S F 1/C ALEX HORVATH

S 1/C WILLIAM HORVATH

A chance meeting in the South Pacific was the good luck recently of S 1-c Alex Horvath, of the Seabees(and S 1-c William Horvath, of the navy, sons of Mrs. Julia Horvath, 738 Easton Road, Hellertown. It had been more than two years since they had seen each other when they happened to meet in Hawaii.

Alex has been engaged in building airships and other operations over a two year period in the Pacific area. He had his preliminary training at Camp Peary, Va.

William received his basic training at Sampson, N. Y., and later attended school for several months at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., before being assigned to a battleship. He has been in action at Iwo Jima and other battle fronts. After the engagement at Okinawa he was sent to Hawaii.

Both had been employed by the Bethlehem Steel Company before entering the services.
