What is the most pressing issue facing Pennsylvania?

The most pressing issue facing our state is the unfunded $50 billion pension debt. This crisis will grow to a cost that will double the state budget in a few short years and will cost each Pennsylvania household over $13,000. Pension costs have skyrocketed and forced tough budget deficits. Pension obligations are taking more than $.60 of every new revenue dollar, affecting the resources we have

What is the most pressing issue facing Pennsylvania?

As governor, creating jobs will be my number one priority. Under Governor Corbett, Pennsylvania has fallen from ninth to 50th in job creation in the nation. More jobs means that we have a stronger, fairer Pennsylvania. I know this because I built a company in Pennsylvania and I have created hundreds of jobs. Creating jobs starts with building a strong workforce. That is why I want a

A mixture of grief and joy

By RUTH GRADY
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The Rt. Rev. Chris Giesler, pastor of Edgeboro Moravian Church, was very much looking forward to sharing the 100th anniversary banquet held on Oct. 18 at the East Hills Moravian Church. In what should have been a joyful ending to the culmination of the one-year celebration, there was sorrow amid the milestone. Unfortunately Giesler was unable to attend because his sister, who lives in North Carolina, passed away.

Tina Giesler and former pastor the Rev. William Matz, who filled in for Pastor Chris Giesler, cut the cake. More photos appear on page A4.

In this difficult time with dealing with the loss of his sister, Pastor Giesler's wife Tina, whose parents live in Pennsylvania, also lost her father the same day, which was supposed to be her time of celebration, because it was her birthday.

Notwithstanding, Tina Giesler was able to join the celebration along with her mother, Ruth Schoeller. The church members and community pulled together to share their grief and all thoughts and prayers went out to them.

Council moves to fill seat

By DAWN NIXON
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Bethlehem City Council will appoint a replacement for resigning council member Karen Dolan at its Nov. 5 meeting. The timeline for securing Dolan's replacement was discussed Oct. 21. Council agreed to speed up the process, requiring prospective candidates to submit their cover letters, resumes and answers to council questions to the city clerk by Oct. 24.

The timeline will allow the candidates information to be submitted to current council members by Oct. 31.

On Oct. 14, Dolan sent a letter of resignation effective Nov. 1 after a grand jury found that she used her position on council to influence decisionmaking by the city on matters relating to the nonprofit Fox Environmental Center, which she founded.

Council President J. William Reynolds offered two timeline options for replacing Dolan: "Option A," with the Oct. 24 deadline for candidates' submission of application materials and "Option B," with a candidates submission

How well do you think medical and governmental officials are handling the Ebola issue in the United States?

"This is too new and it's too soon to make a judgment on how they are doing."

for our schools, economic development and infrastructure and is the driving reason for rising property taxes. The Commonwealth must make the payments we are required to make, as my administration has done, but long-term reform is necessary to ensuring sustainability of the fund for those who have paid in, and for future state employees.

The cornerstone of my first proposal was a 401(k) for all new state employees, and a transition for current employees that preserved the benefits they had already accrued through the defined-benefit system we have today. After working with the legislature, we are close to an agreement on enrolling new employees in this type of plan.

Why should you continue as the Penn- sylvania governor?

I have made and kept my promises to Pennsylvanians to make the tough decisions necessary to restore fiscal responsibility in Harrisburg, increase investments in our public schools, grow our economy and put Pennsylvanians back to work. It wasn't always easy, and tougher decisions still lie ahead, but I left the rhetoric behind and did what I said I was going to do, regardless of the political consequences or benefits. We have seen unemployment fall from 8.1 to 5.7 percent and nearly 180,000 new private sector jobs created. We're attracting new industries and growing our economy by investing in transportation, cheaper energy and a stronger, healthier workforce.

5 percent severance tax that will help fund our schools. We need good paying jobs with competitive wages and benefits. Right now, middle class wages are stagnant and that's unacceptable. My company pays solid wages and provides good benefits, and we share 20 to 30 percent of our profits with our workers. We need to make sure we put the middle class first and build sectors that create good jobs. I have developed a manufacturing plan that incentivizes new jobs, innovation and prepares our workforce for the 21st century. I know manufacturing has a future in America and with the right leadership here in Pennsylvania and that can lead job growth in Pennsylvania.

Why should you replace Governor Tom

Corbett as the Penn- sylvania Governor? Pennsylvania needs a different kind of leader - someone who will bring a fresh start to Harrisburg, change the way we've been doing things - and I believe I am that leader. I will use my experience in business and government to create jobs, invest in education and build a stronger Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania is faced with big problems and we can't keep thinking career politicians can solve them. I've built a business and created hundreds of jobs right here Pennsylvania. We need to create jobs, make oil and gas companies pay their fair share, invest in our schools and get Pennsylvania's economy back on track. It's time to get Pennsylvania moving forward again.

tion deadline of Oct. 27. Council member Michael Recchiuti voiced his support for Option A. "Option A is fast," he said. "It will allow for whoever fills the seat to participate in the budget meeting process."

Dolan's replacement will serve from Nov. 5, 2014, to Jan. 4, 2016. When questioned as to whether Dolan's replacement will have an unfair advantage should they choose to run again for council in the May primary, Reynolds said the voters can make that choice on election day.

"I will leave that up to the voters," he said. "If someone wants to run for re-election, they can choose to, but it is something I will consider (when reviewing their application materials)."

In other business, Bethlehem Police Chief Mark DiLuzio addressed council regarding what happens to seized drug forfeiture money.

"We don't retain the money," DiLuzio said. "It goes to the federal government, the state or the county. A certain percentage goes back into the community, that's up to the district attorney. Last year some money went to the Boys and Girls Club."

Also at the meeting, the refinancing of the city's pension bonds was approved for final passage.

The recent bond sale resulted in increased savings for the city.

"It is very encouraging for us," said city business administrator David Brong. "We are able to achieve more with the improved rates."

Ambassadors begin service

SOUTHSIDE

By DANA GRUBB
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Mayor Robert Donchez officially kicked off the Community Ambassadors Program Oct. 8 in the Southside business district. Eight ambassadors, working two daily shifts from Monday through Saturday and a single Sunday shift, will pick up litter, empty litter receptacles, remove graffiti, perform tree and flower maintenance, remove weeds, provide pedestrian security, and offer hospitality and parking assistance. They underwent a several day training period prior to start-up, and two ambassadors are also certified in CPR.

Ambassadors will operate in either a clean team or safety team format using bicycles or walking predetermined routes. Initially they will perform a block-by-block blitz. The targeted area primarily encompasses the Third and Fourth street corridors between Taylor Street and Broadhead Avenue.

The program is being administered by Block by Block, a Louisville, Ky., based firm currently overseeing similar programs in more than 70 cities across the United States.

Lehigh University, BEDCO, the Bethlehem Redevelopment Authority, the Stonehouse Group and the Bethlehem Parking Authority are providing funding and in-kind support for the program. Lehigh University's $200,000 annual commitment for three years comprises the single largest contribution. Businesses and individuals are encouraged to become involved and may do so by going to the project website at www.southsidebethlehem.org.

As members of the Community Ambassadors Program listen, Mayor Robert Donchez thanks the community partners who put the program together and are providing funding or in-kind support for it. Donchez outlined the ambassadors' responsibilities and said their efforts "will encourage economic and community development within South Bethlehem's commercial district."

Linda Janson makes a litter receptacle shine as part of the initiative. Janson and her husband John, also an ambassador, reside in Palmer Township.

Community Ambassador Richard Ward from Bethlehem Township.

Fifth Street Capital Partners James Byszewski and Louis Intile announce they will be supporting the Ambassadors Program with a financial commitment.

15th District

Dent

Rep. Charlie Dent Republican

By DEBRA PALMIERI
dpalmieri@tntonline.com

Why should you be re-elected to office?

Congressman Charlie Dent has served as U.S. Congressman in the 15th District since 2005. He was state senator in the 16th Senatorial District from 1999-2005 and state representative for the 132nd Legislative District from 1991-98.

Dent, who spoke with The Press Oct. 17, said the most pressing issue facing residents in the 15th Congressional District, in the state and in the country is jobs.

"We need a stronger economy and job creation," Dent said. "We need to create more family sustaining jobs."

Dent also discussed his vote for the 2014 Farm Bill and its effect on those in need.

"The Farm Bill increased funding to the Emergency Food Assistance Program," Dent said. "Spending for food stamps more than doubled since [President Barack] Obama took office. In 2008 it was $35 billion. Now it is $70 billion. The Farm Bill cut $9 billion from food stamps over a 10-year period by a bi-partisan vote.

Dent said his priority is growing the economy.

"One way is to reinstate 40 hours as a full-time work week," Dent said. "Obama's health care law changed full time to 30 hours or more."

"We need to redefine full time as 40 hours. We need to change ObamaCare to do that."

"We have the votes in the House-- an absolute solid majority. The Senate does nothing."

The Congressman discussed jobs being sent overseas.

He also mentioned the Chinese manufacturer of plastic cutlery which recently moved into Upper Macungie Township.

"American manufacturing is in a very good position," Dent said. "There are low energy costs with natural gas. Almost every industrial operation uses natural gas for its operations. There is a great deal of potential for additional manufacturing in the U.S."

Why should you be elected to office?

Farmer, developer and owner of Rising Son Farms Inc. Dennis J. Atiyeh of North Whitehall Township has waged a write-in campaign challenging Congressman Charlie Dent for his seat in the 15th Congressional District.

Atiyeh spoke with The

ELECTION HIGHLIGHTS

Atiyeh

Press Oct. 16.

He said the main thrust of his campaign is to have attorneys pay for their use of the courts.

"In a time when everyone is paying so many taxes, the tax burden has fallen on the citizens," Atiyeh said. "Attorneys, who go to court, benefit without paying any costs. The average citizen pays a fuel tax, I believe attorneys should have to pay to use the courts."

Atiyeh also said jurors should be paid more for their services.

"If attorneys are making billions, is it fair for taxpayers to pay for it and for jurors to be there for free?"

Atiyeh said his campaign slogan is "Every vote is a victory."

"Every single person who writes me in sends a message to the powers that be in Washington, D.C., that the tax burden has to be lower."

The candidate says as a farmer, he helps "those in need" by donating some of his vegetables and fruit to several food banks, including City Limits Assembly and Everlasting Life Ministries, both in Allentown.

He said farmers in Northampton, Berks and Lehigh counties also donate food with him.

"I bring everything from vegetables and potatoes to apples," Atiyeh said. "The real reason I decided to run against Dent is his cuts to the food bank in the Farm Bill. Dent bailed out the banks and cut aid to food banks."

Atiyeh also spoke about jobs.

"NAFTA is a miserable failure by both the Democrats and the Republicans," Atiyeh said. "We have got to bring manufacturing back to America."

for how to get tax relief, especially to seniors. If it were up to me, we'd take the gaming money [from the Sands Casino], put it in one fund and use it as property tax relief. [But] being in the minority -- with a Republican house, governor and senate, it's pretty tough to get things passed. Everybody needs to help. Forget 'I' -- I don't think any one person can get anything done without a 'we.' All I want to do is try to be bipartisan and try to get things done."

"In my going door to door throughout West

Bethlehem, Hanover and Fountain Hill, I've found the most pressing issue remains removing school property taxes from property entirely. In my discussions with the Republican leadership, the equivalent to House Bill 76 may well pass in the next legislative session, if enough members push for the legislation. Given this onerous form of taxation with its ever increasing cost and that effect on those with a fixed income, we need more than just a promised vote, but someone who will relentlessly push for its passage.

FUNNY MONEY
Workshop on Nov. 12

There have been news reports of small businesses and farmers markets being hit with counterfeit money.

Penn State Cooperative Extension will host a workshop called "Penny Wise: How to Identify Counterfeit Money" 6 p.m. Nov. 12 at the Lehigh County Agricultural Center, 4184 Dorney Park Road, South Whitehall.

Retired banker and Master Gardener Linc Coffin will share information he used to train bank tellers on how to easily recognize counterfeit bills.

Don't lose your hard earned money because of a counterfeit bill.

Coffin will discuss:

- There is no paper in U.S. paper money;
  - Why the threads are important;
  - Who is on what bill and why you need to know;
  - The major difference between good counterfeits and real currency;
  - How to use the newest anti-counterfeit features in U.S. currency.
- Learning to identify counterfeit currency is like growing great vegetables – a little knowledge and experience produces great tasting results and saves you a few dollars.

There is no fee to attend this event; however, pre-registration is required.

Qualifications Of A Savior

In his book, "A Savior Worth Having," E.V. Hill listed the qualifications of a savior stating, "I have to have someone who was a part of the beginning, in fact, who was the beginning! One by whom everything that was made was made and without whom nothing was made. One who was not a graduate of seminary, not a graduate of philosophy, not a follower of some teacher... somebody who is acquainted with all the generations and with all of time. I need somebody who can deal with all the aspects of living and learning... somebody who knows how to deal with the broken-hearted. I need... someone who knows how to instruct, who's not guessing and who doesn't have to read a book himself, for he himself is the book... I don't need somebody who takes my problems and rushes to the library for answers. I need somebody who is the library! I need a savior who will be everlasting... somebody who can walk with me through the valley of the shadow of death!"

Only Jesus Christ qualifies as the Savior! "All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made" (John 1:3). He said, "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last" (Revelation 22:13). "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6). "I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

John the Baptist introduced Jesus as The Only Savior and Sacrifice provided for all people. "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Jesus said, "I am the resurrection" (John 11:25) and then proved it by raising Lazarus from the dead. As Jesus foretold, He was crucified and was resurrected three days later, indisputably proving the veracity of all His claims! The Apostle Peter declared Jesus to be the Only Savior! "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). Will you accept Jesus now as your Savior?

There isn't much more that Jason Roeder could think of when talking about this weekend's rivalry tilt against Liberty. The Freedom head coach knows what's at stake for both teams, but isn't worried about what a loss could do for his district seeding or how a victory by Liberty could punch them into the 4A postseason.

For Roeder, it's all about beating Liberty and letting everything else fall into place.

"To be honest, we aren't really thinking about all the other stuff that comes with this game," he said. "We just want to prepare for this final game because we know how important it is to everyone in our community. It wouldn't matter what the records are or what's at stake. All that matters is getting a win on Saturday."

Kickoff is scheduled for 2pm Saturday afternoon at Frank Banko Field in a contest that will help and hurt both of the teams involved.

A Freedom victory

could help their seed heading into next week's sub-regional playoffs, while a loss could drop them to as low as seventh in the seedings. A Liberty win, paired with a Pleasant Valley loss, should push the Hurricanes into the subregional postseason as well.

The Patriots (7-2) have dropped two straight games since losing quarterback Joe Young to a season-ending hip injury in their week seven win over Whitehall, as Easton (9-0) got the best of Freedom last week during Football on Page A11.

For the second time in two weeks, Liberty High School sophomore, Raisa Kochmaruk, surprised competitors and fans, winning the District XI Class AAA Girls Cross Country Championships last Thursday at the Bethlehem Municipal Golf Course.

"I feel good, good, really happy," said Kochmaruk. "Last week, I proved to myself I could do it. It was definitely a motivator."

The week before,

Kochmaruk won the East Penn Conference Championship, placing first in 19:26. Her district time was 19:11.70.

"It was a different dynamic with different people in this race. The five people at the top battled the entire way. I knew it was going to be more competitive," Kochmaruk said.

That top five included Freedom High School senior, Shaina Palmer, who had a difficult race in the conference meet, coming back to place third in districts.

"I was relieved," said Palmer. "No repeat of last week. No repeat of last week."

Palmer's district time was 19:19.90, well under her conference time.

"I went back to what's my style. I sat back a lot more. Even though I wanted to move up, I tried to control myself. At the two-mile mark, I wanted to make a move, but I sat back a little longer. Coming off the turn, I picked up the pace," Palmer said.

Also picking up the pace were Kochmaruk and Pocono Mountain East's Rachel Davalos, who took second place in 19:19.50.

Three Liberty Hurricanes and two Freedom Patriots will compete at the PIAA State Boys Class AAA Cross Country Championships on Saturday in Hershey after qualifying at the District XI Cross Country Championships last week at the Bethlehem Municipal Golf Course.

Freedom senior, Dan Quigley, placed third at districts, behind Easton's Colin Abert and Kevin Lapsansky, with a time of 16:21.30.

"I feel good. My goal was second, but I still feel good about my race," Quigley said. "I really wanted a nice, good start. The wind was a real killer at the finish."

Freedom junior, Will Alpaugh, placed fifth in 16:39.30.

"This week was a much better race overall. I stayed with Michael Geiger from Parkland and started to pass him around the mile mark. Then I stayed with Alex Fitch, and then I passed him. I saw the Pleasant Valley kid [Seth Slavin] at the end, starting to slow down, and I passed him," Alpaugh said.

Overall, Freedom's boys team placed fifth out of 17 teams with 126 points.

Freedom cross country coach Bob Thear said, "Both ran very well. I wish Dan would have sat back a little more. Last week, his calf was bothering, but he felt better today. Will ran a great race. He's peaking right now."

Liberty senior, Alex Fitch, placed seventh with a time of 16:58.50.

"Last week [at the conference meet], whenever they'd pull away, I'd do a pick-up and catch them. This week, it just didn't pan out. I kept trying to pick it up. It's like, you see those kids you pass, but now they pass you. I had a [bad] race after doing so good last week," Fitch said.

Hurricane teammate, Will Masemore, placed 13th in 17:23.00.

"I'm really happy. My goal was to make it to states, and Jonah is really happy, and Raisa [Kochmaruk, who placed Freedom's Dan Quigley took third overall in the district boys race and will advance to states.

Hawks set to battle with Central Cath.

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic breezed their way through the opening round of the District 11 2A playoffs last week, sweeping Pine Grove in three games (25-7, 25-16, 25-16), but things got significantly harder during Tuesday's semifinal round.

Becahi (17-2), the top seed in the 2A bracket, took on fourth-seeded Central Catholic (11-7) at Saucon Valley. The results of that contest were past press deadlines, but both schools knew they were going to be in a fight.

"You're going to have two very fired up squads, that's for sure," said Becahi head coach Paul Abi-Daher following last week's win over Pine Grove. "It's really going to come down to who makes the least amount of errors and who can play the best defense."

Becahi has knocked off the Vikings twice this season, the first time coming in four games and the latter in five.

The Hawks have also won five out of the last six meetings between both schools, as they hope to add to that mark with a win on Tuesday night.

Abi-Daher is looking to win the programs third straight district title and knows that this may be the toughest task ahead his team will have in districts.

"The last time we played them [Central] we could not adjust to their short serves," he said. "We've been working on that as of late, but whoever can get the most digs and commit the least amount of errors is probably going to win."

Second-seeded Blue Mountain takes on third-seeded Notre Dame Green Pond in the other semifinal.

Finals are slated for Thursday night at Whitehall High School.

In 3A action, Liberty (12-6) fell to Nazareth last week in a three-game sweep (10-25, 10-25, 25-27) to end their season in the first round of districts. The Hurricanes finished the year at 12-7 overall.

Pates fall to Emmaus

By Christa Eaton
Special to the Press

It had been a little over a decade since the Freedom girls' soccer team has made districts.

That streak ended when the Pates finished their season at 10-8 this year. The girls had to wait for the EPC conference tournament to finish before they could find out who they would play in the first round of districts.

The Patriots learned that they would face Emmaus in their first game. In their previous meeting, the Pates lost to the Hornets 3-0.

At the start of the game, the Patriots earned a free kick around the half line. Senior defender Taryn Donnelly sent in the kick where the ball became loose and sophomore Giselle Sanchez scored the first goal of the game.

With less than ten minutes in the half, the game was delayed due to a thunderstorm. After waiting 50 minutes for the storm to pass, the game resumed.

But, Shortly into the second half, Emmaus scored to tie it at 1-1. And then with less than two minutes left in the game, the Hornets scored another to secure their move to the next round.

Even though the Patriots ended their season on a rough note, they still got to reach their goal of qualifying for districts.

Heading into next season, the Patriots will have a strong junior class but they will lose a group of seniors that started for the Pates this year.

Future bright for LHS field hockey

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

It may not be shocking that Liberty's field hockey season came to an end last week at Whitehall, as the Zephyrs used a hat-trick from Cara Bonshak to knock Liberty out of the postseason following a 4-0 victory.

But for Hurricane boss Mary Kate Omdahl, there is plenty of promise in the tank heading into next year.

Liberty loses nine seniors to graduation, three of which found themselves playing major minutes for the team this year. That leaves a sizable returning group coming back next season with the hopes of improving this year's 8-11 overall record.

"Eight starters return next year, three of which were freshmen that started varsity for almost the entire season," said Omdahl in reference to freshmen Eleni Prodes, Lucy Kitch-Peck and Olivia Sahaydak. "I will also be returning Jalen Wilcher (backfield), Charlynet Colon (forward), Anissa Abboud (forward) and goalie, Sophie Kitch-Peck. Because of our youth I think they bring a lot of enthusiasm to the table and are eager to learn and do what it takes to grow the team. I'm excited to move forward with this group and looking forward to seeing the talent coming in from the middle schools."

Finishing 8-8 in East Penn Conference play helped qualify Liberty for the postseason, which will certainly help speed up the maturation process for this young 'Canes team heading into next season.

"We talked a lot toward the end of the season about the improvements and changes that we made," Omdahl said. "We discussed the importance of beginning next season at this level and to continue to grow from there and not start from square one again. To do this, it is going to take dedication to staying fit and improving skills in the offseason. I think in a time when our kids are being pulled in a million different directions, this is tough. Most of my kids are involved in multiple activities at school in addition to being top students, so it takes good time management. It is a balancing act."

One that Omdahl hopes can balance in her favor.

After a 4-0 demolition of the Easton Red Rovers, the Liberty Hurricanes fell to Emmaus, 3-0, in the quarterfinal round of the District XI Boys Soccer Tournament.

Liberty coach Jason Horvath said, "We showed a lot of growth this year, but maybe the growth didn't show today. Maybe we didn't put the work in that allowed us to beat Easton."

Last Wednesday at Bethlehem Area School District Stadium, the Hurricanes struck early against Easton when Trevor Koski scored on an assist by Talha Netherlin.

In the second half, Sammy Aviles scored on an assist by Koski. Later, Xander Kang and Aviles had back-to-back goals, scoring within two minutes of each other.

Last Friday at Emmaus, the Hornets led 1-0 at halftime after a goal by Parker Landis.

Horvath said, "[At halftime] we talked about making a better effort to get to the 50-50 balls."

Two more goals by the Hornets, one by Kacper

Grycel and one by John Fritz, sealed the deal.

"We needed to play well today. This was not our best game of the year," said Horvath.

The Hurricanes finished the season with an overall record of 14-9.

first in the girls Class AAA race). It's been a successful year for us," Masemore said.

Throughout the first mile, Masemore hung back a little, hoping to save energy.

"After the hills, I used the time to catch up and pass if I could," he said.

Liberty cross country coach Mark Will-Weber told his team to try and hang with anybody in red, such as Easton and Parkland, and to use them to help pull the Hurricanes along.

"I was with a kid from Bangor [also in red] for as long as I could. I kicked as much as I could. Once the [last] hill crested, I was slowing down, but I didn't let everyone pass me," said Masemore.

Finishing right behind Masemore in 14th place was Jonah George with a time of 17:25.10.

"Last year, making states wasn't really an option for me, but this year I ran a great race. I made sure to stay with the top 25 and still worked my way up. I knew it would still be a struggle. I'm pretty happy. I was really, really hoping I'd make it, and now I'm here," George said.

As a team, the Hurricanes placed third out of 17 teams with 98 points.

In the Class AA race, Bethlehem Catholic senior, Andrew Shaffer, also won a trip to states after placing 10th in districts with a time of 17:45.20.

Overall, the Hawks placed 12th out of 17 teams with 254 points.

Kochmaruk said, "It was the most painful finish, physically. I was kind of just praying I had enough."

Out of 16 teams, the Patriots placed 6th with 174 points, and the Hurricanes were 11th with 261 points.

Freedom coach Bob Thear said, "Shaina definitely bounced back from last week. She ran a great race, and Olivia Salerno ran fantastic today."

Salerno placed 15th in 20:21.30.

In the Class AA race, Bethlehem Catholic's Kassi Yocco placed 7th in 20:09.30.

"The hills were good. It's more the back golf course that gets me. I tried to have more positive thoughts," said Yocco. "The last mile got me because I was in fourth. I'm just excited I get to go to states."

Becahi's Kassi Yocco, left, and Rowan Pepe, right, will also make the trip to states.

Joining Yocco at the PIAA State Cross Country Championships on Saturday in Hershey will be teammate, Rowan Pepe, who placed 12th in 20:25.50, as well as Kochmaruk and Palmer. As a team, the Hawks had 131 points, placing 4th out of 15 teams.

BC welcomes tough challenge vs. Central

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Joe Henrich is looking for a bounce back week of football for Bethlehem Catholic after experiencing their first defeat of the season two weeks ago against Stroudsburg and that test will come Friday night when the Golden Hawks travel to J. Birney Crum Stadium when they take on Central Catholic.

Becahi (9-1) defeated Allen 56-12 last week, scoring all their points in the first half during a contest that was from ideal for Henrich and company.

Despite Central's 2-7 record on the season, Henrich knows this week will be a much better test for his team as they look to lock up the top seed in the District 11 3A playoff race.

"It certainly was tough to gauge how we responded after the Stroudsburg game playing Allen," Henrich said. "That's a difficult situation over there [Allen] and it wasn't the type of game that can show what we learned from our loss. This week, it'll be totally different and I told the kids to not underestimate because of their record. Central's played some tough games and just haven't been able to come out on top of some of them. It's a great challenge for us heading into the playoffs."

Six different Hawks scored in last week's lopsided result, as Damian Diaz led Becahi with three rushing scores. Elijah Fineran also hauled in one of (QB) Julian Spigner's two touchdown throws on the day, as well taking back a 29-yard interception return for a score in the first quarter.

Things won't come so easy this week against Central, who took Liberty to the wire during a 35-28 defeat last week.

Quarterback Mason Kholi is one of the toughest players in the East Penn Conference under center and showed his resilience last week, as he threw for 243 yards and three TD's in the loss to the Hurricanes.

"They're able to get some big plays on offense going because of him," Henrich said in reference to Kholi. "They hang in there on defense too, but have had some breakdowns that have cost them, but we're excited for this game, as it's going to be a challenge for us. We need to play a tough, physical game for 48 minutes before we get to the postseason."

In other Becahi football news, wide receiver Freddie Simmons verbally committed to Rutgers last week, which was the school that first sought his services at the beginning of the recruiting process.

Henrich knows a thing or two about seeing Division-I wide receivers move on to college, as he coached former Emmaus and current West Virginia wideout Kevin White for four years before coaching at Becahi.

"Those two players are complete opposites," said Henrich when asked about any similarities between White and Simmons. "Kevin was skinny and small as a sophomore and really became a late bloomer. Now look at him.

"I think it's a great opportunity for Freddie to go play against the best competition. As an athlete, you want to be pushed by the best players out there and he's going to be given that chance."

ing a 47-27 victory.

However, the Patriots could have gotten a glimpse of what life after Joe Young could become, as quarterback Jonah Gundrum has been gaining grasp of the offense.

Gundrum was an efficient 11-of-22 for 155 yards and three touchdowns in the air last week, as well as tossing a fourth-quarter interception. He also ran for 79 yards and two scores to give Roeder confidence about the transition the team had to make following Young's injury.

That should pay dividends moving forward, as the Patriots look to avenge last year's 25-7 defeat to the Hurricanes.

"Last week was the first time Jonah had a full week of practice under center, so it helped," said Roeder. "Now, he's going to have another week under his belt and we hope it helps him even more."

Liberty (5-4) kept their playoff hopes alive with a 35-28 win over Central Catholic at home last week, as running back Ryan Lawrence rushed for 257 yards and two touchdowns to help propel the Canes to victory. Head coach John Truby knew it was an important win for his team heading into a monumental weekend clash in the coming days.

"I don't know how much bigger you can get than Liberty-Freedom, especially with what it means for us having a chance to get into districts," Truby said. "We just need to have a good week of practice and be ready for them because Freedom is a good team."

"It's huge for us and it's huge for them too. We both want to beat each other and it should be a great game."

D-11 playoffs clearer

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Most of the playoff spots for the District 11 football postseason have been clinched, but the pecking order for teams heading into the final week are still up in the air.

District 11 officials Bob Hartman and Jason Zimmerman went over the scenarios again Monday afternoon and we'll start off with the 4A scene.

The current order of teams is listed as: Easton (1), Stroudsburg (2), Delaware Valley (3), Whitehall (4), Freedom (5), Parkland (6), Wyoming Valley West (7) and Pleasant Valley (8).

The top seven teams have already clinched subregional playoff berths, but Pleasant Valley (8), Liberty (10) and Emmaus (11) are all still in play for the eighth and final spot. Scranton, which is listed ninth currently in the power points, is eliminated from subregional contention.

The scenario for Pleasant Valley is the simplest, as the Bears need to beat Stroudsburg to secure a berth. A PV loss, as well as losses by Liberty and Emmaus also keeps the Bears in, but those are big ifs.

A Pleasant Valley loss, coupled with a Liberty victory over Freedom Saturday would probably push the Hurricanes into the tournament, despite a potential victory by Emmaus.

The Green Hornets need the most outside help in any scenario, as they need Pleasant Valley and Liberty losses, as well as an upset win over Parkland to have a chance.

In that scenario, things would still be unsettled, as Emmaus would need some of the teams they defeated earlier this season to win in week 10 to give additional power points.

In 3A, Bethlehem Catholic looks to secure the top seed with a win this week with Southern Lehigh most likely locking up the second seed. A Becahi loss to Central Catholic along with Solehi victory, would flip-flop both schools rankings. Saucon Valley is currently in third and take on Palisades this week in a tricky affair. A loss by the Panthers could knock them out of the playoffs, but that scenario isn't that likely.

Lehigh (4), Blue Mountain (5) and Jim Thorpe (6) will all be vying for the fourth and final spot. A Lehigh victory over Jim Thorpe this week puts the Indians in the playoffs. If Blue Mountain and Jim Thorpe both win, Blue Mountain would get the fourth seed.

In 2A, North Schuylkill has clinched the top seed, followed by Northwestern and Palisades in the two and three spots respectively. Palmerton is currently in fourth, followed by Northern Lehigh in fifth. Those two schools square off against each other this week and the winner would clinch the fourth seed. A loss by Palisades this week could drop them to fourth potentially, but the Pirates have already clinched a playoff berth.

Single A action has Pius X, Marian Catholic and Williams Valley in order from one to three. All three have clinched berths, but their seeds are still up in the air. Mahanoy Area and Tri-Valley are currently fourth and fifth respectively. If both teams win this week, Tri-Valley would jump Mahanoy for the final spot.

Pete's Top-10 Red Rovers remain on top

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

It's finally come down to week 10 of the regular season and there's plenty of meaningful action left to be played this week. Easton has proved to be the best team around, but who comes in behind them?

That will be an interesting question as this week plays out and the playoff scenarios are finalized, but let's not get ahead of ourselves. This weeks Parkland-Emmaus and Freedom-Liberty contests have major playoff implications, just as well as the Stroudsburg-Pleasant Valley clash.

So, just because football is winding down, doesn't mean it's not getting better, as this is the real season.

Check out the week 10 picks to close out the regular season.

1. Easton (9-0)
Last week's rank: #1
Rovers are the clear cut team to beat this year.
The Pick: Easton 49-Nazareth 7

2. Whitehall (7-2)
Last week's rank: #2
Zephyrs are a shaky second ranked squad.
The Pick: Whitehall 45-Northampton 8

3. Parkland (7-2)
Last week's rank: #3
Trojans should be nervous about the Emmaus rushing attack.
The Pick: Parkland 24-Emmaus 21

4. Stroudsburg (9-0)
Last week's rank: #5
Mounties would make a few teams in the area happy with a win this week.
The Pick: Stroudsburg 35-Pleasant Valley 20

5. Freedom (7-2)
Last week's rank: #4
Freedom is struggling without Joe Young.
The Pick: Liberty 24-Freedom 20

6. Bethlehem Catholic (8-1)
Last week's rank: #6
Hawks should be amped for this one.
The Pick: Becahi 38-Central Catholic 27

7. Liberty (5-4)

Last week's rank: #7
This should be the Super Bowl for the Hurricanes.
The Pick: Liberty 24-Freedom 20

8. Emmaus (5-4)
Not ranked
Hornets get some late season respect after that showing against Whitehall.
The Pick: Parkland 24-Emmaus 21

9. Southern Lehigh (8-1)
Last week's rank: #8
Spartans are warming up for districts with this one.
The Pick: Southern Lehigh 42-Salisbury 13

10. Northwestern (8-1)
Last week's rank: #9
Tigers shouldn't have a problem this week.
The Pick: Northwestern 38-Catasauqua 17

Teams that dropped: Saucon Valley (10)

Teams that entered: Emmaus (8)

Last week's record: 10-0

Overall record: 67-7

VIEWING PARTY

Answering the call of fans throughout the Greater Lehigh Valley region, the nonprofit Arts-Quest and Coordinated Health announced they will co-host a free, live viewing party Nov. 22, at SteelStacks for the record 150th Lehigh University-Lafayette College football game.

The event, titled Lehigh-Lafayette Coordinated Health Viewing Party, is for fans of both teams.

Simply known as The Rivalry, the Lehigh-Lafayette matchup is football's most-played rivalry. The sold-out 150th game is being held at Yankee Stadium in New York City and will be telecast nationally on CBS Sports Network.

The Lehigh-Lafayette Coordinated Health Viewing Party will be held at Levitt Pavilion SteelStacks starting at 2:30 p.m., 60 minutes before game kickoff.

Pregame activities include yard games such as quoits and cornhole, with food and beverages available for purchase at the ArtsQuest Center. Attendees can also view the Christkindmarkt Bethlehem holiday event at SteelStacks that day, with half-price admission coupons available at the ArtsQuest Center's Mike & Ike Bistro.

Although a nonpartisan event, the Lehigh-Lafayette Coordinated Health Viewing Party is the Lehigh Alumni Association's exclusive viewing party in the Lehigh Valley. Lehigh fans interested in attending the Lehigh-Lafayette Coordinated Health Viewing Party are encouraged to register in advance at mylehigh.lehigh.edu/telecasts.

SWIM COACHES NEEDED

Head Swim Coach & Assistant Swim Coach

DEADLINE: OCTOBER 31, 2014

Please visit www.stsd.org for details.

CITY POLICE
Drunkness

Police arrested 22-year-old Jaclyn Serfass, of Timothy Drive, twice within one week for incidents of public drunkenness.

In the first, at 3 a.m. Oct. 11, Serfass was found asleep in a car near Muhlenberg Hospital on Schoenersville Road.

The next incident was at 1:40 a.m. Oct. 15. Serfass and 26-year-old Chad Rossignol, of Northampton, were arrested on several charges at the Easton Avenue Pizza Como restaurant.

Charges included drunkenness, theft of services and threats.

DUIs

Police arrested a 69-year-old man at the Linden Street Dunkin Donuts around 12:45 a.m. Oct. 11 for driving while intoxicated.

Daniel Bayak, of Barnsdale Road, allegedly drove his vehicle into a curb, and officers later determined he was under the influence.

About two hours later on Easton Avenue, police responded to an accident in which a woman drove her car into a residence's front hillside.

Ashley Laslo, 23, of Woodfield Drive, was allegedly intoxicated and driving without her license on her person.

Around 2:30 a.m. Oct. 13, police observed a man driving carelessly on Columbia Street and pulled him over. Kostiantyn Syzonenko, 23, of Elliot Avenue, was determined to be intoxicated while driving.

Police said around 6:30 p.m. Oct. 14 Melissa Benvenuto, 38, of Delaware Avenue, was somehow involved in a domestic dispute while driving on Stefkow Boulevard. Officers found her to be intoxicated.

All the above parties are charged with DUI.

All but essential business stops

By BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

At an Oct. 2 meeting, Northampton County Council President Peg Ferraro asked Executive John Brown to compromise on his health plan cuts for the county workforce. He declined. A majority of council adopted a resolution calling on Brown to give a little. He said No.

Union agent Justus James asked Brown to sit down and just talk to him. Brown demurred, according to James. In three crowded council meetings, workers have alternatively criticized and begged Brown for help. At their Oct. 16 meeting, he declined to answer their concerns or even provide an executive report.

Strike proposed

So Lamont McClure urged fellow council members to do something that workers have not — strike.

He has proposed refusing to conduct any business beyond what is absolutely necessary until Brown finally agrees to sit down and talk. Thanks to an absent Republican Seth Vaughn, McClure got his way, for at least one night.

For the third time in three meetings, council met in Courtroom #1 to accommodate the 100-plus crowd of county employees who came to protest cuts in their medical benefits.

But before hearing from them, council approved some pathology services for Coroner Zach Lysek and some changes in the emergency generator project at Gracedale. Those were both noncontroversial and passed with little discussion.

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY

Glenn Geissinger's council pay cut ordinance is tabled.

Then, after listening to the complaints of the county's frustrated workforce, council returned to its agenda.

Pay cut proposal

The first item of business was a Glenn Geissinger-inspired ordinance that would give all council members a $1,000 pay cut so they could all share in the pain already being inflicted on the workforce. Almost as soon as the ordinance was introduced, McClure moved to table it. Ferraro, no fan of pay cuts, quickly joined all Democrats to provide the fifth vote.

Then McClure explained what he was doing. Noting that Brown has refused to compromise or even discuss rolling back his health plan cuts, McClure suggested council should just stop conducting business. "We ought to table anything that isn't essential to the government of Northampton County," he said.

And that's pretty much exactly what happened. What wasn't tabled, failed.

The three Democrats quickly followed McClure's lead. Republicans, and Ferraro in particular, seemed completely shocked by what had just happened.

St. Luke's loan

What particularly upset Ferraro was a noncontroversial $30 million loan arrangement with St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem Township, through the county's General Purpose Authority. These kinds of loans, involving hospitals and colleges, are common. They're a form of tax exempt financing in which the county is never on the hook for a dollar. It actually benefits the county, which can use the administration fees to fund other projects of its own in the county.

"Motion to table," said McClure. That stalled in a 4-4 vote with Democrats and Republicans deadlocked.

As Council Clerk Fran Flisser called out the names, an exasperated Ferraro asked McClure, "Do you realize what you're doing to St. Luke's Hospital?"

Resolution rejected

Though the motion to table failed, the resolution was rejected. By a 6 to 2 vote, with only Ferraro and fellow Republican Hayden Phillips voting yes, Northampton County Council dealt a setback to St. Luke's and any other hospital or college interested in arranging financing through the county.

"You have just rejected hundreds of thousands of dollars to Northampton County," an astonished Ferraro said to the no votes.

This is a first. At no time has Northampton Council ever voted to reject this kind of financing arrangement, which involves no risk to the county and results in administration fees.

Reclassification

But McClure had only just begun.

The next item on the agenda was a resolution to approve the reclassification of a position in Human Services. A budget analyst would now be called an accountant, with no extra pay to show for it.

"Motion to table," said McClure again. This time, Geissinger joined the Democrats, and in a 5-3 vote, the reclassification was halted.

After the meeting, Brown accused Democrats of "pandering to the employee base," while McClure told Express Times reporter Tom Shortell that he only wants Brown to sit down and negotiate these health plan cuts.

Reservation times are estimates and not guaranteed. A vaccine information statement, consent form, link to online registration and maps of both locations are available at lvhn.org. Be sure to print and bring the 2014-15 consent form with you to receive the flu shot.

According to Terry Burger, RN, LVHN's director of infection control and prevention, quadrivalent flu vaccine will be given to those six months to 64 years of age. The vaccine will protect against four different flu strains, two influenza Type A strains and two influenza Type B strains. Burger said those 65 and older will receive the trivalent high-dose vaccine.

"The elderly generally have weaker immune systems, which puts them at greater risk of severe illness from influenza," Burger said. "Also, aging lowers the body's ability to fight off the flu even with the vaccine. So a higher dose is supposed to stimulate a more effective immune response for those 65 and older and therefore, better protection against the flu."

Burger said vaccine supplies are expected to be plentiful this year and so the public should not be concerned about being able to get a shot.

Those planning to receive a flu shot during the vaccination drive are asked to abide by the following requests:

Access a vaccine information sheet and 2014-15 consent form for each person to be vaccinated at lvhn.org, or request forms by calling 610-402-CARE.

Complete the consent form and bring it with you when you get vaccinated.

Dress appropriately — loose-fitting clothing for the shot to be administered in the arm of an adult and the leg of children less than two years old.

LVHN asks that no pets be in the vehicle.

Saucun Valley School District and its teachers' union remain at a stalemate over a possible contract.

At the Oct. 14 school board meeting, board member Ralph Puerta delivered the sobering news.

"We are at an impasse," he said.

The Saucun Valley Education Association teachers' union earlier in the month rejected the district's contract proposal, which is based on an independent fact-finder's report that calls for higher salaries in the last two years for entry-level teachers and smaller raises for experienced teachers at the high end of the salary bracket.

The starting salary for an incoming teacher is roughly $41,132 and $93,072 for experienced teachers.

The district's proposed starting salary would be $48,939 near the end of the six-year contract in 2017-18 and $95,912 for high earning teachers.

Board member Ed Inghrim noted teachers receive three types of pay raises compared to non-union district employees, who receive one 3 percent pay raise to offset health insurance costs.

"I am tired of negotiating," Inghrim said.

Board solicitor Mark

Fitzgerald said the board has exhausted all available options. According to Fitzgerald, laws exist that prevent certain types of bargaining. He also said an unfair labor claim has been filed against the teachers' union.

Superintendent Monica McHale-Small said she is concerned how the impasse will affect students' perceptions in the district.

"We must remember that we are here to educate," See SAUCON on Page A16

The Sky Jeep, piloted by Saylorsburg's Rod Hatcher, is designed for quick takeoffs and landings on rough terrain, and even uses John Deere tractor tires for landing. Hatcher joked that he had not landed on a paved runway for four years.

Gyrocopters, ultra-lights, the Sky Jeep and the Bird Dog all descended on Braden Airport recently during Braden Airport's Experimental Aircraft Association's 20th annual fly-in at the small Forks Township airport, located along Sullivan Trail. In addition to all the experimental aircraft, there was a demonstration of radio-controlled aircraft.

Walk-a-thon a winner

Asa Packer ES's annual Walk-a-thon is a fundraiser in which the entire student body and staff take part. Some 338 students participated this year. This is the third year the event has been held on school property, instead of the earlier site – a nearby industrial park, according to Principal Jonathan Horvath. Despite a slightly lower number of participants this year, the walk-a-thon raised $5,679 from a total of 1,265 laps – 97 laps better than last year. The students participate for one hour and apply pledges to their lap totals and also earn rewards. The fundraiser benefits student activities and special academic needs such as technology. Tabulations are done by the school's fourth grade math class as a special ongoing project and classroom application of the fundraising event.

Lena Jerneagan and Sasha Verechsaga refresh themselves with bottled water as they follow the Walk-a-thon course around the school field.

MORAVIAN ACADEMY NEWS

Autumn at the academy

Although the fall season comes with cooler weather, it does bring some beautiful scenery to Moravian Academy's Merle-Smith campus, as the towering trees turn gold and red, which just so happen to be our school's colors. Between new classes, fall sports season and school events, Moravian Academy enthusiasm is so vibrant in the fall that even the leaves join in.

Kara Chyung

attending the institution since pre-kindergarten, are extremely fond of this tradition and have a great time gathering fun red-and-gold-themed apparel for the event.

Alumni Weekend, which occurs at the end of September, gives alumni a chance to return to the school and reminisce about their times at Moravian. Moravian Academy's Annual Country Fair, which coincides with this weekend event, not only allows families of students to enjoy a beautiful afternoon together, but also gives many clubs and student council a chance to raise money for worthy causes.

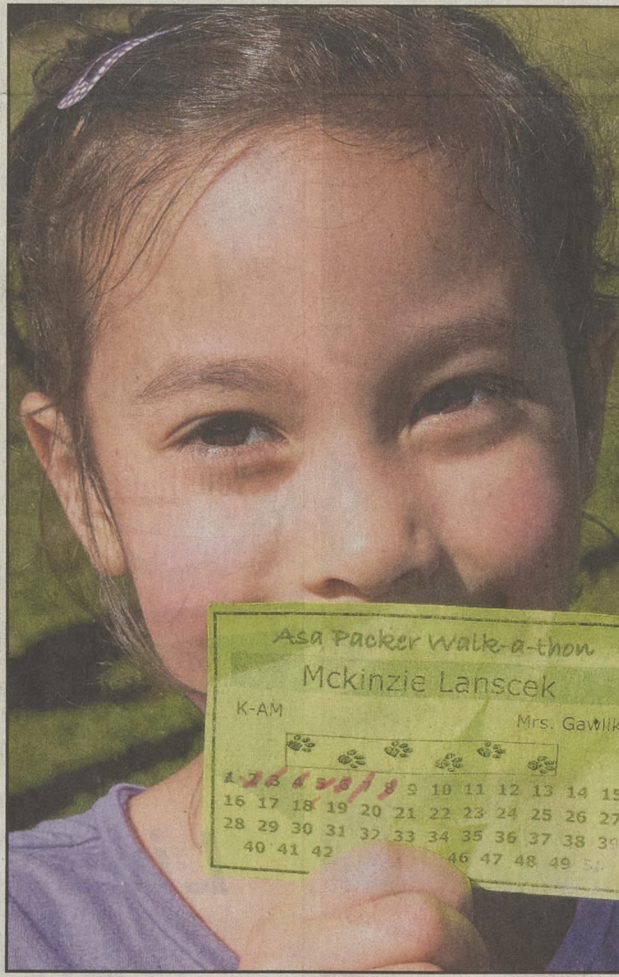

The fall is also a time for the arts to begin to prepare for its usual successful year. The first Open Mic night yielded a high level of participation, including singing, rapping and ukulele-ing, as well as a large and enthusiastic audience. A more formal opportunity for student musicians is the Red and Gold Recital, which allows students who study classical music to showcase their hard work within a community environment.

With busy schedules and full calendars, the beginning of the year can go by in a whirlwind. As the first quarter ends and students begin to settle into a rigorous but fulfilling routine, it can be easy to take for granted how lucky we are to have so many opportunities available to us. But what makes Moravian Academy a special place is that diversity can be found not only among the student body, but also within each individual.

Moravian Academy's fall sports teams have experienced unprecedented levels of success. The boys soccer team, the girls field hockey team, and the golf team all captured Colonial League titles, with field hockey and golf recording undefeated regular seasons. In addition, the girls tennis team won its seventh straight district team title, and several cross country runners qualified for the state tournament.

Moravian Academy's new "Spirit Club" has tremendously improved the level of support by notifying the student body about games, matches, and meets.

The spirited tone is set early on in the school year with Red and Gold Games Day, which occurs annually in the middle of September. Divided into the Red and Gold teams, Moravian Academy students of all of the divisions come together for a day of fun games and light-hearted competition. All of the students, especially those who have been

Native turtles not for the taking in Pa.

BUD'S VIEW

By Bud Cole

A few years ago, my wife, Bev, and I were attending craft shows, street fairs and other events where we promoted our nature presentations, "Three B's Nature Programs," and our children's "Adventure Birthday Parties." We also sold homemade crafts.

What drew people to our booth was what was moving about in several aquariums and terrariums: native turtles and a red-eared slider that we purchased for our exhibit. When we first started presenting school nature programs, each of our turtles was about the size of a silver dollar. We had a mud turtle, a snapping turtle, a wood turtle and the red-eared slider.

The native turtles were caught in the wild and later returned to the same area where they were found. We were able to possess the turtles because of their use as educational examples for our nature programs.

Comments from attendees ranged from "I love turtles," to "I had a turtle when I was a little child," to "My parents bought a little turtle and a plastic bowl with a plastic palm tree at Woolworths when I was a little kid." Once we had their attention, we could engage in a conversation about turtles, our crafts and our nature and birthday party programs.

Turtles and other reptiles are under the control and protection of the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission (PF&BC). As of Jan. 1, 2007, a possession permit has been required to possess a live reptile or amphibian.

Many are under the impression that they can pick up box turtles and other native turtles and take them home as pets. In most cases, this is not allowed. Check the reptiles and amphibians section of the PF&BC summary book for regulations.

Fines in Pennsylvania for collection and illegal possession of a bog turtle, for example, range from $250 to $5,000 and possible jail time, plus additional fines and charges from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Capture of snapping turtles is allowed, but you need to purchase a fishing license.

The bog turtle, also known as the Muhlenberg turtle, receives quite a bit of press coverage in Lehigh Valley newspapers and magazines. "Glyptemys muhlenbergii" is the Keystone State's smallest turtle, measuring a maximum of 3 to 4.5 inches in length. One of the keys to its identification is the large orange marks on both sides of the head. The rest of the shell and body are dark brown.

Bog turtles are often confused with the spotted turtle, especially when a spotted turtle lacks the traditional small yellow spots on the carapace (shell) and small orange spots on the head.

The bog turtle's press coverage stems from its very low numbers and because this turtle species occasionally causes cancellations or extended time periods to complete government bridge and road projects.

Bog turtles are now found in low numbers throughout their traditional range in southeastern Pennsylvania and they are critically or critically imperiled throughout their entire North American range. The species is classified as federally threatened on the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Endangered Species List.

As with many endangered and threatened wildlife species, bog turtle numbers are declining because of habitat loss, habitat fragmentation and succession (a slow natural change from one habitat type into a different habitat type). In the past when natural succession took place, the bog turtles would simply move to a nearby suitable habitat. Today, however, with the fragmentation of habitat in the bog turtles' southeastern Pennsylvania range, habitats have been isolated, often leading to localized extinction.

Bog turtles are also threatened by dwindling water quality, roadway mortalities and the predation of eggs and juveniles by higher than normal raccoon populations. Turtle collecting is another major threat. Bog turtles are considered the rarest of North American turtles and are considered to be very valuable to collectors who gather and sell reptiles illegally.

Bog turtles need specific habitat conditions. They live in wet meadows and bogs where tussock sedges and grasses cover wetlands. Sedges are grass-like plants. Tussock sedge grows in moist forests and marshes. The plants grow right at the water level or just above the water level. As the leaves grow and die, they build up around the living plant and form a tussock or little hill. Perhaps you've been fishing, hunting or hiking in a marshy area where you tried to step from tussock hill to tussock hill to avoid getting your feet wet.

This requirement for open conditions associated with early-succession of wetland habitats limits the bog turtle's natural range. They prefer deep mucky soils fed by groundwater seeps (an area where groundwater reaches the earth's surface) with only small amounts of open water. If and when any of these specific conditions change, the bog turtle population often declines or disappears entirely.

If an area is identified as a home environment for bog turtles, bridge reconstruction and roadway projects might be canceled or rerouted around the bog turtles' habitat.

It is also illegal to introduce a non-native turtle species into the natural environments of Penn's Woods. This occasionally happens when a person becomes weary of taking care of a non-native pet turtle and releases it into the local environment. Non-native wildlife species often are more aggressive than native species, thus invading and often replacing the native species.

Remember, it is unlawful to possess any native turtle species in Pennsylvania.

That's the way I see it!

Overwintering geraniums avoids frost

GROWING GREEN

L.C. Cooperative Extension
LehighExt@psu.edu

Geraniums are popular bedding plants, blooming from May through frost. However, the first hard frost doesn't have to be the end of your geraniums. They can be overwintered indoors by potting up individual plants, taking cuttings or storing bare-root plants in a cool, dry place. Regardless of the method, the plants should be removed from the garden prior to the first frost.

You can put the plants in pots to keep for planting out again next spring. Carefully dig up each plant and place in a six- to eight-inch pot. Prune the geraniums back to one-half to one-third of their original height. Water each plant thoroughly, then place the geraniums in a bright, sunny window or under artificial lighting.

Bring geraniums indoors for the winter.

Geraniums prefer cool indoor temperatures. Daytime temperatures near 65 degrees Fahrenheit and night temperatures around 55 degrees Fahrenheit are ideal. Geraniums become tall and spindly when grown in warm, poorly-lit areas. During their stay indoors, water the plants thoroughly when the soil becomes dry. Occasionally pinch the geraniums to produce stocky, well-branched plants.

Another way to overwinter your geraniums is by taking cuttings. Using a sharp knife, take three- to four-inch stem cuttings from the terminal ends of the shoots. Pinch off the lower leaves, then dip the base of each cutting in a rooting hormone. Stick the cuttings in a rooting medium of coarse sand or a mixture of coarse sand and sphagnum peat moss.

Clay or plastic pots with drainage holes in the bottom are suitable rooting containers.

Insert the cuttings into the medium just far enough to be self-supporting. After all the cuttings are inserted, water the cuttings and medium thoroughly. After the medium is allowed to drain, place a clear plastic bag over the cuttings and container to prevent wilting of the cuttings. Then place the cuttings in bright light, but not direct sunlight.

The cuttings should root in six to eight weeks. When the cuttings have good root systems, remove them from the rooting medium and plant each rooted cutting in its own pot.

You can even save your geraniums by having them as bare-rooted plants. Dig the geraniums and carefully shake all the soil from their roots. Then hang the plants upside down in a cool (45-50 degrees Fahrenheit), dry place.

An alternate method is to place one or two plants in a large paper sack. Once a month during the winter, soak the roots of each plant in water for one to two hours. Most of the leaves will eventually fall off. The paper sack method is much cleaner than the hanging method.

In March, prune or cut back each plant. Remove all shriveled, dead material. Healthy, live stems will be firm and solid. After pruning, pot up the plants and water thoroughly. Place the potted geraniums in a sunny window or under artificial lighting. Geraniums that are pruned and potted in March should produce green, attractive plants that can be planted outdoors in May.

Most annuals, such as marigolds and petunias, are relatively inexpensive compared to geraniums. Gardeners who plants large numbers of geraniums can reduce their gardening expenses by overwintering their geraniums indoors.

WEDDING

Moser-Clymer

Couple marry in Orefield

Kelly Nicole Clymer of Germansville and Zachary Phillip Moser of Slatington were married Sept. 27 at Heritage Baptist Church, Orefield.

Pastor James Barr officiated. The bride is the daughter of Scott and Carol Clymer of Germansville.

The groom is the son of Richard Moser of Slatington and Carla Lorah of Macungie.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore an Allure Couture white fit and flare gown, with sweetheart neckline with embroidery and crystal applique and shimmering beading throughout.

Her veil was cathedral length, edged in shimmering crystal applique. She carried a bouquet of white roses, with orchid and dark purple accent flowers.

Maid of honor was her sister, Shelby Clymer. Matron of honor was Cassie Doherty, longtime friend of the bride.

Bridesmaids were sister of the bride Makayla Clymer; friends of the bride and groom, Kailey Ruskowski and Kayla Dalrymple; cousin of the bride, Allison Alderfer; and cousin of the groom, Allison Lorah.

Flower girl was sister of the bride, Miss Lacey Clymer.

Best man was Dylan Moser, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were brother of the groom, Bryce Moser; brothers of the bride, Scott, Benjamin, Bobby and Caleb Clymer; and friend of the bride and groom, Joshua Dalrymple.

Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Moser

Ring bearer was cousin of the groom, Master Lucas Hill. Program attendants were brother of the bride, Master Dalton Clymer; and cousin of the groom, Master Gabe Hill.

The reception, at Evergreen Hideaway, New Tripoli, immediately followed the ceremony.

Wedding decorator was Elena Shackleton, a friend of the bride and groom.

Jan Pavelco of Essence Photography, a friend of the bride and groom, was the photographer.

Following a honeymoon, the couple reside in Lower Macungie.

Boychoir in Gala for Bach

By DAWN NIXON
Special to The Press

The internationally-renowned American Boychoir performs at the Bach Choir of Bethlehem's Gala Concert and Fundraiser, 8 p.m. Nov. 1, Central Moravian Church, 73 W. Church St., Bethlehem.

The performance is the final concert of the American Boychoir's fall tour. The choir, known for its high, almost angelic voices, is performing its fall tour program, "I Hear America Singing."

Fernando Malvar-Ruiz, music director of the Boychoir for 12 years, looks forward to performing in Bethlehem.

"We are excited to participate in the gala fundraiser for the Bach Choir," he says in a phone interview. "In keeping with the tradition of the Bach Choir, the Boychoir will perform a couple of selections by Bach."

The American Boychoir was founded 76 years ago in Columbus, Ohio. After two years, the choir relocated to Princeton, N.J., where the American Boychoir School is operated. Boys from the 4th grade through the 8th grade attend the boarding and day school to study and perform. The boys, ages 9 to 14, arrive from 21 different states and many international nations.

"The audition process to join the Boychoir is incredibly simple," says Malvar-Ruiz. "I play a few notes on the piano. You must sing the notes back to me. You must love to sing, have a certain musical aptitude, and have an ear for music. We also have an online audition process that we can use."

For Malvar-Ruiz, what is most rewarding is the mission of the Boychoir to educate boys and build their character. "The mission is so strong. The mission is not the choir. The choir is a tool that we use to educate the boys. I get to see these boys grow before my eyes. They get to experience touring the country and seeing the world."

For the boys, "touring is without a doubt their favorite part of being in the choir," says Malvar-Ruiz. "It's quite a wonderful experience for them."

"We seek to integrate the touring into their academic studies. Our teachers prepare curriculum that relates to the different cities we are visiting. It helps enrich the experience."

Malvar-Ruiz and the American Boychoir are looking forward to ending their fall tour in Bethlehem at the Bach Choir of Bethlehem's Gala.

"We are very excited," says Malvar-Ruiz. "We have been to many of the Bach Choir's concerts and admire their artistry. We are honored to perform for them."

Life is good

I just finished a book about a small island that has few amenities except what nature provided — an expansive sky and ocean.

There are few visitors because there are only a few rustic cottages on the rocky island and even owners only stay for the warmer months.

What intrigued me was that the author claimed when island natives encounter others, they don't say hello.

Instead, they greet each other with the words: Life is good.

I'm not sure if there really is such a place because after all, the book is fiction. But isn't that a grand idea?

Yes, I know. There is a clothing brand called Life is Good and that slogan is trademarked. But I don't think the two brothers who invented the line would mind hearing others say it. They claim to be all about spreading optimism.

Their story is an interesting one. Bert and John Jacobs tried to launch a successful T-shirt line for five years while they lived on peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

They slept in their van while they traveled the East Coast trying to sell their T-shirts. They say they didn't do very well until they printed up 48 T-shirts with "Jake," a big grinning face and the slogan "Life is Good."

When the brothers brought the T-shirts to a street fair in Cambridge, Massachusetts, the shirts with the slogan sold out before lunch.

The rest, as they say, is history. The brothers became multimillionaires as the brand spread across the country.

You know how fads come and go? Think pet rock or tie-dyed psychedelic T-shirts.

The amazing thing is that Life is Good merchandise is still selling strong after 25 years.

What is it about the Life is Good slogan that makes people want to display it?

Perhaps at heart we all want to be optimists. Or, maybe many people do recognize that life is a series of ongoing gifts that come to us each day. All we have to do is be aware of those daily gifts.

I saw those Life is Good T-shirts for the first time about 20 years ago in an Outer Banks gift store. At the time they were more than I wanted to pay for a T-shirt but I couldn't resist the colorful shirts with the happy face and simple yet profound message.

John Jacobs says he drew the happy "Jake face" because he was tired of hearing only bad news and listening to people talk about what's wrong with the world. He created Jake as a symbol of optimism. Or, as he explains it, "Jake is a hero whose power is the way he views the world."

He gave Jake a big smile, he says, because he always finds a reason to be happy.

WARMEST REGARDS

By Pattie Mihalik
news@comcast.net

I love that story. I, too, always find a reason to be happy. Here's the reason: Life IS good, every single day of it.

I admit I gravitate toward people who share that optimistic view of life because they are generally upbeat and happy. And happy people are fun to be around. When you walk away from upbeat people, you feel energized.

But the opposite is also true. Someone who is always down or negative about everything is tiring to be around. Their negativism drags your spirits down.

Did you ever notice how some people seem to save up every negative observation just so they can repeatedly bombard us with how bad life is?

You probably know people like that.

I have an elderly relative I call every now and then to try to cheer her up. She always starts with the weather, telling me how bad it is. Either it's too hot for her to go outside or it's too gray and overcast. I keep searching for something to say to overcome her negative attitude about everything in life.

Finally, I hit upon talking about the past because she seems to like that. During our last conversation I mentioned our last family reunion at Knoebels Grove when we put the watermelons in the creek to keep them cold. She recalled what a great time we all had. Fortunately, she didn't remember she complained all day about relatives who arrived late, those who left early and those who simply didn't please her for one reason or another.

It's tough to deal with someone who is always negative, isn't it?

While I was in the middle of writing this column, I went to church. Coincidentally, the priest used his sermon to talk about loving life.

He told us about Sally, an elderly church member with a wonderfully sunny disposition. Unfortunately, Sally fell in her home and had to lie there for four days before someone got worried and came to check on her.

Although Sally has to leave her home to live in an assisted living facility, she is still upbeat and sunny. For her birthday next week, others are driving two hours to take her to lunch.

They love Sally because the older woman radiates with a love of life.

She's the kind of woman who would wear a Life is Good T-shirt. But then again, she doesn't have to. It's written in her heart.

It's written in my heart, too, and on my lips as I give constant thanks for the bounties of a good life.

Whole foods best source of vitamins

Q. Are vitamins worth taking?

It's very important to talk with your doctor before you take any vitamin and mineral pills, especially if you take prescription medicine, have health problems or are elderly. Taking too much of a vitamin or mineral can cause problems with medical tests or interfere with drugs you're taking.

Vitamins and minerals are micronutrients that your body needs in small but steady amounts. Your body can't make most micronutrients, so you must get them elsewhere.

Vitamins are natural substances found in plants and animals. There are two types of vitamins: water-soluble and fat-soluble.

Water-soluble vitamins are easily absorbed by your body. Unlike fat-soluble vitamins, they don't have to be absorbed using bile acids (fluids used to digest fats).

Your body doesn't store large amounts of water-soluble vitamins. The water-soluble vitamins you don't need are removed by your kidneys and come out in your urine.

Your body has to use bile acids to absorb fat-foods you eat. But if you take supplements, you can easily take too much. This is even more of a risk if you take fat-soluble vitamins.

Whole foods are your best sources of vitamins and minerals. They offer three main benefits over supplements:

1. They contain a variety of the micronutrients your body needs. An orange, for example, provides vitamin C but also beta carotene, calcium and other nutrients. A vitamin C supplement lacks these other micronutrients.

2. They provide dietary fiber, which is important for digestion and can help prevent certain diseases such as cancer, diabetes and heart disease. Adequate fiber intake can also help prevent constipation.

3. They contain other substances such as antioxidants which slow down the natural process that leads to cell and tissue damage.

If you depend on supplements rather than eating a variety of whole foods, you miss the potential benefits of these substances.

For some people, including those on restrictive

Allentown Symphony receives national performance award

The Allentown Symphony Orchestra, Diane Wittry, music director, is the 2014 winner of The American Prize in Orchestral Performance in the professional orchestra division.

Wittry brings an original programming style, creating innovative concert experiences that excite audiences, stated the contest judges, who noted Wittry "... demonstrates a confidence and finesse in major repertoire."

The orchestra was selected from applications reviewed this past summer from across the United States.

The Allentown Symphony Orchestra was founded in 1951. For 63 seasons, the orchestra has brought guest artists and performances to the Lehigh Valley region.

From 1951 to 1983, founding conductor Donald Voorhees (NBC "Bell Telephone Hour") showcased legends such as Placido Domingo, Benny Goodman and Carol Channing.

William Smith, conductor, 1986 - '90, simultaneously was assistant conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Wittry, was appointed music director in 1995. During her tenure, the orchestra has grown in quality and in the number and types of concerts presented.

The ASO annually performs five concerts, four pops concerts, educational and family concerts,

'Fury' drives deep into World War II heroism and horrors

"Ideals are peaceful. History is violent."

- "Fury."

"Fury" is aptly titled. The movie, with a story set in the waning days of World War II, is filled with the fury of battle, the fury of civilization devastation and the fury of human emotions.

The movie's title is taken from the nickname "Fury" painted in a white scrawl on the gun-turret of a Sherman tank.

The storyline in "Fury" is based on the heroism of the United States Army Second Armored Division, dubbed "Hell on Wheels."

It is April 1945. Brad Pitt stars as Don "Wardaddy" Collier, a United States Army sergeant and commander of the Sherman tank dubbed "Fury."

Collier's mission is to drive behind enemy lines of one of the last Nazi strongholds in Germany. His five-man tank battalion is outgunned, outmanned and often outsmarted by desperate Nazi soldiers determined to fight to the finish.

There are several strategic goals for Collier and his five-man crew: secure a German town held by Nazis, defeat Nazis holding a key crossroad and prevent another Nazi division from destroying an Allied supply column.

"Fury" is a hyper-realistic film with graphic depictions of violence and is not for the faint of heart. Several of the gunshots, explosions and deaths of soldiers made me jump in my movie theater seat.

"Fury" can be recommended for the very reasons that it is so startling. It depicts a facet and an intensity of war in the European Theater of World War II as perhaps no movie before.

"Fury" is also an important film to see because it should receive several deserved Oscar nominations.

"Fury" compares with "Saving Private Ryan" (1998) for its examination of the European Theater of World War II; "Full Metal Jacket" (1987) for the closed-in desperation of soldiers at war; "Apocalypse Now" (1979) for a sense of the futility in combat, and "Paths Of Glory" (1957) and numerous well-known World War II-set movies for its depiction of military grit.

"Fury" is an unconventional war film, especially in its middle portion for scenes in a German village where the U.S. soldiers befriend two German women (Anamaria Marinca, Alicia von Rittberg). This scene brings out aspects of the soldiers' personalities and the tragedy that can occur when a soldier's emotions get in the way of his duty.

Writer-director David Ayer (director, "Sabotage," 2014, "End of Watch," 2012; writer, "Training Day," 2001, "The Fast And The Furious," 2001) pulls no punches.

Ayer doesn't flinch in

MOVIE REVIEW

By Paul Willistein

depicting war in all its hellacious glory. The contemporary term, collateral damage, is taken for granted. The fanaticism of the Nazis resulted in German civilians who didn't join in the fight being hung from telephone poles. Perhaps most heart-breaking is a scene of the surrender of Nazi-uniformed soldiers who file out of a building. Many are teenagers and children in uniform.

Pitt is superb as the tenacious, tough-talking, take-no-prisoners tank commander. Pitt is mostly in full scowl or grimace for the lengthy two and one-half hour film. In two pivotal scenes, with the German women and later inside the tank, Collier's core of human kindness is revealed. Look for an Oscar actor nomination for Pitt.

The commander's tank charges represent a cross-section of then American ethnic groups. The tank unit soldiers are not necessarily shown as "The Greatest Generation," but rather a group of malcontents who don't really like each other. This does not prevent them from bonding as a "Band Of Brothers" when the going gets tough. In "Fury," the going is always tough.

Shia LaBeouf ("Transformers") is nearly unrecognizable as one of the tank's soldiers, Boyd "Bible" Swan. He's a Bible-quoting, one-man Horseman of the Apocalypse (a white horse early on symbolizes the movie's Old Testament fire and brimstone motif). Look for an Oscar supporting actor nomination for LaBeouf.

Jon Bernthal (TV's "The Walking Dead") as Grady "Coon-Ass" Travis, is a loudmouth who would lay down his life for his fellow soldiers. Michael Pena ("American Hustle") as Trini "Gordo" Garcia is portrayed more sympathetically.

Logan Lerman ("Percy Jackson") as the young recruit, Norman Ellison, thrust into the tank crew with no prior experience ("I can type 60 words a minute," he exclaims.) gives the most remarkable performance. His character arc from greenhorn to seasoned combat veteran should bring him a supporting actor Oscar nomination, although his role is more that of a leading actor and central to the storyline.

"Fury" is a must-see on your list of potential Oscar nominees.

Moravian College 'interested' in Boyd for theater program

By PAUL WILLISTEIN
pwillistein@tnonline.com

Moravian College is interested in using downtown Bethlehem's closed Boyd Theatre for its theater department productions.

Notices were recently posted on the Boyd Theatre facade that it is scheduled for a December sheriff's sale in Northampton County Court for unpaid property taxes estimated at $31,000.

The Boyd, 30 W. Broad St., between Main and New streets, closed in May 2011.

When contacted by The Lehigh Valley Press, Moravian College president Bryon L. Grigsby stated in an email:

"Moravian College is interested in the Boyd Theater in order to preserve its rich heritage and restore its status as one of the iconic cultural venues in the city.

"The college seeks to work the owner, the City of Bethlehem, and a local developer to ensure that the Boyd Theater remain an integral part of the fabric of downtown Bethlehem."

The Boyd is not in Bethlehem's recently-designated City Revitalization and Improvement Zone (CRIZ) where portions of taxes are made available to developers for real estate projects.

Stated Joyce Heydt, who owns the Boyd, on the Boyd's web page:

"In recent years and in the period since the theater closed, [we've] been approached by several community members and business people about adapting the theater to a performing arts venue or other use.

"We will certainly entertain any of those options, while keeping focused on the task at hand," stated Heydt.

Stated Grigsby: "We see the Boyd as an opportunity to enhance our theater program, while expanding our partnerships with other individuals and organizations to create a quality theater experience for our students, community partners, and visitors, while serving as an economic engine for downtown Bethlehem."

PRESS PHOTO BY PAUL WILLISTEIN

Marquee of The Boyd, 30 W. Broad St., has been blank since May 2011.

Moravian presents the majority of its stage shows in the Arena Theater, Hauptert Union Building, 1200 Main St., on the college's main campus.

Moravian also has Priscilla Payne Hurd Campus, which includes Foy Concert Hall, Peter Hall, the Payne Gallery, and music and art department classrooms as well as The Hill student dormitories, Main, Church and Lehigh streets, Bethlehem.

Moravian's theater program, headed by Christopher Shorr, Director of Theatre, has collaborated with Touchstone Theatre on shows, including "Journey From The East," part two of which is to be presented in April 2015 at the Bethlehem-China Harmony Pavilion along the South Bethlehem Greenway.

Heydt cited needed repairs for water damage as the reason for the Boyd's closure. Heydt last posted on the Boyd's facebook page in July 2011.

The Kurtz Theatre, which opened September 1921, was renamed the Boyd Theatre in 1934.

The Heydts bought the Boyd in 1970, previously ran downtown Bethlehem's Nile Theatre, which closed, and booked and managed movies shown at the Nineteenth Street Theatre, Allentown, until 1989 when movies exhibition was taken over by building owner, Civic Theatre of Allentown.

Moravian College, America's sixth-oldest college, traces its founding to 1742.

TOWNSHIP OF WHITEHALL ZONING HEARING BOARD PUBLIC HEARING The regular monthly meeting of the Whitehall Township Zoning Hearing Board will be held

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Supervisors of Hanover Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, will consider for adoption at a Public Meeting to be held at 7:00 p.m. on the 11th day of November, 2014, at the Hanover Township Municipal Building, 3630 Jacksonville Road, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, an Ordinance amending the Code of Ordinances of the Township of Hanover, Northampton County, by adding Chapter 84, Emergency Response Payment Reimbursement. Copies of the proposed Ordinance are available for review at the Hanover Township Municipal Building located at 3630 Jacksonville Road, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania during normal business hours. The following is the proposed Ordinance:

ORDINANCE NO.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HANOVER, NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA AMENDING THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE TOWNSHIP OF HANOVER, NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, BY ADDING CHAPTER 84, EMERGENCY RESPONSE PAYMENT REIMBURSEMENT, AND REPEALING ALL ORDINANCES INCONSISTENT HEREWITH

WHEREAS, under Section 1803(b) of the Second Class Township Code, the Township of Hanover, Northampton County, Pennsylvania ("Township") has the authority to make rules and regulations for the governing of fire companies; which are located within the Township; and WHEREAS, the Township recognizes that the duties of volunteer fire companies require specialized emergency rescue tools and equipment and emergency rescue materials, and that such tools and equipment place a financial burden on volunteer fire companies, and the replacement of such materials and specialized training add to the additional financial burden of volunteer fire companies; and WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the Township have determined that it would be in the best interest of the Township to provide for the reimbursement for certain emergency response costs incurred by the volunteer fire company of the Township. NOW, THEREFORE, be it enacted and ordained by the Board of Supervisors of the Township and the same is hereby ordained and enacted as follows, to wit: SECTION 1. The Code of Ordinances of the Township is amended by the addition of Chapter 84, Emergency Response Payment Reimbursement, as follows:

Chapter 84 EMERGENCY RESPONSE PAYMENT REIMBURSEMENT

§ 84-01. Definitions. The following words and phrases when used in this Chapter 84 shall have the meanings given to them in this Chapter unless the context clearly indicates otherwise: Actual and Reasonable Response Costs. An amount that is consistent with what a reasonable person would pay in the same or similar circumstances for the same business or for the same or similar item. This term shall not include any costs for labor.

Emergency. An incident that requires responsive, coordinated action to protect an individual, the environment, critical infrastructure or property.

Fire Company or Fire Companies. The Hanover Township Volunteer Fire Company #1.

Official Dispatch. The dispatch of a Fire Company to an Emergency by the Northampton County 911 Call Center or a response to a special call or request from the Colonial Regional Police with an Emergency.

Township. The Township of Hanover, Northampton County, Pennsylvania.

§84-02. Reimbursement. A person involved in an Emergency that necessitates a response from the Fire Company shall be liable for the Actual and Reasonable Response Costs incurred by the Fire Company unless that person has paid a tax to the Township which funds at least part of the Fire Company's operations and maintenance.

§84-03. Procedure. (a) Billing. The Fire Company shall have the right and authority to seek reimbursement for Actual and Reasonable Response Costs related to an Emergency as provided for under this Chapter which includes but is not limited to, the Actual or Reasonable Response Costs of materials used or equipment damaged in an Emergency. A bill for reimbursement must clearly itemize the costs that have been incurred by the Fire Company and shall be in accordance with the Cost Schedule attached hereto and marked Exhibit "A", which Cost Schedule may be revised from time to time by Resolution of the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Hanover.

(b) Reimbursement. If a person receives a bill for Actual and Reasonable Response Costs as provided for under this Chapter, the person shall be responsible for payment of the bill. A person may elect to submit the bill to an insurance company; however, submission of a bill to an insurance company shall not relieve the person, other than a person that has paid taxes to the Township as provided in §84-02 from financial responsibility for payment of the bill, if an insurance company denies payment of the bill.

(c) Failure to Pay. The Fire company or a third party billing service that submits to a person a bill for Actual and Reasonable Response Costs as provided for under this Chapter may file an action in a court of competent jurisdiction to recover the amount of Actual and Reasonable Response Costs if the person fails to pay the amount of the bill, which may include reasonable interest, reasonable administrative fees, reasonable attorney fees, and court fees for the collection of the bill.

SECTION 2. SEVERABILITY. The provisions of this Ordinance are severable, and if a court of competent jurisdiction declares any provision of this Ordinance to be invalid or ineffective in whole or in part, the effect of such decision shall be limited to those provisions which are expressly stated in the decision to be invalid or ineffective, and all other provisions of this Ordinance shall continue to be separately and fully effective.

SECTION 3. REPEALER CLAUSE. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances or Resolutions conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict.

SECTION 4. EFFECTIVE DATE. This Ordinance shall be effective five (5) days after adoption.

James L. Broughal, Esquire TOWNSHIP SOLICITOR 38 West Market Street Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18018

EXHIBIT "A"

Motor Vehicle Accident Billing Rates

There will be three levels of billing: Light, Medium, and Heavy.

All vehicles at an accident will be assessed separately. Whenever possible, all vehicles involved in an accident will be billed at least the light rescue charge of $250 when a patient is transported to a medical facility.

$250.00 - Light $400.00 - Medium $600.00 - Heavy

- Light: Use of wood cribbing for basic vehicle stabilization. Removal of patients from the vehicle using spinal stabilization. Scene Lighting. Minor vehicle fluid clean-up (up to 20lbs of oil dry). Use of road flares and traffic control devices. Basic vehicle rescue techniques: Example: Distending a door or gaining entry. Use of basic hand tools. Additional hazard control and or fire suppression.

- Medium: Some or all Light Rescue services listed above plus any one or more of the items listed: Basic use of portable hydraulic spreader, and mechanical advantage equipment. Moderate vehicle fluid clean-up and or use of spill kit. (Up to 30lbs of oil dry). Basic rope work including single lines and stokes basket work that is low angle. Use of firefighting foam (F500) or "No Flash" with a self-contained breathing apparatus (SCBA). Performing winch operations. This rate will be billed any time a Landing Zone has to be set up for patients removed or ejected from the vehicle, regardless of services provided.

- Heavy: Includes Light and Heavy Services plus any one or more of the items listed: Advanced use of power tools, air tools, air bags and hydraulic tools. Multiple hydraulic tool evolutions involving multiple patients: Example: Wide bodies, Dash roll-ups. Vehicles connected. Major disassembly and advanced rescue techniques. Extractions lasting more than 45 minutes. All high angle rope work. All large vehicles with entrapment - Tractor Trailer Combinations, Tri-Axles, etc. All collapse and confined space rescues. All farm vehicle and industrial accidents.

Hazardous Materials Incidents: All Haz-Mat incidents will be billed the Heavy rate if there is a patient transported to a medical facility or consult and/or services are needed from Lehigh County Haz-Mat Response Team. Additional Equipment and materials shall be billed at cost.

Landing Zones: If we are dispatched to establish an LZ for medical purposes the Medium rescue rate will be billed.

If the LZ is mutual aide to another department, no charge will be billed.

Notes: Since we cannot know every situation that we could come across, we will access all situations not covered by the guideline and adjust as need be.

Rescue assignments will be evaluated for billing on a case by case basis. Oct. 29
