

Fraivillig, Leo

Captain Fraivillig
Stationed In England

Captain Leo Fraivillig, Army of the United States, former member of the staff of the city engineering department, has arrived safely in England, V-mail letters received by Mrs. Fraivillig this week state. Mrs. Fraivillig said that neither letter contains any indication of where Captain Fraivillig may be in England, but it is evident that he is continuing his studies toward the day when the Army will take over the government of occupied countries and trained specialists will accompany the troops.

February 10, 1944