

Kroll, Walter B.

Former Carpenter
In England With Air Ground Crew

A U. S. NAVY AIR BASE, ENGLAND, March 3 (Delayed)—Walter B. Kroll, 20 years old, a former

Bethlehem, Pa., carpenter, is a blue-jacket assigned to this overseas base, helping to keep Navy planes in the air against the enemy in Europe.

Kroll, who lives at 802 Shields Street, Bethlehem, is an aviation machinist's mate, third class. He and his mates work as a ground crew servicing and maintaining the big Liberator bombers used by the Squadron on long distance patrols over the Bay of Biscay.

Kroll attended the Washington school.

March 17, 1944