

Scelsi, Michael N.

Injured Marine
Now At Muhlenberg 20 1943

Captain Michael N. Scelsi, who fought the Japs on Guadalcanal until he was invalided home with malaria, came on board at Muhlenberg Monday to take command of the Marine detachment that is a part of the Navy V-12 training unit assigned to the campus.

The Marine Corps officer, a graduate of Louisiana State University with the Class of 1939 and a former Endicott, N. Y., newspaperman, succeeds First Lieutenant Ralph Dawson, who has been at the station since the Navy training program was initiated last July. Lieutenant Dawson is awaiting his orders to a new post.

October 20, 1943