this is who we are
Liberty High School

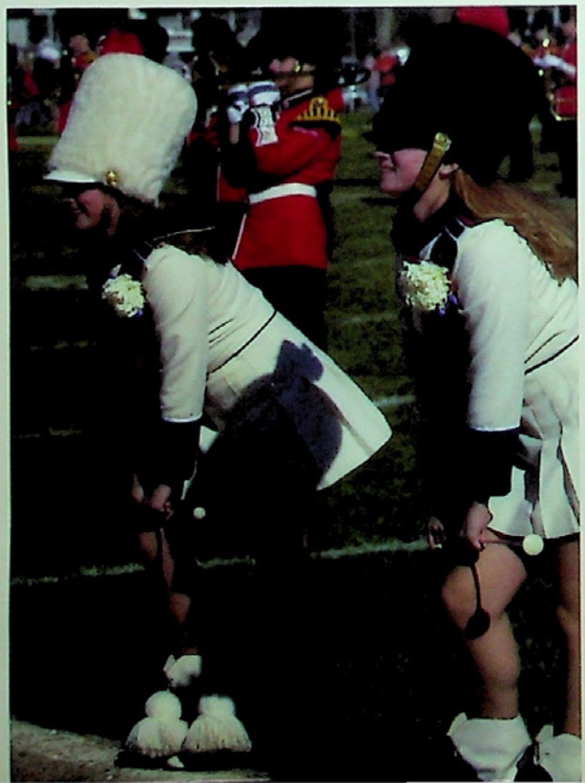
As we start the school year, the familiar face of Liberty High School welcomes all of its students back, new and old. Liberty High School's mission for its students is to establish a neighborhood for the appreciation of learning that fosters purpose. This neighborhood, built through innovative partnerships, will develop character in the spirit of compassion, honesty, and pride. More than that, Liberty is where we, as students, become individuals, with a touch of personal creativity, confidence, and ambitions.

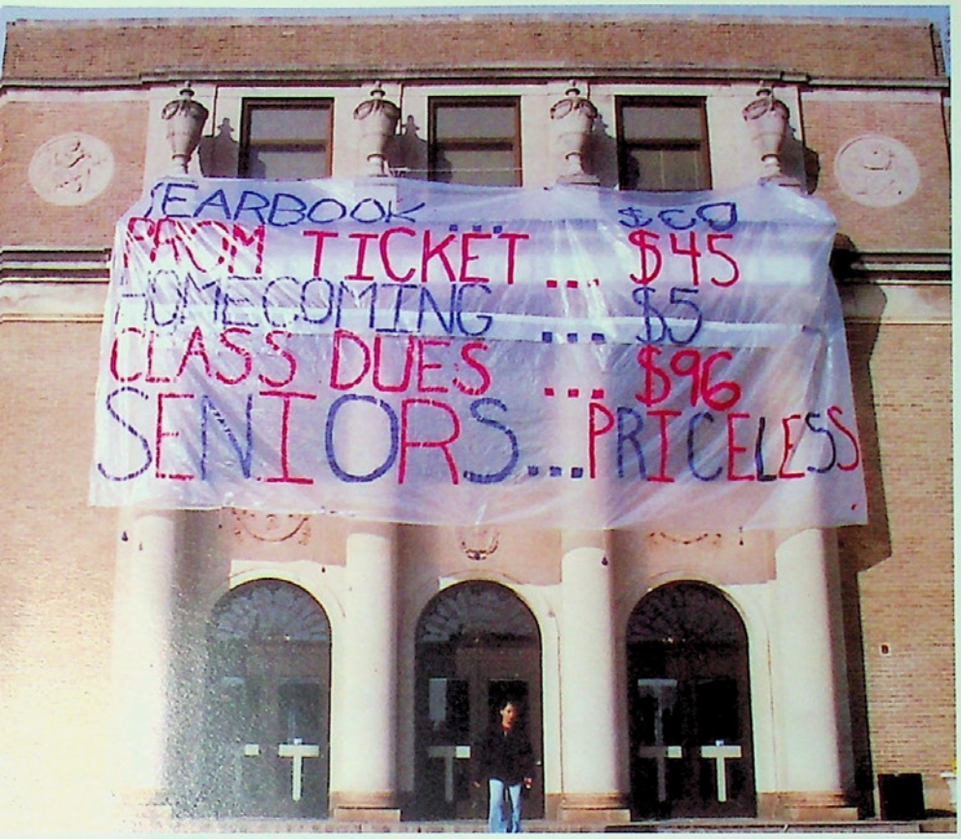
Principal Mr. Burkhardt proudly looks on as a fan at one of the football games. He is always willing to support the Liberty students in the many other aspects of their lives.

Seniors Ryan Theman, Natalie van den Heuvel, and Sean Crawford support each other on the field and throughout their year at Liberty.

Hot Boys!! These upperclassMEN have mastered the art of charming Liberty's female population.

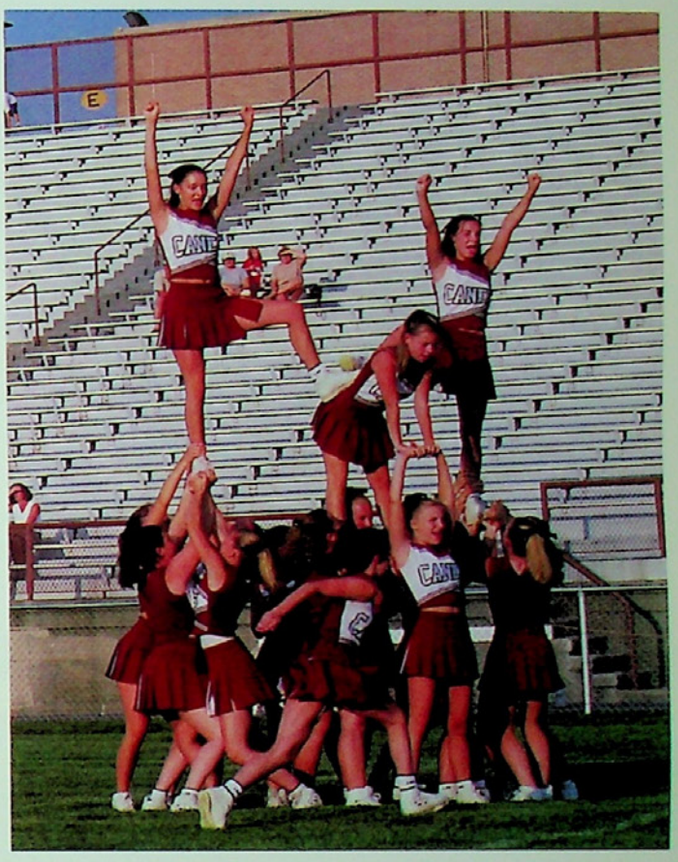
Beth Yencho and Lesia Tkachenko lead the majorettes in another fabulous performance during the halftime show of the Liberty-Freedom football game.





The bell rings everyday day at 7:44 a.m. and 2:20 p.m. In the time we've spent at Liberty, friendships began, knowledge was gained, and memories created.

It's not unusual to find the varsity cheerleaders supporting their fellow athletes. Here they are at the Annual Sports Kickoff, ready to cheer the Canes to another year of victories.



Judd Walter knows just how great the Liberty football team is. Here he shouts into the megaphone, making sure everyone else knows it too.

Toot your own horn! Keegan Lerch, a junior at LHS, is honored with being a Herald Trumpeter and performing in the pregame show.

a step above the rest

Excellence

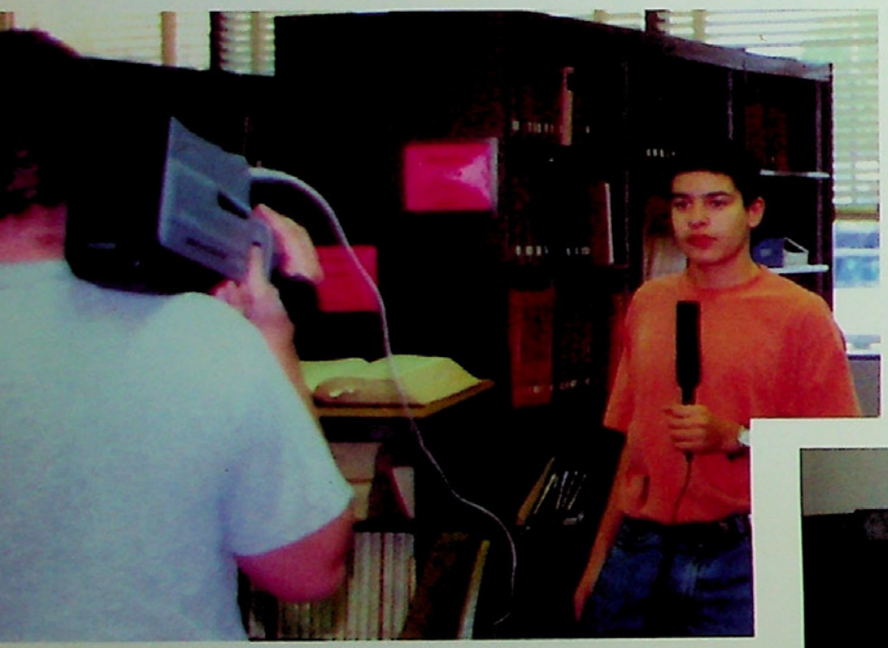
Becky Cordeiro confidently pulls the lever as she exercises her right to vote in the LHS Mock Election, held in November. Students had the chance to vote for the President, their U.S. Senator, and U.S. Representative.

Georgia Reybitz, secretary for SSC-800, types away at her computer. The school could not run successfully if it weren't for the dedication and precision of its support staff.

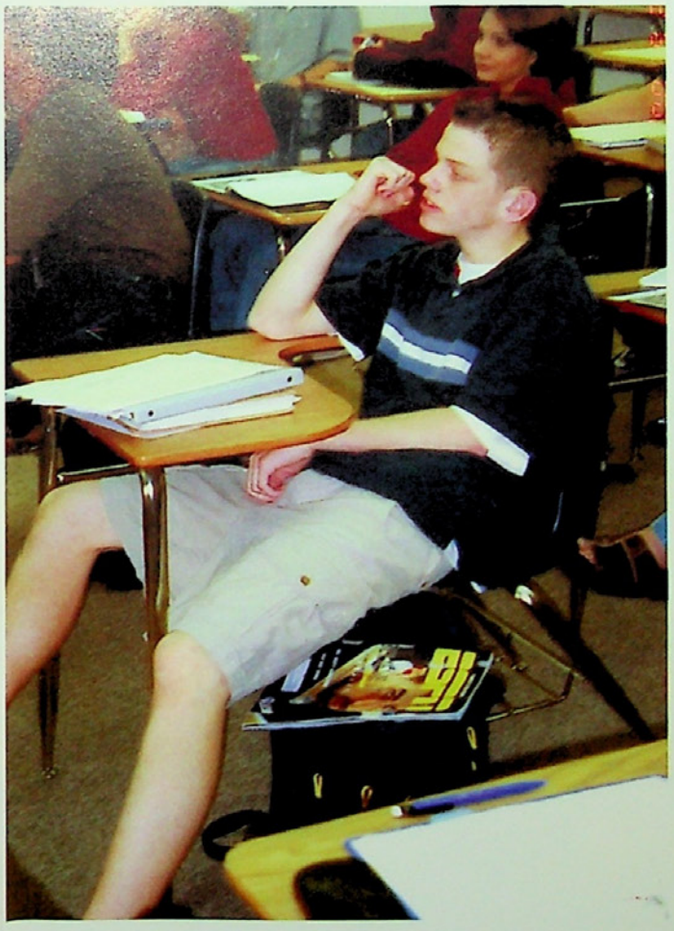


Excellence in broadcasting! Liberty's roving reporter, Nick Santiago, covers a breaking story for his multimedia class. Thanks to new technology, students in the class have been able to film and edit their own video productions.

Not only is Mr. Schwartz a science guy, he is also a renown artist. Here he helps add some pizazz to the juniors' Spirit Week decorations by creating one of his masterpieces.

"HarmonEyes" member Nate Groblewski captivates students and faculty while performing at a pep rally.

From the academic awards displayed in the main lobby to the athletic trophies outside of the Memorial Gym, signs of the school's excellence are everywhere. Whether it is in the classroom, on the field, or at any other school function, students constantly strive to achieve new heights and accomplish new feats. With new academic standards in place, the bar has again been raised for students who have accepted the challenge head on.



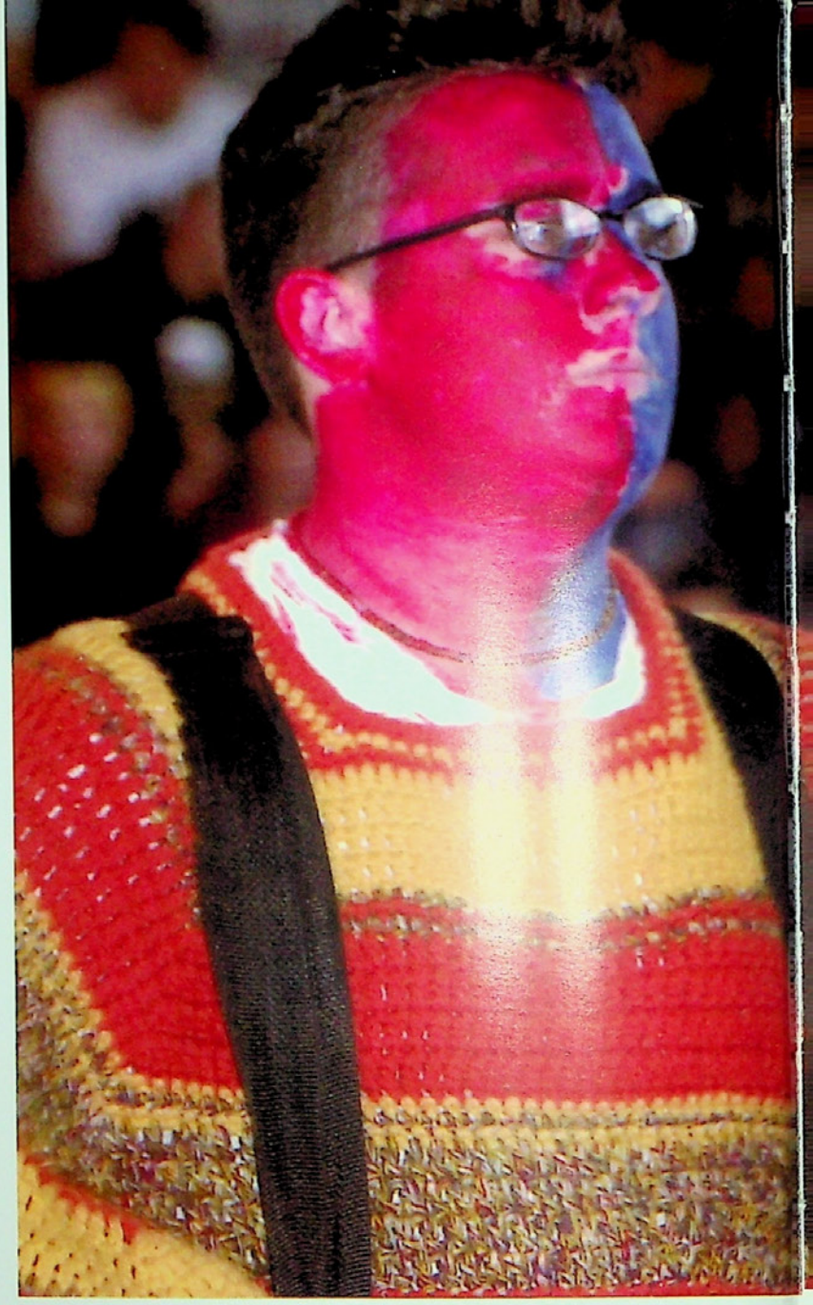
Would Andrew Parry rather listen intently to a history lecture or read the ESPN magazine under his desk? You make the call.

Oscar Arias and Dave Ongiri proudly display their awards after placing in DECA competition. The District VII event was held on December 6, at Bloomsburg High School.

Members of the Anti-Smoking Committee show off their certificates of achievement. The group created an advertisement discouraging youths from picking up the habit.

Students, immersed in a sea of red and blue, cheer on the Hurricane football team at the Liberty-Freedom game.

The amount of spirit displayed by Liberty students and faculty is indescribable. Whether it is at a pep rally, a sporting event, or any other school related function, there is always a large group of people present to support the old "red and blue." While this spirit cannot be defined in any words, year after year it has managed to connect over 2500 students of all different backgrounds together. Even after 79 years, the Liberty spirit continues to grow stronger, and it will always remain in the hearts of all those who have graced these halls.



All decked out for Spirit Week, sophomore Tim Lynam bleeds red and blue as he motivates his class and the school.

Is this Liberty or Hawaii? Sophomores Heather Desh and Allison Ruyak add some Hawaiian flavor to the school as they sport grass skirts and laiis.

never count us out

Spirit

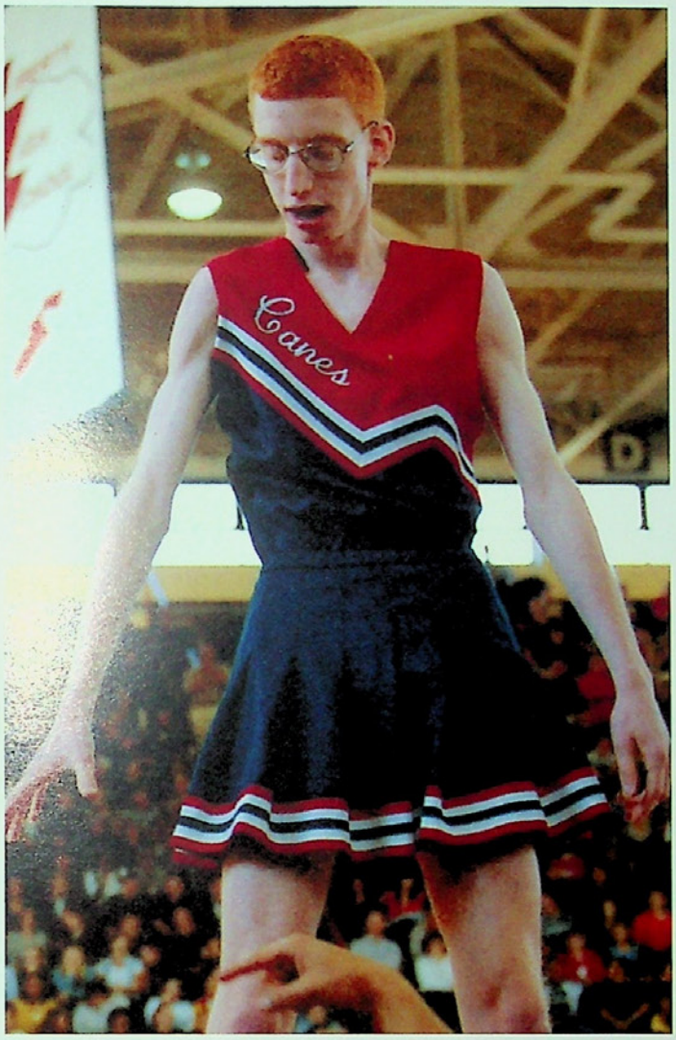
Watch your balance! Senior Class President John Misinco shows a little leg at the Homecoming pep rally as he is hoisted up in the air by the senior cheerleaders. Although a little shaky, he managed not to fall.



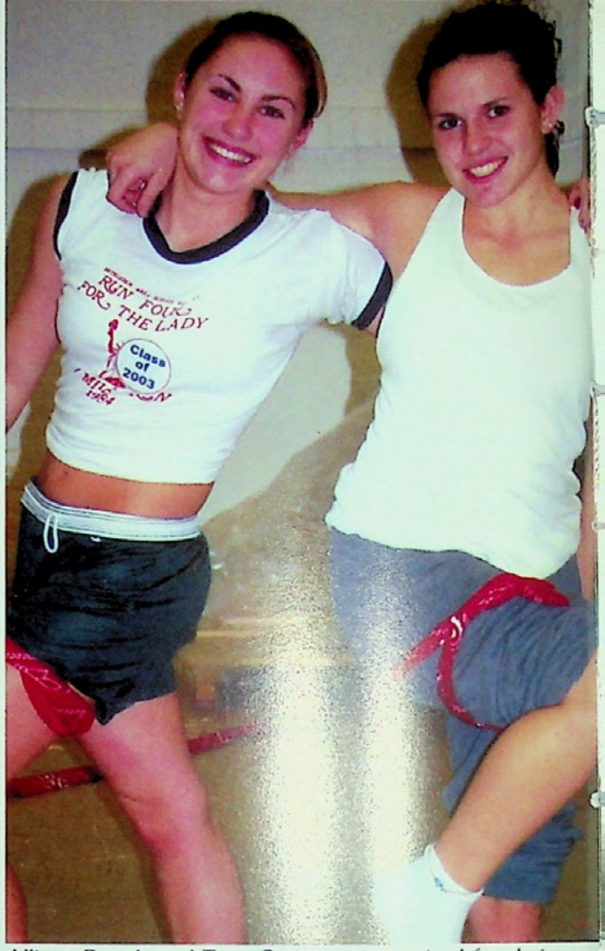
Do you want a piece of me? Letticia Silva, Suzette Rosado, and Christina Rosario demonstrate just how pumped up the student body gets at a pep rally.

This is a lot harder than it looks! Carmen Molina and Vanessa Vazquez struggle to pass the hula hoop to each other as they attempt to win the "Battle of the Classes." Of course, they had no chance of getting past the seniors.

Katie Foltz and Christina Racek try to send a Hurricane warning to Freedom. Unfortunately, their upside down poster was a bad omen for Liberty.

In kindergarten, friends were the people who shared their crayons when yours broke. In middle school, they asked your secret crush to dance with you because you were too shy. As our high school journeys are quickly coming to a close, we have learned many meanings of the word friendship. But how do you define a friend? Support. Love. Trust. Encouragement. Friends at Liberty mean this and so much more.

Who says majorettes and cheerleaders can't be friends? The LHS Powderpuff football team proudly accepts their hard earned trophy for defeating Freedom, AGAIN!



Allison Ruyak and Tara Ortiz are so excited for their sophomore dance in Battle of the Classes that they forgot where to put their bandanas. Tie them in your hair girls!

Seniors Jessica Veltri and Ryan Theman can't believe their last spirit week together at Liberty is over. The decorations look great guys!

Students never forget their first pep rally at Liberty. Caity Kanengiser, Heather Marzella, and Ali Chando can't wait for the bagpipes to march in!

Rett Higgins and Ali Repsher take time out to discuss some important issues. Way to turn on the charm, Rett!

Catching up on the latest news is way more important than studying! Glenn Sapoch, Eric Luknicki, Tricia Matthews, Sarah Snell, and Rich Norris put their pencils and notebooks aside during study hall.

united we stand
friendship

Shouldn't these girls be practicing? The field hockey team is a close knit group of friends, spending time with each other daily through the tough fall season.

Don't mess with these rough and tough Liberty boys! The breakdancers and Step Team members are pumped up after another awesome pep rally performance.

Aimee Rauenzahn and Melissa Millward have been inseparable ever since they arrived at Liberty High School four years ago.

letting us stand strong
Determination

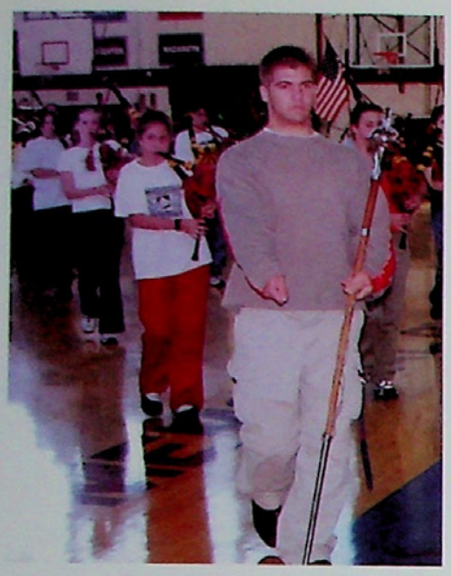
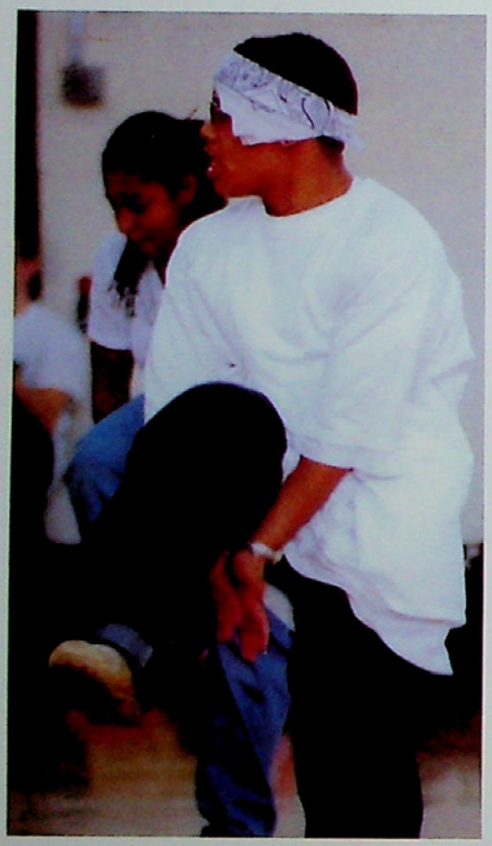
Many times a goal seems impossible to reach, but here at Liberty it is easy to accomplish anything we set our minds to. Students and faculty alike support each other and encourage everyone to do his or her best. Whether it's scoring the wining touchdown, getting the lead role in the play, or acing a final exam, students always set high expectations for themselves. These goals and expectations which we set for ourselves require determination to fulfill.



Leading in the troops. It is tradition for the Drum Major, Matt Bean, to lead in the bag pipes and perform Rule Britannia at the beginning of a Liberty pep rally.



Armando Soto, a member of Liberty's Step Team, pleases the crowd with his fancy footwork. Armando, along with his team members, puts in long hours of practice in order to perfect every move.

Aleen Bobal, Zach Holt, and Jessie Papesh are determined to stay warm during a chilly Saturday morning football game. Despite the low temperature, the spirit was at an all time high.

Last year, this group of guys spelled out a message for the Class of 2002. They made sure to prove their point this year by sending them the same message.

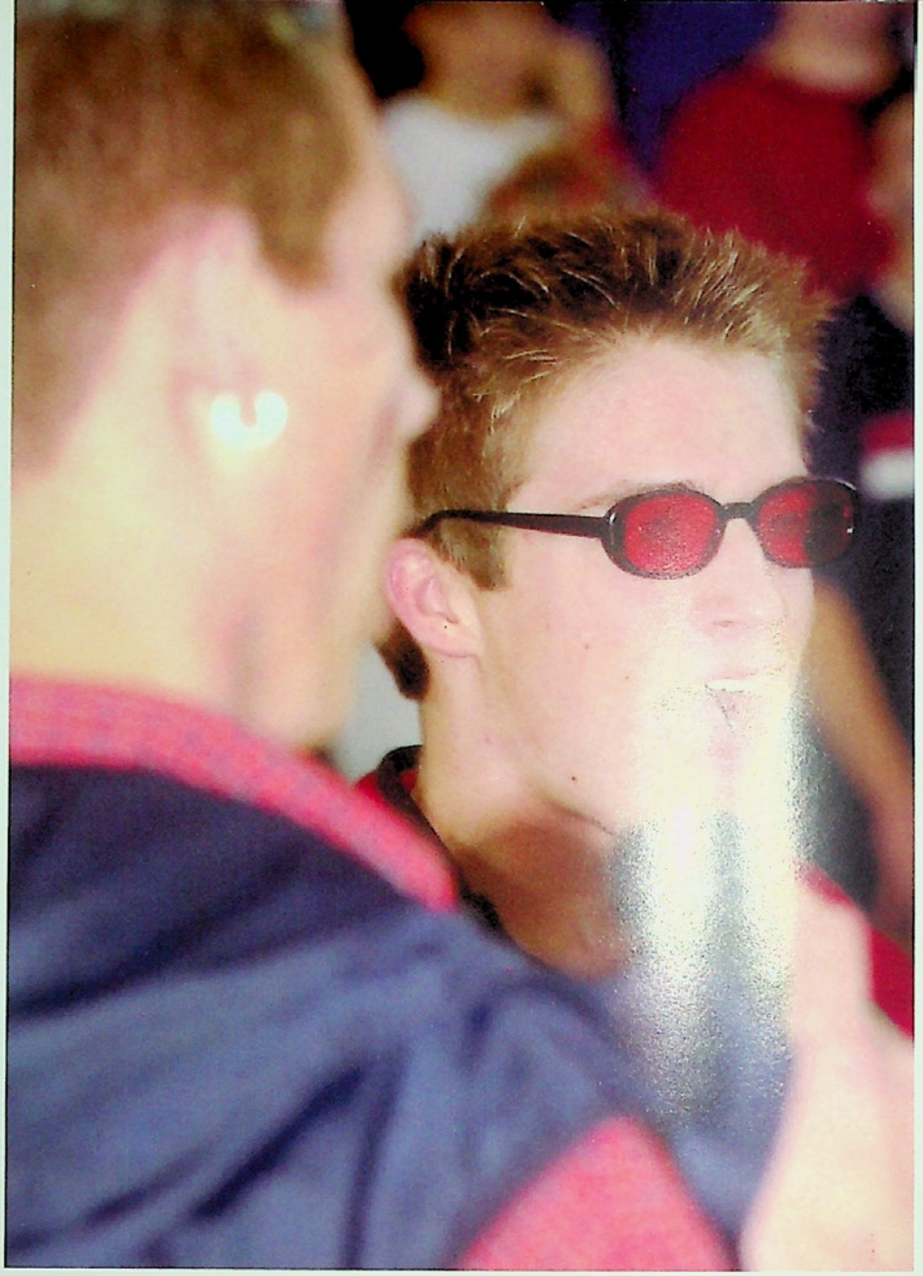
Chris VanArtsdalen, a senior synonymous with creativity and trouble, made a sight to see in the senior cafeteria using the chairs.

Stacy Mest, the goalie for the Liberty field hockey team, approached every game with a positive outlook. She was determined to keep the opponents' ball out of the goal.

Tom Novak creams Mrs. Roman with a pie. She was able to taste more than just the pie however; sweet revenge was in the air, as she retaliated with a pie of her own.

Game face! William Bonilla, an asset to the Hurricane football team, is deep in concentration, determined to win the game.

In a school as large and diverse as Liberty, personalities from every end of the spectrum can be seen. Students are always looking for a way to let loose and have fun during the school day. After a hard day of classes, students savor every minute of free time they have. Whether it's in class, between classes, or at school events, students always find a way to let their true personalities shine through.



Jon Brones and Jason Sipos must have worked hard perfecting their performance at the pep rally. They "harmonized" beautifully.

These two good friends, Nancy Mata and Carla Hooe, really know how to have a good time. Girls just wanna have fun!

making us stand out
Personality

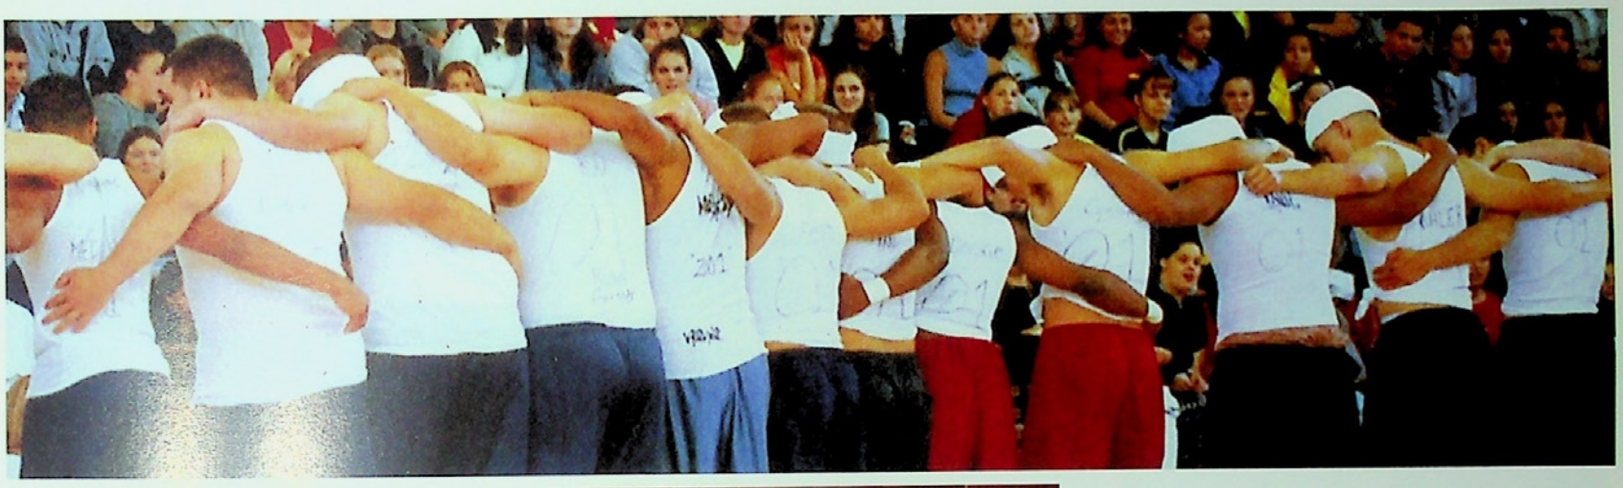
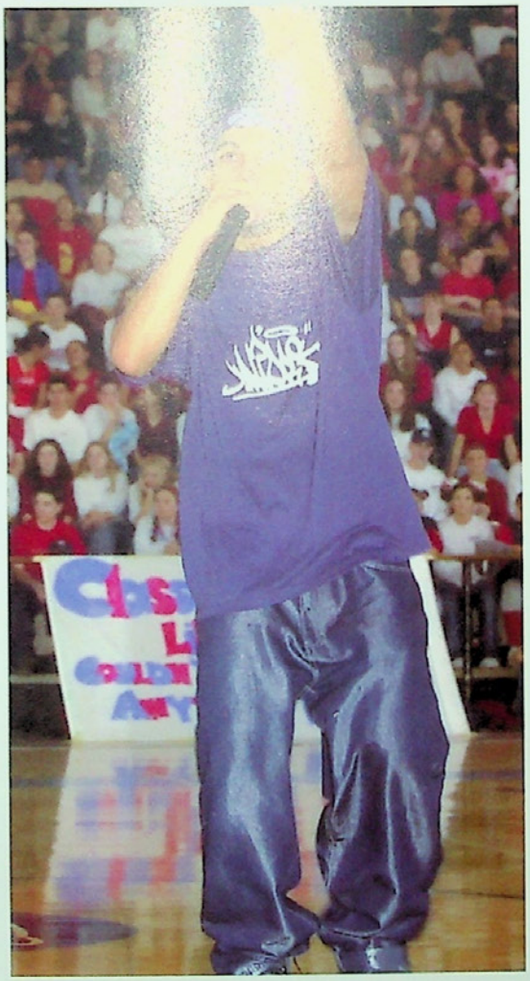
These male athletes aren't afraid to show their feminine side. They show off their dance skills as they come together to do the can-can.





Talk about stage presence! Eddie Santos captures his audience with his outgoing personality and rap skills.

Greg "Salamar" Thomas leaves his line available for all of his lady admirers out there. What does his girlfriend think of that?

Jamie Haney's mind wanders away from the teacher's lecture as she anxiously awaits for the bell to ring.

Rebecca Haller and Robyn Young aren't too tired for a quick hug, even though it has been a long week of decorating and events.

find us in the crowd

Expression

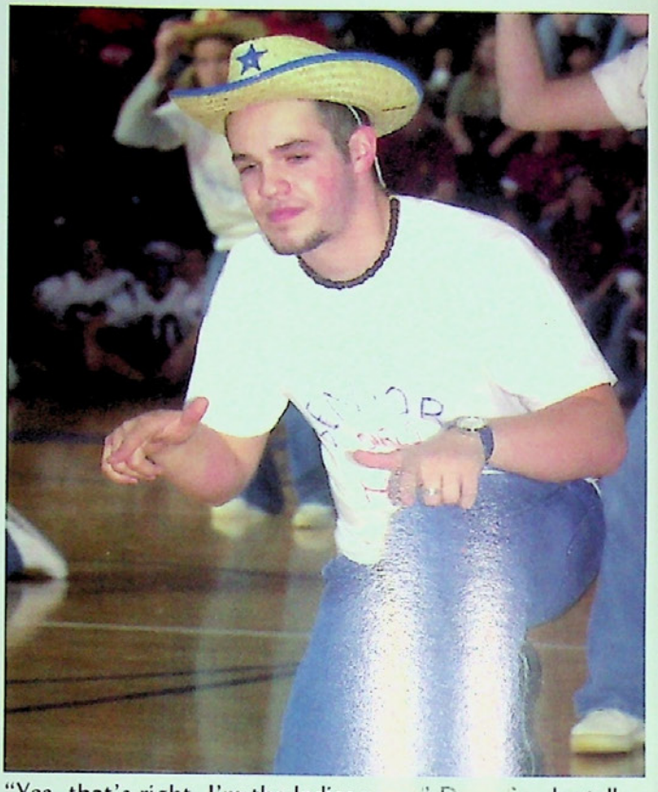
Check out these hotties! Seniors Marc Israel, Andrew Collins, Anthony Giering, and Justin Bortz make great additions to the varsity cheerleading squad.



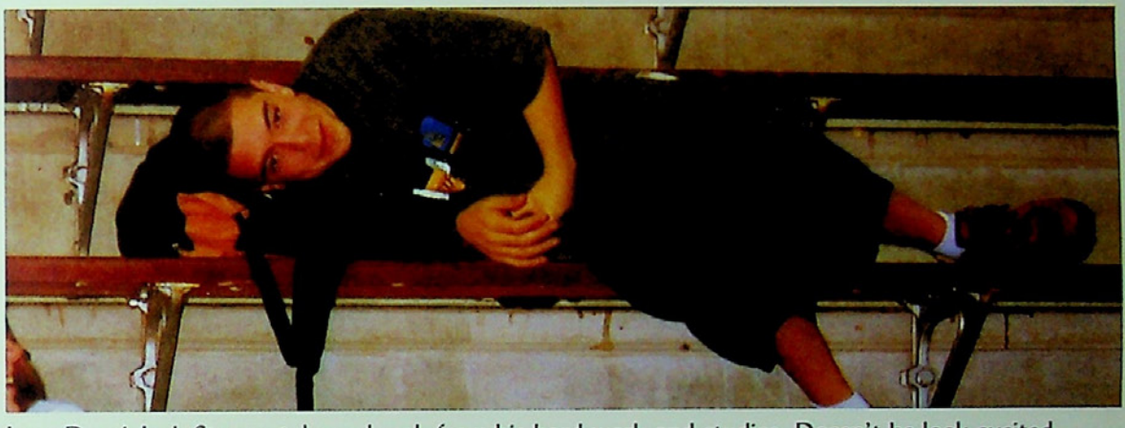
"Yes, that's right, I'm the ladies [illegible]." De[illegible] Snyder tells the crowd how it is during the ser[illegible]dance [illegible]t the spirit week pep rally.

Jermaine Defrancisco impresses his fellow classmates with his acrobatic skills. The breakdancers are the newest club that Liberty has to offer.

Students at Liberty are always caught in the act of expressing themselves. By sporting different hairstyles, outfits, or even emotions, they are easily able to show off their individuality. The different activities that students participate in also help to mold the unique characters that can be found walking through the school hallways on a daily basis. So stand tall and be proud to stick out of Liberty High School's diverse crowd!

Sophomores Edwin Nieves and Nate Groblewski find the perfect match in Miss Michael. The trio dresses fashionably in [illegible] for Ga[illegible] Day.

Strike a pose! [illegible] Class [illegible]04 lets loose while a[illegible]iting [illegible]eir first Spirit Week a[illegible]erty Hig[illegible] School.



Lazy Daze! Josh Sterner takes a break from his hard work and studies. Doesn't he look excited to be at school?

Watch out Charlie's Angels! Jessica Brunnabend and Danielle Clifford guard the junior hallway from the sneaky senior spies.

let it all hang out

Letting Loose

Dancing

Ye-Haw! Briena Roche sports her cowgirl apparel while dancing with her senior friends. It's all in an effort to let loose!

Walking It OFF

Martha Florenz and Laura Westerman have fun letting loose while participating in the AIDS Walk, raising money and awareness for a very good cause.

Hanging out with friends

Lauren Wiesner, Stephani Wrabel, and Catherine Schneider—friends since elementary school—let loose at the Senior Breakfast. They are enjoying their last year of school together.

During class, it may seem as though students are very serious and dedicated to schoolwork. However, during the pep rallies, students like Steve Antonis are allowed to let loose and show their crazy side.

showing off your... CRAZY SIDE

Class of 2001,

The tassels have been turned, and we have said our last goodbye to the halls of Liberty High School. Where do we go from here? Throughout our years, we have become accustomed to the chaos and confusion of the traditional school day, and it is now time to adjust to the uncertainty of the future. Many of us will pave our way through college, some will enter the service, and others have taken the step directly into the work force. Even if we have all taken different paths, we will always remain Liberty's Class of 2001. We hope that this book will serve as a reminder of the good times we have shared at Liberty and holds a bond between everyone who crossed the stage on June 12, 2001. We certainly couldn't have made it on our own, and we would like to thank all of those who have helped us along the way, especially Mrs. Gilliard for her devotion to making this a great book.

Best of luck to everyone in the future, and no matter where we go or what we do, we are the proud Class of 2001, standing out above the rest.

Faculty

By the time you read this, your senior year will be but a memory. Pep rallies, concerts, sports, theater, and the prom all have come and gone.

The real question is, has the Class of 2001 left its mark on Liberty High School? I am proud to say "yes" in many and varied ways.

Your leadership in raising academic standards, your leadership in Liberty Theatre and all of the arts, your dedication to our sports program, and the success of so many different teams all indicate to me the lasting impression you have left on the school.

Your entrance to Liberty as ninth graders was at a time when our campus was a bit in disarray with the Lab Center being closed for renovations. Your student service center was in a trailer. How far you have progressed.

As the great Class of 2001, you have used our new facilities and enjoyed all that Liberty has to offer. I am hopeful your next life experience will be as positive as being a part of the Class of 2001.

As principal, it has been a pleasure getting to know so many of you. Hopefully, our paths will cross again!

Sincerely,
William J. Burkhardt

Mr. William Burkhardt
Principal

To the Class of 2001,

I want to thank you for allowing me to be your vice principal and for having the privilege of getting to know you.

As I look back on the year, I can see that it has been a period of extraordinary maturation for so many of you. We have shed some tears and have had many a laughs. I know that the friendships you have forged, the lessons you have learned, and the hurdles you have cleared will mark a pattern of positive change in your lives for many years to come.

Your formal education here at Liberty has come to its designated end, but I hope that this is just the beginning of a lifetime of learning. Our mission has been to provide you the skills you need to learn what you must in order to achieve your life's ambitions. Your world will offer many opportunities, so choose wisely and choose well. Remember to take the time to find occasions to make a contribution to your community and your world.

While I expect to have many more graduating classes of seniors here at Liberty, there will always be a special place in my heart for the Class of 2001.

Whatever you do, do it well!

Sincerely,
Daniel Zulli

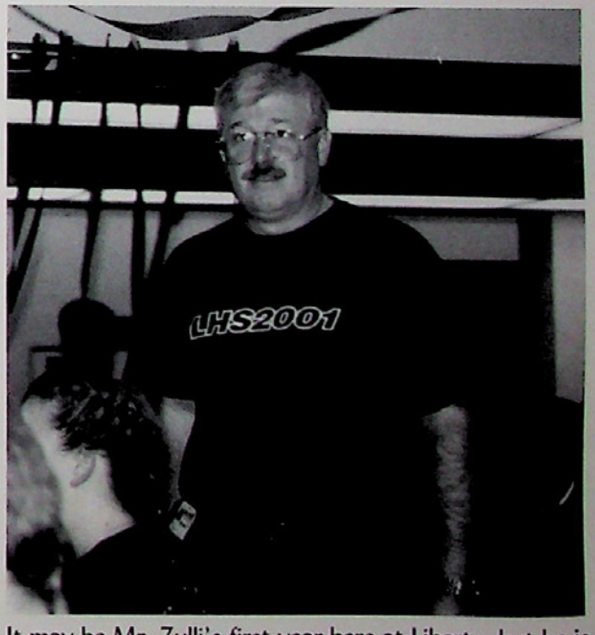
All work and no play isn't very fun. To help relieve the many stresses a teacher faces, Mr. Manna takes a relaxing trip with Liberty's ski club. However, skiing can't be that relaxing after a wipeout into the fence and snow all over your face!



It may be Mr. Zulli's first year here at Liberty, but he is already showing spirit at his first Senior Breakfast.

Mike Recine and Caity Kanengiser drop to the floor as quick as they can to spell out 2-0-0-4. Not only are they fast, but they have a blast being proud members of the largest class at Liberty.

Obviously having a great time, Miguel Pena bursts through the streamers. Enthusiasm abounds among all members of the class of 2004 and is no better demonstrated than during Spirit Week.

Memorable Moments

The last touchdown was scored by Mike Liberto in double overtime against Pocono Mountain, making the final score 47-41.

Deep Thoughts

"The strength of the wolf is in the pack, and the strength of the pack is in the wolf." ~Coach Tim Moncman

Captain's Corner

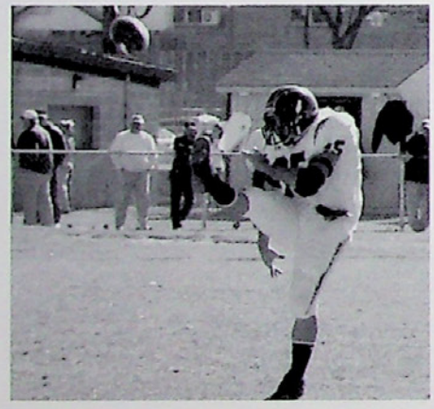
Adam Mihalko, Will Bonilla, Andre Pogue, Todd MacMurtrie, Mike Schweder

After a fantastic reception, Tony Marrero sprints past the Patriots' defense and holds tightly to the football. Skillful maneuvering on the offense helped the Hurricanes move down the field into the red zone.

In your face! Linebacker Mike Schweder leaps into the air to block a pass. Defense was important this year for the Hurricanes, and the linebackers let nothing get by them.

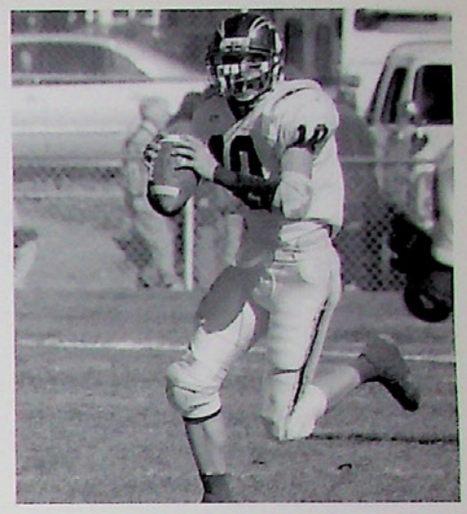


Todd MacMurtrie uses his expert skill to punt the football far down the field into Freedom's territory. A rigorous training schedule of long, tiring practices got the team into great shape to play some fantastic games this season.

Using all his strength, Mike Liberto tackles a Whitehall opponent and wrestles the ball loose. Hours of weight training paid off as the boys put up a great fight on the field.

Defensive linemen Miguel Rivera and Jeff Smith scare the other team's players as they prepare for a quick tackle once the ball goes into play. The Hurricane defense was tough on their opponents this year.

Adam Mihalko, one of the starting quarterbacks, looks for his receiver to throw a long pass. With a versatile team and strong lineup, Liberty was able to use all their talented players in different situations.



Junior runningback Jeremy McCullough uses his speed and agility to get past his opponents and score a touchdown for the Hurricanes. The fast runners on the team helped to get by opposing defenses and make some big plays.

Senior Andre Pogue is very intimidating as a cornerback. Teamwork, determination, and concentration were the key elements to the Hurricanes' strength and success this season.

Josh Quintana finds a hole and carries the ball past his opponents. With powerful starters and a deep team, Liberty football stormed through the Mountain Valley Conference this year.

Junior Scott Ettwein prepares to hike the football on the quarterback's count. Anticipating six more points, the offensive line gets ready for another powerful play. The underclassmen played a dynamic role on the team this year, and will be the base of a strong team next year.

Captain's Corner

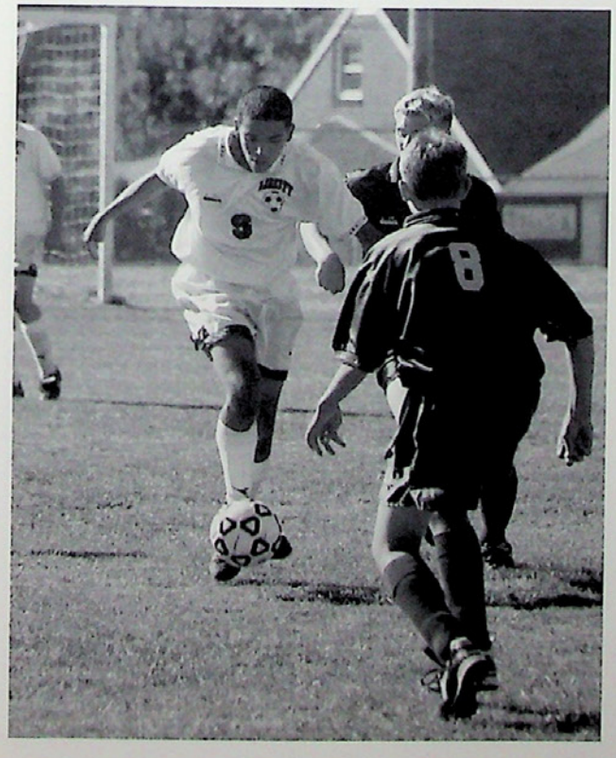
Sean Crawford & Travis Magditch

Freshman Andrew Emmons puts forth an all out effort to stop the opponents' attack. Emmons' hard work and hustle paid off as he was one of the few freshmen to earn varsity playing time this season.

Team captain, Travis Magditch, squares up for the shot. Magditch was one of the many bright stars for this year's young team.



Can you say "No chance"? That's what #8 along with the rest of the M.V.C. has in stopping Junior forward Emilio Romero.

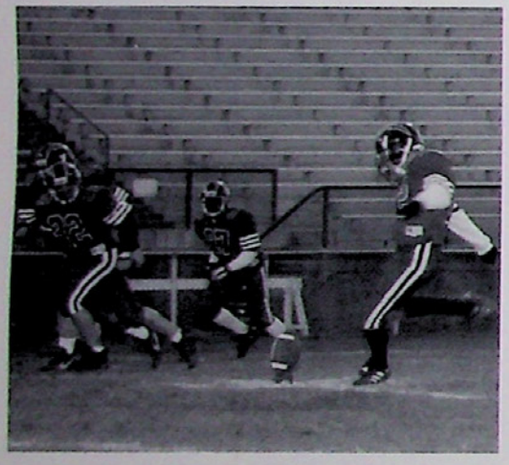
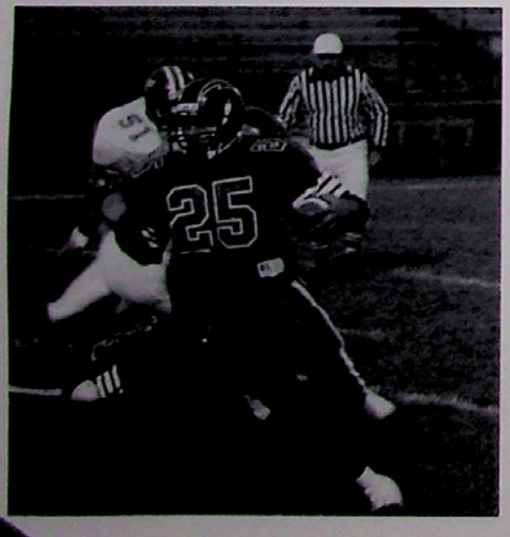
The hard work the boys are doing in the off season will show when they come together next year for what they hope will be a great season. Expert coaching and hours of training will make these players a very tough team in 2001.

Tired, but listening intently, the JV squad huddles during a time out to get some pointers from their coach before executing the next play. This year's new coaching staff helped strengthen the players' skills as well as teamwork.



Sophomore Matt Bauman kicks off as his teammates charge down the field. The JV team started every game with not only a great kickoff, but also a positive attitude.



As the ball is about to be hiked, the offensive line intimidates their opposition. The offense was always psyched for another play, and these guys never gave up.

Using the skills he perfected in long hours of practice, Chris Avila sprints away with the ball, being careful not to let his opponents get in the way. Speed and strength were important for the Hurricanes' improvement this season.

JV Mens Soccer

Where would the game of soccer be without a ball? This Liberty star gets familiar with the ball prior to the kickoff of what is most likely another Liberty victory.

Freshman Andrew Emmons advances the ball up the field for Liberty. Emmons was one of the few underclassmen good enough to earn varsity playing time.

Junior Dan Reynolds shows off his impressive ball handling skills. Reynolds used his great ball handling skills to control the midfield and lead Liberty to victory.

Season Highlights

The Liberty High School junior varsity soccer team finished the year with an overall record of 7-11 (7-10 in the Mountain Valley Conference). However, the season was far from lost as they salvaged the season with key victories against Whitehall, Allen, and East Stroudsburg. Of course, the season was made a success as Liberty handed archrival Freedom a 4-2 defeat. The team was led by M.V.P. Tyler Vas. Despite the sub-.500 record, the men's junior varsity team definitely leaves the Liberty soccer program with a very bright future.

Sophomore Ricky Santee was one of the team's top passers. His pin point passing helped to lead Liberty past many of its opponents.

JV Womens Volleyball

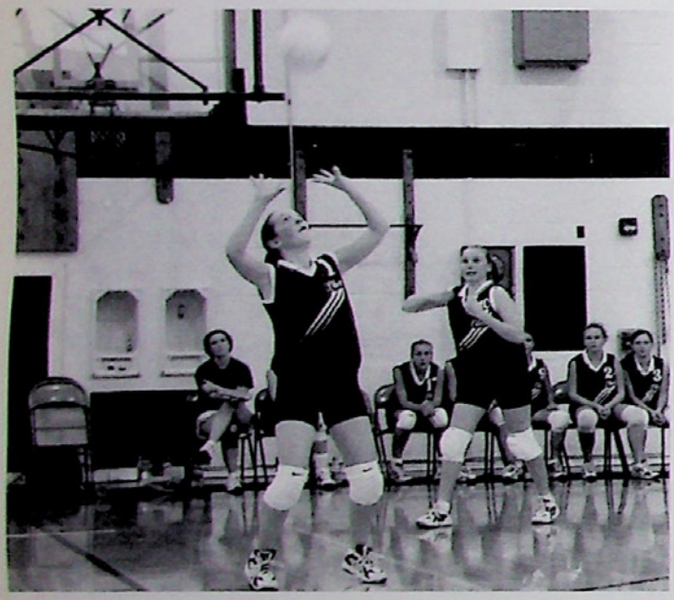
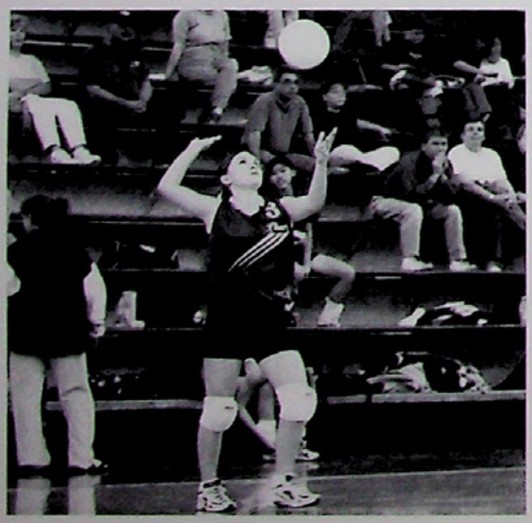
Lauren Koch stoops down, contemplating her next move. Quick actions were important when it came time to slam the ball onto the opponent's side of the net.

Sieglind Gatewood focuses on the ball as she awaits the serve. The girls worked hard all season to quicken their reaction time.

Jaclyn Sampson digs the ball just before it reaches the floor in the Memorial Gym, the site of Liberty's home games.



Heather Rodenbach sets up the ball so her teammates can score. Ashleigh Finnigan is ready to throw it down.



Nikki Koch winds up to smash a serve over the net. Strong serves always got the Hurricane team off to a great start at their games.

Teamwork

Nicole Vidonya, Lauren Koch, Lora Capuano, and Jaclyn Sampson run laps together to warm up before a game. The junior varsity team was a close knit group this year, and the girls all worked together to achieve their team and personal goals. They motivated each other, psyched each other up, and supported each other in all situations. Win or lose, these teammates stood strong and proud as Liberty Hurricanes. Their final record was 13-5, a fantastic accomplishment made possible by their hard work and team unity.

Katrina Lerch struggles for the ball and gets set to make a clean pass to another Liberty teammate.

At the start of the game, the team cheers on their goalie as she runs onto the field.

After a brief timeout, sophomores Katrina Lerch, Molly Amil, and junior Katie Jerrett discuss strategies and game plans as they get back on the field.

JV Field Hockey

True friendships were evident between teammates, as shown by the expressions of freshman goalie Caitlyn Thomas and offensive player Ashley Daubert.

Go Team!

The JV Field Hockey team huddles together to learn the ins and outs of the game. Many long and hard hours were devoted to practice during preseason training in August, and the team continued to strive for excellence throughout the season. The girls always seemed to be having fun, making friendships, and winning games! With all these rising hockey stars, the future of the varsity team is sure to be unstoppable.

Tony Livers, Dontae Hayes, and Cody Dickerson can look tough even when they aren't on the court.

Freshman standout Matt McClarin eyes-up the rest of the court for an open teammate.

Score

Jake Bastoni keeps the ball to the outside while he maneuvers around his challenger and drives towards the basket.

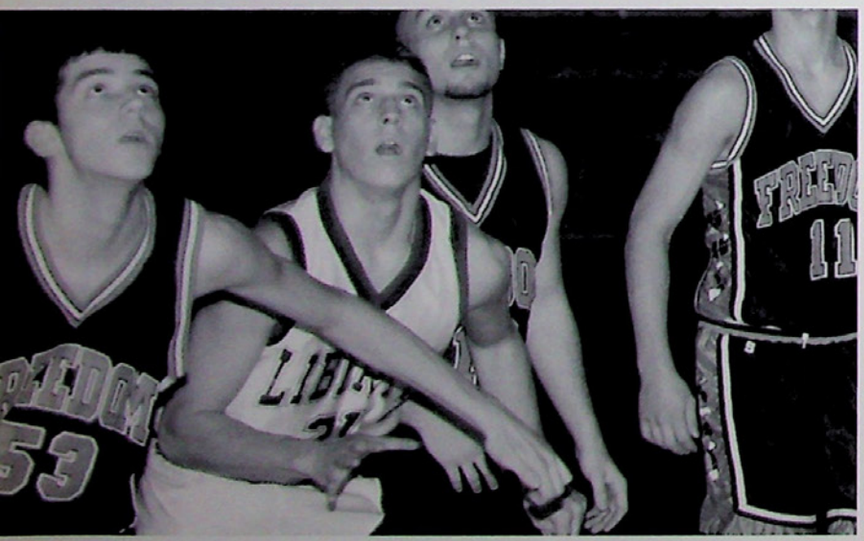
Saoul Ramos says "Broke 'em'" to his defender as he crosses the ball behind his back.



Matt Veleber steps up against three opponents to fight for a rebound after a foul shot.

The Future

Liberty was blessed to have a very talented wave of new freshmen. Many of the freshmen not only suited for JV games but also made the varsity line-up as well. Grant Harlow and Matt McClarin entered many of the varsity games, making them part of an elite group of freshmen in the history of the program. An injured wrist kept McClarin from seeing minutes for most of the season, but he made the most of his time on the court. Grant Harlow is pictured above going for a rebound at one of Liberty's home games.

Despite the two defensive players, freshman Jen Epsaro shoots and scores a basket for Liberty.

The girls basketball team is known for all their support. These four members watch the game intently as the final seconds wind down on the clock.

JV & Freshmen Womens Basketball

Looking Strong

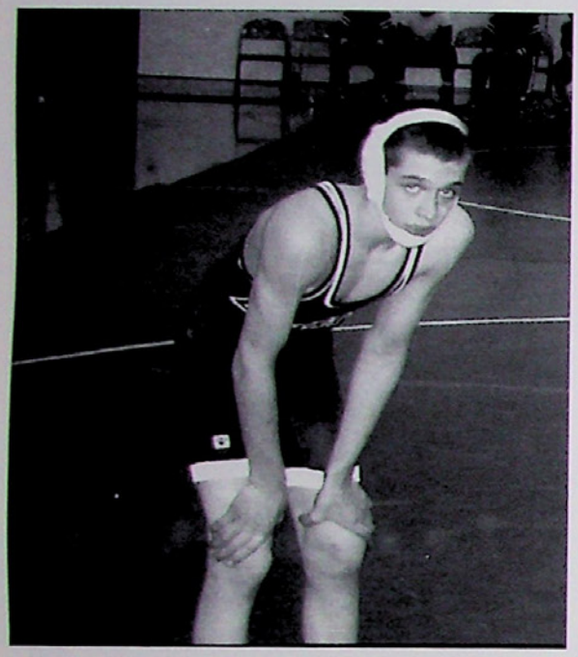
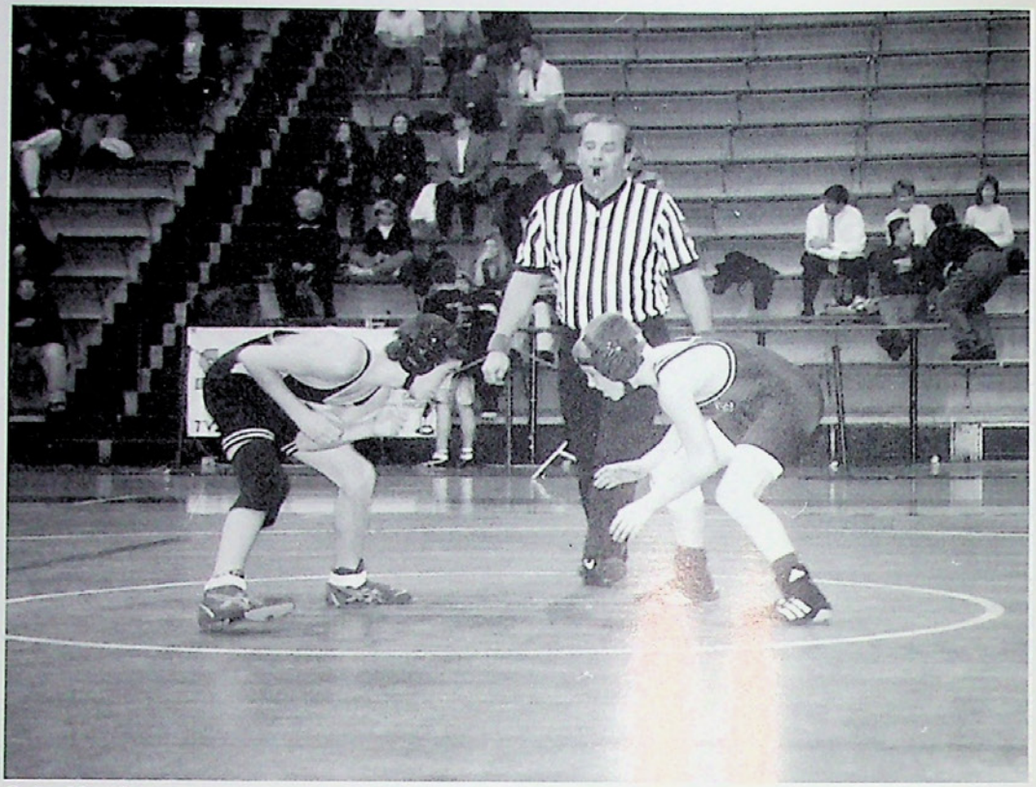
Nicole Koch looks to pass the ball to a teammate and score yet another basket for Liberty during their game against Pottsville. The Liberty JV and freshmen womens basketball teams played a great season. Both teams were led by great coaching staffs and hard-working players. Practices began in mid-November and the season lasted for another four months. Games were always close and each member of the team depended on one another for support. The freshmen team had an unprecedented victory over Lehighton with a final score of 47-11. The JV team, coached by Jen Smith, had a nailbiting win over Northampton with a score of 44-42.

JV player Elizabeth Yasso certainly looks determined to get the rebound after a foul shot is taken.

Dan Horwath takes a quick breath before heading back out onto the mat. Wrestling is so physically tiring that athletes must be in superb condition in order to compete on a high level.





Colin Hutchinson stares down his opponent as he calcula[illegible] his next move. Wrestling is a sport that requires very complex strategy and planning.

A Promise for the Future

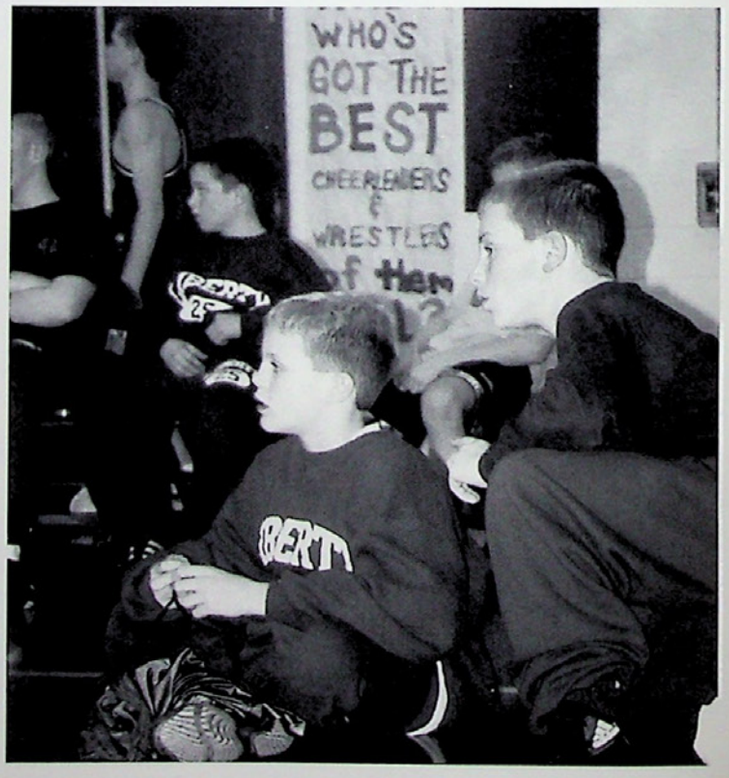
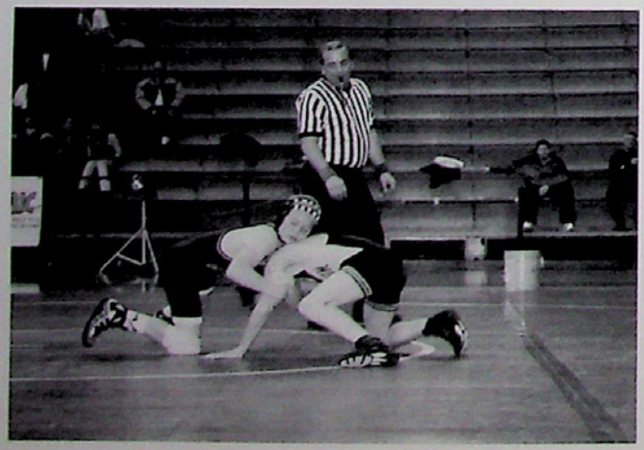
With several of the top wrestlers on the varsity team graduating this year, it is important for the young members to step up and assume large roles on the team. This year's JV wrestlers proved that they are capable of that, finishing with an overall record of 7-4-1 and amassing some very impressive personal records. As these young wrestlers progress and improve, they will become the ones who will carry on the dynasty that is Liberty wrestling.



From the sidelines, other wrestlers anxiously watch their teammates compete. As with all sports at Liberty, it was the team's unity that helped them through even the roughest times.

It is a combination of strength, agility, and intelligence that make the difference between a good wrestler and a great wrestler. Here, Dan Kelly uses these qualities to gain control of the bout.



Jared Ferrell hustles all the way to third and is able to sneak in under the tag. Ferrell is called safe by the umpire, and later scores. Ferrell was one of the team's top offensive and defensive players.

Sophomore Matt Rusnak prepares to slide in anticipation of the play at the plate. With this type of hustle and self-sacrifice, how can we be beaten?

John Kensecki takes his three step lead as he prepares to take off and steal second base.

Team Unity

The Liberty High School junior varsity baseball team experienced an abundant amount of success this season. With victories over the valley's elite such as Freedom, Easton, and Pleasant Valley, the team definitely left its mark on the MVC. The team was composed solely of freshmen and sophomores, and many of their pitchers were freshmen. Despite their age, the team was very experienced, as most of the team's players have been playing baseball since the age of 6. Hard work at practice translated into victories for this team. The team practiced everyday after school through rain, sleet, snow, or hail. Their hard work and desire to improve definitely leaves Coach Dudeck with a bright and promising future. The bar has been set and it is up to these young men to maintain Liberty's dominance of the valley.

The team celebrates following another hard fought victory. The team's combination of clutch hitting, great pitching, and dynamic fielding brought tremendous success. Their achievements this season assure that the future is bright for Liberty baseball.

Freshmen J.T. Brotosky and Justin Fenstermacher discuss the intricacies of the game with the knowledgable Coach Brown. These young players are always looking to improve in hopes of one day benefitting the varsity squad.

Quick thinking and communication help the JV team master every play. Here, Meghan Haas shows she has perfected her skills by tagging her opponent out.

a league of their own

JV Softball

Guarding the plate, and signaling to the pitcher, Lauren Mavrogiannis plays an important role in leading the Canes to victory. The girls' determination and teamwork paid off against every new opponent.

Completely focused, Meggan Oates is in position to stop any ball that comes her way. Pop-up or grounder, this team was truly unstoppable.

Squaring around to complete a sacrifice bunt, Cassandra Matos keeps her eye on the ball and hopes to advance the runner. The many hours spent at batting practice was evident in their games.

Strike Out!!

The Liberty JV softball team was virtually unbeatable with a final record of 17 - 2. Sophomore Karen Ross and Freshman Courtney Breisch each pitched no-hitters, which added to the team's victorious season. In final league standings, the Hurricanes were second only to Parkland High School. The team worked hard all season long. It truly paid off at the conclusion of the season with 14 consecutive wins. These wins were the result of months of hard work and determination. Here, Courtney uses her strength to pitch another strike across the plate.

get psyched

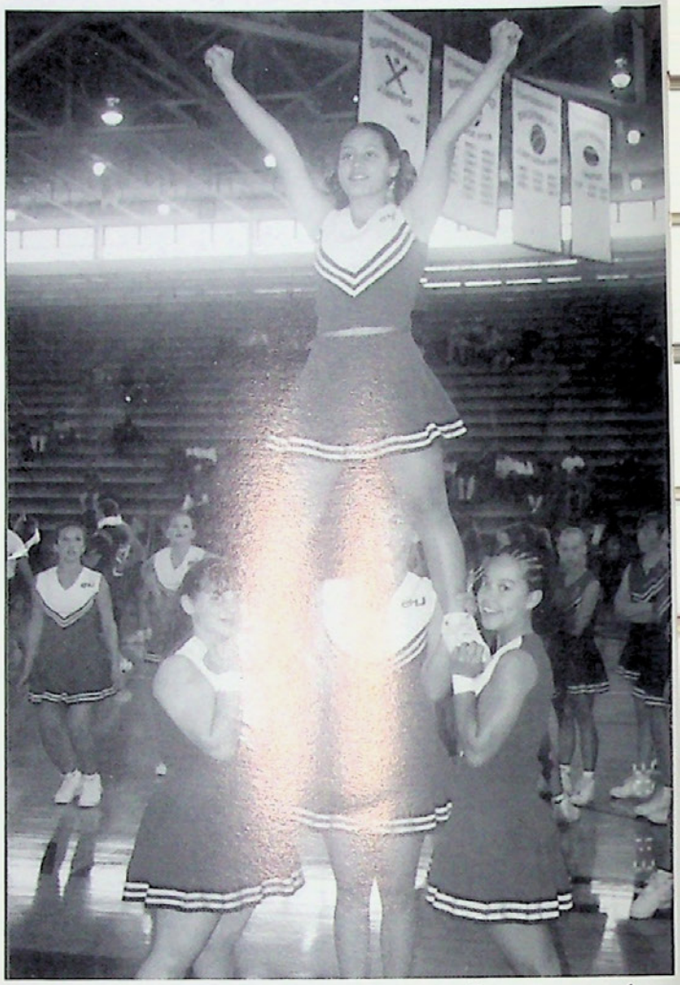
Without a doubt, the young ladies on the JV and freshmen cheerleading squads provided motivation and sparked enthusiasm at sporting events and pep rallies all year long. Their energetic cheers and smiling faces showed their support and pride for all of Liberty's sport's teams. Not only did they unite the school with their fantastic stunts and powerful cheers, but they also formed friendships and created memories that will last a lifetime. There is no question these girls will stay loyal to "L-I-B-E-R-T-Y."

Bases, Melissa Pulero, Hilary Mabus, and Patricia Vazquez practice putting Nikita Santiago up before the pep rally.



L-H-S!! These cheerleaders know who's the best! Throughout the entire football season, they worked hard to pump the players up and get the crowds cheering.

Hillary Wirth knows that it takes more than just strength and talent to do a stunt like this, it also takes a lot of trust in your bases.

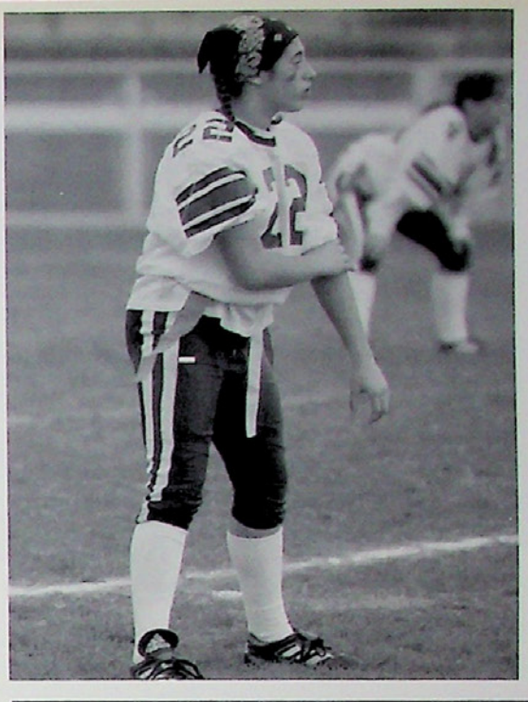
Coach Kresge motivates the powderpuff team prior to the big game with his words of encouragement. He must have said all the right things, as the squad dismantled Freedom.



Senior Nikki Martin ran rampant against the Freedom defense. Her touchdown was the turning point of the big game.

Junior Ashleigh College takes the handoff from Beth Yencho. Both played intricate roles in Liberty's defeat of Freedom.

Liberty beats Freedom. . . Again!

Another year, another Liberty victory. The Liberty powderpuff team defeated the Freedom powderpuff team for the sixth consecutive year. The final score of the game was 14-8 with the two Liberty touchdowns coming off long runs by both Nikki Martin and Lauren Birckhead. The team practiced for weeks in order to be fully prepared for the big game. Because of the team's hardwork and incredible talent, Liberty once again showed its superiority over our cross-town rival. This year's seniors definitely raised the expectations to a whole new level for the future Liberty powderpuff teams.

The offensive team huddles around quarterback Beth Yencho. The team's unity helped guide them to victory.

Is that Orlando Pace??? No, it's Liberty's very own Ali Repsher. The hardwork of the offensive line resulted in Liberty's ability to run wild all over the Freedom defense.

Science and Technology

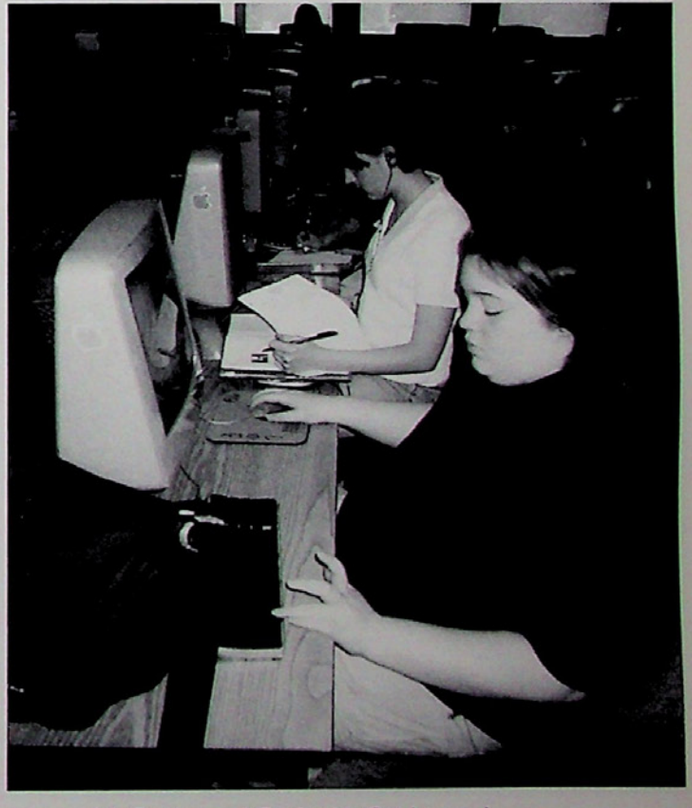
The renovation of the auditorium included the addition of new sound equipment. The Liberty Theatre put the new system to good use, performing fall and spring musicals.

Since computers and technology are such a huge part of the world today, it is no surprise that they are also a crucial aspect of the classrooms at Liberty. Computers can be seen in almost every room, and students are always working on special projects. Not only are computers used for publications like "Cauldron", Liberty's yearbook, and "Liberty Life", the school newspaper, but they have also been implemented into many classrooms, including the science labs. Students regularly use computers in their science classes. Not only can computers be used to record and analyze data, they also offer an opportunity to perform labs that can't be done in our classrooms. In addition, Liberty has over 8 computer labs that are used for a variety of technology classes, from CISCO to Web Page Design. With all these technological advantages, Liberty students are fortunate to have the chance to work with such innovative programs.



Lauren McCarthy and Caitlin McCarthy work diligently to finish their yearbook layouts on time.

Diversity is one of the best things about Liberty High School. Students here come from all over and are proud to show their heritage. Everyday, students learn a little more about their classmates and where they come from. With clubs like the German, French, Spanish, and Latin clubs, students get the opportunity to "travel" to places they may not get the chance to go to. The literary magazine, "International Voice," which is composed of poems, short stories, and anecdotes in various languages, is also a way for students to show the pride they have for their culture.

Helen Freyberger glances to her neighbor to check what page they are on in their German books. German is one of the most difficult languages to master, but Helen looks pretty confident as she prepares for the verbal exercise.

The French Club celebrates the holiday of Mardi Gras (Fat Tuesday). Lorin Berger, Jamie Sawyer, and Tara Tachovsky have their Mardi Gras beads on and are enjoying some french food.

Mrs. Roman, head of the language department, looks a little frazzled as her Spanish students turn their papers in. You can always count on her to get her students involved in Spanish culture.

Cultural Awareness

What better place for the German club to really learn about culture than Germany? Here they are in front of a beautiful looking pond in a small city in Germany.

Members of the Latino Youth Leadership Club enjoy time with each other at the Puerto Rican Heritage Day Luncheon. They were joined with many other supportive students and teachers. Culture is something that the students at Liberty always respect.

Darren Vargo, Chantel Berrios, Jade Po, Ali Steele, and Erin Perlman get ready to present their region of France at the French Club presentation. Members of the club were each given a specific region of France to present to an audience of parents, teachers, and students.

What do you, as foreign exchange students, find to be the major differences from your homeland?

from abroad
Foreign Exchange

Miriam Mueller comes to Liberty as a foreign exchange student from Friedrichshafen, Germany, located on Lake Konstanz. She found that the biggest difference between the two countries is school. In German schools, there are no extracurricular activities. According to Miriam, "If you wanted to play sports, you joined a separate club." She also noticed many clothing differences. "In Germany, hardly anyone wears jeans." Miriam was really surprised by Spirit Week, partly because she had never been to a pep rally before! One of the things she enjoyed most was participating in Spirit Week activities.

Nina Opper, an exchange student from Montabaur, Germany, located near Cologne, noticed a major difference in food. In Germany, Nina would have to drive at least a half hour to get to a McDonald's. "Here," she says, "that's the most common thing. I've gained at least eight or nine pounds because all of the food is fattening!" Another big difference for Nina was that German schools contain grades five to thirteen—there is no middle school or high school because they are combined.

Why did you, as foreign exchange students from Liberty, decide to travel abroad?

Marie Kozo is a senior at Liberty and had the opportunity to go to Germany as a foreign exchange student. Marie says she was influenced to go by a German exchange student her family housed when she was in eighth grade. At the beginning of her junior year, Marie went to live with the German foreign exchange student's family in Cologne, Germany, for five months. During her time abroad, Marie went to school, learned the language, and experienced the culture.

Foreign Exchange

Matt Gillard chose to go to Sweden as a foreign exchange student for his last year of high school. He spent the entire year there, and returned to receive his diploma at graduation. According to Mr. Frey, his counselor, Matt decided to arrange this project for "a different experience." Matt's wide array of experiences have ranged from seeing the beauty of the Northern Lights to the feeling the coldness of sleeping in a hotel made out of ice.

say it loud
Speaking and Singing

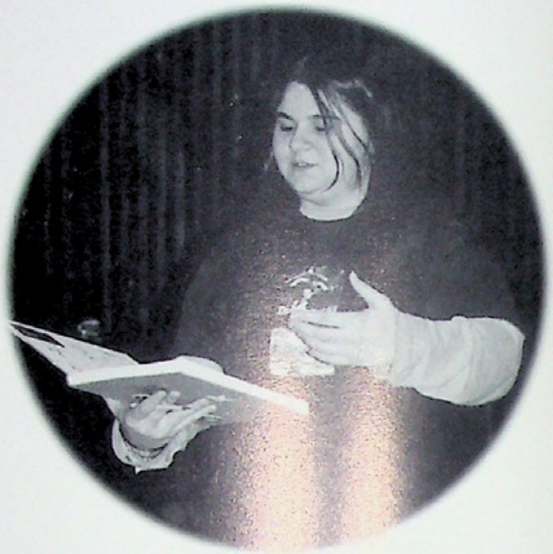
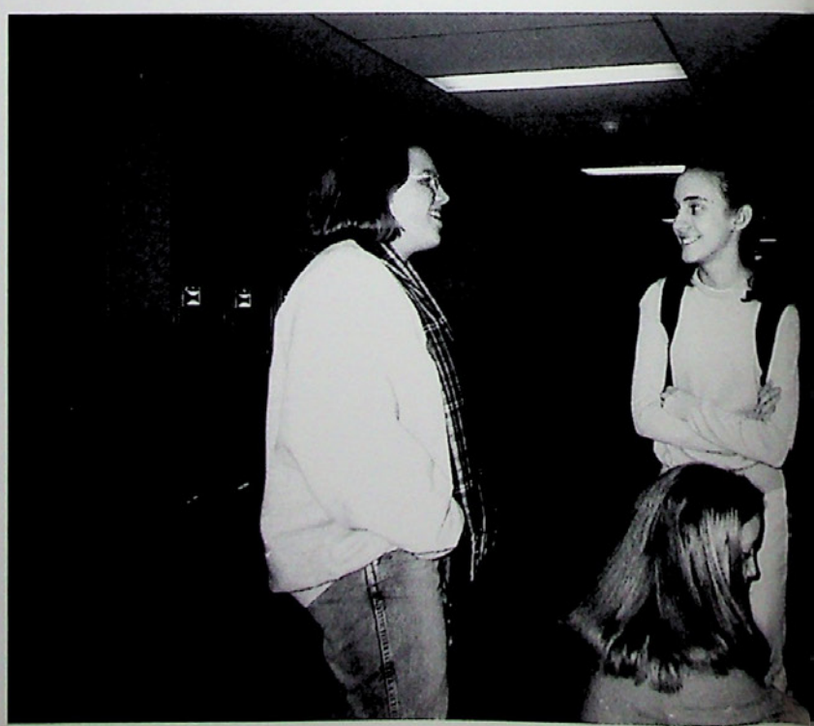
If there's one thing Liberty students are good at, it's opening their mouths. Whether it's singing, giving a speech, or just having a conversation with a friend, students at Liberty say what's on their minds, and they say it loud. The chorus has over one hundred members, and the A capella singers and Woman's Chorale offer even more chances for students to exercise their vocal skills. Liberty's musicals also give students a chance to get on stage and perform for their classmates. In class, students are not shy about standing up and speaking their minds, and at sporting events and pep rallies, students make sure their cheers are heard. Whether it's singing or speaking, Liberty students make sure they say it loud.

Members of Conrad Birdie's fan club sing their devotion to the famous singer in Liberty's fall musical "Bye Bye Birdie". The musicals offer students many chances to express themselves on stage.

At the Dessert Theater, Rosemarie Lawless reads aloud from a book of poetry. Students acted scenes, danced, and recited poetry and stories for the audience's enjoyment.



"Before speaking, consider the interpretation of your words as well as their intent."
-Andrew Alden



Every morning, if you walk down the Lab Center hallways, you can hear Liberty's Chorus practicing for their annual shows. Their hard work pays off, as the shows are always a huge success, drawing large crowds of proud family members and fellow students.

Standing up in front of the class, Aaron Hale presents his information for his French project. He's certainly not shy about speaking in front of classmates.

In between classes, Nicole Heimsoth and Maddie Smith stop to chat as they wait for Caity Kanengiser to take some books from her locker. These much needed breaks between classes allow students to catch up and find out how their friends are doing.

The A capella singers practice after school several times a week, as well as during the usual chorus practices every school day. It is no suprise that this group sounds amazing when they sing together.

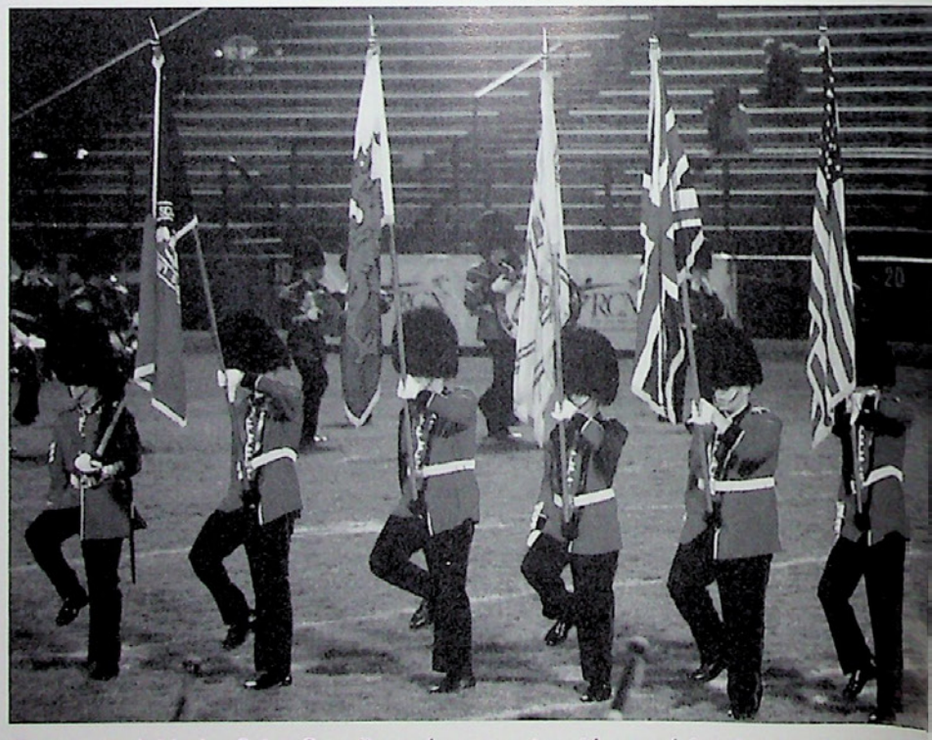
Liz Skelly, Melissa Maioriello, Amanda Brown, Wendy Li and Debra Flaska take a few seconds out of their packed schedule in Puerto Rico to pose for a picture in front of a statue of Don Quixote de la Mancha.

Liberty High School is known worldwide for its' excellent music programs. The Grenadier Band traveled to Scotland and England last April to uphold their honor as the only high school band to play with the Regimental Band of Her Majesty's Coldstream Guards. This year, the orchestra flew to Puerto Rico to perform for a few of their cultural institutions. Lucky for them, they stayed an extra few days due to the huge snowstorm back home! Whether they relax on the beach, or journey overseas, the LHSGB and orchestra have fun wherever they go.



Out on the field, the Color Guard's performance is evidence of their hard work. It goes to show that early morning practices serve some purpose.

Band & Orchestra

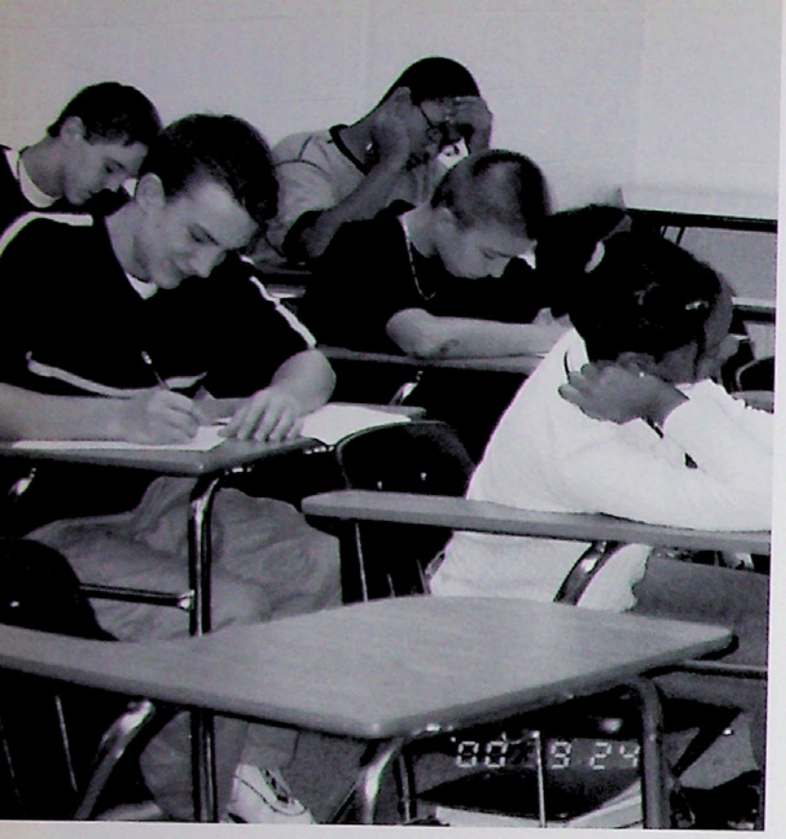
Majorettes Lora Capuano, Nicole Palenchar, Rena Manela, and Shanna Tarboro perform their field show routine. Keep smiling and "snapping it up" girls!

Along with students from various schools in Puerto Rico, the Liberty High School orchestra performs beautifully for the audience.

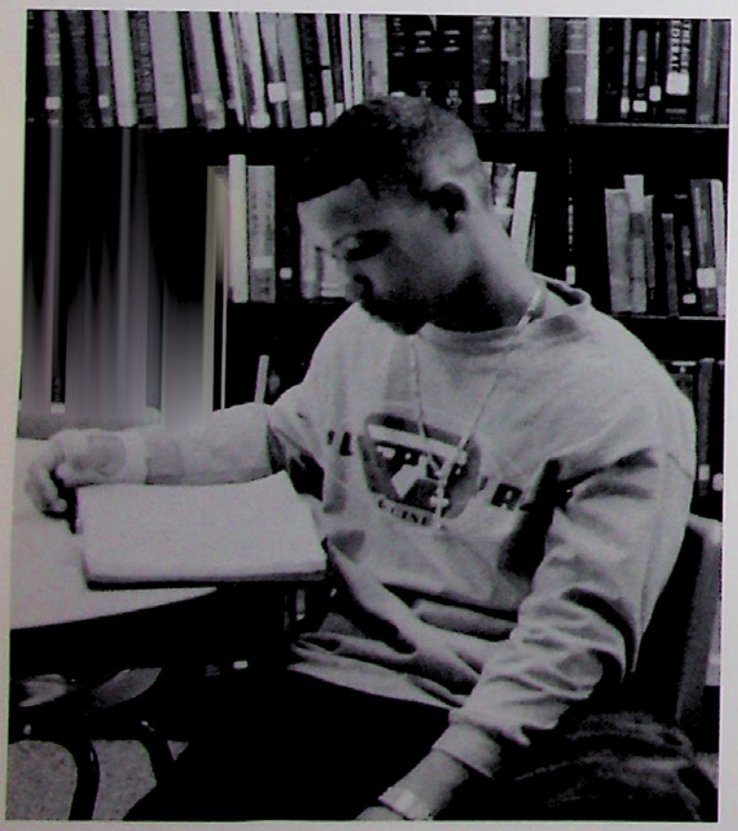
The pipe drummers, Steve Williams, Jon Kensecki, Aaron Hale, and Glenn Sapoch, psyche up the school for the next game with their infamous pipe drum solo, a ritual at every pep rally.

First Company, led by Band Sergeant Major Colin Shay, performs their semiannual concert, under the watchful eye of Mr. Long.



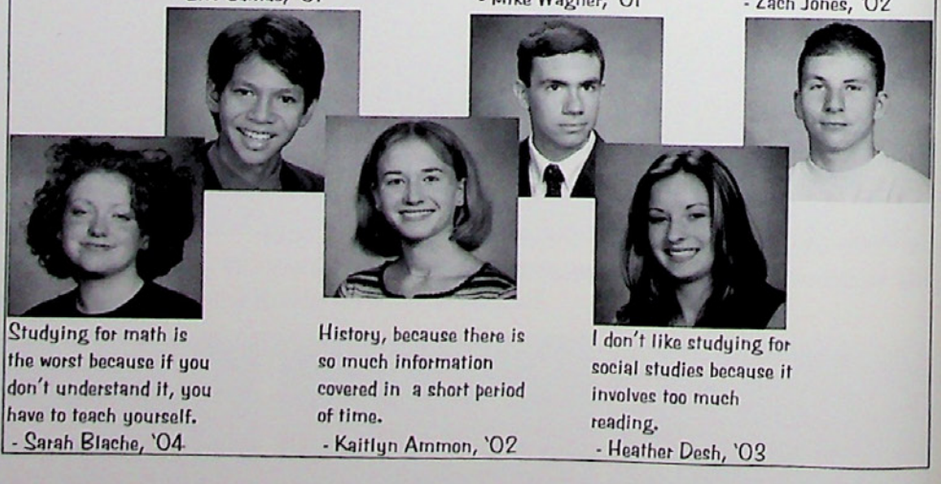
These dedicated students concentrate on their tests to prove that they truly understand the information they learned in English class.

Reggie Easterling knows that he must put in extra time studying in order to do well in his classes. He reads over his notes in the library where it is quiet and many books are available for extra information.



Amanda DeSarro and Anthony Benner work very carefully with the Bunsen burners in their Intro to Chemistry and Physics class. These students are determined to complete their experiment and get the grades they deserve: A+!

Which subject do you hate studying for and why?



Spanish, because I don't speak it at home!
- Eric Canlas, '01

I hate studying for English because it is so time consuming.
- Mike Wagner, '01

Latin, because you have to memorize absolutely everything.
- Zach Jones, '02

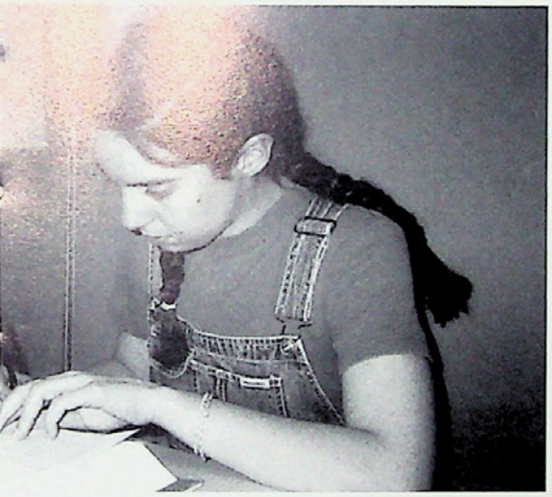
Studying for math is the worst because if you don't understand it, you have to teach yourself.
- Sarah Blache, '04

History, because there is so much information covered in a short period of time.
- Kaitlyn Ammon, '02

I don't like studying for social studies because it involves too much reading.
- Heather Desh, '03

Jarret Hitchings waters his plant in biology class, part of a year long project. Students plant, water, and expose their plants to the appropriate amount of light to learn about plants and what they need to survive.

Julia Fiorentino, Ashleigh College, and Meredith Kwiatek work hard on a lab in anatomy. The experiment teaches students how to use a microscope, an essential part of the course. The girls' efforts sure paid off when they got their grades back!



Jennifer Marx busily takes notes from her book. With good study habits like these, Jen is sure to do well in all of her classes.

"The purpose of learning is growth, and our minds, unlike our bodies, can continue growing as we continue to live."

- Morris Adler

making the grade

Study hard

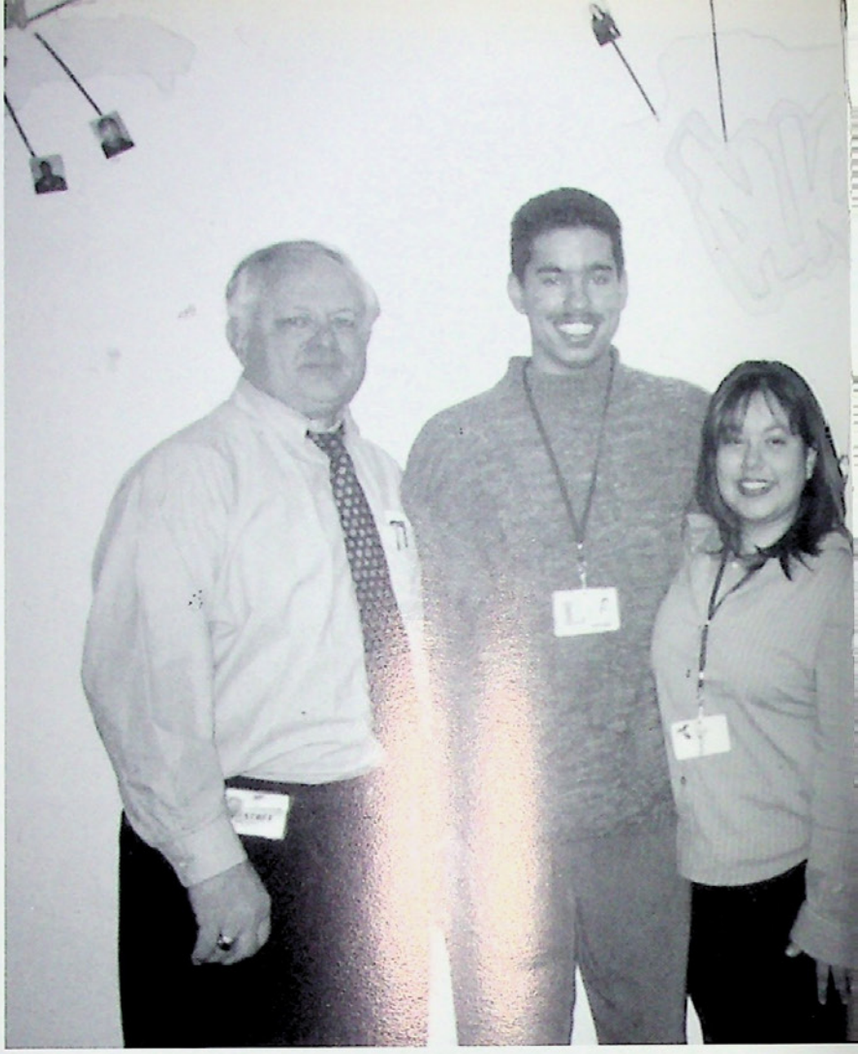
"Work hard and reap the benefits." Liberty students certainly follow this motto and it shows in all they accomplish. Students of all grades and abilities put in countless hours studying and working to do well on their tests and projects. At any given time, students can be found in the library, classrooms, laboratories, and on computers trying to enhance their learning experience. The dedicated teachers and updated facilities offered at Liberty assist the students greatly in excelling academically. Liberty students' hard work helps to earn the school a prestigous reputation throughout the district and even the state. Determined to be the best we can be, we can only help to strengthen Liberty's already incredible image.

Leadership is a trait which many people work hard to obtain. Luckily, the Liberty community has many young people to which this trait comes naturally! In clubs like Future Business Leaders of America, and the Latino Youth Leadership club, students of today are preparing to become the leaders of tomorrow. Our student government also contains students with character and attitude that is sure to take them far! With over 2500 students, leadership is a quality that is needed and greatly appreciated.



On September 20, a group of students gathered around the flagpole to pray for their school. 'See you at the Pole,' is a nation-wide tradition that allows students to come together for a great cause.

"Open the gates and seize the day!"
- The Newsies

Mr. Burkhardt proudly stands in front of a map of Puerto Rico with the officers of the Latino Youth Leadership club. On the map, club members marked the locations where they are from.

The Liberty varsity cheerleaders not only lead the fans in spirit, but they lead their team to victory. By the way these girls get into the game, you would think they are on the team!

Who is that strong, fierce man leading the pipe corps? It's Matt Bean! It takes a whole lot of leadership and attitude to lead the Liberty High School Grenadier Band.

Leadership

The members of the Latino Youth Leadership Club enjoy some food at the Puerto Rican Heritage Day Luncheon. This club aids in the preservation of the Latino heritage in Liberty's society.

Dan Gallager and Mike Wagner, members of FBLA, are the regional winners of the Desktop Publishing competition. Watch out States, here they come!

This past fall, a group of students helped to build a gazebo in the Sand Island Garden. They continued working to improve the garden through spring, and now the garden is a popular spot for people to visit.

Some students even do their community service in Liberty's own halls. Jodi Williams helps out by keeping Liberty's lockers dust free.

making a difference

Community Service

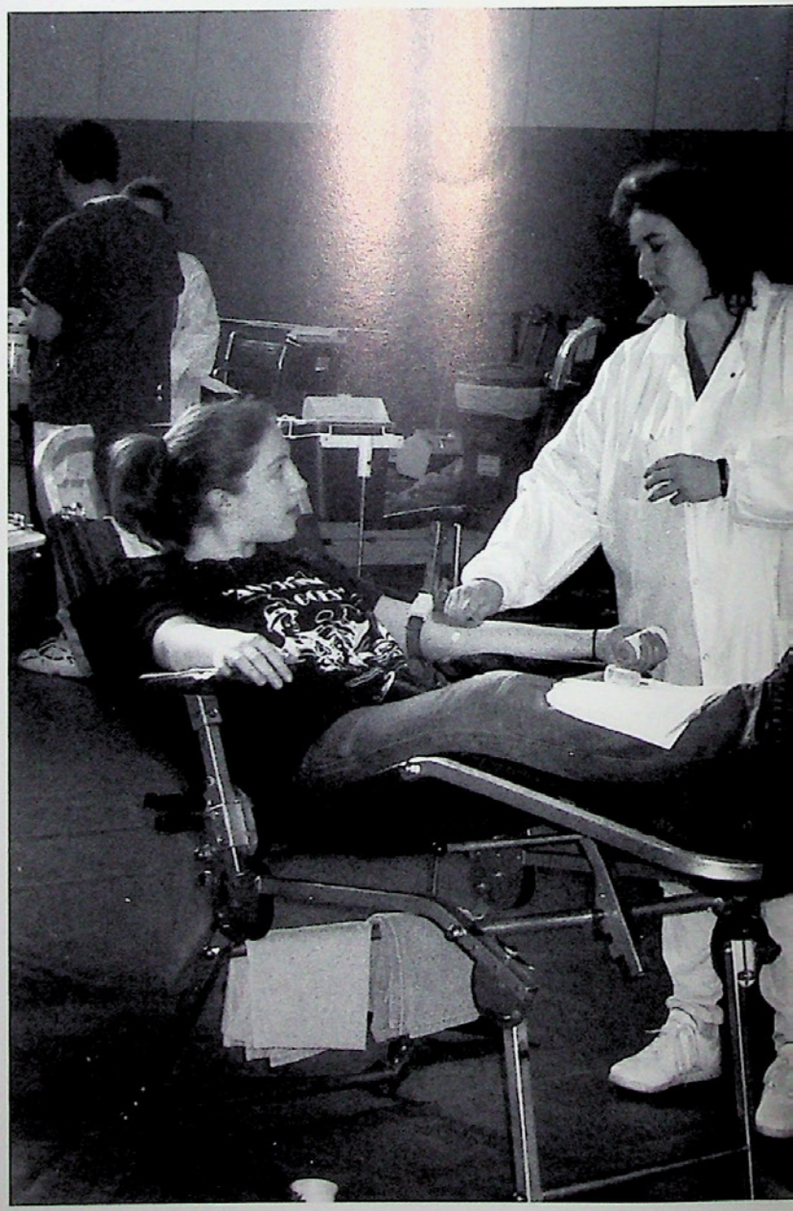
Eager to help out, Marco Friend and Devyn Vasilantone work the registration table at the National Honor Society Blood Drive. Over one hundred students volunteered to donate their blood.



Laura Bender lounges in her chair as the nurse takes her blood. Even though the drive was only a day long, Liberty students donated enough blood to save the lives of hundreds of people!

Charles Jackson lends a hand to the janitors at Liberty by helping take out the lunchtime trash. He even manages to do it with a smile on his face.

Community service may be a requirement for graduation, but some students go above and beyond expectations. This year, students participated in several different community service activities. The National Honor Society is always involved in helping out the community, and this year's activities, the Soles for Souls Shoe Drive and the blood drive, were very successful. DECA also sponsored a drive to collect toothbrushes and toothpaste for people in the area who can't always afford good dental care. Students also helped to raise money for the families of Walter Henry and Edwin Cartagena, and for Jesse Galle, a Liberty graduate who received a heart transplant. There are several other causes that Liberty students devote themselves to as they strive to provide assistance wherever and whenever help is needed.

This group of Liberty students spent their whole Saturday at the A.I.D.S. Walk in Philadelphia. The money the team raised will be put towards research for new treatments and, eventually, a cure. for the A.I.D.S. virus.

"Should community service be required for graduation?"

"We have so much stuff to worry about, like homework and jobs, and community service is extra stress we don't need."
-Samantha Groller, '03

"No, community service is supposed to be voluntary, not mandatory."
-Laura Searfoss, '02

"Yes, I think it's a good way to get students more involved in the community."
-Joanna Canlas, '02

"You should volunteer for the right reasons, and doing it just because you have to is not a good reason."
-Margo Huennekens, '02

Zach Holt, Valynn Williams, and Natasha Hallahan perform at the Dessert Theater in Liberty's Ampitheater. All the proceeds benefitted Jesse Galle, a Liberty graduate who experienced heart failure.

"If you haven't any charity in your heart, you have the worst kind of heart trouble."
-Bob Hope

Liberty students have a reputation for stepping up when it comes time to compete. Whether it is an athletic or academic event, Liberty knows that it takes hard work to come out on top. Throughout the year, students put in countless hours of training to prepare to meet their opponents, not to mention the incredible amount of talent present within our own Liberty community. A competitive spirit is brought out in almost every Liberty student, even if they prefer watching the events as a spectator. Even in the midst of all this aggression, we recognize the importance of playing by the rules. So practice hard, try your best, and you can overcome any obstacle you face.

Even off the playing field, Liberty intimidates its competitors. During a chess match, Chad Gaumer wears war paint to scare off his opponents.

"Defeat is not the worst of failures. Not to have tried is the true failure."
-George E. Woodberry

fighting fiercely
Competition

Liberty students may be competitive but they always play fair. Varsity wrestler Estabon Cruz shakes hands with his opponent before the match.

Liberty vs. Freedom! Playing our long-time rivals in football brings out the best and the worst of Liberty students' competitive nature. The referee tries his best to calm both Liberty and Freedom players who are definitely very aggressive and intent on winning.

Of all the competitions Liberty is involved in, none are fiercer than the ones between Liberty and Freedom. Senior Class President John Misinco does his best to get the crowd psyched to beat Freedom.

Capturing memories, thoughts and public opinion is more difficult than it seems. However, Liberty Life, Cauldron, and the Young Writer literary magazine make that job seem easy. It takes almost 100 students to make publications like these come to life. International Voice, a magazine which portrays many different cultures and languages, is new to Liberty this year. It is a great idea because it allows students and staff to enjoy poetry and stories in English as well as other languages.

Editors Hali Felt and Kate Mattina proofread a piece of literary work for Young Writer; it takes extreme concentration and teamwork to get things done.

Liberty Life Young Writer

Newspapers, yearbooks, and magazines are a perfect way to remember your high school years and we are thankful and lucky to have dedicated students who make this happen.

Katie Casciano looks a little confused as Mr. Bozzone, the Young Writer adviser, explains what will be taking place during their meeting. Soon the creative juices will be flowing.

Nick Parker and Noah Halkins do a quick critique of the current issue of Liberty Life. Instead of cutting and pasting on the computer, Nick does the real thing!

Publications

Emily Traupman tries to figure out what she's going to do with her yearbook layout. Although it may not seem like a very hard job, yearbook page design can be very frustrating!

Cauldron International Voice

Liberty's newspaper is a much anticipated publication by all students. The staff of Liberty Life is proud, and not to mention relieved, to release this year's first edition of Liberty Life. They finally have a free moment, but after the picture, it's back to work!

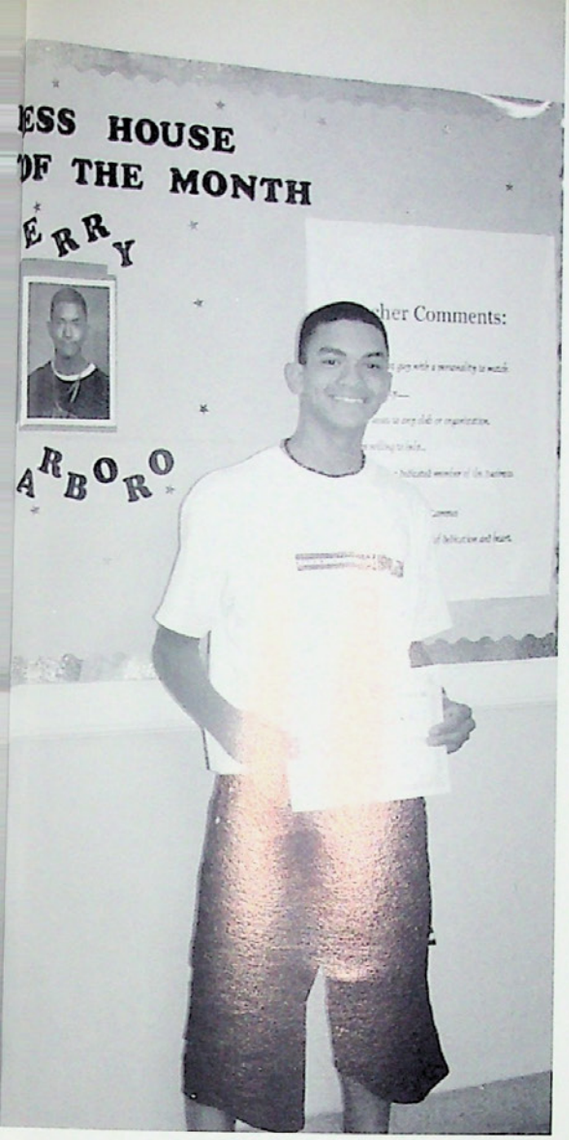
Carin Amoroso, Bev Miller, and Rebecca Haller work on their layout for the senior section of the 2001 Cauldron. It was the hard work done by students like these that made the yearbook so successful.

The hard work of Liberty students extends far beyond their academic classes. Many students also spend long hours learning a trade or vocation they plan to pursue after high school. The Bethlehem Vo-Tech provides students with great opportunities to learn about the interesting and challenging jobs available to them. Hundreds of students travel to the Vo-Tech every day to learn their trade. At Liberty there are many classes that prepare students for certain jobs, like architectural drawing, graphic arts, contemporary foods, and even interior designing. Liberty's Business House offers students a chance to learn about the corporate world and how to succeed in business. Computer classes provide training in the most up-to-date computer programs available. With all the opportunities available to Liberty students, they are sure to be successful in the careers they choose after high school.

Ruth Saez is busy preparing some food for the Vo-Tech lunches. At Vo-Tech, students learn how to prepare and serve all different kinds of food, from pastries to french fries.

"My success just evolved from working hard at the business at hand each day."
-Johnny Carson

Technology is a huge part of all jobs, and Liberty students have the opportunity to learn more than 30 different computer programs during their classes at Liberty and Vo-Tech. Looks like this student is completely engrossed in his work.



Apparently, Jerry Tarboro is a very good businessman since he was awarded with the honor of Business House Student of the Month. Liberty's Business House students work hard to learn the ins and outs of the business world.

working hard
Learning a Trade

Sara Sheppard is hard at work in architectural drawing class. Architectural drawing is a difficult and painstaking process that takes a lot of practice to perfect.

Installing and maintaining air conditioners and heating systems is a tough job, but Chris Billiard makes it look easy. He gets the hands on experience he needs to succeed in his classes at Vo-Tech.

Working Hard "What is your dream job?"

"A singer, because you can perform all over the world."

-Vanessa Ammon, '03

"Whichever one makes the most money is the one I want!"

-Victor Maldonado, '01

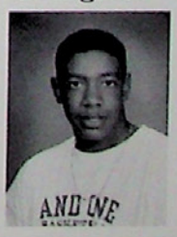
"I would like to be the host of 'Live! With Regis and Noelle'."

-Noelle Catino, '02

"I'd like to do anything that can make me rich and successful."

-Kyle Super, '04

"A basketball game announcer, so I can meet the players and see all the games."



-Lawrence White, '03

Senior Class

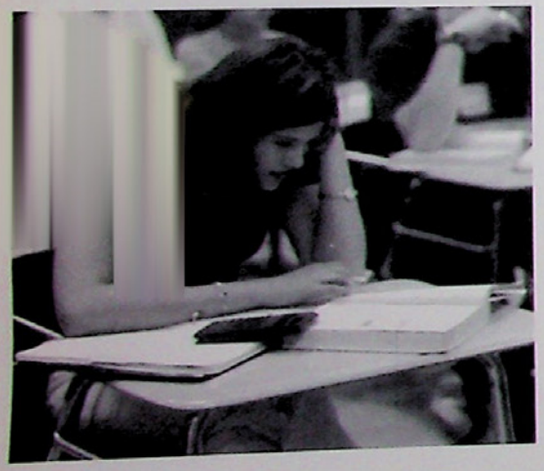
In 1997, 750 (verb) decended upon Liberty. Four years, 570 (pl noun), and 4 (adjective) principals later, we have become the greatest (noun) ever known. It took many nights of (verb)ing and (verb)ing to make us (adjective). Our pep-rally antics have become infamous...we proclaimed "Sophomores (verb)!" and teachers were (verb)ed in the (noun). Now we're (adjective) seniors! So remember to 'study hard' and (verb) a lot of (noun)!

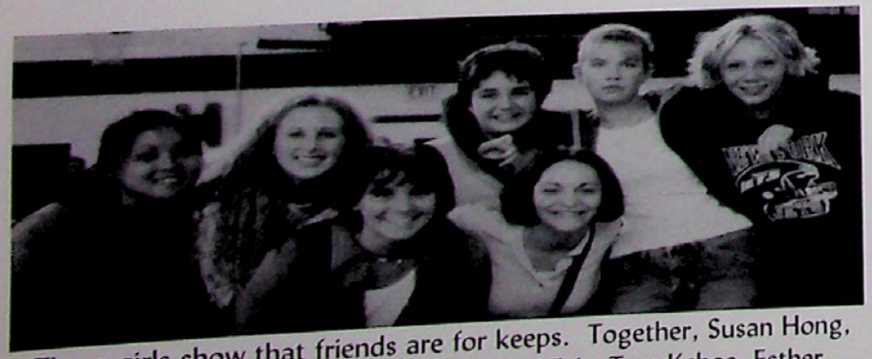
Always willing to give a helping hand, Chris Reid and William Bonilla volunteer at the mock election, which gave LHS students the opportunity to cast their vote.

Jerry Tarboro, Randy Dickerson, Mike Freeman, Tim Carnes, and Josh Quintana take a second out of their Spirit Week pep rally activities to pose. These tough guys are not afraid to show their pride for LHS.



Work hard and play harder has always been the senior motto. Here Carla Villani shows she has mastered completing her studies with enough time left to party with her friends.

Leading the way for this awesome class, President John Misinco, Vice President Joe Seidenberger, Secretary Annie Rodgers, and Treasurer Jessie Papesh work hard for this year's seniors. Planning everything from spirit week to graduation with the assistance of Mr. Corrigan and Mrs. Smith, every event these officers work on goes off without a hitch.



These girls show that friends are for keeps. Together, Susan Hong, Meggie Morganelli, Laura Dologite, Hali Felt, Tess Kehoe, Esther Kraycik, and Corrie Tice make the most of their last year at Liberty.

Rosa Miranda and Kali Zeiner enjoy spending one of their last pep rallies together. These girls are in their final year at Liberty and do not want to miss the opportunity to have pictures to remember all of the good times that they shared.

The first annual Spirit Week dance-off, a new competition between the classes, had the seniors going wild. Showing that practice makes perfect, this group of students were the clear victors at the pep rally.

Phil Gruver and Isaac Anderson show their excitement as they get out of another class for an early morning senior meeting. Having extra privileges is fine by these two.

Showing our diversity

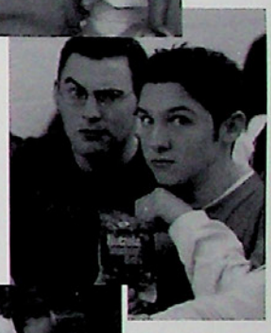
Athletics is something that comes naturally to the Class of 2001. With so many talented sports stars, like Laura Bender, their is never a boring match-up.

These crazy seniors jump at the opportunity to have their picture taken. Kyra Lezinsky, Chris Billiard, Nancy Mata, and the hidden Nick D'Edigio crowd together to yell out "give me an L" for the last time.



Never quite acting normal, these characters certainly show that lunch is their favorite period of the day. Mike Schweder and Greg Thomas entertain everyone in the Senior Caf.

Leading the band is a job which is very important to Beth Yencho. She works hard and helps to add to the Grenadier Band legacy.

Spending countless hours of their free time decorating the halls for Spirit Week, Emily Traupman, Amy Rosenfeld, Annie Rodgers, and Bev Miller finally take a break for a photo op.

Always showing his excitement for Mr. Perrett's class, Steve Midway eagerly raises his hand at the chance to impress his classmates.

The Class of 2002 had a great year! Through the leadership of class officers Chantel Berrios, Wendy Li, Robby Opp, and Jenna Coxe, the year has been full of excitement and fun! With their new assistant principal, Mr. Cecchini, and class advisers Mr. Schwartz and Miss Michael, the year has been a success. The juniors have a lot of new ideas and plans for their senior year and are working to make Liberty the best it can be. Everyone knows that junior year is very important and from the accomplishments of this class, it's obvious that they will be going places!

Melissa Cronin and Valynn Williams show their support for the football team on a cold night. Football games are a great way to support the school and be with friends.

Man on the Street

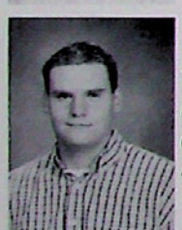
"What are you looking forward to about senior year?"

"Picking which senior picture will go in the yearbook and having more than one chance to take it."
-Desmond Ling



"Not getting three detentions for going out to lunch!"
-Marc Palumbo

"I'm looking forward to a senior class trip...if we get one!"
-Amanda Recchiuti

"I'm looking forward to going to prom as a senior."
-Kaitlyn Ammon

Vanessa Vazquez and Onika Wilson's moves are looking pretty nice! They are both proud members of Liberty's amazing step team as well as the junior class.

After hours of preparation for Spirit Week, this group of juniors catches a moment to relax. The t-shirts are looking great and their school spirit is booming!

Junior Class

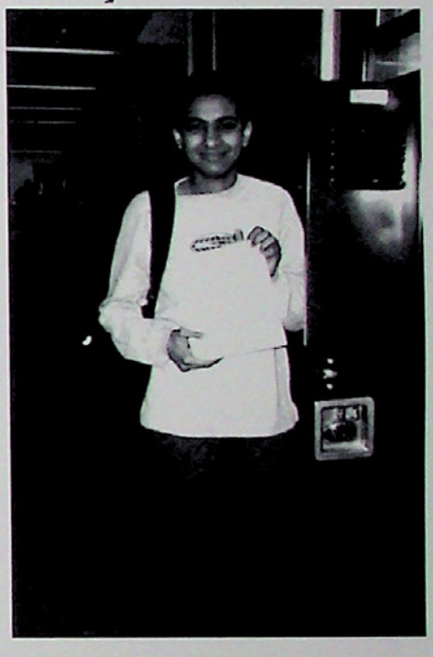
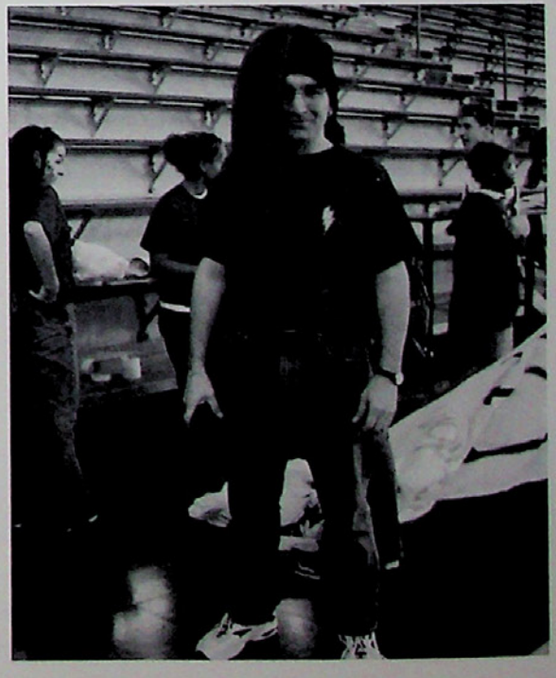
Lead by class officers Wendy Li (vice president), Robby Opp (secretary), Chantel Berrios (president), and Jenna Coxe (treasurer), the Class of 2002 was prepared for all the excitement of the year. They were also assisted by their two wonderful advisers Miss Michael and Mr. Schwartz.



Maneesh Chudasama shows us the book he will be reading attentively in his next class. He better hurry up at his locker or he will be late!

What makes the boys basketball team awesome? It's mostly made up of junior guys! After a tiring game against Parkland, they decided to eat a late dinner with one of their biggest fans, Stef Sirb.



Wow! Nice hairdo Mr. Cecchini! Spirit Week for the Class of 2002 wouldn't have been such a success without his leadership and support.

Class officers Isara Thanakit (treasurer), Eddie Christof (vice president), Matt McHale (president), and Kristen Sydlowski (secretary) led their class to an exciting and successful sophomore year.

Aloha! These JV cheerleaders went all out for Hawaiian Day. Sara Evans, Hollie Holland, Carissa Lawrence, Karly Berger, Melissa Huyter, Hillary Wirth, and Jill Klessig bring spirit to their class on and off the field.

If there was any doubt about the school spirit of the Class of 2003, they proved this year that they are devoted to Liberty High School. The experienced sophomore class emerged as leaders of the underclassmen, showing the new freshmen how things are done at Liberty. Led by class officers Matt McHale, Eddie Christof, Kristen Sydlowski, and Isara Thanakit, the sophomore class got more involved in school activities, cheering at all of Liberty's athletic events, participating in pep rallies, and attending school dances. Next year as upperclassmen, the Class of 2003 is sure to be better than ever.

Sophomore Class

Class of 2003

"What makes sophomore year so much better than freshman year?"

"Only two more years left to go!"- Fatima Nabavian

"We finally know our way around the school."- Elyse Sandoval

"Now we get to make fun of all the new freshmen."- Hillary Prutzman

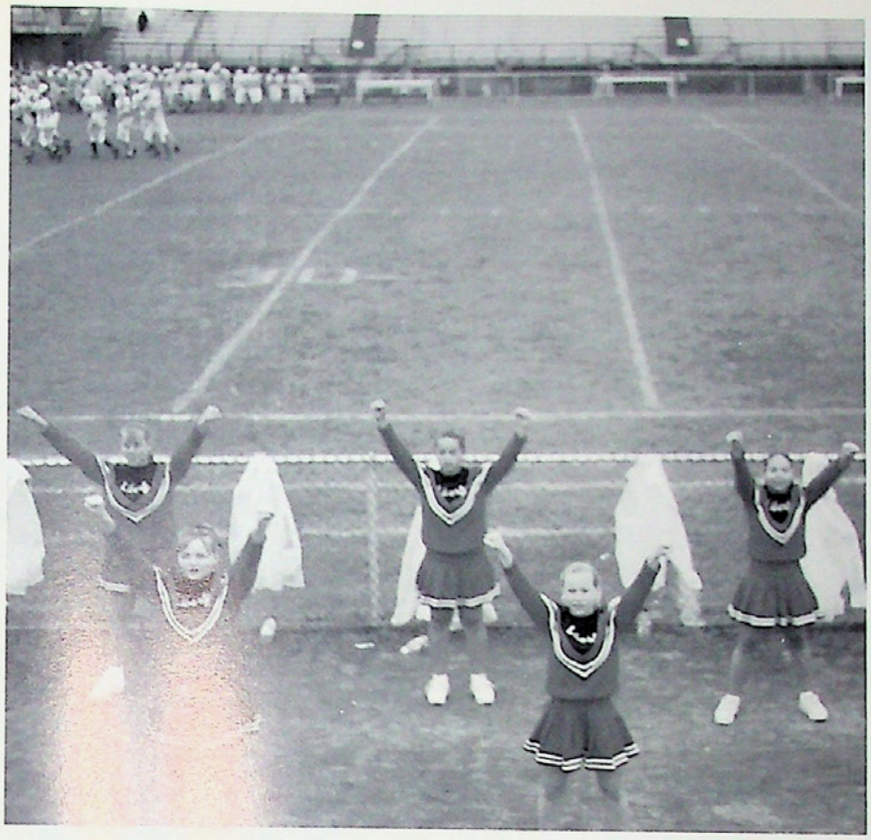
Sam Groller helps her class spell out their year during the Spirit Week pep rally. The much more experienced Class of 2003 did a great job in all the Spirit Week activities.

Members of the Class of 2004, Andrew Bobal, Allison McInteer, Indra Clowes-Swift, and Tom Reading, have a friendship that will last a lifetime. Their support for each other will probably not end when their high school years do.

Whether in the classroom, on the field, cheering on the football team, or participating in the pep rallies, this year's freshman class has proved to be one of the most school-spirited classes ever! Determination, hard work, and the support of friends have allowed the Class of 2004 to succeed in both academic and athletic environments. They have truly made their first year at Liberty a great time for not only themselves, but their fellow classmates, faculty, and staff. The Liberty High School community wishes the Freshmen class best wishes, much luck, and continued success over the course of the next three years.

Dancing in their pajamas, Ashleigh Finnigan and Amanda Henning show their school spirit by participating in the Spirit Week pep rally earlier in the fall. They seem to be having lots of fun and enjoying their first Spirit Week at Liberty.



Go Liberty! The freshmen cheerleading squad lifts the Hurricane spirits of both the fans and football players at one of the freshmen football games earlier this year. There's a fan in all of us!

The LHS Spirit Week pep rally is well underway with the freshmen participating in the hula hoop contest against the other "experienced" classes.

Homecoming, one of Liberty's most anticipated weekend events, once again lived up to its high expectations. The football game on Friday, September 28 ended in a disappointing loss against the Whitehall Zephyrs. That didn't hurt the crowd's spirits, however, as they excitedly awaited the announcement of the court. This year's gracious king and queen were John Misinco and Nancy Mata who were crowned during the pregame show. The dance held the following night was certainly a night to remember as 1000 students piled into the Old Gym. After all, who doesn't like getting all dressed up and spending an unforgettable night with friends?

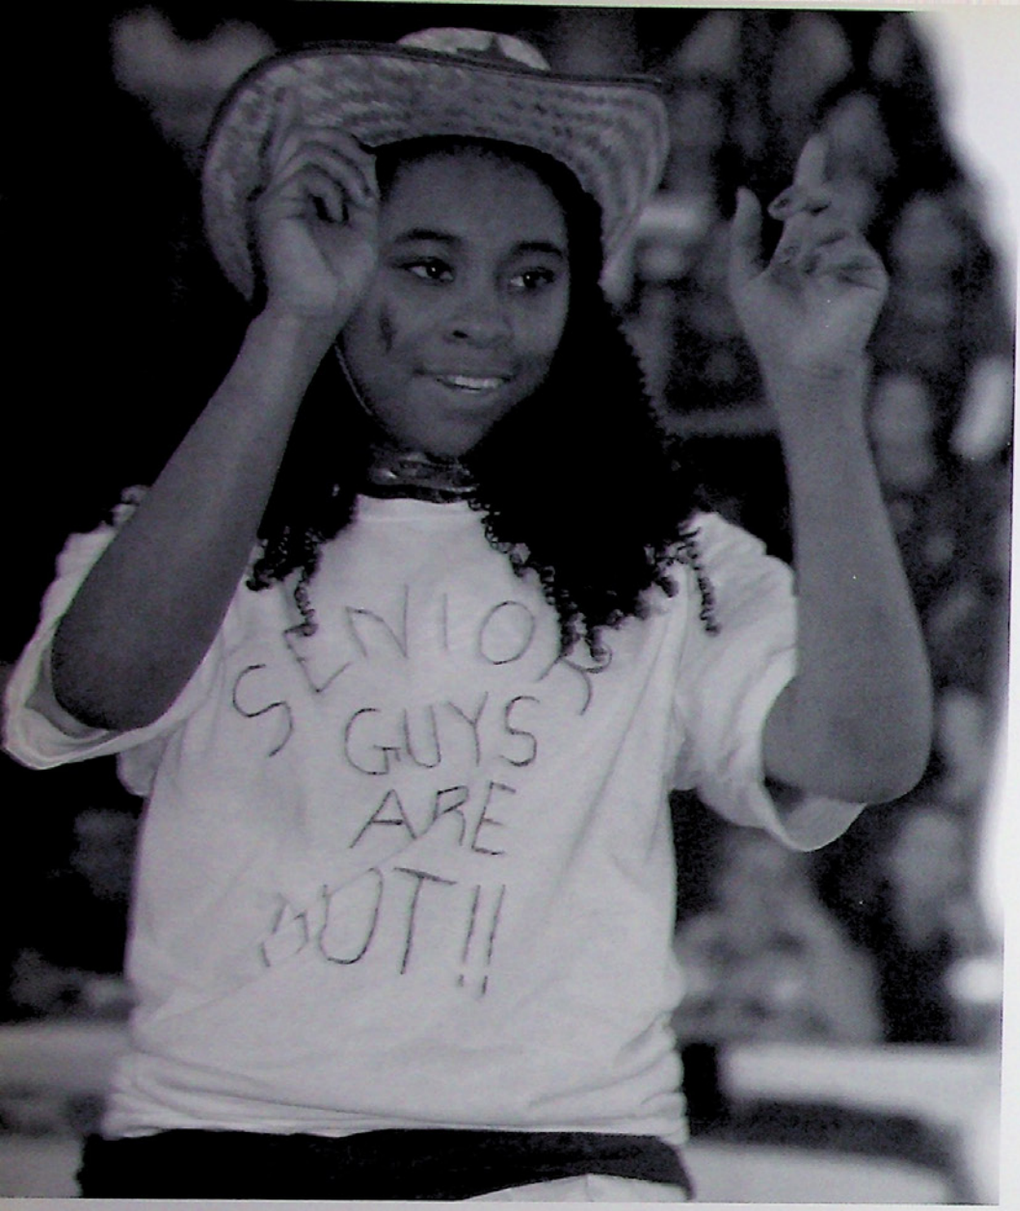
This year's Homecoming Court smiles for their official picture at the dance after an exciting weekend of fun and dancing.

Carin A[illegible]so and [illegible]na Roche ditch their dates during their fir[illegible] for a hot dance with each other. All of the d[illegible] left the windows steamy.

Brooke Fatzinger, Erin Cook, and Tasha Hallahan leave the gym to take a break and cool off. These three gorgeous girls had a great time picking out their dresses and doing their hair. After all their preparation, the girls were sure to have a night to remember!

Homecoming King John Misinco and his Queen, Nancy Mata, are filled with joy after their names are announced at the game.

Jonathan Urban gives his sister Shawna Urban (Class of 2000) a great big hug. He is so lucky to have such a great date for the Homecoming Dance.



After a week of friendly class rivalry, Liberty students unite to support their football team during the Liberty-Freedom game. A change in time didn't bring a change in spirit; Liberty remained true to its red and blue!!

Carla Hooe captures the essence of Spirit Week as she dances her head out. The senior class blew the competition away with their performance to Will Smith's "Wild Wild West".

who's got spirit? lhs!

Spirit Week

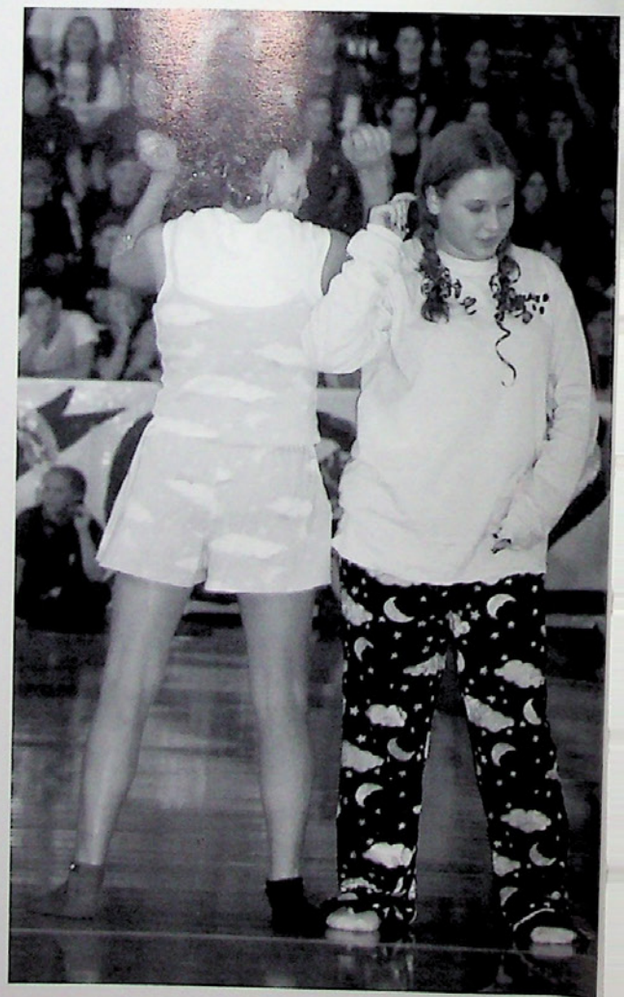
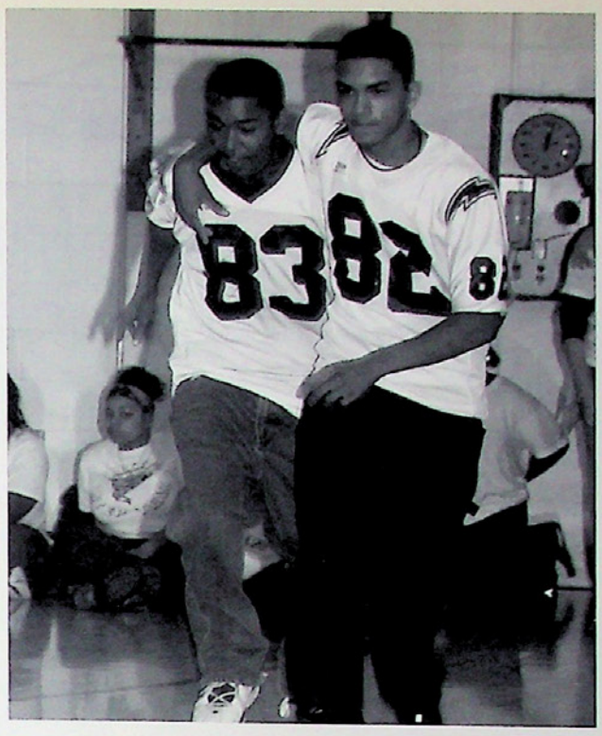
These enthusiastic senior girls enjoy one of the perks of being a senior. They started off their last day of Spirit Week with the annual Senior Breakfast.

As a new event during the Battle of the Classes, each class had the chance to show off their dance moves. The freshmen gave the other classes some tough competition for just rolling out of bed.





Randy Dickerson and Jerry Tarboro show their skills in the three-legged race, proving that their talents don't end with football.

As a Spirit Week tradition, the classes competed to see who had the most school spirit. With six seniors refereeing the events, the results may not have been completely fair, but everyone had a good time regardless. You can probably guess who won.

Sarah Molchany and Tricia Matthews are determined to win the hula hoop event for the junior class. The girls race the clock, attempting to beat the time set by the seniors.

Everyone looks forward to Liberty's unpredictable Spirit Week. This year's crazy agenda included Pajama Day, 70's and 80's Day, Hawaiian Day, Geek Day and the traditional Red & Blue Day. In addition to the spirited attire, Liberty students were found participating in various activities for the "Battle of the Classes," during the pep rally. But by the end of the week, the classes all came together to support each other for the big game.

Geek Day was a new addition to Liberty's Spirit Days. Emily Persa, Elizabeth Yasso, and Allison Ruyak used this opportunity to show Liberty their true identity.

With a new sound system installed in the auditorium, Liberty Theatre sounded better than ever during their performance of "Bye Bye Birdie". On November 30, and December 1 and 2, anxious crowds filled the auditorium to watch the story of Conrad Birdie, a famous singer, who is sent to the small town of Sweet Apple to kiss his biggest fan, a young girl named Kim MacAfee. The audience was captivated as they watched all the chaos and excitement unfold onstage. The hard work of the incredible cast and crew was evident, as "Bye Bye Birdie" was one of Liberty's most successful musicals to hit the stage.

Devastated by the news that Kim is leaving the Conrad Birdie Fan Club, Ursula Merkle (Natasha Hallahan) reminds Kim that there are some things more important than a steady boyfriend, and Conrad Birdie is one of them.

Assuring Hugo Peabody (Jamie Bush) that Conrad is just a crush, Kim MacAfee (Melissa Maioriello) explains to him that he is the only guy for her.

Always a little bit grouchy, Mr. MacAfee (Clayton Reilly) is especially annoyed that he can't have a peaceful breakfast in his own home.

Conrad Birdie (Jon Brones) performs for a mob of fainting and screaming fans. One fan gets Conrad's special attention.

"we love you conrad..."
Bye Bye Birdie

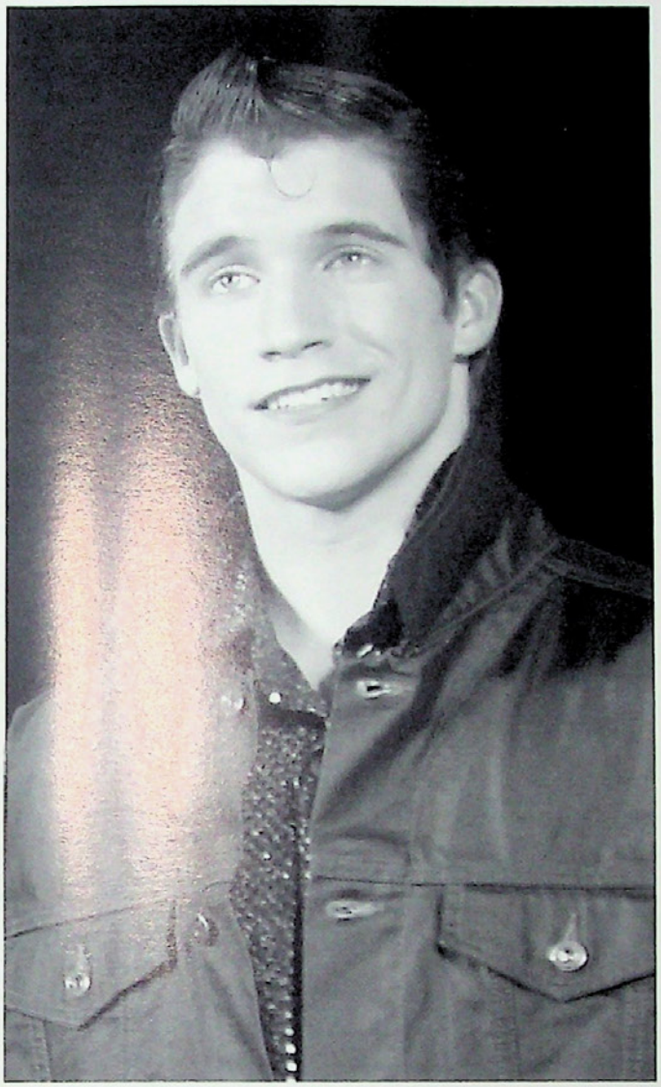
"He's a fine upstanding, patriotic, healthy, normal American boy!" With his superstar smile, Conrad Birdie enjoys the applause of all his adoring fans.



Rose Alvarez (Valynn Williams) urgently puts an end to all the strange rumors about Conrad Birdie's personal life as a curious reporter (Steve Williams) takes careful notes.

Ecstatic for their debut on "The Ed Sullivan Show," the MacAfee family imagines how great it will be to appear on television.

After she is upset by the news that Conrad is leaving town, one of Conrad's disappointed fans (Elizabeth Yasso) is serenaded by Albert Peterson (Colin Shay). He convinces her to "put on a happy face".

Evelyn (Joel Keeler) shows off his "hot pants" to Moonface Martin, Public Enemy # 13 (Clayton Reilly).

These three may seem like opposites, but they will definitely be lifelong friends. Billy Crocker (Colin Shay), Reno Sweeny (Valynn Williams), and Moonie (Clayton Reilly) plot to keep Billy safe on the ship and win the hearts of those they love.

it just goes to show...
Anything Goes

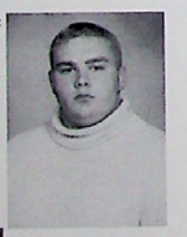
"What is your most memorable experience from being in Liberty Theatre?"

"When my dance partner didn't show up on stage during my first show!"
-Jenna Coxe, '02

"The moment of accomplishment you feel when the show is finished."
-Kate Mattina, '01



"In the final show of 'Bye, Bye, Birdie,' the cast got a standing ovation and that felt really good!"
-John Rodgers, '04

"The cast parties. They're DOPE."
-Steve Williams, '03

"The closeness of all the casts was incredible!"
-Clayton Reilly, '02

Hope Harcourt (Ali Chando) is scheduled to marry Evelyn Oakleigh (Joel Keeler) as Mrs. Harcourt (Ali Steele) and the Captain (Jon Brones) watch. Will Billy and Reno make it in time to stop the wedding?

What a grouch! Elijah Whitney (PJ Santoro) abruptly fires his most-trusted employee, Billy Crocker (Colin Shay) once again. After Billy loses his job, he plans to stowaway on the ship, but he better keep away from his boss.

"I get a kick out of you!" The audience sure got a kick out of Liberty Theatre's performances of the musical "Anything Goes". The cast of approximately 80 students and ten alumni graced the stage on April 27 and 28, and May 4 and 5. This was the first time that Liberty Theatre split their performances over two weekends. The show begins in the 1920's on the S.S. American where Billy Crocker sneaks aboard to join nightclub singer, Reno Sweeny, and her six angels. The story gets complicated when he runs into his former love, Hope Harcourt, and her fiance, Sir Evelyn Oakleigh. Throw in Public Enemy #13, Moonface Martin, and his sidekick Bonnie, and you get quite an entertaining show! Director Eric Smith worked diligently with Ross Makary and Sam Creyer to produce one of the most extravagant sets ever seen on Liberty's stage. The depth of talent in the cast will surely add to the legacy of Liberty Theatre.

"You'll never get into heaven unless you're an angel!" Bonnie (Natasha Hallahan) practices the Heaven Hop with Reno's six angels, played by Emily Persa, Kate Iezzoni, Brittany Barbara, Jenna Coxe, Meggie Morganelli, and Elizabeth Yasso.

Acting is a question of absorbing other people's personalities and adding some of your own experience. - Paul Newman Liberty's talented majorettes, led by captains Lesia Tkachenko, Beth Yencho, and Steph Keim, entertain the audience at the annual band concert. These nineteen dedicated girls always work hard to put on a good show for the crowd.

There's no business like show business! Liberty students certainly don't mind getting up in front of a crowd of people and performing. In fact, they love getting the chance to show an audience what they can do. Students take advantage of events and activities such as the variety show, Liberty Theatre, the step team, cheerleading squad, majorettes, chorus, and the Grenadier Band to express themselves creatively; not to mention that these various clubs entertain hundreds of people in the process. These performances truly showcase all of the talent that Liberty students have but may not get the chance to share with others. Keep in mind, however, that all of these outstanding productions take a lot of hard work and dedication to get the desired results. We all love the entertainment the students provide, so keep up the good work!

At the variety show, Clayton Reilly shows real emotion as he performs a song that he wrote himself. Clayton, as well as all of the other performers, put on an entertaining show for everyone who watched.

Entertainment

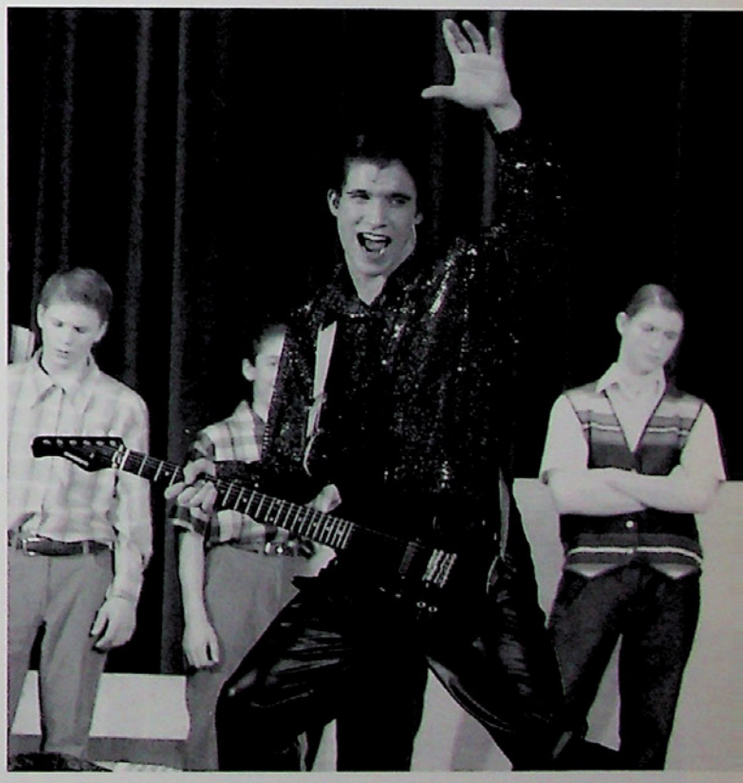
Charles Perez, Justin Kelly, and Rick Nuno watch as Jermaine DeFrancisco breakdances at Liberty's Teen Variety Explosion. This variety show was held by the Latino Youth Leadership Club on Friday, March 16. This event allowed students to express themselves in creative outlets through singing, rapping, dancing, acting, and musical numbers.

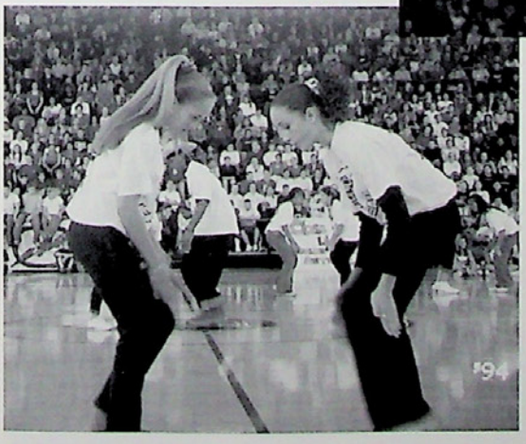
These guys know who's boss. During the first dance competition held on the last day of Spirit Week, a group of energetic sophomores performed their unique dance to a mix of songs including "Bling, Bling" and "Shake It Fast". These students realize that they must go all out in order to have a chance of beating the highly favored seniors.

Eric Luknicki entertains the ski club by executing high-risk manuevers on his snowboard. Through hard work, practice, and even bruises, Eric is able to perform these moves correctly and safely. No matter how many times this daredevil slides off the jump, it is still exciting for everyone on the mountain to watch!!!

This guy does it all...he sings, dances, "plays" the guitar, and still looks good. Junior Jon Brones and the rest of the cast of Liberty's fall musical, "Bye Bye Birdie", put on a wonderful show that kept audiences involved and laughing. This show was not without its' share of work; the cast put in countless hours a week, singing, dancing, acting, planning out costumes, and creating a realistic set. Don't worry, the audience definitely appreciated all their hard work.

I guess this proves that John Misinco will do anything for a few laughs. The senior class president will always entertain the crowd no matter what he has to do...or wear!





During one of the step team's exciting performances at a pep rally, Isabel Garcia and Krystal Rivera show the crowd their moves. Liberty's step team, consisting of both boys and girls, always gets the crowd pumped up and cheering.

Meredith Kwiatek and Ashleigh College attempt to wake up Bev Miller by jumping on the bed during the field hockey trip to Florida. As of now, their attempts do not seem to be affecting Bev!

It looks like these girls had a lot of free time on the orchestra trip to Puerto Rico. Brittany Lare, Deb Flaska, Jessica Bennett, Amanda Zuber, Melissa Maioriello, Wendy Li, Amanda Brown, Liz Skelly, and Stacey Wilson have made themselves a home away from home!

Travel

Traveling and visiting new places is the best way to discover the world around you. This year, hundreds of Liberty students embarked on trips such as college visits, school field trips, and even family vacations. DECA had the chance to travel to California and compete in nationals, and our field hockey team competed in a tournament in Florida. Being involved with school can have many benefits: getting the chance to travel being one of them. For example, National Honor Society members take a trip every year as a reward for being so involved in school. Even being part of a team sport can give you the opportunity to see the rest of the valley. However, no matter how far we roam, Liberty High School will always be our home!

Liberty students are thrilled to experience the England style of life (and shopping) on the 2000 band trip

Nope, the field hockey team isn't in paradise, but it's the next best thing! Here they are in sunny Florida getting ready to play their next game. Their trip gave them an opportunity to bond as well as perfect their hockey skills.

What's that other sunny state? You're looking at it! This year, members of DECA traveled all the way to California to compete in nationals. The new competition seems to be who has the best tan!

Just cruisin'! The German club relaxes on a boat cruise in Germany. The Rhine river was one of the many beautiful sites they saw on their once in a lifetime trip.

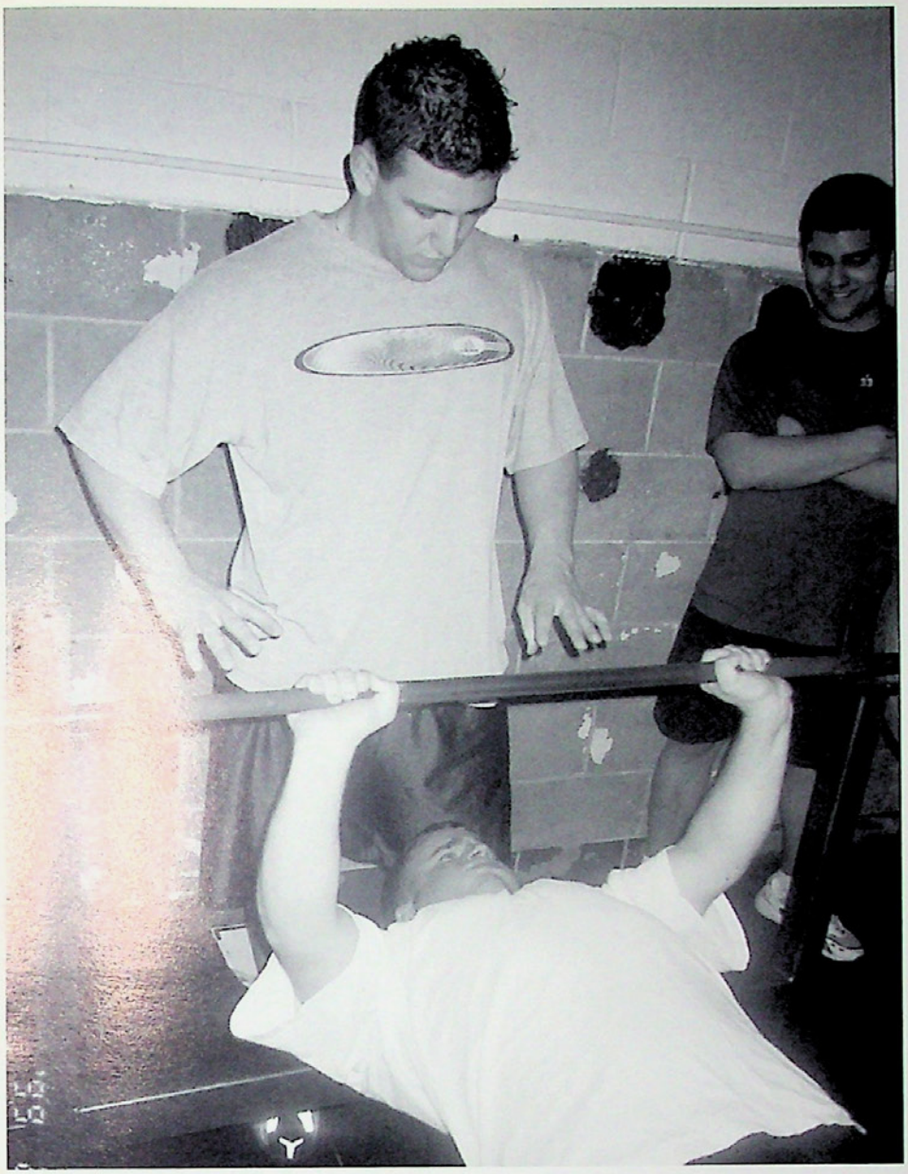
Exchange students Nina Opper and Miriam Mueller stand in front of the huge bear at F-A-O Schwartz in New York City. They only had one year in the United States, so they tried to visit everything that they possibly could!

These tough guys trade in their football uniforms to try out cheerleading. They got their workout for the day, joining in with the cheerleading squad for a routine during the pep rally.

These students obviously realize the importance of stretching before participating in any physical activity.

In the off season, Laura Westerman trains after school. Who's she trying to impress? Maybe Brad Pitt just walked in the weight room.

Exercising is a great way to stay healthy and in shape at the same time. From a variety of sports to our Weight-Lifting and Fitness for Fun clubs, Liberty gives its students plenty of opportunities to stay fit. In addition to our required gym classes, Liberty has introduced specialized classes for credits, including Maximum Fitness and Sports Performance. Students who are serious about their athletics can also become P.E. leaders or sign up for F.O.T.S. (Future Opportunities Through Sports). Beyond these organized activities, many of our students take advantage of Liberty's facilities, exercising on their own time.



Kevin DeAngelis and Jeff Smith know how important safety is while lifting. Here Kevin spots Jeff during his weight room training after school.

Did you know that swimming is one of the best ways to get exercise? This may be why this student chooses to spend his time in the pool, treading water.

let's get physical!

Fitness

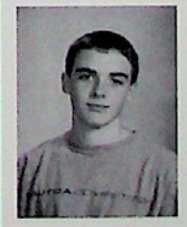
"What do you do to stay in shape?"

During their season, you may have caught these girls swimming laps in the pool or pumping iron in the weight room. Here, Martha Florenz, Allison Ruyak, and Melissa Cronin display their muscles of steel.



"Daily workouts and watching my weight."

-James Williams, '03

"Abslide."

-Greg 'Salamar' Thomas, '01

"I used to run until my toe died...now I lift when I can."

-Ekaterina Colasante, '02

"Sometimes I lift weights. I also play tennis and do crunches at night."

-Dan Garcia, '04

"Drink lots of water, walk and run."

-Susan Hong, '01

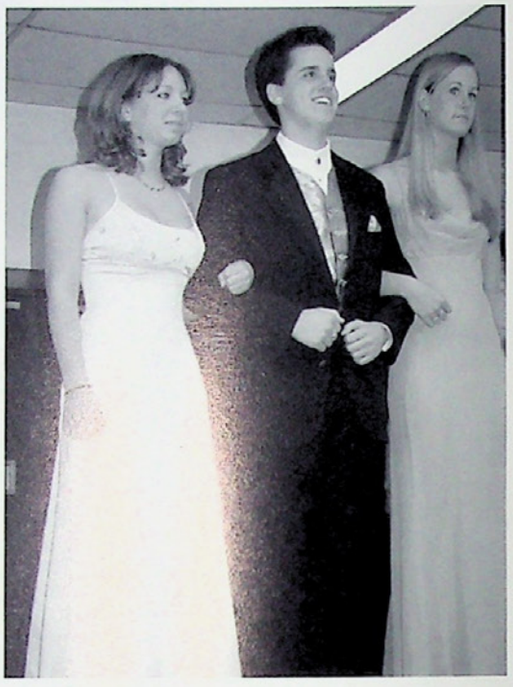
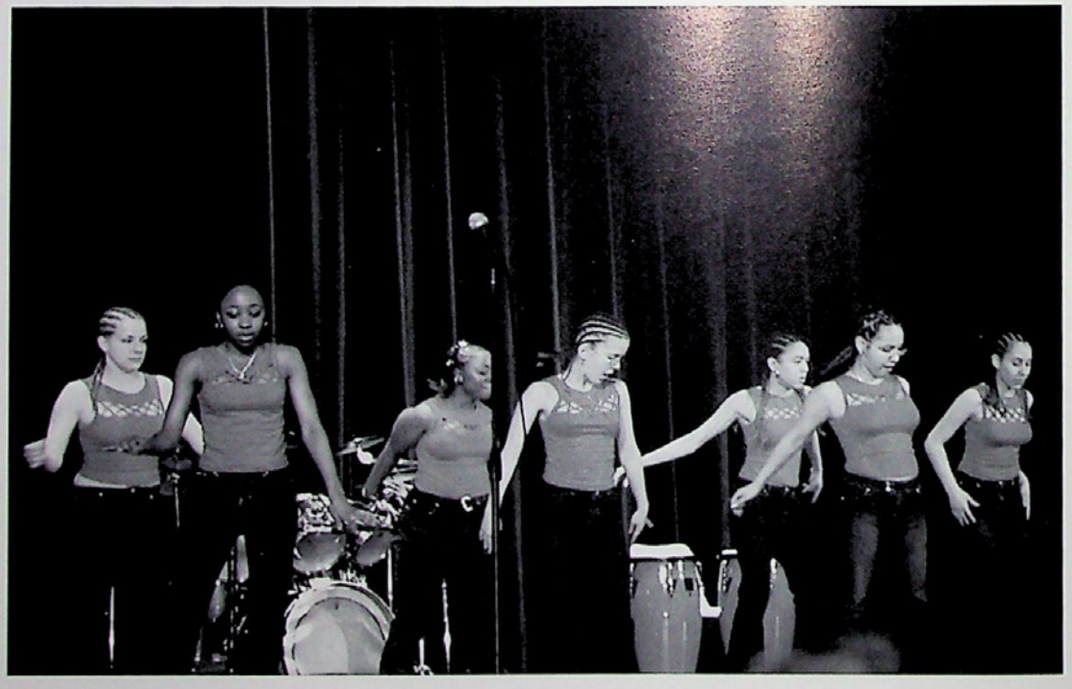
Not only did the Step Team have an amazing dance choreographed for the variety show, but it looks like they spent some time picking hot outfits too!

Colin Shay seems ecstatic to be showing off his tux as well as these two classy girls, Erin Capozzolo and Lauren Speicher. Who knows, maybe Colin will turn down Penn to pursue a modeling career!





Strike a pose! Liberty students constantly sport the latest fashions of the year as well as popular styles of the past. Here at Liberty, students' diversity is apparent even in the clothes that they wear. Throughout the year, there are many opportunities for the students to express unique outfits. The theater program recreates the fashions of many different eras with their authentic costumes. In addition, the prom fashion show, held a couple weeks before prom, lets a few of the seniors show off the newest styles in prom attire. Fashion is continually changing and it is something that lets people express their individuality.

hot stuff
fashion

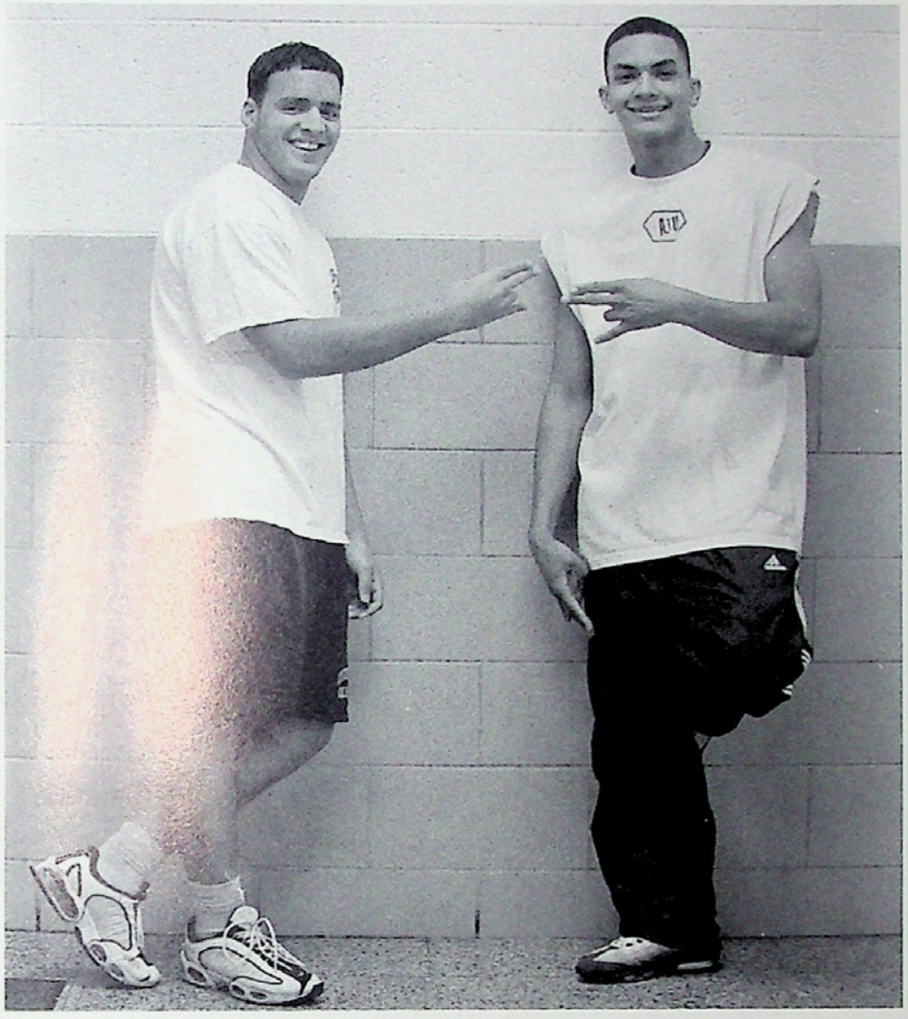
HOT BOYS! Will Bonilla and Jerry Tarboro are stylin' in their athletic wear. Very few people can look good and be comfortable at the same time, but as far as we're concerned, Will and Jerry have it down to an art!



Liberty Theatre is always looking for something new to do. This year they took on the challenge of doing two musicals. "Bye Bye Birdie" (below), which was set in the 1950's and "Anything Goes" (above), set in the 1920's, were two great shows. Not only was the acting and singing superior, but so were the costumes! The fluffy boas of the 20's and the poofy hair of the 50's certainly made a fashion statement.

Theresa Lafavor sports her sunglasses and leopard print in the annual variety show. This event was created for students to show off their talent but it seems like Theresa went one step farther! Although some people deny it, an entertainer's wardrobe may influence their effect on the audience, and it looks like Theresa is doing an awesome job.

workin' 9 to 5
Business

Many students at Liberty High School are active in its excellent business program, whether it's participating in a club like DECA or FBLA, or managing and running the school store. Business students this year traveled the country: Liberty's DECA traveled to Anaheim, California to participate in the national competition, and FBLA also traveled to Seven Springs in Pennsylvania to compete in the state competition. Students also have the opportunity to take many business courses such as marketing, accounting, banking and finance. Whatever club or class they take, Liberty's business students are sure to go far.

One of Liberty's most successful business ventures is the school store, run by Mr. Martucci. Nnanna Anosike enjoys browsing through the store looking for Liberty's best merchandise.

FBLA members Dan Gallagher, Jewel Holi, Drew Somers, and Josh Moyer enjoy a dinner at the state competition in Seven Springs.

Michelle Ummarino, Melissa Dechert, and Zach Kociolek work diligently to finish a project for their computer class.

Anthony Jiminez and Tu Tran proudly display the medals they earned at the DECA state competition, held in Hershey, Pennsylvania. These boys are thrilled that all of their hard work and determination paid off in the winning of the medals.

At the DECA state competition, Liberty students are ecstatic to show off their winning trophies. Through their great performance, ten students qualified to compete in the national competition held in Anahiem, California.

Jessica Zettlemoyer works hard to restock the many snacks and sweets that are sold at Liberty's school store.

On their day off from school, Carin Amoroso, Zach Holt, Andre Pogue, Natalie van den Heuvel, and Emily Traupman work together to build the perfect snowman. They even added their own touch, using Powerade caps for eyes. These seniors show that you are never too old to play in the snow!

After the biggest blizzard of the year, Liberty looks bleak and empty. All the students were home sledding, shoveling snow, and most importantly, sleeping in.

Jason Shoemaker and Lesia Tkachenko come off the slopes to take a break from skiing to cuddle together in an attempt to warm up. These ski club members enjoy spending snowy days at Camelback Ski Resort. Even the freezing cold weather couldn't keep these seniors from having a blast!

No school!! Stef Sirb and Ashleigh College give this day off two thumbs up. These junior girls are all bundled up and ready to enjoy a greatly needed break from school while spending time with each other.

What is your favorite thing to do on a snow day?

"Go out into the snow and come home to warm up with hot cocoa."

-Colleen Connolly, '02

"Take the snow, pour soda in it and eat it."

-Johnathan Johnson, '04

"Spend it with someone I care for very much (if possible), if not sleep!!!"

-Nicole Scott, '02

"X-treme sledding!"

-Allison Ruyak, '03

"Sleep in late, go sledding, curl up next to a fire and watch movies."

-Valynn Williams, '02

Snow Day

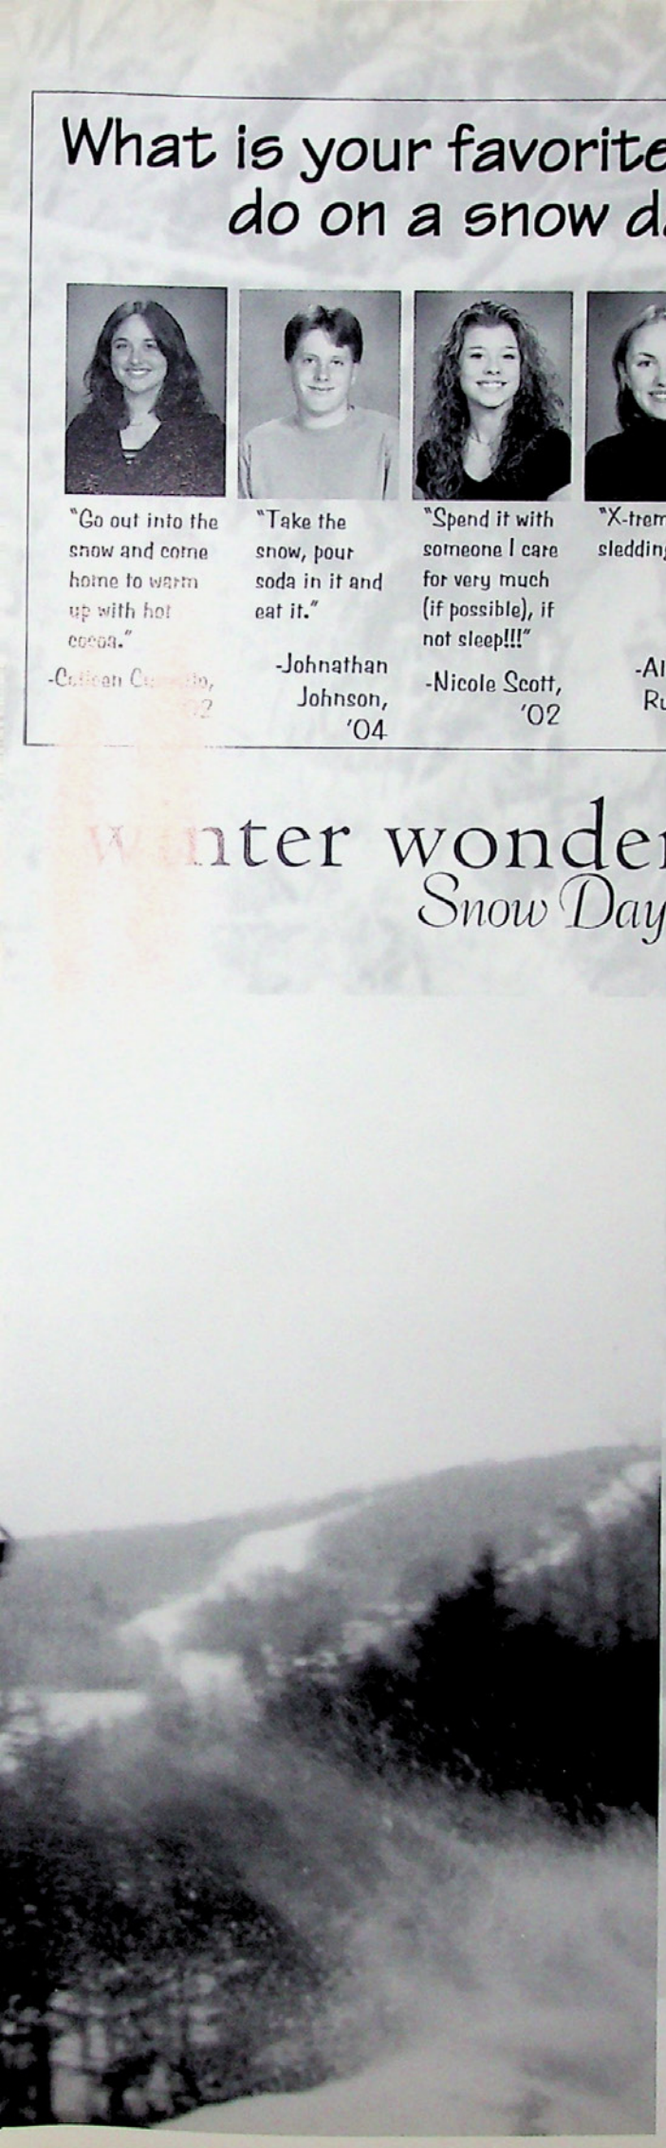
Let it snow! This year we were lucky enough to get a lot of snow, and everyone took advantage of it! On our numerous snow days and late starts, students enjoyed sledding, ice-skating, and just playing in the snow. Liberty's large ski club, run by Mr. Manna and captained by Adams Baker, also used the snow not only to ski and snowboard, but just to spend time together doing something they love. The snow gave Liberty students many great memories, but by the end of the season, everyone was definitely ready for spring!



Jon Ayre takes a huge risk and launches off a jump on his snowboard. Jon, along with all of the other members of the ski club, spent six of their Fridays at Camelback skiing and snowboarding. The 90 member club left school promptly at 3 p.m. with five chaperones.

Alexis Hahalis, Evelina Ohman, and Niki Rutkowski excitedly gather all their equipment as they prepare to finally get out on the slopes! These kids don't want to miss a second of enjoying the snow.

Liberty's Supporters

Students do some crazy things to get pumped up for games. Dorian McDonald is dressed to scare Freedom's team away!

If there is one thing that's alive at Liberty High School, it's our spirit. At every sporting event, students are there supporting their classmates and cheering them to victory. This year, the events which have taken place at Liberty have been very successful. Even though much of that success is due to the participants, there is always someone in the background giving inspiration and support. The spirit of Liberty is something that will be with us forever, and as long as we have that, our school will always feel supported.

This year, at the Liberty-Freedom football game, the spirit was off the wall! Tons of students gathered in the cheering section of the stadium to cheer on the Hurricanes. Here are a few who seemed to be quite excited by the camera...nope! They are excited for the Hurricanes!

Julie Rowe, football manager, watches the football team practice. She was at every football game supporting the team and cheering them on!

Mike Lasko, Kyle Pecuch, Nick D'Egidio, Matt Laubenstein, and Dean Snyder are prepared to take on the opposing team. They are ready to do some cheering with their red and blue pom pons!

What is your favorite sporting event to attend?

"Football because it's a great place to be with all of your friends as well as the other classes."

-Rebecca Haller, '01

"I like track meets because everyone is involved. The races can come down to hundreths of a second and I think that's so exciting!"

-Ashley Daubert, '03

"Swim meets because I'm a swimmer and I love to cheer for my teammates!"

-Ellie Marin, '02

"Basketball, because it's so fast-paced and a lot of people go to the games. Just seconds of the game can make a big difference in the score."

-Arielle Knabb, '02

Mike Davis and Greg Yerk do a dance with the band to cheer the powder puff team to victory. It worked well because this year Freedom was sent home from the game with another loss to add to their list!

the good old days
Looking Back

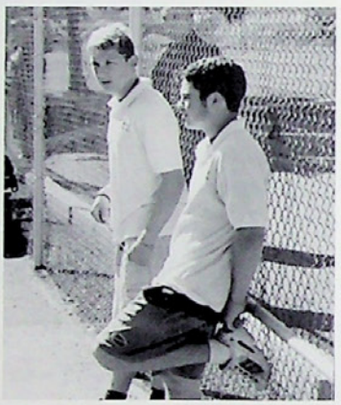
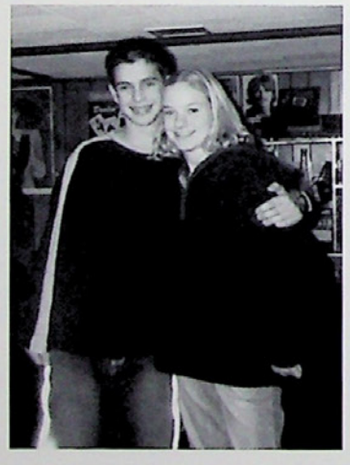
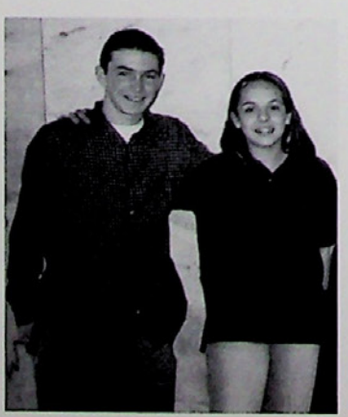
Some people come into our lives and quickly go. Some stay for a while and leave footprints on our heart. And we are never, ever the same.



It takes a lot of understanding, time, and trust to gain a close friendship with someone. As I approach a time in my life of complete uncertainty, my friends are my most precious asset.





The journey in between what you once were and who you are now becoming is where the dance of life really takes place.

It's never too late to be what you might have been.

I always knew looking back on my tears would make me laugh, but I never thought looking back on my laughter would make me cry.

Life is the greatest adventure you'll ever go on. Make sure you enjoy the ride.

Megan Reade and Jamie Sawyer are all smiles at their last prom at Liberty. A long year of hard work really does pay off! Prom night is always very special and memorable night for seniors.

ever after
Prom

Lauren Sienicki and Eric Luknicki are ready to walk the runway in their stunning formal wear. It's hard to believe that girls and guys go through days of preparation for one night!

After a while of dancing, Lauren Fiadino and Becca Haller line up to receive foot massages from Jesse Mudri. After that, it's back to the dance floor!

A few people lean against the railing to catch a glimpse of the beautifully lighted dance floor and to catch their breaths! The main dance floor of Iacocca Hall was packed with couples breakin' it down and having a terrific night!

This group of juniors enjoys the quiet setting of the tower during their first prom. The tower was a nice, cool place to have conversation or grab a snack.

Bev Miller and Amy Rosenfeld are making some heads turn in their gorgeous dresses. These senior girls are making their last prom everything it can be!

After a long night of dancing, Andrew Parry and Lauren Werkheiser look as good as when they first walked into prom! Those fancy hairstyles worn by the girls can be quite difficult to keep perfect.

Steve Midway and Chris VanArtsdalen look pretty satisfied with the job done by the juniors for prom. It took a lot of planning and brainstorming for the ideas to turn into one of the best proms Liberty has ever seen!

Prom night is always a night to remember. This year's prom, held at Iacocca Hall on the Lehigh campus, had the theme of "Ever After." The night's events truly proved that dreams do come true! In the lower level of the hall, prom-goers enjoyed reggae music and had a chance to get away from the crowds of the main dance floor, which occupied the second level. If you were to take the elevator to the very top of the building you would enter the tower. This was a calm, cool place to spend some time with a date and get a drink or snack while enjoying an incredible view. At the peak of the evening, the prom king and queen, Marc Israel and Laura Westerman, were crowned. The prom song, "Crazy," by K-Ci and Jojo set the mood for the end of a magical night!

Prom Court

Being a member of the prom court is always a special high school memory. At the height of the evening, the court was presented on the main dance floor and the crowd waited for the announcement of the prom king and queen. The competition was tough, and everyone had their guesses as to who would win the titles. After a few moments of anticipation, Marc Israel and Laura Westerman were crowned king and queen of Liberty High School's 2001 prom.

The most Lamp of Knowledge recipients, the most students graduating with high honors, the most students graduating with honors, the most students who went above and beyond the community service requirements, and the largest class to leave Liberty since 1983... the Class of 2001 has definitely made their mark. 509 seniors gathered for the last time on the evening of June 12, 2001, before their friends, family, and teachers, for commencement ceremonies. A few last words of wisdom were given by fellow classmates and administrators, and the class presented Liberty with a gift: a plaque to recognize all Liberty Scholars and Lamp of Knowledge recipients, starting with the Class of 2001. At the end, students sang the Alma Mater one last time, and launched their caps into the air, signaling the end of their journey through high school.

Graduation

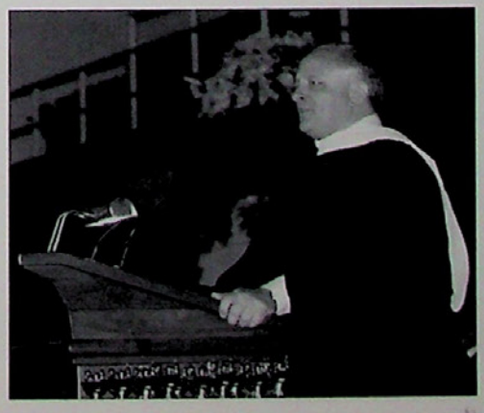
Tara Tachovsky is talented in a variety of areas. An exceptional violinist and the Liberty Scholar, she plays a solo during Amazing Grace.

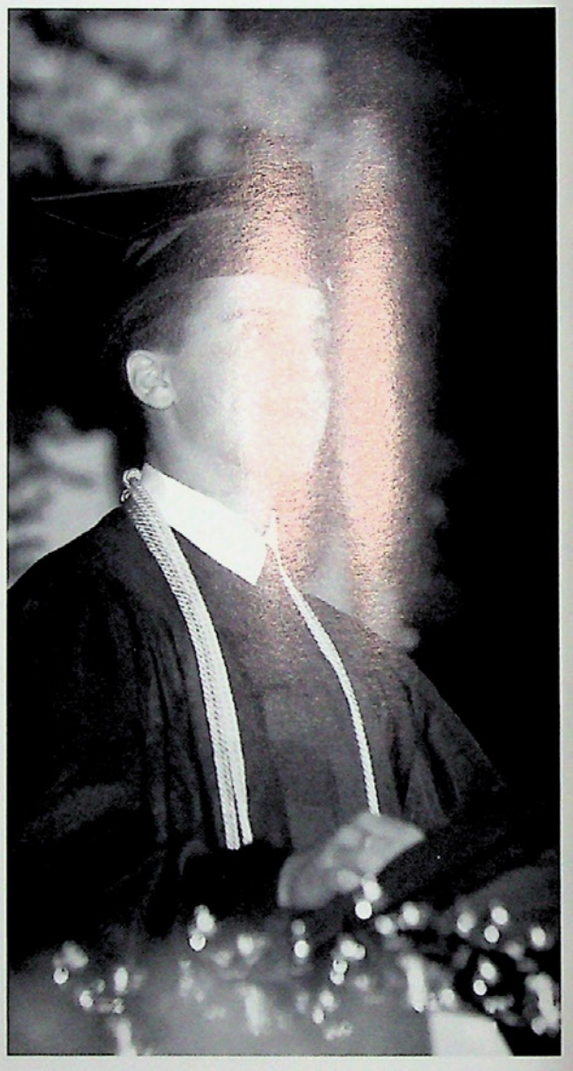


The class officers, Joe Seidenberger, Annie Rodgers, John Misinco, and Jessie Papesh lead the procession of their fellow graduates into Stabler Arena.

Mr. Burkhardt gives fatherly advice to the graduates, reminding them to seize the day, and take everything out of life that they can.

Joel Garcia waits in anticipation as his fellow students walk to the stage to receive their diplomas. It's hard to believe that, in a matter of minutes, he will no longer be a student of Liberty High School.

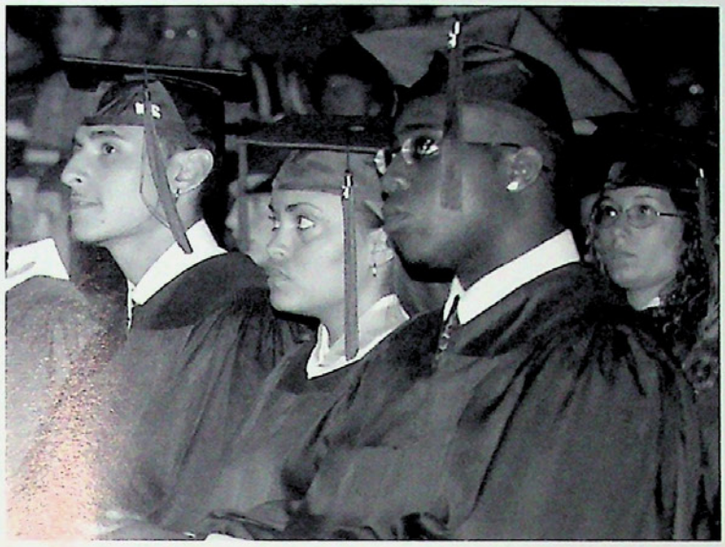
Colin Shay, one of the most involved students in the Class of 2001, addresses his fellow graduates. Colin was chosen to be the faculty speaker, and developed his speech from the line, "Dream as if you will live forever."

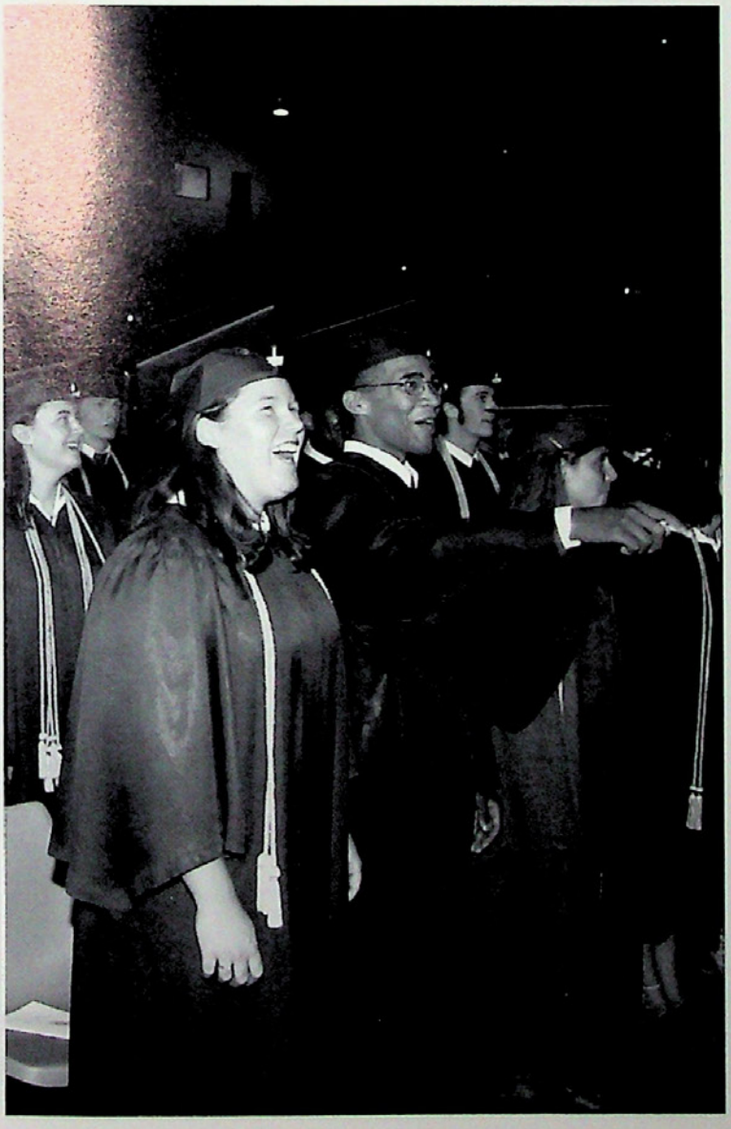


Jennifer Hoffman is proud to receive Liberty's highest honor: a Lamp of Knowledge This award is given to those students who earn straight A's during all four years at Liberty. A total of 24 Lamps of Knowledge were awarded to hard working seniors this year.

Mr. Makary, Mrs. Shive, Mrs. Clewell, and Mrs. Lewis, only a few of the faculty members that attended this year's commencment ceremonies, wear colors of their college and degree.

Ebenezer Artreche, Yaditza Arias, and Nnanna Anosike listen closely to the remarks being made by Mr. Burkhardt. They want to be able to remember and cherish this night for years to come.

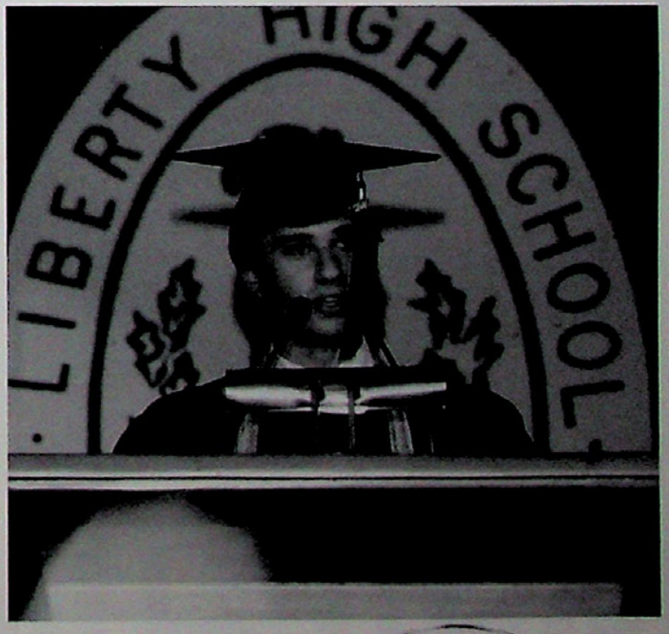




So what if graduation is supposed to be a serious time! Julie Anderson and Isaac Anderson found something funny, and they were not about to hold back from laughing.

The Bagpipe Corps is a very well known part of Liberty. Playing for his last time as part of the Corps, Jacoy Teague marches in cap and gown in front of more than 3,000 people.

Sarah Dreher and Tanya Evans, part of Liberty's Choir, look for their cue to start singing. This year's graduation song was "Bring On Tomorrow."



Steve Midway was chosen by his peers as Class Speaker. He spoke on the line "Live as if you will die today." He, as well as the other speakers, reminded the Class of 2001 that life is about opportunity and taking it when it comes.

Lauren,

When you keep going long after you think you can't and do what needs to be done, you will find the hero inside yourself.

All great achievements and great love involve great risk. Although, when you take great risk and lose, don't lose the lesson.

Respect yourself and others, open yourself to change, but don't let go of your values.

You have grown into a strong, hardworking, responsible, compassionate, and honorable young woman.

We are so very proud of you!

Love Always,

Marc Israel

Marc,
Love at first sight came easy with you. What a joyful little boy you were always smiling and happy-go-lucky, and what a fine young man you have become. We are so proud to call you our son, brother, and grandson.

A son maps out his path in life and our hopes journey with him. He discovers his own happiness, joys, and fears, which in turn become ours. A son leaves your home, but never your heart. Life changes, Love does not!

Follow your heart and your dreams. Reach for the stars. Remember there is no shortcut to success, just a lot of hard work and determination. Always persevere. Have faith in yourself and your abilities. Remember the "Mustard Seed". We know you are destined to do great things.

We wish you laughter, joy, and endless happiness. Always remember, all roads lead home. May God bless you and keep you always in his care.

We Love You,
Mom, Dad, Craig, Todd, Grammy, Nanna, Pop-Pop, and Nana

Dear Katie,
And to think, in 8th grade nobody thought our friendship would last. Only 3 of us really knew. Never forget our laughter & tears. From... Gate 7, the bathroom book, spoons & knives, "we be", RLR121, "mom", "bitbitbit", "well, I know I'm NOT", Hallmark, and "because you loved me"all the way to the Indigo Girls, dog sitting, and driving on Route 33 to the big house on the hill where we met Casey, Drifus, and Patti...we've formed a unique, priceless friendship that I'm so grateful to have. I'll miss you so much, Katie. "Think pAsitive", "behavel", "keep your head up" and always "remember everything i told you, keep it to your heart like a stone and when the winds have blown things 'round and back again what was once your pain will be your home". I love you always. -Tia

To my Senior Friends

The loneliness has set in. The darkness is now around me. I see the light in the distance, but it grows more faint every passing second. I hear the shrieks and cries of those who have fallen before. I turn around and gaze into the empty black pit that draws me in further. As I stare, I see the face of a man I know. He tells me turn around and run back to the light. I tell him I cant. He then stands up, and I truely see who it is. He is the man I want to become. He tells me again to run. I don't know why, but I begin to jog. I pick up pace, and finally I'm in an all out sprint. I don't know where I'm running. The Light! It gets brighter with each step! I continue running to the light and pass through it. I wake up to find myself back where I started, in my room all alone, or am I? I look around and I see the pictures of all my friends and family. I realize that I will never be lonely ever in my life. I have great friends to keep me in the light.

Colophon

The 2001 Cauldron, Volume 76, was printed in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania by the Herff Jones Yearbook Company. Under the guidance of company representative, Nancy Tunis, we, the Liberty High School Yearbook staff, have once again produced a wonderful yearbook. All senior, underclassmen, and faculty portraits were taken by Christmas City Studios of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Christmas City Studio photographers also supplied the Sports Team and Club pictures. Candid photographs for the Sports, Underclassmen, Senior, Faculty, and Student Life sections were supplied by Christmas City Studios and the Cauldron photography staff. Over eight hundred copies of the Cauldron were sold this school year. All seniors received their copy free of charge with the payment of their class dues. All underclassmen were charged $60.

This year's book was printed on Bordeaux 100# paper (black and white). The cutout cover is quarterbound with VibraTex Maroon 41009 on a NovaTex Snowcloud 1824 background. The cover design contains an applied silkscreen color of Black and applied foil in Silver, and is a Wolf Grain. The book consist of 336 pages, 16 of those in color, and Crystalline endsheets. All dividers were prepared by Stephani Wrabel.

The Cauldron staff would like to say "Thank You" to Maureen O'Meara who supplied us with many pictures, all of the computer teachers who let us use computers during class times, and the secretaries for all their knowledge. We would also like to extend our thanks to Nancy Tunis, from Herff Jones Yearbooks, for coming to help whenever we called and for all her good ideas. A special thanks to all the employees of Christmas City Studios in Bethlehem for helping us out in a jam. Everyone has been great, we couldn't have done it without you!
