Bethlehemites Learn About Rifles

GREENSBORO, N. C.—They will man the planes in the air and service them on the ground. But above all, they must learn to be soldiers first, learn to protect air fields and Air Force depots when they go overseas. Four trainees from Bethlehem, Pa., receive instruction on how to shoot a rifle from a staff sergeant, also from Bethlehem, at the Army Air Forces Eastern Technical Training Command's huge Basic Training Center No. 10. Kneeling, left to right: Staff Sergeant Eugene McGorry, 634 West Broad Street; Pvts. Ted Gotebesky, 814 Wood Street; and William Sterner, 51 East Garrison Street; back: Pvts. Merritt Fogel, 62 West Union Street, and John Ford, 952 ridge Street.
