Shutdown: Where our reps stood

By NATE JASTRZEMSKI
njastrzemi@tnonline.com

For 16 days our democratically-elected representatives in Washington, D.C. failed to act on an ordinary yet crucial piece of legislation.

Beltway-centric and military communities of the nation suddenly slammed to a halt, with massive contractors and institutions laying off tens of thousands while small businesses found themselves without customers.

The House and Senate played tug-of-war with the administration, and eventually, with the chilling debt limit deadline only hours off, the Senate brokered a deal.

Our state representatives were quite vocal the last two weeks, some garnering national attention.

Toomey
Senator Pat Toomey, who at one point single-handedly halted an agreement to end the stalemate, voted against raising the debt limit. According to a statement, he felt doing so would do nothing to curb rampant spending, his major contention.

Toomey said on MSNBC's "Morning Joe" Oct. 9 that there was little real danger of a debt default. He said it was only being used by the administration as a tool of fear to cow Republicans against implementing borrowing reforms.

"I disagreed with the plan to make funding the government contingent on defunding Obamacare and I am glad this bill will get the shutdown behind us," Toomey said. "But I cannot support piling hundreds of billions of dollars of debt on current and future generations of Americans without even a sliver of reform to start putting our fiscal house in order."

Dent
Rep. Charlie Dent, R-15, also said government funding and defunding the Affordable Care Act were two different issues. But he was the only Pennsylvania Republican to vote against the shutdown. Dent told CNN following the vote, "Our obligation is to fund the government," and sought to con-

CITY CDBG funds allotted

By ANDREW FOX
Special to the Bethlehem Press

City Council opened its Oct. 15 meeting with a citation presented to former police sergeant and detective Dean Badman. Badman, who joined the Bethlehem Police Department in 1992, recently retired after receiving a job working with students at Wilson School District.

Additional citations were presented to Andrew Kehm and Cheryl A. Marko.

Shortly after Badman's closing remarks, residents of Bethlehem were given the first opportunity to voice their opinion on a proposed budget at a public hearing for the Community Development Block Grant Program.

Background
The CDBG, a program supervised by the Department of Community and Economic Development, was initially created under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. As a grant awarded to Bethlehem by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), nonprofits can receive up to 7.5 percent of the CDBG's fiscal budget, according to the program's 2014 application.

'A great combination'

LVH-Muhlenberg's pediatric cancer program mixes art therapy, treatment

TYLER SANTIAGO, a patient at LVH-Muhlenberg's Pediatric Cancer Clinic, says the Artist-in-Residence program allows him to relax and help take his mind off his treatment.

To reach LVH-Muhlenberg Hospital's Pediatric Cancer Clinic, take the purple elevator to the third floor. Walk past the giant Calder hooked rug hanging on the wall, through the doors and prepare for a visual assault of color.

Much of the color present in the clinic — decorated T-shirts hanging from one end of the clinic to the other, a tangle of bright yarns piled on a little round table, bins of fluorescent and wooden beads — comes courtesy of Katie Meadows, the artist-in-residence who works with patients receiving treatment.

The idea for this program germinated with Rose Schneck, a social worker in the clinic. Schneck talked to Dr. Phillip Montealeone, a pediatric oncologist, who wrote the grant requesting funds to start the program.

"We have a lot of kids coming through here and for them, doing just a little bit of art takes their minds off their visit for a while," Schneck said. "When they go back for treatment or a procedure, they're more relaxed and more accepting of what's going to happen."

The hospital received a $15,000 grant from the Livestrong Foundation's clergy, entrepreneurs and concerned citizens, St. Luke's Hospital was able to admit its first patient Oct. 17, 1873. The first hospital building was located on the 400 block of Broadway in South Bethlehem. The three-story, double brick building had 20 rooms to accommodate eight beds.

Bethlehem contractor Abraham Yost built the structure originally as a double tenement house. The building was purchased for $8,000 by the St. Luke's Hospital Board. It was the first hospital in the Lehigh Valley. The closest hospital to Bethlehem before St. Luke's was more than 50 miles away in Philadelphia.

The Rev. Cortland Whitehead, then rector of the Episcopal Church of the Nativity, and local entrepreneurs saw a hospital as an opportunity for providing care to Bethlehem's laborers who suffered countless railroad, mill, furnace and mine accidents. St. Luke's Hospital was chartered by the legislature in 1872, with a board of trustees consisting of Robert H. Sayre, Tinsley Jeter, Rev. Whitehead and John Smylie.

Medical care was available to all patients regardless of creed, race, nationality or ability to pay. Even as the first patients were being admitted, the board sought donations of books, furniture, utensils, clothes and decorative pictures from the community.

Forty-seven patients were admitted in the first year, which was more than the hospital could accommodate, and there was no vince other House members to keep the government functioning, using their strength to fight the ACA.

In a late Oct. 16 statement, Dent said his party's tactics had failed as he predicted, and though the government reopened, it's nothing to cheer about. "This legislation tonight needed to be supported but should not be celebrated," he said of the short-term agreement. "There should be no victory laps or spiking the football. It is my hope that the temporary conclusion of this difficult period will demonstrate to many of my colleagues the need to affirmatively govern this nation."

Casey
Senator Bob Casey had been against the shutdown altogether and, according to one message on his website, he had shared his concern with a hand-delivered letter to Vice President Joe Biden on behalf of his Social Security-reliant parents.

Casey released a simple statement Oct. 16, thanking his fellow senators for avoiding a default. "I am grateful that the Senate was able to move forward with a bipartisan agreement to reopen the government and avoid default. Pennsylvanians deserve better than the irresponsible brinkmanship they saw over the last few weeks.

"I hope this experience will help change the tone in Washington and that members on both sides of the aisle will refocus their efforts on creating jobs and strengthening the economy."

CITY

On average, the program has been awarded an estimated $1.7 million annually by HUD.

However, this year's budget cited that $1,137,744 would be awarded to CDBG projects. As Bethlehem's Director for Community and Economic Development Joe Kelly noted, funding for the CDBG program is at a historic low. Upon being called to the podium to address the budget before council, Kelly said the CDBG proposed 2014 budget has been in a steady decline and that funding levels for the program are lower than those seen since 1990.

Budgeted projects
Despite the challenge of limited funding, Kelly went on to describe those projects which appeared on the budget sheet, including returning efforts such as the Southside Recreation Coordinator and new efforts such as the renovation of Bethlehem's Lynn Avenue Bridge.

Originally constructed in 1925, the bridge is set to be repaired and widened by 10 feet for further bus and truck transportation some time in 2014. Additionally, projects awarded CDBG funds included renovation of Southside parks and playgrounds and a Bethlehem Trail feasibility study, which would seek to connect several of Bethlehem's nature trails.

After Kelly's address, council member Karen Dolan said she was, "very comfortable with the CDBG budget." Dolan then requested council re-examine resolution 2008.205, which outlines restrictions on funding for the program. Specifically, resolution no. 2008-205 designates the structure for funds awarded to projects on an individual basis.

CDBG uses
According to the draft of 2008.205 attached to the 2014 CDBG application, the resolution states; "CDBG funds can be used to finance up to 50 percent of the total cost of an individual project" and "up to 7.5 percent of the total Community Development Block Grant may be designated for projects proposed by private nonprofit organizations."

"No more than 50 percent of the 7.5 percent of the total CDBG money may be allocated to an individual project in a given year." Council President Eric Evans issued the final approval for Dolan's request and ordered that Resolution 205 of 2008 be put on council's Nov. 6 or 19 agenda for consideration.

Public reaction
As council then went on to consider public reaction to remaining CDBG projects, one area resident commented on Habitat for Humanity's plan to build housing near Bethlehem's South Mountain, calling the site a precious resource that ought to be preserved. In response, Habitat for Humanity's Resource Development Manager Melissa Lauer noted attributes of the program, including 250 required "sweat hours" in which potential tenants must contribute toward physically building their own home. Additionally, Lauer spoke of the program as a "unique experience" in which she thanked council for their consideration.

Similarly, YWCA's Empowerment Director Amber Merza addressed council regarding CDBG funding of YWCA's Tech Girls program. The program, partially funded by $12,000 awarded to YWCA under the CDBG budget, helps generate academic interest in the sciences for teen girls by transporting them on field trips to several local businesses (including the Lehigh Valley's own Air Products and Chemicals Inc.).

Other business
In other business, Mayor John Callahan reported a list of proposed public appointments to be approved as administrative orders by council. Dolan said she is concerned with the process by which council votes for approval on such administrative orders.

Dolan said she, "Hopes that we will in the future, with a new mayor ... take a look at how we do that." Dolan said the process could become a "perfunctory act" in some cases, and that there has been a lack of information sought by council for public appointments. Callahan said council has never requested more information, and Dolan acknowledged this by stating, "it is not something that we have been in the habit of doing." Shortly after this exchange, council continued to approve all proposed administrative order with only one order not voted unanimously. Appointment of Alfonso A. Bernotas Jr. to Bethlehem's Sister City Commission was approved on a vote of 6-1.

Black out
Furthermore, council voted unanimously on all proposed resolutions on the meeting agenda, including a Certificate of Appropriateness for 443 High St. The certificate, which had been postponed for approval at the Sept. 3 meeting, allows for the rear section of the house at 443 High St. to be repainted black. Council was prompted to postpone the initial vote at the direction of John Guarlich, a neighboring resident, who opposed the certificate on the grounds that repainting the rear of the house black would be against HARB guidelines.

Council closed with consideration for a resolution that would draw support for the creation of a Rail Transit Authority in the Lehigh Valley. Called a watershed moment by Dolan, the resolution would help the development of Lehigh Valley's proposed Suburban Metro Area Transit Rail (dubbed LV SMART Rail). The Lehigh Valley has lacked rail service since 1962 when, according to Dolan, it was, "killed through nefarious means...as a result of competing corporate interests." Council voted 7-0 in favor of the resolution.

The next meeting has been rescheduled and will now be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 6, at City Hall.

LV ARTIST

Creative Center Hospital Artist-in-Residence Program for start-up costs. The yearlong grant allows Meadows, a graduate of Marywood with a master of arts in art therapy, to work with two to six patients during each three-hour block, three times per week.

"By contacting somebody like Katie, who already knows how to incorporate therapy with art, it's just a great combination," Schneck said.

Program benefits

The benefits for the kids are huge, Schneck explained. The program provides something young patients use to take their mind off what's happening to them. It's nice for them to be with other kids and doing art together.

"I come up with different ideas for children who are inpatients or visiting the clinic as an outpatient for treatment," Meadows said. "Last week was national T-shirt week. Earlier, we made healing bowls where you use a balloon in a bucket, pour plaster of paris over top, let it dry, and then you can write messages on it."

"They like to create art they can take with them," Meadows continued. "The girls like to make bracelets for their friends. Around the holidays, many asked to make art to give to their parents and families."

"The kids are just so welcoming. For myself, it's something that I really like to do, getting up, coming in and helping these kids. It's a perfect opportunity."

The grant pays for nine hours of art therapy a week, Meadows explained, although she and everyone else involved wish she could spend more time with the children.

Positive feedback

"Parents love it," Meadows said. "They wish I were around more because they see what the program does for their children."

"Parents and kids appreciate that they're talking to or working with someone who's not a doctor or nurse," she said.

MAKAYLA DUDA gets an assist from Katie Meadows, artist-in-residence at LVH-Muhlenberg's Pediatric Cancer Clinic.

A visit to the program found young artists busy creating dream catchers while receiving chemotherapy.

Makayla Duda was starting round two of her fight against rhabdomyosarcoma, a cancer of connective tissues.

Her entire concentration focused on wrapping bright yarn around her hoop and picking the perfect beads to decorate her dream catcher.

"It hangs above my bed and catches the good dreams and holds them," she said.

Tyler Santiago, lounging comfortably in a recliner, wrapping orange yarn around and around his hoop, was preparing to start maintenance chemo for his acute lymphoblastic leukemia.

"I like making things and laughing and the company when I'm here for therapy," he said. "The art things we do make kids feel comfy. It's nice seeing people besides the doctors."

Cassie Lamberty, Tyler's mother, praised the artist-in-residence program.

"It takes the kids' minds off their sickness, makes them feel comfortable," she said. "It's just fun."

"Katie makes Tyler smile. She's our hero," Lamberty said. "It would be so, so sad if the funding for this arts program can't continue."

Funding for the program ends this fall.

"We're hoping for another grant to continue the program," Dr. Phillip Monteleone said. "The hospital can't afford to fund the program right now, but I'm hoping that if we get it going with grants, the hospital will be able to continue funding in the future. But money is scarce for everything, so we have to think outside the box and get more community support."

Program's effect

Monteleone (Dr. Phil to his patients) emphasized the importance of the program to helping kids through their ordeals.

"Artwork is a way for kids to release some of the stress, and it's one of the things we can do to make things easier for the kids and their families, who are really stressed out emotionally and psychologically," he said.

"We are invested in helping kids to be 'more normal' and the art therapy helps," Monteleone said. "Kids don't always have ways to deal with treatment-related stress, or express it at home, or they don't want to get their parents worried, so they often internalize a lot of it, and the art therapy is one way for them to express themselves."

"You can see what Katie does and how the kids do so much better, coming in here anxious but knowing they have an art project to look forward to, especially the teenagers, who are the ones who often times are more analytical and get more anxious when they come in. She's worked with them really well and you can see the changes they've had."

"It's been amazing," he added.

Seeking funds

"For most of our patients, the cure rate is more than 70 percent across the board, and for a lot of the cancers, the cure rate is more than 85 percent," Monteleone said. "When we get through with the treatment, we want the patient to be a normal kid and be healthy psychologically as well as physically. We're dealing with both sides at the same time."

The Artist-in-Residence program provides yet one more effective tool for the doctors to help their patients' overall health. Now, the trick is finding additional funding to keep the program alive and growing, and sharing its successes with the larger community.

"We're getting the word out when our families talk to other people and when the hospital promotes this incredibly important program," Monteleone said. "It makes such a big difference to the kids in how they handle getting through six months, a year, three years of chemotherapy."

FOUNTAIN HILL

Fountain Hill Planning Commission members heard a proposal from Don Seiple, vice president of operations at St. Luke's Hospital, and attorney Erich Schock, asking for a special exemption to demolish a residential building located at 748 Ostrum St. within Fountain Hill's historic district.

"Since we've had the building we've done very little to it," said Seiple. He said the house would need a new roof and windows, costing $200,000, just to remain in its present condition.

"We are doing minimal maintenance every year," said Schock, adding the hospital does not want to continue paying for an empty building.

Schock told the commission renovations on the property making it useable for the hospital would cost $1 million without the price of equipment and parking, and the building would only be worth $500,000 after the renovation.

questioned St. Luke's economic hardship, adding that the pictures provided showed no signs of the home being "dilapidated".

"We need to look to the future," said Commission member Fred Capuano. He said the commission should try to preserve homes that are actually historic, asking should St. Luke's be in the "business of restoring homes or the hospital business?"

The house, built in 1880, is the former residence of Dr. Frederick J. Pearson, a past chief of obstetrics and gynecology at St. Luke's Hospital, who died in 1989. Pearson's widow, Martha Pearson, gave the house to St. Luke's for $1 after her death in 2006, according to Borough Councilwoman Helen Halleman, who attended the Oct. 14 meeting. She proposed getting an historic designation for the building, citing a lack of historic buildings in the borough. Halleman called the proposed demolition "disgraceful," saying that Dr. and Mrs. Pearson's decades of work at the hospital had "helped put St. Luke's on the map." Turning toward Seiple, Halleman asked, "Have you no respect for that?"

Borough resident Mike Reed of North Clewell Street agreed with Halleman, saying he understands there is a hospital to run, but "demolishing the building seems like throwing the baby out with the bathwater."

Commission member Parmita Perna-Rios made a motion to recommend to the Zoning Hearing Board to deny the demolition. The motion was seconded by Brian DeAngelis and passed in a 5-1 vote, with Capuano opposed.

The Zoning Hearing Board will make a final determination at its Oct. 21 meeting.

Township regains lost taxes

By BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

HANOVER TOWNSHIP

Hanover Township is about to get a $126,000 tax refund. At their Oct. 8 meeting, supervisors unanimously approved a settlement of their lawsuit against Bethlehem for earned income tax the city improperly retained. Under the agreement, the city has agreed to return $42,000. The remaining $84,000, which was mistakenly sent to the Bethlehem Area School District, will also be returned.

In other business, Kevin Drive resident Roland Ledyard warned supervisors about an emergency access or link road, adjacent to his property, connecting Kevin Drive with Second Terrace. Supervisors are considering converting the emergency access into a public road, and this concerns Ledyard, whose property is at the end of a cul-de-sac. He recommended that speed bumps and stop signs be installed if the road is made public, noting that a large number of children play in that area. "Somebody's gonna get hurt," he cautioned.

Finally, former township employee Michael Schmalzer presented Supervisor Mark Tanczos with a citation from the Moore Township Lions. For the past 20 years, the Lions have sponsored an annual fishing tournament for the blind, and depend heavily on the generosity of others. For the past 16 years, Tanczos' beverage company has donated soda, water and ice.

"It's easy to give something back, but a lot harder to do what you do," noted Tanczos. Schmalzer told supervisors that it is getting harder to find volunteers for service organizations, and that the average age in his Lions club is 69.

Band to get new uniforms

By AMY HERZOG
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Liberty HS's band will be strutting in style with new uniforms.

Bethlehem Area School Board's Finance Committee approved a recommendation Oct. 14 that the purchase of the uniforms be placed on the board's Oct. 21 agenda.

At that meeting, the board voted 8-0 to approve the purchase of the uniforms.

LHS will have new uniforms for the first time in at least six years.

"On behalf of the entire band we want to say thank you," said band student representative Drew Donaher.

Back in 2008, Liberty put in a request for new uniforms for the entire band for a trip to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and received new uniforms for half of the band. Band uniforms were put on hold for several years, and an entire rotation that ensured band uniforms were distributed equally among the BASD schools passed prior to this resolution. Liberty would have been next in the six-year rotation to receive new band uniforms.

Bids were mailed to four companies and one was received by the district. The bid accepted for the uniforms was $139,000 to be completed by Kashket & Partners, a company based in London that makes uniforms for the Queens Guard.

District Superintendent Dr. Joseph Roy said this is a unique opportunity and that the company is willing to work with the district's budget. Kashket & Partners are interested in making the uniforms because of the Grenadier Bands connection to England.

"If you know the intricacies of the uniforms, this is a great price," said board member Michele Cann.

In other news, the respectful address of board members in electronic communications was also brought up by Director Aurea Ortiz after she received the latest in a number of emails that were disrespectful and in which the sender did not sign a name.

Ortiz said she thought that in the four years that she has been on the board that the board had gotten past this and racism.

All of the board members got involved in a discussion on what type of action, if any, to take on this matter, as all have received these types of emails over the years.

President Michael Facinetti suggested not responding to anyone who sends an email without a name. This is what he does when he receives email with no signature.

It was suggested to create an answer button on the district website that would have required fields such as name, email, and question, to avoid this issue in the future.

"I think the lack of online civility is an issue, there is this general lack of civility," Roy said. "When our comments are clearly racist and any person can see these comments are racist we won't be reading or responding to them. Take the anti-racist view in not responding to them, there is only so much we can control; we can control our response."

Stoffa, unions vow ACA change

By CAROL SMITH
Special to the Bethlehem Press

It's budget time for the Stoffa administration. As many Lehigh Valley employers struggle with understanding the Affordable Care Act, County Executive John Stoffa had made the decision to reduce the costly impact of the Cadillac Tax by increasing the county's full-time employees' co-insurance contributions for healthcare benefits.

For the county's health plan, taxes would increase from $934,000 in 2014 to $28 million by 2028, according to Pat Siemiontkowski, director of the county's Human Resources department. For some insured county employees, the higher co-insurance contributions could have amounted to a 900 percent increase in the contribution rate in 2014.

But in an Oct. 16 letter to county council, Stoffa rescinded this decision with plans to form an ad hoc committee to work to make changes in the law.

AFSCME union representative Justus James and a handful of union employees publicly thanked Stoffa for this decision and pledged the unions' support in coming to consensus and working together to make changes. James was met with a round of applause at an Oct. 17 county council meeting.

Under the ACA, the county's self-insurance policy is known as a "Cadillac" or "gold-plated" plan because of the benefits it provides to its more than 1,800 full-time employees. Often these plans are defined by the total cost of premiums, rather than what the insurance plan covers or how much the patient has to pay for a doctor or hospital visit. As such, beginning in 2018, if the law stands, this plan will be subject to a 40 percent excise tax. This Cadillac Tax is expected to be imposed on the value of health insurance benefits exceeding a certain threshold. The estimated thresholds are $10,200 for individual coverage and $27,500 for family coverage.

Describing the tax as regressive, unfair and a penalty to employers who try to reward their employees with good health care coverage, Stoffa resolved to spend his remaining term in office working with the County Commissioners Association (CCAP) to "advocate for changes in the law, to increase the threshold for 'Cadillac plans' or to eliminate this provision."

Stoffa has resolved to work with other counties and the unions representing county employees to make changes in this law.

Council's next regular meeting is at 6:30 p.m., Nov. 7 at Northampton County Courthouse's third floor, 669 Washington St., Easton.

In a brief ceremony Oct. 1, Bethlehem Mayor John Callahan received a Penn State scarf and South Bethlehem received a new bench complete with a replica of the Nittany Lion, Penn State's mascot. The bench at the corner of Third and New streets will enjoy a limited stay just two blocks from the Lehigh University campus. "The Lehigh Valley is filled with alumni, students and friends of Penn State," said LV Campus Chancellor Ann Williams in a press release. "We thought this was a fun way to highlight the university's presence in the region." The Lehigh Valley has the second largest population of Penn State alumni outside of Centre County, where main campus University Park is located. Penn Staters are urged to share their photos through social media when they visit the bench.

Revival With Dave Brady
I invite you to attend coming revival services with Evangelist David Brady at our church November 3-8, Sunday at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m., and Monday through Friday at 7:30 p.m.
Brady is a lively and anointed preacher with a likeable and unique way of powerfully sharing the Gospel. I recall him preaching an inspiring and challenging message several years ago on the story of Jesus turning the water into wine. He likened the empty waterpots to Christians who must be empty of self and then filled with the water of the Word of God and prayer in order to be miraculously used by Christ to meet the needs of people around them through the power of the Holy Spirit (pictured by the water being turned into wine). He emphasized that pots which are empty of the Word of God and prayer and are out in the sun (external pressures) become "crackpots." The congregation roared with laughter at times in appreciation of his ability to humorously communicate spiritual truths, and then they responded to his challenge to greater commitment to Christ by seeking the Lord earnestly around the altar.
Evangelist Brady grew up in a dysfunctional and alcoholic home. By the age of 15 he was on the streets using drugs and alcohol, but nothing satisfied! One night, he was drinking with his friends in the woods. He recalls, "The more that I drank, the more empty I felt. I began smashing beer bottles against the trees yelling "There has to be more to life than this!" As he returned home, he heard the Sunday morning bells of a church compelling him to come. There, at the age of 18, he heard the message of salvation and came to Christ. The Lord set him free from drugs and alcohol and called him into the ministry. For the past 34 years, he has been preaching the Gospel and helping free others from the bondage of sin and destructive habits.
I urge you to bring others with you who need spiritual help.

CROSS COUNTRY

Pate boys win LVC title

By KATIE MCDONALD
kmcdonald@tnonline.com

For the second consecutive year, Freedom's undefeated cross country season led to a Lehigh Valley Conference Championship on Tuesday at the Bethlehem Municipal Field.

The Patriots won with 33 points, while runner-up Parkland had 66 points. Easton was third with 95 points, followed by Liberty with 105 points, and Bethlehem Catholic had 210 points, finishing in seventh place.

Freedom coach Bob Thear said, "The boys ran great today, I thought. It feels great. Obviously, the main prize is next week at districts. It's good to feel confident and comfortable on the course, and we had five in the top 11."

Leading the way for the Patriots was junior, Ben Ziegler, who came in second place in 16:39, behind Easton's Colin Abert, who won the race in 16:04.

"I took it out really easy, just trying to get second place. I did better than I expected because it's really hot out here today. Going into the hills, I was six or seven, where I wanted to be. I surged once I got onto the golf course," said Ziegler.

Teammates, Jason

Lopez, placed third in 16:56, Chris Kelly was eighth in 17:18, Dan Quigley was ninth in 17:22, and Will Alpaugh came in 11th in 17:30.

Shane Smith was 21st in 18:01, Isaac Gross placed 33rd in 18:36, Trevor Watlington came in 35th in 18:48, Kevin McPeck was 51st in 19:24, and Tommy Salerno placed 65th in 19:37.

Lopez said, "At the mile, Ben took off with Abert. Then it was me, Kevin Lapansky, and Alex Fitch. It was kind of hot the last two miles. You felt it. I made a move after the last hill coming off the golf course."

Lapansky, from Easton, placed fourth in 16:57, and Fitch, a Liberty junior, placed fifth in 16:59.

Fitch said, "Me and the kid from Easton kept switching spots for the second half of the race. At the end, he outkicked me."

At the start of the boys race, Fitch went out with teammate, Roberto Marrero, who placed 15th in 17:46.

"Me and Roberto went out fast because, in other races, we got stuck behind people. That helped because we were in a good position to keep our positions after the first half mile," said Fitch.

Palmer places seventh

Maybe it was the heat, and maybe it was the hills, but the Lehigh Valley Conference Girls Cross Country Championship Meet was a slow race by most standards last week at the Bethlehem Municipal Field.

"Usually, they go out really hard. It was a strange start. The top ten were together for a good part of the race," said Freedom junior, Shaina Palmer, who placed seventh in 20:33.

Also in the top ten was Freedom freshman, Olivia Salerno, who placed eighth in 20:41.

"I think I did really good. The last mile, I could have worked a little harder. I like it a little colder, but the heat is good for your muscles. I just stayed up on my toes for the hills," she said.

Placing ninth was Bethlehem Catholic sophomore, Kassi Yocco, in 20:44.

"I was trying to pace myself off a Dieruff girl and a Northampton girl. It worked out okay until the heat and hills started to get to me," Yocco said.

All in all, Yocco was pleased with her race.

"I'm happy with it. I didn't do too good in the beginning of the season because of my injury, but I keep improving. I liked my time for this course. It

Hsu advances to state play

By TYLER TRUMBAUER
Special to the Press

Editor's Note: The state golf tournament takes place after Bethlehem Press deadlines.

Last year, Freedom's Helen Hsu left the PIAA East Regional with nothing as she shot a 97.

Last Tuesday the junior departed the tournament with a packet of information for states.

Hsu received that packet after carding an 82 at Golden Oaks Golf Club in Fleetwood, Pa. and finishing 11th in the AAA girls' class, which qualified her for the state tournament as the top 12 advance.

She talked about how she felt after getting the official word that she qualified.

"I enjoyed being out there. I struggled on my second hole, but then I started getting pars. I birdied the first par-3 that I played, which was nice. I lost it then with three, three-putts in a row, but then I pulled it all together at the end."

Hsu, who was the district runner-up two weeks ago, was very pleased with her round as she missed only four fairways and did exactly what she wanted to do going in to it.

"Coach said that the cut was going to be around 84 [before the tournament] and I was trying to better it so I wanted around an 80 and I did just that. I shot around my average for the season and with it being a tougher course I just played the way I can play."

With this being her first trip to the state tournament and being only a junior, Hsu is going to enjoy the trip to York, Pa.

"My mindset is: I'm going to states! I'm going to have fun!"

LVC-MVC merger picture becoming clearer

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

The new-look, 18-team Lehigh Valley Interscholastic Athletic Conference got some clarity last week when initial reports of potential scheduling and divisional alignment surfaced.

Athletic directors from all schools met recently to hash out what the future of the LVC would look like and the rumored talks of Bethlehem Catholic moving up north for football appear to be in order.

Football will feature two divisions of nine teams, as Bethlehem Catholic, Dieruff and Allen will join the former MVC contingent of East Stroudsburg South, East Stroudsburg North, Stroudsburg, Pleasant Valley, Pocono Mountain East and Pocono Mountain West.

The other division would be comprised of Whitehall, Emmaus, Parkland, Easton, Liberty, Nazareth, Northampton, Freedom and Central Catholic.

Each team would play eight games within their division, plus two other cross-divisional games, which would rotate on a two-year cycle.

In the case of Becahi, they would play their eight division opponents every year, along with a rotating member from the current LVC, as well as Central Catholic every year as the final contest to keep their rivalry in tact.

This gives teams a total of 10 regular season games and will likely not allow any room for nonconference opponents.

As far as other sports are concerned, soccer, field hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball and tennis, a three division alignment of six teams is in place.

The divisions don't appear to have names as of yet, but they will look like this:

Division 1-East Stroudsburg South, East Stroudsburg North,

Stroudsburg, Pleasant Valley, Pocono Mountain East and Pocono Mountain West.

Division 2-Easton, Bethlehem Catholic, Liberty, Freedom, Allen and Dieruff.

Division 3-Whitehall, Emmaus, Parkland, Nazareth, Northampton and Central Catholic.

In baseball, softball, soccer and field hockey, teams will play a total of 10 divisional games and six cross-divisional games against three opponents each from the other two divisions, giving teams a total of 16 contests within the league itself.

Teams would then have two nonleague dates for a total of 18 games.

The LVC playoffs would then expand to an eight team tournament, featuring three division winners and five wildcard teams featuring the best records.

For volleyball and basketball, the only difference would be in the crossover games, which would be eight instead of six.

For example, in basketball, teams would still play each divisional opponent twice, giving them 10 games, as well as playing eight crossover games between the two remaining

FOOTBALL

Hawks see light at end of tunnel

By CJ HEMERLY
Special to the Press

It was an electric night around the stadium at Orefield Middle School last Friday night. Homecoming floats paraded around the stadium track at halftime, and the home team paraded up and down the field.

Parkland used a couple of Bethlehem Catholic turnovers to take a big first half lead, and cruise to a 49-6 win.

The Trojans (7-1, 6-1) made some big plays offensively, and the defense was all over the field, stopping any potential Golden Hawks (4-3, 3-4) scoring drives.

The Trojans took an early 14-0 lead midway through the first quarter thanks in large part to some explosive runs from the Redmond brothers.

Najee Redmond took a handoff from quarterback Devante Cross and broke a few tackles before he crossed the goal line from 19 yards out to cap off the first drive that went for 66 yards.

On the next Golden Hawks possession, Julian Spigner took a quarterback-keeper for 38 yards and it looked as if Becahi would answer the Parkland score. But on the next play, Eli Redmond stepped in front of Spigner's pass and took it 62 yards to the house.

The Golden Hawks would eventually get back into the game on their next drive. Spigner found Freddie Simmons in the corner of the end zone from four yards out over the outstretched arms of a Trojans defender to cap an 80-yard, twelve play drive.

Those were the last points that a dominant Parkland defense would allow, as the eleven players on the opposite side of the ball came up big for the Trojans, also forcing two turnovers.

A fumble recovery at the end of the first quarter in Golden Hawks territory led to a one yard run by Kareem Williams.

The most deflating play may have come at the last play of the half. Eli Redmond took a pass on the right flat with a defender right on his hip. Redmond would break a few tackles, cut inside and outside, and use his speed to break away from all Golden Hawks defenders and dove across the goal line for a 69 yard catch-and-run.

"They've got great players who play hard and can make plays," said head coach Joe Henrich. "That play at the end of the half was a real tough one for sure."

It ended up getting even tougher for Bethlehem Catholic in the second half. The Parkland defense allowed just one more first down, and the offense ran out the clock, helped by Williams rushing for 112 of his 151 yards in the third quarter.

Pates knock off Northampton

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

It was just what Freedom's football team needed Saturday night, no matter how much it rained on their parade.

The Patriots (2-6, 2-5) ended a five-game skid by blowing open a 3-0 half-time lead into 28-second half points for a 31-7 demolition over Northampton.

Northampton turned the ball over on their first two offensive plays of the third quarter to set up 14-points for the Pates, which the winless Kids (0-8) could never recover from.

After a dry first three quarters turned into a torrential downpour on the final whistle, Freedom head coach Jason Roeder didn't care that he or any of his players were soaking wet.

"It's a win," Roeder said. "It was validation for what we've been preaching to these guys for the past couple of weeks. We've needed to just continue to get better every week and to keep improving and we got it done."

The Patriots forced four turnovers against

Northampton and took advantage of the ones in the third quarter the most.

Jared Bauer fumbled on the first play of the second half for Northampton to set up the Pates at the Northampton 39.

Roberto Diaz would punch the eventual score from six yards out to give Freedom a 10-0 lead with 6:57 left in the third.

Kids' quarterback Nick Cook continued the second half downfall, as he was intercepted on Northampton's very next play.

Freedom took over on the Northampton 41 and scored four plays later when Joe Santos rushed from one yard out to suddenly give Freedom a 17-0 lead.

From that point on, Northampton's confidence was zapped and Freedom's kept rising, as Bryant Connor and Loudon Klotz tacked on three and two yard TD runs respectively in the fourth quarter to build a 31-0 lead before the starters left the field with roughly five minutes left to play.

Freshman quarterback Joe Young may have not have scored, but he showed glimpses of a bright future, completing 9-of-13 passes for 123 yards. It was the third start of the season for Young, who got christened to the LVC in his first two games in losses to Easton and Parkland.

This time, however, the middle school wide receiver from a year ago, was slinging the ball impressively all night long, including a 41-yard TD throw down the sideline in the second period. It was a perfect throw over the top, but the play was nullified because of holding.

But the throw itself was on the mark and showed good arm strength for the freshman signal caller, who appears to have tremendous upside.

"He's young and he's learning, but we like what we see from him," said Roeder. "His decision making is getting better and he didn't throw any picks. We're happy with his progress."

And that progress has led to this week's encounter with Bethlehem Catholic (4-4, 3-4).

The Hawks have lost three straight games and will look to get their confidence back after they beat Liberty on September 28.

Roeder knows it's always better to go into a matchup off a victory, but also understands that there's no need to motivate players anymore when a city rival is on the agenda.

"It's not hard to get these guys up for city games," he said. "We had our struggles early this season and it's hard to keep selling kids on getting better against teams like Easton and Parkland, but they've done that. Getting the win over Northampton was big, but this week's game is going to be even bigger now and we have to go out and try to win the game."

Where Freedom's weekend was capped off by a victory, Becahi and Liberty fell in emphatic fashion.

The Hawks suffered a crushing 49-6 loss to Parkland, while Liberty did no better, losing to Easton at home 41-7.

It drops the Hurricanes to 3-5 overall and 2-5 in the conference. The good news for the 'Canes is that they get Northampton this week.

Pete's Top-10: Whitehall vs. Easton this week

By PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

A season full of minimal twists finally brings some intrigue this week with perhaps the most evenly matched up games in the poll this year.

Can Whitehall steal a win at Easton?

Has Nazareth hit their full stride heading into the final two weeks?

Will a reeling Bethlehem Catholic wake up from their slump?

And who earns the right to say they play second fiddle in the Colonial League?

All things are answered in this week's top ten.

Hawks play waiting game in district volleyball

By PETER CAR
pcar@tntonline.com

As most sports know their playoff fates this week, girls volleyball still is up in the air.

As of press time Tuesday morning, the 3A and 2A playoff brackets in volleyball were undetermined because of regular season matches still being played Monday and Tuesday nights.

With Liberty and Freedom both out of the postseason, that leaves Bethlehem Catholic (12-6) as the only local team competing in the postseason.

The Hawks won the district title last year and are looking to repeat for the first time since winning back-to-back titles in 2007-08.

Where the Hawks will be seeded is the biggest question at the moment, as Central Catholic (12-4), Blue Mountain (13-3) and Notre Dame-GP (12-4) sit in the top three spots.

Central and Blue Mountain appear to be locked as one and two respectively, but Notre Dame's position can fluctuate depending on their results from Monday and Tuesday's action.

Notre Dame took on Warren Hills (NJ) on Monday and North Hunterdon (NJ) yesterday to delay the district brackets.

The official brackets weren't released by Press and Notre Dame-GP (12-4) sit in the top three spots.

the Hawks would likely be staying in the fourth seed and hosting Lehigh Thursday afternoon.

Becahi head coach Paul Abi-Daher wasn't sure where his team would end up standing early in the week, but was hoping that the Hawks would jump Notre Dame in the final point accumulation.

"I think we get some type of bonus points at the end of the year because of the 3A teams we've scheduled," Abi-Daher said. "I'm not really sure though. It's going to be close for that third spot."

The difference between the third and the fourth seed can mean the difference between playing in the district final, since the fourth seed would be lumped in with Central Catholic's side of the bracket.

The Hawks lost to Central in four games earlier this year and Abi-Daher knows that avoiding the Vikettes for as long as possible would be beneficial to his group.

However, he also understands that you have to beat the best in order to be the best.

"Eventually you're going to have to play Central," he said. "We've challenged the girls since we lost in the LVC playoffs to focus. The team that wants to win the most is going to come away with the title."

Boys

senior, John Donchez, placed 26th in 18:13.

"My start was good, and I felt good, and I was pretty much at the front, but I wanted to break 18:00. Every year, I do bad, and then I do better at districts," Donchez said.

At the district meet, Donchez's plan will be to attack the hills in the middle of the race, and push the tempo on the golf course.

The District XI Cross Country Championships are scheduled for Oct. 23, also at the Bethlehem Municipal Field, where Freedom's plan is to repeat as district champs.

Coach Thear said, "Parkland was without their top guy today, so maybe they think, hey, Freedom could take us for granted, but that's how you get beat. If we run like this next week, I'll be thrilled."

was a minute off last year," she said.

Runners finishing in the top 30 included Freedom's Bridget Tarnowski, who was 17th in 21:17, Liberty's Nikki Nelson, who was 23rd in 21:32, and Bethlehem Catholic's Rowan Pepe, who was 29th in 21:52.

Freedom coach Bob Thear said, "Watching the girls, I thought that more than one would break 20:00. For the first half, they were in a big pack. It looked like nobody wanted to take it."

The Patriot girls placed fifth with 129 points, the Hurricanes were seventh with 189 points, and the Hawks were ninth with 222 points.

divisions to give teams 18 total league games.

Teams would then have four nonleague dates open on their schedule for a total of 22 games.

Tennis would feature the same three division setup, but teams would have eight league contests, five from within their division, followed by three crossover meetings. Their LVC playoff would be a four-team tournament, pitting the three division winners and a wildcard.

Wrestling will also follow a three division structure, but the divisions will be ranked in accordance to this year's District 11 ranking. The following year, divisions would be aligned by rankings according to league records.

Teams will have nine dual meets within the league, with five within the division and four total (two each) from the other two divisions.

None of this information has been confirmed, as it's still pending approval from principals across the league.

Official news of that agreement should come in November, but this is what the league will most likely move forward with unless there's complete disagreement by principals of each respective school.

It appears that cross country, golf and track will follow a single table format as well. They are likely to see seven league meets, including tri, quad and head-to-head meets.

Swimming has 16 teams in the league and will appear to have a one table setup with every school competing against each other for a 15 meet schedule.

Lacrosse will have nine teams for boys and eight teams for girls. Each team would play each other twice in this alignment, giving the boys 16 league contest and girls 14 league dates.

Hawks

His five yard score, combined with a two yard keeper from Cross put the mercy rule into effect late in the third quarter.

Trojans backup quarterback Nolan Ridgway put an exclamation point on the evening with a 77-yard run in the final quarter.

It was a tough one to take for the Golden Hawks, but one that may motivate this team with their final two games coming against rivals Freedom and Central Catholic. The Golden Hawks can still qualify for the District 11 Class 3A playoffs. After a 1-9 season a year ago, that is quite a goal to aspire for.

"We're still learning how to win and how to be a team like Parkland, Whitehall and Easton," noted Henrich. "Every step along the way is a learning experience. You can't expect a 1-9 team to turn around all of a sudden and be 9-1. I know the scoreboard looks ugly tonight, but I still feel like we can do some special things over the remainder of the year."

Golf

qualify. Singh's 89 was close to qualifying her as the seventh and eighth spots were filled by girls who both shot 88.

On the boys' side, there were two golfers competing in the AAA ranks. One being Bethlehem Catholic's Nick Maff and the other Liberty's Kevin Zakszeski, who qualified for the East Regionals by beating two other golfers in a playoff at districts.

Maff, who finished 47th in last year's tournament, shot a 78 and finished in a seven-way tie for 31st. His finish improved from 2012 as he carded an 86, but being a sophomore, Maff will have more opportunities to climb up that leaderboard.

Zakszeski shot an 81 at Golden Oaks, which tied him for 41st. The senior finished strong however as he posted a 3-over 39 on the back nine to finish out his high school career.

Last Tuesday Golden Oaks Golf Club served as the site for a lot disappointment and ended careers. Hsu emerged with neither of those as she left, packet in hand, on her way to the PIAA Tournament.

Nick Maff finished in 31st at regionals.

Kevin Zakszeski finished in 41st.

Council OKs library consolidation

By MARK RECCEK
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Hellertown Borough Council unanimously approved a library consolidation plan presented by representatives of the Hellertown Area and Lower Saucon Township libraries Oct. 7.

According to Hellertown Area Library Director Robin Rotherham, changes will occur in the event Lower Saucon Township council decides to terminate its contract with the Bethlehem Area Public Library (BAPL), such as the discontinuation of the BAPL Book-mobile service.

Rotherham said the Hellertown Area Library will see a minor structural expansion along with an interior redesign to accommodate a larger library population.

Additionally, parking will be added, along with various programs for adults and children.

Rotherham noted the hiring of additional staff.

Rotherham said the consolidation will benefit students who attend the Saucon Valley School District, as they will be located closer to the library.

Lower Saucon Township Manager Jack Cahalan said the consolidation plan is worth pursuing for the benefit of Hellertown and township residents.

Councilwoman Gail Nolf expressed her support of the plan, adding it will benefit both communities. Nolf noted the borough residents may still use the BAPL.

"There's no additional cost to us," Nolf said. "It's a win for us."

The consolidation plan must be approved by the Lower Saucon Township Council and the Hellertown Area Library Board of Trustees before it is implemented.

HS Homework Club to continue

By MARK RECCEK
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Saucon Valley School District Superintendent Sandra Fellin believes there is enough money allocated to the high school Homework Club.

"This will get us through the major part of the year," Fellin told board members Oct. 8.

The board unanimously approved funding the Homework Club for the remainder of the school year.

Board President Michael Karabin asked Fellin what the purpose of the club is. Fellin said the club offers academic remediation to students who need or desire assistance.

Board member Sandra Miller asked Fellin to inform the board if the club's account begins to experience financial difficulties.

"If money gets low, I will bring this back," Fellin said.

In other business, Fellin informed the board the district received $56,545.46 from the Bethlehem Area Vocational-Technical School due to excess revenue.

The board also approved a number of long-term and substitute positions, as well as extracurricular positions for the school year.

Also during the meeting, Fellin recognized school board members Charles Bartolet, Ralph Puerta and Miller for fulfilling service on the board in four-year increments.

Commissioners propose $2.4 M in cuts

By MARK RECCEK
mreccek@tntonline.com

Lehigh County Commissioners presented a proposed 2014 budget at their Oct. 9 meeting that if approved, would result in $2.4 million in budget cuts, reducing the budget deficit from $10.3 million to $7.9 million.

The commissioners brought 13 amendments forward, sparking members of certain county departments to present their cases for maintaining funding. Areas proposed for funding reduction in the 2014 budget include court administration, corrections, regional crime center, IT, Cedarbrook Nursing Home and the 911 center.

"It's really a very troubling budget," Commissioner Vic Mazziotti said. "It's an unsustainable budget. We are spending money out of our savings."

District Court Administrator William Berndt spoke in opposition to the reduction of $308,657 from the IT personnel budget.

"We have some programs we do need the expertise of those folks," he said.

Lehigh County District Attorney Jim Martin concurred with Berndt.

"It's important to keep it fully staffed," Martin said.

Commissioner Scott Ott said the commissioners are tasked to find areas and ways to reduce spending and IT was a department they collectively felt comfortable with reducing funding.

The proposed 2014 budget also seeks to cut $104,376 from the full-time employees line item and $41,959 from fringe benefits from court administration.

Lehigh County President Judge Carol McGinley said the budget to fund current staff is essential to maintaining court efficiency, order and safety. McGinley said staff assigned to an individual judge ranges from one to three persons.

"The tipstaff is a very necessary person that leads to greater efficiency and to fewer mistakes being made," she said.

Ott said he was concerned the county may not provide adequate staff to individual judges.

"I'm seriously concerned," he said.

Also proposed is a $250,000 reduction for the regional crime center. Martin stressed the necessity of maintaining the current system, which he said aids greatly in the location and apprehension of criminal suspects.

The commissioners will vote on the final 2014 budget 7 p.m. Oct. 23 in Room 408 of the Government Center, 17 S. Seventh St., Allentown.

room to expand at the Broadway location. On Dec. 8, 1875, Tinsley Jeeter, "Father of Fountain Hill", reached an agreement with Judge Asa Packer, founder of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and Lehigh University, to sell the water cure hospital property in Fountain Hill for $25,000. The property had two buildings and three barns on 20 acres of ground.

Judge Asa Packer donated $10,000 and secured another $5,000 from the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The St. Luke's Ladies Aid Society, a group organized by the wives of Bethlehem business leaders, raised the rest through fundraisers such as a fair and scenic train rides.

The first patients occupied the old water cure building on May 24, 1876. In the year 1877 the hospital took in 108 cases, and by 1878 the hospital had 19 beds. When Judge Packer's will was probated in 1879, he provided the hospital with $300,000 a year to pay the expenses of any employee of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Anything remaining from the bequest could go to general hospital expenses.

In 1881, at age 25, Dr. William L. Estes became the director of the hospital. He was a skillful physician who specialized in surgery. As an administrator, he had great foresight. In 1884, he established the St. Luke's Nursing School, which at the time was only the fourth nursing school in the country. St. Luke's was also one of the first hospitals to hire a pathologist and biologist in 1898. The William H. Chandler Laboratory, built in 1909, was one of the best-equipped laboratories in the United States. The hospital was one of the first to install X-ray equipment and the new concept of a Social Services Department was established in 1914. Dr. W.L. Estes and his wife, Jeanne Wynn Estes lived on Delaware Avenue, Fountain Hill with their five children. Dr. Estes retired from St. Luke's in 1920.

"From the beginning, St. Luke's has been uniquely positioned to meet the needs of the communities we serve," said Carol Kuplen, COO of St. Luke's University Hospital and Chief Nursing Officer, "Today is no exception. Beginning with a small hospital in the hills of South Bethlehem and Fountain Hill borough, to a network providing services at more than 150 sites in Lehigh, Northampton, Carbon, Schuylkill, Bucks, Montgomery, Berks and Monroe counties in northeast Pennsylvania and in Warren County, N.J., St. Luke's University Health Network offers excellent care in a cost effective manner."

Today, the St. Luke's University Health Network is comprised of six hospitals, with 1,356 physicians on its medical staff, primary and specialist care sites, various outpatient testing and service facilities, regional medical school campus, home health, inpatient and outpatient hospice services, the largest hospital-based EMS service in Pennsylvania and more than 1,650 volunteers. The network is the second-largest employer in the region, with more than 9,300 employees.

ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL'S second location was established in 1876 on the old water cure property in Fountain Hill.

ELECTION POLICY

To candidates, readers

As we approach the Nov. 5 municipal election, the East Penn Press and the Salisbury Press, in the interest of fairness, will halt the publication of columns by local government officials and letters to the editor submitted by those running for office.

The last week for publication of columns by local government officials will be Oct. 9 edition.

We will, of course, continue to cover the local races, in news stories generated by our own reporters.

Letters to the Editor, written by a candidate or by members of the community supporting a candidate, needed to be received by The Press no later than 5 p.m. Oct. 18.

Notre Dame HS

Grade: 12th

Family members: I have my parents, Bill and Suzanne, and two sisters, Kristen and Erika.

Favorite subject: My favorite subjects are my English classes, especially my journalism class. It is where I feel most comfortable in the school environment and also where I feel as though I can express myself most.

Activities: I play volleyball for my school and for a club team, and I am also involved in many clubs such as National Honors Society, SADD, Key Club, and Student Council.

Next steps: After high school I hope to attend Lehigh University, where I can earn my degree in what I hope to be journalism.

Career goals: I hope to work for a big-name newspaper or magazine publication.

Heroes: One of my biggest heroes is J.K. Rowling. Not only do I love her writing, but I am also very inspired by the way she became a self-made billionaire by doing what she loves.

Hobbies: My hobbies include reading, participating in sports, especially volleyball, and also involving myself in the school activities.

Volunteer/community work: I do a lot of volunteer work through the clubs that I am a part of, especially SADD and Key Club.

Likes: Some of my likes include getting caught up in a great book, finding new music to listen to or movies to watch, playing sports and busying myself with after school activities.

Dislikes: One of my dislikes are people who have the potential to accomplish something great in their life but lack the motivation to do so.

Greatest accomplishment (so far): My greatest accomplishment so far would be juggling high school and club volleyball and extra-curricular activities while also maintaining my GPA.

Advice for peers: My advice for my peers would be to chase after their dreams, no matter how big or crazy. You never know how much can be accomplished with strong will and motivation.

NOTRE DAME NEWS

Year off to fast start

During the past nine weeks, Notre Dame HS came alive for a new school year as new students and teachers filled the hall, and sports games and school events brought everyone together as one family.

Danielle Betterman

The football team opened the new fall season with three straight wins, resulting in a rush of overwhelming school spirit. The team, now 3-4, keeps playing tough with hopes of making the district playoffs.

The girls and boys soccer teams have also been successful this fall season, with records of 10-7-1 and 9-5-1, respectively. Senior Giovanni Mowrey, a forward, broke the school record for career goals in a season for ND boys soccer with 49 goals.

The girls volleyball team also pursues districts this season, with a record of 12-4.

Notre Dame's extracurricular clubs have also been busy with events, such as the Back to School dance and Special Olympics.

The Student Council arranged the Back to School dance for all students to enjoy on Sept. 14. Everyone, from the new freshmen to seniors, danced together in the gymnasium to a variety of upbeat music.

The Key Club organized the Special Olympics on Sept. 24, for the kids at Mercy Special Learning Center. The kids and their buddies from Notre Dame spent the day together playing dodgeball, running on the track, and going through an obstacle course. The day ended with a game of freeze dance and the singing of the National Anthem.

With many events fast approaching, such as Homecoming, Spirit Week, and the annual MiniTHON, the students at Notre Dame remain hopeful that this school year will be great.

ROBERT FIEDLER and kindergartener Noah Bell, both of Bethlehem, show off their apple glyph. "It's hard to say which students benefit more," says kindergarten teacher Maureen Kohler of the mentoring program; "our young, eager kindergarteners or their helpful 'big kid' friends."

Kansas knows return

Violinist David Ragsdale reflects on band's 40th year

By CAMILLE CAPRIGLIONE
 Special to The Press

Kansas is considered the stuff of rock legends, an iconic and awe-inspiring band that is a fundamental part of Classic Rock radio, yet continues to entertain audiences today.

Kansas performs 8 p.m. Oct 25, Miller Symphony Hall, 23 N. Sixth St., Allentown.

The group remains relevant with new and younger audiences by its presence in video games such as "Guitar Hero" and "Rock Band." Kansas's impressive 40-year span was highlighted by its 2013 induction into the Kansas Historical Hall of Fame.

In a recent phone interview, Kansas violinist David Ragsdale reflected on the band, known for its progressive rock hits, "Carry On Wayward Son," from the album, "Leftoverture" (1976) and "Dust In The Wind," from "Point Of Know Return" (1977).

Ragsdale's history with Kansas began when the band's original violinist, Robby Steinhardt, left the band temporarily. "I actually entered the band twice," says Ragsdale. "It's a complicated story that began in the late 1980's."

Ragsdale didn't know any of the band members personally, but he was a Kansas fan and talented violinist. He listened to the band's music post-Steinhardt and realized the lack of violin was a detriment.

"I could hear the parts that were missing," says Ragsdale. "So I got my four-track recorder and played my own violin portions. Then I made dozens of copies and sent them to everybody, just hoping one would land."

His persistence and networking paid off. A friend of a friend happened to be the band's accountant. The recording was passed along to Phil Ehart, who liked it and contacted Ragsdale in 1991.

Ragsdale hails from Columbus, Ga. He started taking violin lessons at a very young age, despite his protestations, "I had no choice in the matter. I didn't like it at all." But he continued, even while attending the University of Alabama.

When asked how changes in the music industry have affected Kansas, Ragsdale says, "The free advertising is much more readily available. But I'm not crazy about where music is going. If I were a young musician today, the first thing I'd do is take dancing lessons."

"It's all visual. All cleverness is removed, so immediate and simple, no adventure. It's like the difference between a Da Vinci painting and a stick-figure drawing."

In addition to Ragsdale, violin, guitar, vocals, the Kansas lineup includes Rich Williams, guitar; Steve Walsh, keyboards, vocals; Billy Greer, bass, vocals, and Ehart, drums.

Ragsdale is moved by the response of Kansas's new generation of fans. "I can't tell you how great it feels to know that Kansas fans are bringing their kids to our concerts. And to see a 15-year-old watching us with his jaw slack because he's never seen or heard anything like us before..."

He attributes the band's longevity to a simple answer: "Good songs. Well-constructed songs that are musically adventurous. It's music that commands your attention, yet is very accessible."

Kansas strives to raise awareness for collegiate music programs. In 2010, after the band created a 35th anniversary DVD there was the "symphony tour," where its songs were accompanied by college and university orchestras across the United States. "It turned out better than we thought," says Ragsdale. "We hired Larry Baird to do the orchestrations, and it was very successful."

Ragsdale took his own hiatus in 1997 after "being on a tour bus for 10 years." The violinist rejoined in 2006.

"We tour every year. We performed on a cruise ship to Haiti last year with 20 other rock bands, and we have a possible European tour next year."

When asked what the future holds for Kansas, Ragsdale replies, "Making a record is a terrible expense and you have to take a year off. So we'll do what people want, and what pays: live performances."

28th Holiday Marketplace at Swain

The 28th Annual Holiday Marketplace Fine Art and Craft Show, sponsored by the Lehigh Valley Chapter of the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen (LVPGC), is 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Oct. 26 and 11 a.m. - 4 p.m. Oct. 27, The Swain School, 1100 S. 24th St., Salisbury Township.

"It seems impossible, but the level of craftsmanship at this show just gets better and better each year," says show chairperson and LVPGC President Brad Sears of Brad Sears Fine Woodturning.

Artists are expected to be in attendance.

"Discerning patrons get a chance to really talk with the artists and find out the story behind each piece of art," says Sears.

The show includes fine jewelry, hand-woven clothing, handmade pottery, turned-wood vessels, holiday ornaments and cards.

Proceeds fund the guild's Student Awards Program, which honors local high school students who excel

Bromberg & Band: The David Bromberg Band returns to Musikfest Cafe, ArtsQuest Center, SteelStacks, 25 W. Third St., Bethlehem, 7:30 p.m. Oct. 25. Last month, Bromberg, above, the "Godfather of Americana," released a new album, "Only Slightly Mad," on Appleseed Recordings, which includes blues, bluegrass, gospel, folk, Irish fiddle tunes and pop. Bromberg, a Philadelphia native, is a noted session guitarist, playing on hundreds of records by artists, including Bob Dylan ("New Morning," "Self Portrait," "Dylan"), The Eagles, Ringo Starr, Willie Nelson and Carly Simon. His 2009 album, "Use Me," features John Hiatt, Levon Helm, Los Lobos, Vince Gill, Widespread Panic, Dr. John, Keb' Mo' and Linda Ronstadt. Partially detailing the proceedings, filmmaker Beth Kravant directed a documentary, "David Bromberg: Unsung Treasure," screening at United States and Canadian film festivals. Baskets are plentiful at Holy Trinity

PRESS PHOTOS BY STEPHANIE RAPPHUN

Alice Dankel, left, Marge Drabic, center, and Rosemarie Shafer, all of Whitehall, sit in front of Dankel's homemade quilt, one of many homemade items being sold or raffled at an Oct. 5 basket party at Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Whitehall.

Whitehall residents, from left, Peggy Roethlein, Gloria Wagner, Kathy Rothdeutsch, Carol Chorneu and Diane Schrammeyer work in the kitchen during the church basket social. The ladies made many homemade hot foods such as halupkies, turkey barbecue and pierogies.

More than 'Slightly' Bromberg

By CAMILLE CAPRIGLIONE
Special to The Press

"I'm a lucky human," says David Bromberg humbly. "I've always been able to do what I want."

Bromberg, the Patriarch of Americana, or roots music, is a world-renowned, multi-instrumentalist, singer and songwriter whose style is an eclectic mix of bluegrass, folk, blues, jazz, ragtime, country-western and rock 'n' roll.

Bromberg has amazed audiences for 40 years and has played alongside famous musicians, including Willie Nelson, Jerry Garcia and Bob Dylan. In 2008, he was nominated for a Grammy Award for his album, "Try Me One More Time."

The David Bromberg Band plays selections from its latest CD, "Only Slightly Mad," 7:30 p.m. Oct. 25, Musikfest Café, ArtsQuest Center, SteelStacks, 101 Founders Way, Bethlehem.

"I'm quite proud of the CD," says Bromberg in a recent phone interview. "It's the best one I've done." He says that choosing his friend, Grammy-winning producer, Larry Campbell, to produce the CD was the best decision for the project because, "Larry has an in-depth knowledge of what I like to play."

How does his new work differ from his older material? "I'm a better singer," says Bromberg. "I stopped performing for 22 years and in that time I got better."

His decision to start performing after a long hiatus was simple: "I started having fun playing music again. And I took control of my schedule."

When asked about his early musical influences, Bromberg says the list is long. They include B.B. King, Albert King, Jody Stecher, Doc Watson and Bill Monroe, just to name a few.

Bromberg, born in Philadelphia and raised in Tarrytown, N.Y., started playing guitar (his admitted favorite instrument) at 13. He attended Columbia University, where he majored in music, and studied with the man who was his inspiration, Reverend Gary Davis, who he met on the Greenwich Village, New York City, blues-folk scene.

Bromberg's band is comprised of musicians and backup singers of all ages, who play bass, drums, guitar, mandolin, violins and horns. The band travels the world, most recently having toured Hawaii, Japan, Australia and Italy.

Bromberg and his wife, Nancy Josephson, live in Wilmington, Del., where they're proud members of the historic city's artist-in-residence program as owners of David Bromberg Fine Violins, a retail and repair shop.

When asked what the future holds for him, Bromberg replies with a chuckle, "World domination," then adds, "I frequently perform at World Café Live in Wilmington. We'll be playing there on New Year's Eve."

Asked if there's anything he'd like his fans to know, Bromberg replies in his usual humorous fashion: "That they can't live without the new CD."

Cook happy on the road again

By REBEKAH HAWK
Special to The Press

David Cook, winner of the seventh season of "American Idol" who performs in concert, 8 p.m. Oct. 24, Musikfest Cafe, ArtsQuest Center, SteelStacks, 101 Founders Way, Bethlehem, is in a performance groove.

"It's exciting," says Cook in a recent phone interview. "It's an opportunity to get on the road. It's nice because I'm more comfortable now that I'm settled in than when I was competing on the show."

The "show" is "American Idol." Since winning "American Idol" in 2008 at age 28, Cook had a record-breaking 14 debuts on the Billboard's Digital Songs chart, released his self-titled album that debuted at No. 3 and has had Top 20 singles. His second album was "This Loud Morning."

Cook has sold more than 1.5 million albums to date, two million tracks, and has two Platinum singles and a Gold single.

His TV show appearances include "Saturday Night Live," "The Oprah Winfrey Show," "The American Music Awards," "Good Morning America,"

"The Today Show," "The Tonight Show With Jay Leno," "The Ellen DeGeneres Show," "Jimmy Kimmel Live!" and "Late Night With Jimmy Fallon."

Cook, originally from Kansas City, Mo., has toured all over the United States and has concerts scheduled until the end of next month.

He says he enjoys the smaller intimate settings like Musikfest Cafe. Performing is what makes him happy.

His concert is expected to include songs he's written, such as "Come Back To Me," "Light On," "Fade Into Me" and his latest, "Laying Me Low," the latter from his forthcoming third album, due out next year.

Cook has raised more than $3 million for brain tumor research and funding.

While Cook is considered a rocker, he can put a different spin on an eclectic range of songs as when he sang "Billie Jean" by Michael Jackson and "Always Be My Baby" by Mariah Carey on "American Idol."

"Having the ability to rework some of the songs on 'Idol' was huge for me," says Cook. "I'm not sure how far I would have gone if those moments hadn't happened."

Cook never thought he was the best singer during the year he competed on "Idol," but what gave him an edge was how he could rely on his musician-ship.

He received his first guitar when he was 12-years-old and was in his first band when he was 15. In addition to playing guitar and singing, Cook's learning to play the piano and drums.

The modest Cook admits that when he hears his own song on the radio he turns it off because he "doesn't like the sound of [himself]."

Cook enjoys going back on "American Idol," as when he debuted "Laying Me Low" last year for the show's 11th season.

"I love the relationship with the show," says Cook. "I lived in like a bubble with these people for about a year and it's nice to go back and see them."

Of the show's former host, Simon Cowell, Cook observes, "What he tells you on camera is what he tells you off camera."

Ben Franklin biotech clients receive $11.5 million funding

Four biotechnology clients of the Ben Franklin Technology Partners of Northeastern Pennsylvania have received $11,574,461 in follow-on funding in federal science-based grants.

All four of the Ben Franklin clients are residents of Ben Franklin TechVentures on the campus of Lehigh University, Bethlehem.

"From our rigorous vetting process to our 'Tiger' and 'Scrub' sessions, we have an outstanding reputation for identifying and advancing promising early-stage firms," said R. Chadwick Paul, Jr., Ben Franklin's President and CEO.

"We have earned respect in the investment community, and our clients benefit when they seek follow-on funding. This follow-on funding lets Ben Franklin leverage our investments to help create more highly-paid, sustainable jobs for Pennsylvania workers," said Paul.

Azevan Pharmaceuticals, Inc. is developing medications for the treatment of stress, mood and behavior disorders, including Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, Intermittent Explosive Disorder, and major depression.

Azevan received approximately $9 million from 2004 to the present in National Institutes of Health (NIH) grants and programmatic support. Azevan's latest NIH SBIR award is for a potential next-generation therapeutic for depression.

Hager Biosciences, LLC designs and synthesizes proprietary small fragment molecules for modular adaptation into new or existing drug candidate optimization programs.

Hager received two NIH grants in 2011 and 2013, totaling $674,461 for two projects. The first grant is to develop a therapeutic agent to address substance addictions such as nicotine, and also with potential application to panic and anxiety disorders.

The second grant is to discover unique agents that could mitigate Organo Phosphorus chemical threats.

Third Eye Diagnostics,

Inc. is developing a non-invasive, handheld intracranial pressure monitor. The CerePress delivers a rapid diagnosis of brain injury in combat theaters, hospital ERs, medical transport vehicles, and sports events.

The National Science Foundation has awarded a total of $800,000 from 2009 through the present to Third Eye. The company also received $250,000 from a federal Qualifying Therapeutic Discovery Project grant. Third Eye received a Pre-Proposal Technical Award, a Federal Marketing Assistance Review, and MicroGrant from the Innovation Partnership (IPart).

The Ben Franklin Technology Partners statewide is a primary, founding, and supporting partner of IPart.

The U.S. Department of Defense awarded two SSTR grants totaling $850,000 in 2012 and 2013 to VaxForm LLC. The company is developing a vaccine targeting diseases resulting from Streptococcus pyogenes infection.

LVEDC notes financing rates

The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority program, which finances real estate acquisition, construction and renovation for manufacturers and industrial companies, is offering attractive financing rates for applications received before the end of October.

Rates continue to be near all-time lows for the state and federal financing programs available to encourage business growth, according to John W. Kingsley, Vice President of Economic Development Finance, Lehigh Valley Economic Development Corp. (LVEDC).

Rates are at 2.50 percent fixed for seven years (reset to prevailing 10-year treasury for remaining eight years of a 15-year term). Up to 70 percent of a project's cost can be financed to a maximum loan amount of $2 million or more in select areas.

The program can also be used for warehouse and distribution and large office real estate projects.

The LVEDC's state-based small business financing program, Small Business First (SBF), recently set its rate, through the fourth quarter of 2013, to 3.50 percent fixed.

This program can finance up to 50 percent of a project cost to a maximum of $200,000 for a variety of business types for real estate, machinery and equipment and working capital related projects. Terms on the SBF program can be up to 15 years.

The U.S. Small Business Administration's 504 program is providing low fixed rates of interest for terms up to 20 years. It can finance up to 40 percent of fixed-asset project costs at rates as low as 4.5 percent.

'Captain Phillips' commanding

"Captain Phillips" is a harrowing movie bristling with tension. It is superb film-making and has incredible performances.

MOVIE REVIEW

By Paul Willistein

The movie, directed by Paul Greengrass, is based on the true story of the 2009 hijacking of a United States-flagged container cargo freighter with 25 crew members and the hostage-taking of the ship's captain, Richard Phillips.

The screenplay by Billy Ray ("The Hunger Games," 2012; "Flightplan," 2009) is based on Phillips' book, written with Stephan Talty, "A Captain's Duty: Somali Pirates, Navy SEALs, and Dangerous Days at Sea."

The MV Maersk Alabama was said to be the first American cargo ship hijacked in 200 years.

The film, "Captain Phillips," has a nice preface, showing Phillips (Tom Hanks) departing his Vermont home for his ocean voyage and saying goodbye to his wife (Catherine Keener). This creates empathy for the main character.

The film shows us the preparations for the cargo ship's departure, giving us a view of the huge operation that this commerce entails.

We are also introduced to the Somali village and the fishermen who order them to commandeer a big ship. Their motive appears to be apolitical. "It is business," a pirate says.

The approaching pirates, the boarding of the freighter, the reaction of the crew and the taking of Phillips as hostage is shown in great detail in the action that takes place 145 miles off the coast of Somalia.

We also see the response by the U.S. government, which dispatches U.S. Navy ships, helicopters and Navy SEALs. While we know the outcome, "Captain Phillips" is nonetheless gripping, moving and thought-provoking.

Director Paul Greengrass ("United 93" and the "The Bourne Ultimatum and Supremacy" movies) has director of photography Barry Ackroyd use a lot of hand-held camera work, with extreme close-ups of the actors and judicious editing by Christopher Rouse.

This, combined with the rolling ships at sea, gives not only a sense of immediacy, but unease and trepidation. The audience feels part of the action and dilemma.

The score by Henry Jackman builds on the inherent drama.

Tom Hanks disappears into the role. Voicing a slight New England accent and with a gray goatee, you never think that you're watching Hanks. You think you are seeing Phillips. Hanks gives an authoritative performance, yet an emotional one, as well. Hanks is assured an Oscar actor nomination.

The film, "Captain Phillips," would not be credible without very believable performances by the first-time actors portraying the pirates, especially Barkhad Abdi as Muse. Abdi deserves a supporting actor Oscar nomination.

There are a number of good supporting roles by the actors who play the U.S. military men. These scenes are very detailed and are not unlike those in "Zero Dark Thirty."

"Captain Phillips" has the effect of a great World War II movie. Of course, "Captain Phillips" isn't a war movie because the world is not at war.

Or is it?

"Captain Phillips," MPAA Rated PG-13 (Parents Strongly Cautioned. Some Material May Be Inappropriate For Children Under 13) for sustained intense sequences of menace, some violence with bloody images, and for substance use; Genre: Action, Adventure, Biography; Run time: 2 hrs. 14 min.; Distributed by Columbia Pictures.

Credit Readers Anonymous: "Captain Phillips" was filmed in Malta, Morocco, Virginia, Massachusetts, and Longcross Studios, Longcross, Surrey, England.

Box Office, Oct. 17: "Gravity" kept opening films down to earth as a three-peat at No. 1, with a still strong $31 million, $170.5 million, three weeks.

"Captain Phillips" continued to command No. 2, with a good $17.3 million, $53.3 million, edging out the new version of "Carrie," opening at No. 3, with $17 million;

4. "Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs 2," $10.1 million, $93.1 million, four weeks; 5. "Escape Plan," $9.8 million, opening; 6. "Prisoners," $2 million, $57.2 million, five weeks; 7. "Enough Said," $1.8 million, $10.7 million, five weeks; 8. "The Fifth Estate," $1.7 million, opening; 9. "Runner Runner," $1.6 million, $17.5 million, three weeks; 10. "Insidious Chapter 2," $1.5 million, $80 million, six weeks;

Unreal, Oct. 25:

"The Counselor," R: An attorney gets involved in drug trafficking. Ridley Scott directs Brad Pitt, Penelope Cruz, Michael Fassbender, Cameron Diaz, Javier Bardem and Rosie Perez in the crime thriller.

"Bad Grandpa," R: Irving Zisman is an 86-year-old grandfather traveling across the United States with his eight-year-old grandson, Billy. Johnny Knoxville stars as Irving in the comedy.

LV Foundation launches new website

The Lehigh Valley Community Foundation has launched SHARE lehigh valley, a website that is a collaborative resource for non-profits, donors and the community at large.

SHARE Lehigh Valley contains a database of non-profits in the area, a shared resource to offer and receive help, and a knowledgebase of national data.

The site, sharelehighvalley.org, previously known as the Lehigh Valley Community Platform, was administered by the Lehigh Valley Research Consortium and the Children's Coalition of the Lehigh Valley. The Lehigh Valley Community Foundation took over the administration of the website in July.

SHARE lehigh valley is a community platform created by the National Center for Charitable Statistics. Community members can search for resources in their neighborhood using the map search, or find Valley-wide resources with a keyword search.

The database includes non-profit organizations in the Lehigh Valley that file a Form 990 with the IRS.

Non-profits can create and edit profiles on the site. The site is free to use. Training on SHARE lehigh valley is available by contacting the Community Foundation.

The Lehigh Valley Community Foundation enables donors, including individuals, families, businesses, private foundations and nonprofits, to establish philanthropic funds that will fulfill their charitable intentions, temporarily or in perpetuity, by providing grants to nonprofit organizations and programs. The Lehigh Valley Community Foundation manages 167 charitable funds representing a total of approximately $35 million in assets.

Are family sit-down dinners obsolete?

When I watch "House Hunters" on HGTV, I listen as buyers list what they want in a home. A big dining room is usually high on the list.

Often, a couple will say the dining room isn't big enough to seat all their friends or family members. They always make it sound as if they frequently will be feeding crowds.

It sounds romantic to say you're going to entertain a lot with dinners in your lovely dining room. But life gets in the way with all of its demands and time constraints.

What I often hear from women is that the formal dining room doesn't get used much. Many say they only use the dining room when family arrives for the holidays.

Others admit their dining room table is a gathering place for mail and papers. They claim their dining room table is used for everything—except food.

Are dining rooms becoming obsolete?

Here's a related question: Are family sit-down dinners obsolete?

"Anyone with several kids who play sports can't get the family to sit down and eat at the same time. We mostly eat on the run," said one busy mother of three.

While "eating on the run" might be fairly typical, it's not the case in every home. Many parents make family meals a priority, relishing the time to sit together for a meal while they share their day.

I grew up in a home like that. When I married and had a family of my own, family dinners with everyone chatting around the table was a treasured tradition. Despite their hectic schedules, it's still a family tradition for my adult children.

Growing up in my Italian family, we understood family dinners involved more than eating food. It meant lively conversation and sharing stories. No one rushed away from the table when we were finishing eating.

When anyone came to visit, they were brought to the table, plied with food and made part of the family.

I never thought of us as being "noisy" until I brought my friend Jackie to dinner. She lived only with her aunt and said dinner was always a quiet affair.

"I thought every home was like that until I came here," she said.

Some do, indeed, think dinnertime should be quiet, with only an occasional clink of a fork. I once had a male visitor who left the table because he wasn't used to hearing people talk during dinner. No one could talk at his family's dinner table, he said. But they could read a book.

We all have different ideas about what a family dinner should be. To a great extent, my gregarious Italian family shaped my idea of dinnertime.

In our family, we love to cook and we love to eat. Even more, we love being

WARMEST REGARDS

By Pattie Mihalik
newsgrl@comcast.net

at the table with friends and loved ones. The more the merrier. There is no great formality. Just good food and good times.

Here's a story about my grandmother's idea of entertaining. She never thought she "entertained." She just cooked the best Italian food ever and loved feeding others. To her, that wasn't "entertaining."

One day when I visited her she told me my grandfather was bringing the county judge, district attorney and several others to dinner.

I looked at the table she had set and was horrified. "None of your plates match and no two glasses are alike," I commented as I looked in her china cabinet trying to find matching dishes.

She gave me some choice words in Italian then said: "No one is coming to eat my plates. They are coming to eat the food." With that, she went back to stirring her homemade sauce.

I think she must have invented the "don't stand on ceremony" philosophy.

When the entire extended family gathered at her house for a family dinner, there were so many of us we needed the "table" stretched into three rooms. My grandmother simply set up folding chairs and put white tablecloths over wooden planks.

Yet, those family dinners are some of my most cherished moments.

There are plenty of studies that show the hidden benefits of families eating together. Along with the health benefits, there is the benefit of closeness and connecting with each other. In this age of computers, video games and busy schedules, that's more important than ever.

One mother got agitated when a few of us were talking about the importance of family dinners. "Are you kidding? I'm lucky I get food on the table," she said. "Some nights it's just cereal."

Like many other mothers, she is always starved for time. Maybe having a Sunday dinner together would work.

In the past, Sunday dinner was a revered time for many families. Not just the immediate family was involved. Family members "went home" to Mom's house for family dinner.

A mom is often the glue that holds a family together. And some sibling togetherness for adult children is strengthened over festive family dinners.

They say nothing tastes as good as a memory.

And perhaps memories of past family dinners are better than the actual dinners were. But that's the point.

Building good memories is part of family life.

A lot of things may change as we age but those fond memories never lose their sweet taste.

Vaccine best way to protect against flu

It's that time of year again. The flu vaccine is available. Getting vaccinated every year is the best way to protect against the flu.

There are two types of vaccines: the flu shot and the nasal spray.

The flu shot is given with a needle, usually in the arm. The flu shot is approved for use in those older than six months, including healthy people and those with chronic medical conditions.

There are three different flu shots available: a regular flu shot approved for those six months and older; a high-dose flu shot approved for those 65 and older; and an intradermal flu shot approved for those 18 to 65 years of age.

The intradermal flu vaccine is a shot that is injected into the skin instead of the muscle. The intradermal shot uses a much smaller needle than the regular flu shot, and it requires less antigen to be as effective as the regular flu shot. Antigen is the part of the vaccine that helps your body build up protection against flu viruses.

The nasal-spray flu vaccine is approved for use in those two through 49 years of age who are not pregnant.

Flu is a contagious illness of the respiratory system caused by the influenza virus. Flu can lead to pneumonia, bronchitis, sinusitis, ear problems and dehydration.

Droplets from coughing and sneezing spread the flu. An adult with flu can infect others beginning one day before symptoms develop and up to five days after becoming sick. Children may spread flu for more than seven days.

The recovery time for the flu is about one to two weeks. However, in seniors, weakness may persist for a longer time.

The common scenario for flu is a sudden onset of symptoms, which include chills, fatigue, fever, cough, headache, sore throat, nasal congestion, muscle aches and appetite loss.

While nausea, vomiting and diarrhea can be related to the flu, these are rarely the primary flu symptoms. The flu is not a stomach or intestinal disease. The term "stomach flu" is inaccurate.

When symptoms strike, get to a doctor as soon as possible. There are prescription antiviral drugs to treat flu. Over-the-counter medicines can help relieve symptoms of the flu. You should also drink liquids to prevent dehydration, and sleep to bolster your immune system.

The best way to combat the bug is to get the flu vaccine. You have to get inoculated annually because new vaccines are prepared every year to combat new versions of the virus. When you battle the flu, you develop antibodies to the invading virus, but those antibodies don't work on new strains. The vaccine does not prevent flu in all people; it works better in younger recipients than older ones.

Contrary to rumor, you can't catch the flu from the vaccine. The flu vaccine is not made from a live virus.

The vaccine can be administered anytime during flu season. However, getting the vaccine earlier is better. Adults over 50 are prime candidates for the vaccine because the flu can be fatal for older people.

You can get the flu vaccine from your doctor, at public health centers, senior centers, pharmacies and supermarkets.

Three kinds of influenza viruses commonly circulate among people today: Influenza A viruses, influenza A viruses, and influenza B viruses. Each year, these viruses are used to produce seasonal influenza vaccine.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors for Weisenberg Township, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania will hold a regular meeting on Monday, November 11, 2013 at 7:00 p.m. in the Township Municipal Building, 2175 Seipstown Rd., Fogelsville, PA 18051-2022 and will consider at that meeting "AN ORDINANCE OF WEISENBERG TOWNSHIP, HEIDELBERG TOWNSHIP, LOWHILL TOWNSHIP AND LYNN TOWNSHIP, LEHIGH COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, FOR THE APPROVAL OF AN INTERGOVERNMENTAL COOPERATION AGREEMENT FOR THE JOINT PURCHASE, OWNERSHIP, USE AND DISPOSAL OF MUNICIPAL EQUIPMENT."

The proposed ordinance is an Intergovernmental Cooperation Agreement between Weisenberg, Lowhill, Heidelberg and Lynn Townships. It lists standards for how current and future joint purchased equipment will be operated and maintained, how fees are established and tracked, how the equipment will be scheduled between the Townships, the method for renting equipment outside municipalities and the method for purchasing additional equipment.

A complete copy of the text of the proposed ordinance is available for examination at the Weisenberg Township Municipal Building between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. A copy has also been supplied to this newspaper in accordance with applicable law. All interested parties are invited to attend this meeting.

The Weisenberg Township Municipal Building is accessible to the physically handicapped. Any person that requires special assistance to understand the nature of the business conducted at the above meeting because of visual, hearing, or other impairment is requested to contact the Township Administrator at least five (5) days prior to the scheduled meeting to arrange for the necessary assistance.

PUBLIC NOTICE ZONING HEARING BOARD OCTOBER 30, 2013

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE FOLLOWING APPELLANTS HAVE FILED AN APPEAL FOR A PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE ZONING HEARING BOARD OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BETHLEHEM, A HEARING TO BE HELD AT 6:30 PM ON WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30TH, 2013 AT THE TOWNSHIP MUNICIPAL BUILDING, 4225 EASTON AVENUE, BETHLEHEM, PA 18020. THE MEETING, AMONG OTHER ISSUES, CONCERNS THE FOLLOWING ZONING APPEALS:

Appeal #13-2013: D-signs Co., and tenant representative David Delos Santos request a variance from Section 275-163A(4)(b)(2) of the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance, as amended, for permission to install an additional commercial sign to a currently existing free-standing sign at 3926 Linden Street that is approximately 280 square feet in area. The additional sign would measure 2 feet in width by 14 feet in length (i.e. 28 square feet and would permit Frank's Pizza and Italian Restaurant Inc. to maintain sign identification along Nazareth Pike. The Zoning Code permits a total sign square footage of 80 square feet. A new total sign area of 280 square feet was granted at the June 26, 2013 Zoning Hearing Board meeting. The applicant wishes to install a 28 square foot sign, thereby increasing the new total sign area to 308 square feet. As a result, a variance in total sign area of 228 is required. The property is located within the "PC" Planned Commercial Zoning District/Commercial Enhancement Overlay District. The property maintains Northampton County Tax Parcel Identification number M7 9 1 0205.

Appeal #14-2013: Rene and Angela Huertas, 4380 Holly Court, Bethlehem, PA request a variance from Section 275-49E of the Bethlehem Township Zoning Ordinance, as amended, for permission to install an in-ground swimming pool at the rear of their property, which will encroach upon the front yard setback along Farmersville Road. The lot is considered a reverse frontage lot, which fronts on one public street (Farmersville Road), but provides vehicular access solely from another public street (Holly Court). Zoning Code requires a 25 foot front yard setback from Farmersville Road. The applicant proposes a 10 foot setback. Therefore, a 15 foot variance is being sought. The property is located within the "MDR" Medium High Residential Zoning District. The property maintains Northampton County Tax Parcel Identification number M7SE3 3 33 0205.

Appeal # 15-2013: Moravian Academy, 4313 Green Pond Road, Bethlehem, PA and its Business Manager, John Weber, reappear for the third time during calendar year 2013 to again seek authorization to place signage for identification of Moravian Academy's newly constructed "Athletic and Wellness Center." After engaging in formal public hearings on February 27, 2013, and on March 27, 2013, the Applicant was successful in inducing the Zoning Hearing Board to grant variances on both sign area and sign location, predicated upon the presentation of testimony with regard to the length of the sign, the composition of materials to be utilized, and the design of illumination. Thereafter, on August 23, 2013, during the Zoning Plan Review of the construction plan as submitted to the Township, the Township determined that the length of the sign had been increased, the composition of the materials had been altered, as had the methodology of illumination from that as originally during the zoning hearings. As a result, the plan as submitted was denied. The Applicant now reappears before the Zoning Hearing Board in an endeavor to submit testimony regarding the altered length of the proposed sign, the altered material proposed for use, and the altered design of illumination, in an endeavor to induce the Zoning Hearing Board to reaffirm the variances initially granted. The property is located within the Rural Residential Zoning District with an Institutional Overlay (MDR / I/O). The property maintains Northampton County Tax Parcel Identification number L7 14 1 0205.

All interested parties are invited to attend and be heard. Deborah Roseberry Zoning Officer Telephone: (610) 814-6464 Oct. 16, 23

PUBLIC NOTICE

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE - UNITED STATES MARSHALS SERVICE - NOTICE OF U.S. MARSHAL'S SALE - THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA vs. PATRICIA A. STANKEY & LAWRENCE J. STANKEY - Civil #13-01195 - Public notice is hereby given, that by virtue of an Order dated June 21, 2013, issued out of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania on a judgment rendered in Court on June 21, 2013, in the amount of $138,350.66 plus interest from February 25, 2013 in favor of The United States of America and against PATRICIA A. STANKEY and LAWRENCE J. STANKEY, the following described real estate, located at 4076 High Road Kempton, PA 19529, shall be offered for sale.

To obtain a complete legal description please contact Jillian Hill at 215-825-6305. PROPERTY LOCATION: 4076 High Road, Kempton, PA 19529, Parcel/Folio # 5427430433161. The above-mentioned properties offered up for sale on November 06, 2013 at 11:00 AM at the Main Entrance of the Lehigh County Courthouse located at 455 Hamilton Street, Allentown, PA 18105, at public auction, to the highest and best bidder by the U.S. Marshal for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. And I will, accordingly offer the real estate for sale to the highest and best bidder, for cashier's check or teller's check. The following terms of sale apply to all of the above listed properties. Terms of Sale: Ten percent (10%) of the highest sum bid must be deposited by the highest bidder in cashier's check or certified check with the Marshal immediately. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cashier's check or certified check within thirty (30) days after Marshal's Sale. Otherwise, the purchaser will forfeit their deposit and the Marshal may settle with a second bidder who has made the required deposit at the Marshal's Sale and thereby registered their willingness to take the property at the highest price bid, provided such second bidder deposits the balance of the purchase price within 10 days after notice from the Marshal of the first bidder's default. If no second bid be registered, the property may be sold again at the risk of the defaulting bidder, and in case of any deficiency in such resale, the defaulting bidder shall make good the same to the person injured thereby and the deposit shall be forfeited and distributed with the other funds created by the sale. Bidder must have proceeds immediately available and on his person in order to bid, bidder will not be permitted to leave the sale and return with proceeds. The successful bidder takes the real estate subject to, and shall pay all taxes, water rents, sewer charges, municipal claims, and other charges and liens not divested by the sale and must also pay all state and local realty transfer taxes or stamps, to the extent the fund created by the sale is insufficient to pay such transfer taxes. Distribution of Proceeds: A Schedule of Proposed Distribution of the proceeds of sale will be filed with the Marshal within ten (10) days of confirmation by Court Order of the sale. No Schedule of Distribution will be filed if the property is sold to the Plaintiff for costs only. The Marshal shall distribute the proceeds of sale in accordance with the proposed Schedule of Distribution unless written exceptions are filed with the Marshal not later than ten (10) days after the filing of the proposed schedule. For information concerning the amount that Plaintiff intends to bid, for information regarding the status if this sale, the exact location of the sale in the courthouse, or for other information you may contact: Cathy Diederich at (314) 457-5514, email: cathy.diederich@stl.usda.gov, or Jillian Hill at 215-825-6305 or jhill@kmlawgroup.com. For a complete list of all properties offered for sale by the Department of Agriculture go to: http://www.resales.usda.gov/ The sale may be postponed in accordance with Pa. R.C.P. 3129.1 et seq. for up to 100 days. Please contact Cathy Diederich or Jillian Hill, Paralegal, with KML Law Group, P.C., at the above phone numbers prior to the scheduled sale date to confirm that the sale will proceed. Dated September 27, 2013.
