Front Porch Project

Program targets child abuse

By MICHELLE MEEH
Special to the Bethlehem Press

As part of child abuse prevention month, Bethlehem residents joined the Pennsylvania Family Support Alliance (PFSA) to learn how to prevent, detect and report instances of child abuse and neglect in their neighborhoods. A total of 25 people participated in the Front Porch Project (FPP) workshop recently at First Presbyterian Church on Center Street. The program was designed to educate community members on how to play a role in child protection.

The event was co-sponsored by the Bethlehem Partnership for a Healthy Community and the First Presbyterian Church of Bethlehem Safe Church Committee.

Bobbi Edwards, a volunteer at First Presbyterian, was recently trained by PFSA to present the program. She described community members as assets to children they meet and told participants, "you can be a part of that external asset for somebody. Give positive feedback to that child."

Beth Bitler of PFSA in Harrisburg encouraged participants to interact with families if it seems that a child may be being abused. She encouraged empathy from parents who seem overwhelmed by childcare and "which buttons to be aware of" in their own feelings. She led participants in a game with balloons. Keeping the balloons in the air first singly, then as a group, showed that when people get involved "then the whole community is going to do a better job."

Laurel Accetta, a new trainer with PFSA, said the workshop helped participants "learn skills that help them to function Armed Services Park venue for Hanover Township's fourth annual Armed Forces Day Ceremony.

'We leave you our deaths'

Hanover Township marks Armed Forces Day

By BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Despite threatening skies, Hanover Township celebrated its fourth annual Armed Forces Day May 16 at Armed Services Park dedicated to the men and women who are serving and have served in all branches of the military.

Residents and dignitaries gathered underneath the flags of each branch of service, along with the Stars and Stripes to reflect on the sacrifices made by those in uniform. The entire township board of supervisors attended the ceremony, and together laid a wreath at the memorial.

State Senator Mario Scavella and State Representative Marcia Hahn also attended.

The ceremony ends, as always as LeRohn "Dan" Deysher plays Taps.

The speaker was Lt. Cmdr. Seth Phillips, USN (Ret.) one of only eight rabbis who acted as U.S. Navy Chaplains during his time of service (1992-2012). The audience also heard from CW04 Donald E. Smith, Army (Ret.) a Hanover resident whose Naval career spanned more than 50 years. He's been a member of the Military Academy Selection Board for the last 23 years, serving Congressman Charlie Dent since 2005. Smith described the military careers of several Hanover residents who attended the military academies.

Music entertainment was provided by the brass ensemble of the American Legion of Bethlehem. Post 379 also provided an honor guard and a 21-gun salute in honor of the fallen.

In his benediction, Rabbi Phillips reminded the crowd of these words from Archibald MacLeish's "The Young Dead Soldiers Who Do Not Speak": "We leave you our deaths. Give them their meaning. We were young, they say. We have died; remember us."

As Phillips' words faded, World War II Veteran LeRohn "Dan" Deysher stood a distance from the crowd, and played "Taps." Deysher served three years in the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Pennsylvania as Mus1C from the Aleutians to Okinawa, followed by three years shore duty to complete his enlistment.

Retiring from Bethlehem Steel Corp. in 1984, he has played "Taps" for more than 3,000 military funerals, Memorial Day services and other remembrances.

"Not enough. The quarterback should be out for the year and the team forfeit its title."

This mound of stuffed animals – more than 800 of them – is being distributed to police cruisers, fire trucks and ambulances. Donchez explained that in times of trauma, such as house fires, when family members suffer injury or illness, or following criminal incidents, children may be afraid of police officers or firefighters covered in gear. Having a new toy to clutch can help relieve some stress as they receive care.

Comforting kids

City officials and employees of the Emery Street iQor company announce May 4 the gift of hundreds of stuffed animals donated to the city for use in helping comfort children in strenuous moments. iQor took donations and worked with Allentown Toy Company to collect the plush gifts, which will be distributed throughout the city's emergency response vehicle fleet.

more effectively in community. This teaches people ways to do this. There are so many children who don't have anybody looking out for them," she said.

Participants discussed several fictional scenarios in which children may be abused and what they could do to help. Often people are hesitant to get involved to report potential child abuse for various reasons.

Participant Donna Tiovanni said she is always interested in protecting children from abuse. She said the scenarios taught her how to handle potential situations where children are at risk.

"I learned things that made me feel more comfortable in dealing with situations that might arise," she said, "what to say what not to say, what to do what not to do."

Tiovanni said she enjoyed the scenarios very much. "The presenter did a really good job. It helped you evaluate situation. If you let it go not to do it out of fear but do it because it's wise." The FPP gave helpful tools to evaluate situations and determine the best course of action, she said.

‘My wish list came true’

Hispanic Center breaks ground on senior center expansion

By JENNIFER LADER
Special to The Bethlehem Press

When Damaris Torres first came to the Basilio Huertas Senior Center in 2013, she immediately created a wish list. That list included someone to lead exercise and coordinate activities for the seniors, medical staff to monitor their health, and room to grow. Now, with increased programming at the senior center she manages and the recent groundbreaking for an expansion of the senior center, which is part of Hispanic Center Lehigh Valley (HCLV) at 520 E. Fourth St., Torres said, “My wish list came true!”

Seniors, the HCLV's board and staff, and political leaders gathered April 17 for the ceremony, which turned out to be more of a “wallbreaking.” Torres and HCLV Executive Director Lorna Velazquez did the honors, with U.S. Rep. Charlie Dent, Bethlehem Mayor Bob Donchez and Aurea Ortiz, legislative assistant to State Rep. Steve Samuelson, watching.

A senior community center grant of more than $132,000 from the Pa. Department of Aging made the project possible. Over the past four years, Velazquez has worked closely with her staff and the board to develop a roadmap for the future of HCLV. The senior center is an integral part of that future. As a sign of support, board member attorney Kenneth M. Kitay made a surprise donation of $10,000 during the proceedings.

“This is one of the best things that ever happened here,” senior Carmen Diaz said of the expansion. “We’re very proud and happy; we are getting up there [in importance], too.”

Speaking in Spanish, Brunilda Torres added, “This way we will have more space, be more comfortable.” The expansion will feature a quiet room so that those who come for the counseling offered by Lehigh University's Community Voices Clinic can escape the noise of the center's more raucous bingo players.

Although the senior center has been part of HCLV since the 1970s, today it offers much more than it did in days past and the community embraces the expansion of services. Fifty to 60 seniors partake of hot meals offered Mario Stuart, Dale Kochard, St. Luke's University Health Network President and CEO Rick Anderson, HCLV Director Lorna Velazquez, Bethlehem Mayor Bob Donchez and Dr. Bonnie Coyle are all part of the momentum toward developing and growing the Basilio Huertas Senior Center.

Attorney Ken M. Kitay of the HCLV board of directors makes a surprise donation of $10,000 to support the expansion efforts.

Anna Ortiz, Brunilda Torres and Carmen Diaz are “very proud” of their center's expansion.

twice a day during the week for a modest and optional donation that goes to the Northampton County Area Agency on Aging; Silver Sneakers classes take place twice a week; and on Mondays and Thursdays two nurses come from St. Luke's University Hospital to monitor seniors' blood sugar, check blood pressure and offer health counseling.

Although the seniors who come to the center are “99 percent Spanish-speaking” – not surprising, given the largely Hispanic population in a one-mile radius around the center – seniors do not need to speak Spanish or even identify as Hispanic to come to the Senior Center, said Kimberly Bush, HCLV development coordinator.

“Our goal is to help seniors live full and independent lives and we would prefer to have them come here than stay home in despair,” Bush

HCLV Executive Director Lorna Velazquez with Ismael Rodriguez, who has been coming to the center for 22 years. “Without it, I'd be lost,” he said.

Some of the seniors live alone or are dealing with depression.

“Without the center, I'd be lost,” said Ismael Rodriguez, a native of Patillas in Puerto Rico, who has been coming to the center for 22 years.

“Seniors are the model for the younger people,” said John Mehler, director of the Northampton County Area Agency on Aging, in remarks at the groundbreaking. HCLV has plans in that regard, too.

With the donation of a building at 502 E. Third St. by the late Linny Fowler, plans are under way for a youth center that includes not only social aspects but a health and wellness component, too, inspired by the successes at the Basilio Huertas Senior Center.

For information about Hispanic Center Lehigh Valley and the Basilio Huertas Senior Center, call 610-868-7800 or visit www.hclv.org.

Officials focused on campaigning

By BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Three of Bethlehem Township's commissioners were up for election May 19. Eight Republicans and one Democrat were in the running. Campaign signs were everywhere. So it came as no surprise that their May 4 meeting was a quick one.

Even Michael Hudak, who isn't running for anything, said, “I'm not in a confrontational mood tonight.” The most contentious item discussed was a trench restoration ordinance aimed at getting utilities like UGI to leave roads the way they found them instead of a string of six-by-six foot holes extending along 300 feet of roadway. Commissioners decided to put even that off until Manager Melissa Shafer comes back with pictures, showing a need.

They did vote on establishing no parking zones along three roads intersecting with Brodhead Road, where several commercial businesses and no residences exist. They also voted to send a police officer for additional training.

Though commissioners were in no mood for controversy, they have no control over courtesy of the floor. Several citizens weighed in with concerns. Green Pond Marsh proponent Jack Glagola argued for more transparency. Martin Comer referred to the proposed $250,000 restroom facilities for the Bulldogs as the “Taj Mahal of outhouses." Roy Roth, Barry Roth and Wayne Kresge, citizens who attend nearly every meeting, serve as an informal check on commissioners.

Commissioners also heard from one former Bethlehem resident who used to live in New Jersey but recently returned to the township. His wife works in New York City. He's upset at the volume of traffic along Bethman Road, where his newly built home sits. "I woke up this morning to the sound of a tractor trailer at 6:30 a.m.," he complained. "What can we do to stop people from using Bethman Road as a cut through?" he asked.

Nothing, responded Hudak, noting that people do have a right to drive along public roads.

REMEMBERING HONORING EMBRACING

NATIONAL MILITARY APPRECIATION MONTH

HOW TO GIVE BACK TO VETERANS

Members of the military serve their country proudly, often sacrificing the luxuries of home and time spent with their families to do so. When veterans return home from training or deployment, many people want to show how much they appreciate the sacrifices made by the men and women of the military, but don't know the best way to share that appreciation.

Donations to a veterans' charity is one measure of support the public can offer. Many charities work to serve the needs of veterans. The Wounded Warrior Project provides rehabilitation, counseling and activities for veterans who were wounded during service, while Homes for Our Troops remodels homes or builds them for troops who were injured and need their homes remodeled as a result of their injuries. The USO provides a variety of services for veterans and can always use donations or volunteers.

Another way to help veterans is to assist with their pets. Some dogs and cats get left behind when troops are deployed or forced to move. Volunteering to foster a pet until a soldier returns is another way to give back. Some military service dogs can be injured or traumatized during battle. Working dogs can be rehabilitated or adopted upon returning home.

According to the organization Veterans, Inc., veterans are more at risk of becoming homeless than those who do not serve in the military. Some causes of homelessness include lack of education and transferable skills after returning from military life. Physical and mental health issues can make finding work challenging. Some veterans may cope with trauma resulting from their deployment by leaning on drugs and alcohol, and that can interfere with their ability to get and/or keep jobs. Individuals can help veterans by opening their homes to friends and family members who may need a temporary place to stay. Encourage veterans to embrace job training programs or seek therapy if necessary.

Providing support to military personnel both past and present can mean a world of difference. Correspond with veterans through mail, email or text messages. Operation American Soldier establishes connections between civilians and troops so that all soldiers receive daily mail, whether it's a care package or letter of thanks.

Other simple ways people can give back to troops is to personally thank them for serving their country. Share time with veterans and ask to spend time listening to their stories and experiences.

County retirees dine with judicial candidates

By BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

After last year's mass exodus, there are now 1,143 retired Northampton County employees. Nearly 250 of them packed into Northampton Memorial Community Center recently for lunch with judicial candidates Abe Kassis, Sam Murray and Vic Scmillio. Those three are in the middle of a race against each other, but have remained on friendly terms and sat together at the same table for lunch.

Executive John Brown was invited, but did not appear. He sent no representative from his administration, either. Ken Kraft was council's delegate to the luncheon.

Abe Kassis - Like everyone else, he was surprised at the turnout, and said he feels like he's among family when with workers and retirees. If elected, this veteran prosecutor pledged to treat everyone with respect "the way we respect each other in this room." He promised he would go that extra mile. He lives in Bethlehem Township.

Sam Murray - Sam joked that when he walked into the community center, he saw so many friendly faces that he felt like he was back at the courthouse. He discussed his commitment to his wife and three children, his 32 years of experience as a lawyer and his time as both a custody master and Juvenile Hearing Court officer. He mentioned his Little League coaching experience, which took a Bethlehem team to the World Series. But the topic he feels most passionate about is his work with Easton's Community Center, which feeds children in Easton's West Ward, where he grew up, both before and after school. Murray and his family now live in Hanover Township.

Vic Scmillio - He said he is running to help "protect values we all share." He started as a clerk to Judge Robert Simpson (who now sits on the Commonwealth Court) and has 15 years of experience representing businesses, big and small, as well as ordinary people. An Eagle Scout, he volunteers with North Penn Legal Services and would like to see more problem-solving courts, like a court for veterans who run afoul of the law. Scmillio lives in Palmer Township.

Before the lunch ended, retirees paused to remember former Northampton county employees who passed on in the past year. They include Mary Cantalupo, Sigfriedo Diaz, Thomas Fenstermacher, Dominic Fimiano, Henry Heil, Tom Marchetti, Joanne Miller, Harold Smith, Pat Repsher, Alan Fowler, Pat Hannon and Rae Moyer.

DISTRICT 11 TRACK AND FIELD

More gold for Aminu

By KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

A total of eight gold medals was awarded to competitors from Bethlehem Catholic, Freedom, and Liberty High Schools at the District XI Class AAA Track and Field Championships last week at Whitehall High School.

Liberty sprinter Jaylyn Aminu repeated her EPC Track and Field Championships performances, clinching first place in the 100 meter dash, the 200 meter dash, and the 4x1 relay.

Aminu's 11.77 time in the 100 is already the best time in the state, so a gold medal at the PIAA State Track and Field Championships this weekend is not out of the question for the Hurricane sophomore.

Aminu's time in the 200 was 25.00, and Liberty's 4x1 relay time was 49.17 also won by Rachel Finn, Kaylin West, and Grace Mittl.

Finn took gold in the pole vault with a height of 11-6 on her second attempt.

"I'm very happy," Finn said. "It got colder and windier by the time we did the pole vault, and I was nervous just because of the weather. I can deal with the cold, but the wind definitely affects it."

West took gold in the triple jump with a distance of 36-11.00, also on her second attempt.

"I feel good, really good," said West. "In prelims, I didn't feel too good, but then my legs warmed up. The girl who got second jumped last, but my coach said just go out and win."

Louie Czarzar won the shot put with a distance of 48-10.50, also for the Hurricanes.

For Freedom, Gia Erie clinched first place in the shot put with a distance of 37-05.50, and for Bethlehem Catholic, Freddie Simmons won the 300 hurdles in 40.21.

Becahi's 4x4 relay team of Andrew Shaffer, John Spirk, E.J. Fineran and Simmons took the silver medal in 3:29.19, and Liberty had two silver medalists, Roshana Tompkins in the 100 hurdles in 15.03, and Jazmyn Aminu in the shot put with a distance of 37-04.50.

Jazmyn Aminu also placed third in the discus with a distance of 99-10.00. West was third in the long jump with a distance of 18-01.50, and Raisa Kochmaruk, also from Liberty

BC girls earn 5 silvers

Bethlehem Catholic High School's girls track and field team garnered five silver medals and two bronze medals at the District XI Class AA Track and Field Championships last week at Whitehall High School.

The Hawks took second place in the 4x1 relay with a time of 51.00, the 4x4 relay with a time of 4:07.82, and the 4x8 relay with a time of 10:14.43.

Dana Neupauer, Nicole Lacherza, Katie Altpeter, and Ally Hontz ran the 4x1.

Neupauer said, "We were so nervous. Our coach told us Palisades was the team to beat, but as long as we'd get second, we'd get to states, so just run as hard as you can."

Palisades placed first, ahead by only .15 seconds.

"When Ally got the baton, the Palisades girl was a little in front of her," said Neupauer.

Running the 4x4 were Jordan Young, Neupauer, Hannah Tanczos, and Lacherza, and the 4x8 was run by Kassi Yocco, Rowan Pepe, Samantha Kaeser, and Lauren Bunke.

Yocco also placed second in the 3200 run in 12:01.63, and Young was second in the 100 hurdles in 16.19.

Winning bronze medals were Bunke in the 1600 run in 5:28.49, and Mikayla Roach in the long jump with a distance of 16-01.50.

Freedom had experienced the pitching of Travis Van Houten earlier this year and they got a dose of the Pleasant Valley right-hander Monday afternoon in the opening round of the District 11 4A playoffs.

After losing to Van Houten and Pleasant Valley 5-2 in the regular season, the sixth-seeded Patriots couldn't solve him on Monday either, falling in a 3-2 affair to end their season.

The Bears (eleventh-seed) used a three-run fourth inning to catapult ahead of the Pates and pitcher Zak Gagnon and held on for the win to advance to today's district quarterfinals against third-seeded Easton.

The loss was a tough pill to swallow for Freedom head coach Nick D'Amico, as their season concludes at 13-9 overall.

"It's nothing to hold our heads down for because our guys played a great baseball game," said D'Amico. "We just didn't get many hits and when you can't come up with key hits against a great pitcher you have to give credit to them."

"I can't take anything away from our guys because they gave 100-percent and played their hearts out. We just didn't do enough to win."

'Canes fall short vs. PHS

By KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

The EPC softball final pitting Liberty against Parkland started out promising for the Hurricanes, but six innings later, the Trojans were crowned conference champions by a score of 7-5 last Thursday at Pates Park in Allentown.

"It was exactly how we wanted to start off, but Parkland just hit, and they got too far ahead," said Liberty coach Sam Carrodo after presenting his team and assistant coaches with silver medals.

Lead off Hurricane batter, Reyna DeJesus, scored the first run on a double by Victoria Schmidt and a subsequent overthrow by the Trojans. Mary Kate Sheplock, running for Schmidt, scored the second run on a single by Kristin Kaleyck.

A string of base hits for Parkland tied the score at 2-2, and Liberty second baseman Michaela Brunnaben saved even more runs with a double play.

"It was just instinct. We needed to stop their momentum," Brunnaben said.

A slow roller to the outfield in the second inning by Brunnaben resulted in a triple, but the Hurricanes could not capitalize on her hit.

"I went up really aggressive, I swung hard, and my mindset was don't back down," she said.

Freedom tennis piles up hardware

By KATIE MCDONALD

The goal of Freedom High School's boys tennis team this season was to win districts, and coach Jeff Young told his team that anything else would be gravy.

So, the Patriots did not take it too hard when they were knocked out of the first round of the PIAA State Team Tennis Tournament by Council Rock North last week, 3-1, at Winning Touch in Allentown.

"It's been so cool, the atmosphere leading up to this," said doubles player Jack Fried. "The articles in the newspapers, our picture to the PIAA, seeing our name on the bracket, all gles, and Aidan Bodeo-Lomicky did not finish his match at number two singles because Freedom had already lost. Playing at number three singles was Ross Sonnenblick. Doubles teams were Fried and Ronak Desai, and Jon Fiorentino and Nijot Singh.

"It was the best year we could have imagined," Fried said. "The energy, the new players and everyone making them feel comfortable. The feeling is absolutely spectacular. Seeing everyone step up and getting those wins without Andrew is what clinched second seed in the [district] tournament for us. Districts under way; EPC all-stars named

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

The District 11 4A baseball playoffs got under way on Monday afternoon and helped paint a clearer picture for Wednesday's quarterfinal action.

East Penn Conference champion Parkland took home the top-seed, while Stroudsburg, who lost to the Trojans in last week's EPC title, is the second-seed, as 12 teams qualified for the postseason tournament.

In the top half of the bracket, Pocono Mountain East defeated Allen 3-1 in the eighth-nine matchup to set up a meeting with the Trojans on Wednesday.

Fifth-seeded Northampton had little trouble dispatching 12th-seeded Bangor on Monday 5-0 to set a quarterfinal bout with fourth-seeded Liberty.

Third-seeded Easton earned a first-round bye and gets eleventh-seeded Pleasant Valley after the Bears used a three-run fourth inning to upset the Patriots.

At the bottom of the bracket, Stroudsburg gets seventh-seeded Emmaus, as the Hornets held off Whitehall 4-2 on Monday.

All quarterfinals were

'Canes hope to keep it going

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Andy Pitsilos didn't know much about Northampton or Bangor heading into this week's District 11 4A playoff action, but he knows none of that really matters when the Hurricanes open play today against the K-Kids.

Northampton defeated Bangor 5-0 on Monday afternoon in the first round of the tournament to set up a 4:30 p.m. quarterfinal against the Hurricanes on their home turf.

After falling in the East Penn Conference semifinals 7-6 to Stroudsburg last week, the Hurricanes are in a good mood entering the district race.

"We lost to a good team in Stroudsburg," Pitsilos said, "but it was good to see our entire team come out and watch the EPC championship [last week]. It wasn't because I told them to, but it was because they wanted to. These guys love baseball and they want to keep their season going."

Alexis Calderon will get the nod on the mound for the 'Canes today in what will be the first encounter between both schools this season.

Liberty should have the advantage of getting two more days of rest, as well as having their number-one pitcher on the mound, compared to the K-Kids throwing their top gun on Monday.

"You hope that's the advantage of having a bye in the first round," Pitsilos said. "However, you still have to hit the ball, play defense and have good pitching. Northampton's a scrappy team and they always play you tough, but we'll see if depth comes into play in this one."

A win by the fourth-seeded Hurricanes on Wednesday will set up a semifinal encounter with either top-seeded Parkland or Pocono Mountain East on Saturday.

In the bottom of the second, another string of singles, among two walks, put the Trojans ahead 7-2.

"It was tough for Victoria to find the strike zone, but once she did, the last three innings were great," Carrodo said.

It was in the top of the fifth inning that the Hurricanes began to chip away at the lead, scoring two more runs, one by Skilee Diaz and another by Sheplock, courtesy runner for Precious Torres, after a triple by Schmidt.

Parkland continued to be held scoreless, and Liberty also came up empty in the sixth inning despite base hits by Liberty designated hitter Alyssa Millhouse and Brunnaben.

"The girls were telling me how the pitcher was pitching, and I saw her twice and knew how she was placing the ball," Millhouse said. "After the sixth inning, the top of the lineup was coming up, and we were still positive."

In the top of the seventh, DeJesus led off and beat out a throw to third base for a triple - only to be thrown out at home on a suicide squeeze attempt.

"I was under pressure to get the inning going, and Sam was telling me to hit like you can," said DeJesus. "[On the bunt] I was so far down the line that I couldn't go back."

With one out, Torres hit a double, and Sheplock, running for Torres, scored on a single by Schmidt, but a steal attempt and a hit that went straight to the pitcher ended the game.

"I tried to make something happen," Carrodo said. "I should have been patient, but a coach of mine who's here just told me to never doubt what you try to do. I would love to see Parkland again in the district final."

At game's end Carrodo was awarded East Penn Conference Coach of the Year.

"I'm pretty humbled. To sit in a room with the experience those other coaches have, and to be a first-year coach ... I had no idea," he said.

DeJesus was awarded East Penn Conference Most Valuable Player.

"I'm shocked, actually. I didn't think I would even come close. I'm really excited and happy about it," she said.

Torres was named to the first team, and Kaleyck was named second team, as were Megan Brown and Shayla Peterson from Freedom.

Prior to the EPC softball final, Liberty defeated Northampton 9-0 in the semifinal.

Millhouse had the first RBI of the game, scoring Tori Kaleyck who led off the second inning with a single. With the bases loaded with K-Kids in the top of the third, Kristin Kaleyck knocked down a ball, picked up by Brunnaben for the last out at second base.

Liberty third baseman Dallas Horning started the bottom of the fourth inning, five-run rally with a double after making a big catch in the top of the fourth.

"It was a foul ball, but it was to save a lot of runs from scoring," said Horning. "I was kind of in a [batting] slump, but I felt really good today. The coaches knew what she was throwing and set us up for good hits."

Three more runs in the fifth inning easily won the game for Liberty.

"After the first run, we definitely weren't comfortable at all until the rally in the fourth," Horning said.

Districts

An all-Bethlehem first-round showdown is already set in the District 11 4A softball playoffs.

Freedom will travel to Liberty on Thursday, May 21 after pigtail rounds began Tuesday. The teams met twice during the regular season and then again in the EPC playoffs.

Freedom is seeded fifth while Liberty is fourth. For the winner, it could mean a showdown with top seeded Parkland in the semifinals. The Trojans will play the winner of Whitehall-Emmaus.

Bethlehem Catholic, meanwhile, will also begin play on Thursday in the 3A bracket. The Hawks are seeded second and will take on Bangor, the third seed.

Southern Lehigh is the top seed in 3A and will play the winner of Blue Mountain-Northwestern.

Becahi hosts combine in front of D-I coaches

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

When you have talented players, it's natural that you might want to show them off.

Bethlehem Catholic's football program was able to do that Saturday morning, as the Golden Hawks held a mock combine on their campus in front of an impressive list of college scouts and assistant coaches.

The Combine-A-Thon started after head coach Joe Henrich's first-year in the program and is essentially a fundraiser used for the program, as players collect donations for their point total in events such as the bench press, 40-yard dash and vertical jump, to name a few.

Parents, family and friends come to watch the culmination of Becahi's spring work, but this was the first time college coaches attended the event.

"I actually have to give E.J. Fineran credit for getting coaches here, because he asked me if any coaches were coming," said Henrich. "That really got the ball rolling and that's when I started reaching out to coaches and we had nine different schools come and watch the events."

Representatives from NC State, Rutgers, Wake Forest, Syracuse, Temple, Stony Brook, Lehigh, Lafayette and Millersville were in attendance for Saturday's event and were able to watch all the Becahi players in action, but there were obviously a few that all the big schools were interested in seeing.

That list includes seniors Julian Spigner (QB), Antwan Keenan (RB), E.J. Fineran (WR/DB), Joe Smith (DB) and Nate Stewart (WR, transfer from Pius X), who are all considered to have D-I potential.

Keenan showed off his speed by running a 4.51 second, 40-yard dash, while Fineran performed a 37 1/2-inch vertical jump. Tommy Weber cranked out 29 reps of 185-pounds on the bench press, but Spigner took home the day's best honors.

He broke the school record for the overall point total that is used for all the events, quintessentially making him, pound-for-pound the strongest and fastest player in the program.

"It's a good feeling when your quarterback performs that well in all these events," said Henrich. "He [Spigner] also broke our school record for hang cleans by doing 21 reps at 185-pounds. It was great and all of the coaches that came were pleased with what they saw."

Henrich hopes that his yearly event can continue to blossom and bring in more college coaches to showcase the talent in the program.

"We know we have players in the program that D-I coaches want to see," he said, "but we want to get more of the D-II coaches out for this in the future. Unfortunately, things just didn't work out that way this year with guys schedules, but this was a good start for us."

ST. PAUL'S WINS LV CHAMPIONSHIP

In the 60th Lehigh Valley Championship Series between the City League and the Suburban League, St. Paul's of the Suburban League beat Holy Trinity of the City League 3-1 for their seventh Lehigh Valley Championship.

In game one, it was Holy Trinity scoring a run in the first and three more in the third inning to take a 4-0 lead. In the fourth inning, St. Paul's went wild scoring eight runs, highlighted by Deb Hughes' two-run home, to take an 8-4 lead. They added three more runs in the fifth making it 11-4. Both teams scored a run in the eighth to make the final score 12-5 in favor of St. Paul's.

In game two, St. Paul's struck first with a run in the first before both teams scored a run in the second inning and two runs in the fourth to make the score 4-3 for St. Paul's. Holy Trinity scored a pair of runs in the fifth inning to go ahead 5-4, but St. Paul's tied it up with a run in the seventh to make it 5-5. In the eighth inning, it was Holy Trinity scoring five runs to take a 10-5 lead and they held on to win the game.

But in game three it was all St. Paul's as they scored a run in the second, three in the third, two more in the eighth inning, and then added five runs in the ninth to coast to an 11-1 win and go up 2-1 in the series.

St. Paul's opened the scoring in game four with a run in the fifth and never looked back, scoring another run in the sixth before adding four more runs in the ninth to beat Holy Trinity 6-0 and clinch the championship.

Leading hitters for St. Paul's included Dave Clark 9-for-18, Rich Kern 9-for-19, Bret Remel 8-for-19, Jennifer Erking 7-for-18, Kevin Gross 7-for-19, Paul Slimmon 6-for-16, Brian Gross 6-for-18, Jason Gross 6-for-19, and Deb Hughes 4-for-12, including that two-run homer.

Leading hitters for Holy Trinity were Barry Coles 7-for-18, Dave Repnyek 6-for-15, Kevin Ashner 6-for-17, Jeff Cole 6-for-18, Bill Repnyek 5-for-17 and Garry Mosser 5-for-18.

Pates

Freedom took a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but the Bears' top of the fourth became the eventual deciding frame to victory.

Brett Hardy and Kieran Kearns each knocked in RBI singles and Tyler Martin provided a sac-bunt RBI to put PV up 3-1 in a rough frame for Gagnon, who went the distance on the mound, giving up five hits, three runs, five walks and striking out six.

Jake Young brought the Pates back within a run after smacking an RBI double in the fifth to make it 3-2, but it wasn't enough for Freedom's bats, as the Pates were only able to muster four hits off Van Houten, who also struck out six.

"He [Van Houten] pitched against us before this season, so we knew what we were getting into," D'Amico said. "We didn't take them lightly. We knew they were a very good team and unfortunately he shut us down again."

With the season ending, D'Amico looks back with disappointment of not moving on, but was proud of how his team battled.

"We had energy all day," he said. "We had a chance to win and you can't fault the kids because they tried, but we just couldn't come up with the clutch hit."

Tribute paid to fallen workers

By AMANDA RUTH
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Nearly 100 people gathered April 26 at the Bethlehem Rose Garden for the 24th annual Lehigh Valley Workers' Memorial Ceremony, hosted by the Lehigh Valley Labor Council.

John Werkheiser, chairman of the Lehigh Valley Workers' Memorial Committee, opened the ceremony. Attendees then took turns reading names from the 2014 Fatality List, a bell chiming after each name.

The Fatality List, which dates back to the 1900s, currently includes 770 names.

While no new names were added to the list this past year, 15 old names that were recovered from the early 1900s were added. According to Werkheiser, a Labor Council worker unearthed them earlier this year through newspaper research.

"Usually we don't like to add names to the list, but this time we were happy to give them the recognition they deserve," Werkheiser said.

During the ceremony,

Werkheiser also dedicated six new benches to the park. The benches were added to the Rose Garden within the last few weeks as part of a community service grant project through the United Way Teen Works program.

"Someone came out last year [to the event] and thought it would be nice to put benches out for people [to enjoy]," Werkheiser said.

And enjoy they did. More than 100 people attended the event this year, and Werkheiser said he was pleased with the turnout. "It's the first time in ten years that we've had that many attend."

Next year marks the 25th anniversary of the Worker's Memorial, and Werkheiser says the event is going to be bigger than ever.

Instantly Saved?

Someone asked Evangelist Biederwolf how long it takes to get saved and he answered, "You might as well expect to shoot off a gun by inches, as to expect a man to be converted by degrees! I can swim easily and have saved a number of people. I have never yet found one who didn't want instantaneous salvation from drowning. Suppose I had stood on the bank and cried, 'Well, how did you get in there?' Wouldn't the victim have called back, 'For heaven's sake help me out quick and we'll talk about that later?' So it is that when the sinner is awakened to his dire sinful state before a holy God, he needs divine instantaneous salvation—not mere human religious reformation.

How long does it take to get saved? Well, How long does it take for God to do a miracle? Genuine salvation is a divine work of God—it is supernatural—it is miraculous—and it is instantaneous! "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Corinthians 5:17).

"What must I do to be saved?" cried the Roman jailor to Paul and Silas. What did they tell him? Give up your bad habits and try to live right? No, that's human reformation—not salvation. Did they tell him to join the church? No! They told him: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house" (Acts 16:30-31). Believing on Christ is not the same as believing about Him. To believe on Christ is to put your entire confidence in Him—to trust Him completely. God promised, "In a day of salvation have I helped thee" (Isaiah 49:8). The jailor and those in his house were helped (or instantly saved) in that day of salvation that they believed on Christ. 2 Corinthians 6:2 quotes Isaiah 49:8 and concludes with, "Now is the day of salvation." Yes, Now—today is the day of salvation. If you will believe on Jesus now to save you, God will instantly save you now. Ask Jesus to save you now!

'Artists create on their own terms'

Tom and Ellen Flynn, in the spacious basement studio of their new amateur-focused creativity warehouse called The Art Establishment, say one of their eight resident instructors is teaching an ancient Greek painting method that mathematically determines the use of space on the canvas. A labor of love, the 945 Broadway Establishment took two-and-a-half years of painstaking refurbishment to finally be ready for use. The Flynns, enthusiastic amateurs themselves who work with oil paint and film photography, respectively, thought the vacant building near their Fountain Hill home was full of potential. The Art Establishment's cavernous interior consists of two floors of display space interspersed with work and teaching space. The qualified instructors use flexible schedules for individual instruction and classes, making it easier for working folks to find a time to come and learn, while studio space is always available for those who merely want to work in peace. "An artist with a job and a busy life may not have time and resources to build a home studio," Tom Flynn said, "Here there's no need for that investment — or distractions." FIGHTING HEART DISEASE AND STROKE

Northampton County Council decided unanimously at their May 7 meeting to suspend as many as 54 pay hikes that may have been awarded illegally by Executive John Brown. He has argued that he has this authority under personnel policies that are written by the executive. But earlier in the week, council solicitor Phil Lauer ruled that county law requires council approval for most wage hikes.

Though council voted to suspend the wage hikes, it has no authority to do so without a written resolution. So the May 7 vote only reflects the will of council. Adoption of a formal resolution will take place in two weeks.

So ends the latest chapter in a dispute that started with Democratic Executive John Stoffa and a Democratic Council over the powers of the executive and legislative branches. In 2008, Stoffa took council to court when it adopted an ordinance requiring review of hundreds of new policies that might interfere with council's career service regulations. Though that matter was supposed to have been settled, it required review of these new policies. That never happened. So now, it's a Republican executive and council who are at loggerheads.

Raise sparks concern

This issue first surfaced when Controller Steve Barron revealed that Brown's controversial Deputy Director of Administration, Cathy Allen, had seen her salary rise from $57,460, when she was first hired, to $68,554.93, or 19.3 percent, all within the span of just one year.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Lamont McClure challenges Solicitor Jeffrey Durkin.

Council had rejected her nomination as Brown's $88,000 director of administration. Brown justified part of the increase because Allen had assumed "significant responsibilities" for insurance programs, worker's compensation and labor negotiations. He also gave her a "temporary" increase because she assumed some of the functions of recently retired HR Director Pat Siemiontkowski. Though the county now has a new HR director, Tracie Barnes, Allen is still getting paid at a higher rate.

According to Barron, 54 county employees are currently receiving "out of class" salaries approved by the executive. It is unclear just how many of these have been approved by council.

Out of class beneficiaries

Two weeks before, Scott Parsons asked Executive Brown to identify the employees who are being paid above their pay scale. In some instances, council's approval may be unnecessary. Even where it is, Parsons indicated council would likely approve most of them.

Brown has so far refused to cooperate with council, telling Parsons he'd prefer to wait until council decides how it is acting. This refusal troubles Hayden Phillips who said the executive's unwillingness to be transparent "takes my breath away."

Why Regulations Matter

Gerald ("Jerry") Seyfried has been a member of Northampton County Council. He has been its executive. He has even worked as a cabinet officer. He was one of the first council members named after Home Rule. He was instrumental in drafting the Administrative Code and Career Service Regulation. He attended council's meeting, and at their invitation, to discuss the current dispute over the executive's authority. He explained why career service regulations matter.

There are approximately 2,200 county employees. The whole point of what must seem like arcane provisions is to promote a system in which all employees are treated fairly. Advancement should be based on what one knows, not cronyism. Though 75 percent of the workforce is now scattered into 11 different bargaining units, the principles in career service regulations still apply for someone who wants to move from one department to another, or who needs to test for a job. Seyfried explained it's how one nurse's aide, who started out changing bedpans at Gracedale, became its director of administration.

He explained that these rules were violated when Brown moved Deputy Director Cathy Allen up three steps in her pay grade without council's approval. He stressed that the litigation between the executive and council over a four-inch thick binder of double-sided, fine print executive rules is also unfinished business that needs to be addressed.

He recommended against a lawsuit. "We all look silly when one body of government sues another body of government," he said. "It creates a lot of hard feelings." He did give council two options.

Option one is to sit down with the executive and try to hammer out a resolution, a path that both council and executive embraced. Option two, which he called the "hard road," is to simply abolish the positions where the executive is granting increases without council

At the beginning of February, Nitschmann MS's eighth grade Team NOVA launched a sustainability-based service learning project utilizing local and national outlets to reuse and recycle shoes and sneakers. In addition to recycling sneakers through Nike Reuse-A-Shoe, students donated shoes to New Bethany Ministries, a homeless shelter located in Bethlehem's Southside. This component of the project was designed to create connections between students and their local community. When students visited New Bethany to deliver their donation, they toured the facility's kitchen and family housing, as well as served lunch to the community and discussed with the staff the importance of their work. The students brought their donated shoes to New Bethany's thrift store, located next door, where vouchers are provided to residents for shoes and clothing. The students were also able to donate books to New Bethany's recently-installed common area book shelves. Above: Team Nova arrives at New Bethany Ministries in South Bethlehem.

County solicitor

At one point, Solicitor Jeffrey Durkin attempted to explain why Council Solicitor Phil Lauer is wrong. He did not get very far. "Frankly, sir, your advice has not just been suspect, it's been wrong," lectured Lamont McClure, himself an attorney. "You did not do your research," he stated, referring to Durkin's failure to note the previous litigation between council and executive. "It's basic competence."

Just the previous week, the Solicitor's office had failed to provide an attorney at a hearing in Northampton County, prompting Scott Parsons to wonder whether Brown's elimination of a full-time assistant solicitor position had been the right call.

HEALTH & FITNESS

Tricks to eat less

Exercise and healthy eating are the main components to shedding pounds and maintaining that weight loss over the long haul. Although bodies and dietary needs vary from person to person, medical professionals typically advise adults to consume a certain amount of calories per day to maintain long-term health.

The National Health Service advises the average adult male needs approximately 2,500 calories per day to keep his weight constant, while the average adult female needs 2,000. Reducing caloric intake slightly can serve as a catalyst to losing weight. A healthy weight can reduce the risk of certain diseases and conditions, such as diabetes, heart disease and arthritis-related joint pain.

Men and women will find there are dozens of diets designed to help people eat less, and some of these may be more manageable than others. There also are additional strategies people can take to curb unhealthy eating habits, which can contribute to weight gain.

- Drink more water. Dehydration symptoms can mimic the symptoms of hunger. Before reaching for a snack, try a tall glass of water. Also, consume water before a meal and you will be less likely to overeat.
- Use a smaller plate. It's possible to trick the brain into thinking you're eating more than you really are by reducing the size of your plate. A full plate sends the signal that you're eating a lot.
- Eat slowly. Rushing through a meal may cause you to overeat. Focus on the bites you take and savor each one. Slowing down also will help you recognize when you are satisfied and can put down your fork.
- Dole out portions in advance. When eating meals or snacking, pre-select portion sizes and keep the larger pot of food or bag of chips in the pantry. Out of sight, out of mind, and you probably won't miss the extra food.
- Start with a protein-fueled breakfast. Breakfast is touted as the most important meal of the day, and there is evidence that selecting protein laden foods for breakfast, rather than simple carbohydrates, may suppress appetite throughout the day. Choosing an omelet over a bagel might make a real difference.
- Don't eat while distracted. Eating while involved in an important conversation or while watching an engaging television program can divert attention away from how much you are eating, so stay focused on the amount of food you're eating.
- Know food weaknesses. If you're a sucker for ice cream, don't stock it in the freezer. If you tend to eat as a coping method to stress, look for a healthier way to relieve that anxiety, such as exercise. Recognizing and eliminating foods that may encourage poor eating habits can help you eat less.

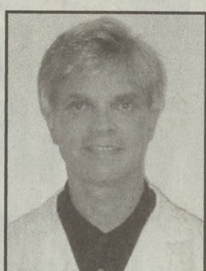

Overeating can be curbed by taking a few simple steps that are as effective as they are easy.

Mayfair: seven festivals in one

There's visual arts, plus themed days:
classic rock, jazz, country, bluegrass-folk

By DEB BOYLAN
Special to The Press

Mayfair Festival Of The Arts has always been viewed as an unofficial kickoff to the Lehigh Valley's busy festival season. Mayfair, now in its 29th year, has continued to evolve much like the changing seasons it heralds.

The four-day event runs

May 22 - 25 at the Allentown Fairgrounds. The festival was relocated from its longtime location in Allentown's Cedar Beach park three years ago.

The move was implemented because of flooding concerns at the park. While May might be known for spring flowers, it often brings heavy showers. Mayfair was a victim of poor weather in past seasons.

The flooding troubles at Cedar Beach not only hurt attendance, it also caused damage to vendors' and exhibitors' wares and artwork. The heavy foot traffic generated by the event also caused wear and tear on the park grounds.

The relocation to the Agri-Plex and west end area of the Fairgrounds has enabled Mayfair to utilize indoor and outdoor spaces and allowed the organization to be less dependent upon weather conditions. The flooding and weather troubles at the park had jeopardized the future of the event.

In 2015, Mayfair is changing once again. Arlene Daily, Executive Director of Mayfair, Inc. noticed that music specific festivals were popular.

"One of the things that I've done since I came here a little over three years ago is spend a lot of time going to other festivals," explains Daily.

"What I heard in the community and from the [Mayfair] board of directors was the community was really missing the high-quality visual arts that used to be at Mayfair. We definitely wanted to bring that back. So, I started going around to visual arts festivals to see what was being done differently."

Daily spoke with artists at art festivals and received valuable feedback, which laid the foundation for improvements made to that portion of Mayfair. The quality and number of artists since the move to the Fairgrounds and during Daily's tenure has markedly improved.

The year prior to Daily's hiring at Mayfair there were 47 artists' booths at the event. Last year, there were 125 artists. Daily is proud of the caliber of artists that now choose to exhibit at Mayfair. Many artists were selling pieces for thousands of dollars.

Daily next decided to tackle the music portion of Mayfair, which has led to this year's launch of the "festivals within the festival" format.

This year there will be seven genre-specific music festivals in addition to the visual arts festival.

"People love to go to a bluegrass festival or they love to go to a jazz festival. The Philly Folk Festival is a big draw around here," says Daily. "So, I sort of applied that concept onto the program that I did for the stages this year."

The music genres represented at this year's Mayfair are: classic rock, jazz, country, bluegrass and folk, and Celtic.

A modest admission charge will enable a fest-goer's entry into Mayfair's offerings for the four days of the event.

"Which is amazing because you go to a bluegrass festival or a folk festival and they could be anywhere from $40 to $150 to get in and ours is a four-day pass. So, you get seven music festivals plus the visual arts festival for $5," explains Daily.

'Avenue Q' to 'Hello Dolly!'

35th season offers variety, including 'Grimm!' children's musical debut, at Muhlenberg
Summer Music Theatre

SPOTLIGHT ON

By PAUL WILLISTEIN
Press Focus Editor

The 35th season of Muhlenberg Summer Music Theatre goes from one extreme to the other.

Muhlenberg Summer Music Theatre co-founder Charles Richter is fine with that.

Opening the season is "Avenue Q," June 10 - 28, winner of the Tony Award "triple crown" (Best Musical, Best Score and Best Book), billed as a hilariously adult take on classic children's characters.

The 10-time Tony Award winner "Hello, Dolly!" runs July 8 - 26, in which Jerry Herman's classic musical takes a whirlwind tour of New York at the turn of the 20th century, following the adventures of matchmaker Dolly Levi.

"Avenue Q" is sort of the epitome of a contemporary feel-good musical. It's hip. It's a little bawdy. It's very funny," says Richter.

"It has an urban feel. It has an ironic feel. It reflects a contemporary mentality and it does it more effectively than any piece that has come down the pike in the last 15 or 20 years.

"And on the other side of the spectrum is 'Hello Dolly!'"

"Hello Dolly!" was sort of the end of the era that was started by Rodgers and Hammerstein ... the last of the Golden Age of Musicals."

The MSMT season also includes Doppelskope's new family musical, "Grimm!," June 17 - July 25, in its world debut.

Last summer, MSMT sold 11,569 tickets for its three productions and exceeded projected revenue by 10 percent, according to Scott Snyder, Marketing Manager, Muhlenberg College Department of Theatre & Dance.

MSMT draws about 93 percent of its audience from Lehigh, Northampton, Bucks and Berks counties. The remainder come from Philadelphia, western New Jersey, and families of cast members who are from out of the area.

About 115 will work at MSMT this summer, including cast, musicians, technical staff and administrative staff.

"Hello, Dolly!" and "Avenue Q" are being presented in Baker Theatre, Trexler Pavilion for Theatre & Dance, Muhlenberg College, 2400 Chew St., Allentown. Empie Theatre, Baker Center for the Arts, isn't being used this summer by MSMT.

Of "Hello Dolly!," says Richter, who's directing the musical, "It's a beautifully-crafted musical comedy that has a terrific integration of libretto, music and dance. What it shares with 'Avenue Q,' in a way, is its humanity."

"The impetus to do the show came from Campbell Baird, our summer [MSMT scenic] designer. It was always his dream to do 'Hello Dolly!'"

Michael Schnack is music director. Karen Dearborn, Muhlenberg College Dance Program Chair, is choreographer. "We've put together a really strong corps of dancers. This is a production that's going to be light on its feet."

"I've always hesitated to do it. I saw the New York production. I wondered if we could pull it off. He [Baird] came up with an ingenious scheme." Baird is Associate Arts Professor, Tisch School of the Arts at New York University.

"If you're going to do 'Hello Dolly!,' you need a Dolly," Richter says. Mia Scarpa, Muhlenberg College, Class of '04, plays Dolly. Scarpa is co-director of Theatre Arts Education at Center Stage, Shelton, Conn.

"You need the spectacle and you need a great actress," says Richter of "Hello Dolly!." "If you get it right, you get a sense of the warm humanity, much like the humanity that underlies 'Avenue Q.'"

Jarrod Yuskas, Director of Theater, Upper School, Moravian Academy, is guest artist, playing Horace Vandergelder, the "half-a-millionaire" for whom Dolly is seeking a match.

"Dolly" is a show that's difficult to do and it doesn't get revived that often," Richter says. "It's a great family show. And it's a great way to introduce children to the theater."

You may, however, want to let the kiddies at home for "Avenue Q."

"Sesame Street" is an iconic form," says Richter. "They recast it with adults. It's 'Avenue Q' certainly not for children. I think we're recommending it for 14 and above."

"It shares a certain whimsy and a deep humanity [with 'Hello Dolly!']. What it shares with 'Sesame Street' is its charm. It's a great deal of fun. It's very tuneful. And it's ingenious. It's what made 'Sesame Street' more than just a children's show with puppets.

"When we're talking about repertory for the summer theater, we ask: 'Is it high-quality material?' Robert Lopez ['Avenue Q' composer] is one of our most gifted contemporary composers. He also wrote 'Frozen.' He understands how musical theater works."

"He took a major trope in 'Sesame Street' and has turned it into something wonderful. Modern audiences who are weaned on 'Sesame Street' as children or parents can really relate to the form."

Bill Mutimer, Assistant Professor of Theatre Communications at Northampton Community College, is directing "Avenue Q" at MSMT. He directed the show this past season at NCC. Ed Bara is music director.

"One of the reasons I chose Bill to direct it is that he went to Avenue Q Puppet Camp, preparing for the NCC production."

"We get puppets from them [Avenue Q]. They send you rehearsal puppets. And then you have show puppets. You want them fresh for the production. We had a puppet seminar this week. We're already puppeteering."

"Grimm!" is also puppets and people," Richter notes.

Doppelskope premiered its show, "Gruff," last summer at MSMT. The New York City-based troupe co-artistic directors are Christopher Scheer, Muhlenberg College, Class of '07; Ora Fruchter, and music director Toby Singer.

Scheer trained with the Jim Henson Company for "X-tink-shun: A Wild Puppet X-perience," a puppet show presented in 2011 at the Philadelphia Zoo. Fruchter and Singer perform in "Grimm!"

A free 45-minute workshop follows each performance of "Grimm!" Participants will explore their own family stories in a series of energetic hands-on activities designed to get kids up on their feet, thinking, playing and expressing themselves. Participation is limited, and advance registration through the box office is recommended.

"There's a puppet mindset around the theater [MSMT]," says Richter. "We like puppets. They're fun."

Cetronia Corps celebrates 60 in style

By DEB BOYLAN
Special to The Press

Cetronia Ambulance Corps celebrated 60 years of emergency medical service to the community with a black-tie gala April 25 at Brookside Country Club, Lower Macungie Township.

The "Health on Wheels" event, now in its fourth year, is an occasion for the volunteers and staff of Cetronia Ambulance, supporters and local leaders to reflect upon the past while celebrating an exciting future. The evening was also an opportunity to raise funds for the non-profit.

Cetronia Ambulance, which began as an all-volunteer rescue squad in 1955, now runs with a mixture of paid staff and volunteers. Expanding coverage area and call volume necessitated the addition of paid staff. During Cetronia's first year of existence, its volunteers answered 29 calls. Fast forward to the present day and the annual call volume is around 50,000.

"It [Cetronia] started as volunteer," said Michael Keenan, a member of the Cetronia Board of Trustees. "When you run an organization that has evolved from throwing bodies into the back of a Cadillac and racing to the hospital into what is basically pre-emergency room care, it's a huge leap."

Cetronia CEO Larry Wiersch began the evening's slate of presentations by recognizing the staff and board members in his opening remarks.

"Today, we base all that we do on our core values of professionalism, integrity, community service, leadership, teamwork and, most importantly, excellence in patient care. We live by these core values and we seek out those who believe that this is what's really important and, ultimately, why we exist as human beings. Beings that care for others like they would care for their own families and those that they love most," Wiersch said.

Notable individuals and local dignitaries involved in the Cetronia legacy were honored by Wiersch during his speech, including Wilmer McNabb, one of only two surviving members of the original 1955 crew.

Also recognized in Wiersch's opening remarks was Pat Early Ward, a Cetronia "save" and success story, who survived cardiac arrest because of the quick response of Cetronia paramedics.

"They saved my life," said Ward later in the evening. "I know I wouldn't be here if not for them. They are all just wonderful."

Other presenters and speakers were State Rep. Ryan E. Mackenzie (R-134th); Ellen Kern from the office of State Sen. Patrick M. Browne (R-16th); Keith Weinhold, Cetronia Board Chairperson; Jim Geiger, Lehigh Valley Health Network, and Lehigh County District Attorney Jim Martin, recipient of this year's Community Partner Award.

Kern presented Wiersch with a proclamation from Browne recognizing the organization for its many accomplishments. She also surprised and delighted attendees by singing a song she composed for Cetronia's 60th anniversary.

Martin was recipient of the 2015 Community Partner Award for his role in forging a partnership with several key county agencies and Cetronia Ambulance.

The $10-million, 68,000-square-foot building that Cetronia has called home since October 2014 at 4300 Broadway, South Whitehall Township is more than simply an ambulance station. It is a joint operations center with Lehigh County's Medico-Legal Forensics operations.

The dual-agency operations center is unlike anything in the state and will likely serve as a model for other municipalities.

The facility includes the first ballistics testing facility in Lehigh County. The state-of-the-art ballistics lab enables law enforcement agencies to potentially solve additional crimes much faster.

The coroner's office and county morgue has also been relocated into the new building.

"It's essential," said Martin in his address, "both to serving the county and law enforcement. They are all great partners and Cetronia has become a great partner. It's worked out great from the standpoint of the county. We are able to move cases and solve cases much more quickly. My appreciation to all the folks at Cetronia. It's a great partnership. It's a great building and I'm happy to have been just a little bit of a help."

Wiersch attributes Cetronia's success and longevity in the community over the past six decades to one main ingredient. "Really, for us it's about the people that make it happen. It's about people that just give a damn quite frankly," Wiersch said.

A trip that stays in the heart

I never worried much about pickpockets and crooks until I planned a trip to Italy.

A friend looked at the big purse I was planning to take with me and said if I carried that it would be like waving a sign that said: Rob me.

My daughter Maria said he was right and directed me to an Internet site that specialized in travel purses.

"Make sure you get one with steel cables in the straps or thieves will cut the strap and get away with your purse before you know it's gone," she said.

The travel site had tips for how to stay safe. It also had plenty of horror stories, including a video that showed how a motorcyclist could ride next to someone on the crowded streets then reach over and take a purse, leaving the victim to fall behind in the dust.

Another video showed how crooks could record our credit card information with a scanner that works from several feet away.

All that had me stressing about how I could keep my passport, credit cards and money safe.

But then my voice of sanity, better known as my husband, cautioned that worrying too much about all that would dampen my joy about the trip.

He was right. Going back to Italy was something I longed to do for more than a decade. I vowed to stay alert to my surroundings but not to let it detract from the joy of being in Italy.

After our plane landed I didn't have to worry about not feeling the joy. From the time the water taxi picked us up in Venice I was overcome with happiness. All I could think of was the phrase, "My cup runneth over."

My husband didn't expect Venice to be so special. But from the time he first saw it all he could say was OMG. The city surrounded by water worked its charm from first glance to last look.

But the hour that stands out forever was our gondola ride through the waters of Venice while being serenaded by an accordion player and an incredible tenor singing best-known arias.

I was so happy that unabashed tears of joy kept running down my cheeks. That gondola ride will live in my memory as one of the most splendid times of my life.

Every moment, every city and town and every sight in Italy was stunning for its beauty. But for me nothing could top our Vatican tour. I was there once before, but then I didn't have the luxury to sit and stare in awe at the Sistine Chapel and Michelangelo's "Pieta."

I'm not a "city girl" here at home and I wasn't one in Italy's major cities. It was the small towns of Tuscany that fascinated and charmed me.

As we walked through those towns, I kept marveling at how small the homes were compared to what we are used to here.

I kept peering through every open door I saw, intrigued with the small living space. What I liked was that even the most humble homes reflected beauty in well-chosen objects.

I didn't see a single home that was crammed with "doodads" as I might here at home. I couldn't help but contrast our cluttered lifestyles and imagined lack of space with what I saw in Italy.

Many of us here think we're poor, suffering souls if we don't have two bathrooms. Some of the rooms I saw in Italy had complete living areas smaller than our bathrooms. But the rooms oozed charm.

While here we have big kitchens with granite countertops and sleek appliances, I bet most of us don't do the cooking that goes on in Italy's pocket kitchens.

The last time I was in Italy 11 years ago, it had a profound effect on how I choose to live life. I liked how the small Italian homes didn't have much in the way of decorations, but what they did have was beautiful.

It truly made me stop any unnecessary acquiring of "things."

Italians may have small homes but they live large. They seem to live every so-called ordinary day with gusto. I related so much to that because it's something I try to do.

In every Tuscan town homes without space for a garden still sported beautiful flowers, either in containers or in clever outdoor wall hangings.

Flowers, even in small containers, add such beauty to a home. I appreciated the lesson that we don't need to have gardens to create that beauty. You can bet a trip to a nursery will be on my agenda as I try to create some of that beauty outside my own home.

My husband kept marveling at how slim the women were. They serve four-course meals, but for the most part, we didn't see fat women.

My husband pointed to groups of schoolchildren, commenting that there weren't any chubby kids.

We kept asking our Italian guides why that was, but they just laughed. A slender waitress in one restaurant carried on a conversation with me, claiming she stayed so thin without exercise. I wish someone would tell me how.

My trip to Italy is over, but it was not one of those trips you complete then forget.

It will live forever in my mind and my heart.

If I never get to go to Italy again, I will return time and again in my memories.

Breast cancer in men on increase

Last of three parts

Breast cancer strikes most often when men are in their sixties.

Male breast cancer? Men do have breast cells that can become cancerous. The disease is uncommon in men. It represents only 1 percent of all breast cancers. Because of its rarity, many men aren't aware it exists. And that's a problem.

For unknown reasons, the incidence of male breast cancer has been increasing. About 2,000 men in the United States are diagnosed with breast cancer annually.

Young boys and girls have a small amount of breast tissue made up of a few ducts. At puberty, female hormones in girls make breast ducts grow, milk glands form and fat increase. The male hormones in boys prevent further growth of breast tissue. Men's breast tissue contains ducts, but only a few if any lobules.

The most common symptom of male breast cancer is the same as it is for women: a lump.

Other signs include: skin dimpling, a new indentation of the nipple, redness or scaling of breast skin, a clear or bloody discharge from the nipple.

Some risk factors for male breast cancer are:

Age. The average age for a man diagnosed with breast cancer is 67.

Family. About 20 percent of men with breast cancer are related to someone with the disease.

Genes. About 7 percent of breast cancers in men are inherited.

Radiation. There's a higher risk to men who underwent chest radiation treatments when they were younger.

Klinefelter Syndrome. Men with this syndrome make lower levels of male hormones (androgens) and more female hormones. This can cause gynecomastia, benign breast enlargement. Men with this condition may be at greater risk of breast cancer. Many medicines used to treat ulcers, high blood pressure, and heart failure can cause gynecomastia, too.

Estrogen. The risk is small for men who take estrogen (the main female hormone). Estrogen drugs may be used to treat prostate cancer.

Liver disease. This can increase your risk of gynecomastia and breast cancer.

Obesity. Fat cells convert androgens into estrogen.

Alcohol. Drinking alcohol raises the odds that a man will develop breast cancer. The risk increases with the amount of alcohol consumed.

If a man has a family history of the disease, he should consult a doctor about regular testing. Diagnostic tests for men include a clinical breast exam, mammograms, ultrasound, biopsy and, if indicated, a nipple discharge exam.

Breast cancer treatment for men is similar to that given to women. Some men may need only surgery. Others will need surgery and radiation, chemotherapy or hormone therapy.

There isn't much tissue to a man's breast, so removing the cancer usually means excising most of the tissue. The procedures that are used on women to save breast tissue aren't practicable for men.

Most men with breast cancer require a modified radical mastectomy. In this procedure, a surgeon removes the entire breast and some underarm lymph nodes, but leaves chest muscles intact.

The ghost in the 'Ex Machina'

Alex Garland is a ground-breaking writer in the not always mutually exclusive cinema genres of science fiction and dystopian. He wrote the novel, "The Beach" (2000), starring Leonardo DiCaprio and directed by Danny Boyle. He wrote screenplays for the movies "28 Days Later" (2002) and "Sunshine" (2007), both directed by Boyle, and "Never Let Me Go" (2010) and "Dredd" (2012).

"Ex Machina" was written and directed by Garland. It's an auspicious theatrical feature-film directorial debut.

The film is a cinematic experience. You are plunged into a closed loop world of a billionaire artificial-intelligence researcher, Nathan (Oscar Isaac), who recruits a highly-astute computer programmer, Caleb (Domhnall Gleeson), to interact, observe and report on his latest robot, Ava (Alicia Vikander).

The setting is a secluded house. Inside, on opposite sides of floor-to-ceiling glass, a series of "Sessions," each introduced with a supertitle, is held. Caleb interviews Ava and they discuss their "feelings" and "thoughts."

The film's title is from a Latin phrase, Deus Ex Machina (God from the Machine), a Greek theatrical plot device whereby a god solves problems in a play.

To direct a film such as "Ex Machina" successfully, a director needs superb actors.

Gleeson ("Unbroken," "Calvary," "Frank," "Anna Karenina," "About Time," "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows" and a son of actor Brendan Gleeson) gives us a naive science enthusiast with a storehouse of knowledge so as to create a sympathetic character who is an oasis of calm, with whom the audience can identify.

If you had any doubt about Isaac ("A Most Violent Year," "Inside Llewyn Davis") being one of the most amazing up-and-coming actors, his cool yet trip-wired "mad" scientist portrayal in "Ex Machina" should erase any doubt.

Of course, if a robot is at the center of your movie plot, you had better build, or have, a better robot. Ava, the cool robot with the semi-see-through body, rivets your attention. Vikander ("Seventh Son," "Anna Karenina") presents a riveting performance of quiet exaltation. She's amazing.

In a supporting role as Nathan's housekeeper is Sonoya Mizuno in a stunning minimalist portrayal.

tion by Katrina Mackay ("28 Weeks Later") and cinematography by Rob Hardy ("Every Secret Thing") is sublime. The music score by Geoff Barrow ("Lord of War") and Ben Salisbury (TV's "Nature") at times is just a vibrating "thrum." It's so effective.

"Ex Machina" is "Frankenstein," or perhaps "The Bride of Frankenstein," for the 21st century. "Ex Machina" explores material not unlike "Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep?," the 1968 science-fiction novel by Philip K. Dick (basis for "Blade Runner").

And yet "Ex Machina" is something more, much more. It tackles artificial intelligence in an entertaining and highly-captivating manner.

If you were fascinated by the film, "Her" (2013), in which a robotic voice intrigued Joaquin Phoenix, "Ex Machina" is the total package. Don't miss it.

Business Showcase: Frites

In Belgium, they are referred to as "Pommes Frites." In the United States, they are simply a side of fries. Frites, the newest fast casual dining destination in the Lehigh Valley Mall, hopes to elevate the taste buds of local mall-goers to appreciate all-American fries with a European twist. Father and son duo, Richard and William Scott, have come up with a concept they hope to expand to other locations in the Lehigh Valley. The Lehigh Valley Mall location is the first for Frites. The Frites staff are, from left, Christie Dejesso, Raven Stola, Zeke Kulp, Mark Teseny, Jess Sine, Fay Younes, William and Richard Scott. Located just inside the mall and considered part of the "lifestyle center," the newly-opened restaurant's goal is for shoppers and diners to consider fries to be more than just a casual side dish. Frites offers stand-alone servings of fries as well as sandwiches and platters. It is one of the few places one can find Poutine, a Canadian favorite of French fries topped with cheese curds, bacon and gravy. Richard Scott gave up corporate success for a try at personal success. He asked his son William, a recent graduate of The Pennsylvania State University, if he would like to help run the new operation. Frites prides itself on using fresh ingredients. Many are locally-sourced. For example, the brisket used in the Frita sandwich is brought in from Quakertown. All potatoes are hand-cut and nothing is frozen. Another source of pride is the large selection of dipping sauces. Frites offers 17 choices. All are made on-site.

Fellowship Manor gets kudo in U.S. News nursing ranking

Fellowship Manor has received the highest possible overall rating of five stars U.S. News & World Reports Best Nursing Homes. This is the third year that Fellowship Manor has received the prestigious distinction. The ratings highlight the top nursing homes in each city and state nationwide.

Best Nursing Home draws on data from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services that assigns a rating of one to five stars in health inspections, level of nurse staffing and quality of care and gives each nursing home an overall star rating. U.S. News awarded the Best Nursing Home designation to homes that earned an overall rating of five stars.

"Fellowship Manors focus is on resident-centered care," said Donna Conley, NHA, Chief Operating Officer of Fellowship Community. "National recognition acknowledging our teams dedication to providing the best in healthcare to our residents is very rewarding for us all."

Fellowship Manor is continually accredited with a Gold Seal of Approval by The Joint Commission for quality care and outstanding patient safety. It has received recognition as a five-star rating from the Center for Medicare and Medicaid and the American College of Health Care Administrators Leadership Award for top performing long-term care organizations. Fellowship Manor was named one of Americas best nursing homes by WomenCertified for the past two years. "Its nice to be recognized for excellence," said Bob Zentz, President-CEO of Fellowship Community. "Our staff treats residents with respect. They value each person and their unique life experiences, providing them with individualized, quality care. At Fellowship Community, were all one big family offering compassionate care."

Fellowship Community in Whitehall was founded and is operated with the mission of enhancing physical, emotional and spiritual well-being at every stage of life.

PUBLIC NOTICE ZONING HEARING BOARD OF BETHLEHEM TOWNSHIP, NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA MAY 27, 2015

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE FOLLOWING APPELLANTS HAVE FILED AN APPEAL FOR A PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE ZONING HEARING BOARD OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHLEHEM, A HEARING TO BE HELD AT 6:30 PM ON WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 2015 AT THE TOWNSHIP MUNICIPAL BUILDING, 4225 EASTON AVENUE, BETHLEHEM, PA 18020. THE MEETING, AMONG OTHER ISSUES, CONCERNS THE FOLLOWING ZONING APPEALS:

Appeal # 03-2015 Shop-Rite of Hunterdon County, and Thomas J. Gough appearing on behalf of the corporate owner, request a variance from Section 275-164D of the Bethlehem Township Codified Zoning Ordinance, as amended, regarding real estate located on Freemansburg Avenue, Bethlehem Township, Pennsylvania as found in near proximity to the northwest corner of the intersection of Freemansburg Avenue and Route 33 (i.e. the site is located on the north side of Freemansburg Avenue across from the St. Luke's Hospital Anderson Campus) upon which site will be constructed a Shop-Rite Supermarket, an anchor tenant at Madison Farms. The Applicant seeks to install a total of 7 signs upon three walls of the supermarket in order to identify and promote specific goods and services available therein. A singular main entrance sign has already been approved at 200 square feet. The Zoning Code only permits two wall signs maintaining a total sign area not to exceed 200 square feet. Therefore a variance is sought to place as many as 7 additional signs maintaining a total area of 550.20 square feet. The Shop-Rite supermarket property is located within the Light Industrial (Phased) Zoning District with a Mixed-Use Overlay District (L(P)/M-UOD). The property maintains Northampton County Tax Parcel Identification number N8 1 1-B 5 0205.

All interested parties are invited to attend and be heard.
