STANLEY

Above, left, is Stanley T. Kisilewicz, 20; right, Frank Kisilewicz, 23, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chrzanowski, 426 Selfridge Street, Bethlehem, each of whom has been advanced in rank recently. Stanley, who is with the U. S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific area, is now a private first class. He enlisted October 9, 1942, and is a member of an engineering battalion. He went across several months ago. He is a former Bethlehem Steel employe.

FRANK

Frank, now a corporal technician, entered the Army one day after Stanley went into the Marines. He was injured in a fall from the "Queen of the Valley," C. R. R. express train, as he was enroute home for a ten-day furlough previous to being shipped overseas. At present he is in the Reading Base Hospital, where he was taken September 16, the day of the accident. Frank is married and the father of a 16-month-old daughter, Mary Anne. His wife, Marlon, and little girl live on Easton R. D. 3. He is a former Steel Company craneman.
