Revised Third St. proposal approved

BY ED COURRIER
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Property owner Dr. Ann Hunsicker and architect Todd Chambers were granted a certificate of appropriateness for their revised proposal to renovate the front facade of 21-23 E. Third St. The Bethlehem Historic Conservation Commission unanimously voted to approve the project at the May 16 meeting at the Rotunda.

Architect Todd Chambers present their revised proposal for 21-23 E. Third St.

The applicants returned with a plan that included recommendations the board had made at the previous meeting. The black aluminum storefront door frame now includes a 10-inch apron. Divided light double-hung windows for the upper floor and the partial divided light design of the first floor windows were approved. HCC usually prefers one-over-one or two-over-two windows as historically appropriate. Photographs of neighboring buildings with divided light windows convinced the board to allow for this exception. Architect and former historic officer Chris Ussler spoke in support of the project.

Hunsicker and Chambers found that the brick underneath cement board panels could be restored through repointing and sealing. The existing blue window awnings

Memorial Day in Bethlehem 'Why we are here'

BY DANA GRUBB
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Bethlehem's annual Memorial Day service, parade and more recent tradition of Taps over Bethlehem drew hundreds of area residents who gathered to remember service members who gave their in service to their country.

Sponsored by the United Veterans of Bethlehem, the Lehigh Valley Military Affairs Council and City of Bethlehem attendees were reminded through spoken word and patriotic music that extreme sacrifices are what have ensured the freedom Americans enjoy each day.

In speeches by Bethlehem Mayor J. William Reynolds, Northampton County Executive Lamont McClure and State Representative Steve Samuelson, the thread of personal sacrifice was repeated.

"Those that paid the ultimate price are why we are here," Reynolds said. The Bethlehem American Legion, Northeast MS and Freedom HS bands performed a number of musical selections.

Lehigh Valley Academy Honor Society students read the Gettysburg Address, and poems "In Flanders Fields" and "Band of Brothers."

The service concluded with a volley by American Legion Post 379 rifle squad and the playing of Taps by Ken Brodt.

Area Boy Scouts were also recognized for removing worn flags from the gravesites of veterans at Memorial Park Cemetery and replacing them with new flags.

LEHIGH COUNTY

Senior nutrition plan opens

Farmers Market Nutrition Program vouchers are available for Lehigh County residents age 60 and up while supplies last. Eligibility does not include seniors living in nursing home or residential facilities where meals are provided.

Income maximums for the six dollar vouchers are $25,142 for a one-person household for four vouchers and $33,874 for a two-person household for eight all one time only. The vouchers may be used to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables at the farmers markets only as listed at pafmnp.org

To request an application, email agingandadult@lehighcounty.org or call 610-782-3200. To apply, complete the application form and email or mail it to the office.

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY

Senior nutrition plan opens

Area Agency on Aging is pleased to announce the continuation of the Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program (SFMNP) by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Coupons worth $24 are available to Northampton County residents age sixty-and-over who meet the income eligibility criteria. The coupons are distributed by the Northampton County Area Agency on Aging Department.

Each eligible senior may receive four $6 coupons for a total of $24 in SFMNP benefits during the program year. The coupons can be used to purchase Pennsylvania-grown produce at farmer's markets. Any Northampton County resident age sixty-or-over who meets income eligibility (example: $25,142/year for a single person, and $33,874/year for a couple) can obtain the coupons. For married couples, both spouses may obtain coupons. The SFMNP does not include seniors who live in nursing homes, convents or residential facilities where meals are provided. Proof of age and residence must be presented by all persons wishing to receive coupons.

There will be no in-person distribution of coupons in 2022. Application forms are available on the AAA website at <https://www.northamptoncounty.org/HS/AGING/Pages/default.aspx>

Seniors may only receive coupons once during the program, which runs through Nov. 30.

A list of participating farmer's markets can be accessed at: www.PAFMNP.org.

Liberty students remember the fallen

'One day is never enough'

BY DANA GRUBB
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Several hundred people attended the annual Liberty HS Memorial Day service May 27 as those who perished in their service to America were remembered and honored.

"It is an important day to remember and honor them," said Principal Dr. Harrison Bailey III. After recruiters had raised both the American and POW flags, pipers from the Liberty Grenadier Band performed "Amazing Grace" and a Grenadier bugler played Taps.

A military recruiter placed a wreath at the Liberty veteran's memorial.

who enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1998, reminded those in attendance of the personal and ultimate sacrifices service people make for the United States. "One day is never enough time to remember," said Cleveland, who is currently stationed at Fort Belvoir in Virginia.

"They gave their lives to a cause bigger than themselves," says Sgt. Maj. Stephanie Cleveland, who is also a Liberty graduate.

The threat of rain didn't dampen the enthusiasm of students and family of Lehigh Valley Academy's 2022 graduation at Coca-Cola Park June 1.

Of 98 graduates, 75 will continue their studies at various colleges, eight will enter the workforce, one will enter the military, and the remaining 14 are undecided.

The welcoming address and opening remarks were given by CEO Susan Mauser, who told the graduates, "Dream big and set big goals. Don't let anyone say you can't."

Junior/Senior HS Principal Jennifer Nonnemacher gave final words of advice. "Be courageous, be your best, push past insecurities - don't let anyone squash your dreams. Be open to learning and sharing your knowledge. Stay focused."

Student Council speaker Emma Ambrose stold her peers, "I'm going to miss high school but I can't wait to see what's ahead."

An exciting moment for the students was the presentation of special awards, presented by Mauser. These awards are given by LVA for exceptional study in the following areas of concentration. Each recipient received $200 for each award ($250 sought advice from HCC on a project for behind Grace Mansion at 114 W. Fourth St. The board informally critiqued his proposed new infill construction for a 3-story twin building. Constructed to have an appearance and scale of South Bethlehem row homes, the structure would house six apartments. The new addition would be 15 feet back from the rear porches of the circa 1880s mansion.

HCC members balked at the proposed demolition of the detached garage to make way for the new building. Former Bethlehem Steel President and Chairman Eugene Gifford Grace and his family lived in the residence from 1902-06 and the garage was possibly, but not definitely, constructed at that time.

The applicants pointed out that with a modern garage door and replacement windows, the garage no longer conveys its historic character and would be unseen behind the new construction, anyway.

Basha stated that he needed the additional revenue generated by the proposed apartment building to help maintain the historic structure located in front of it.

It was suggested he repurpose the garage instead of razing it. As this was a discussion item, no vote was held.

Basha successfully petitioned the Bethlehem Historic Conservation Commission for a COA to renovate the exterior of the historic Grace Mansion in 2018. The interior is being converted to apartments.

The Bethlehem HCC is charged with the task of determining if new signs or other alterations to a building's exterior would be an appropriate fit for the neighborhood in one of three designated historic districts.

Obtaining a certificate of appropriateness is only a first step for business owners and residents in a designated historic district who wish to make alterations to a building's exterior. The commission's recommendations are later reviewed, and then voted on by city council before any project is allowed to proceed.

OFF MY WAVE.

Ocean Beach native and local surf legend Steve Bettis was diagnosed with MS in 2006. Although surfing is still central to his life, he hasn't been able to get out on the water in 10 years. For a man whose daily routine always included a few waves, more than a decade out of the surf is just too long. This is why the National MS Society teamed up with his buddy Robert "Wingnut" Weaver and used virtual reality to get Steve back on his wave. Liberty knocks off Emmaus for title

BY MIKE HAINES
mhaines@tnonline.com

After early exits from this year's league tournament and last year's district playoffs, the Liberty baseball team was looking for some post-season gold last week when it faced Emmaus in the District 11 Class 6A title game.

The Hurricanes jumped on the Hornets early to pull ahead 6-0 after two innings while pitcher Hayden O'Neill kept Emmaus from coming back in a 6-1 win that brought Liberty its first district title since 2018.

"After the upset loss in EPCs we had to come out here and show everyone what we're about," O'Neill said after throwing 6 2/3 innings and scattering five hits while striking out nine batters and walking just one.

Emmaus, which didn't have its top two pitchers available due to innings limits and injuries, fell behind 4-0 in the first inning after Braylon Gonzalez and JC Spinosa opened the game with back-to-back line-drive singles. Reese D'Amico was hit by a pitch to load the bases with no outs.

O'Neill and Ayden Zabala drove in runs with sacrifice flies before an error on a routine fly ball could have ended the inning, but instead allowed another run to score. It was the first of four errors the Hornets committed in the title game.

Jacob Scheirer's RBI single made it 4-0 before the Hornets were able to get out of the top of the first inning.

"Having a 4-0 lead in the first," said O'Neill, "it allowed me to go on the mound and be able to throw strikes and not have to worry about that much. Having a 4-0 lead allowed me to pitch at ease a little more."

"I knew my defense had my back the whole time. I just went out there and tried to throw strikes and it worked out."

The Hurricanes added a pair of runs in the second inning on a walk, a D'Amico RBI single and a wild pitch for a 6-0 lead.

"When you start the game down 4-0 before you ever hit," said Emmaus head coach Jeremy Haas, "you're trying to climb a mountain against a very good team. Then giving them a zero and letting up another crooked number, when you're down 6-0 against a really good team it's going to be tough."

Emmaus starting pitcher Alex Pion left the game in the second inning. Ryan Latchford and Tyler LePage pitched the next 5 1/3 innings and kept the Hurricanes from doing any more damage. But O'Neill and Liberty's error-free defensive effort kept the Hornets from mounting a rally.

"I threw a lot of fastballs mostly," said O'Neill. "That's always my best pitch. Curveball was OK today. My changeup really worked, so that was nice. I had a good feel for all of them. Definitely my fastball is always my best pitch. I threw it the most and it

Becahi softball knocks off Northwestern

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Midway through the District XI Class 4A softball final, Bethlehem Catholic led Northwestern Lehigh, 3-2, and the Golden Hawks preserved that lead with a sensational throw to home plate and a just-as-sensational triple before being crowned district champions with a 6-4 victory over the Tigers last Wednesday at Patriots Park in Allentown.

In the top of the fifth inning, Northwestern Lehigh's Marissa Christman slammed the ball just inside the line in right field when Becahi's Leah Chladny sprinted, then heaved the ball to home plate.

"I was looking at the third base coach, and when [Isabelle Akelaitis] was rounding second, I didn't think she was gonna go, and I looked over, and [Coach Josh Zimmerman] was waving her, and I was just screaming for it," said Becahi catcher Teighan Boyle. "It was a great throw, on line, one hop, and as soon as I looked, she was there, and I dove to tag her."

Chladny described the play from the outfield.

"It was really close to the line and it took such a big skip to the fence that I needed to run to get the ball," she said. "I saw her rounding four, and I knew it was such a close game we needed that out. I know I can make that throw all day, and it felt very good to do it. So excited it carried our momentum into the next inning."

As it turned out, the Hawks were twice blessed by Chladny when the Becahi junior hit a triple that rolled all the way to the outfield fence.

"That inning was right after the throw, and all I needed to do was singles and got a triple out of it, and it worked out so well," Chladny said.

That throw, to third base, got past Christman, but not far enough away for Becahi coach Dave King to send Chladny home.

"A triple is good. Let's let the next girl take care of it," Coach King said. "I'm proud of every one of them. Leah is the best right fielder I've seen all year."

Chladny did score on a single by Hailey Pyle, who also had a double in the game. Then, with the bases loaded after Boyle was hit by a pitch and Francesca Oberholzer's slow infield single, Sarah Banko's 2-RBI base hit extended Becahi's lead, 6-2.

The Tigers were able to score two runs in the sixth inning, one on a Becahi error, but that would be the end as Hawks' pitcher Emma Bond finished the game, forcing a strike out, ground out, and pop-up.

"This means a lot, especially with Emma. I've been with her for so long, and it feels great. I have no words. I'm just really excited for this to happen again," said Boyle. "I grew up at Northwestern. I played with those girls my whole life until I moved to Bethlehem, so I knew a lot about them, and it was kind of fun playing against my hometown team. My heart breaks for the seniors on that team that I grew up with because I know how it feels, but I wish them the best of luck because they deserve it."

Becahi designated player Kristal Torres had 2 RBIs that took back the lead for the Hawks when her line drive went straight through the legs of pitcher Brynn Balliet, and Torres stretched her single into a double.

"I knew she was pitching high, and when the runners moved, I knew, base hit, anything, maybe score one, so when I saw my pitch, I went for it," Torres said. "It felt amazing. I didn't expect two to score, so it was awesome, yeah."

Coach King was still shaking his head, long after the district medals were awarded to the players.

"I didn't sign up for this," King laughed, referring to his job as interim head coach while Coach Rich Mazza continues to recuperate from a car accident. "Surreal. I was J.V. coach three years ago. We won three games, and I don't know how we did that, so this is something else."

The Hawks' season continues with a run in the PIAA State Class 4A softball tournament this week.

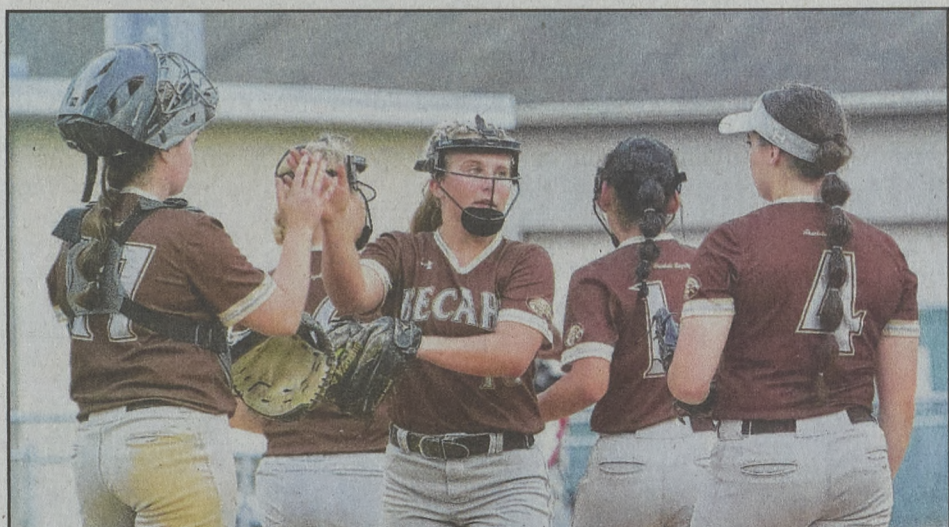

"I'll be honest, we've just been doing our usual routine," King said. "They're tired, they're beat up, our numbers aren't good compared to most teams, so we're doing our routine, and they seem to respond to that, and we got out of here healthy, so now we move on, one game at a time."

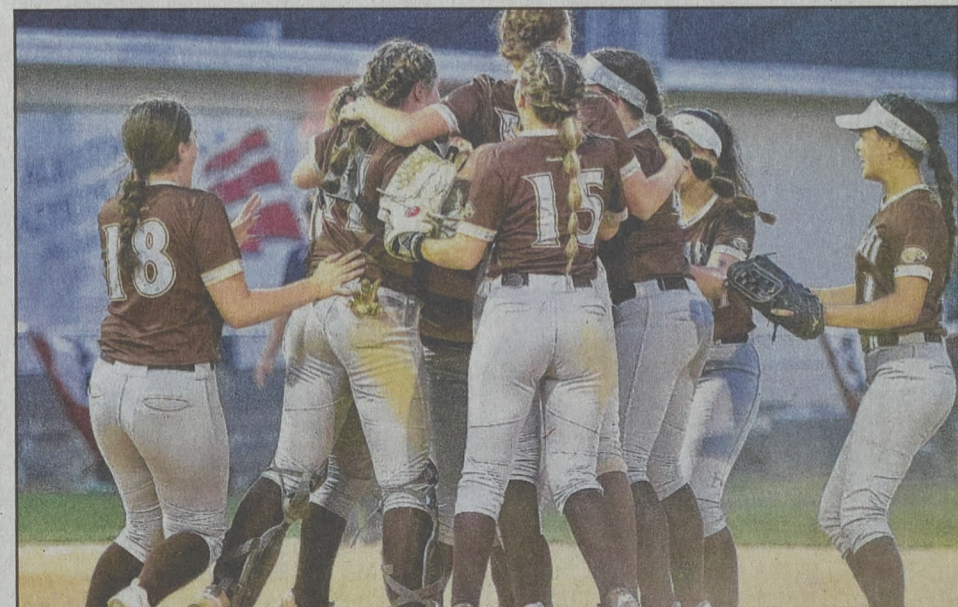

Jordan Merklin, Leah Chladny and Hailey Pyle take in the postgame celebration after beating Northwestern.

BC softball player Kristal Torres FaceTimed softball coach Rich Mazza on her cellphone to tell him they won the championship game and the team include him in the celebration via FaceTime by holding up their medals, D11 trophy and poster.

Hurricanes win in opening round of states

BY MIKE HAINES
mhaines@tnonline.com

Liberty's storybook 2022 season continued Monday night in the first round of the PIAA 6A tournament, as the Hurricanes held off Manheim Township 1-0 at DeSales University. Noah Gyauch-Quick took the mound for his first varsity start and delivered a winning performance for the District 11 champions, striking out six and scattering seven hits.

The sophomore also continued his streak of 43 1/3 straight innings without giving up a run this season, a remarkable feat that helped Liberty (24-2) win its first state playoff game since 2017.

Hayden O'Neill delivered the only run of the night, as he blasted a double in the fourth inning to score JC Spinosa.

The game was finally put to rest in the top of the seventh when Braylen Gonzalez got a step on a deep fly ball in left-center to haul in the final out, as Manheim threatened with a runner on third.

Liberty will now play defending state champion and District 12 champion LaSalle College on Thursday in the quarterfinals.

LaSalle (15-8) won its state opener 9-6 over Pennsylvania on Monday, using a five-run outburst in the third inning to propel them to victory.

Liberty last reached the state semifinals in 2017.

Hawks rally for a victory with a big sixth inning

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

Bethlehem Catholic softball coach Dave King was preparing his it's-been-a-great-season speech as the Golden Hawks trailed 5-2 to Archbishop Ryan in the sixth inning of a PIAA Class 4A first-round state playoff, but in a thrilling sixth inning, highlighted by Hailey Pyle's grand slam, the Hawks trailed no more and won, 10-5, on Monday at Patriots Park in Allentown.

"I feel on top of the world right now. So does the team," Pyle said. "This one, I saw it down and just crushed it. Once I saw it went out, I was like, oh my gosh, wow. Rounding the bases and seeing everyone go crazy, it's a dream come true."

The inning started with Teighan Boyle's base hit to the outfield, and as Eliana Szatkousick threw the ball back to the pitcher, Boyle took off for second base.

"I knew the arms in the outfield were a little weak, so I was aggressive and trying to get as far as I can on the bases," Boyle said. "I knew it was do or die right there, and as soon as I saw the girl bobble it a little, I just ran."

Francesca Oberholzer followed up with a base hit, and Boyle was able to score on an Archbishop Ryan error. Oberholzer then scored on a wild pitch.

"I thought I was gonna have to slide," Oberholzer said. "In that moment, I was like, we're gonna do this."

The fact that we keep coming back, we're just never gonna give up. That's why we deserve to be in these playoffs."

With Kristal Torres on third base after singling to left field, stealing second base, and advancing to third on the same wild pitch, Angie Lovino hit the game-tying RBI.

"I was very nervous at that at bat, but I knew I had to get that run in. It wasn't really a big hit, I would say, but it did what it had to do. I was safe, and it scored a run," Lovino said. "We're a team that comes together at the end, which is not really that good; we should in the beginning, but once we started the bats going, I knew it was gonna happen."

Becahi shortstop Sophia Rivera singled, Jordan Merklin walked, and Leah Chladny's RBI gave the Hawks a 6-5 lead before Pyle's grand slam.

"In the back of my mind, I knew we were certainly capable," said Coach King. "Three bad at bats, and all of a sudden, the fourth at bat, things click. They've been playing now since the beginning of April; they know what they have to do. They earned it."

In the top of the seventh, the Hawks delivered a huge blow to a probable triple for Archbishop Ryan's Laura Mawmom with Chladny's throw from right field to Pyle at second base, who threw to Sarah Banko at third for the tag.

Archbishop Ryan had a comfortable 5-1 lead in the fourth inning with four doubles up to that point, and while Becahi hit the ball, the Hawks couldn't find the gaps.

Becahi assistant coach John Judd noted that the fly balls were hanging in the air for long periods of time and that the Hawks needed to start getting hits on the ground.

Boyle had the first RBI for the Hawks on a triple to right center in the first inning, and Chladny's RBI double gave the Hawks their second run.

Emma Bond was the winning pitcher.

Bethlehem Catholic moves on to a quarterfinal game against District 1's Villa Joseph Marie on Thursday at a time and place to be determined past Press deadlines.

Outdoors: Attracting 'goldies' to your feeder

BY NICK HRONIAK
Special to the Press

They're one of the prettiest if not the most eye-grabbing birds that frequent local bird feeders, especially feeders filled with thistle.

Goldfinches, often mis-called canaries, are a welcome sight in spring and summer. If you want to attract them, folks at the Birding Wire suggest you really only need to add thistle seeds and water to your backyard or apartment feeding station.

If you stock a seed feeder over summer months, summer goldfinches also like shelled sunflower seeds and likely utilize your favorite seed mix as well.

Fresh water is always a good bet to attract these golden yellow birds as they're often first in line to drink at a bird bath or other water feature. They'll also provide a nice show while bathing although such small birds require a very shallow water basin or bird bath.

As for goldfinch habitat, and by providing their preferred foods, you may be able to attract some goldfinches to build a nest in nearby trees to lay and incubate eggs and raise their nestlings.

Goldfinches will also consume small insects, spiders and caterpillars. Grass seeds and wild sunflowers are favorites, even dandelion seeds.

The Birding Wire also suggests planting a few big black oil sunflowers in your garden or in decorative pots as the "goldies" will utilize them during late summer and fall. The more sunflowers, the more goldfinches.

GAME COMMISSION HOSTING JR GAME WARDEN CAMPS

Children 11-15 can gain some unique experience that they wouldn't get in public school upon attending a Jr. Game Warden Camp.

The PGC is holding a one-day warden camp where youngsters can learn how game wardens collect forensic evidence, bring poachers to justice, track down lost hikers and see how wardens live-trap black bears for research, all of this possibly leading to a future career in wildlife conservation.

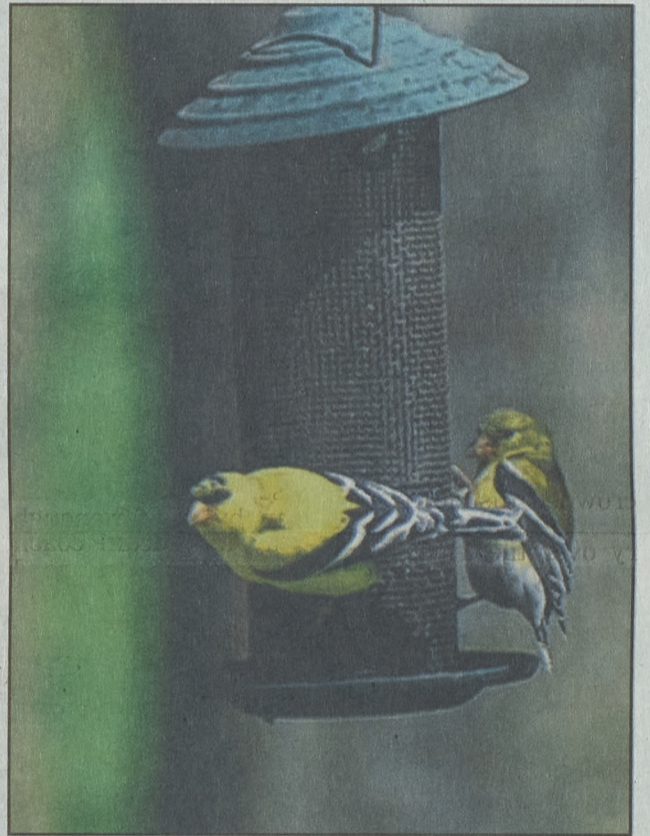

Pennsylvania Game Commission personnel will provide campers a structured, fun-filled day learning about the career of a game warden. Campers will spend the day with wardens gaining insight into the job and the PGC's mission of managing and protecting the state's wildlife and its habitats. Campers will join wardens in light physical fitness, activities, confidence-building exercises with hands-on learning stations to solve wildlife-related crimes. Other activities will involve wildlife capturing techniques, woodland tracking and outdoor survival.

The camps being at 8 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. with registration required that can be done online at the agency's general website.

There are six locations being offered with the closest to the Lehigh Valley being held on Thursday, Aug. 4, at Francis Slocum State Park, 567 Mount Olivet Road Wyoming, Pa 18644 that is located north of Wilkes-Barre in Luzerne County. Registration at this location is limited to 30 participants.

The other closest location is set for Friday, July 22, at Middle Creek Wildlife Management Area located at 100 Museum Road, Stevens, PA 17578. This location can handle up to 60 participants and is located off Route 222 in Lancaster County.

TRADITIONS Residents collect for New Bethany

A retirement living community in Hanover Township is always looking out for ways to help their neighbors — both big and small.

Residents from Traditions of Hanover worked together, collecting items for New Bethany Ministries, an interfaith nonprofit organization. Its main location is in Southside Bethlehem.

“There are plenty of ways to get involved and there are many wonderful outreach programs like New Bethany Ministries creating a positive impact on others’ lives,” Cathy Heimsoth, executive director at Traditions of Hanover, said.

New Bethany Ministries provides food support, hygiene support, wellness programming, transitional housing, and more to help individuals and families working toward self-sufficiency.

Claire Larkin, a resident at Traditions of Hanover, has known about the organization since its inception in the early 1980s.

“New Bethany Ministries has done a lot of good for the people of this community. I’ve personally known people who they have helped, so it was important for me to get involved and support the cause,” Larkin said.

Traditions of Hanover residents donated nonperishable food and toiletry items.

After a two-year hiatus from an in-person event due to COVID, thespians from area high schools got a chance to shine in the spotlights of the State Theatre at the 2022 Freddy Awards.

Several high school musical productions from the Bethlehem area celebrated wins at the event May 26. These include Liberty HS with four, Freedom High School and Nazareth Area HS with one each.

Scholarship and community awards went to a cast member from Liberty and one from Nazareth Area HS.

Rebekah "Bex" Vermuelen was awarded the Freddy for Outstanding Performance by an Actress in a Leading Role as Maria Rainer in Liberty's "The Sound of Music." She also was one of two recipients of the Mowad Turf Specialists Cash Award of $500.

Liberty also garnered the Freddy Awards for Outstanding Choreography, Outstanding Use of Scenery, and Outstanding Stage Crew (In honor of Capt. Christopher Seifert).

Freedom High's production of "Curtains" shined with the Freddy for Outstanding Use of Lighting.

Julia Ruhf from the Freedom production was one of eight recipients to receive a 3-week scholarship for the Pennsylvania Youth Ballet/Ballet Guild of the Lehigh Valley Summer Dance Intensive. Nominated for Outstanding Performance by a Featured Dancer Westgate portrayed Bambi Bernet in "Curtains."

Phone troubles

Nerf should make phone cases. Cases that can withstand dropping, water and breakage. I'll take two please, with extra padding.

I use my cell phone for a lot of things: To communicate with others, to check bills and banking and to take photos and write articles. I also use it to write reminder notes to myself. A lot of notes.

By Lani Goins

The phone has a case. It has held up well, and I wasn't expecting it to fail. Unfortunately, on a recent rough day at my day job, the phone met the floor. The floor won. Green wavy lines appeared on the phone display. Then a purple stain spread from top to bottom. Finally, after a few hours, the screen went dark.

I keep a backup phone at home. Mostly we use it as a TV remote. I reactivated that phone to use until my primary phone was working again.

I hoped letting the battery drain and be recharged would fix the problem. Universal standard battery time on an unused phone is 2-5 days. On day eight, the battery still had not drained. So I guess my phone battery is an Olympic champion. Finally, on day nine, I was sure it was drained, and I charged it. Still no display.

In the meantime, James and I went on a newspaper assignment. He played games on the backup phone while I took photos with my camera. All was well until I went to do some exterior shots. James tripped on the sidewalk, and the backup phone's screen cracked. Yippee, two broken phones.

James suggested putting clear tape over the cracked screen. If only I could remember where I hid the tape to keep it out of his hands.

Meanwhile, I tried plugging the no display phone into the computer, to recover the files on it. Nothing happened.

I contacted my daughter's boyfriend, who explained that if the phone was password protected, I would need to enter the password on the phone before it could upload files. I tried it blind. It didn't work. Kind of funny, since I can manage a lot of other things half blind.

The frustrating part is that the newer phones are not user-repair friendly. You can't access any part of the inside of the phone. And you can't even dial the phone by touching buttons, because they don't have them. Technology is already outsmarting us.

I had been reluctant to keep two phones activated. At age 8, James is a little too young for a phone, and since the backup worked on wireless at home, the expense seemed unwarranted. I am rethinking this now. Once the phones are repaired, I am going to keep the better one at home during day job hours. It's not a perfect solution, but it will have to do.

But please, Nerf, can you start making phone cases?

Boomer wins regional K-9 trials

Lamont McClure and Sheriff Richard Johnston congratulate Deputy Sheriff Stephen Tuxhorn (above) and his K-9 partner, Boomer, for placing first in the explosive detection event at the East Coast K-9 Trials this past weekend. The trials were held at the Charles Chrin Community Center in Palmer Township with 10 different law enforcement agency K-9 units participating. Boomer is a Chocolate Labrador trained in explosive detection. He joined the Northampton County Sheriff's Department in July 2019 and works with Deputy Tuxhorn checking packages in the mailroom, loading docks and other locations. Boomer is also available to work as a tracking dog should a child or confused person go missing.

HOW TO TACKLE COMMON STOMACH ISSUES

MANAGE ALL OF YOUR
DIGESTIVE PROBLEMS WITH THESE DIET AND LIFESTYLE
TIPS FROM CLEVELAND CLINIC.

How do I reduce bloating? Certain ingredients can cause a buildup of gas in the stomach and intestines, says Anna Taylor, R.D. Culprits include carbs, high-fat foods and sodium—and it's not just from the saltshaker. The majority of sodium in the typical American diet hides in processed and restaurant foods like pizza, cold cuts, canned soups or bagels. If you cut down on those, you should see a difference, she says.

Do I have IBS? Irritable bowel syndrome (IBS) can be challenging to identify and to manage because the triggers of the abdominal discomfort and pain aren't always consistent, says gastroenterologist Christine Lee, M.D. If you have chronic stomachaches, see a doctor. More often than not, exercising regularly, managing stress and making changes to your dietary habits (boosting fiber-rich foods, healthy fats and protein) can reduce the severity and frequency of attacks.

Is having gas normal? Yes, the release of excess air through the intestinal tract is both normal and natural. But if gassiness is affecting your day-to-day life, try these tips: Limit carbonated beverages and fermented foods, like yogurt or pickled veggies. Get daily exercise—the more active you are, the more discreetly you'll eliminate gas from your intestinal tract, says Lee. Focus on ab-strengthening exercises to keep your digestive tract moving. And while cruciferous veggies are an excellent source of vitamins (and may decrease your risk of cardiovascular disease, oxidative stress and many cancers), consider limiting them if you're heading into a wedding or packed movie theater.

How do I avoid getting constipated? In general, if you have three or fewer bowel movements a week or strain to have one, then you may have constipation. Gastroenterologist Samita Garg, M.D., suggests a few at-home remedies to get you regular: fiber supplements (gentle laxatives) as needed; high-fiber foods, such as whole-wheat pasta, chickpeas, edamame, blackberries or raspberries; warm or hot water in the morning; and movement (like a walk around the block) to stimulate the abdominal muscles and blood flow to your intestines.

How can a rechargeable hearing aid that costs only $149⁹⁹ be every bit as good as one that sells for $2,400 or more?

The answer: Although tremendous strides have been made in Hearing Aid Technology, those cost reductions have not been passed on to you. Until now...

The MDHearingAid® VOLT uses the same kind of technology incorporated into hearing aids that cost thousands more at a small fraction of the price.

Over 600,000 satisfied MDHearingAid customers agree: High-quality, digital, FDA-registered rechargeable hearing aids don't have to cost a fortune. The fact is, you don't need to spend thousands for a hearing aid. MDHearingAid is a medical-grade, digital, rechargeable hearing aid offering sophistication and high performance; and works right out of the box with no time-consuming "adjustment" appointments. You can contact a licensed hearing specialist conveniently online or by phone — even after your purchase at no cost. No other company provides such extensive support. As women, validating your own feelings when it comes to your health is critically important. That means honoring what you feel and experience, even if your doctor says, "That's in your head" or "That's not possible." Give yourself the credit that you know your body, that you know your brain. Keep track of your health journey. If you notice you've been waking up feeling exhausted, write that down so you can meet with your doctor as a well-prepared reporter. Women need to consider themselves the CEO of their own health. Go to your provider prepared, insist on being heard, validated and seen. If you aren't, move on to a different doctor.

We are beginning to know what a brain-healthy lifestyle is.

We know that many of the cases of Alzheimer's might be preventable if people have different lifestyles. That doesn't mean that those who have Alzheimer's were bad or did something wrong. But this whole space is awakening to intervention, to different ways of thinking. When talking about cognitive health, more and more people are saying, "Wait a second, I'm foggy, I feel like I can't focus." And they notice the impact of exercise on that feeling. They notice the impact of certain foods on that feeling. They notice the impact of sleep on that feeling. They notice the impact of having a fulfilling personal life on that feeling. These things impact a brain-healthy life.

Exercise, for instance, creates something called brain-derived neurotrophic factor.

It cleans out the brain. It gets blood flow into the brain. So walking, doing HIIT (high intensity interval training), doing anything to keep yourself moving

A new way to treasure your favorites!

The Bradford Exchange presents the Disney Once Upon a Slipper Ornament Collection—wonderful sculptural ornaments that celebrate the magic of Disney.

Fully sculpted slippers become a wondrous world of their own

"A Timeless Treasure" and "The Reflection of Beauty," Set One, pays tribute to two long-time favorites. Cast in fine artist's resin and hand-painted, each slipper features authentic Disney art to create a "realistic" fantasy background. Intricate, fully sculpted characters from each film bring a magical touch, as tiny scenes are posed on the toe of each slipper. Tiny sculpted bows and buckles are fashioned as mementos of each heroine that relate to her very own story.

HEALTHY LIFESTYLE

If you are feeling exhausted and in need of revitalization, you should consider a detox or cleanse. With Active Liver™ you have the tool to do this gently and on a daily basis.

Detox your body - all year long

Each day, our liver is working hard to remove waste products and toxins from processed foods, unclean air, water and even our own body. But as we get exposed to increasingly more toxins, the liver struggles to remove them all and can start storing them in our body fat.

We quickly may notice the results in our energy levels, in our lack of youthful appearance – and surprisingly, on our waistlines.

UNJUNKING YOUR BODY

A detox, like a water or juice fast, is an excellent way to rid the body of stored toxins, but it is often difficult to abide by, and involves days or even weeks of feeling tired and sick. However, there are other ways.

DETOX WITH ONE TABLET A DAY

Active Liver™ is a dietary supplement that helps promote a healthy liver and helps you detox on a daily basis – all year round. With just one tablet a day, it gently but effectively uses known herbal extracts to facilitate detoxing of the body – without the “side effects”.

THE LIVER & YOUR WAISTLINE

The liver is an important fat burning organ. If the liver is sluggish or clogged with waste material it will be less able to work, and fat can start to build up, under the skin, as belly fat and even inside the internal organs (as in a fatty liver). Making sure your liver is working well will help you flush fats from the body.

Results may vary. Always read and follow instructions prior to use.

GRILLING LIGHT!

Plan a laid-back patio dinner with these quick grilled fish tacos from Alfresco: 125 Recipes for Eating & Enjoying Outdoors. Try any firm, flaky white fish (halibut, red snapper or cod work well) and top with this fresh Mexican-style slaw and a bit of crema.

GRILLED FISH TACOS

Prepare a gas or charcoal grill for direct grilling over medium-high heat (400°–450°F). Clean the grill grates. Season 1½ lbs halibut filets with salt and pepper and brush lightly all over with avocado or canola oil. Place the fish directly over the heat. Cover the grill and cook, turning once, until the fish is opaque throughout and flakes when prodded with a fork, 6–10 minutes, depending on the thickness of the filets. While the fish is cooking, warm 12 corn tortillas on the grill, then wrap them in aluminum foil to keep warm. Transfer the fish to a cutting board or baking sheet. To assemble the tacos, fill each tortilla with some of the fish, then top with salsa and Mexican-style Slaw (recipe on page 11). Drizzle with ¼ cup Mexican crema (sold near the sour cream) and top with ½ cup chopped fresh cilantro. Serves 6

MEXICAN-STYLE SLAW

In a large bowl, stir together 2 Tbsp extra-virgin olive oil, finely grated zest and juice of 1 lime, 1 tsp honey, 1 clove minced garlic and 1 small jalapeño, seeded and minced. Season well with salt and pepper. Stir in 1 heaping cup shredded green cabbage, 1 heaping cup shredded red cabbage and 1 large carrot (about $\frac{3}{4}$ cup), shredded. Toss until well coated with the dressing. Let slaw stand at room temperature for about 10 minutes, stir again, and serve immediately. Serves 6

instead of sitting is beneficial to your brain. If you go to a gym or go walking with a friend, you feel better. We have a lot more power over our health than many people have been led to believe.

A common misconception about Alzheimer's is that there's nothing you can do.

Most people just think it's an inevitable part of growing old or that it's not in their family, so they don't have to worry about it. And both are wrong.

I'm hopeful because we're doubling down on research on women. And we're looking at the aging brain and asking, "What is that silent period when someone is cognitively 'healthy,' but they may be developing Alzheimer's?"

We believe that Alzheimer's begins in your brain 15-20 years [prior to symptoms], and until recently, no one was talking about what was happening in women at midlife: menopause, perimenopause and brain shrinkage due to the loss of estrogen. That connection opened up a whole new world for me. WAM has partnered with Cleveland Clinic and we've launched the largest brain study in the world to look at that space. Is that space at 45 years old? Is it at 55 years old? When is that happening? I really believe that we are within striking distance of a cure. There's more interest, there's more money, there's better technology. You have a lot of people talking.

When it comes to healthy brain habits, I meditate. I make sure that I have at least an hour and a half of silence in the morning where I don't have a phone or any outside influences. I try to go to bed earlier and prioritize my sleep. I try to get up at the same time. I eat a lot less sugar than I used to—although that's still a challenge for me. I eat more of a plant-based diet, a lot less red meat than I used to. I prioritize my exercise. I speak up for my health, and I stay on top of my doctor's appointments.

I do cognitive exercises, but if I'm really honest, I don't do them religiously. When I do them, I feel better. I try to brush my teeth with my alternate hand. I try to memorize directions. I try to do small things every day. When it comes to your brain, you definitely want to keep learning, whether you're learning through a puzzle, game or activity.

I do expressive writing. So, if I'm feeling down, I write it out. I've become an entrepreneur in the past year, which has been challenging, but rewarding. I started MOSH [a protein bar made for brain health] with my son Patrick [Schwarzenegger]. As you get older, it's important that you have dreams to keep you moving forward or things that make you feel like your best days are ahead.

Having practices that support your mental, emotional and physical well-being is critical. I always tell my kids that when s--t hits the fan, you should have a practice to cope—a breathing technique, a meditation technique, a writing technique, a talking technique, some kind of practice to help you through it because everybody in life is going to get smacked with something. •

For men of all ages with urinary incontinence

Don't let incontinence stop you from doing what you love

Men's Liberty keeps you dry & leak free for up to 24 hours.

No guy ever plans for urinary incontinence. It's degrading, uncomfortable and inconvenient. Regardless of the cause, chances are you (or a loved one) were told to wear adult diapers to manage the condition. But you soon discovered that the hassles of diapers disrupt everyday life: they're unsanitary ...expensive ... and humiliating.

Now diapers don't have to get in your way.

Men's Liberty is the simple, non-invasive option for male urinary incontinence that helps keep you secure, dry and leak-free for up to 24 hours. Made of a safe, skin-friendly material called hydrocolloid, this patented external collection device easily attaches to the tip of a man's anatomy. It softly stretches and flexes as you move, directing urine away from the skin. Unlike diapers, Men's Liberty effectively reduces the risk of skin and urinary tract infections. Best of all, it's discreet, dependable and dignified.

Stop spending a fortune on adult diapers.

You could continue to shell out as much as $300 a month on diapers. Or you could switch to Men's Liberty and pay little to no out-of-pocket cost

TECHNOLOGY SIMPLIFIED – BIGGER AND BETTER

Wow! A Simple to Use Computer Designed Especially for Seniors!

Easy to read. Easy to see. Easy to use. Just plug it in!

"I love this computer! It is easy to read and to use! I get photo updates from my children and grandchildren all the time."

– Janet F.

Have you ever said to yourself "I'd love to get a computer, if only I could figure out how to use it." Well, you're not alone. Computers were supposed to make our lives simpler, but they've gotten so complicated that they are not worth the trouble. With all of the "pointing and clicking" and "dragging and dropping" you're lucky if you can figure out where you are. Plus, you are constantly worrying about viruses and freeze-ups. If this sounds familiar, we have great news for you. There is finally a computer that's designed for simplicity and ease of use. It's the WOW Computer, and it was designed with you in mind. This computer is easy-to-use, worry-free and literally puts the world at your fingertips. From the moment you open the box, you'll realize how different the WOW Computer is. The components are all connected; all you do is plug it into an outlet and your high-speed Internet connection. Then you'll see the screen – it's now 22 inches. This is a completely new touch screen system, without the cluttered look of the normal computer screen. The "buttons" on the screen are easy to see and easy to understand. All you do is touch one of them, from the Web, Email, Calendar to Games – you name it . . . and a new screen opens up. It's so easy to use you won't have to ask your children or grandchildren for help. Until now, the very people who could benefit most from Email and the Internet are the ones that have had the hardest time accessing it. Now, thanks to the WOW Computer, countless older Americans are discovering the wonderful world of the Internet every day. Isn't it time you took part? Call now,

Forbes names Lehigh Valley native to its '30 under 30' Hollywood list

BY DAVE HOWELL
Special to The Press

Lehigh Valley native Alexa Dectis is an entertainment lawyer who was profiled in Forbes magazine for its "30 under 30" Hollywood & Entertainment list for 2022.

The achievement is even more noteworthy because Dectis has a progressive neuromuscular disease, Spinal Muscular Atrophy (SMA).

Although Dectis has been confined to motorized transport since she was a child, she has refused to let SMA hold her back.

Dectis talked about her life and career in an online streaming conference.

Dectis, born in Allentown, moved with her family at an early age to Orefield, North Whitehall Township.

As a child actor she appeared on "Sesame Street," "The Guiding Light," "PBS Kids" and "Nickelodeon Jr." She had a small part in the feature movie, "Admission" (2013), starring Tina Fey and Paul Rudd.

Lehigh Valley native Alexa Dectis is an entertainment lawyer profiled in Forbes magazine for its "30 under 30" Hollywood & Entertainment list for 2022.

"When I was at the Swain School for middle school I would travel to New York City three times a week, doing my homework in the car on the way home.

"I knew growing up that I loved the entertainment industry, but I didn't want to be in front of the camera forever."

After graduating from the Pennsylvania Cyber Charter School with a dual enrollment for credits at Lehigh Carbon Community College, Dectis graduated from George Washington University and entered Chapman University School of Law.

"There are not a lot of people with disabilities in law school. The school was great because the staff figured out how to make it possible for me.

"They would take my law textbooks, which were thousands of pages, slice the spine off them, and run them through a scanner. I would read them and take notes on my MacBook.

"If I had gone to law school even 20 years earlier, I don't know how I would have been able to succeed because the technology wouldn't have been in place.

'Brilliant' opening at Pa. Shakespeare

CURTAIN RISES

By Kathy Lauer-Williams

The Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival (PSF) 31st summer season is underway with the one-person play, "Every Brilliant Thing," which opened June 7 and continues through June 19, Schubert Theatre, Labuda Center for the Performing Arts, DeSales University, Center Valley.

It's the final season for PSF Producing Artistic Director Patrick Mulcahy, who is stepping down and returning full-time to the DeSales University faculty after 19 years leading PSF.

The festival returns to full-capacity live indoor performances through Aug. 7.

"For me and for the festival, this is a season of both renewal and metamorphosis," says Mulcahy.

"It's regenerating to return to full attendance indoors, as well as moving forward again with productions planned for previous seasons.

"Our mission has always been to reach the widest possible audience with great theater and I'm pleased that my final season will reflect a further step to animate and actualize that mission," Mulcahy says.

"Every Brilliant Thing," written by Duncan Macmillan and Jonny Donahoe, examines a family's resilience in the face of severe mental depression.

Anne Hering

Festival veteran Suzanne O'Donnell stars in the one-actor play. In the role, she confronts joy and grief from youth to adulthood. Affirmation emerges in the accounting of life's everyday blessings and discovering how to save the ones we love. O'Donnell and director Anne Hering reprise the play at PSF after presenting it last fall at Orlando Shakespeare Theater. Hering has directed Shakespeare and other classic and contemporary plays at Orlando Shakespeare Theater where she is education director.

Hering says the play, which posits that laughter is the antidote to all things, "invites the audience to be vulnerable.

"That vulnerability often is expressed in laughter. We've all been through tragedy at some point and wondered if it was OK to laugh. This play gives us permission to find the humor in that sadness," says Hering.

The title refers to when the main character is age six and her mother is in the hospital. When her See HERING on Page B2

Get ready for a 100 percent live, raucous, loud and slammin' rock show." L.A. Guns' Tracii Guns agrees, "I'm excited L.A. Guns will be heading out on the road with Tom Keifer." Faster Pussycat's Taimé Downe adds, "Faster Pussycat has toured with Tom's band and L.A. Guns before, but never all of us together." Keifer, of Springfield Township, Delaware County, was lead singer-songwriter-guitarist for Cinderella. The Keifer Band, with its second album, "Rise" (2019), is Tom Keifer, Savannah Keifer, Tony Higbee, Billy Mercer, Kendra Chantelle, Jarred Pope and Kory Myers. L.A. Guns, founded in 1983, has released its 13th album, "Checkered Past" (2021). The band includes Tracii Guns, guitar; Phil Lewis, lead vocals; Ace Von Johnson, guitar; Johnny Martin, bass, and Shawn Duncan, drums. from George Washington University. I told him I was going to law school, and he told me what kind of computer I should get."

After graduation, Dectis was admitted to the California Bar in 2020. She works for a Hollywood entertainment company and lives in Los Angeles in an apartment where she is assisted by a team of about 15 visiting caretakers.

"I make sure that the studios are following child labor laws and not overworking child actors, so that the studios can make really great productions, and keep all the children safe that are making those great productions."

Dectis enjoys being in the dynamic environment of Hollywood:

"It's changing all the time. That's part of what makes it so exciting, because there is always something new to learn. Learning is so much of the reason why I went into this industry. I love to learn and I love to be able to think through complex issues."

Although there is no cure for SMA, drug treatment is now available. "I'm so thankful, because when I was in law school my disease was progressing. When you have the desire to do so much that is a real scary feeling."

"The medication has been able to stabilize me and it's given me a lot of clarity about the future so I will be able to accomplish what I want to."

Dectis tries to visit the Lehigh Valley as often as she can. "I love being in the Lehigh Valley and visiting with my family. My career is the only thing that pulls me away. There is no place like the Lehigh Valley."

"I love the people. Here everybody cares about everybody. There is a huge sense of community. Everybody's connected in some way. My parents grew up here."

"I've been really fortunate to have a very supportive family. They have been amazing, and they never told me I couldn't do something because I had SMA. That has largely contributed to my mindset today."

Her parents are Peter and Julie Dectis. They run a second-generation family business, Charles Dectis Painting.

Her sister is Nicole Long, who is married to Ben Long. Nicole Long is an oncology nurse at the Lehigh Valley Hospital infusion center. Ben Long runs a second-generation family business, Lehigh Valley Water Systems.

Says Dectis: "I firmly believe that something good can come out of really challenging circumstances. It's given me a perspective that otherwise I never would have had the opportunity to develop. For that I'm extremely thankful."

Dining faux pas are easily served

Dear Jacquelyn, I like to think I have fairly good table manners but mishaps do happen. All sorts of blunders occur such as accidental spills and dealing with gristle. I am not always sure about how to graciously recover and regain my composure. Can you offer some advice on how to recover from some typical dining faux pas?

Dear Reader, Dining blunders happen to everyone. It doesn't mean you have poor table etiquette; it simply means accidents happen. The most important thing is to know how to graciously recover and regain your composure.

RESPECTFULLY YOURS

By Jacquelyn Youst

The most common mishap is an accidental spill. When this happens, set the glass upright and apologize. It's not necessary to make it the main focus of the conversation.

If you spilled someone else's drink, apologize and offer to buy them a new one.

If you are the victim of a spill, try to be gracious and compassionate. Handle the spill and forget about it.

Gristle is definitely something we all deal with at some time. Protoloc suggests the way things go in is the way they come out.

If it went in with a utensil, it comes out on a utensil; if it went in with your fingers, it comes out with your fingers.

You may also excuse yourself from the table and remove the gristle in the privacy of the restroom.

More common mishaps include dropped utensils, someone using your bread plate and handling awkward foods. When faced with these dining faux pas, there are simple solutions.

A dropped utensil stays on the floor. Ask the server for another utensil.

If someone accidentally uses your bread plate, say nothing and use the side of your dinner plate.

Lastly, when you are served something you do not know how to tackle, such as mussels, when in doubt copy what others are doing.

These are only a few of the most common faux pas people make when dining. Relax, they are totally recoverable.

Respectfully Yours, Jacquelyn

Be careful, be alert, be suspicious

For the past 10 days, I have been in the middle of a hellish situation.

Here's the bottom line: I got hacked. Big time.

I wouldn't be so upset about it if it didn't negatively impact my wonderful readers.

A few weeks ago many got email asking if they belonged to Amazon. If they responded yes, they were told a friend needed a favor. They were asked to send the friend a gift card from Amazon.

Right off the bat it was obvious this was a scam in the making. I just ignored it.

Most of us instantly recognize it as attempted fraud.

That scam got too upsetting to ignore when I had phone calls from several of my friends asking me what sort of trouble I was in.

They had gotten an email, supposedly from me, citing financial trouble. At least three wonderful friends called me to say, "How can I help?"

I can't imagine any circumstances when I would hit anyone up for money, or, in this case, gift cards.

I would rather eat cat food.

We quickly established I wasn't in trouble. It was just scam.

Most of us get different scam attempts and most of them are easy to spot and ignore.

About a dozen friends and readers didn't ignore the attempted scam because they thought it was from me. And apparently, I needed help.

Several versions of that scenario went out to personal friends and readers. Some said I needed their assistance in helping someone in need. Others said I was in some sort of unspecified financial bind.

They were sure it was from me because they could respond to "me" using my email. They didn't notice the email address was changed slightly from mine.

My own granddaughter was one who responded, thinking she was talking to me. She felt sorry that her old grandmother was having problems so she agreed to send $200 in Amazon gift cards as I supposedly asked her to do.

I was crushed to learn she lost her hard-earned money by trying to help me.

I'm also upset that other good people also got caught in the scam. Some people who have read my column through the years were the ones who reached out to help.

Here's the thing. Only good people, those with giving hearts, would try to give the help they thought was needed.

It grieves me that they were conned.

So where was I when all this was going on? I was locked out of all my accounts. Someone had successfully changed my passwords after they set up the phony Pattie account.

Facebook was able to tell me it was someone with an iPhone 11.

In addition to changing my passwords, I had to upgrade my computer system, adding more safety precautions.

While I'm still not quite back to normal and can't get on Facebook, I wanted to write this column to let people know they have to be careful.

If someone asks you to send gift cards, that should be a red flag. Don't respond to the message in any way.

One Jim Thorpe reader sent the best response to the scammer. "Do you think I'm stupid?" she responded. "I'm sending this to the real Pattie."

One couple from Sarasota phoned me to say they are getting suspicious email from me that doesn't sound like me.

A few times I have gotten strange sounding email from "long-time friends" that didn't ring true to their typical writing style. I just ignored it.

Experts tell us ignoring the scam is best. If possible, don't open it.

There are so many scams out there, posing as legitimate sites.

Within the past week I've gotten a phony email from the so-called U.S. Postal Service claiming they have a package for me that can't be delivered unless I supply additional information.

I knew I wasn't expecting a package so I ignored it.

In the past I also got email from my legitimate accounts saying I needed to supply more information or my account would be shut down. I was given a deadline for responding.

When I ignored it all, of course nothing was shut down.

One internet provider said to warn readers not to ever give your Social Security number or account number in response to email or phone calls.

My neighbor keeps getting harassing phone calls from a credit company saying she needs to immediately send in payment or her credit card would be affected.

It's been years since she has had an account with the so-called credit card company.

Internet dating sites can also be lucrative ground for scammers.

One woman said she met someone from another state online and they began writing back and forth. They thought alike, she said, and appeared to be soul mates.

When he was supposed to fly in for a visit, he said he needed a loan to buy his ticket because he's in debt from medical expenses.

She sent the money. He never came because there was a family emergency and he needed more money, he said.

While she was tempted to send more money, she got leery and didn't do it.

Her "soul mate" then disappeared.

The popular police show "Hill Street Blues" always ended with the warning: "Be careful out there, people."

That advice is now more important than ever.

Here's your gardening to-do list for June

Here's your June To-Do List:

Spring-flowering bulbs are now done blooming and the leaves may have already turned yellow and died down.

Daffodil leaves should not be cut back until after they have at least turned yellow. They use their leaves as energy to create next year's flower. Daffodils continue to absorb nutrients for about six weeks after the blooms have died.

Newly set-out plants and seedlings should be shaded for several days until they are adjusted to the weather.

Crabgrass seedlings may begin to appear in the lawn if no pre-emergence killer was used. Treat it now with any good post-emergence killer following the directions on the label.

When cutting peony blooms, leave some foliage on the base of the stalk to provide food for next year's bloom.

Asparagus should not be cut after late June. Apply a liberal topdressing of a balanced fertilizer or compost to the bed.

Plant seeds of endive, broccoli and kale around mid-month for a crop of greens in the fall.

Sow seeds of beans, beets, carrots, kohlrabi, and turnips at month's end for a late crop.

Lettuce should be shaded from the hot sun and given plenty of water.

Plant sweet potato slips early in the month.

Sweet corn planted now will make rapid growth with another planting by mid-month.

Invite beneficial insects to your garden with a mix of plants such as dill, fennel, parsley, tansy, sweet alyssum, daisies, coneflowers, sunflowers and chamomile.

Mulching flowers and vegetables after the plants are growing will save time and labor, keeping weeds from sprouting and holding moisture in the soil. Any organic, weed free material will be beneficial: grass clippings, peat moss, leaves, hay, or straw.

Sawdust may be used if adding a source of nitrogen at the same time. Placing sheets of wet newspaper under the mulch will keep the weed seeds in the dark longer.

Pinch back chrysanthemums to keep them bushy.

Thin, don't top: Topping trees is a severe pruning practice that should never be followed. It involves cutting all the primary branches at the top of a tree back to stubs in a uniform flat top manner.

Some people do this to try to decrease the overall height of a tree. However, it is unaesthetic and destroys the natural shape of the tree.

It also promotes the rapid development of thin, weak, upright water sprouts that form around the pruning cuts. These grow at narrow angles to the main branches and break easily in storms.

It leaves large areas of wounding which promotes decay and increases the chances that pests or diseases can attack the tree.

It also harms the tree's photosynthetic ability since so many leaf-making branches are removed at once.

If you have a tree that has been topped, selective pruning in successive years after the topping can help direct more proper growth of the new branches, but the butchered tree will still never be the same again.

Mulching trees: Don't build a volcano mound of mulch around your trees or shrubs. This encourages rodent damage, invasion of disease organisms, and it decreases the amount of oxygen that can get to the roots. This can slowly kill the tree.

Keep mulch 3 to 4 inches away from the trunk and only about 2 to 3 inches deep. Rake old mulch to break it up before adding new mulch.

Consult with doctor about allergy shots

Q. Is it worth getting shots for my allergies?

Immunotherapy, also known as allergy shots or vaccinations, can alleviate allergy symptoms. However, shots don't work on all allergies or all people.

Doctors advise against allergy shots if you take a beta blocker for high blood pressure or heart problems. If you're considering immunotherapy seek the advice of a good allergist.

Allergy shots are a series of scheduled injections meant to desensitize you to specific allergens, the substances that trigger an allergic response. The usual schedule is a shot once or twice a week for about three to six months. After that, you'll need a shot about once a month for three to five years.

Allergy shots are commonly used to treat allergic rhinitis (hay fever) and asthma. Allergy shots may also control allergic reactions to stinging insects, such as bees,

HEALTHY GEEZER

By Fred Cicetti

yellow jackets, hornets and wasps. But the shots are not effective for food allergies.

If you have seasonal hay fever, you may be allergic to pollens from trees, grasses or weeds. If you have year-round discomfort, you may be sensitive to indoor allergens such as dust mites, cockroaches, mold or pet dander.

The common symptoms of allergic rhinitis are itchy eyes, nose, or throat; nasal congestion, runny nose, watery eyes, chest congestion or wheezing. If your eyes also become red and swollen, you suffer from allergic conjunctivitis.

Before starting allergy shots, your doctor may use a skin test to confirm that you have allergies and determine which specific allergens cause your signs and symptoms. During the test, a small amount of the suspected allergen is scratched into your skin and the area is then observed for about 20 minutes. Swelling and redness indicate an allergy to the substance.

The shots won't give you immediate relief. You'll probably see improvement in the first year of treatment. The most noticeable improvement often happens during the second year. By the third year, most people are desensitized to the allergens contained in the shots.

For some people, successful treatment leads to a life without allergy symptoms. For others, shots must continue on a long-term basis to keep allergy symptoms at bay.

An allergic reaction is a complex chain of events that involves many cells, chemicals and tissues throughout the body. While there is no cure for allergic disease, there are many medications available to lessen symptoms. About 50 million Americans suffer from an allergy.

Major allergic diseases include: allergic rhinitis, allergic conjunctivitis, asthma, atopic dermatitis (eczema), hives (urticaria), and reactions to substances such as food, latex, medications and insect stings.

We don't know why some substances trigger allergies and others do not. We also don't understand why every person does not react to allergens. A family history of allergies is the single most important factor that predisposes a person to develop allergies.

A fond farewell for Bethlehem Bach Choir's Greg Funfgeld

BY PAUL WILLISTEIN
pwillistein@tnonline.com

The 114th Bethlehem Bach Festival was the final festival for Greg Funfgeld as Bach Choir of Bethlehem Artistic Director and Conductor.

Funfgeld is retiring after conducting the two-weekend 2022 festival.

After his 39-year tenure leading the United States' longest-running Bach Choir, Funfgeld was named Bach Choir of Bethlehem Artistic Director and Conductor Emeritus. It is the first such title given by The Choir.

The honor was bestowed at the May 14 concert of J.S. Bach's "Mass in B Minor" in Packer Memorial Church, Lehigh University, Bethlehem, by Bach Choir of Bethlehem Board of Directors President

Harold G. Black and Bach Choir of Bethlehem Executive Director Leela Breithaupt.

A presentation was also made to Funfgeld at the May 21 "Mass in B Minor" concert.

Giving remarks at both presentations was The Rt. Rev. C. Hopeton Clennon, Senior Pastor, Central Moravian Church, Bethlehem.

"We thank you for your service," said Clennon to Funfgeld.

The Bach Choir of Bethlehem announced May 25 the appointment of Dr. Christopher Jackson as the seventh Artistic Director and Conductor in The Choir's 125-year history.

Dr. Jackson begins his tenure following the June 30 retirement of Funfgeld. Jackson will leave his position as Director of Choral and Vocal Activities at Muhlenberg College, Allentown.

'Top' star

"Top Gun: Maverick" is the most thrilling entertainment you're likely to experience this spring and summer season short of an amusement park ride.

AT THE MOVIES

By Paul Willistein
pwillistein@tronline.com

The film, a sequel to "Top Gun" (1986), revisits Captain Pete "Maverick" Mitchell (Tom Cruise) at the United States Navy Strike Fighter Tactics Instructor program (known as Top Gun), where Maverick is tasked to train pilots for a secret mission to destroy a uranium enrichment facility in a foreign nation.

Geopolitical concerns about the wisdom of such a mission aside (the nation is not named nor vaguely described), the task sets up an exciting storyline of bravery, dedication, romance and a healthy dose of bromance.

Maverick is in immediate trouble with his commanding officer (Ed Harris) when he pilots an unauthorized test flight of an experimental plane (based on an SR-71 and SR-72) in an attempt to break Mach 10 (approximately 10 times the speed of sound).

This lands Maverick back at Top Gun, where he teaches young pilots the rules of the game, tricks of the trade and gets to know the reasons for their call names, aka nicknames.

Maverick butts head with another commanding officer (Jon Hamm), as well as several of the pilots, including Rooster (Miles Teller), son of Maverick's best friend Goose, who had died in a situation for which Maverick still feels guilty, and with the smug Hangman (Glen Powell).

Maverick reconnects with an old flame, Penny (Jennifer Connelly), who runs a local tavern where the pilots hang out when off-duty.

As the storyline progresses through the training, Maverick visits with Iceman (Val Kilmer).

"Top Gun: Maverick" is a terrific action film, with exhilarating flying sequences of F/A-18 Super Hornet fighter jets zooming and rolling and streaking over and above and around each other. The scenes are thrilling beyond description.

"Top Gun: Maverick" is an insightful film about the skills and courage of Navy pilots who navigate fast, complex and impressive fighter planes.

"Top Gun: Maverick" is a love story about Maverick and Penny, which unfolds in a chaste and charming way.

"Top Gun: Maverick" is a love story in the best sense between men and women of honor, patriotism and loyalty.

The cast includes Monica Barbaro (Phoenix), Jay Ellis (Payback), Danny Ramirez (Fanboy), Greg Tarzan Davis (Coyote), Manny Jacinto (Fritz), Charles Parnell (Warlock) and Bashir Salahuddin (Hondo).

Director Joseph Kosinski ("Only the Brave," 2017; "Oblivion," 2013; "Tron: Legacy," 2010) balances action scenes and dialogue scenes brilliantly, allowing plenty of time for all.

The scenes between Cruise and Connelly are among the best romantic scenes of recent movies.

The scene between Cruise and Kilmer is very moving.

The screenplay, by Ehren Kruger, Eric Warren Singer and Christopher McQuarrie, with the story by Peter Craig and Justin Marks and based on characters created by Jim Cash and Jack Epps Jr., brings the elements of great cinema to the fore with a mix of realism, detail and sensitivity.

The cinematography by Claudio Miranda (Oscar recipient, cinematography, "Life of Pi," 2012) is spectacular.

Cruise (Oscar nominee, supporting actor, "Magnolia," 2000; Oscar nominee, actor, "Jerry Maguire," 1996, and "Born on the Fourth of July," 1990) is eminently watchable. His face transmits his inner emotions with a minimalist style that is effective.

Connelly (Oscar recipient, supporting actress, "A Beautiful Mind," 2001) is charming with a serene and strong presence in the role of a single mother and businesswoman.

Cruise and Connelly have great chemistry.

Miles Teller ("Whiplash," 2014) is excellent as a soldier coming to terms with his grudge against Maverick.

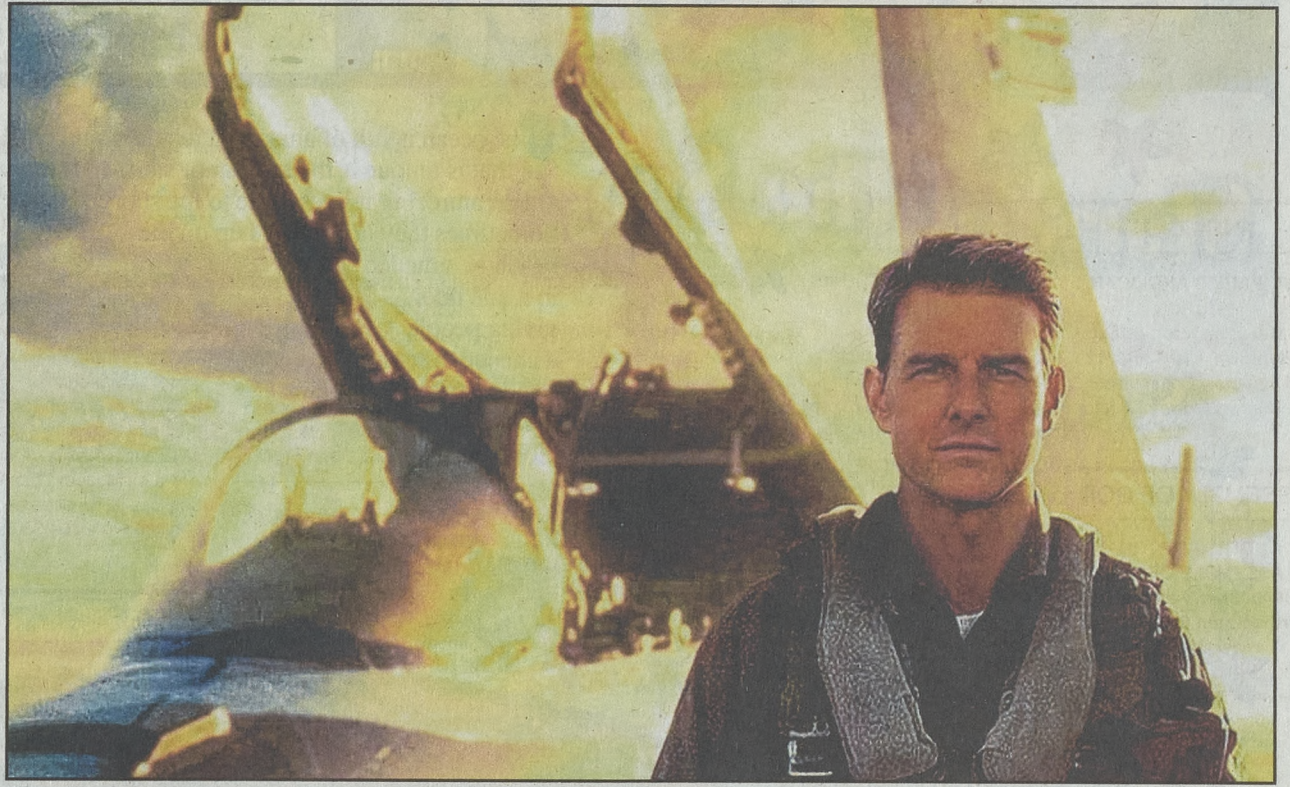

Val Kilmer is brave in a small role of great humanity and significance.

"Top Gun: Maverick" is deserving of several Oscar nominations: supporting actor, Val Kilmer; supporting actor, Miles Teller; supporting actress, Jennifer Connelly; actor, Tom Cruise, and numerous technical nominations.

Tom Cruise is the top gun once again. Call him "Top" star. He's one of the last among Hollywood's leading men.

If you're a fan of Tom Cruise, military action films and love stories, don't miss "Top Gun: Maverick."

"Top Gun: Maverick," MPAA rated PG-13 (Parents Strongly Cautioned. Some material may be inappropriate for children under 13.) for sequences of intense action and some strong language; Genre: Action, Drama; Run time: 2 hours, 10 minutes. Distributed by Paramount

Tom Cruise (Captain Pete "Maverick" Mitchell), "Top Gun: Maverick." Cruise is arguably Hollywood's last leading-man movie star.

MORAVIAN HISTORICAL

Digital resource for research

The Moravian Historical Society, Nazareth, will develop a new digital resource making its resources accessible and sparking new opportunities for research.

The archival documents, important to early American history, will be available through online exhibitions and a searchable catalog enabling audiences to engage with the collections in new ways.

The project is the result of a grant from the American Historical Association (AHA) from a $2.5 million grants program to deliver relief to institutions adversely affected by the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Fifty organizations are receiving grants from $12,000 to $75,000 each through the AHA's Grants to Sustain and Advance the Work of Historical Organizations Program, made possible with support from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) through the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act of 2021.

The grant recipients will implement short-term projects that explore new ideas or build on experiments initiated during the pandemic, from online programming or publications to using new technologies or expanding audiences and accessibility.

Proof It!

Are you an eagle-eyed reader? Read the story below and circle the nine errors you find. Then rewrite the story correctly.

Stars of the Sea

The ocean is full of amazing creatures, and one that is unique is the sea star or starfish. It is a sea creature, but it lives close to the shore. Sometimes they are washed up on the beach or stranded in a tide pool, giving people a chance to see this mysterious creature up close.

Seeing Stars

What is a sea star and what is it not? A starfish is not a fish at all. Many marine biologists want to change its name to a sea star, because most of them look like stars. Sea stars are echinoderms (eh-keen-oh-durmz)—animals that lack a back bone.

Sea Star's Rays

Sea stars have arms but no legs. Their arms are called rays. Some sea stars have five rays, some have six, ten or twenty.

Glow Time!

Sea stars have no eyes, no ears, no nose. They do have a _____ on their underside. To eat, a sea star _____ on top of, and slowly wraps its _____ around its food.

One thing sea stars like to eat is clams. Once one has wrapped its rays around a clam _____, its hundreds of tentacles _____ to the shell and hang onto it as it pulls and pulls until the shell opens. As soon as it opens just a little, the sea star _____ its stomach out of its body and into the shell and _____ the clam. This can take an hour or two.

No Bones About It

Sea stars don't have skeletons. Their spiny, tough skin gives them their shape and protects them.

Neat Feet

Sea stars have feet but no toes. If you look on the bottom of a sea star's ray, you will see rows of soft tentacles called tube feet. The sea star slowly creeps along on these feet.

SIGNS OF ENGINE TROUBLE

Engine shaking - An engine that is shaking while running may just have bad spark plugs or loose or damaged hoses, offers Sturtevant Used Auto Parts in Wisconsin. However, if those fixes don't work, it could be an indication of a deeper problem that requires a mechanic, such as fuel intake system issues, compromised motor mounts or timing belt problems.

Excessive smoke - An engine in trouble typically has to work harder. That results in heating up more quickly, which can lead to overheating. Smoke may be white, blue or black (each color indicates a separate problem). Any sign of excessive smoke is a reason to consult a mechanic.

Warning lights - The dashboard tends to light up when the car is started, and one by one those lights diminish as the car's computer checks that all systems are working correctly. If the "check engine" light remains on, it is notifying the driver of a problem. The issue could be a faulty sensor or something more ominous. Mechanics can hook the vehicle up to a scanning tool that runs diagnostics to "speak" to the car's computer helping to diagnose the issue, advises How Stuff Works.

Strange noises - Popping or tapping noises may suggest that gasoline is igniting prematurely in the combustion chambers of the cylinders. Grinding noises may tell you that the starter motor needs to be changed or replaced. Transmission issues also can produce grinding sounds. Generally speaking, if the car is making sounds it does not normally make, schedule a service appointment.

Poor fuel efficiency - Engine trouble may cause the car or truck to consume gas faster than normal, according to the car information site Carsoid. The engine or one of its components may be faulty. Problems could arise in the spark plugs, oxygen sensor or fuel injector.

Metal flakes - If you change your own oil, check to see if the oil has metal flakes, or ask the technician if he or she sees flakes when you bring it in for service. Flakes indicate the engine is creating too much friction and slowly chipping away at the components.

Trouble starting - Failure to turn over is a clear indicator of engine troubles. It could be the battery, but if the battery is new, look for other causes.
