After her confirmation, new Chief of Police Michelle Kott said a few words and received a round of applause:

“Mister Mayor and City Council, thank you so much for this great honor. I’m so humbled to have this opportunity to serve the community and the men and women of the Bethlehem Police Department. I will not let you down. I know it is a challenging time right now, as Councilman Colon said, but through challenge comes real change. And I’m ready to get started. Thank you so much for all your support, and I look forward to working with all of you. Thank you.”
