State budget finally in place

BY ZACHARY DUFFY
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The school board met for its monthly budget workshop April 25 to discuss the Pennsylvania legislative budget, which was approved the day before.

Overall, the district is receiving $217,261 less than it had originally projected last year. While the frustration could be heard in the voices of board members, there was also a sense of relief because they finally know what to expect from the state.

"As of April, we now have a budget. I'm not sure we should celebrate that," said chief financial officer Stacy Gober.

In January, the district's preliminary deficit was $15.2 million, but the board has reduced it by $9.1 million to only $6.1 million. Some cutbacks include staffing changes as well as building and program budgets. Athletic and technological reductions were also made.

"We have continued to review all areas of the budget. The majority of reductions did come from instructional as well as student services," said Gober.

Gober also acknowledged the board has been looking for large dollars to balance the budget needed for the goal in June. Many members of the board have stated multiple times that the costs for charter schools and the retirement system have driven the budget up $15 million from the 2015-16 budget. The charter schools alone have an increase of roughly 25 percent from last year. The costs rose from $20.8 million to $25.9 million. The Pennsylvania School Employees' Retirement System (PSERS) has increased by 19 percent from $25 million in 2015-16, to $29.9 million for 2016-17.

"These state mandated expenses from charter schools and pensions continue to literally break our bank. We con-

A record year!

This year's Bethlehem Area School District's Mini-THON raised a record-breaking $125,867.37. Some 1,200 Freedom and Liberty students, faculty and administrators participated in the 12-hour event hosted by Freedom. Last year's fundraising campaign reported approximately $100,000 raised by students from a variety of activities throughout the school year. The Mini-THON benefits the Four-Diamonds Fund at Penn State Hershey Children's Hospital which provides care and assistance for cancer patients and their families. The final amount this year totaled $147,892.63. An additional $22,025.26 was raised from corporate sponsors. Penn State's annual THON event at University College since 1977 has raised more than $114 million for the Four Diamonds Fund.

S&P improves city's bond rating

BY NATE JASTRZEMSKI
njastzrzmki@tnonline.com

BETHLEHEM

Mayor Bob Donchez announced in a release last week that Standard and Poor's has officially upgraded the city's bond rating by two notches and expects continued positive progress. The rating has moved from BBB to A-, skipping over BBB+ entirely.

S&P's analysis cites improved structure and concerted management efforts following a period of fiscal distress as reason for the rating change.

Donchez said reduced costs and improved revenue were enacted by:

- Applying/negotiating higher contribution to healthcare and adding deductibles for the first time in our history.
- Driving staff to an all-time low of 610 employees while still maintaining a high level of service.
- Having two modest tax increases
- We've optimized Act 511 tax collections, previously uncollected, by $350,000 per year.

"We have also put into effect financial planning discipline through our 5-year plan, and forming a financial advisory committee to ensure high level input to our direction.

"Many choices have been extremely difficult," said Donchez. "We took advantage of the historically low interest rates allowing us to refinance some of our [general operating] debt, restructure our water debt and fully fund our PMRS pension program through issuance of a pension bond.

"This credit rating improvement signifies to the capital markets that Bethlehem is a better bet, a safer investment than it was prior. While the dark cloud of underperformance has been removed, we have to continue to challenge ourselves. And, with the continued support of city council and, if we continue to perform, the analysis indicates further possible rate improvement. This is all great news for the City of Bethlehem!"

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thoughts on the proposed Soutside parking garage

There are five assumptions embedded in the justification for building a garage for Dennis Benner’s project in South Bethlehem. The first assumption is that he will build the approved building on the southwest corner of New and Third streets. The second and third assumptions are that the building for student housing and retail he proposes on Fourth Street will be approved and built. The fourth assumption is that, “For this type of development and factoring in the car-centered culture in this area of the country, we assume that 300 feet is the maximum walking distance that the average person would consider reasonable in order to reach this destination,” (page 10) according to the report of the consultants to the parking authority.

The consultants have not made up their minds on the fifth assumption, which is that 10 percent (pages 1 and 13) or 15 percent (page 6) of the parking spaces need to be vacant, “...reducing excessive circulation of vehicles looking for an available space” (page 1) and not “...increasing traffic and driver frustration (page 6).”

In addition to this fuzziness, the perception of accuracy on the part of the consultants is also undermined by the realization that a certain block is identified both as Graham Place (pages 2 and 11) and as Rink Street (pages 3, 4 and 7).

The current excess capacity, at 1 p.m. on a weekday in the study area, is estimated to be 502 spaces. This is close to the ballpark of the 680 spaces said to be required by the two buildings, certainly not necessitating a large garage. St.

Dr. Joseph J. Roy, BASD superintendent, meets Eileen Seitz, a Freedom graduate who attends Penn State in State College and participates in the Penn State THON. Eileen is the daughter of Jack and Pam Seitz of Bethlehem Township and was co-captain of the first BASD Mini-THON.

A Freedom Patriot Band contingent performs on stage before the fundraising numbers are revealed. Liberty Grenadiers also played.

Joe Young, 11th grader and Freedom football quarterback (right), plays a game of quoits with teammate Jeremy Parker.

Madison Donchez enjoys free food during the outdoor BASD Mini-THON activities on the grounds of Freedom HS.

Sarah Weeks, a Freedom freshman, leaps for a frisbee during the outdoor activities at the BASD Bethlehem Township high school grounds Saturday afternoon during the fourth annual Mini-THON. “It’s awesome. I like it a lot and it’s for a good cause,” said the first-year attendee.

Mini-THON banners, made by the Helping Hands Committee with students from both high schools, decorate the hallway lobby outside the Freedomn gymnasium. The colorful banners designate each of the 12 hour dancing themes during Mini-THON.

The Greatest Message

Martin Luther called John 3:16 "The heart of the Bible—the Gospel in miniature." It's so simple a child can understand it; yet it condenses the deep and marvelous truths of redemption into these few pungent words:

"God"	The Greatest Lover	"So loved"	The Greatest Degree
"The world"	The Greatest Number	"That he gave"	The Greatest Act
"His only begotten Son"	The Greatest Gift	"That whosoever"	The Greatest Invitation
"Believesth"	The Greatest Simplicity	"In him"	The Greatest Person
"Should not perish"	The Greatest Deliverance	"But"	The Greatest Difference
"Have"	The Greatest Certainty	"Everlasting life"	The Greatest Possession

Some years ago, I was asked to speak to a dying man following our church service in a convalescent home. The family had been called together and told that he was dying. They asked if I would speak to him about salvation and explained that he appeared to be very fearful of dying. He could not speak because of a stroke years before. I explained to him why Jesus came to this world and briefly told him how to accept Christ. Then I asked him to pray in his heart and led him in a sinner's prayer. After prayer, his son said, "Dad, if you prayed that prayer in your heart, would you squeeze my hand?" He did. Then to everyone's amazement, he reached over and took my hand and gave it a good strong squeeze! Several days later, I was asked to conduct his funeral and there the Christ told me how changed his disposition was after he had received Jesus into his heart. His fears of dying had left him, and he died in peace having accepted the greatest message in the world!

What about you? Have you responded to the greatest message in the world?

Drug education, prevention program offered tonight

BY DEBBIE GALBRAITH
dgalbraith@tntonline.com

Parents, guardians and members of the Salisbury community are invited to a heroin and opioid prevention education program 6:30 to 8 p.m. May 4 in the Salisbury HS auditorium.

The program is presented by The Center for Humanistic Change and a version of the program was presented to all students at the high school April 18 and 22.

The adult version will include the same material as well as a visual of household items being used to support the drug use which can be a tool for early intervention.

With Pennsylvania carrying the distinction of the second highest state with heroin deaths, the first being Kentucky, Lehigh County officials are taking notice. Programs are being presented throughout the county to students and members of Lisa Wolff, program director, The Center for Humanistic Change stands with School Resource Officer Richard Notstein at Salisbury High School April 22 following the Heroin and Opioid Prevention Education program for students.

There were 84 overdose deaths in Lehigh County in 2014 and 117 overdose deaths in 2015.

According to Lisa Wolff, program director, The Center for Humanistic Change, 51 overdose deaths are suspected so far in 2016. The coroner must wait for toxicology reports to return before confirming overdose as the cause of death in some of those cases.

Many addictions start with sports injuries or surgeries when pain medication is prescribed.

Regarding heroin, Wolff said 80 percent of heroin users reportedly started their addiction with prescription painkillers. Four out of five.

During the student presentation, Wolff asked students to stand up if they knew anyone who had a drug addiction. The majority of students stood.

Parents will attend tonight's program to tell their stories firsthand.

In addition to the presentation, Salisbury police will collect prescription drugs from any residents who would like to dispose of unused drugs properly.

If unable to attend the May 4 presentation, contact Wolff at 610-443-1595 or The Center for Humanistic Change at www.thechc.org for additional presentations in the area.

Readers who suspect an overdose should contact 911 immediately. Police and health care professionals are able to administer Narcan, which could save a life.

Gracedale management bids sought

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

If there is any single reason why Northampton County nursing home Gracedale has turned around, it's most likely Premiere Healthcare Resources. That company was hired in 2011 to take over the administration at what was then a beleaguered nursing home. Five years later, a nursing home that was projected to lose $7.7 million last year still lost money, but only $2.1 million. Even more importantly, the facility received an unheard-of "zero violation" inspection for two years in a row. But as the fifth and final year of its contract comes to an end, Northampton County Council had to decide on April 21 whether to seek new bids or just continue with a company that has been providing excellent service.

Deputy Administrator Cathy Allen advocated a new contract with Premier for the next two years. "If it isn't broken, don't fix it," was her argument. She said if the nursing home is revenue neutral at the end of that time, the county could consider resuming control once again.

Bob Werner thinks the current management contract should be extended, but Hayden Phillips says the law compels that a new contract be bid.

Peg Ferraro agreed with her, saying two years would fly by quickly. "Just give 'em two years, and then rethink it," she argued. Bob Werner said keeping Premier on would ensure that Gracedale would remain on track to be revenue neutral.

But six other council members felt differently.

Council President John Cusick said, "Taxpayers are best served by going out to competitive bid whenever it is necessary." He agreed that Premier had done an excellent job, but said he believes the job should be put out to bid.

"We're a nation of laws, not people," added Hayden Phillips. "I'm pretty sure we have to send this out."

Mat Benol scoffed at Allen's suggestion "to put Gracedale back in county hands when the county has already proven that it did not take care of Gracedale the first time."

Controller Steve Barron warned council that this was a slippery slope that sounded very much like the Sahl contract, a public relations contract that Executive John Brown executed without council approval during his first year in office.

By a 6-2 vote, council recommended that any new contract for Gracedale's management be competitively bid. The two votes against came from Ferraro and Werner.

Ken Kraft and Executive John Brown were absent from the meeting.

Top 5 Home Projects To Help You Save

It's remodeling season, and with so many projects on the to-do list, which should you tackle first? While some are big investments, a few simple ones can provide instant savings. Here are the top home spring projects to help you save.

Caulk around windows and doors - Stop air leaks around your home by sealing existing gaps and cracks around doors and windows. Installing a door sweep is also a good idea.

Clean your AC unit - It's not uncommon to find an air conditioner's condenser and compressor blocked up with dirt. Giving it a thorough cleaning is easy and can help maximize your energy bill.

Plant trees - Direct sunlight can heat up surfaces and building materials, as well as the interior temperature. Planting trees in strategic locations to provide shade and reduce cooling costs.

Install a rain barrel - Water is an important, but costly resource. Installing a rain barrel is an easy and affordable way to reduce water consumption, while keeping your lawn and garden looking great.

These simple home maintenance tasks can be well worth the effort, potentially providing hundreds of dollars in savings.

9 Ways To Improve Curb Appeal

Homeowners who want their homes to make strong first impressions must prioritize curb appeal. Homes with high curb appeal impart a welcoming feel to all visitors. Improving curb appeal need not be expensive, and the following are a few ways to improve the appearance of your home.

1. Install a bold-looking door in a vibrant color or one with a custom design. This helps the home stand out from the crowd.
2. Edge the driveway to create a distinct border between the driveway and the lawn or other landscaping features. This makes the driveway well kept.
3. Use outdoor lighting to make a home more inviting. Outdoor lighting also makes properties safer to traverse.
4. Clean a home's exterior to remove mildew or discolorations from the siding, driveway, patio, and other outdoor surfaces.
5. Improve landscapes with fresh plants and seasonal color. Homeowners without the time to plant can consider using mulch, which takes much time to assemble but still add appeal to a home's exterior.
6. Prune planting beds and add new mulch to restore color.
7. Add shutters and accent trim to a home's exterior to improve on the beauty of the house.
8. Install new fencing or give a fresh coat of paint or stain to an existing fence.
9. Replace concrete paths with tile or stone walkways to make entryways more impressive and inviting.

14 candidates vie for title

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society has announced the 2016 candidates for its 2016 Man & Woman of the Year competition. The candidates have set a goal of raising $350,000 during their 10-week campaign and must also raise awareness for LLS's mission: to cure leukemia, lymphoma and myeloma, and to improve the quality of life for patients and their families. This year's fundraising is in honor of two local patient heroes, the 2016 Boy and Girl of the Year: Griffin King and Lexi Cable. LETTER

Luke's outpatients could have the nearest spaces, perhaps with also the wheelchair service available on Fountain Hill.

The crucial assumption of the five is the fourth assumption concerning a limitation of 300 feet between car and person, which is considerably less than one block. It reduces the excess capacity from 502 spaces to 78. Compared to the 680 spaces estimated to be required by the two buildings, this assumption is devastating.

It has two possible interpretations. The first interpretation is that America has become a nation of weaklings (even students?), meaning that the comparisons between the United States and the decline of the Roman Empire are not far-fetched. The second interpretation is that there is a fine line between accommodation and pandering, and the city is pandering to the people it hopes will be attracted to the two buildings.

The project has been described by the mayor as a "game-changer." Indeed it is. If this game goes afoot across South Bethlehem, it will become an area of taller buildings and numerous garages, like many other nondescript small and mid-sized cities, with a mechanistic denial of the human scale and down-to-earth quality of South Bethlehem today, leaving little else but remembered history.

Why does this have to happen when there is another developer who respects history, pays for his own parking, and even puts the parking underground at significantly greater cost? This could be called city planning.

A final note: It has been argued that the garage is not costing the taxpayers almost $18 million because the council is only being asked to guarantee the bond issue, not to pay for it. It is true that the bonds will be retired by the parking authority from its future revenues. But these revenues then will not be available for the maintenance of other facilities, requiring funds from the city. And the authority will no longer be able to make annual contributions to the general fund of the city, requiring the city to cut services and/or to raise taxes. The impact upon the taxpayer will be no less painful for being a little indirect.

Warehouse an eyesore after all

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Approximately 30 people, most of them residents of Traditions of America's (TOA) 241-home Jaindl Boulevard active senior development, attended Hanover Township's April 12 meeting to complain again about the visibility of a new warehouse across the street from their development.

At the March 22 meeting, they claimed they had been misled about surrounding land before having purchasing their homes. They claimed that this deception continued when an engineer at a zoning hearing claimed the then-planned warehouse would be barely visible. "We need some help," said resident Richard Brand.

They got it. Township Manager Jay Finnigan told TOA residents he had looked into their concerns about the visibility of the warehouse. He indicated the height of this building is actually two feet less than what the plan authorized. He did observe that two deciduous trees were missing from the approved plan. He indicated that the remaining trees were planted last fall, that the roots will develop over the summer, and they should provide some buffering. But he cautioned that these are deciduous trees. For "significant" periods during the year, the trees will be bare, making the industrial business more visible.

Finnigan then conducted several meetings with the developer of the project, who agreed to plant 26 white pine, white spruce and Douglas firs. They will be six feet high at planting, and can grow as high as 50 feet. He provided landscape plans to Phil Hoffman, who was acting as a spokesperson for TOA residents. Those show precisely where trees will be planted.

In addition to these evergreens, the developer will plant 12 leatherleaf viburniums, an expansive and bushy evergreen that can also grow as high as 50 feet.

The developer has committed to planting this additional landscaping in early May.

Finnigan produced a second plan showing the berm as it exists, and it conforms with the approved plan. He pursued the possibility of widening the berm and elevating it, but was told it would be impossible. Trees already planted would have to be ripped out and the berm would erode.

Hoffman said that he still wanted more relief because the visibility of the warehouse is "having an impact on our community."

Finnigan also addressed claims made by residents that they had been misled by TOA realtors. He indicated that each property owner received and signed for a packet of information at the time of their purchase warning that "the land surrounding the site is zoned with commercial or light industrial and business or other uses as depicted on the zoning map."

Hoffman then went on to say, as he did at the previous meeting, "We pay taxes and get nothing for our taxes except advice and help."

Finnigan challenged that assertion. "You get the same services every resident in the township gets, with the exception that we don't plow your streets, we don't pick up your leaves and we don't pick up your yard waste. You have the use of our streets, you have the use of our traffic signals, you have the use of our parks, you have the use of our sidewalks, you have the use of our police, fire"

Hoffman said police are supplied by the county, and Finnigan corrected that, saying the township pays $1.7 million per year for police protection.

Atkins hit-run trial moved to July 5

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

A Hanover Township man who was supposed to face trial this week in a fatal hit-and-run will wait until July 5 for his trial.

Royce Atkins, age 22, was arraigned March 17 on criminal charges filed as a result of a Nov. 6, 2015 accident along Schoenersville Road that left a 9-year-old boy dead.

This matter has been assigned to Judge Michael Koury, who has also scheduled a pretrial conference for June 10.

Atkins is represented by prominent Philadelphia criminal defense lawyer Jack McMahon. The assistant district attorney assigned to prosecute this matter is Joseph Lupackino.

Atkins has been charged with failing to stop at an accident involving death or serious bodily injury. That is a second degree felony with a mandatory minimum sentence of three years in prison and a mandatory minimum fine of $2,500.

He remains free on 10 percent of $50,000 bail.

Darious Condash, along with a 14 year old cousin and 15-year-old friend, had just left WaWa at about 6:30 pm, about a quarter mile from Condash's home. When he went back to pick up a piece of candy dropped on Schoenersville Road, he was struck by Atkins' blue Mazda. Atkins left the scene without stopping, but admitted his involvement to Detective Gary Hammer three days later. Following a preliminary hearing Jan. 15, Magisterial District Judge James Narlesky found sufficient evidence to send the case to county court.

Board approves solid privacy fence

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

There's been a lot of talk about building a wall, a really big one, in the presidential race. But locally, people are more concerned about fences. Privacy fences. At their April 14 meeting, Hanover Township's Zoning Hearing Board members unanimously decided to grant Brian and Gina Kutz a variance that will enable them to build a solid privacy fence at their property at 4408 Tracey Lane.

Though the zoning ordinance permits only see-through fences, Solicitor

Ted Lewis said it permits residents to build walls, really big ones (six feet high). He questioned why a wall is permitted, but a solid fence is banned.

The Kutzes' fence, which will be 208 feet long and six feet high, will connect with the next property, which had a fence before the zoning ordinance took effect.

Kutz explained that, in addition to privacy, the fence will buffer some of the noise from traffic. The fence is inside of landscaping he already has planted.

No one opposed this request.

and is only a $447.14 per year increase in salary, which Novotnack said is money well spent.

Colon said, "From an organizational standpoint it makes perfect sense" to increase the rank.

Evans said since the chief fire inspector had already been performing the extra duties, the change in rank was just formalizing his role.

Negron-Dipini commended the fire department for its work. "You guys are a team," she said.

Police Chief Mark DiLuzio said the city's police department is the ninth largest in the state with 154 officers. Changing the rank of a police lieutenant, criminal investigation to captain, criminal investigation will assure an officer of high rank will be on duty on nights and weekends, which is not currently the case. The change is budget neutral, DiLuzio said.

Colon said the change is "a good step in the right direction" to give the police more visibility in the community.

Mayor Bob Donchez said it is very important to have a command officer on the night shift. "What chief is proposing is well thought-out," Donchez said.

Pates still top team

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Freedom's torrid start to the spring continues to roll into the final third of the baseball season, as the Patriots extended their winning streak to 11 games following Monday's 14-5 win over Dieruff to push their overall mark to a league best 15-1 and 11-1 in East Penn Conference play.

The Pates 5-1 win over Liberty last week was their most important victory of the last week, which also saw their contest with Easton postponed, giving them a three-game lead over the Hurricanes in the division.

Despite having only one blemish on their record, that being a 1-0 loss to Parkland on April 5, Freedom will likely see their season go down to the wire in the EPC's Steel Division race, as Easton (12-3) has been equally impressive this year.

"You would think with the type of season we're having that we'd have more breathing room at this point," said

Pates head coach Nick D'Amico. "It's a tough division and every game here on out is a big for us because we know Easton is right on our tails."

If you think the pressure to stay in their winning form means much to this year's group of Patriots, you may be wrong, predominantly because they've had the best pitching in the league this year.

Senior John Yocum and sophomore Alec Huertas have been outstanding on the mound, as evidence came into play in last week's win over the Hurricanes. Yocum threw a complete game three-hitter, striking out six in the pro-

Steel FC settle for draw

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Steel FC registered their second straight scoreless draw at Lehigh's Goodman Stadium Sunday afternoon against Louisville City.

The draw gives Steel FC a 2-2-2 mark on the season and extended their unbeaten streak to three games with the result, good enough to put them in ninth place in the table with eight points through six games.

The home side had a chance in the 18th minute when Fabian Herbers beat several defenders and played Eric Ayuk with a through ball on goal, but Louisville keeper Greg Ranjitsingh rushed the play and killed a scoring opportunity.

While Steel FC had their chances, goalkeeper John McCarthy kept the team in the contest throughout the afternoon.

He denied a Sean Reynold's header in the 31st minute. McCarthy then stonewalled USL leading goal scorer Chandler Hoffman's opportunity on goal just before the half.

In the 76th minute, McCarthy made another huge save to deny Mark-Anthony Kaye's shot from a corner kick.

McCarthy registered seven saves on the day, as Louisville City outshot Steel FC 15-to-7.

Liberty bounces back from Emmaus

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Liberty hasn't lost many matches on the volleyball court this season, but when they have, the Hurricanes have always found a way to bounce back.

Following last week's 21-25, 16-25, 23-25 sweep at the hands of Emmaus, the Hurricanes (9-2, 7-2) reeled off their second defeat of the season to two of the leagues perennial contenders — Parkland (11-1) and Emmaus (10-1).

In order for Liberty to supplant themselves into the Lehigh Valley's volleyball hierarchy, a win over the Green Hornets would have gone a long way. Take a game or pushing it to five would have still been a defeat, but one that they could look at with less frustration.

Instead, a sweep is what Neiad Ammary's team was dealt.

Whether that means much in the present is up for anyone's discretion with just over a week left in the regular season, but the 'Canes did what all good or great teams must do after tough losses and that's come back stronger.

Liberty followed suit with three-game sweeps over Nazareth and Pennsbury last week to wash away some of the residue of their defeat to Emmaus and replenish their confidence.

"Naturally, we were disappointed with our performance against Emmaus," said Ammary. "We played an uncharacteristically bad match and simply didn't execute well in any phase of the game."

"On the other hand, Emmaus seemed to play exceptionally well, especially defensively. It was a humbling loss, but we will learn from it and move forward. I'm confident we'll get another shot at them in the coming weeks."

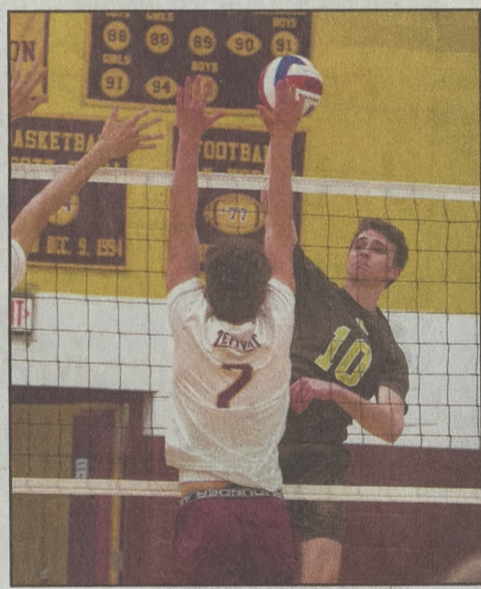

The loss to the Hornets dropped the Hurricanes from eighth to tenth in the PAVBCA state rankings, as their sweep over a previously ranked Pennsbury team helped steer them back on track with a victory over a talented opponent.

"Pennsbury was recently ranked as high as

Hawks fall to Easton

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic's softball team suffered a minor setback last week when the Hawks lost to Easton 4-2.

"They outplayed us," said Becahi coach Rich Mazza. "We worked hard on preparing for them, but things happen."

Some of those things included early hits by the Red Rovers that converted to runs, and 10 strikeouts by Easton pitcher, Maegen Kavanagh.

"Instead of thinking, I just went out and threw them," Kavanagh said. "We knew it was a big game, and as a team, we lost a lot of one-run games, so today was a good day to prove it."

Kavanagh also had a base hit in the third inning when the Red Rovers scored two runs, one by Emily Staniliuous on a suicide squeeze.

"I had to really get a good jump off base and felt really good about it," Staniliuous said.

The Hawks also scored two runs in the third inning after Jess Indelicato's hit to the outfield rolled by the center fielder, scoring Maddie Ensley, and later, Angelys Cotto's base hit scored Indelicato.

In the fifth inning, Becahi's Brooke Rau had a ground-rule double, and in the sixth, Becahi's Bethanne Brandstetter led off with a base hit, followed by a double for Hawks pitcher, Elyse Cuttic.

"We had our chances with some top hitters, but Easton's a good team," said Mazza. "We were flat early, but with an aggressive team like this, they took advantage of it."

No doubt the Hawks will be conscious of all possibilities this week, when they revisit Freedom on Wednesday and Liberty on Friday.

"One more time, Liberty and Freedom, one more time," Mazza said. "I think our division is the most competitive division. We've just got to be ready."

Patriots edge Liberty, beat the Red Rovers

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

One run was all it took for Freedom to defeat Liberty 1-0 last Tuesday at Freedom High School.

"This was a big game for us," said Patriot catcher Jana Boksan. "Every year we look forward to this game, and we knew we'd be able to get them."

The Patriots got the Hurricanes in the second inning, which began with a base hit from Taylor Resetar. Kylee Schwind's sacrifice bunt moved Resetar to second base, and Arielle Gonzalez's single to right field advanced Resetar to third.

"She was pitching outside, and she put it right there for me," said Gonzalez, referring to Hurricane pitcher, Victoria Schmidt. "Every at bat, I was trying to relax because I felt like I had to do big things."

Boksan reached first base on an overthrow, which scored Resetar.

"I kind of just put the ball in play," said Boksan. "We've been talking about having good at bats, and we made them make a play."

Liberty's bats were fairly quiet until the fourth inning when Michaela Brunnabend and Reyna DeJesus came through, but the Hurricanes were unable to monopolize on that.

"Shayla [Peterson] throws really well," Boksan said. "We're just trying to play clean defense, and we worked on that at practice."

Freedom threatened to score more runs in the bottom of the fourth inning when Schwind singled to center field, stole second base on a passed ball, and advanced to third on another base hit by Gonzalez.

"I saw the ball hit [the catcher's glove] and roll away, and I was taking off," said Schwind. "We definitely have a lot of fight, and I knew they were after us, so we needed to stay on our game."

A ground out ended the inning, however.

Two days later, the Patriots defeated Easton 9-0.

Peterson, who had a double in the game, struck out 11. Hunter Schantz also had a double for the Patriots.

Schwind hit a home run, and Alexis Szaro and Brenda Reninga scored three runs apiece for Freedom.

fifth in the state and had beaten us at the Bobcat Invitational tournament a few weeks ago," Ammary said. "We were especially sharp in our win over them. I deliberately added some matches against tough non-league opponents late in the season to make sure we are challenged as we head into the postseason."

That task continues this Friday when Liberty travels to Council Rock North. That will be their toughest test of the week, as they shouldn't have any problems taking care of Northampton (3-7) or Bethlehem Catholic (1-10).

Liberty has already clinched a district postseason berth and hopes that the losses they've suffered can pay dividends in lessons learned when it comes to playoff time.

"I am confident that we'll get another shot at Emmaus and possibly at Parkland in the league or district playoffs," Ammary said. "We took notes and learned some valuable strategic insights that will, hopefully, help us when we see them again."

"The fact that we have a senior-laden team that continues to work hard and is motivated to take their careers on a note could also help down the stretch."

Freedom (4-10) and Becahi are both in playoff contention this season. The Patriots (8) this week, and the Hawks have Liberty and

Swimmers reach goals

 kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Liberty senior swimmers, Kayla Drago and Nolan Vannata, qualified for YMCA Nationals this year in the 100 butterfly and 100 breaststroke, respectively. Although neither competed in the event in Greensboro, NC due to other commitments, both accomplished what they set out to do by senior year, albeit in different ways. Drago has been swimming the 100 fly for the last nine years with the exception of her junior year. "We switched it up, and I was swimming a lot of the 50 free and the 100 free," Drago said. "I was, well, I was upset. I remember doing the fly for Y States nine years ago. So it stuck with me, and being able to finish off this year was really important."

Drago spoke with her coach, Reik Foust, and was back to competing in the 100 fly this season. "It was important to me because I was finishing what I started," said Drago. "I feel proud and happy because I made it such a big goal of mine. I'm glad I ended on a good note in high school to carry to college." Drago will attend Arcadia University where she will also swim. Vannata became a champ breaststroker in a way he least expected. "In eighth grade, I broke my pelvis and couldn't swim the breaststroke," Vannata said. "In our first [high school] meet, Reik put me in, and I said I can't swim it, but I did. I did well at it, and it became my event all four years. I really like it because it seems to be most people's worst stroke. You have to have a really graceful stroke." Four years ago when Vannata started competing in the breaststroke, Liberty had no district breast qualifiers. "The burden was on me," he said. Adding to the burden were naysayers, the ones who said he could not be a D-11 champ, which he became in March. "There were too many long, hard practices not to win," said Vannata. "I really liked showing people I could. There were two types of people: the ones who said I could, and the ones who said I can't. Both helped me." Vannata is currently in discussions with the swimming coach at the University of Pittsburgh, where he will be attending in the fall. "With a 58.6 breaststroke, they should be glad to have him," said coach Foust.

LHS to induct 2016 HOF class this weekend

BY PETER CAR
pcar@trionline.com

Liberty will introduce their newest athletic Hall of Fame class this Saturday, May 7, at 5 p.m. at Memorial Gymnasium.

This year's class features 15 individuals and the 2008 PIAA 4A state championship football team.

Among the prevalent names this distinguished class includes are Dan Persa, Tim Sahaydak, Warren West, Bill Ruth, Bob McClarin and Matt Reiss.

The bios for each inductee is presented below.

Tim Sahaydak

Tim Sahaydak is one of the most accomplished soccer players that the Lehigh Valley has ever produced. Following an all-state career at Liberty High School, where he was named a Parade All-America selection, he attended the University of North Carolina for two years. He left UNC after his sophomore season and became the youngest player to play Major League Soccer at that time for the Columbus Crew. He was also a member of the under-18 and under-20 national teams. Currently, Sahaydak is the University of Central Florida's associate head coach.

Robert Arnold

A two-time state high jump champion, Robert Arnold was seemingly jumping for the sky and the record books during the 1997 and 1998 track season. Arnold took his athletic talent to the University of Michigan where he continued to make a mark for himself.

Bob McClarin

Bob McClarin was a standout football player for Liberty HS. His academic and athletic success led him to the opportunity of a lifetime, entrance into the United States Naval Academy. While earning a degree in mechanical engineering, McClarin dominated on the football field as the starting "old school style" middle linebacker. His many accolades include The 2002 Admiral Mack Award, The 2004 Roger Staubach Award, and The 2004 College Football News All-Bowl Team among others. After graduation, McClarin continued his love of football through coaching and a wide array of leadership roles as an officer in the United States Navy and Civil Engineer Corps. Currently, Bob is employed at Air Products and has established Five Star Heart Training.

Lauren Birkhead

Lauren was the 2002 PIAA state champion in the pole vault. Lauren continued her athletic career at Penn State University.

Joan Peto Hopkins

Joan was a four-year letter winner on Liberty's swimming team. Peto went on to swim at Penn State University where she attained All-American honors in the 200 and 400 Free Relay and would also set the American record in the 200 Free Relay. After graduating from PSU, Peto earned her Master's degree in counselor education at Lehigh University and was hired as the inaugural women's swimming coach at Northern Michigan University. In her nine year tenure at NMU, her teams produced eight Division II National Champions and 34 Division II All-Americans. In 1982, Peto was recognized as the Division II "National Swimming Coach of the Year". Currently, Joan is the Associate Athletic Director for Academic Support Services at the University of Massachusetts, where she continues her excellence overseeing more than 500 student athletes. Joan was a former executive board member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A) and has been a Master's and Age Group swimming coach.

Bart Mosser

Bart won the PIAA wrestling championship at 127 in 1958. Mosser has held strategic leadership roles of President, CEO, Vice President, General Manager and VP Sales and Marketing with Fortune 500 companies and privately-held industry leaders.

Dan Persa

Being one of the most successful student-athletes to come out of the Lehigh Valley in the past decade, Persa has full appreciation for what sports has meant to him. He was the first PA high school quarterback to throw for more than 2,000 yards and to run for more than 1,000 yards in one season. Dan still holds 11th place on the District 11 career passing yards chart. Among Persa's many accolades in high school was being named MVP of the Big 33 All-Star Game. Although many Division I schools were calling Persa, Dan chose Northwestern University for its powerful combination of athletics and academics. Dan graduated with a 3.6 GPA and was a four-time Academic All-Big Ten member. He also served on NU's leadership council for four of his five seasons. Persa was named First Team All-Big Ten at quarterback in 2010. During his 2010 campaign, Dan set the Big Ten single-season record for completion percentage at 73.5 percent. Persa currently works in Chicago for commercial real estate giant CBRE as an associate.

Charlie Garcia

Garcia is one of the "Founding Four" of the Greater Bethlehem Youth Soccer League of the Lehigh Valley. The infrastructure and development provided in the late 1970s gave thousands of children a chance to participate in an organized, competitive soccer league that for many would transform their love for the sport and create the foundation for future athletes that made the Lehigh Valley dominant in soccer. Garcia was a scholastic, collegiate and professional player, as well as a coach, and a high school and college referee. While a freshman at Penn State University in 1945, he made All-American Honorable Mention. Garcia was also a decorated scholastic baseball player. He was drafted by the Philadelphia Phillies, but he chose to pursue his professional soccer career instead. He was inducted into the Hall of Fame of the Philadelphia's Old-Timers Soccer Association. Garcia coached at Northampton Community College from 1977-1980 and at Allentown College in the early 1980s. Charlie's passion for soccer and children were evident. He was a staple at the BMYSL meetings and Tournament weekends up until his passing in 2012. Charlie was a proud Bethlehem Steel worker for 38 years.

Matt Reiss

Matt finished among the top three at 167 pounds at the 1979 PIAA Wrestling Championships and then went on to even greater success at the collegiate level. NC State's national tradition began in 1980 when freshman Matt Reiss swept through the field at the NCAA Championships at 167 pounds to win the national championship, the Wolfpack's first NCAA champion. Over his three year collegiate career, Matt finished with a 51-10 record, and two ACC Championships. Matt continued his passion for the sport by becoming a PIAA wrestling referee.

Bill Ruth

Bill is the ultimate fitness fanatic. While teaching health and physical education for 34 years, coaching was in his blood. Ruth coached the swim team at Liberty for 14 years and the cross country and Track and Field programs for 24 years. As a scholastic and collegiate athlete, he attained All-American status in swimming. At Springfield College, he was named Senior Athlete of the Year and won the Robert Muir Award in 1974. Right out of college, he took over the head swim job at Freedom HS and the Bethlehem Aquatic Club until 1981, at which point his focus became succeeding as a professional triathlete. During a seven-year span, Ruth was ranked #4 in the world, placed 10th at the Hawaii Ironman, and was sponsored by the Saucony Running Team. It wasn't until 1987 that Liberty High School got to reap the benefits of his athletic talents. The sheer number of wins, league and district team championships, PIAA State runners, PIAA Team finishes, individual student accomplishments exemplifies the dedication, time and dominance of a Bill Ruth coached team. Bill was the Director of the PA Special Olympics Track and Field Program from 2000-2007. In 2008, Bill and his wife, Sherry, moved to Colorado where they continued their love for fitness and coaching.

Dave Szymakowski

Dave Szymakowski was one of the top football players ever to come out of Liberty High School. Dave, who was born in Fountain Hill and graduated from Liberty in 1964 after playing both offensive end and safety had a host of offers from colleges throughout the country. He decided to play at West Texas State University where he was inducted into their Hall of Fame. While in college, he played end on both offense and defense as a freshman and then was exclusively a wide receiver the next three seasons, being touted for All-America honors by the university. In his junior year, he was ranked the nation's 11th leading pass receiver, with "great all-around ability, speed, moves, hands and competitiveness." Dave was picked for the College All-Star team which faced the Green Bay Packers in 1968 at Soldier Field in Chicago. In 1968, Dave Szymakowski was drafted by the New Orleans Saints, where he played one injury plagued season that cut short his football career.

Warren West

Warren is best known for his athletic talents on the basketball court and football field. Warren was an integral part of the 1987 District 11 4A Championship team that ended the school's 26 year drought and became the first Liberty boys basketball squad in 24 years to win any championship. Warren still ranks #1 in points scored in a career with 1,487 from 1983-1987. West was also voted as an All-State selection in football and joined the Big 33 team in 1987 as a receiver and return man.

Jerome "Jerry" Zerfass

Of the 58,000 US Service personnel who lost their lives in the Vietnam War, many were young men whose athletic exploits made them recognizable figures in the Lehigh Valley and across the country. Jerome "Jerry" Zerfass was seemingly indestructible on the football and baseball fields of Liberty High School. As a hard nosed, work horse athlete, Jerry received many football scholarship offers, and decided to attend West Texas State University. However, after just one semester, Jerry joined the Army in October of 1966. While in the 173rd Airborne Brigade, he was part of the Sky Soldiers, who rode a new weapon, helicopters, into battle. Jerry's commitment, strength, and ultimate sacrifice earned him the National Defense Service Medal, the Combat Infantryman Badge, The Purple Heart, The Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Vietnam Service Medal.

Tony Filo

Tony was a three sport letterman at Liberty playing soccer, basketball, and baseball. In his senior year, Tony was an integral part on the undefeated soccer team, the only undefeated baseball team in LHS history, and a basketball team that went 22-1, losing in the state playoff game to a team coached by the highly regarded Pete Carril. After high school, Tony served our country in Vietnam. Upon his return, he worked at the Bethlehem Steel. Tony's love of basketball continued throughout his life as he not only competed in city leagues and tournaments, but also coached various community youth groups.

William Stark

William G. Stark was the pioneer wrestling coach in the state. He had coached 18 years going into the 1940 season and had five undefeated teams at LHS. Mr. Stark was a two-time wrestling champion in Scotland at the 140 lb. weight class. Stark is also known for his developmental work in creating a competitive soccer team sponsored by the Bethlehem Steel in 1912. Most players on this highly touted team and those that followed were Scottish-Irish in heritage due to Stark's connection overseas. Stark's team helped another surge in sports in Bethlehem over the next decades. Mr. Stark was also the first soccer coach at Bethlehem Steel High School and was inducted into the Lehigh Valley Soccer Hall of Fame. A jack of all trades, Stark was a talented gymnast, boxer, and headed the city's Red Cross swimming program for 25 years.

The 2008 PIAA 4A State Championship Football Team

Liberty Football dominated the Lehigh Valley from 2005 to 2008. This group of young athletes led by coach Tim Monahan reached the PIAA 4A Football championship game three times in a four-year period. In 2008, the Canes finished off overtime with a 28-21 victory over Bethel Park in Hershey. Overall, there were 10 student athletes from this '08 squad that went on to play at the collegiate level, including Devin Street, Jarrod West, Anthony Gonzalez, and Levi Brown.

"Two shutouts is great, back to back," said McCarthy. "I am happy about it, to be down here, it's a great opportunity for me and I am just trying to make the best of it."

Steel FC head coach Brendan Burke compared his team's most recent scoreless draws against Charleston and Louisville.

"I think this one had more life to it, certainly on both sides of the ball for them and for us, but happy to keep clean sheets," he said. "You have to remember we have a 17-year-old center back out there and we just played three of the better teams in the East in my opinion, or historically anyway. So to keep two clean sheets and only concede one in the game before that off a set piece, I am very happy with that."

Steel FC hit the road this weekend when they face Orlando City B on Saturday, May 7 at 7:30 p.m. The game will be available on the USL official YouTube channel. The team's next home game will be on May 15 against FC Montreal at 4 p.m.

cess, raising his season mark to 5-1.

His ERA sits at a profound .483 this season and he's only allowed three earned runs in his six starts, striking out 40 batters this season and walking 14.

Yocum's only loss on the year was the contest to Parkland with no run support.

Huertas has been equally impressive, tallying a 6-0 mark and a 1.5 ERA. He's struck out 35 batters this season and walked 21 — doing all of this as the number two arm as a sophomore. Huertas picked up the win in last week's 7-2 decision over Pleasant Valley, giving the Patriots a dynamic one-two punch on the mound this season, as they've combined to limit the opposition's batting average to .195 this season. "We've had good pitching all year," said D'Amico. "These guys have been consistent for us and the guys that come in for relief have done a great job too."

D'Amico was hoping to add more firepower to his pitching arsenal this week with junior Evan Callahan making his first start and picking up win against Dieruff. Callahan has led the Pates at the plate with 16 RBI this season, while Yocum has done his share as well, knocking in 15 runs and belting a team leading three home runs.

If Callahan can add another quality arm to the rotation, an already stalwart stable of pitchers could turn into a scary proposition for teams heading into the postseason.

With games against Bethlehem Catholic (7-8) and Pocono Mountain East (8-7) this week, Freedom was looking for a sweep in the win column to keep their momentum going.

"I think the guys know we still have work to do this season," D'Amico said. "We're really just trying to focus on every game. I think the more you win, the more confident you become and that's how we're playing."

Liberty (10-5, 8-4) got a huge 1-0 victory over Easton (12-3, 9-3) on Monday, as Sammy Kraihanzel knocked in the winning RBI in the fifth.

The 'Canes look to keep the division race tighter this week with games against Dieruff and East Stroudsburg South (4-12, 3-9).

Bethlehem Catholic (7-9, 5-9) ended a four-game slide with a 7-4 win over Dieruff last Thursday, but suffered a 5-2 blow to Allen Monday.

The Hawks need three wins to clinch a berth for the postseason as they take on Freedom and Pocono Mountain West (1-13) this week.

Sheriff, area chiefs back regional center

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Lehigh County District Attorney Jim Martin's dream of a truly regional crime center came a step closer to reality on March 28.

Its technical name is the Regional Intelligence and Investigative Center (RIIC) or Regional Crime Center, and it has been in existence since 2012. But despite its regional application, which has extended to police departments in Bethlehem and Easton, there's been no regional support. Lehigh County District Attorney Jim Martin has been forced, year after year, to ask Lehigh County Commissioners to fund this crime-fighting tool.

The main obstacle in Northampton County was then-Sheriff Randy Miller. But there's a new sheriff in town. David Dalrymple, who actually ran the Intelligence Section of the New Jersey State Police, is well aware of the use of computers to aggregate data and solve crimes. He calls the RIIC "a step beyond" what he saw in New Jersey.

At its March 28 meeting, Dalrymple stood in front of Northampton County's nine-member gaming board to seek $407,000 in slots revenue so Northampton County can formally become a part of the RIIC. Informally, Martin has already been making the Regional Crime Center's services available to Northampton County's police departments in Bethlehem and Easton.

Dalrymple spoke both as sheriff and on behalf of the Northampton County Police Chiefs' Association, which recently voted unanimously to support the RIIC. Police Chiefs Mark DiLuzio (Bethlehem), Guy Lesser (Lower Saucon), Larry Palmer (Palmer Township), Carl Scalzo (Easton) and Robert Shupp (Hellertown) were in the audience and acknowledged by Gaming Chair Jay Finnigan. In addition to the police chiefs, about half of Northampton County's assistant district attorneys were also present, showing their support.

Earlier this year, Northampton County DA John Morganelli announced that Northampton County had signed on to a digital forensics lab established at DeSales University by Lehigh County DA Jim Martin in 2011. At that time, Morganelli expressed his desire to join the Regional Crime Center using gaming funds.

What is the RIIC?

Located in Allentown, the RIIC offers investigative case support, strategic analysis and situational awareness to county law enforcement. In addition, it provides expert assistance from crime analysts who can review millions of pieces of data from numerous incident reports, investigatory files and prison records to make connections that solve crime. It even provides a daily blog for police officers, not about politics, but recent criminal activity.

A perfect example of the Regional Crime Center's value is the 2013 investigation of Ulysses "Slime" Rodriguez. He was convicted in a shooting death earlier that year, outside of Scoobies Gentlemen's Club. Rodriguez was observed leaving the scene in a vehicle with taillights that started at the roof and got wider toward the middle of the vehicle. It could only be a Volvo or a Honda CRV.

Examination of prison records at the Regional Crime Center revealed just a few jail visitors drove those models, and the getaway car was soon identified. The vehicle's owner only knew Rodriguez as "Slime," but RIIC review of millions of incident reports quickly revealed that "Slime" was none other than Rodriguez.

Sheriff Dalrymple explained that the $407,000 sought will enable Northampton County's 30 police departments to integrate the information from their incident reports and investigatory files with Lehigh County's 17 police departments, state and federal agencies, and data from both county jails.

In addition to enabling police in the Slate Belt to understand what is happening in Emmaus, Dalrymple said the Regional Crime Center will make them aware of trends and will provide timely investigative support that is currently unavailable to most departments.

Dalrymple said if someone committed a crime in the meeting room, he could forward the surveillance camera images to the RIIC, and in-house analysts would then provide them to every police department in the Lehigh Valley. "We could immediately get input," he said, instead of having a detective make calls and send images to a newspaper.

Dalrymple told James Pennington that crime centers are "commonplace," nationally. But he said that what makes the RIIC unique and valuable are the in-house analysts who make associations and "tell you what you need to know."

"We feel passionate about this," said the sheriff. "This is a product that will enhance immeasurably investigations, officer safety and prosecutions within the county." He added that, if he were still a young detective, the RIIC would probably have to block his calls because he'd inundate them. "It's that good," he argued.

Dalrymple assured the gaming board that the RIIC has been instrumental in many prosecutions and investigations arising from or related to the Sands Casino. Earlier, Fremanburg Borough Manager Judith Danko provided a study demonstrating that casinos lead to a rise in major crime after five years in business. "Basically, the impact is all around us," explained the sheriff.

$2.2M in grants sought

Dalrymple was to find out April 25 whether the gaming board is willing to fund all or any of the RIIC. There are numerous other applications. Altogether, over $2.2 million is being sought. Slots revenue this year is projected at just $1.7 million, according to Gaming Chair Finnigan. Gaming board members will rate each grant request.

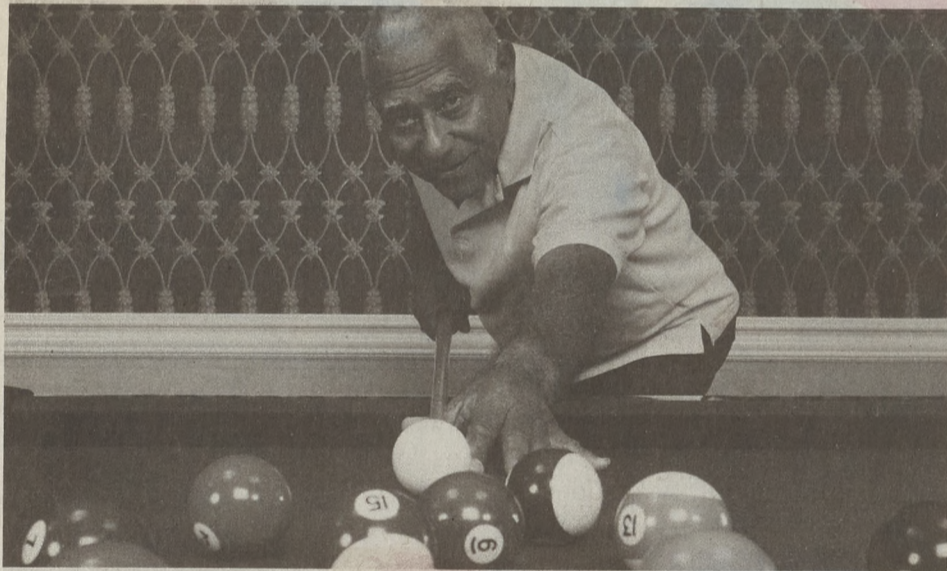

By law, the first round of grants must go to Bethlehem, Northampton County and the five municipalities surrounding Bethlehem. These are Hanover Township, Bethlehem Township, Lower Saucon Township and Freemansburg and Hellertown. To be successful, they must show they've been impacted by gambling. If any money is left over, it can be awarded to other municipalities.

Other applications

Bethlehem
$88,749 - Replacement of three Lifespan 12 Cardiac Monitors (EMS Director Tom Decker explained that there were 11,652 calls last year, and 832 of them were for problems at the casino.)

$39,935 - 45 sets of body armor for EMS personnel (Decker said this is something new for Bethlehem, although he said they are used in Allentown.)

Bethlehem Township
$300,000 - Heavy Rescue Truck. (Bethlehem Township Volunteer

Favorite subject: I love history and government because I enjoy learning the way our government was created and how that is applied to government today.

Activities: I am involved in multiple clubs and sports at Notre Dame. These include student council, SADD, Key Club, Pro Life, Friends Peer Listening, cross country, track and field, and retreat team.

Next steps: I plan on attending a four-year college majoring in political science, history or economics. I plan on attending law school after completing my undergraduate degree.

Career goals: To become a lawyer

Heroes: My greatest hero would be my dad because he's taught me that no matter what happens in life, as long as you have your family, everything will be all right. My dad is my best friend.

Hobbies: I enjoy running and spending time with friends, and I'm a big fan of scary movies.

Current job(s): I work at the Bethlehem Panera. I also babysit my neighbors.

Volunteer/community work: I have been volunteering at Easton Hospital for the past three summers.

Likes: Scary movies, spending time with friends, fall, Mexican food

Dislikes: Drivers who don't use their turn signals

Greatest accomplishment (so far): I think my greatest accomplishment will be completing high school.

Advice for peers: 1. Get as involved as you can. 2. Don't stress over school. It won't matter in 20 years. How well you did on one test or quiz, if you're the best version of you that you can be, that's all that matters.

Lindsay Hoffman of Bethlehem sells bag of second-hand children's clothing to Mommy Market customer Judy Glessner of Bethlehem Township who comes regularly to the annual indoor yard sale at the school. Nicholas Hoffman, a student at Governor Wolf, sits at the cafeteria table his mother rented for the sale. Hoffman said her son was "helping out some" and that it was her first time participating in the fundraiser.

Mommy Market's an indoor yard sale

The Mommy Market indoor yard sale was held recently at the Governor Wolf ES in northeast Bethlehem. The annual event is a fundraiser for the school's Parent Teacher Association and its various activities. It is held in the school cafeteria, where the PTA rents tables to various vendors and also sells food and beverages to the marketgoers. The indoor yard sale is called a Mommy Market because the mothers of the PTA organize and participate in the popular event. This is the second year of the version of the indoor yard sale. The PTA does not take any portion of a vendor's sales and this year business vendors were allowed to set up in the nearby halls of the school for a fee.

LIBERTY HS NOTES

By Lindsey Davis

End of the year's here

Finally, it is May. For all seniors, that means we've successfully applied and gotten into college, located and handed in all of our community service hours and started preparing for the exciting events that occur at the end of the school year. For underclassmen, the end of the year marks the end of all school and extracurricular obligations.

Liberty's play, "Pippin," recently ended after five months of hard work, and spring sports are beginning to come to an end. Now, some of the only things on students' minds are prom, Mini-THON and graduation.

This year, Liberty's prom will be held at ArtsQuest in South Bethlehem. The entire building is rented out to Liberty for the night of May 13, which means students have many floors and a lot of space to spread out, making it an ideal venue. My peers and I love that it is close to home, as opposed to the boat where prom was held last year, which was an hour and a half away from Bethlehem. And, also unlike the boat, the venue is inside so we can be prepared for whatever weather Mother Nature decides to bring that day.

Another exciting end-of-school activity is the School District Mini-THON, which is inspired by Penn State's Freedom and Independence Day. Freedom, Freedom, Freedom.

Donna Frantz, Governor Wolf PTA president, discusses Mommy Market matters with Kelly Burkhart, the chairperson for the annual event. Burkhart is accompanied by her daughter Elizabeth, a student at the northeast Bethlehem school. Frantz said a long line of "early birds" waited outside the school doors before the 8 a.m.-noon sale began.

'Singular Sensation'

Marvin Hamlisch tribute in Allentown Pops concert

CLASSICAL VIEWS

By Ron Demkee

It will be "One Singular Sensation: A Tribute to Marvin Hamlisch" when I conduct the Allentown Symphony Orchestra, in the "ASO Pops Series," 7:30 p.m. May 14, Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown.

Three outstanding singers, Donna McKechnie, Christiane Noll and Doug LaBrecque, will join with the Allentown Symphony Orchestra to celebrate the amazing productivity of Hamlisch with favorite songs by "the best-known movie composer since Henry Mancini."

The program includes "A Chorus Line" Overture, "If You Remember Me," "Sunshine, Lollipops, and Rainbows," "Through the Eyes of Love," "Nobody Does it Better," "They're Playing Our Song," "Dreamers," "Sophie's Choice," "The Way We Were" and "What I Did For Love."

Hamlisch (1944 - 2012) was a child prodigy. He was enrolled in the Juilliard Pre-College Division at the age of six, the youngest ever to be accepted at that prestigious institution.

His first position on Broadway was as a rehearsal pianist for "Funny Girl," starring Barbra Streisand, which would be the start of a professional relationship that would last for the rest of his life.

Hamlisch had his first hit at age 21 with "Sunshine, Lollipops, and Rainbows," co-written with Howard Libeling, recorded by Lesley Gore and reaching No. 13 on the Billboard Hot 100 in the summer of 1965.

Hamlisch received a Bachelor of Arts in 1967 from Queens College.

At 18, Hamlisch served as assistant for the Bell Telephone Hour Orchestra, conducted by Don Voorhees, the first and long-time conductor of the Allentown Symphony Orchestra.

In 1968, Hamlisch wrote his first film score for "The Swimmer," starring Burt Lancaster.

Before age 30, Hamlisch had won three Oscars, including for the title song for "The Way We Were" and adaptations of Scott Joplin ragtime tunes for "The Sting."

In 1977, he co-wrote "Nobody Does It Better" with Carole Bayer Sager, for the title sequence for the James Bond film, "The Spy Who Loved Me," with the song receiving an Oscar nomination.

In 1975, he composed the score for "A Chorus Line," which won a Tony Award and a Pulitzer Prize. In 1978, He composed the score for "They're Playing Our Song."

Hamlisch received two of his Emmys for the television special, "Barbra Streisand: The Concert," in 1994.

He's one of only 12 to win Emmy, Grammy, Oscar and Tony awards. He's one of only two to have won those four awards and a Pulitzer Prize. Richard Rodgers is the other.

At various times, Hamlisch held positions as Principal Pops Conductor for the Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, San Diego, Seattle, Baltimore, Pasadena and Dallas Symphony orchestras, as well as the Buffalo Philharmonic and the National Symphony.

At the time of his death, Hamlisch was preparing to assume responsibilities as Principal Pops Conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Hamlisch died at age 68. At the time, the Associated Press described him as having written "some of the best-loved and most enduring songs and scores in movie history."

Dancer, singer, actress and choreographer Donna McKechnie's extensive experience includes on and off-Broadway shows, national tours and work in television.

She made her Broadway debut in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" in 1961. Other Broadway appearances include "Promises, Promises," "A Chorus Line" and "Company"; national tours of "Call Me Madam," "On the Town," "Sweet Charity," "Annie Get Your Gun," and a London revival of "Can-Can."

She received a Tony for Best Actress in a Musical for "A Chorus Line."

Christiane Noll has become a favorite with Lehigh Valley audiences, having performed with the Allentown Symphony Orchestra in two previous Pops Concerts, "Bravo Broadway" in 2010 and "Broadway Rocks!" in 2014.

Noll made her Broadway debut starring in "Jekyll & Hyde," creating the role of Emma. She has been a member of the national tours of "Grease," "Miss Saigon" and "City of Angels," as well as a tour of Australia and Thailand in "South Pacific."

American 'Assassins'

Civic brings Sondheim musical to life

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN
 pwillistein@tnonline.com

A musical about the assassins of American presidents is:

A. A bizarre premise for a Broadway show

B. A Tony Award winner

C. A Stephen Sondheim musical

It's all three of the above as you will see and hear in Civic Theatre of Allentown's production of "Assassins," opening May 6 at the 19th Street Theatre, Allentown, where it runs through May 22.

Says Civic Theatre of Allentown Artistic Director William Sanders, who's directing the one-act, one and one-half hour "Assassins": "It's a wild, theatrical piece."

Music and lyrics are by Sondheim, with a book by John Weidman ("Pacific Overtures"). The show is based on an idea by Charles Gilbert, Jr.

Civic's press release describes "Assassins" as "bold, original, surreal, thought-provoking, and alarmingly funny. [It] investigates the personalities behind nine Presidential assassins and reveals uneasy truths about the American Dream."

"Hugely resonant in today's celebrity-obsessed culture, 'Assassins' is brought to life by its desperate, disillusioned, passionate characters."

Sanders has a long association with the musical, going back to what was to have been a November 2001 production of "Assassins," directed by Joe Mantello. Sanders, then living and working in New York City, was assistant director.

Leading up to the original-scheduled revival, Sanders viewed a video at the The New York Public Library for the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center of the original 1990 off-Broadway production. Rehearsals were to start the Tuesday after the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks. The show did not go on.

Six of the actors cast for the 2001 production were the same as for the 2004 revival. "We were ready to go," Sanders says.

"When it was cancelled, it was very difficult for me, so I kind of put it away," says Sanders, who dusted off his research some 12 years later for Civic's production.

At the 2004 Tonys, "Assassins" received five Tonys, including director for Mantello, orchestrations for Michael Starobin and revival.

Sanders assembled a stellar cast for Civic's production: Jarrod Yuskas (John Wilkes Booth), Matt Meckes (Lee Harvey Oswald), Joann Basist (Emma Goldman), Zack Einstein (John Hinckley),

FELLOWSHIP COMMUNITY
Program lauded for vaccinations

The Immunization Action Coalition (IAC) has named Fellowship Community, Whitehall, to its Influenza Vaccination Honor Roll. "Fellowship Community requires all employees and volunteers, including those not involved in direct patient care, to receive an influenza vaccination every year," said Audrey Fernald, RN, BS, Fellowship Community Director of Infection Control-Education. "We're honored to be recognized by the IAC with Fellowship Community's inclusion on the Influenza Vaccination Honor Roll, said Robert Zentz, President-CEO of Fellowship Community. To be included in this honor roll, an organization must require influenza vaccination for employees and must include serious measures to prevent transmission of influenza from unvaccinated workers to patients.

Allentown Symphony holding 'Composers Competition'

Did you ever think that perhaps there was a little bit of Beethoven in you? That incessant desire to compose music? Have you ever wanted to write a piece for full symphony orchestra and hear it performed? Well, we have the perfect opportunity for you.

The Allentown Symphony Orchestra is holding a "Composers Competition" for composers in the Greater Lehigh Valley.

Next November, the Allentown Symphony will perform Elgar's "Enigma Variations." This piece was written as a tribute to Elgar's wife and 12 of his friends. He took a single theme and wrote a series of variations where each variation is a musical caricature of one of his friends. At the top of each variation, he wrote their initials, and at the premiere people had to solve the enigma of who the inspiration was for each variation of the piece.

To build upon Elgar's "Enigma Variations" concept, we want to create our own set of variations using his original theme, but characterizing people right here in the Lehigh Valley.

So we are inviting composers of all ages and backgrounds to write their own short variation, between 30 seconds to 2 minutes, using Elgar's original theme. Your variation should capture the personality of a friend or acquaintance, just as Elgar did in his original "Enigma Variations."

We will then judge the submissions and merge the winning variations into a larger work that will be compiled by composer Larry Lipkis, Composer-In-Residence, Moravian College, and performed by the Allentown Symphony Orchestra in the Nov. 5 and 6 classical concerts.

To apply, you must reside in Lehigh, Northampton, Monroe, Carbon, Schuylkill, Berks, Montgomery and Bucks counties, or Warren and Hunterdon counties, N.J.

To keep things fair, we will have a variety of submission categories: 1. K-8 (piano score or orchestrated score); 2. High School and College (orchestrated score); 3) Adult, Advanced Musician (orchestrated score); Adult, Amateur Musician (piano score). Winning piano scores will be orchestrated.

You can write for any size orchestra up to a maximum of: 2 flutes, 2 oboes, 2 clarinets, 2 bassoons, 4 French horns, 3 trumpets, 3 trombones, 1 tuba, timpani, 2 percussion, and strings of: Violin 1, Violin 2, Viola, Cello, Bass.

June 13 is the deadline for applications with the score and sound files. Applications are to include the initials and description of the person you are characterizing.

Submissions should be done in standard music notation software such as Sibelius, Finale, Garage Band or NoteFlight. Each application must include a Midi sound file or a recorded piano sound file. Scores will be judged blind with the use of pseudonyms to keep everything fair.

The compositions will be judged on the following criteria: 1. Originality and creative use of the theme; 2. Selection and use of orchestral instruments; 3. Ability to "capture" and express the personality traits of a person.

The winners will be introduced from the stage at the Allentown Symphony concerts next November when the new piece is performed.

The piece is also being performed on "Holocaust Remembrance Day" at Tiferet Bet Israel Synagogue, Blue Bell, Montgomery County, in a sold-out concert.

'King' Hanks of Arabia

"A Hologram for The King" is an idiosyncratic comedy-drama that has its certain charms, not the least of which is a leading-actor turn by Tom Hanks.

It's been awhile since we've seen Hanks in a light comedy role, other than his wonderful voicing of Woody in the "Toy Story" animated features ("Toy Story 4" is set for release in 2018), where he can let down his guard.

In "A Hologram for The King," Hanks gets to chomp on some comedic scenery as Alan Clay, a Boston sales executive whose "been on the bench for a while" and forgets "this ain't the Schwinn days," trying to close an Informational Technology (IT) deal that includes a hologram system for a new city being built in Saudi Arabia by the king.

Clay travels there with three of the company's tech-savvy employees, befriends a taxi driver, Yousef (Alexander Black in his theatrical movie debut) and that leads to all kinds of interesting excursions.

Clay develops an ailment, is seen by a female medical doctor, Zahra (Sarita Choudhury, "The Hunger Games"; TV's "Homeland") and that leads to even more discoveries.

While I'm no Middle East expert, "A Hologram for The King" seems to truck in Muslim, Saudia Arabia and Middle East stereotypes. The film redeems itself, but several scenes are squirm-inducing in what I perceived as a disdainful, demeaning and making sport portrayal of Saudi Arabian persons.

"A Hologram for The King" is directed by Tom Tykwer (who directed one of my all-time favorites, "Run Lola Run," 1998). While "Hologram" starts out great (Hanks lip-synching the Talking Heads' "Once In a Lifetime"), the film languishes into a meandering, if entertaining, morass. Tykwer wrote the screenplay based on the novel by Dave Eggers.

"A Hologram for The King" is basically Willy of the desert (Willy Loman, "Death of A Salesman" by playwright Arthur Miller).

The film is has fascinating travelogue-like glimpses into a world with which few of us are familiar, with beautiful cinematography and snappy editing by Tykwer collaborators, director of photography Frank Griebe, and editor Alexander Berner, and energy-pumping pop-rock songs (Chicago, Electric Light Orchestra).

And there's that performance by Hanks (re-teaming with Tykwer, who directed him in "Cloud Atlas," 2012). With four vertical furrows in his brow, a wry twist to his pouty lips, decades of disappointment in his eyes, and that nasal sincerity in his voice, Hanks projects a world-weary soul. Hanks fans won't want to miss "A Hologram for The King."

Here's how much water to drink

Q. I've been told to drink more water. How much is enough?

First, water intake is a health issue that you should discuss with your doctor before deciding how much you should drink. The amount you drink is dependent upon the state of your personal health.

Drinking insufficient amounts of fluids is the common problem. However, some conditions such as heart failure and kidney disease may require cutting back on fluids.

The simplest answer I could find to this very complicated question is this: If you aren't thirsty and you produce one to two quarts of light yellow urine daily, the average output for an adult, you're probably taking in enough water.

If you are concerned about your water intake, remember that you get water from more than just straight water. About 80 percent of your total water intake is from all beverages, which includes soda, coffee and beer. You get the remaining 20 percent from food.

Here are more general answers to your question:

There is the "8 x 8 rule," which has been around for as long as I can remember. This rule states that you should drink eight 8-ounce glasses of water a day. That's a half-gallon of water. I could never follow this rule. All that water on top of the soda, coffee and beer had me constantly doing what my granddaughter calls

HEALTHY GEEZER

By Fred Cicetti

"the pee-pee dance."

Some authorities recommend using your weight as a guideline for water intake. They say you should divide your weight in half and use the number of pounds to determine the number of ounces of water you should drink daily. For example, if you weigh 120 pounds, you should drink 60 ounces of water a day.

Another way to ensure that you have enough water is by following a replacement guideline. You urinate one to two quarts a day. About another quart of water is lost through sweating, exhaling and defecating. You have to make sure you drink and eat enough each day to compensate for the lost fluids.

The Institute of Medicine, a component of the National Academy of Sciences, advises men to consume 125 ounces of beverages daily. The IOM recommends that women consume 91 ounces of total beverages a day.

These guidelines are designed for normal health, activity and weather.

Diarrhea and vomiting dehydrate you. You need to replace lost fluids if you are sick with these symptoms. To replace fluid-loss from diarrhea, adults should consume broth, non-citrus fruit juices, flat ginger ale and ice pops.

When you exercise, you perspire more and lose fluid. To replace this fluid, you'll need to take in about two to three cups of water for each hour of exercise.

When the temperature and humidity rise, you sweat more, so you have to drink more.

Water is important because, without it, we become dehydrated and all of our systems suffer. Dehydration is especially dangerous to seniors, who are less able than younger people to sense dehydration.

A good way for seniors to check their water level is the "pinch test." Pinch the skin on top of your hands. If the guideline. You urinate one to two quarts a day. About another quart of water is lost through sweating, exhaling and defecating. You have to make sure you drink and eat enough each day to compensate for the lost fluids.

Here are some more signs of dehydration: fatigue, headache, dizziness, flushed skin, elevated pulse rate, muscle spasms, increased breathing rate and swollen tongue.

In rare cases, you can drink too much water. Your kidneys can't handle an overload and this condition leads to low sodium levels in the blood. Marathoners can run into this problem.

Kristen Stachina (Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme), Kirk Lawrence (Charles Guiteau), Tracy Ceschin (Sara Jane Moore) and Will Morris (Leon Czolgosz).

Also: Alex Michaels (Giuseppe Zangara), Tom Onuschco (Samuel Byck), Michael Scuto (David Herold), Ken Butler (James Blaine), Robert Trexler (President James Garfield) and Wyatt Root (Billy). The Ensemble includes Emma Forgone and Melisa Klausner.

"They're amazing, a really incredibly talented group of people," says Sanders.

"I wasn't so much interested in their physical resemblance, because no one really knows what they look like, really. Even 'Squeaky' Fromme and John Hinckley ... People have an idea of what they look like. Ironically, most of them [the Civic actors] really do look like them and physically resemble the assassins."

Meckes is music director. Steve Reisteter conducts the orchestra of 14 professional musicians. The score is based on Starobin's or-chestrations for the 2004 revival. The original off-Broadway show had about one half-dozen musicians.

The Civic "Assassins" production staff includes Klausner, assistant director; Emily Heller, stage manager, Jason Sherwood, set designer; Morris, costume and lighting designer; Michaels, technical director; Helena Confer, sound designer; Jason Sizemore, props master, and Kim Danish, hair and wigs.

"We've come up with a concept for doing the piece that is slightly different than has been done before," Sanders says.

"I was really interested in exploring the concept of guns. You know, without guns, there wouldn't have been any assassinations. And I'm not anti-gun or hunting," says Sanders.

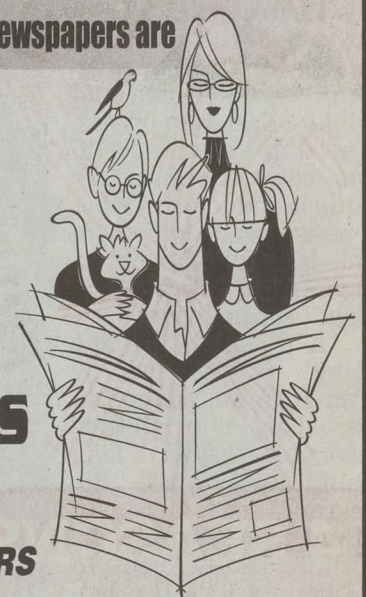

"I think it's much more respected now than it was then. I think it was ahead of its time," says Sanders of "Assassins."

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby provided pursuant to Sections 609(b)(1) and 610(a) of the Pennsylvania Municipalities Planning Code, as amended, 53 P.S. §§ 10609(b)(1) and 10610 (hereinafter, "MPC"), that the Borough Council of the Borough of Cataqua (hereinafter, "Council") will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, May 25, 2016, commencing at 7:00 P.M., at the Borough Hall located at 118 Bridge Street, Cataqua, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of taking public comment and input concerning the adoption of an Amendment to the Official Map to create a new zoning district known as the "Waterfront District," as well as amending Attachment 2, Table of Permitted Uses by Districts Primarily Non-Residential Districts, and to create a new Article XI Waterfront District.

Council intends to consider passage of the proposed Ordinance at a public meeting to be held on June 6, 2016, commencing at 7:00 P.M. Said public meeting shall take place at the Borough Hall located at 118 Bridge Street, Cataqua, Pennsylvania.

Copies of the proposed Ordinance have been delivered to the Lehigh Valley Planning Commission and the Borough of Cataqua Planning Commission for comment pursuant to applicable law. The following constitutes a summary of the contents of the proposed Ordinance, prepared by the Solicitor pursuant to Section 610(a) of the MPC, as amended, 53 P.S. §10610(a).

The title of the proposed Ordinance is: "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE BOROUGH OF CATAQUA ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING THE OFFICIAL ZONING MAP TO CREATE A NEW ZONING DISTRICT KNOWN AS THE "WATERFRONT DISTRICT" IN AREAS FORMERLY PARTS OF THE DOWNTOWN COMMERCIAL AND WATERFRONT OVERLAY DISTRICTS; TO PROVIDE FOR CERTAIN PRINCIPAL AND ACCESSORY USES AS WELL AS BULK AND PERFORMANCE STANDARDS WITHIN THE WATERFRONT DISTRICT; TO AMEND ATTACHMENT 2 (TABLE OF PERMITTED USES BY DISTRICT PRIMARILY NON-RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS) TO ADD THE USES AUTHORIZED IN THAT DISTRICT; AND TO CREATE A NEW ARTICLE XI WATERFRONT DISTRICT INCLUDING PURPOSES, USES, DIMENSIONAL STANDARDS, UNIFIED DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS, DESIGN STANDARDS, AND PROCEDURES."

Section 1 of the proposed Ordinance is a Statement of Legislative Findings which, among other things, recognizes the need to authorize smart growth policies utilizing mixed forms of development and promote economic revitalization of the Borough in a manner consistent with the Comprehensive Plan by creating a new zoning district known as the "Waterfront District."

Section 2 sets forth amendments to the Official Zoning Map (Map) to create the "Waterfront District (W)" and attaches a map depicting the extent of the proposed amendment.

Section 3 sets forth amendments to the text of the Zoning Ordinance (ZO) substantially in the following respects:

Article III, Section 280-20, titled "Designation of districts and purposes," is amended at subsection A to add a new "Waterfront District" zoning district with an abbreviation of "W," and Article III, Section 280-20, titled "Designation of districts and purposes," is amended at subsection D to state the purpose of the "Waterfront District" to provide for the adaptive re-use and/or demolition of industrial buildings and land through development in a mixed-use manner that will reflect the historical character of the Borough and promote economic revitalization. Article III, Section 280-25, titled "Table of Permitted Uses by District" and more specifically Attachment 2, titled "Table of Permitted Uses by District Primarily Nonresidential Districts" is amended to authorize mixed-use forms of development in the Waterfront District.

New Article XI, titled "W Waterfront District" is added, and Section 280-76, titled "Purpose" provides for a mixed-use development and other amenities important to the downtown area's economic revitalization. Section 280-77, titled "Conditions of Eligibility" requires that development be served by public water and sewer, and that an applicant provide a traffic study. Proposed development shall be consistent with the Borough's Development Strategy Plan. Section, titled, "Uses" provides for 26 uses, of which the development must contain at least four.

Dimensional standards are set at Section 280-79 and include minimum setbacks and residential floor space, maximum building heights and impervious coverage, and a maximum number of apartment dwelling units. Section 280-80, titled "Unified Development Standards" requires development in accordance with a Master Plan. Design Standards are addressed at Section 280-81 and requires that a Registered Architect and Landscape Architect prepare a Manual of Written and Graphic Design Guidelines to include plans, sketches, photographs and other images conveying the proposed use and development, and the preliminary subdivision/land development plans. This Section also provides for review of the Master Plan and standards for parking, streetscape design, a street and alley network, building design, sidewalks and crosswalks, landscaping, street lights, signage, civic amenities and other features.

Section 280-82, titled "Procedures" provides for submission and review of the Master Plan; a building and parking plan; a street, alley and streetscape plan (including traffic impact study); pedestrian access plan; a landscape/public realm plan; signage plan, utilities/lighting plan and declaration of covenants, easements and restrictions. Bonus provisions are available to a developer for certain value added features.

Section 280-83 includes definitions applicable to the "W" District, and Section 280-84, directs that new Waterfront District shall be shown on the Zoning Map. Section 280-85, confirms that the requirements of Article XI prevail in the event of a direct conflict with any other ZO provision.

Section 4 establishes the effective date of the Ordinance as following enactment by Council and Mayoral approval, and Section 5 repeals all other ordinances in conflict to the extent of any such conflict. Section 6 is a savings clause which preserves the balance of the proposed Ordinance if a part thereof is deemed invalid.

Copies of the proposed Ordinance may be examined and or obtained at the Borough Hall located at 118 Bridge Street, Cataqua, Pennsylvania, during normal business hours, Monday through Friday, 8:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. In addition, and in accordance with Section 610 of the MPC, as amended, attested copies of the proposed Ordinance have been filed in the Lehigh County Development of Law (Lehigh County Government Center, 17 S. 7th Street, Allentown, PA); and The Cataqua Press (1633 N. 26th Street, Allentown, PA) newspaper.
