

Clymer, James

Pvt. Clymer Dies;
Quakertonian Was Prisoner of Japs

James Clymer, of 47 Main Street, Quakertown, was notified Friday morning that his son, Pvt. Milton Clymer, who has been a prisoner of the Japanese for the past six months, died in an Asiatic area. Date of his death was not reported.

The telegram was received from the Japanese government through the International Red Cross. The U. S. Secretary of War extended his sympathy and said a letter will follow.
