SEP 28 1943

John M. Saldi, U. S. Navy, the first of Bethlehem's paid firemen to enlist in the naval forces, has been advanced to the rank of Machinist Mate First Class. Navy life is not new to him. During World War 1 he did his bit for Uncle Sam, and following the Jap sneak on December 7, 1941 that old navy blood started boiling. Early in January 1942, he was again in uniform, and during the past 21 months he has received two promotions. Before his enlistment he was stationed at the Good Will Fire Company's home. He is a member of Harry F. W. Johnson Post No. 379, American Legion. His home is at 718 Main Street, Bethlehem.
