

Heydt, Walter E.

Weissport Soldier
Still Missing JAN 3 1944

Formerly reported "missing in action in the southwest Pacific area since December 11, 1942," Staff Sergeant Walter E. Heydt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alam Heydt, Union Hill, Weissport, is unlocated according to a telegram from the War Department received by his parents last week.

The last time his parents heard from him, Sergeant Heydt was in Hawaii, his first overseas station. His last letter received December 22, 1942, was dated December 4. Since that time all other letters written by the parents have been returned. He was reported missing one year and one day after his induction.

Prior to his induction, Heydt was employed as a fireman at the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant in this city.
