

Good reading on the climate emergency on the day our CAP draft comes out!

The Bethlehem Gadfly Environment December 9, 2020

 Latest in a series of posts on the environment

Gadfly:

If you are worried about the growing climate emergency (which will kill far more people than the coronavirus), you might want to read these two items:

- To Turn Fear to Action, We Must Confront the Emotions of the Climate Emergency — a conversation with the visionary cofounder of The Climate Mobilization, Margaret Klein Salamon — a must-read for anyone wondering how to react, engage, and really make a difference
- Regenerative Agriculture and the Soil Carbon Solution — Rodale Institute's latest white paper on regenerative agriculture & climate shows how regenerative organic agriculture can produce plenty of good food while removing CO<sub>2</sub> from the air and sequestering it into the soil — without poisoning our air, soil, and water. (Builds on their 2014 white paper.)

Peace,

Peter Crownfield

The Bethlehem Gadfly

