Soldier Son Sends
Vases To Mother 11 1943

Mrs. Mary Gross, 739 Dellwood Street, this city, recently received eight hand-made and hand-painted flower vases from her son, Tech. Sgt. Frank Gross, who was stationed somewhere in Sicily as acting sergeant major of a tank battalion. Sgt. Gross is attached to the U. S. Fifth Army and possibly now is somewhere in Italy. The vases were carefully packed and shipped in a wooden box and arrived safely without even a scratch on them.

Mrs. Gross has three other sons in the service: Joseph, stationed somewhere in New Guinea; John, somewhere with the U. S. Navy, and Andrew, now going through his "boot" training at the Sampson Naval Training Station, Sampson, N. Y.
