

Gadfly marks his second anniversary

The Bethlehem Gadfly Uncategorized September 16, 2020

Gadfly marks his second-year anniversary today and the 2, 275th post.

Gadfly tips his hat to his thoughtful followers.

It's a Gadfly mission to help you be the best voter you can be, and he looks forward to the next election.

This is a good time to say again that Gadfly plans to end his run after the 2021 election.

But he hopes that someone will take over.

Every community needs a Gadfly.

The blog is consciously set up “impersonally” rather than in my name so that a change-over would be seamless.

Gadfly would be interested in receiving inquiries from people interested in donning the wings.

Ed