the wildlife we got to see. When we saw a mama boar and her two scampering little babies one could hear the "ahhh, sweet" exclamations from the women on the tour.

Those of us who like to take wildlife photos were rewarded with plenty of action. I "shot" a newborn fawn, a massive bull and dozens of alligators. At one pond alone there were probably more than 100 baby alligators.

It was a great day spending my birthday doing "something different."

But while the day was special, I have to admit so is every single day of life.

Every day when I open the door for my morning walk I'm greeted by what I regard as a great day.

When I can inhale my first deep outside breath and gauge the differences in weather from the day before, it all seems incredible to me.

Yes, I do, indeed, tune in to all the little wonders of the day. And of course I always notice the wildlife. Today it was just bunnies and noisy turkey vultures, but I like seeing it all.

The most spectacular sight of the day for me was the beautiful family of cardinals at my bird feeder. The big males are the most colorful, but the babies with just a touch of red are also sweet to see. The pair of osprey sitting high on their telephone pole nest is also fun to watch, even if they do squawk a lot when you get near.

If you're thinking by now that I'm a nature nut, you're right. I don't think I can ever get enough of being outside, taking in everything around me.

Once, when I was walking to a restaurant with some fellow editors, I remarked on how good it felt to be walking outside on such a nice night.

"Good lord. You act like you've never been outside before," one editor said.

I told him it doesn't matter how many nice nights I've enjoyed being outdoors. The next time I do it, it still feels special.

The same thing is true of seeing beautiful sunsets. Each new sunset draws "ahhhs" from deep within me.

So yes, I enjoy life. I enjoy every special day. And truth be told, every day is special.

all three days.

Performances on the bandstand stage include local musicians Ethan Cramer, Cabbage, and Ophelia (Dina Hall and Beth Sherby), Tap Ties, Dieruff High School Jazz Band, and the Bill Moyer Group. The bandstand stage will have performances noon-7 p.m. all three days.

Condon says invitations for the artists' market were sent to local artists who had previously been at Mayfair. Art ranges from painting and photography to woodwork, pottery and jewelry in the artists' market noon-8 p.m.

"It was important to us to stay local to the Lehigh Valley," she says.

Condon says the college will "tie in the education piece" with demonstrations of origami, yoga and plein-air painting May 26 and 27.

She says 14 food vendors, including Cactus Blue's new food truck, will offer a variety of food such as funnel cakes, burgers, hot dogs, pierogis, tacos, Caribbean noodles, fajitas, grilled chicken teriyaki, gyros, and desserts, including fried Oreos and ice cream.

Banko Beverages will have its beer truck, serving Summer Shandy, Yuengling Lager, Stella Artois and Summer Ale for those age 21 and older. Franklin Hills Vineyards will have a selection of wine for purchase.

Condon says while the festival is family-friendly, there will be two areas dedicated to children's activities. Franki's Fun Zone, named for college mascot Franki the Falcon, will feature inflatables, face-painting, pony rides, a rock wall, and performances.

The festival has partnered with the Baum School of Art, which will host a children's art tent offering free art projects May 26 and 27.

Free arboretum walking tours will be offered at 11 a.m. all three days. Tours are limited to the first 50 people registered per day. To register: cedarcrest.edu/arboretum.

Condon says there is free parking on campus and in campus lots.

"We hope people will have fun and learn about art as well," Condon says. "We are excited to continue this tradition on our campus."

performance stages or schtells is dedicated to emerging artists.

"For music to be preserved, you need young musicians," she says.

The schtell will host an "American Idol"-style juried competition, as well as Lehigh Valley Music Award winners and School of Rock graduates.

Among the offerings from juried artisans in the Agri-Plex is Pennsylvania art, from hex signs to quilts.

Patrick Donmeyer, Director of the Pennsylvania German Cultural Heritage Center in Kutztown, will talk about the Pennsylvania art form of hex signs. Eric Claypool, hex sign painter and son of the legendary Johnny Claypoole, will help people create their own hex signs.

Visitors also can take part in a community project to paint large hex signs.

"People forget Lehigh County is the beating heart of Pennsylvania-Dutch heartland," Bennett says. "There is a unique Lehigh County hex sign design called 'Blumme' that features flower petals."

She says Pennsylvania-Dutch culture will be well-represented with roving polka accordianists, polka dancing and a show in which Pennsylvania-Dutch dancers and Irish step-dancers join forces.

Bennett says the festival also "celebrates Pennsylvania though the lens of arriving cultures, including the Irish, Easter Europeans, Syrians and Latinos" through music and ethnic foods, including pierogies, German sausages, tabbouleh and tacos.

The festival will feature beers from Shangy's, Emmaus.

"Pennsylvania is the number one craft beer state and we have the oldest brewery in the country with Yeungling," Bennett says. "Beer is very much a part of our history."

Next year, Bennett says the festival will include wine since Pennsylvania is the fourth-largest wine producer in the United States.

Bennett says one-third of the festival will be devoted to veterans' programming as befits the Memorial Day weekend.

She says 50 veterans organizations will be represented. There will be re-enactments from the American Revolution, the Civil War, World War I, World War II, the Puerto Rican 65th Infantry Regiment Headquarters; "The Borinqueneers"; a military history series, and information about the contributions of African-American soldiers from the Revolutionary War to the Civil War to today.

Nathan Kline, a World War II Normandy bombardier and French Legion of Honor medal recipient, will be a featured speaker.

There will be children's activities, which include making cards to send to deployed troops.

Mack Trucks, which built World War I ambulances, will display restored vehicles.

"We are very excited to bring this celebration to the public," Bennett says. "We are telling the story of the Commonwealth's music and art through the lens of its arriving cultures, from the historic Pennsylvania-Dutch to today's Latinos."

Annual Ride for Freedom benefits area veterans

Veterans from several states joined together May 12 at the Bethany United Methodist Church, Brookside Road, Lower Macungie Township, to provide support to local area veterans. Each year the ride for freedom sponsors a local family and provides help and support. The annual ride raises awareness and expands the network of support for local veterans. For additional information visit www.facebook.com/rideforfreedom.lehigh. ABOVE: Riders and family members share a moment of prayer before beginning their return trip May 12.

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE CATASAUQUA AREA SCHOOL DISTRICT will receive sealed bids in the District Administration Office, 201 North 14th Street, Catasauqua, PA 18032 until 1:30 PM (prevailing time), Thursday, June 7, 2018 for up to one (1) new conventional style CE Model diesel school bus (or approved equal). The bus may be either 72 or 77/78 passenger vehicles and may be 2019 or 2020 model year vehicles.

The school district reserves the right to acquire, one vehicle, or no vehicles. The school district is seeking delivery on or before October 16, 2018 a price for each of the following (1) purchase price for an immediate purchase; and (2) total payments under a sixty-month lease. A lease must provide an option for the school district to purchase the vehicle at the end of the lease for $1.00. The terms and conditions of any proposed lease must be pre-approved by the school district by June 7, 2018. Bidders who intend to submit bids for lease financing should submit proposed lease documents for review by the school district by June 7, 2018.

Bids will be publicly opened at the District Administration Office and read aloud immediately following the deadline for receipt.

Prospective bidders may review and obtain bidding documents (including specifications) at the District Administration Office at the above address, or by calling 610-264-5571, extension #0. Bids must be submitted on regular forms provided by the school district and shall be sealed in an envelope identified with the bidder's name and marked "BID FOR SCHOOL VEHICLE". Prospective bidders shall furnish their name, name of representative, mailing address, email address, telephone number, and facsimile number at the time they obtain bidding documents.

Bidders' proposals must be accompanied by proposal security in the form of either a certified check, certified bank treasurer's check, bank cashier's check, or a bid bond with satisfactory corporate surety in the form provided in the bidding documents. The amount of the proposal security shall be equal to 10% of the total amount the school district would pay the bidder (in purchase price or total lease payments) for one bus, assuming the school district awarded a contract to the bidder for that option bid by the bidder (i.e., size, delivery date, model year, and financing option) which results in the highest total payments.

All Bids shall be irrevocable for sixty (60) days after the bid opening date.

The CATASAUQUA AREA SCHOOL DISTRICT reserves the right in its discretion to reject any or all bids or parts thereof or items therein and to waive any defects, errors, omissions, mistakes, irregularities, informalities, or technicalities in bids.
