

Climate action: needs lots of people getting out in the street and making demands

The Bethlehem Gadfly Climate Action Plan, Environment, Environmental Advisory Council, Serious Issues October 7, 2019

Gadfly:

I agree with Kathy, except that I don't think we can expect legislation to solve this problem — especially given the current legislature. It's going to take lots of people getting out in the street and demanding action. Turn the “climate strike” into more of a walkout and less of a rally-type event. Picket lines at legislators' offices.
