MIND

At 7:38 am the bell rings, signaling the beginning of first block. You wait anxiously for your teacher to hand out the test that you spent hours cramming for the night before. As he approaches your desk, sets the multiple-page test down and wishes you luck, you take a deep breath and tell yourself you can do it. Once you begin, you realize that all the information you obtained from class and studied the night before is still there. How does this happen?

The answer to that question is the mind. A person's mind is one of the most amazing parts of the body. Not only does it control our thoughts and actions, but it also enables us to retain essential information. One of the objectives of school is to help prepare us for life, and to also educate us with new and useful information each year. Then every year we are challenged to see how much we have retained, how well we are progressing, and how we are able to apply all this newly learned information to our lives. Our minds allow us to question, to ponder, to dream and to learn. With our lives before us, let's use them to make this world a better place. Our minds matter.

Our sight gives us the opportunity to see further into our potential possibilities. It gives us the vision for all beautiful things such as art, photography, and videography. Students use a simple ability, the sense of sight, in order to use more incredible talents for creating many different types of art. "Advanced multimedia tech allows me to use my own originality because I get to edit projects and change things to the way I like it," explained senior Chad Vanhorn. In today's age art is becoming more popular with the use of technology. Students enjoy classes like the ones pictured because they get to use their own creative freedom and individuality. Expressing ideas through art is something that is perfected through extensive practice. "I've taken many art classes, and it took a lot of practice to get to the point I'm at now," stated senior Elena Ostock. Displaying things through art is a skill that is honed through trial and error, and tenacity. Whether it's through pictures, paintings, or videos; sight is used to perfect all of them.

HEAR ME NOW?

Students from Mrs. Chickey's AP English class took ideas from their favorite past times outside of school and incorporated them into class assignments to be performed in front of the class.

There are many different ways to teach and learn subjects beyond just reading about them in class. Learning extends beyond the books and memorization into many different areas that students may enjoy outside of the classroom. "To me, music has always been an integral part of my education" said senior Rachel Schachter. Students have found various ways to incorporate their interests and passions into classroom assignments in order to make them easier to understand and more fun to study. "We took the regular Hamlet play into a version based on the musical Avenue Q" said senior Gillian

Moses, "We enjoyed the musical a lot and the experience allowed me to understand the story better." The evolution and modernization of technology has also forced many classrooms to adapt with the change. "I rely heavily on audio/visual aid to help me learn and understand things better," said senior Eddie Perenyi. When students feel involved they also tend to do better and are able to get more into learning. "Activities like acting out plays and listening to music help students become more engaged and invest more time in their education which leads to better understanding" said senior Gardiner Kreglow.

Doing different non-traditional and fun activities in classes allows students to learn at a hands-on pace. Artists can express themselves by touching through classes such as ceramics, woodshop, and photography. While students can also use their sense of touch to learn in science and math, students like working hands-on with things to better learn how to do it. Junior Evelin Palomino stated "I like photography because I get to work hands-on with projects either developing pictures or doing different things with the pictures". Ceramics students also have the opportunity to express their talents with their hands. They are always touching the clay to shape it and form it, creating their masterpieces. Emmanuel Lumbayi states "In ceramics you can make whatever you want and do things your own way."

Senior Julie Horvath uses the pulley cart to test momentum in physics class. Different types of experiments allow the students to visualize the concepts they learn in the textbook.

TASTE

Where would we be without our ability to taste? This sense allows us to enjoy the different foods and beverages our universe has to offer. It also allows us to gain insight into a wide range of cultures that exist all over the world today. Our school is extremely involved with allowing students to experiment with their taste buds. Everyday the cafeteria has a variety of foods for kids to choose from. Not to mention every year they have an International Foods Day where foods from different countries are represented. In the foreign language classes, teachers often host a foods day. "It's always something our class looks forward to doing. Since some of us can't afford to take a trip to France, we bring the wonderful cuisine to us!" comments Junior Rachel Lovell. Best-selling author Virginia Wolfe has been quoted as saying, "One cannot think well, sleep well, if one has not dined well." Out of our five senses, the ability to taste is the one many of us treasure.

GET YOUR GRUB ON

Sophomore Arganis Williams is celebrating Cinco De Mayo by eating a variety of snacks and drinks relating to Spanish countries. "I love Spanish holidays!" exclaimed Arganis.

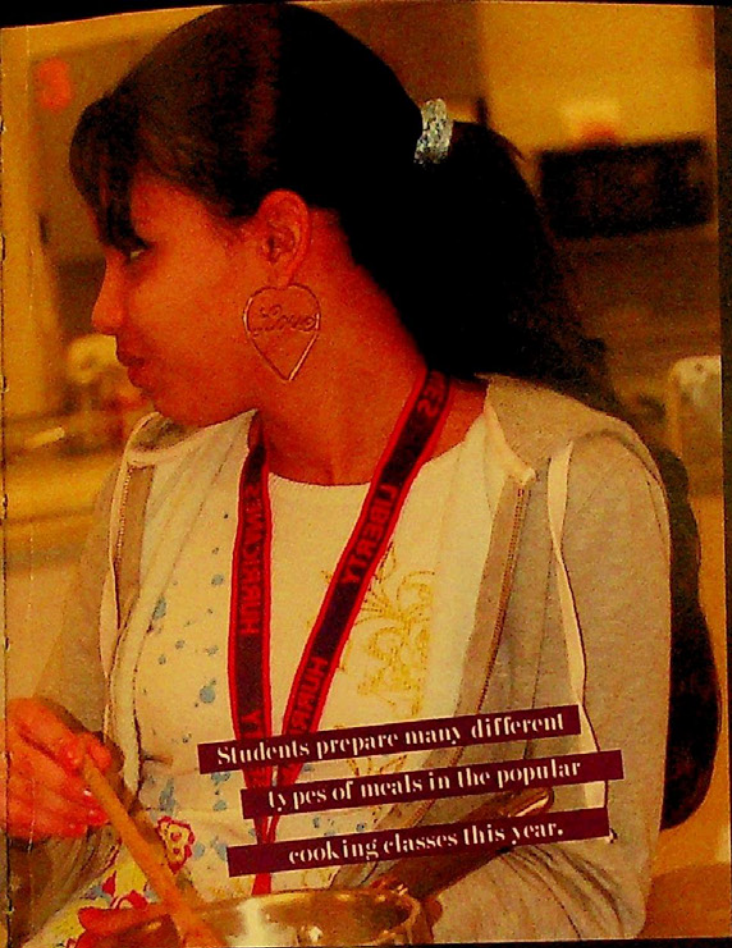

FEASTING FAST

Sophomores and Juniors line up to celebrate in their class by eating an entire meal. "It was the best food I had all year" explained the students.

GOOD COOKING

Sophomore Marcus Behring is cooking up a mean soup in his Creative Cooking class as he prepares to have a feast. "We made all kinds of delicious food in that class" commented Marcus.

Students prepare many different types of meals in the popular cooking classes this year.

SWEET

Fact: The average human can recognize approximately 10,000 different smells. Although there may not be 10,000 at Liberty High School, there sure are numerous odors that any student can recognize while walking through the halls or into various classrooms. Taylor Van Ackeren, a senior suffering from senioritis, could quickly identify the smell of coffee. She said, "I will always remember walking into school everyday of my senior year and needing a burst of energy. The smell of coffee coming from the Coffee Shop every morning always woke me up and provided me with the energy I needed to get through the day." Zahra Karim also spoke of her experiences with smells in her Anatomy class last semester like it was just yesterday. She recalled, "One thing that I'll never forget about Liberty is the cat dissection I did in Anatomy class. Even though I had the class a few semesters ago, I can still vividly recall the stench every time I walk past the classroom." The association with a smell was also evident for Puja Shah. She said, "Every time I swim outside of school, I associate it with the negative swimming experiences that I had in swimming for gym classes." Often, people associate scents with a specific moment in their life. Years from now, it is clear that students will vividly remember the moments they cherished when living their daily lives.

A LOOK INSIDE

Animal dissection is a staple in every anatomy course. The students are given a hands-on experience to better understand the structure of many different species, including cats and mice.

SMELL OF DIVERSITY

Joelle Stasak smells a container of Arabian food that was brought in for her English class. A fellow student incorporated the food into a presentation required for class. It contained meat, potatoes, and a pastry batter.

POOL TIME

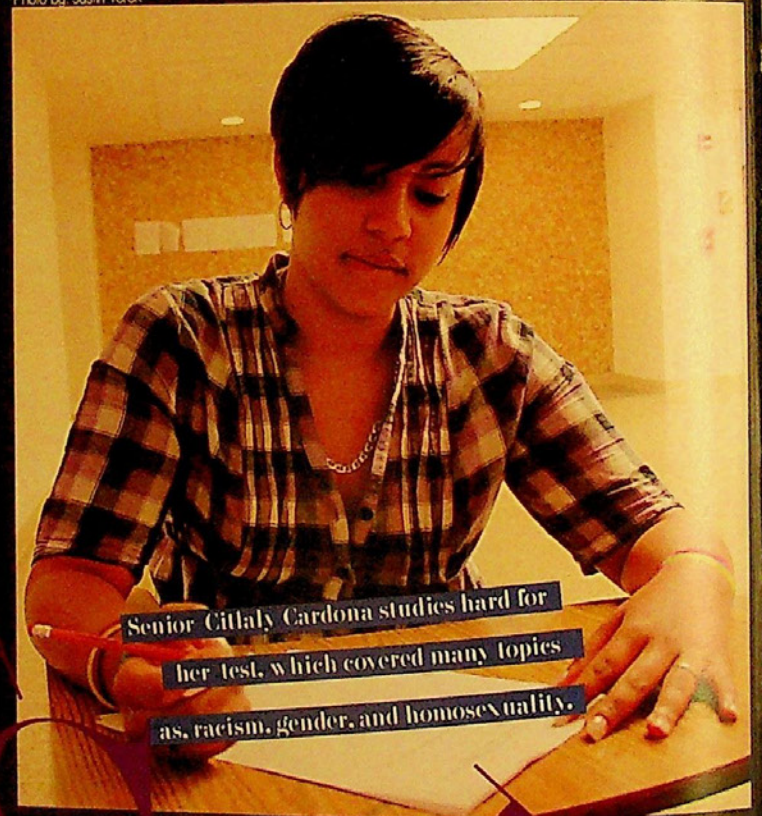

Students lend their time in the pool to help teach many of their classmates learn how to swim. The pool adds another dimension to gym classes and expands exercise.

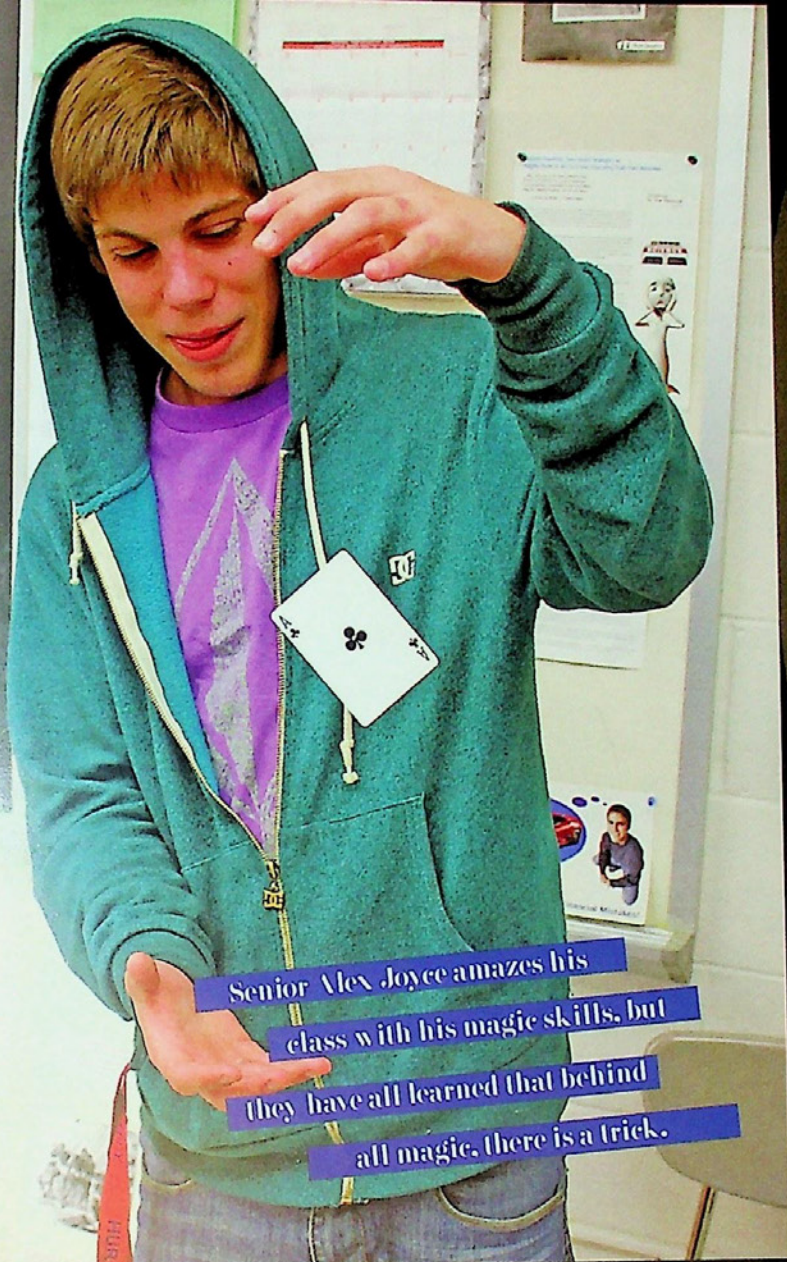

Sixth

The sixth sense, which is also known as the extrasensory perception deals with telepathy, clairvoyance, precognition, and retrocognition. Denoting itself to psychic abilities it stretches the other five senses into another whole mysterious sense. In Liberty High School there are classes that teach the students about this new sense: Skepticism and Logic, Psychology, and Sociology. In these classes the students learn how to use their brain and think to the next level.

They also learn about social issues such as homosexuality, racism, gender, religion, and age. The sixth sense is represented well in these classes because these classes teach the students how to stretch their minds and have a better understanding on situations. "Psychology was a really fun class, it dealt a lot with emotions and different views that people have in society, plus Mr. Dunton is really amazing!" explained Senior Lizbeth Morales.

French Food Frenzy

Every year, the French class has a party where the students cook food and create a recipe book. "Foods day is a fun day and we also get an idea of French traditions," stated junior Molly Markovich.

Trip to the Big Apple

The French class was learning about the renaissance and took a trip to New York to view the art work and statues from that time period. "It was a lot of fun seeing the Metropolitan in New York," recalled senior Caitlin Smichowski.

To be successful in the game of chess, you always have to be one step ahead of your competition.

STRATEGIC FUN

Although the members of the Scholastic Scrabble club spend a lot of time strategizing, planning and practicing for their competitions, they always find time to relax and have fun.

COMPETING TO LEARN

Athletics are not the only form of competition here at Liberty. In fact, there are lots of competitive events that aren't sports related. Clubs like Scholastic Scrimmage, FBLA and DECA are constantly competing to make a name for Liberty. This year alone, Scholastic Scrimmage qualified for and won states. FBLA and DECA also made it to States this year. The Math Team came in first place in the competitions at Muhlenburg and Lehigh. Junior Ben Kraft won the AAME Competition for Liberty. Winning is everything for Liberty, so naturally at every turn the students and staff are trying to win some competition or sport. In the end its not about whether we win or lose, but rather the amount of determination and effort we put into our competitions. That is why we always come out strong in the end and never be defeated, regardless of the score.

BEHIND THE SCENES

layout and copy by: Emily Murray

The goal of the yearbook staff was to try to break out of the traditional pages which were normally part of the book. This year the editors decided to put together an "athletes page", consisting of a collage of senior athletes in the school. However, in order to get all of the athletes in one picture, each picture of the athletes had to be taken separately and cut out in photoshop. It's very difficult to cleanly cut out a shape in Photoshop unless the picture is taken with a greenscreen. Luckily Christmas City Studio was nice enough to set up a day in the yearbook room where a green screen could be put up and the photos could be taken. Senior photography editor Mitchell Hanna took the pictures and the end result of the page can be seen on pages 108-109.

Blood for Life

The Liberty High School student body is constantly giving back to the community through community service. The National Honors Society and the Miller Keystone Blood Center came together three times this year to help collect blood. As usual many students were more than willing to lend an arm. Senior Eduardo Toro said "I donated blood all three times, even though the first time felt weird." Most students can relate to that, since you have to be 17 to give blood. The first blood drive of the year is always filled with nervous students who are donating blood for the first time.

This usually takes longer than most of them, so friends keep the nerves down and hopes high. Alex Uhler, sophomore "I wasn't allowed to give blood, but it makes me excited when I see everyone walking around with bandages on." The most common given when you ask someone why they give blood is because "its the right thing to do." Even though the snack table is filled with free goodies and stickers, its a small prize for a big donation. The spirit of giving back is high among students and the blood drives will continue to go strong.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

FOREVER YOUNG

(Left) The winter formal wasn't as big of a hit as the school would have liked, but that didn't stop seniors Caroline Hooper and Kristina Pieler from having some fun!

Athlete

BODY

Feet thumping...Arms pumping... Minds racing... Hearts pounding... There is nothing like the adrenaline that shoots through the body of an athlete in the heat of the moment. Sports are one of the most important parts of high school life. They live at the heart of each school, beating, pumping and bringing to life the pride that we all feel as students. Each sport is made up of student athletes striving to do their very best, and classmates who want them to succeed for the school that they love so much.

At the beginning of each season, the coach will explain to his/her players what is expected from them: hard work, a, intensity, persistence. What makes an athlete is his/her will to condition themselves, both mentally and physically, in order to be prepared for every game or performance. It's going that extra mile in practice or working out after school hours to ensure that they are in peak physical form. Our athletes are not only talented because of their ability to perform, but also because of their attitudes and the heart and soul they give to their school.

LEGS LASTING THE STORM

The Liberty Boys Cross Country team had a great season this year sending two outstanding runners to the Lehigh Valley Conference meet. Junior Tommy Darlington placed fourth at the LVC championship meet and senior Brian Borosky placed tenth at the District 11 meet. Brian was chosen for the LVIAC All-Star team and individually qualified for states. "Running for Liberty has added structure and another level of growth to my high school years. This season was the culmination of my Liberty cross country days, and being a captain allowed me the opportunity to pass on some running and life knowledge that I had gotten from the captains and other upperclassmen during my first few seasons. The awesome thing about running is that the people who can handle, handle it together, and a strong community of respect and support is built. The confidence from this carries over into every part of life," explained Borosky. The team ended their season with a record of 9 wins and 2 losses.

The boys wait for the gun to fire before they take their first steps into the race. "The start of every race is really intense and everyone wants to get a good spot," stated junior Tommy Darlington.

PERFECT PRACTICE

Andrew Williams, front left, practices with his teammates before a meet. "The cross country team, more than any other team I've been on, has largely epitomized high school for me because it has a strong team feeling and a unique goal," explained Williams.

"Our team unity is reminiscent of the Roman Empire, strong and hard," said junior Mike Churilla.

feet TO THE finish

From the extremely hot days of training in August to the breezy November states meet, it took a lot of dedication throughout the season. It took many long monotonous practices to accomplish what they had accomplished this year. The girls cross country team had a very successful season, they went undefeated in the dual meet season, received second in the Lehigh Valley Conference meet, and second in the District Meet. The girls team could tell you that it takes a lot of preparation to do well. Junior Ellen Walker explains, "You only cheat yourself by not working hard during the season and preseason." The girls hard work paid off, not only did they do well in the Lehigh Valley Conference and districts but also Junior Jess Cygan and Sophomore Amy Darlington participated in the States meet. The two girls did an outstanding job at States, Jess placed ninth and Amy placed thirteenth. Not only was the state meet an amazing achievement for Jess and Amy, but also their teammates enjoyed being there supporting them. Juniors Elise Polentes and Sylvie Harris explain, "The most memorable moment this season was watching and supporting their teammates in the states meet." Looking to next year, the girl's team has already started their training and are hoping their excellence in all aspects of running continues throughout the entire season.

After a long season filled with losses, the girls still prevailed by ending with a win against Freedom. Although they started off the season with an unlucky streak they kept their heads up and started to turn things around. They were always focusing on ways to get better. "Our biggest improvement was working together to improve individual skills," stated senior Lena DeAngelo. Improving themselves individually for the bettering of the team was one of the major things the varsity girls stuck to throughout the whole season. "We pushed to the end and finished the season on a good note," said senior captain

Taylor Mihalik. Practices consisted of drills, endurance training, and bonding, all of which contributed to their improvement. Once they started applying these skills in their games they started to find success. The girls started scoring more goals and shutting teams out which resulted in winning more games. "The highlight moment of the season was our 2 - 0 shutout against Freedom in our last game." said Sophomore varsity goalie Rebecca Rasmuson. They finished up the second half of their season with a winning record and ultimately with a win against Freedom High School.

No amount of rain could dampen the spirits of the football team as they walked out onto the soaked field for another rainy Friday night game. The dedication of the fan's to last year's state championship couldn't be questioned as the fans crowded the bleachers almost every game.

Although this wasn't the start that the Canes had been hoping for coming off of being the state champions, no one can question the strength and determination of the team. They turned around a nearly disastrous season and turned it into a brief playoff run. Injuries plagued the team throughout the season, but that couldn't bring them down for long. "The year didn't start out how we planned it, but we didn't let the early defeats break us. We pulled together and went on a nice little run to cap off our season," said senior Larry Atwood. Despite these setbacks, Liberty did manage to pull a spectacular 39 to 21 win over rival, Freedom for the 7th year in a row, clenching a spot in the playoffs. "Freedom is our biggest rival and having a win over them was the best way to end our year" said senior Jamyl Aminu. The season ended a week later for the team, but the memories will last forever, especially for head coach Tim Moncman who resigned after ten years of coaching the Canes.

MUSCLE through

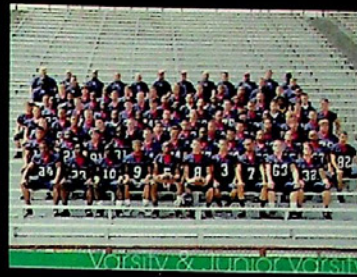

DOWN TO BUSINESS
Pumped and hungry for a win, the Canes get psyched for the rivalry game against Freedom. The excitement that surrounds the match up makes it the best game of the regular season for students.

DOWN TO BUSINESS
The team means business as they prepare for the opening kickoff at the Liberty vs. Freedom game, but nerves aren't much of a concern for the Liberty team. "I just want to get out there, get things done, and leave nothing behind" said senior John Madera.

"We've been through alot together, and became like a family,"
said senior Vladi Marchena

A game of concentration and deliberation, golf is one of the only sports that tests both endurance and intelligence. This year was one of progress for the golf team. Many of the boys were new comers, almost half the team was made up of freshmen. Although they had big shoes to fill from the league championship win the previous year, the boys always set their own goals and standards and worked hard to reach them. The age factor didn't affect the immense talent of this team. Their coach Steve Bradley reflects, "We had a really good group of young, eager, and willing to learn golfers whose futures look very bright."

Chris Santo, captain of the team and winner of the Lehigh Valley Amateur Junior Championship also qualified for districts. Ryan MacDonald comments, "Chris was a great team leader who helped keep us all motivated."

The dynamic of the team and the bonds between the players is admirable. Every player cared, not only about their own score and game, but also about their fellow teammates. Through good times and bad the team stayed strong and united which made even losses seem like victories. Chris Santo states, "At the end of the day all that mattered was that we always tried our best and were there to support and pick each other up, even after some pretty tough losses."

SETTLING THE SCORE

In their match against Whitehall, Anthony 'Sonny' Beltrami keeps score. In golf, keeping and interpreting score can get tricky because unlike other sports, a low score is a good thing.

ALL SMILES

Ben Tenaglia grins from ear to ear after a great match against Parkland. Although this match was not a win for the team, each match was a crucial step towards identifying points of strength and weakness for the players.

THE LINE-UP

ONLY YOUR FEET

With All-League Senior Josh Hoff and All-State Senior Marcus Sherper, the boy's soccer team strived to go to States this season. Hoff said, "In the past, we would come so close to going to states. This season we had a lot of talent, but our biggest struggle was when we played as individuals rather than a team." They started off the regular season on the right track with a high-light over-time, 2-1, win against Freedom and an upset over Becahi and Easton. With a winning record, the Hurricanes had a first place spot in the East Conference. Although the boys beat Easton twice in the beginning of the season, it was "three times a charm" for the Red Rovers in the League Semi-Final game. Senior stopper Tyler Mosebach stated, "It hurt losing to Easton in the tournament because we knew we could've beat them." After the Semi-Final loss, the team prepared for their first district game against Pocono Mountain East which ended with a 3-0 loss. The boys coach, Jason Horvath, was not impressed with the outcome because he knew it wasn't the team's best.

THE BICYCLE KICK

This advanced over the head trick is shown below by Junior Leandro Almeida. He expressed his love for the game, "I have been playing since I was four years old, and I play anywhere and anytime I can."

LEADERSHIP

Senior Captain Diego Torres leads the team warmup before every game. He said, "The highlight of the season was when we started playing and working together".

SEASON IN INJURY

Junior Jose Ortiz stated, "I didn't play during this season due to an ACL injury which required surgery and a nine month recovery period."

LOVE MEANS NOTHING

Whether it was senior "duo" Rachel Hoffman and Catherine Noack beating Parkland in the district doubles or Margaret Serratelli and Kathryn Wilsterman overcoming Freedom in the Lehigh Valley Conference tournament, the girl's tennis team finished their fall season on top. "We lost a lot of seniors, including 1st singles and 2nd doubles, which meant the new girls really had to step up their game and work hard to compete for a spot", explains senior Kate Wilsterman. They overcame the hardship, finishing the season with an overall record of 11 - 6.

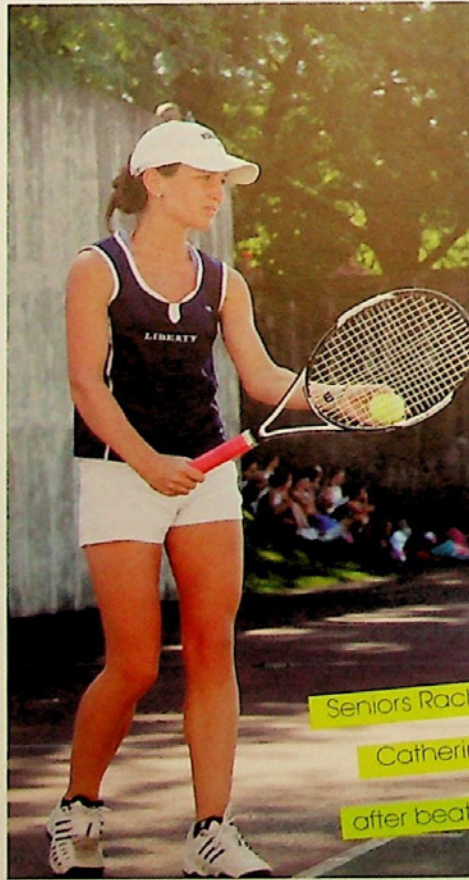

"The team went beyond my pre-season expectations, and they always worked hard to improve themselves", says Coach Schnalzer. The coach and girls developed small goals in August, and they achieved nearly all of them. These overachievers ended the season as the District XI team Semi-Finalists, Lehigh Valley Conference Champions, and 1st Doubles State Qualifiers. Although they lost to Stroudsburg in the District Semi-Finals two years in a row, the underclassmen are hoping to make the finals in the upcoming season.

UNBREAKABLE TRADITION

The girls come together to high-five after scoring a point. This is a ritual the girls do after every successful score. Melanie tells about another ritual she has, "I drink 5 hour energy before every game and during every tournament."

spike to the heart

This year's volleyball team entered into the season with an immense amount of returning talent. After only losing a few key seniors the team looked forward to an unforgettable season, and that's exactly what they got. "This season was different due to my cancer diagnosis right before the beginning of the season," head coach Ms. Rohn explains, "I had to incorporate my chemo schedule into the hectic volleyball schedule. I believe that it also affected the girls as they were unsure about what would happen during the season." Although faced with this horrible illness, Coach Rohn continued to push her team towards success and the girls persevered in more ways than one. "the girls did a good job, but there is no way to avoid the fact that it affected us all," Coach Rohn confessed.

With support from the whole school and community, the girls pushed through the hardship and ended the season with six wins and ten losses. Coach Rohn states, "the team meshed well, but we had some tough losses that were close scores." Above all, the team has gained so much more out of the season than they has expected. "I feel confident saying that we've been through more as a team than any other team in the LVC and we stuck through everything together, as one unit," Kaitlin Schnalzer concludes.

STANDING AS ONE

"Our team as a whole had to overcome a lot this season, but we always persevered. We had to accept the challenges," explained junior Emily Werkheiser.

Junior, Dante Holmes, reaching as high as he can to make a dunk on Liberty Panthers.

"This season was like a dream. It just felt as if I was dreaming and everything was going our way," point guard, Darrun Hilliard, explained. While generalizing the season, "like a dream" is an accurate way to describe the boys' basketball team's accomplishments this year. The 2009-2010 season was filled with many firsts. It was the only time in Liberty history that the boys varsity basketball team made it to the state quarter finals, which is an obvious outcome of hard work and determination from all teammates. Making it to the final four came with the opportunity to play at Villanova University. That experience was the overall highlight to most of the teams' season. When asked about how it felt to make it to the final four, there were many mixed emotions; accomplished, successful, enthusiastic, and extremely confident were just some of the expressions that came to mind.

To add to the whole experience, they not only had a series of victories, but also enjoyed the time they shared together as a team. Junior, Louie Horvath, stated that his most found memory is "just being around [his] boys; [his] best friends on the basketball team on and off the court."

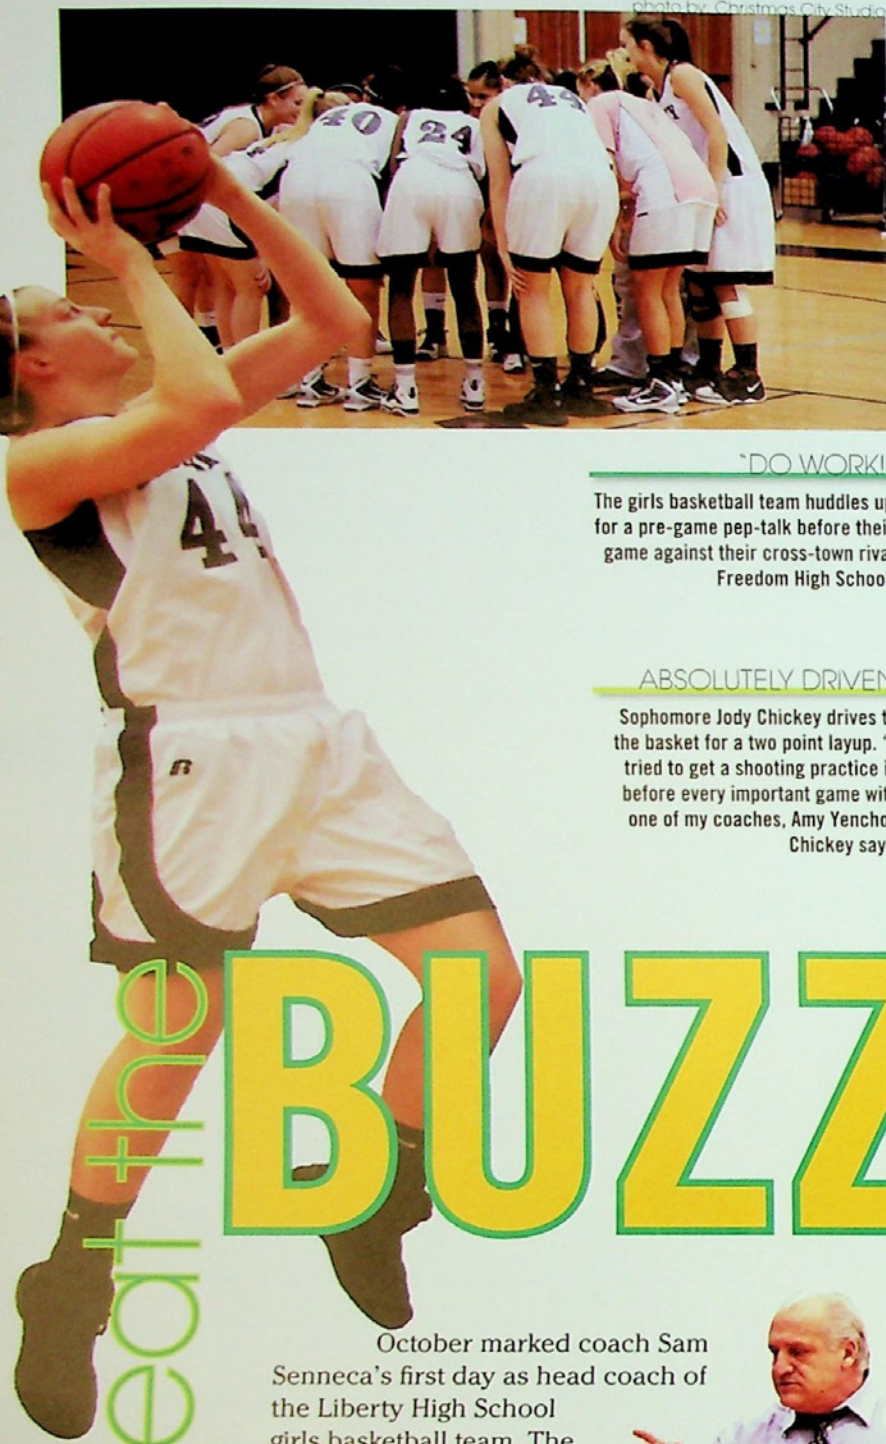

Overall the varsity basketball team had a successful season led by captains, Jarrod West, Darrun Hilliard, Anthony Gonzalez, and Brandon Holland, along with Coach Landis, who won Co-Coach of the Year. The record was 25-6, and they were District XI Champions. Even though there was a loss of some key senior players, the team and coaches are anxious to continue the winning tradition next season.

beat the BUZZER

October marked coach Sam Senneca's first day as head coach of the Liberty High School girls basketball team. The team was extremely optimistic about the upcoming season and had high hopes of success. "I was so excited for the season, and I trained all year to prepare" sophomore Jody Chickey explained.

Senneca's first season concluded with an impressive winning record of 22 and 2, and the players were equally satisfied with their newly appointed head coach, "We got along with coach so well, he always pushed us to work our hardest" Chickey said. Plus practices weren't a cake-walk, "five on fives were by far the hardest drill at practice, we all worked really hard to beat each other which really helped us to improve individually," senior Catherine Noack dished.

The new coaching wasn't the only factor in the teams' success, the girls were superstitious in more ways than one, Senior April Andrews craved pre-game lollipops while Marisa Repasch liked to eat sour patch kids. Other girls wore their hair the same style for every game and one even refused to wear different undergarments. Not to mention their regimented meals before each game, the girls frequented The Goose Deli ever game day.

In the end, it seems the new coaching, intense practices, and rituals paid off; but returning players aren't all satisfied and look forward to an even more impressive season next year, "I was really proud of our success this year but I know we had the potential to do better," Chickey said.

Keeping Spirits Up

The 2009-2010 LHS Cheerleading Squad ended up being more than just another team this year. They became family. To prepare for this year's football season, the girls went through a grueling three weeks of double practices during the summer. However, the girls still learned how to enjoy each other's company. "Doubles in the summer are so hot and long but in the end it all pays off," sophomore Alyssa Boyd stated. This year's varsity cheerleading squad was smaller than any year before. Junior Virginia Cacciatore said that "Having such a small squad created a bond stronger than I've ever had on any other team." There were only four seniors on the squad, Virginia explained "I can't imagine never cheering with these seniors again." Ending the long season was truly bitter-sweet for the girls. "The weird thing about cheerleading is sometimes you can really hate it and want to give up, but having a squad like ours makes you want to cherish every moment. Everytime I was down and I heard Nikki Daley's laugh I immediately cheered up," senior Emily Murray said. Emily explained, "I still can't believe that I'll never stand on the sidelines as a Liberty cheerleader again. From this point on I'll be cheering in the stands".

Tucked away in the small room next to the gym, the rifle team practices without most of the school knowing they're even there. "A lot of people say that rifle is not a sport and want to know why we have it, but they don't understand how tough rifle actually is and how much it means to us," said junior Josh Erdman. The rifle team loves the sport so much and does it for more than the glory.

When thinking of sports, rifle is not one of the first that comes to mind. However, rifle requires extreme concentration and a lot of practice. When asked about the season, all the members of the team say that they had a good season and had a lot of fun together. "Mr. Miller is such a great coach and he is the reason we had a good season," said sophomore John Labiak

The rifle team is very close and have a lot of great memories from this school year. "The rides in the van to and from away matches were so much fun. TOUGH IT OUT
 Many often overlook rifle, but it is a sport of supreme skill. "Rifle is the toughest sport, because just one bad breath or bad movement could mess up the entire target," said senior Katrina Danyluk.

"I'm just not ready to stop and Ursinus gives me the opportunity to keep going," says senior captain Jonathon Lawrence

It all came down to the end, the last meet and the last race. Freedom was winning and the boys needed to place first and third in the 400 relay to win. Josh Hitchings, Cameron Angstadt, Alex Clow and Evan Klokis finished with an outstanding time and therefore winning the meet. "When they finished and won the meet, all of us went crazy. It was definitely the highlight of the season" stated sophomore Eric Burcin. The boys team finished the season with an overall record of 11-3.

By continuing the traditional pasta nights, and pre meet rituals the boys became more of a family than a team. This year the boys decided to bring water from our pool and dump it into Freedom's pool. "We wanted to 'christen' it, and show them it was still our territory" explained senior Josh Hitchings.

The diving team had a lot to overcome this season. Losing many divers from last year and getting a new coach gave them quite a set back in the beginning. They had a rough start but by the end had one diver, Jacob Kelhart who was able to compete in districts.

oxygen IS OVERRATED

Year-round workouts, five o'clock practices, and holiday sessions are recipes for success during the winter season. Swimmers need dedication and a good work ethic to keep up with these grueling standards. "Training outside of the season is so important. Most of us do summer swimming to stay in shape," Junior Caroline Fitch said. The girls' hard work paid off after finishing the season with a 10-4 record.

Pre-meet preparation is just as important as out of season training, and each athlete has their own routine. Senior Patricia Leeson had a very unique style of preparation. "I shake it like a polaroid picture and do the jersey shore fist pump before each event," she explained. Leeson had a successful season after recovering from an ACL and MCL tear, finishing with a record of 10 wins and a mere 4 losses. Other girls insist on eating a special treat before meets, "I eat Swedish fish during every meet. I just can't swim without poppin' some fish," Annie Fodor insisted. Whether its shaking their tail feather or eating their favorite snacks, these swimmers stick to their rituals and swim to the finish.

PERFECTION

Senior Andie Breslin comes up for air during a 100 yard butterfly race. She said, "I swam in a bunch of butterfly events this season, but it's by far my hardest stroke to perfect."

GETTING PSYCHED

Members of the girls swim team gather for a pre-meet pep talk. "Before every match we did team cheers to try and get pumped for our events," senior Katie Cowen dished.

As each wrestler steps on the scale, they all have common concerns. "I hope I made weight! Did I do everything I could? Maybe I should have run longer with more clothing layers." Making weight is the most important part to being a successful wrestler. Junior Ryan Hogan explained the importance of maintaining weight. "Maintaining your weight is important because waiting until the day of a match will consist of tedious amounts of running. Wrestling after a day like this makes the match extremely tiring." Senior Danny Hong agreed with the difficulty of maintaining weight, "It's especially hard during Christmas and New Year's, but it is just something that I've gotten used to."

All the wrestlers did their job this season, whether it was maintaining weight, working hard at practice, or winning matches. This showed at the end of the season when the team's overall record was 11-7 and 6-3 in the league. They were 4th in the final league standing. Some wrestlers went even further, continuing their season on into districts and states. Four kids went to states and three of those four placed. Junior Anthony Cabrera took 5th in the 103 weight class, Sophomore Devon Lotito took 7th in the 112 weight class, and Senior Anthony Marino took 2nd in the 119 weight class. This wasn't done easily though. It took hard work and dedication throughout the season. Anthony Marino proved his determination when he said, "I would get up early before school to go for runs, then after school practiced, then went to my club to practice again, then came home and went for another run if I had to. The next day I would wake up and do it all over again." Marino wasn't the only hardworking wrestler. Everyone worked hard all throughout the year and it showed when the team ended with yet another successful season.

IMPRESSIONIST

Senior and team leader Mikey Brown makes a move and tries to pin his opponent. According to teammate Anthony Mario, "Mikey was the one who always kept things fun. I enjoyed watching him do impressions of people."

PRE MATCH PRAYER

Junior Anthony Cabrera gets prepares in an unusual way before each match. He explained, "Tons of people ask me what I'm thinking about when I kneel down before my matches. I just count to ten in my head and get mentally prepared to wrestle my best".

Senior Nick Lule crushes the ball in a game against rival team Parkland. The varsity team was a force to be reckoned with in the Lehigh Valley.

HOMERUN

The 2009-2010 baseball team started out their season storming through games, and winning with ease. Senior Tyler Brong stated " In the beginning of the season we would easily make ten to fifteen runs every game. However, when the middle of the season came we had to step up our game a little bit". Senior ace pitcher Colin Gotzon did just that. Between Colin and the team's strong defense the boys continued with their winning streak.

The boys seemed to be taking their games very seriously, but they still knew how to have fun during practice, and once their games were over. Junior Jimmy Sawyer explained " We were a really close team, we would always hangout outside of baseball. We would even look forward to practices because we were all friends".

Although they didn't have a good playoff round the boys ended their season with a record of 15-5. " We'll get them next year" stated Jimmy.

There's Nothing SOFT About It

"You're out!" the umpire declares as the softball team runs off the field, satisfied with another victory that put them closer to the playoffs. The girl's softball team had a very successful season this year, making it into playoffs once again. Junior Erin Wilson has been on varsity softball since she was a freshman. "Decorating houses and team bonding made out team closer and helped win games" stated Erin Wilson. "Liberty softball is more than a team, we're friends" said Alexis Zydyk. Being friends and a close knit team clearly helped the team win games with an amazing record of fifteen wins and nine losses. Although the season ended with a loss, the girls left with a strong sense of pride knowing that they maintained a winning season.

"I think 'our togetherness' really helps us play in sync," explains senior Taylor Van Ackeren.

Endurance, energy, and perseverance are important qualities needed in any athlete, but are only clearly exhibited in some. The Liberty girls soccer team is one of those few teams that all these traits and more can be seen in. Their teamwork, dynamic, and work ethic are admirable and quite astonishing. A group of girls from different grades and experience have meshed together to create a team of the likes that Liberty has not seen in a very long time. This can clearly be seen by how far they have managed to make it this year. For only the second time ever, the team made it to playoffs. "The Freedom/ Liberty game is always one of the most exciting ones of the season moreso this year because it determined whether we would make it to playoffs or not so it was even more exhilarating than usual.

Winning that game, in overtime at that, was definitely one of my most memorable moments of this season." Says Rachel Hoffman who scored both the goals that won Liberty the game and a spot in the district playoffs."

The success that the team encountered this year will hopefully not be short lived. The underclassmen players on both the varsity and JV teams have shown a lot of promise and with the great experience they have had this season as inspiration, will continue to persevere and achieve with no bounds.

PERFECT SERVE

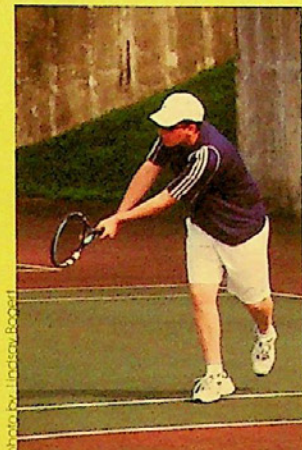

It all came down to a single match and the stakes were higher than ever. The boy's tennis team faced cross-town rival Freedom in the final match of the season. Senior Chris Conrad and sophomore Grant Wilsterman needed to win their match to secure the victory for the team. They fell to their rivals in the first set and were victorious in the second set. The third set was extremely close, but the boys took a hard loss. This was the most memorable match of the season.

The tennis team ended their season just one point shy of districts. The underclassmen stepped up their game tremendously because the team lost many key players. "We were a strong contender of districts until the last match, which means that there are still a lot of good underclassmen still here," explained senior Chris Conrad. The team has promising talent in the works and are set up for many successful seasons.

The boys worked together as a team, even though tennis is often a solo sport.

Phenomenal senior athletes such as Stephen Lewis, Brian Borosky, and they didn't come with much difficulty. Your eyes focused, anticipating the ringing sound of the gun shot. In that moment, all that matters is you and the stretch of red track ahead. Motivation builds as the cheers from your teammates reach your ears. "Even if you don't know the person's name, you still cheer for Liberty, it motivates you to move forward as one unit" said Taylor VanAckeren (Senior).

The team has undergone many changes this past season, starting with the addition of a new coach. Many of the girls agreed that Coach Weber, known to the girls as Coach Webs, has been a memorable asset to the season. Even while adjusting to a new coach and a smaller team, the girls track team remained undefeated for the second season in a row. Despite the great achievements, the girls are modest when asked about their success. "It's a great feeling to be on a team with some of the best runners in the league. It motivates you to do the best that you can," commented junior Elizabeth Reynolds. It is these aspects among many others that make this team more than just winners, it makes them family.

Reaching Higher

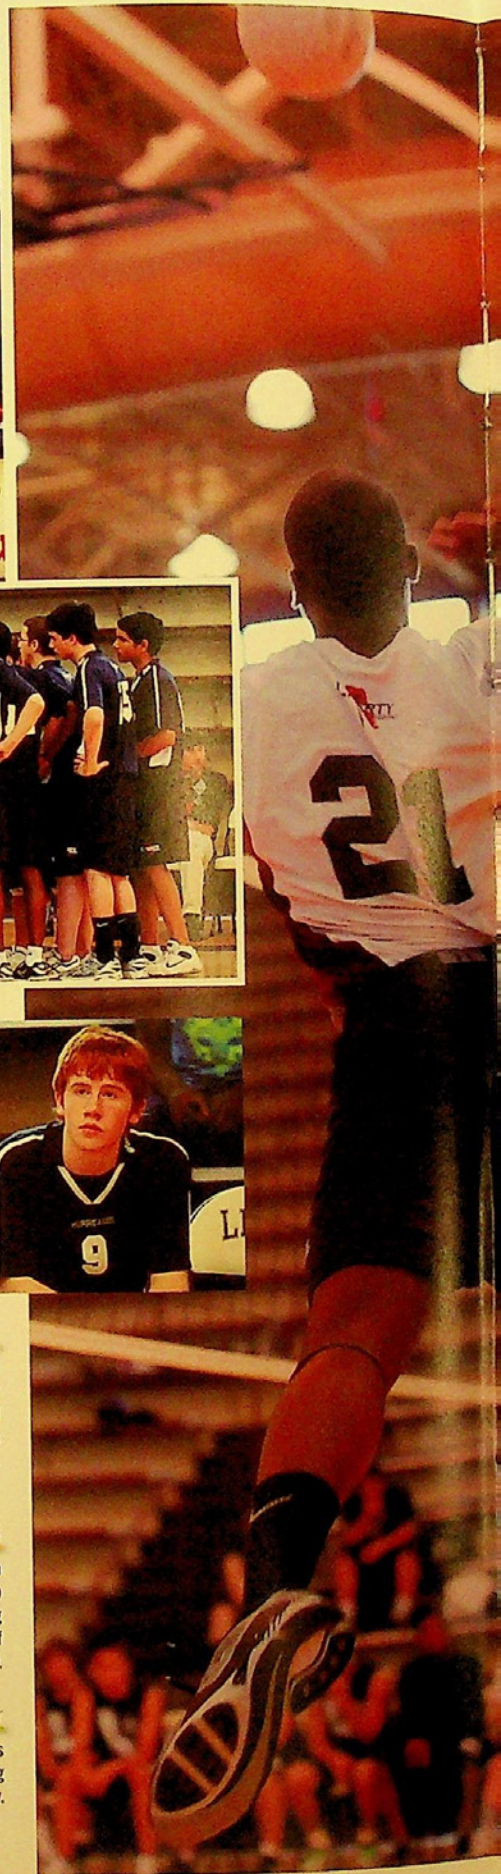

The key to volleyball is making the tough plays. The team tested their willpower every game and played until the buzzer sounded regardless of the circumstances.

Together We Stand

Coach Joe rounds the boys in a huddle to get them pumped to finish the game off strong. A strong coach can help the team in times of difficulty.

Sticking together

BOYS

After losing some key players, the boys volleyball team entered the season with as much hope as possible. Junior Angelo Fattore explains, "with youth and injuries playing a large factor, we played each game with our full potential, win or lose."

Every sport experiences a year of recovery when underclassmen step up and take the place of graduated athletes. With Ammary coaching, it had been the first of seven years that the team didn't make it to districts. "It was the first season in a long time that Liberty didn't make districts, but it was a big growing year for us, because our team was very young," said Junior Alex Del-luva looks ahead to the following years.

Despite the ups and downs, the team remained close. Coach Ammary kept the team together giving inspiration to every player. "I played volleyball for four years at Liberty. Being apart of the team was the best experience I had at Liberty. Coach Ammary was truly a great coach. He helped me grow as an athlete, but also as a person. I want to thank him and wish the program the best of luck," Senior Collins Hypolite expressed.

DIG IT

HARD

With nearly half of the team suffering from injuries early in the season, the girls had a rough start. "It's tough trying to lead a team knowing you can't give it your all," explained senior captains Kyrsten Novak and Lena DeAngelo. Both girls suffered leg injuries during the season. Besides many injuries the girls weren't connecting as a team. "There is so much individual talent on our team, but we couldn't figure out how to put it all together, says junior Ellie Johnston. Once coach Joe Sexton noticed the problem, the girls began doing everything together. Practices consisted of down field running and passing, assisted shooting, and a lot of scrimmaging. The team fought through the tough practices and noticed a huge improvement. "One of the best teams we play is Nazareth, we didn't beat them, but the way we played was a huge turning point for our team. No one gave up, we played our hardest until the last whistle was blown," says junior Sara Lindemuth.

The girls highlight game this season was against Central Catholic. The score was close the whole game and with only a few minutes left it was tied. "We weren't settling for a tie," explained Kourtney Rogers. Thirty seconds were left on the clock and senior Lena DeAngelo knew what to do. After the draw DeAngelo took possession of the ball, raced to the goal, and scored the winning point. The game ended with a score of 13-12. "I've never met a group as dedicated as these girls," explained coach Joe Sexton. The team overcame multiple obstacles and came out a stronger team with memories to last.

Anton: What got you into cheerleading?

Shannon Stahley: A lot of my friends did it and I started gymnastics at a young age so that got me interested.

Anton: What do you need to be a good cheerleader and what do you like about cheerleading the most?

SS: You need a lot of dedication to cheer and my favorite part is the intensity of competition and traveling all over the world.

Anton: How long have you been cheering and do you hope to continue with it?

SS: I've been cheering for about nine years and I am going to stick with it for hopefully my whole life.

Kyle: What is your favorite part about BMX biking?

Noah Zaun: What I love the most about it is the thrill and excitement of riding. It just feels so good once you land something that you've been trying for a while.

Kyle: How long have you been BMX biking and how often do you do it a week?

NZ: I've been biking for about three years now. I ride about 5 times a week depending on the weather, but if it's nice out all week, then I try to ride every day.

Kyle: What is your favorite skateboarding trick?

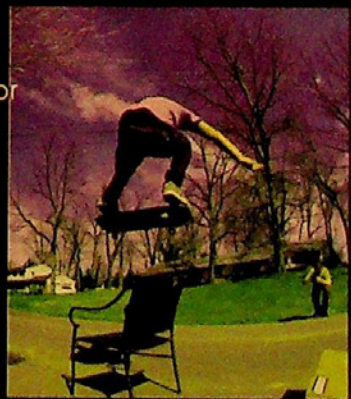

Luis Castro: My favorite tricks would probably have to be nollie laser flips and switch double heelflips.

Kyle: How long have you been skateboarding and do you wish to pursue a career with skateboarding?

LC: I've been skating for about three and a half years and I do like to just skate for fun but getting sponsored by a local skate shop would be pretty cool and then see where everything goes from there.

Kyle: What is your favorite area to skateboard?

LC: My favorite things to skate are stair sets and gaps but I also like skating rails and flat ground.

SPIRIT

If you were to walk into our school in the middle of the summer, all you would see is a quiet building with nothing but empty hallways and unoccupied classrooms. What defines our school is not the building itself, but the staff and students that show up everyday and fill it with pride and spirit. We wear our colors of red and blue with passion and loyalty. Together we are able to set aside our differences and unite as one spirit that lives inside the walls of LHS.

Being a Liberty Hurricane means that we are the wind of the school. Some of us are athletes giving it their all in every game while others show their support from the stands by painting the letters of L-I-B-E-R-T-Y on their bodies and cheering enthusiastically. Some of us show our dedication to the school in the classroom by achieving honor roll every quarter. Others display their musical talents in the band, orchestra, chorus and theatre programs. From the minute you step foot in the front door of the school every morning, you become immersed in Liberty spirit.

Every year incoming Liberty High School seniors look forward to football season. Not only because of their love for the sport, but also because it is finally their turn to lead the cheering section. However, this year a select number of students were a little too excited for the first game. These students learned their lesson in North Penn's Police Station by receiving fines and other legal consequences. This event shaped the demeanor for the rest of the season as students became more conscious of their behavior. Despite this setback, students stayed loyal to their team by coming to every game dressed up and painted to show their pride and faith in Liberty athletics.

Homecoming weekend in October consists of a combination of events to start off the new school year, but the excitement always begins in school before the Friday night football game. Students from all grades were asked to enter the Memorial Gym for an exciting pep rally just like any other year. The boy's coed cheerleading routine was a success this year with a well choreographed dance including moves from the music video, "Thriller", in remembrance of Michael Jackson's sudden death this past summer. The student crowd brought their spirit from the pep-rally to the night game against Becahi, dressed in Catholic school uniforms and the color pink for breast cancer awareness month. Although our football team wasn't as successful as last year, they pulled off a thirty-sixteen point victory in this meaningful game. The eventful weekend ended on Saturday night after the first school dance of the year. Many students wanted it to be at a nice venue rather than our hot cafeteria, seeing as we had to eat there the upcoming week. All in all, each student that attended had a night they will remember forever. "When I received Homecoming King I was very shocked. It was an honor to actually receive votes, let alone win. The experience was humbling, awesome, and a night I will always remember," stated senior Nick Lule.

The Swine Flu outbreak at Becahi was perfect ammunition for our student cheering section. The boys dressed up in surgeon masks to poke fun at the situation.

Hawks Vs Hurricanes

The hawks got stuck in our hurricane while we put a good beating on them! The victory gave our team and fans hope that we could go as far as we did the previous year.

Save The Last Dance

Seniors Anthony Gonzalez and Catherine Noack slow it down to complete the night. "It was cool to be a part of the court and make an entrance in front of the crowd. I had a really good time with my date and the music was pretty good." Catherine Noack stated.

LANDMARK

Four long years of jackhammers outside classrooms and sporadic fire drills, the halls of Liberty high school were complete. The staff and students anxiously awaited the day that their school would be done. A lavish rededication ceremony was planned to celebrate the opening of the long awaited renovation. As the day came for Rededication Ceremony, many worked hard to ensure a smooth day to honor the school. On September 13, 2009 at 2:00 in the afternoon, students, staff, administration and even local residents gathered at the front steps of the brand new school. Prominent members spoke on the steps including the student council and school board members. As the speeches ended, principal JoAnn Durante along with other members of the school board cut the red ribbon to officially rededicate the school in the year of 2009. The festivities continued inside with many different activities being offered. Current students provided tours of the school and many alumni were given the chance to purchase their old yearbooks. As the day ended many reflected on the memories they shared at Liberty. It will always be a landmark of Bethlehem and a place for many to call home.

“A fresh new start to a new life in an old, historic building.” spoke Principal JoAnn Durante

TALENT SHARING EVENTS

Creativity runs through the halls of school every single day. It is apparent in the art that hangs in the hall and the design work observed in the classroom. Liberty provides all kinds of creative classes such as ceramics, knitting, and events such as the coffee house and talent shows. All of these events are popular with the students and are always impressive. Senior Rameal throughout the last eleven years and Harold has spent the last eleven years dancing. "If you're going to do something in life, do what is right for you and make sure you enjoy it" he explains. Freshman Johnal West agrees, "Sing for the world and entertain people. I want to make a career out of singing and dancing." West sang and danced to Forever by Chris Brown in this year's student Talent Show.

Art class is a classic form of expression and it also takes a modern form every school year. Senior Kristen Fehr enjoys many aspects of the class. "I enjoy the creative art projects that we do and learning different techniques to improve my drawings." Many students find their talent during high school and continue on in college. Many careers are made through expression and creativity. Sharing talents is the perfect way to begin a new chapter in

About 1.3 million women world wide will be diagnosed with breast cancer each year. This is something that some students are unaware of. "Breast cancer is something everyone should be aware of, even males. I showed my support and so did hundreds of other students at Liberty High School." commented Meghan Clearie. Support was shown this past year in all different areas. The volleyball players got pink uniforms to show their support. Football players also wrapped their ankles and wrist in pink tape before the game. "It was a fun thing to do" stated Jarrod West. The students and staff showed great support by wearing pink almost everyday. "The support of everyone (students and staff) has been amazing! I don't feel bad if I need to take a day off for treatments or recovery because I know everyone will make sure things are taken care of" commented Ms. Rohn, a current breast cancer patient, "I couldn't have survived without it. Knowing that so many people have been praying for me has given me the strength to get through the treatments and the side effects." Liberty is setting an excellent example in the community.

Charitably Trendy

Senior Jarrod West and 2009-2010 Varsity football team show their support by using pink tape to get ready for the game. Jarrod said "I received alot of messages from other athletes in the area who thought it looked cool and it felt good knowing it was for a good cause."

The Illick's Mill project is always under scrutiny, but the effect they have on the community outweighs the criticism.

The Illick's Mill class had the honor to meet the 44th president Barack Obama in Washington D.C.

Hailing from New York City,
Matt and Kim were a crowd
favorite at Riverfusion

Through out the past ten years, the Illick's Mill program has given students the chance to have hands on experiences within the community. Students learn different skills and fundraise through the year in order to keep up with restorations at the mill. Out of all the fundraisers and events The Illick's Mill Class hosts, Riverfusion is by far the biggest and most exciting. Riverfusion gives local bands, musicians and artists the chance to show their talent. The blending of cultures brings together a diverse and enthusiastic crowd. This past year, the class was lucky enough to have Matt and Kim light up the stage. Their performance, along with every other, was a huge success and brought of the biggest crowd in Riverfusion history.

Junior Dante Holmes was one of the many caring students who volunteered their time to make this event fun-filled & exciting for all

An Olympic Tradition

On May 6, 2010 Liberty hosted the 2010 Special Olympics at Frank Banko Field. There was nothing but fun, excitement and joy in the air as the special needs students from Liberty and the surrounding schools participated in events such as the standing long jump, the 50-meter dash and the softball throw. The fun was shared by not only the athletes, but by the many student volunteers from different schools that were on hand to assist in the events. Support for the event came from the community as well. The Crayola Factory donated foam visors, and Cops n' Kids donated books for the participants.

Everyday, students with special needs struggle in school learning and doing things that may seem simple to everyone else. These students often just need someone to play with and have fun with, so they can take their mind off of their struggles. The Special Olympics not only helps them do that, but it also lets these students do things that they are good at and be appreciated for their talents. For one day, these students get to have a fun-filled, worry-free day with all of their friends as well as getting a chance to make new friends. At the end of the day, the Special Olympics motto is the one simple idea that keeps the special needs kids determined and willing throughout the events, "Let me win, but if I cannot win, then let me be brave in the attempt."

Burning Desire

With a smile and torch in hand, Dameon Coward runs around the track with Special Education teacher Mr. Jeff Heard by his side. Dameon was honored to light the flame to signal the start of the games.

Anticipation

The anticipation, excitement, and intensity could be felt during the events and games taking place during the Special Olympics.

Student Activities

The Liberty High School Grenadier Band brings excitement and enthusiasm to the students of Liberty High School. "When the band begins to play, the atmosphere instantly changes," explains junior cheerleader Nicholle Daley. Every year brings new accomplishments and new experiences for the musicians. Apart from the traditional sporting events, the nearly 250 members participated in local events like the Bethlehem Halloween Parade, the first company performance at Stabler Arena and the annual band concert. Although it was not a traveling year, the band still had a successful, fun time. "Band has been a great experience over the last four years. I have gone to both Hawaii and Los Angeles with the band and have memories that will last a lifetime." Senior Michael Shadle concludes.

"Music is a language which the soul alone understands" is a famous quote by Arnold Bennett. Music is an universal language filled with emotions, that people can read in any manner, making it inspirational and unique to them. Orchestra reconstructs original music in a way that is admired by the student body. The orchestra embodies this philosophy in everything that they perform. Each student in Orchestra has their favorite memory or recollection about Orchestra, "My favorite memory of orchestra is this past winter concert. All of the pieces we played were energetic and the mood was just very festive," explains senior Andrew Schleicher. "The moment I will remember most would have to be the ninth grade trip to Puerto Rico," recalls Junior Elizabeth Pimentel. Freshman Brianna Yerger is new to orchestra but already explains, "I love orchestra, because I like learning new songs and learning new things that I didn't know before!"

Walking down the hallway, it was not unusual to hear the talented singers in the chorus echoing throughout the school. The singers provided entertainment at almost all of the school events from assemblies to graduation. Each year the chorus puts on two concerts, the winter concert and the spring pops concert. The auditorium is always packed with people eager to hear the talent that rings through Liberty High School. The chorus made of up both boys and girls from all grades works closely with the Grenadier band to produce an unstoppable force in the music world. Both groups have been awarded many honors and are widely publicized. There are many stand-out stars, but the chorus is a team project and everyone works together "in harmony".

When the auditorium lights dimmed on Friday, November 20th the cast of Inherit the Wind prepared themselves to grace the audience with incredible performance. Creating such a performance takes an in-depth understanding of what the play is about. Senior Jamie Alderiso said "He loved the meaning of the play everything that happens on opening night is amazing". Preparing for the play takes a lot of hard work and dedication. The students knew what they had to focus on and that was their role that they played. However the cast still enjoyed every second of their time on the stage. Sophomore Sean Manion stated "My favorite scene was my very first scene".

As they began the final night of the play for the seniors they knew that it will be their final fall play at Liberty High School. When the curtain closes the emotions run high as the final call comes. Once the curtain is closed for good they can all take a big sigh of relief that the play is finally over.

Roll The Dice

The curtains open to reveal a busy New York City street scene, placed in the 1950's. The crowd leans in attentively as they engulf themselves in the magic of Liberty theater. Meanwhile, in the back of the auditorium, Judy Danilovicz sits next to the lighting crew, headphones intact. "Dim the lights," she'll say, for what will seem to be the millionth time. But this time around, the cues, the songs, even the mistakes, are all the more bittersweet- because this show is Judy's last show that she will direct. Seven years, almost a decade ago, Miss Danilovicz, or D, as the kids call her, took control of Liberty High School's theater department. "My first show I directed [at Liberty] was Hello Dolly in 2004, and since then we were nominated for Freddy Awards for every show following." Judy jokingly gloats. The legacy continues as this year's Guy's & Dolls claims six Freddy Nominations, one for costumes, one for orchestra, and four individual nominations for senior Jamie Alderiso, sophomore Sean Manion, and senior Courtney Haines, who bagged the remaining two nominations. "These kids, they graduate and come back to tell me how much theater has done for them, but actually, they don't realize how much it has done for me," Judy reveals with a sense of somberness. "My favorite shows, and the ones that I picked to perform were the ones with the inspiring messages, the happy endings, the reasons for living. I can only hope my work has done the same for the kids." And with that final note, Judy Danilovicz, "D", takes her bow and exits stage right.

Ready for the Reveal

Students speculate at the revealing of the prom court and the king and queen. Senior Ellie Mcquire, an extremely excited bystander, explains "Hearing who wins prom king and queen is one of the most anticipated events of prom."

Although Prom 2010 wasn't what most students were expecting, it was definitely a night to remember. The decision had been made to not continue to have prom on the boat that it had previously taken place on the past two years. It was planned to take place at the Holiday Inn in Fogelsville, and seemed to be a good plan. Excited for the night students arrived on May 14, 2010 for a night filled with food and dancing. However, students were unpleasantly surprised when they walked in. Although there was food, the line was incredible and most students didn't eat. Senior Kyrsten Novak stated, "I walked in from outside and immediately saw the food line, it was such a long wait that I just sat down instead of getting food". Waiting in line for food may have been a good idea though, because there would be no time wasted due to the fact that there was no DJ for the event. With the lack of dancing music and food, guests became understandably annoyed. However, Senior Stephen Lewis, and Mr. Makary came through and started the dancing with music from his iPod. Although prom wasn't the magical night that many expected it to be, many still appreciated it just as a typical "Liberty event".

AFFAIR

ONE FINAL GOODBYE

The day none of us thought would come is finally here. It's June 3, 2010 just hours from now a graduating class of 664 students will anxiously file onto the stage of Stabler Arena and take their seats. Once everyone is settled, the band will begin to play an introductory tune followed by a couple of announcements and the playing of our national anthem.

Next up are Charles "Ned" Strasbaugh, class speaker, and Hannah Schwarzbach, faculty speaker, who will deliver speeches regarding the journey we have taken to arrive here and what's next to come for the future. After a few presentations, Mrs. Durante will begin the distribution of diplomas. One by one students names are called who each will make that emotional walk to the podium while their minds run wild memories that brought them to this moment. The ceremony will close with Class President, Gardiner Knowlton and Vice-President, Kevin Bearse giving inspiring speeches about everything we have gained and shared over the years. In the final moments, the band will play for one last time as caps are gracefully tossed into the air.

The clock now reads 7:00 PM. We sit together on the stage, filled with indescribable emotions, knowing in the next few hours we will forever be remembered as Liberty High School's graduating class of 2010.

Lasting Words

Student and faculty elected speakers Hannah Schwarzbach and Ned Strasbaugh delivered strong and memorable speeches. Senior Kevin Bearse provided some comic relief to the graduates as he recounted the moments that made the ceremony unique.

Michael John Adams III

You had never been out of my sight for more than an hour or two in that first five years of your life! And here I was turning you over to complete strangers . . .

It was so hard letting go of your little hand on that first day of school. "Pweez, Mommy, just wait five more minutes." Oh, how the years have flown by. Today I find myself wanting to say, "Please, Mikey, just wait five more minutes." But I know that cannot be. Graduation Day is here and you haven't needed me or Daddin to hold your hand going to and from school for quite some time now. Just remember that our hands and our hearts are here for you always should you ever need something or someone to hold onto. You make us proud to have raised such a fine young man!

And then, of course, there's Jacob anxiously waiting to follow in his big brother's footsteps. You are already his hero, you know! Remember to slow down just a little sometimes, Mikey, to allow him to catch up and keep pace with you. Set a good example. Jake is as happy to be your brother as we are to be your parents.

Remember, too, that "You Are My Sunshine" . . . and you will always be my sunshine! And I wish you all the "Happy, Happy Joy-Joy" in the world!

Now off to college, Michael John Adams, III. We are so very proud of you!

With all Our Love, Mom, Dad, and Jacob

Mikey.

Congratulations and best wishes on your achievements, now and in the future. I'm very proud of you.

Love, Hugs, and Kisses, Nana Donna

Let love guide you through life, Mikey. Try always to be at peace. Learn to forgive and forget — Although you will probably find (as I have) that the latter is more difficult and less important than the forgiving part. You are a compassionate young man. I saw that quality in you when you were just a young boy helping to care for your great-grandmother. Nanny loves you dearly from Heaven, and always will. I have also seen you comfort your mother when you saw that need. You have always been a comfort to me and a great source of happiness to your entire family. Your great-grandfather (my dad) used to say, "You either have it or you don't." You have it, Mikey — Share it with the world! You are kind, loving, intelligent, witty, and handsome. You can go far in life if you will just believe in yourself. Don't let anything or anyone stand in your way. Be honorable and true to yourself and those you love always. In other words — Just Be You!

Congratulations, "My Buddy", and God bless you on your graduation day and always!

*I love you forever and ever,

Watch Your Can't's and Can's

If you have some worthwhile plans
You've got to watch your can't's and can's;
You can't aim low and then rise high;
You can't succeed if you don't try;
You can't go wrong and come out right;
You can't love sin and walk in the light;
You can't throw time and means away
And live sublime from day to day.
You can be great if you'll be good
And do God's will as all men should;
You can ascend life's upward road.

Although you bear a heavy load;
You can be honest, truthful, clean,
By turning from the low and mean;
You can uplift the souls of men,
By words and deeds, or by your pen.

So watch your can't and watch your can's.
And Watch you walks and watch your stands,
And watch the way you talk and act.
And do not take the false for fact;
And watch the things that mar or make;
For life is great to every man
Who lives to do the best he can.

THE COLOPHON

layout and copy by: Emily Murray

The 2009-2010 Cauldron, Volume 85, was printed in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania by the Herff Jones Yearbook Company. Under the guidance of our advisor Lisa Gilliard, and our company representative Nancy Tunis, the Cauldron staff was able to produce an original concept book in full color.

Over 600 copies of the Liberty Cauldron were sold this year, with each senior receiving a copy free of charge with the payment of their class dues. Underclassmen were charged with a base of $85, with nameplates being an additional charge of $5-$10. World yearbook inserts printed by Herff Jones were an additional $5, and is offered in 16 pages of full color.

All senior and underclassmen portraits were taken by Christmas City Studio, located in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Christmas City Studio also provided the yearbook staff with group and action pictures of Liberty athletics and events. Club and Organization pictures were taken by Lisa Gilliard and Mitch Hanna.

The 2009-2010 Yearbook was created using Adobe InDesign CS3 and Adobe Photoshop CS3. Advisor Lisa Gilliard and editors Emily Murray, Ashley MacDonald, Caitlin Smichowski, and Rachel Hoffman designed all original headlines, copy designs, folios, layout concepts, mini stories, and captions. Fonts used in this book included AHJ Cheltenham, ITC Avant Garde, Trade Gothic No. 20, DidiFont, Walkway Condensed Bold, AHJ Function, Angelina, Birth of a Hero.

The entire staff would like to thank the secretaries of Liberty High School for always helping us find students, obtain athletic information, and get whatever else we needed. We also want to recognize and thank the administration for allowing us the flexibility to be creative, imaginative, and inventive in producing this book.

A highschool yearbook is priceless. It allows people to go back in time and reminisce the teenage years they once lived. From the very beginning of the year our editor staff had decided that we wanted to break the boundary with the 2009-2010 yearbook. We didn't want to only provide boring white pages plastered with photos. It was a goal to make this yearbook a true reflection of what we could do together with our talents in Photoshop and InDesign while preserving high school memories. I have to thank our amazing advisor Mrs. Gilliard for trusting us with our sometimes crazy ideas and for not only being a teacher, but a mentor and friend. Also, thank you to my staff and the editors, especially Ashley MacDonald (my right hand woman). We all had a lot of fun, but created something amazing in the process. I can truly say I think we accomplished a creatively impressive book and I hope everyone who comes across it enjoys a piece of it.
