

Dunn, Bertram W.

Local G-I, After African Service,
Now A Seaman

25 1945

After seeing action as an army private in the North African campaign, Bertram W. Dunn, 32, of this city, decided to contribute further to the war effort by accepting assignment aboard a merchant vessel at the offices of the recruitment and manning organization, War Shipping Administration, 37 Broadway, New York City.

Dunn was employed in the shipping industry before serving in the Army. He will ship as an ordinary seaman on a merchant vessel.
