T/4 Joseph M. Trilli In Task Force Williwaw

T/4 Joseph M. Trilli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Trilli, 508 Hayes St., is a member of Task Force Williwaw, which from Oct. 1, 1946 to March 30, 1947, will test many types of equipment including tanks, self-propelled guns, snow vehicles, new rations, kitchens, clothing and other AGF equipment under extreme wet-cold conditions that exist at Adak, Alaska, in the Aleutians.

The Williwaw Task Force, named for the freakish storms that develop in the Aleutian area, assembled at Fort Ord, Cal., for preliminary training and to procure the necessary equipment for the operation. Now located at Adak, having arrived Sept. 21 aboard the "Claymont Victory", Task Force Williwaw has been unloading and organizing its new base for tactical and test operations.

T/4 Trilli is a graduate of Bethlehem High School and was formerly employed by the Metallurgical Department of Lehigh University. A classification specialist, he has served a year and ten months in the Army. OCT 12 1946
