

Fritchmen, George

Advanced

His newly acquired coxswain's insignia proudly displayed on his uniform, George Fritchmen, U.S. Navy, is home on his first furlough in two years after serving in the South Pacific war theatre for most of that time. He is staying with his sister, Mrs. Harry Reinhart, 26 East North Street, Bethlehem, and his family hopes to see much of him while he is here. Fritchman entered the Navy September 5, 1941 and trained at Newport, R. I. He was assigned to the Atlantic Fleet, but after the U. S. entered the war was sent to the Pacific coast.

October 1, 1943