City considers apartment structure

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Emotionally dominated responses dominated the public hearing Sept. 17 to rezone the zoning map to accommodate a planned apartment building spanning 11 to 15 West Garrison St. Dennis Connell, an architect who owns the property, wants to erect a five-story apartment building that could have 72 units and a garage with 74 parking spaces.

The properties are currently in the RT or High-Density Residential District, but Connell wants city council to approve a re-designation of the zoning map to classify the properties back to CB, or Central Business District, as they had been until 2005.

Under Connell's development plans, the existing houses would be razed and the lots he owns would be joined to allow space for the proposed apartment building and provide for a 20-foot buffer zone between the CB and RT zones.

"My intent during this decades-long series of acquisitions was to acquire enough property for a development suitable for a center

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Festival Unbound: Just Make Art

BY SILAGH WHITE
Special to the Bethlehem Press

When Touchstone Theatre members started to think about what to include in the 20th anniversary reflection of their first major community festival (Steel-Bound in 1999), the artists considered what issues needed to be represented, and what voices need to be heard. Education director and ensemble member Mary Wright said, "It needs to have kids' voices."

In conversation with Bethlehem Area School District art teachers and Assistant Superintendent Jack Silva, they decided to focus on fourth grade. Wright wanted the project to integrate with the art teachers' established curriculum. In the BASD fourth grade art curriculum, the teachers focus on the theme of "community." All 1,000-plus fourth graders from the Bethlehem public schools created their visualization of what the future of Bethlehem could be. Their pictures were colored onto recycled sand bags. These images will be strung onto ropes and displayed in Payrow Plaza for the Festival

Unbound closing ceremony Oct. 13 at 5:30 p.m.

But that idea wasn't enough of a statement. To amplify Bethlehem youths' visions of the future, Touchstone collaborated with fiber artist Mallory Zondag to create a large mural inspired by the students' work. Zondag is a fiber artist and involved in community engagement. Wright and Zondag brainstormed how to make the piece a community collaborative production as well.

The mural will be constructed through the run of the festival. The base of the mural is plastic snow fencing.

PPL trucks sent to storm aftermath

BY DOUGLAS GRAVES
Special to the Bethlehem Press

Fifty PPL Electric Utilities engineers, supervisors and line workers formed a convoy of 20 special-purpose trucks and other vehicles and headed out Aug. 30 for Florida to help local power companies deal with Hurricane Dorian.

However, before the convoy reached Florida, the storm track of Dorian changed and Florida was no longer threatened with a direct hit. The major power company in Florida, Duke Energy, released the PPL workers from their task. The workers were then ordered to return to their home base in Pennsylvania.

The task force included 36 line workers; the workers expected to arrive Aug. 31, but have now returned home.

The group was responding as part of a mutual assistance agreement between regional power companies to assist each other in the event of disaster, according to PPL's Strategic Communications Manager Joe Nixon.

The crews were sent to help Florida power companies Florida Power and Light and Duke Energy Florida deal with the aftermath of the hurricane.

"We are happy to be able to provide this mutual assistance," said Nixon as the men and vehicles assembled on PPL's Hausman Road campus.

The group formed at the PPL compound on Hausman Road in South Whitehall Township and were slated to meet with another group of PPL workers and vehicles heading south out of Lancaster.

According to Nixon, the men expected to stay one or two weeks. If the commitment had grown beyond that, new crews would have been designated to replace the crews on the ground.

"We are going down to help the families in Florida to restore power loss [expected] from Hurricane Dorian," said Brian Kostik as the convoy formed up. Kostik is a PPL safety professional who was joining the convoy.

The PPL crew did not need to help any other states as the storm moved up the coast, said Nixon. He said he was not aware of any requests for assistance from Bermuda.

The expense of the operation will be met by the host or receiving power companies, not by local PPL customers, according to Nixon.

PPL sent a similar task force to Puerto Rico last year in the wake of Hurricane Maria. In 2017 the local power company also sent assistance to Florida in the wake of Hurricane Irma.

city urban location," said Connell, speaking to council. He said the project would occupy .6955 acres.

Council held the public hearing preceding the regular meeting to allow residents to express opinions on the proposed building.

However, not all residents supported the project.

Lauren Miller, who rents one of Connell's properties, was especially emotional in her opposition. "I'm against tearing down something old to build something new for economic [reasons]," she said.

Miller described an idyllic neighborhood where "kids sit on my front porch and color" and where "love has been part of transforming our block - loving your neighbor as you love yourself transformed the block."

Resident Vanessa Torres also opposed the project. She said she "left New York City to get away from high-rises."

Bruce Haines, managing director of the Hotel Bethlehem, said, "This is a commercial intrusion on residents."

Lehigh Planning Commission's Jillian Seitz, in a letter to Bethlehem Planning Director Darlene Heller, supported Connell's hoped-for development. "This proposal is consistent with the County Comprehensive Plan." Council hosted the public hearing, but was not required to vote on the issue.

In other business, a usually routine "certificate of appropriateness" to allow the property owner at 251 E. Church St. to install a gate and new fence was delayed at the request of an adjacent homeowner. That individual opposes the fence on the grounds that it would hinder proper maintenance of an existing building because it would unduly restrict access to the property.

Cheryl Dougan, the neighbor who opposes the fence, wants the city to instruct HARB to only concern themselves with what can be seen from the street, not with a fence between two properties, which Dougan contends is beyond the authority of the HARB.

The issue had been previously the subject of extensive review by the Historical Architectural Review Board HARB, which approved the proposed fence and gate in a 6-2 vote. Usually, but not always, council ratifies HARB recommendations; however, this time council voted to delay for a month a deciding vote, pending a review of zoning law in other jurisdiction.

Councilwoman Dr. Paige Van Wirt supported Dougan's request and called for time to get additional information.

Dougan said in an interview she hopes that such a review will support her desire to see the zoning code re-written to exclude fences that hinder proper maintenance of nearby buildings. She offered a proposed change to the code: "Fences or walls that prevent the reasonable maintenance (including but not limited to washing, painting, and repair) or replacement of existing structures on adjoining lots are prohibited."

In other business, council approved plans by Touchstone Theatre to produce a series of events on the Bethlehem Greenway and Payrow Plaza near City Hall and the Bethlehem Area Public Library. The program, titled, "Festival Unbound" will center on issues affecting citizens of modern Bethlehem. Events will run from Oct. 4-13.

ART

a huge rug-hooking project," Wright said.

"Instead of thread, ribbons of cloth will be woven into the form. The public is invited to help 'fill in' the colors of the mural." The cloth ribbons were made by volunteers who cut up recycled T-shirts.

When the mural is complete, the banner will hang on the city hall building, on the side facing the library. The making of the mural will be outside the library - attached to the wrought iron handrails to the left of the Bethlehem Public Library's main entrance off Church Street. These projects are for everyone: kids and adults. Touchstone wants everyone to remember how much fun it is to make art. No experience necessary.

The location of Payrow Plaza for the closing ceremony was deliberate. Touchstone believes the Bethlehem Public Library should also be a part of the festival because it is free and open to everyone.

"There are people in and out of the library all the time. We don't want the festival to be just something people go and see," Wright said. "We want this festival to be something people come and do. Art making isn't only for the professionals. We encourage art-making in everybody."

Anyone coming to the library can sit down and make some art.

One of the themes of the festival is "Just Make Art." Starting Saturday, Oct. 5 and daily during the festival until Saturday, Oct. 12 in the Bob Cohen Room, volunteers will show people the various kinds of art making available between 10 a.m. and noon and 2-5 p.m. Available projects are individual and collaborative. One collaborative project is for people to respond to a prompt on five large banners on conference tables. Each day will have a different banner and prompts. The prompts center around the other themes of the festival: 1) The promise and challenges of diversity, 2) Health and the Interconnectedness of All Things, and 3) The Importance of our Youth.

The banners will become part of the march around the library during the closing ceremony. Some of the individual projects will also be placed in the library windows facing out - becoming a backdrop for the closing ceremony.

For more details on the pARTicipate project, as well as 21 performances in locations around Bethlehem and Beyond, visit www.FestivalUnbound.com.

The Fatal Choice

Two Africans were paddling their dugout down the peaceful waters of the beautiful, blue Zambezi River. Suddenly there was a heavy thud and the dugout shook violently causing both men to lose their balance and fall into the water. Then a vicious crocodile surfaced. Both of the paddlers, now struggling in the water, knew they were facing death. One of the men remembered a village elder's advice that if he were ever in a crocodile-infested river, he should swim under water, against the current, as the crocodile always looks downstream for his prey. This he did, and after some strenuous swimming he safely got to shore. The other man thought he would make better time if he swam with the current. Nearing the shore he touched bottom and quickly ran for the bank. He almost made it-but not quite. The bloodthirsty reptile had been following him, and just a few feet from the shore it caught his leg and dragged him under water. That was the last the man was ever seen.

This is the mistake many are making with respect to their soul's destiny. They are going with the current, taking the way of least resistance. In the end they will discover it has been a fatal choice. The Bible says, "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Proverbs 14:12). God's ways are often incomprehensible to our finite, human minds. God says, "as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." (Isaiah 55:9). This is why the prophet Isaiah said, "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (v.7). God's way of salvation is Jesus Christ. There is no other way (see www.naog.ws/theway.htm). If you will admit your need of salvation, confess your sins to God, and receive Jesus into your heart by faith, you will be saved!

The beautiful blue of the ornate Russian Orthodox Church on Bridle Path Road complemented a blue sky Sept. 7 as the church in Bethlehem was the scene of the Russian Food Festival.

George, Dimitra and Angelika came from Nazareth to browse the vendors' tables at the St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church's 37th annual Russian Days Food Festival.

"We are from St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church in Nazareth," said George, who preferred not to give his last name. "We want to support other local communities in the Lehigh Valley."

Several vendors offered crafts that ranged from hand-painted religious icons to traditional ornate Russian Easter

"Egger" Louise Habakus from New Jersey explained that while most of the decorated eggs on display had a religious theme, "Eggs were decorated centuries before Christ."

Traditional Russian food was available inside the community room of the church and in the backyard, where large tents shielded attendees and food servers from the bright sun.

Food Fest Chairperson Jennifer Bzik said the event required 60 to 70 people to staff it.

"We sold 1,000 dozen perogies and 1,000 dozen kiffles," said Bzik, as she described the scale of the event, which was free to attendees.

Reverend Matthew Joyner provided a little of the history of the church on Bridle Path Road.

"The church originated in South Bethlehem, where it was built in 1914," said Rev. Joyner. "This current building was built in 1979 and consecrated in 1981. This is the 40th anniversary of the first liturgy of the church."

"This parish is central to our diocese," said Rev. Joyner. "There are 36 parishes, but this is the second largest."

He said the diocese covers most of eastern Pennsylvania.

The Sept. 24 Saucun Valley School Board meeting was a short, congenial one, with only a few orders of business inspiring in-depth discussion, and little to no contention among members.

On hand for introduction was newly hired Supervisor of Campus Operations John McCabe, replacing outgoing Supervisor Wally Zimpfer, who is retiring effective immediately. The supervisor of campus operations' job is to oversee everything physical related to the campus grounds, buildings and buses, McCabe explained in a brief interview.

McCabe will be starting in his role as soon as possible, contingent upon the filing of remaining necessary paperwork.

Additional discussion centered around the approval of a contract with a new publisher for the award-winning high school yearbook. Principal Tamara Gary explained that while some high schools' yearbooks come with a price tag of $100 or more for students, they have in the past been available to Another topic of note involved required training for members issued by the Pennsylvania School Board Association (PSBA), whose representatives on the board are Mark Sivak and Sandra Miller.

Miller explained that newly elected members are required to have five hours' worth of training, with re-elected members needing to complete three. There was some consternation among a few of the members regarding the motivation behind the requirement of a training provided by the PSBA and/or the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE) rather than that which might be provided by a private firm, such as a law office.

Board member Michael Karabin posed the hypothetical question of what consequences there might be if a member refused to attend such training (which is offered online or at one of thirteen locations at no cost). It was explained by Solicitor Mark Fitzgerald that it would likely warrant removal from the Board, as Secretary David Bonenberger must have certification of completion by all members on file in case of an audit.

LEHIGH COUNTY

The Republican members who dominate the Lehigh County Board of Commissioners 6-3 don't trust the Democrats who head up Lehigh County Executive Phillips Armstrong's administration.

An amendment establishing procedures to allow the Lehigh County Board of Commissioners to recommend health care provider vendors other than the one recommended by the administration had its first reading Sept. 25.

A motion by one of the bill's all-Republican sponsors, Commissioner Marc Grammes, to table the bill failed in a 4-4 vote. President Marty Nothstein was absent; the tie vote was counted as a failure to approve tabling the bill. It will move forward for a vote at the next regular meeting Oct. 9.

Voting to table the amendment were Geoff Brace (D), Dan Hartzell (D), Marc Grammes (R), and Amy Zanelli (D). Opposed were Nathan Brown (R), Percy Dougherty (R), Amanda Holt (R), and Brad Osborne (R).

Grammes eloquently argued that the administration's Director of Administration Edward Hozza's previous offer to invite board members to sit in on health care negotiations would be sufficient to ensure the level of "trust" that he suggested was needed between the board and the administration, headed by Executive Phillips Armstrong.

Grammes said that Hozza, the former mayor of Whitehall, had "offered to do workshops to show us [the board of directors] everything he knows."

The bill would amend the existing Administrative Code by inserting language outlining the procedure to allow the board to put on the agenda an alternative health care vendor if any commissioner "wishes to submit an alternate selection for consideration, the name of the [health care] entity...shall be placed on the agenda." This new provision opens the door for any one commissioner to undo the work of the administration's health care negotiations for the selection of a qualified health care provider.

This would allow a (typically) part-time Commissioner with little to no expertise in health care to derail the recommendation of the administration's full-time health care experts. Ironically, this presumed safeguard is already built into the process, because if the board objects to the administration's recommendation, the board can vote it down, forcing the administration to come up with an alternative plan.

However, Grammes' motion to table was vigorously opposed by GOP Commissioner Nathan Brown, who said the reason for his profound distrust of the administration was that Edward Hozza - the director of administration for Armstrong and a member of the vetting team that considers health care vendors - was also chairman of the Lehigh Valley Democratic Committee.

"I mean, where's the trust?" said Brown, who was the acting president of the board in Nothstein's. "You've seen trust erode. It's happening between the board and the executive."

Brown referred back to negotiations with the Human Services employees union, which dragged on for close to six months before reaching a conclusion this past summer. The negotiations were conducted by the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) and the board of directors while Armstrong's administration was sidelined - not invited to the table.

"Let's pull up our pants," said Brown. "Let's do the right thing. The executive and his team should be at the union negotiating table."

This brought quick reaction from Commissioner Amy Zanelli. "You have a negotiating team that doesn't show up," she said.

Zanelli was repeating a criticism she had made in the past when the board insisted that it, not the administration, negotiate the union's contract. She had previously claimed that members of the board's negotiating team were frequent no-shows for the protracted negotiations with the SEIU team.

Zanelli also challenged the idea that the commissioners, most of whom have full-time jobs, have time to sit in on all of the negotiations. "We should also be present for the information sessions," said Zanelli. "Budget hearings are going on at the same time. Other meetings are going to take place at the same time."

"We are setting ourselves up for failure yet again, as we did with the budget hearings."

In a post-meeting interview with Executive Phillips Armstrong, the Press asked about the proposed amendment inserting language that will allow any commissioner the authority to single handedly nix the recommendation from the administration's proposed health care provider for the county employees and retirees.

"We have a team; the Chief Financial Officer, the Human Relations Director, the Chief of Administration, myself and whoever else we need," said Armstrong.

He said the qualified responders to the RFP (request for proposal) for health care providers are vetted through a rigorous process.

"I would have no problem if someone on the board sat in on all of these meetings," said Armstrong. "That board member could have a say in the picking of a provider."

"But [I am opposed to an amendment that would allow] for us to go through all of that work and for someone who did not attend any of these meetings to say 'No,'" he said.

"You have to have knowledge to make decisions," said Armstrong.

"This administration has done absolutely nothing in two years that was not trust-worthy," he said, still bristling over Brown's claim that there is no trust between the board and the administration.

In a separate interview, Director of Administration Edward Hozza who is also chairman of the Lehigh Valley Democratic Committee, said, "This county executive [Phillips Armstrong] has bent over backwards to give the board of commissioners all they have asked for and more."

"I don't know where this [concern] about my position with the Lehigh County Democratic Committee comes from," said Hozza.

Wind Creek Bethlehem is giving local nonprofit organizations an opportunity to win $25,000. The contest will run in tandem with the property's Grand Opening Ceremonies Oct. 10.

A total of ten, active 501(c)(3) organizations were selected to participate in the contest. The selection was based on previous partnerships, locality and established community relationships built over the past decade: ArtsQuest; Hispanic Center Lehigh Valley; Hogar Crea - Women's Center; Junior League of the Lehigh Valley; St Luke's University Health Network

The Foundation For The Bethlehem Area School District; Turning Point Lehigh Valley; Via of the Lehigh Valley; Victory House of Lehigh Valley; and YWCA Bethlehem.

Participants were asked to submit a 30 - 60 second video that showcased their organization, who they are, what they do and if awarded $25,000, how the money would be spent. Each video will be posted in random order on Wind Creek Bethlehem's Official Facebook Page from September 13, 2019 - September 22, 2019. Voting is open to the public and will be from September 23, 2019 - September 30, 2019. The winner will be announced on Thursday, October 10, 2019 during Wind Creek Bethlehem's Grand Opening Ceremonies.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF PENNSYLVANIA

This notice contains information about a question that will be on the ballot in the Municipal Election to be held on November 5, 2019.

The ballot question proposes an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania, based on a joint resolution of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

If this ballot question is approved by a majority of the people voting on it, the amendment will become law.

The General Assembly of Pennsylvania first proposed the amendment during the 2018 session and approved it for a second time during the 2019 session of the legislature, as required by Article XI, Section 1 of the Constitution.

This public notice is part of the process of amending the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The Secretary of the Commonwealth is required to publish:

- A copy of the joint resolution proposing the amendment.
- The text of the question that will be on the ballot.
- A "Plain English Statement" prepared by the Office of Attorney General explaining the purpose, limitations and effects of the ballot question upon the people of this Commonwealth.

Text that appears in bold print are the changes to the words of the Constitution that are proposed by the General Assembly. If the amendment is approved, the words underlined would be added to the Constitution.

If you need help reading this advertisement or need the text of the proposed amendment in an alternative format, call or write the Pennsylvania Department of State, Bureau of Election Services and Notaries, Room 210 North Office Building, Harrisburg, PA 17120, (717) 787-5280, ra-BCEL@pa.gov.

Kathy Boockvar, Acting Secretary of the Commonwealth

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2019-1

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for rights of victims of crime.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with Article XI:

That Article I be amended by adding a section to read:

§ 9.1. Rights of victims of crime.

(a) To secure for victims justice and due process throughout the criminal and juvenile justice systems, a victim shall have the following rights, as further provided and as defined by the General Assembly, which shall be protected in a manner no less vigorous than the rights afforded to the accused: to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity and privacy; to have the safety of the victim and the victim's family considered in fixing the amount of bail and release conditions for the accused; to reasonable and timely notice of and to be present at all public proceedings involving the criminal or delinquent conduct; to be notified of any pretrial disposition of the case; with the exception of grand jury proceedings, to be heard in any proceeding where a right of the victim is implicated, including, but not limited to, release, plea, sentencing, disposition, parole and pardon; to be notified of all parole procedures, to participate in the parole process, to provide information to be considered before the parole of the offender, and to be notified of the parole of the offender; to reasonable protection from the accused or any person acting on behalf of the accused; to reasonable notice of any release or escape of the accused; to refuse an interview, deposition or other discovery request made by the accused or any person acting on behalf of the accused; full and timely restitution from the person or entity convicted for the unlawful conduct; full and timely restitution as determined by the court in a juvenile delinquency proceeding; to the prompt return of property when no longer needed as evidence; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt and final conclusion of the case and any related postconviction proceedings; to confer with the attorney for the government; and to be informed of all rights enumerated in this section.

(b) The victim or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. This section does not grant the victim party status or create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the Commonwealth or any political subdivision, nor any officer, employee or agent of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision, or any officer or employee of the court.

(c) As used in this section and as further defined by the General Assembly, the term "victim" includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly harmed by the commission of the offense or act. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor or incapacitated victim.

Section 2. (a) Upon the first passage by the General Assembly of this proposed constitutional amendment, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall proceed immediately to comply with the advertising requirements of section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and shall transmit the required advertisements to two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers are published in sufficient time after passage of this proposed constitutional amendment.

(b) Upon the second passage by the General Assembly of this proposed constitutional amendment, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall proceed immediately to comply with the advertising requirements of section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and shall transmit the required advertisements to two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers are published in sufficient time after passage of this proposed constitutional amendment. The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall submit this proposed constitutional amendment to the qualified electors of this Commonwealth at the first primary, general or municipal election which meets the requirements of and is in conformance with section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and which occurs at least three months after the proposed constitutional amendment is passed by the General Assembly.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

CRIME VICTIM RIGHTS

Ballot Question

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to grant certain rights to crime victims, including to be treated with fairness, respect and dignity; considering their safety in bail proceedings; timely notice and opportunity to take part in public proceedings; reasonable protection from the accused; right to refuse discovery requests made by the accused; restitution and return of property; proceedings free from delay; and to be informed of these rights, so they can enforce them?

Plain English Statement of the Office of Attorney General

The proposed amendment, if approved by the electorate, will add a new section to Article I of the Pennsylvania Constitution. That amendment will provide victims of crimes with certain, new constitutional rights that must be protected in the same way as the rights afforded to individuals accused of committing a crime.

The proposed amendment defines "victim" as both a person against whom the criminal act was committed and any person who was directly harmed by it. The accused or any person a court decides is not acting in the best interest of a victim cannot be a victim.

Generally, the proposed amendment would grant victims the constitutional right to receive notice and be present and speak at public proceedings involving the alleged criminal conduct. It would also grant victims the constitutional right to receive notice of any escape or release of the accused and the right to have their safety and the safety of their family considered in setting the amount of bail and other release conditions. It would also create several other new constitutional rights, such as the right to timely restitution and return of property, the right to refuse to answer questions asked by the accused, and the right to speak with a government attorney.

Specifically, the proposed amendment would establish the following new rights for victims:

- To be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity and privacy
- To have the safety of the victim and the victim's family considered in fixing the amount of bail and release conditions for the accused
- To reasonable and timely notice of and to be present at all public proceedings involving the criminal or delinquent conduct
- To be notified of any pretrial disposition of the case
- With the exception of grand jury proceedings, to be heard in any proceeding where a right of the victim is implicated, including, but not limited to, release, plea, sentencing, disposition, parole and pardon
- To be notified of all parole procedures, to participate in the parole process, to provide information to be considered before the parole of the offender, and to be notified of the parole of the offender
- To reasonable protection from the accused or any person acting on behalf of the accused
- To reasonable notice of any release or escape of the accused
- To refuse an interview, deposition or other discovery request made by the accused or any person acting on behalf of the accused
- Full and timely restitution from the person or entity convicted for the unlawful conduct
- Full and timely restitution as determined by the court in a juvenile delinquency proceeding
- To the prompt return of property when no longer needed as evidence
- To proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt and final conclusion of the case and any related postconviction proceedings
- To confer with the attorney for the government
- To be informed of all rights enumerated in this section

The proposed amendment would allow a victim or prosecutor to ask a court to enforce these constitutional rights but would not allow a victim to become a legal party to the criminal proceeding or sue the Commonwealth or any political subdivision, such as a county or municipality, for monetary damages.

Once added to the Pennsylvania Constitution, these specific rights of victims cannot be eliminated, except by a judicial decision finding all or part of the amendment unconstitutional or the approval of a subsequent constitutional amendment. If approved, the General Assembly may pass a law to implement these new, constitutional rights, but it may not pass a law eliminating them. If approved, State and local governments will need to create new procedures to ensure that victims receive the rights provided for by the amendment.

Asking for input, Deputy Director, Department of Community & Economic Development, Amy Burkhart shared mockups of proposed holiday lighting for the Christmas City at the Mayor's South Side Task Force meeting Sept. 24. These were created by David Weiner Design, with white lights on the north side of the Lehigh River and multi-color lights for south of the river. Bridges between the two Bethlehems will feature a combination of the two styles to create a transition. Digital projection on buildings is also being explored.

Burkhart asked for opinions on this approach. Most, including Chairman Roger Hudak, agreed it was a good way to treat the more traditional Moravian influence for the north and the more modern and colorful history of the Southside.

According to Burkhart, the change will not happen for another year or two, with the

ENMIENDA PROPUESTA A LA CONSTITUCIÓN DE PENNSYLVANIA

Este aviso contiene información sobre una pregunta que estará en la boleta electoral en la Elección Municipal que se llevará a cabo el 5 de noviembre de 2019.

La pregunta de la boleta electoral propone una enmienda a la Constitución de Pennsylvania, basada en una resolución conjunta de la Asamblea General de Pennsylvania.

Si esta pregunta en la boleta electoral es aprobada por la mayoría de las personas que la votan, la enmienda se convertirá en ley.

La Asamblea General de Pennsylvania propuso la enmienda por primera vez durante la sesión de 2018 y la aprobó por segunda vez durante la sesión de la legislatura de 2019, según lo exige el Artículo XI, Sección 1 de la Constitución.

Este aviso público es parte del proceso de enmienda de la Constitución de Pennsylvania. Se requiere que la Secretaria del Estado publique:

- Una copia de la resolución conjunta que propone la enmienda.
- El texto de la pregunta que estará en la boleta electoral.
- Una "Declaración en inglés sencilla" preparada por la Procuraduría General que explica el propósito, las limitaciones y los efectos de la pregunta en la boleta electoral sobre la gente del Estado.

El texto que aparece en negrilla son los cambios a las palabras de la Constitución que propone la Asamblea General. Si se aprueba la enmienda, las palabras subrayadas se agregarán a la Constitución.

Si necesita ayuda para leer este anuncio o necesita el texto de la enmienda propuesta en un formato alternativo, llame o escriba al Pennsylvania Department of State, Bureau of Election Services and Notaries, Room 210 North Office Building, Harrisburg, PA 17120, (717) 787-5280, ra-BCEL@pa.gov.

Kathy Boockvar, Secretaria en funciones del Estado

RESOLUCIÓN CONJUNTA 2019-1

Se propone una enmienda a la Constitución del Estado de Pennsylvania que provee derechos para las víctimas del crimen.

La Asamblea General del Estado de Pennsylvania establece lo siguiente:

Sección 1. Se propone la siguiente enmienda a la Constitución de Pennsylvania, en conformidad con el artículo XI:

Que el Artículo I se modifique, agregando una sección como sigue:

§ 9.1. Derechos de las víctimas del crimen

(a) Para asegurar justicia y debido proceso legal para las víctimas en todo los sistemas de justicia criminal y juvenil, la víctima tendrá todos los derechos siguientes, como previsto y según las definiciones establecidas por la Asamblea General, los cuales se protegerán de manera nada menos vigorosa que los derechos proporcionados a los acusados: ser tratado con equidad y respeto por la seguridad, dignidad, y privacidad de la víctima; tener la seguridad de la víctima y de su familia considerada al fijar el monto de la fianza y las condiciones de liberación para el acusado; tener aviso razonable y oportuno y el derecho de presenciar todo el procedimiento que involucre el conducto criminal o delincuente; ser notificado de cualquier disposición previa al juicio en el caso; salvo los procedimientos del gran jurado, ser escuchado en cualquier procedimiento en el cual el derecho de la víctima se implica, incluso, pero no exclusivamente, la liberación, la declaración, la sentencia, la disposición, la libertad condicional y el indulto; ser notificado de todo procedimiento de libertad condicional, participar en el proceso de libertad condicional, proveer información que se considerará antes de conceder libertad condicional, y tener aviso de la libertad condicional del delincuente; protección razonable del acusado o cualquier persona que actúe en nombre del acusado; tener aviso razonable de cualquier liberación o escape del acusado; rechazar una entrevista, deposición u otra petición de descubrimiento hecha por el acusado o cualquier persona que actúe en nombre del acusado; recibir restitución completa y oportuna de la persona o entidad condenada por conducta ilícita; recibir restitución completa y oportuna, según la determinación de la corte, en un procedimiento de delincuencia juvenil; la devolución puntual de propiedad cuando ya no se necesita como evidencia; procedimientos libres de demoras irrazonables y una resolución puntual y final del caso y cualquier procedimiento posterior a la condena relacionado al caso; consultar con el abogado del gobierno; y ser informado de los derechos enumerados en esta sección.

(b) La víctima o el abogado del gobierno, a petición de la víctima, puede afirmar en cualquier tribunal de juicios o de apelación, o ante cualquier autoridad, que tenga jurisdicción del caso, y hacerse respetado los derechos enumerados en esta sección y todo derecho proporcionado a la víctima por ley. Esta sección no concede a la víctima estatus de parte, ni crea ningún derecho para compensación de daños y perjuicios en contra del Estado o cualquier subdivisión política, ni ningún oficial, empleado, o agente del Estado o cualquier subdivisión política, ni cualquier oficial o agente de la corte.

(c) Como se utiliza en esta sección, y según las definiciones establecidas por la Asamblea General, la palabra "víctima" incluye cualquier persona contra la cual se haya cometido un delito o acto delincuente, o que sea perjudicado directamente por la comisión del delito o acto. La palabra "víctima" no incluye el acusado, ni ninguna persona a quien el tribunal determine que no actuará en los mejores intereses de una víctima fallecida, incompetente, menor de edad, o incapacitada.

Sección 2. (a) Una vez que la Asamblea General pase esta propuesta de enmienda constitucional por primera ocasión, el Secretario de Estado de Pennsylvania procederá de inmediato a cumplir con los requisitos de publicidad de la sección 1 del artículo XI de la Constitución de Pennsylvania y emitirá los anuncios necesarios a dos periódicos de cada condado en los cuales se publiquen, con el tiempo suficiente después del paso de esta propuesta de enmienda constitucional.

(b) Una vez que la Asamblea General pase esta enmienda constitucional por segunda ocasión, el Secretario de Estado de Pennsylvania procederá de inmediato a cumplir con los requisitos de publicidad de la sección 1 del artículo XI de la Constitución de Pennsylvania y emitirá los anuncios necesarios en dos periódicos de cada condado en los cuales se publiquen en los diarios con el tiempo suficiente después del paso de esta propuesta de enmienda constitucional. El Secretario de Estado de Pennsylvania deberá presentar esta propuesta de enmienda constitucional a los electores de este Estado durante la primera elección primaria, general o municipal que cumpla los requisitos y esté en conformidad con la sección 1 del artículo XI de la Constitución de Pennsylvania y que ocurre por lo menos tres meses después de que la enmienda propuesta se haya aprobado por la Asamblea General.

PROPUESTA PARA LA ENMIENDA CONSTITUCIONAL

DERECHOS DE LAS VÍCTIMAS DE CRIMENES

Pregunta para la papeleta electoral

¿Debería enmendarse la Constitución de Pennsylvania para otorgar ciertos derechos a las víctimas del crimen, lo que incluye ser tratadas con justicia, respeto y dignidad; considerar su seguridad en los procedimientos de fianza; notificar y tener oportunidad de tomar parte en procedimientos públicos; tener protección razonable del acusado; derecho a rechazar solicitudes de descubrimiento realizadas por el acusado; restitución y devolución de propiedad; que no haya demoras en los procedimientos y estar informado de estos derechos para que puedan exigir su cumplimiento?

Declaración en lenguaje simple de la Oficina del Fiscal General

La enmienda propuesta, si es aprobada por el electorado, agregará una nueva sección al Artículo I de la Constitución de Pennsylvania. La enmienda brindará a las víctimas de crímenes ciertos derechos constitucionales nuevos que deben ser protegidos de la misma manera que los derechos otorgados a las personas acusadas de cometer un crimen.

La enmienda propuesta define como "víctima" tanto a una persona contra la cual se cometió el acto criminal como la persona que resultó directamente dañada por dicho acto. El acusado, o cualquier persona que una corte decida que no actúa en el mejor interés de la víctima, no puede ser una víctima.

Por lo general, la enmienda propuesta otorgará a las víctimas el derecho constitucional de recibir aviso y estar presentes y hablar en procedimientos públicos que involucren la supuesta conducta criminal. También otorgará a las víctimas el derecho constitucional de recibir aviso de cualquier escape o liberación del acusado y el derecho de que se considere su seguridad y la seguridad de su familia al considerar el monto de la fianza y otras condiciones de liberación. También se crearán otros nuevos derechos constitucionales tales como el derecho a la restitución y devolución de propiedad, el derecho a rehusarse a responder preguntas realizadas por el acusado y el derecho de hablar con un abogado del gobierno.

Específicamente, la enmienda propuesta establecerá los siguientes nuevos derechos para las víctimas:

- Ser tratadas con justicia y respeto por la seguridad, dignidad y privacidad de las víctimas.
- Que se considere la seguridad de la víctima y que la familia de la víctima sea considerada al fijar el monto de la fianza y las condiciones de liberación para el acusado.
- Brindar aviso razonable y a tiempo y poder estar presente en todos los procedimientos públicos que involucren conducta criminal o delincuente.
- Ser notificadas de cualquier disposición del caso previa al juicio.
- Con la excepción de los procedimientos ante el gran jurado, ser escuchadas en cualquier procedimiento que implique un derecho de la víctima, incluyendo entre otros, liberación, declaración, sentencia, disposición, libertad condicional e indulto.
- Ser notificadas de todos los procedimientos de libertad condicional, participar en el proceso de libertad condicional, brindar información para ser considerada antes de otorgar libertad condicional al delincuente, y ser notificadas de la libertad condicional del delincuente.
- Tener protección razonable del acusado o de cualquier persona que actúe en nombre del acusado.
- Ser notificadas de cualquier liberación o escape del acusado.
- Rehusarse a una entrevista, declaración u otra solicitud de descubrimiento realizada por el acusado o por cualquier persona que actúa en nombre del acusado.
- Restitución a tiempo y completa de la persona o entidad condenada por la conducta ilícita.
- Restitución a tiempo y completa según lo determine la corte en un procedimiento de delincuencia juvenil.
- Devolución a tiempo de la propiedad que ya no se necesita como evidencia.
- Que los procedimientos no tengan demoras no razonables y que tengan una conclusión pronta y definitiva del caso y cualquier procedimiento posterior a la condena.
- Consultar con el abogado del gobierno.
- Ser informadas de todos los derechos enumerados en esta sección.

La enmienda propuesta permitirá a la víctima o fiscal pedir a la corte que haga cumplir estos derechos constitucionales pero no permitirá que la víctima sea parte legal en el procedimiento penal o que demande al Estado o a cualquier subdivisión política, tales como un condado o municipalidad por daños monetarios.

Una vez que se agreguen a la Constitución de Pennsylvania, estos derechos específicos de las víctimas no pueden eliminarse, excepto mediante una decisión judicial que concluya que la totalidad o parte de la enmienda es inconstitucional o que se apruebe una enmienda constitucional subsiguiente. Si se aprueba, la Asamblea General podrá pasar una ley para implementar estos derechos constitucionales nuevos, pero no podrá pasar una ley para eliminarlos. Si se aprueba, los gobiernos locales y estatales necesitarán crear nuevos procedimientos para asegurar que las víctimas reciben los derechos provistos por la enmienda.

when the first witness, Mary Rose Wilson of Wall Street, was called, but the meeting stalled yet again, this time because of small points of contention between personal witnesses' perception of neighborhoods and their level of knowledge of the ordinances being discussed.

At this point, proceedings were paused while the exhibits for each of 17 witnesses were labeled, some containing multiple packets.

Several minutes into marking the exhibits, the witnesses were dismissed, as it was after 9 p.m., and they would not be called to speak. Once the exhibits were marked, the meeting was adjourned, to be continued Oct. 24.

Boscola announces $600K-plus in local crime prevention grants

State Senator Lisa M. Boscola has announced Northampton and Lehigh counties, along with three local nonprofits, have been approved by the PA Commission on Crime and Delinquency (PCCD) for grants totaling $662,691 to enhance efforts to assist crime victims and improve county governments' efficiencies in dealing with crime issues.

"It's critical that at all levels of government we focus on crime prevention and improving our criminal justice systems, but when a crime occurs we must ensure that we have in place the best possible procedures and programs to aid crime victims," Boscola stated. "Through these important grants, the Lehigh Valley will be able to further enhance their efforts with crime prevention and aiding victims of crime."

The following grants were approved by PCCD at their quarterly meeting Sept. 12:

- Lehigh County - $105,000 through the Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Single Solicitation Local Initiatives program to support the institution of Mobile Data Terminals in the Lehigh County Sheriff's office.

- Northampton County - $150,000 through the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee 2019 Drug Court Initiatives program for the Northampton County Drug Court Initiative.

- Grants approved

through the Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) Funding:

1. Crime Victims Council of the Lehigh Valley - $43,828 for victims services in Lehigh and Northampton counties;

2. North Penn Legal Services - $144,392 for NPLS Emergency Legal Services Project; and,

3. Valley Youth House Committee, Inc. - $219,471 for Mobile Trauma Focused Services Extension.

Becahi gets Eastburg S. next

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Freedom and Bethlehem Catholic both took steps in the right direction following victories last weekend to open up the second half of the regular season.

The Patriots (5-1) dispatched Pocono Mountain West easily last week 42-8 and Bethlehem Catholic (4-2) bounced back from their uninspiring defeat to Nazareth the week before to handle a winless Whitehall squad to the tune of 42-17.

After an easy game last week, Freedom now enters a pivotal week with a road trip to Easton (6-0) Friday night to take on the undefeated Rovers.

It's the type of game that head coach Jason Roeder and his squad are used to after going through the rigors of playing some of the top teams in the EPC South already.

The Rovers, on the other hand, close out their season with the most difficult stretch of any team in the South, starting with Friday's tilt against Freedom.

"Easton looks like a typical Easton team," Roeder said. "They have an outstanding running back and they block well up front. They have dangerous skill on the outside and an athletic quarterback."

Easton dismantled Central Catholic last week 44-14, backed by the legs of running back Nahjee Adams, who piled up 137 yards and two touchdowns against the Vikings. Bottling up Adams is the primary focus for the Pates, as Roeder knows if they can limit the big plays, they'll have a chance to give the Rovers their first taste of defeat this season.

The playoffs are in play for every Bethlehem school heading into the final two weeks of the season, as Liberty (10-1), Freedom (10-2) and Bethlehem Catholic (9-2) have all secured volleyball berths in the District 11 tournament.

It might be the best run during the regular season for all three schools, which will only heat up this week when the Hurricanes take on the Golden Hawks in a key EPC showdown.

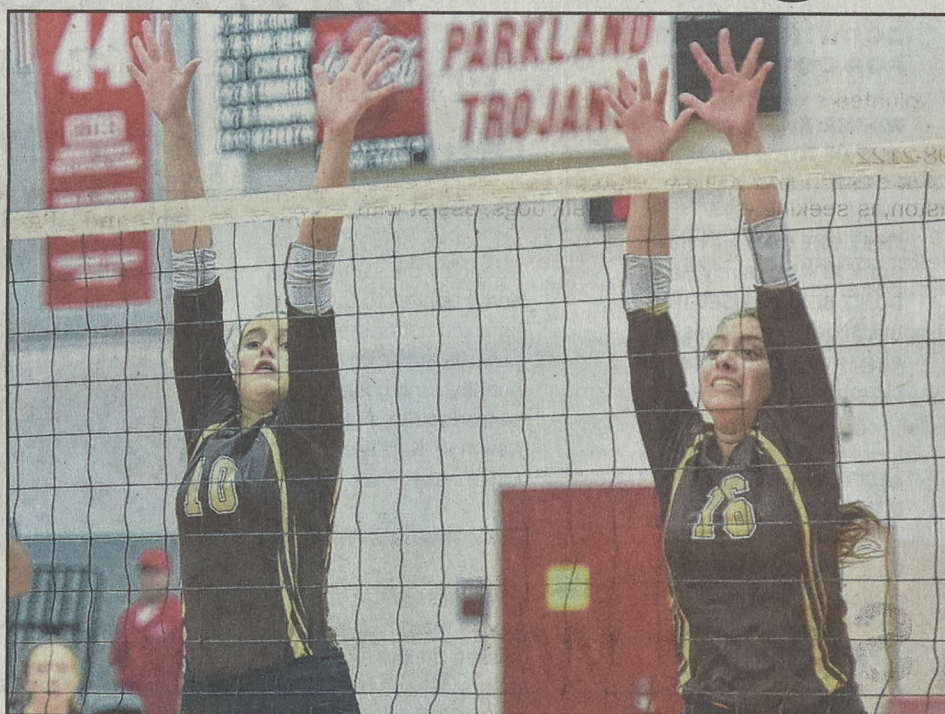

Liberty is currently in first place in the EPC, but Becahi and Freedom are only a game behind. With Liberty and Becahi taking each other on Tuesday [past Press deadlines], the result could be pivotal in the EPC playoff race.

"We have lofty goals for this year and we need to focus on the next game and have that be our focus," said Liberty head coach Connor Swigart. "We have a match against Becahi this week and that's our sole focus. They are a good team coming off a big win over Parkland and we are excited for the opportunity to compete against a good team in a rivalry game. It's always fun to play them and am expecting it to be a high energy environment and give ourselves a chance to grow and get better."

That growth is what Swigart is looking for after Freedom swept

NASCAR THIS WEEK

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Thoughts on the Ricky Stenhouse Jr. release?

GODSPEAK: Two NASCAR Xfinity Series titles, seven years in the Cup Series and Danica Patrick's boyfriend for several years? That sounds like a pretty good career to me.

KEN'S CALL: Ryan Newman's decent season, on the same team, probably killed Ricky. But the guy had several years to overachieve and rarely did.

Who's the next four to hit playoffs after Round 2?

GODSPEAK: William Byron, Alex Bowman, Ryan Blaney and, surprise, Brad Keselowski.

KEN'S CALL: Three of the Killer B's: Bowman, Blaney and Byron. But Bowyer advances (thank goodness) and Larson doesn't.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

BUBBA WALLACE VS. ALEX BOWMAN: Bowman and Wallace made early Roval contact, which Wallace thought was intentional. Wallace flipped the bird several times before Bowman spun him out.

GODWIN KELLY'S TAKE: Last week Bowman was intentionally spun by Austin Dillon at Richmond, so this behavior is part of NASCAR playoff fever. "I'm just over it," Bowman said of Wallace.

GODWIN'S PICKS FOR DOVER

WINNER: Kyle Busch
REST OF TOP 5: Martin Truex Jr., Kevin Harvick, Chase Elliott, Erik Jones
FIRST ONE OUT: Alex Bowman
DARK HORSE: Denny Hamlin
DON'T BE SURPRISED IF: Busch gets back to his winning ways in the heat of the playoffs.

THREE THINGS TO WATCH

Chase Elliott (9) hit the wall in Turn 1 on a restart but rallied back to win at Charlotte's Roval. Elliott is the driver to watch for the rest of the NASCAR playoffs. [AP/MIKE MCCARN]

1. Chase watch

If Martin Truex Jr. had a "spin and win" at Richmond, then Chase Elliott invented the "crash and dash" at Charlotte's Roval. Elliott crashed his No. 9 Chevrolet head on into the marshmallow-like Turn 1 wall, recovered, wrestled the lead from Kevin Harvick and led the last six laps to win. With that sort of effort, you have to wonder if Elliott has title magic. "The guys just didn't quit," Elliott said. "It was unbelievable."

2. Dazzlin' dozen

The NASCAR Cup Series playoff field was cut to 12 drivers after another interesting Roval race. The points standings reset, and Kyle Busch is back on top, followed by his Joe Gibbs Racing teammates Martin Truex Jr. and Denny Hamlin. Ford has the numbers advantage with five drivers left in postseason play. Chevrolet boasts four, while Toyota is represented by the JGR drivers. The field has five former champs.

3. High hopes

All the playoff drivers are looking for the winner's trophy at Dover. A win gets a driver into Round 3. "I'm excited to reset and not be playing catch-up," said Clint Bowyer, who is 12th in the playoff field. "I won't put ourselves in a hole again. Dover is a good track for me." A lot of drivers like Dover. "It's going to be a harder round for sure," said Kyle Larson of Round 2. "You just have to be on your game."

THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

1. First cut

"The first cut is the deepest," sings Sheryl Crow in a song by the same name, and it applies to the drivers knocked out of the NASCAR playoffs at the Roval. We bid goodbye and good luck next season to Aric Almirola, Ryan Newman, Kurt Busch and Erik Jones.

2. Almirola's misery

Jones missed the cut by a wide margin. Almirola missed the cut by just two points. "I can't help but think about 2017; the No. 22 (Joey Logano) missed the playoffs and then comes back the very next year and wins the championship," Almirola said. "We can't let this define us."

Erik Jones (20) was the first car out at the Roval and first driver eliminated from the NASCAR playoffs. [AP/MIKE MCCARN]

3. Early departure

Kyle Busch was three laps down and, with seven laps to go and during a red flag stoppage (Lap 99 of 109), decided to retire from the race at Charlotte's Roval.

Busch, who had clinched a Round 2 playoff spot, simply backed his No. 18 Toyota into the garage and called it quits.

Godwin Kelly, godwin.kelly@news-jrnl.com

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

Did A.J. retire too soon?

With a cushy TV gig awaiting his departure from the cockpit, A.J. Allmendinger hung up his helmet after last season, just shy of his 37th birthday. But hanging it up isn't the same as locking it away, and his fifth Xfinity start of 2019 produced a victory at the Roval last Saturday. He's certainly a road-course ringer, and at 37 he should be available for many years to come. It's not the worst part-time job out there.

Was Bubba out of line?

Anger can overtake you and lead you into unwanted actions. And sometimes silly ones. We don't know what would've happened if Alex Bowman had been physically OK and standing when Bubba Wallace approached Sunday. Bubba suggested a "bust in the mouth." He should've waited for a later chance, because splashing water on a sitting man looks silly. Whatever, given Bowman's past two weeks of confrontation, he'll want to make sure his mirrors are clean at Dover.

Late game heroics fall short for LHS football

BY JACOB MELUSKEY
Special to the Press

EPSS Stadium was packed on Friday night for the Green Hornets game against the Liberty Hurricanes. Liberty came into the game at 2-3 and had lost the previous two games by a combined score of 79-14. Emmaus, and its strong rushing attack, had a record of 3-2, with close losses to Easton (6-0) and Nazareth (5-1).

This was a big turning point game for both teams and it was Emmaus which came out on top, 31-28.

The two teams looked evenly matched at the start of the game. Liberty's senior quarterback Dallas Holmes was utilizing his strong arm against the Hornets defense. However, a lot of his rockets weren't hitting their targets, which was the case for most of the first half.

Liberty, seemingly, kept turning the ball over on downs, drive after drive. At one point, Liberty got down to the Green Hornet's 2-yard line, but couldn't punch the ball in.

Thinking this would put the Hornets in bad field position was quite the mistake. After moving the ball outside of their own 5-yard line, Emmaus running back Brandon Camire, took a handoff and rushed 91 yards into the end zone to put the first score on the board.

Hurricane running back Jaiden Canada helped to relieve the stress off of Holmes and the Liberty squad, serving as the team's workhorse for the night.

Canada carried the ball 23 times for 108 yards and scored two rushing touchdowns. Those two touchdowns came in the second and third quarter, where his 1-yard plunge put the Hurricanes back on top 14-10 at the start of the second half.

At this point, the wheels began to fall off for the Hurricanes. Camire scored two more touchdowns for the Hornets and was popping off big runs all night. His highlight play of the night came on a 63-yard punt return for a touchdown. He made a few Hurricane defenders miss and showed elite breakaway speed.

Down 31-14, with only a few minutes left in the game, Liberty came back to life. Holmes connected on a 35-yard catch and score with Rondell McNeil. Then, after getting the ball back, Holmes connected with Canada on a 20-yard touchdown pass to cut Emmaus lead to 31-28.

Unfortunately, the late heroics fell short. Holmes, although somewhat inaccurate, had a solid night. He completed 10 passes on 24 attempts for 188 yards and two passing touchdowns. 6-2 junior receiver Rondell McNeil finished with two receptions for 44 yards and a touchdown.

Emmaus moves to 4-2 and will take on Central Catholic next week at home. Liberty now sits at 2-4 and will next play Nazareth at home. Nazareth is coming off of a tough loss to Parkland, which ended their undefeated streak.

Easton tops Liberty

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

At no point did Liberty or Easton really have their second meeting in hand on Monday night, but as Easton's Jonathan Morello said after the game, "We had to do something about this," so with 38 seconds left, the Red Rovers topped the Hurricanes 4-3 at Liberty.

The game winner came at the end of a soccer match that seemed to be headed into overtime, but Easton forward Hunter Radowitch-Ambearle put it away.

"Michael Clarke crossed it in and I just slid it to the bottom corner. We've been working on it all season, and we executed. I've been waiting on it," Radowitch-Ambearle said. "We finally finished."

The Hurricanes and the Red Rovers headed into halftime with a 1-1 score amid some controversy over a free kick made by Easton that was called back.

"We didn't go downhill, but the momentum went downhill for us because of the calls," said Radowitch-Ambearle.

Morello called Easton's halftime huddle no joke.

"We were working hard the whole game and everything wasn't going our way, so I had to put something in that would give us momentum and it just came," said Morello, who tied the game with 10:35 left on the clock.

"It was amazing, a great feeling, getting back that momentum for us," he said.

For the Hurricanes, it was a combination of dejection and the ability to overcome.

"It's great experience. It's the post season within the regular season," said Liberty coach Ian Larimer. "For those who hung their heads, it's a feeling of disappointment, but it's nothing we can't come back from. Our mental fortitude must be consistent through the highs and lows of an entire match. We cannot for a second allow ourselves to drop below our expectations."

The Hurricanes closed out the first half on a goal by Christian Tackett, and started the second half on a header by Blake Koski.

Easton's Matthew Clarke tied the game 2-2 at 15:12, but Chris Schray's free kick gave Liberty the lead back at 13:07.

"It's unfortunate to have a few individual errors that we can let the game go by, but all-in-all, I thought we were decent at the back," Coach Larimer said. "It's tough to concede as many goals and to say we defended well, but I thought we have."

we worked even better than we did in the first half by moving as a unit forward and keeping the ball more instead of just kicking it back and forth," said Liberty center mid Mia DelCorso. Wescoe completed a hat trick in the opening minutes of the second half on an assist by Lindsey Heffernan, and Alanysse Solomon scored on an assist by Wescoe at 24:20. Wescoe then scored on a penalty kick.

Coach Rodenbach called Wescoe's four goals outstanding. Stroudsburg's Avery Francis scored the last goal of the game on an assist by Nandee Correia at 7:25.

"I think this game gave us a boost," said Wescoe. "We need to get a couple more wins."

"In the second half,

Hurricanes win another 4-3 match

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

If Liberty tennis coach Chris Conrad's heart stopped a few times last Monday, it wouldn't have been the first time, or the second, third, fourth, fifth, or sixth time.

It was the seventh time that the Hurricanes found themselves in what ended as a 4-3 match and won it against Freedom last Monday at Liberty.

"It's true!" said Conrad. "It's up there in terms of I don't know if I've ever seen a team go 4-3 in different spots. Everyone this year has played hero."

"It's the most unique team because we could win a match, 7-0, we could lose a match, 0-7, or we could win a match, 4-3, or lose a match, 3-4, in every single match this year because we have very competitive kids and the will and the drive to drive home a victory."

Last Monday's hero was Margeaux Donchez whose match at three singles with Dymea Schippers went to three sets and was the last to finish near dark.

"We're both like walls, which means we're super consistent," said Donchez. "She could return any shot I gave her, and she could return all the shots, so that's why our rallies were so long."

Conrad noted that there was a 79 ball rally in their 3 1/2 hour match.

"It was definitely a fight, and she had to grind for everything," said Conrad. "We struggled getting the ball to [Dymea] short, but of course Margeaux's favorite shot is a deep ball, so it was a struggle at first to try to adapt to get that ball short and challenge [Dymea] because she wasn't moving up and back as well as she was laterally."

Schippers won the first set, 6-2, but Donchez came back to win the second, 6-4.

"Margeaux was awesome. She listened the entire time I was coaching her and was eager to kind of get every point over as quickly as she could," Conrad laughed. "Margeaux was smart enough, at times, to give her a short ball back, so that way, it forced her to be in an odd position." Donchez won the third set by the same 6-4 score, but it was game 7 that seemed to be the turning point when Donchez won, 41-0, and as the time neared 7 p.m., all eyes were on her and Schippers.

Margeaux Donchez is congratulated by her teammates after clinching a Liberty tennis victory over Freedom, winning at number three singles in three sets last Monday at Liberty.

"I'm very happy," said Donchez afterward. "I'm not really used to attention like that. I don't like when people watch me, but they're a great team, and they were great at cheering today. I think I just wanted it so bad. I almost started crying because I was so exhausted."

At number one singles, Liberty's Veronica Lynn defeated Isabella Barberis, 6-0, 6-2, but Freedom's Isabella Szmodis defeated Angie Ronca at two singles, 6-1, 6-2.

"It was very challenging, but I was kind of prepared and I was really trying. I think I was just hitting shots she wasn't getting to, and I did have some good serves today. I could hear my coach [Mark Sigmon] saying good job, and I think that helped," said Szmodis. "I think today, especially since Liberty is our rival, that we were really hoping we could win this."

In doubles play, Freedom's Kelsey Diaz and Kristen Anderson won at first doubles over Elise Kney and Hermani Patel, 8-4.

"Prior to the match, I knew that the 50-50 matches heading in were three [singles], two [doubles], four [doubles], and ironically, our three doubles ended up going three sets, which I didn't foresee," said Conrad.

Freedom's Olivia Taylor and Keri Saulino defeated Sruti Tekumalla and Emily Masters at second doubles, 6-3, 6-3, but Liberty's Shivani Patel and Gabby Palermo pulled out their match against Gabriella Barnot and Anna Isbell, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, at third doubles.

"It was rough. They were amazing players," said Palermo. "They hit some cross court ones and some very short ones, and some overheads, so it was hard to get to the ball."

Coach Conrad told Palermo and Patel to play smart tennis, not hard tennis.

"Shivani's volleys were really good today, and so were her serves," Palermo said. "My forehand was mainly better than my volleys today."

At fourth doubles, Liberty's Jess Long and Aeman Ali defeated Anika Katchur and Eesha Gudoor 6-3, 6-3.

The Hurricanes ended their regular season with a 6-0 victory over Palisades on Wednesday.

Cane girls get 2-1 win

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcDonald@tnonline.com

Liberty's girls' soccer team wrapped up last week's play with a 2-1 overtime victory over Bangor on Saturday.

Bangor struck first with a goal by Sarah Wilk on an assist by Morgan Karasek, and Liberty's Kathryn Wescoe evened the score on an assist by Catherine Kelly at 7:35.

Both teams were scoreless in the second half, but midway through the first overtime, Kelly scored the game winner on an assist by Mia DelCorso.

Destiny Deschamps made 12 saves for the Hurricanes, and Alessia Smith made 16 saves for the Slaters.

Liberty celebrated senior night last Monday with a 5-2 victory over Stroudsburg.

"This was the kind of soccer I thought we were capable of playing, and we did it tonight," said Liberty soccer coach Scott Rodenbach. "First half, we attacked the ball, scored a couple goals. Second half, we never let them back in the ballgame."

Wescoe scored on an assist by Kelly at 31:47 and scored again unassisted at 16:47.

"The second one, I hustled really hard down the sideline and I cut it back, and I shot it from outside the box," Wescoe said. "It was a good goal. I was happy about it."

Stroudsburg's Julianne Bone scored two minutes later on an assist by Zoe Vlamis, but the Hurricanes remained ahead at halftime.

"In the second half,

Last week's cross country meet was held at Lehigh Parkway where Bethlehem Catholic, Freedom, and Liberty competed against William Allen, Dieruff, and Parkland on Tuesday.

In both girls' and boys' team results, Parkland defeated all three Bethlehem teams, but the Bethlehem teams defeated Allen and Dieruff.

In girls' individual results, Liberty's Emily Jobs took first place in 20:07, Freedom's Lauren Charboneau was second in 20:37, Liberty's Belle Weikert came in fourth in 20:49, and Becahi's Margaret Burke was fifth in 20:56.

Liberty's Madison Drager came in sixth place in 21:01, Cami Bortz was 11th in 21:57, Jessica Farrell was 12th in 22:00, and Ella Scott placed 15th in 22:27.

Also from Liberty, Jolene Bachman came in 18th in 22:35 and Mikailyn Maticavage was 19th in 22:47.

Freedom's Eliza Fihlman placed 20th in 22:47.

In boys' individual results, Cole Frank took first place in 17:04, Freedom's Alex Heidemann was second in 17:20, Freedom's Alex Hume placed seventh in 17:56, Liberty's Casey Frank was eighth in 18:08, and Philip Bezas came in ninth in 18:09.

Freedom's Eric Mann finished in 13th place in 18:20, Liberty's Andrew Layne was 14th in 18:32, Jacob Orrico came in 16th in 18:49, Freedom's Matt Parkin was 17th in 18:51, Liberty's Sam Graybeal was 19th in 18:59, and Becahi's Matt Millen placed 20th in 19:01.

LU wins, Moravian falls

Powered by one of its best defensive efforts in recent memory, the Lehigh football team picked up its first victory of the season by a 10-3 margin over Merrimack at Goodman Stadium on Leukemia and Lymphoma Society Tackle Cancer Day presented by Red Robin.

The Mountain Hawk defense held the Warriors to minus-25 rushing yards, recorded six sacks, took the ball away twice, and gave up just a second quarter field goal, despite being on the field for nearly 37 minutes.

On a day in which the offense struggled, a 36-yard touchdown run by junior quarterback Addison Shoup put Lehigh in front with 14:09 to play, and despite two lengthy fourth-quarter drives by Merrimack, the Mountain Hawks' defense stood tall to give Tom Gilmore his first win as Lehigh head coach.

Moravian College senior running back Roberto Diez (Freedom HS) ran for a career high 129 yards and three touchdowns to surpass 1,000 yards for his career; however, the Greyhounds were unable to maintain a halftime lead, falling to visiting Ursinus College, 35-28, in Centennial Conference action at Rocco Calvo Field Saturday afternoon.

Pete's Top-10: A new number-one this week

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

Last week we saw Nazareth fall for the first time this season. Was it the eventual slip that most teams in the EPC face, or are there cracks in the foundation?

The lone EPC team to remain undefeated is Easton following its win over Central Catholic over the weekend, but the Rovers haven't been truly tested yet.

That changes this week with Freedom coming to town.

Parkland's win over the Blue Eagles could be a sign they're gearing up at the right time, while the Colonial League battle between Southern Lehigh and Northwestern could decide the league crown.

Here's a look at this week's picks.

- 1. Easton (6-0)

Rovers take their stab at the top spot, but face the toughest schedule down the stretch in the EPC.

LHS gearing up for playoffs

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tnonline.com

With the field hockey season winding down, Liberty is heading down the stretch hot.

The Hurricanes (11-3) are winners of five straight as they head into this week's contests with Stroudsburg (8-5) and Emmaus (14-0). It'll be a challenging week for Liberty, as they continue to jockey for position in the EPC playoff race, where they currently sit a game behind Easton (10-3) for fourth place.

With a District 11 3A berth already well in hand, the 'Canes are playing to keep momentum and improve their positioning heading into the postseason.

In 1A, Bethlehem Catholic (7-7) is sitting behind top-seeded Mora-

As Liberty won its first match against Bethlehem Catholic on Becahi's home turf in August, the Hawks paid the Hurricanes back with a 3-1 victory last Friday at Liberty.

"They beat us on our home turf so it was really nice to get them on their home turf," said Becahi forward Brooke Bisko, who scored her 96th career goal in the 76th minute.

The Hawks were down 1-0 at halftime after Kathryn Wescoe scored on an assist by Maryam Mohamed at 24:28.

"This happens to us a lot. We're usually down, but at halftime we talked about staying composed and going out hard," Bisko said. "We were on turf, so we knew our touches were going the Hurricanes. The loss was a tough pill to swallow for the group, ending their eight game winning streak and snatching them from the unbeaten, but it was a tough lesson that Swigart hopes can pay dividends down the road.

"Firstly Freedom played incredible," he said. "They made us uncomfortable all night and we didn't respond well as players or coaches enough to make up for it. I think we have bounced back nicely. We took a day off last week and it allowed us to get right and come back into practice and refocus."

"It was a loss we were hoping to avoid but going forward it could be something that benefits us. In retrospect there were things as a coach I mishandled."

The Patriots have Dieruff, Allen and Stroudsburg this week before gearing up for Becahi and Easton next week to conclude the vian Academy (11-1) in the district power rankings.

The Hawks are more than likely to be the second or third seed for the district tournament and have an outside chance of qualifying for the EPC tournament.

Becahi has matches with Dieruff (0-15), Northampton (10-3) and Whitehall (7-6) this week before closing out the season next week with a nonconference tilt against Muhlenberg.

Freedom (4-10) has lost seven of their last eight games during a tough stretch for the Patriots, including a 1-0 defeat to Becahi last week.

The Pates will look to snap their struggles this week with Whitehall, Nazareth (8-6) and Allen (2-12) on the schedule.

to be a little different from our grass field, so we knew what we were going into."

When Emma Carreras scored early in the second half, the Hawks felt a change in the game.

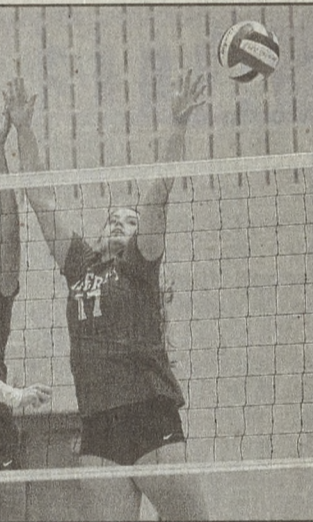

"That pumped up our energy and there was definitely a momentum shift," said Bisko.

Carreras scored unassisted, and Emma Pfeiffer followed up with another unassisted goal for the Hawks four minutes later.

"The Hawks jumped on the bus, then jumped off the bus, then touched their toes a couple times.

Then at 3 p.m. sharp, proceeded to play the beautiful game beautifully," said Becahi coach Angelo Amato.

Ellie Fries made 11 saves for the Hawks, and Destiny Deschamps made six saves for the Hurricanes.

NEWS ANALYSIS: NORTHAMPTON COUNTY

Is 911 dispatching closest emergency responder?

BY BERNIE O'HARE
Special to the Bethlehem press

On Sept. 10, John Pequeno's Upper Nazareth home, in the 3300 block of Rising Sun Court, was destroyed by fire. No human lives were lost, but Pequeno did lose a pup named Marshall, whom he referred to as his "fur baby. The rest of what was lost was mostly just stuff," he said. Nine different fire departments ultimately responded. Pequeno has been so touched by their heroic efforts that he organized a fundraiser for what he calls the Rising Sun Fire Brigade. As commendable as these volunteers are, the Rising Sun inferno may very well have highlighted a major problem in the way Northampton County's 911 Center responds to fire calls.

Bath's Volunteer Fire Department is located just 1.2 miles (4 minutes) away from 3300 Rising Sun Court, an Upper Nazareth community with no public water. Despite Bath's close proximity, Northampton County Council member Matt Dietz reports Bath Mayor Fiorella 'Fi' Reginelli-Mirabito told him her borough's volunteer firefighters received no initial fire call.

In contrast to Bath, Upper Nazareth's Volunteer Fire Department is located 6.2 miles (14 minutes) away from 3300 Rising Court. This was the first department dispatched, followed by Nazareth's Vigilance Hose Co. That department is located 5.3 miles (13 minutes) away from the blaze. According to Bath Borough Manager Bradford Flynn, Palmer Township's fire department was dispatched to the Rising Sun inferno before Bath finally received a call. Palmer Township's fire department is 6.6 miles (12 minutes) away.

Wouldn't it make sense to dispatch the closest fire department? Dietz met recently with Bath firefighters, and reported to Northampton County Council at its Sept. 19 meeting. He felt it important to note three concerns they have about the 911 Center. He said they tried calling the 911 Center, but received no answer until some recent emails. These are their issues:

ment should be dispatched to an emergency. - During callouts, it's only logical to dispatch the closest emergency vehicle responding.

According to Dietz, vehicles with longer response times are instead being dispatched. He said there could be an emergency call from the west end of Pen Argyl, right next to Plainfield, and instead Wind Gap emergency vehicles would be sent. Dietz said 911 should consider dispatching the station closest to the emergency, regardless of mutual aid agreements.

This sentiment is echoed in a Sept. 18 email to Dietz.

"Over the past four years, I have personally witnessed or know of instances where Bath's Fire Department or EMS Provider/Bethlehem Township EMS is not being initially dispatched to working structure/dwelling fires or life-threatening ALS calls respectively within their immediate reach. This unnecessarily delays patient care, protection of property, and degrades the overall public safety mission in our area. In my opinion, the days of mutual aid agreements designed and executed by and between neighboring fire chiefs should be streamlined through automated systems. Northampton County 911 should have the capability of using CAD systems and GPS resources to synchronize emergency incident locations, linking the location with Fire and Rescue Services to an appropriate 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Alarm, etc. protocol within a designated geographic footprint."

(2) Bath firefighters are missing callouts on their older radio system. They believe this problem affects other municipalities, too.

"That's not something that we're seeing broadly and is not something that's been brought to our attention," responded Administrator Charles Dertinger. He added the 911 Center is still using both its new and an older radio console to respond to emergency calls. "The new one has not had all of the bugs knocked out of it yet," he explained.

This would mean that Bath's issue is because of their own equipment, and would have been an issue before the switch to a consolidated 911.

"It's their equipment that the county programmed for them," countered Dietz.

He's concerned about this issue, even if it only applies to Bath. "Saying it's not broad and someone dies in Bath because it's a localized issue is not a good answer," he said.

Dertinger wondered why this issue is only being presented now. Dietz responded the 911 Center was contacted several times and only answered a few days ago. Because of this lack of response, Bath officials reached out to Dietz, their elected representative on council.

Dertinger vowed to look into this concern.

(3) Bad Directions.

- In response to a recent cardiac arrest, 911 was dispatching emergency vehicles the wrong way because a bridge in the Bath area was out. Dietz questioned whether 911 is aware some bridges are being repaired or replaced, making alternative routes necessary.

Dietz felt it was important to alert his fellow council members, the administration and the public. He also said he will be contacting other municipalities, as well as 911.

Council member Tara Zrinski then switched the topic to the airport's escalators. "Not that 911 isn't really important," she said, with what appeared to be a bit of sarcasm. "No one wants to die in Bath," she added.

"No one wants to die anywhere," countered Lori Vargo Heffner, who was filling in for an absent Ron Heckman as council president.

"Council doesn't care that we're fixing escalators," said Dietz after the meeting. He added they do and should care about 911, a core county function.

ELECTION POLICY

A message to readers, candidates

As we approach the Nov. 5 municipal election, the Bethlehem Press, in the interest of fairness, will halt the publication of columns by local government officials and letters to the editor submitted by those running for office.

The last week for publication of columns by local government officials running for office is the Oct. 2 edition.

We will, of course, continue to cover the local races, in news stories generated by our own reporters. Letters to the Editor, written by members of the community in support of a candidate need to be received by The Press no later than 5 p.m. Oct. 11.

The displays inside Chocolate Lab feature Alien and Halloween chocolates, as well as their more traditional buttercreams and truffles and boxes of chocolates. A striped pumpkin graces the top of the center display of boxed chocolates and chocolate lollipops.

staff wore black T-shirts proclaiming "straight outta area 51." The festivities began with face painting, story time with Miss Dana from the Bethlehem Area Public Library, and free samples of chocolate and baked goods. Outside, two local artists, Chris P. Jones and Tina Bradford Agentis, painted canvases, and later the band Owen and the Alien performed.

Braden Airfield in Forks Township held its annual Movie at the Airpark recently with a showing of Disney's "Planes," followed by a fireworks finale. The event was presented by the Lehigh Northampton Airport Authority (LNAA) in cooperation with the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) Chap 70.

A new addition to this year's celebration was the offering of free airplane rides to children ages 8-17 provided by the EAA before the film.

"We wanted to elevate and add elements to the event," explained Colin Riccobon, director of public and government relations for LNAA.

The flights, lasting approximately 15-20 minutes, circled over Forks Township, giving young explorers a bird's eye view of the quilted landscape surrounding the airpark. LNAA decided to add the flights in hopes of promoting careers in the aviation industry as a response to the current shortage of pilots and aircraft mechanics.

"You never know who's going to walk out wanting to be a pilot," said Riccobon.

"Introducing aviation to a younger audience might spark an interest in learning to fly and setting them on a future career where the sky is the limit. Right in their own backyard, a rejuvenated Braden Airpark is the perfect place for that dream to takeoff," said Thomas R. Stoudt, LNAA executive director.

The added attraction was successful in

The Tobago, owned by pilot Richard Belon of Martin's Creek. There are only 75 of these planes in the US.

Pilot Jody Pysher with Colin Riccobon of LNAA and Erik Chuss, pilot and township supervisor.

its objective to raise awareness of avionics, with over 100 kids of all ages taking flight by 6 o'clock. Pilot Jody Pysher, who was signing them up and wrangling them in line thought his count was up to 120.

After their flight, children could enjoy free bouncy houses and face painting provided by Fun Affairs, while waiting for the film to begin. There were also food trucks on hand for refreshments. The evening ended with a fireworks show over the airfields of Braden Airpark.

Braden Airpark opened in 1938 and is one of three airports owned by the LNAA. The authority had once considered selling Braden, the smallest of its properties, which had fallen into disrepair over the past two decades and lacked basic amenities that attracted tenants, resulting in drastically lowered revenue. The LNAA instead chose to renovate the airpark and focus on improving it by reinstating features such as a flight school and aircraft maintenance mechanics. "The airport authority has made a significant commitment to Braden Airpark," Riccobon said. "We want it to be successful."

In 2017, the Airport Authority received a $325,000 grant from the PennDOT Bureau of Aviation for construction of a new terminal building. Since then, with the financial support of the LNAA and Northampton County, more than $500,000 in improvements has rejuvenated the airpark.

ProFlite Aero Services and SpiritWings Aviation, LLC, both of Easton, joined Braden in 2018 to assist the authority in achieving its goal of revitalization and growth. ProFlight offers plane rentals and a flight school, while SpiritWings will provide aircraft maintenance and annual inspections.

"Our goal is delivering affordable service and a friendly customer atmosphere, but equally as important is being educators of the importance of general aviation in this fantastic community," said David DaSilva, owner, SpiritWings Aviation, LLC.

"What are we going to do to elevate Braden to the next level?" Ed Lozano, chairman of the airport authority's board of governors, asked. "(The terminal) is not where we're going to stop ... This is the beginning of where we're going with general aviation."

She has wanted to be a nurse ever since she was a child and saw newborns in a neonatal unit. So every weekday this summer, the Freedom HS student rose early so she can make the 30-minute walk from her home to St. Luke's University Health Network's Bethlehem campus. Daikiry Perez was among 20 high school students who worked this summer as part of the Network's innovative Health Career Exploration Program. The program, which concluded with a luncheon, is for rising seniors who live in the Allentown and Bethlehem Area school districts and have socio-economic barriers to summer jobs. Johnell Sloppy, a Bethlehem Catholic HS student, helped patient care assistants in a medical-surgical unit at the Bethlehem campus. Johnell wants to be a registered nurse and plans on attending Northampton Community College, followed by St. Luke's School of Nursing. He was drawn to the program because he can work with patients. Liberty HS student Amelia Hertzog worked in the emergency department at St. Luke's-Bethlehem. She helped ED techs, who check vital signs, draw blood for testing and administer EKGs. The Health Career Exploration Program is among a host of St. Luke's paid and volunteer initiatives that introduce teens and young adults to an industry sector where the demand for employees is only expected to grow, as is the need for a diverse workforce. St. Luke's runs a similar paid exploration program during the school year that targets Allentown and Bethlehem Area students who are not only economically disadvantaged but also have deficient English and math skills.

FESTIVAL UNBOUND BY PAST, LOOKS TO THE FUTURE

After more than two years of planning, Touchstone Theatre's 10-day Festival UnBound, a community convergence featuring more than 20 free and ticketed events, is Oct. 4-13, throughout the Lehigh Valley but primarily in the City of Bethlehem.

Festival UnBound is intended to use art to spark conversation about how the city has changed in the 20 years since the closing of Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s southside Bethlehem plant and to imagine the future now that the Lehigh Valley is "unbound" from The Steel.

The festival, organized in collaboration with the City of Bethlehem, local African American and Latino communities, educational institutions such as the Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts and Moravian College, and area steelworkers and other residents, includes nine pieces of original theater by local, national, and internationally-known artists; music; visual art; parades; youth activities; street performances, and forums for conversation.

Events are indoors and outdoors at venues such as Touchstone Theatre, Zoellner Arts Center, Charles A. Brown Ice House, Bethlehem Area Public Library, Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, South Bethlehem Greenway, and Payrow Plaza. About half of the events require tickets. Many are free.

"The Secret," a new mixed-media play by the Mock Turtle Marionette Theater about H.D. (Hilda Doolittle), the Bethlehem native and poet, has its world premiere, Oct. 5-8, Touchstone Theatre, as part of "Festival Unbound."

"The Secret" is part of "Finding H.D., A Community Exploration of the Life and Work of Hilda Doolittle," a year-long series of events organized by the Lehigh University English Department, Bethlehem Area Public Library, the Bradbury-Sullivan LGBT Community Center in Allentown and Mock Turtle Marionette Theatre.

The play's title, "The Secret," is taken from the name of a chapter in "The Gift," H.D.'s childhood memoir set in Bethlehem. H.D. wrote her epic poem, "Trilogy," and the childhood memoir while living in London during The Blitz air-raid bombings by Nazi Germany.

Doug Roysdon, artistic director of Mock Turtle Marionette Theater, was chief writer of the multimedia

'Prometheus' returns, now Unbound

"Let's go." Those were the last words uttered in "Steelbound," Touchstone Theatre's groundbreaking 1999 theatrical work that anchored its Steel Festival, a multi-arts festival celebrating Bethlehem's heritage of steelmaking soon after the steel-making stopped in Bethlehem.

Now, 20 years later, Touchstone, and Bethlehem, have moved forward, into the future. Touchstone is exploring that future in a new work, a sequel to "Steelbound" called "Prometheus/Redux," which anchors a new and bigger festival, Festival UnBound.

"We used to be bound by The Steel or bound to The Steel. It defined us," says "Prometheus" director Christopher Shorr.

"The Steel is gone," Shorr continues. "The Tower [Martin] has fallen. We are no longer bound by that. We are as a community unbound. Now we ask the questions: How do we define ourselves? What is the future we make?"

"Prometheus/Redux," Oct. 4-6, Black Box Theater, Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, is the opening work of Festival UnBound, a 10-day community convergence of art, music and conversation, Oct. 4-13.

Festival Unbound has two dozen free and ticketed events, including nine original theater pieces. It is a collaboration with the City of Bethlehem, local African-American and Latino communities, local schools such as Moravian College and local steelworkers and residents.

"Steelbound" was an adaptation of Aeschylus' "Prometheus Bound," a Greek tragedy in which Prometheus stands for human progress against the forces of nature. In the work, Bill George, Touchstone co-founder and ensemble member, played a steelworker named Prometheus.

Bach Choir, soloists bring 'Joyful' to Festival Unbound

BY KATHY LAUER-WILLIAMS
Special to The Press

It's a true Lehigh Valley community of music. Angel-voiced Bel Canto youth singers join with the playful and raucous Jakopa's Punch band; hip-hop-inspired body percussion punctuates a group of elite high school chorale singers, and a New Orleans-style brass band adds a swinging vibe to the spiritual sounds of a Baptist church choir.

For the exuberant "A Joyful Noise," The Bach Choir of Bethlehem and Touchstone Theatre have partnered for a concert, 4 p.m. Oct. 6, Zoellner Arts Center, Bethlehem, that is a joyous celebration of all kinds of music as part of Touchstone's Festival Unbound.

The Bach Choir, conducted by Greg Funfgeld, joins with six community groups and numerous soloists on a program that explores how the collective act of music-making can bring people together and make the world a smaller place.

"The idea of 'Joyful Noise' is that we are making this music together," says Jp Jordan, Touchstone artistic director and a member of Jakopa's Punch. "I hope the event feels as the mission is intended, a joyous celebration of music where we can witness these weird amalgamations."

Joining Bach Choir are Bel Canto Youth Chorus, Greater Shiloh Church Choir, Nazareth High School Cantus, the touring choir of Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, Big Easy Brass, and Jakopa's Punch.

Soloists include Sherezade Panthaki, soprano; Dashon Burton, baritone; Susan Charlton, flute; Nobuo Kitagawa, oboe; Lore-ta O'Sullivan, cello; Thomas Goeman, piano; Christopher Hanning, percussion; Camille Armstrong, body percussion, and Ysaye Barnwell, formerly of Sweet Honey in the Rock.

Each group has partnered with a cross-genre artist and will perform selections of their choosing for the concert. Everyone will join on stage for the finale, a massed choir conducted by Funfgeld to perform Paul Halley's "Freedom Trilogy" and "The Rain is Over and Gone" based on text from "Song of Solomon," and featuring Burton as soloist.

"There will be more than 200 singers, brilliant soloists and virtuosic instrumentalists," Funfgeld says. "This is an experience of community that will touch our hearts and minds, enriching our lives."

"Singing from the depths of our souls, listening intently to one another, sharing amazing music and profound words, and being together in these ninety minutes helps us become an incredible family," says Funfgeld.

The Bach Choir begins the event performing "A Dream of Time," a setting by Stephen Paulus of Carl Sandburg's poem, "Hope is a tattered flag."

"A Dream of Time" was commissioned in 2009 for Funfgeld's 25th anniversary as Bach Choir artistic director and conductor. The choir will be joined by the touring choir of the Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, directed by David Macbeth.

That will be followed by the Bach Choir performing Bach's "Mein Freunde ist mein," a Duet from Cantata 140, featuring Panthaki, Burton and Kitagawa.

Nazareth High School

Cantus, directed by Kelly Rocchi, will perform an arrangement of "I Love You" and "What a Wonderful World" by Craig Hella Johnson and Anders Edenroth's "Words," accompanied by Armstrong's body percussion.

The Greater Shiloh Church Choir, directed by Veronica Cummings, and Big Easy Brass of Easton join forced on Pharrell Williams' "Happy." Barnwell will lead the audience in a community sing.

The Bel Canto Youth Chorus of the Bach Choir of Bethlehem, directed by Joy Hirokawa, will sing Hirokawa's arrangement of "Peace Like a River" and join Jakopa's Punch for the Touchstone house band's theme song, written by Jordan.

Lehigh Charter High School for the Arts touring choir will perform Daniel Elder's "Ballade to the Moon from Three Nocturnes" and Greg Japerse's "Voice Dance," featuring senior Aaron Finkle juggling.

In between performances, Jordan, Funfgeld, Burton and Panthaki will provide spoken word and quotes on the community and songs that organizers says will tie all the music together.

"A Joyful Noise" is going to be a fantastic event," says Bridget George, executive director of the Bach Choir.

The concert is one of more than 20 free and ticketed events Oct. 4-13 that are part of Touchstone Theatre's 10-day Festival Unbound.

"Joyful Noise," 4 p.m. Oct. 6, Baker Hall, Zoellner Arts Center, 420 E. Packer Avenue, Lehigh University, Bethlehem. There are expected to be a limited number of pay-what-you-will tickets available. festivalunbound.com.

performance that mixes narrative, song, music, poetry, puppets and actors.

In addition to Roysdon, script collaborators were Jennie Gilrain, William Reichard-Flynn, Aidan Gilrain-McKenna, Matilda Snyder, Kalyani Singh and Seth Moglen.

Gilrain, long associated with Touchstone Theatre and Lehigh University's theater department, is director of the play.

H.D. is portrayed by two actors and 13 puppets.

The play's music was composed by Liam McKenna, Abriana Ferrari, Tommy Gilchrist. Gilrain-McKenna, Reichard-Flynn, Singh and Snyder.

Roysdon says two major factors led to the creation of the play:

"The first is a response to the 'Women's March' in Washington, to do something about, with and for women. The second is a tremendous interest in asserting the importance of the native arts community.

"H.D. is probably the greatest artist to come out of certainly Bethlehem and probably the Lehigh Valley.

"H.D. hung out with T.S. Eliot. She was engaged to Ezra Pound. She's a highly-regarded modernist poet. If she were a man, there'd be a school named after her.

"She was a feminist and bisexual pioneer. Her story tells us we need to encourage, support and celebrate the gifts of women.

"Her other side was Moravian. The original Moravians formed the most egalitarian community in the Colonies. Bethlehem could be called the cradle of equal rights in the United States."

Says Gilrain, "Almost all of the words in the play are H.D.'s, except for one scene that has some words by Hans Christian Anderson. His 'Little Mermaid' is a kind of metaphor for a woman who has to give up her voice to have normalcy, much like H.D.'s mother Helen."

Explains Roysdon:

"The play is series of frames chronologically. Each frame is dominated by either a poem or a piece of prose.

"The action addresses the meaning of those passages through music and acting and poetry.

"It follows H.D. right up to present-day Bethlehem. The ritual ending basically gives Helen [H.D.'s mother] her voice back."

Gilrain speaks glowingly of the cast: "I feel so inspired by these young people. They are such a joy to work with."

"And the puppets are incredible. Most of the puppets are three- or four-foot-high. One actually takes three people to operate."

Mamalie, a puppet, with puppeteers William Reichard-Flynn and Aidan Gilrain-McKenna, in "The Secret," Oct. 5-8, Touchstone Theatre, Bethlehem. Mamalie was Hilda Doolittle's maternal grandmother who told her of Moravian and Native-American lore.

Adds Gilrain, "Matilda Snyder and Abriana Ferrari are both in the Bel Canto Youth Chorus of the Bach Choir. Abriana composed two amazing music pieces for the play."

Other actors-singers-puppeteers include Aidan Gilrain-McKenna, Madison Ledergerber, William Reichard-Flynn and Grace Adele Spruiell.

Tommy Gilchrist plays cello. Liam McKenna plays the trumpet.

Says Roysdon, "It really has been a journey. We've had really good people involved and a real sense of community. Larry Lipkis [Moravian College composer-in-residence] and Seth Moglen [Lehigh English Department] have helped out."

Other events in "Finding H.D." include Lehigh University Choral Arts performing Steven Sametz's music setting of H.D.'s poem, "Nevermore Will the Wind," Oct. 25 and 26, Zoellner Arts Center.

The final event is expected to be the unveiling of a commissioned portrait of H.D. by Angela Fraleigh, chairperson, Moravian College Art Department, at a date to be announced.

A panel discussion, "Who Will Follow: The Music? Women in Leadership: Inspirations and Obstacles," 2:30 p.m. Oct. 6, follows a performance.

"The women in our panel discussion will talk about their work and dreams and tell a story about a moment in which they were encouraged and inspired or discouraged, oppressed or prevented from following their music," says Gilrain. "We hope to explore ways in which we as a community can encourage women to follow their dreams."

Panelists include: Phyllis Alexander, Project Director of Leadership Without Limits, Senior Training Associate with the National Coalition Building Institute; Yalitza Corsino-Davis, Learning Specialist, Lehigh Carbon Community College; Abriana Ferrari, composer, musician, actor, high school student, "The Secret" cast member; Mary Foltz, Professor of English, Lehigh University; Margaret Kavanagh, Head Custodian, Freemansburg Elementary School; Nancy Matos Gonzalez, District Judge, Bethlehem; Emily Santan, ER Technician, Sacred Heart Hospital Emergency Room, Allentown, and Paige Van Wirt, Bethlehem City Councilwoman and Physician, Lehigh Valley Health Network.

"The Secret," 5 p.m. Oct. 5, with talk-back, 6:30 p.m.; 1 p.m. Oct. 6, with panel discussion, 2:30 p.m.; 7:30 p.m. Oct. 6 and Oct. 7. Tickets: Touchstone Theatre box office, 321 E. Fourth St., Bethlehem; festivalunbound.com; touchstone.org; 610-867-1689. Group rates available.

Tweet your Twitter followers well

Dear Jacquelyn,
I finally took the plunge and opened a Twitter account. Can you recommend Twitter etiquette for beginners?

RESPECTFULLY YOURS
By Jacquelyn Youst

Dear Reader,
Getting accustomed to Twitter can be difficult. It can appear to be a baffling and overwhelming social media platform.

As a new Twitter user, you would benefit greatly by learning the decorum of the Twitter community. It's not as difficult as you may think. It's a delicate balance of being social and genuine.

As you ease into the culture of Twitter, keep in mind that engagement is the name of the game. Whether you use Twitter for fun or business, you want to genuinely interact with people.

Be social, engage and have a sense of humor. Because you are able to post your thoughts instantly, always post thoughtfully. Keep in mind that every post is a reflection of who you are.

You'll want to avoid complaining and stirring up unnecessary drama.

There is something about complaining and drama that always manages to rub people the wrong way. Carefully analyze each tweet and ask what message are you sending. Negativity will turn off your followers. What's rude in real life is considered rude on Twitter, as well.

When deciding who to follow on Twitter, follow people who share your interests but also take some risks and follow someone outside your immediate circle.

Include people you can learn from and who share compelling meaningful tweets. Twitter can be a wonderful tool for developing relationships based on mutual and new interests.

Twitter's speed is part of its appeal. Avoid misspellings and poorly-worded messages. You should make it easy for readers to understand what you're trying to say.

Avoid using internet slang and voicing your opinion is all caps. In internet language, all caps implies yelling.

Twitter etiquette is all about showing respect, interest in others, and engaging in conversation.

Respectfully Yours,
Jacquelyn

Can our thoughts make us sick?

For weeks, I've been upset about having to undergo comprehensive testing to find the cause of the dizziness I've had for a few months.

Doctors seem to agree the serious bronchitis I brought back three months ago from Italy was the cause.

But it should have been gone by now.

I was lucky enough to be referred to the Silverstein Institute in Sarasota, one of the finest places in the county for dizziness and balance problems.

When they scheduled four hours of testing, I went online to read what the tests involved. That's when I starting worrying.

I wasn't afraid of what they would find. I was stressed over the tests themselves.

There's a reason for that stress.

A decade or so ago, I had tests to determine the cause of my dizziness. It was just supposed to be two tests. But I got so severely dizzy from the first test I couldn't continue.

When I got down from the testing table I was staggering when I tried to walk. It took a long time before I could drive myself home.

The test showed I had benign position vertigo. Nothing much to worry about. My benign positional vertigo comes and goes, disappearing for months at a time. No big deal.

This time the dizziness is different. Whatever the cause, I was confident the Silverstein Institute could find it — provided I survived the tests.

OK, I admit it. I worried so much about the four hours of tests that I felt dread in the pit of my stomach whenever I thought about it.

The tests were enough to do in anyone who gets motion sickness. One tests had me safely in a harness while I did a balance test that had moving walls, a moving floor and then a floor that dipped quickly.

The last test I was dreading involved sitting on a spinning chair in a dark room.

I was surprised to learn the tests were far easier than I had anticipated. They had a trick to keep my mind off the tests. I had to keep answering questions.

The audiologist said they found when a brain is busy finding answers, it can forget about being dizzy.

All this is a very long way of telling you I worried for nothing. I worried so much I made myself sick. For nothing.

Did that ever happen to you? Did you ever dread something so much only to learn you worried for nothing?

While I was doing all that worrying, a story that appeared on the internet with the headline "Worrying can make you sick" caught my eye.

Doctors tell us our thoughts can definitely make us sick. Worrying and stress can suppress our immune system, cause a host of physical problem and also cause mental problems.

Over the years I've been reading about the mind-body connection. We can think our-

WARMEST REGARDS
By Pattie Mihalik

selves well, or, negative thoughts can torpedo our mental and physical well-being.

I saw this played out during one particular seminar when one woman broke down in one of the worst crying jags I ever saw.

She kept saying, "She didn't want me. My own mother didn't want me. She said she wished she would have had an abortion instead of letting me live."

I thought the poor woman had a wicked mother who just told her those horrible things.

I was surprised when she told us her mother has been dead for 20 years. The evil thoughts she shouted at her daughter happened decades ago.

But the daughter keeps those hurtful words playing in her head. That, in turn, has affected her emotional and physical health, she admitted.

In college she was a psychology major so she is quite aware of the powers of the mind.

She also went to several professionals that told her she couldn't heal until she throws from her mind the words that destroy well-being.

She's a smart woman and keeps going to healing seminars to get past it all.

Because she understands the mind-body connection, I think she will beat it some day.

That is an extreme case of how our thoughts can make us sick. Most of us don't have such a long-lasting reaction to a negative event.

What is far more common for most people is what I experienced in dreading those dizzy tests.

It was much ado about nothing.

Like many negative experiences the incident was definitely a learning experience.

I learned two things. I learned my husband is right when he tells me it doesn't pay to worry because most of the time what we are worried about never comes to fruition.

I also had it reinforced, once again, there is power in positive thinking. Just as our mind can make us sick, it can also combat a lot of ills that come our way, depending the message we keep playing in our mind.

Studies show how positive thinking can make us feel better. It makes sense. If we can "think ourselves sick," we can also think ourselves better."

A long time ago Norman Vincent Peale's book, "The Power of Positive Thinking" laid out a strong case for thinking positively.

I've learned first hand how beneficial it is to concentrate on positive thinking. I feel better — both mentally and physically. From now on, forget negative thoughts.

I'm opting for positive thinking.

Smoking around newborn draws concern

Q. We are expecting our first child in three months. I do not smoke cigarettes or vape, but most of my relatives do. My husband is adamant that he does not want any smoking or vaping near our baby or in our house. He doesn't even want them to have any smell of smoke on them or their clothes. Is he being unreasonable? I don't know what to tell my family.

discuss "not what is reasonable or unreasonable, but her family," Daniels said, noting, "The husband is rightfully concerned about smoking and vaping, but he is making the smell of smoke as important an issue as smoking itself."

"It's the new dog syndrome," panelist Denise Continenza said. "It's their first child and the husband wants to be a good father. It might be helpful to begin by talking to him first about how he feels about being a new father."

Before any conversation, however, Ramsey said, "The parents need to have facts about the effects of smoking, not just opinions. They can begin by consulting with their doctor or the American Cancer Society." Go to: cancer.org

Armed with the facts, Ramsey said they need to determine what they are going to say and how, without being judgmental of the smoking or vaping habits. He said they can rely on the facts and experts: "We all want our new baby to be safe, and our doctor told us that this the best way to do it is to. We know you smoke, and we're trying to find a way to accommodate you."

The concern might be that family members will go outside the new parents' house and smoke and then come in and be near the baby, Continenza said, adding, "Perhaps the conversation could be about just not smoking on their property, expressed as 'We prefer you not smoke while you are visiting.'"

It is important for the parents to hold all the conversations before the baby arrives to avoid unnecessary conflicts later, panelist Pam Wallace said.

High-protein diet not weight-loss answer

Q. I've been on a diet high in proteins and low in carbohydrates for several weeks now and I've lost weight. What do you think of this type of diet?

HEALTHY GEEZER
By Fred Cicetti
fred@healthygeezers.com

These diets can bring a quick drop in weight because eliminating carbohydrates causes a loss of body fluids.

And, high-protein diets cause substances called "ketones" to be released into the bloodstream. The ketones make dieting easier by lowering appetite.

I tried one of these diets and it worked. But I didn't feel quite right eating so many high-protein dishes while avoiding carb foods such as my favorite: bread. I noticed a diminished appetite. I quit and went back to watching calories.

I've always been skeptical about any diet that is unbalanced. Logic tells me that I must be doing something bad to my body. I don't think it's safe to lean in one direction at the dining room table.

"For most healthy people, a high-protein diet generally isn't harmful if followed for a short time, such as three to four months, and may help with weight loss," according to Katherine Zeratsky, a dietitian at the Mayo Clinic.

"However, the risks of using a high-protein diet, usually with carbohydrate restriction, for the long-term are still being studied. Several health problems may result if a high-protein diet is followed for an extended time," according to Zeratsky.

Here are some problems with high-protein diets:

Some high-protein diets don't provide enough fiber. This can cause constipation and intestinal inflammation. This may also increase the risk for cancer.

Many of these diets include a lot of red meat and fat, which can increase your risk of heart disease.

A protein-packed diet may cause liver or kidney problems.

"If you want to follow a high-protein diet," Zeratsky said, "do so only as a short-term weight-loss aid. Also, choose your protein wisely."

"Good choices include fish, skinless chicken, lean beef, pork and low-fat dairy products.

"Choose carbs that are high in fiber, such as whole grains and nutrient-dense vegetables and fruit.

"And if you have kidney disease, liver disease or diabetes, or if you're taking medication for a chronic health condition, talk to your doctor before starting a high-protein diet."

The American Heart Association (AHA) doesn't recommend high-protein diets for weight loss because "people who stay on these diets very long may not get enough vitamins and minerals and face other potential health risks."

The AHA asserts that more research is needed on the effectiveness of these diets for long-term weight loss.

Most Americans already eat more protein than their bodies need. The AHA urges dieting adults to eat no more than 35 percent of total daily calories from fat, less than 7 percent of total daily calories from saturated fat, and less than 1 percent of total daily calories from trans fat.

Trans fat raises your "bad" (LDL) cholesterol and lowers your "good" (HDL) cholesterol.

On most high-protein diets, meeting these AHA goals is impossible.

The AHA urges people to use safe and proven methods for losing and maintaining weight. Dieters should pay attention to calories and enjoy healthy, nutritionally-balanced meals.

The AHA says a healthy diet includes a variety of foods, and is rich in fresh fruits and vegetables.

BSA EAGLE COURT OF HONOR

Dante Brady earns Eagle Scout honors

CONTRIBUTED ARTICLE

Dante Brady recently received the rank of Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor ceremony held Sept. 8 at the Wescosville Recreation Center, Hamilton Boulevard.

He is a member of Boy Scout Troop 131, which is sponsored by Bethany United Methodist Church, Wescosville.

Dante is the son of Tara Brady and grandson of Judy and Philip Brady, of Lower Macungie Township. He started in Cub Scouts with Pack 131. He earned the Arrow of Light and the God and Family Award. As a Boy Scout with Troop 131, he progressed through the ranks and held leadership positions including assistant patrol leader, Troop scribe and den chief.

Dante was elected to the Order of the Arrow and completed his Ordeal. He also participated in an adventure trip to Sea Base. He has earned 44 merit badges.

For his Eagle project, Dante worked with the Synergy Project which is a street outreach program for homeless and runaway youth who are 21 years old and younger. He organized and led events that enabled him to collect, sort, label and pack over 30 bins of survival supplies and equipment, including all kinds of clothing, shoes, boots, coats, jackets, sleeping bags, sheets, blankets, quilts, food, camping equip-

Dante Brady has earned 44 merit badges as a member of Boy Scout Troop 131.

Dante is a sophomore at Emmaus High School and plans to attend college after he graduates.

He also plays soccer and is a second-degree black sash in Kung Fu at Lehigh Valley Martial Arts in Emmaus.

Author talk on 'Powwow' book

Historian Patrick Donmoyer will speak about and sign copies of his book, "Powwowing in Pennsylvania: Braucherei & the Ritual of Everyday Life,"

1 p.m. Oct. 12, Lehigh County Historical Society's Lehigh Valley Heritage Museum, 432 W. Walnut St., Allentown. "Patrick Donmoyer will reveal traditional Pennsylvania Dutch ritual folk healing practices and the insights they provide into the development of a distinctive Pennsylvania Dutch folk culture," said Joseph Garrera, Executive Director of the Museum. Donmoyer is director of Kutztown University's Pennsylvania German Cultural Heritage Center. The Pennsylvania Dutch, aka Pennsylvania Germans, moved from Germany (mainly the Palatine region) to America in the 1700s or early 1800s. Most early settlers of present-day Lehigh County came from Germany. Information: lehigh-valleyheritagemuseum.org; 610-435-1074

'Abbey' road continues

The movie, "Downton Abbey," is the comfort food of cinema, albeit fine dining.

The big-screen version of "Downton Abbey," the popular BBC television series (2010-2015) seen on PBS stations in the United States can be enjoyed by non-fans and especially by fans.

The movie is sumptuously lensed (director of photography Ben Smithard) with lovely vistas and elegant interior scenes and romantic, back-lit photography of featured characters, often sharp-witted humorous dialogue between characters, beautiful costumes (costume designer Anna Mary Scott Robbins), superb acting by all, and a plot of intrigue and consequences.

The reassuring strains of the "Downton Abbey" theme music is woven throughout the soundtrack by composer John Lunn, who utilizes strings to enhance dramatic moments.

Sure, it's all pomp and circumstance, but for America's royal-watchers and British history buffs, "Downton Abbey" charms and doesn't disappoint.

Julian Fellowes, who created the characters for the television show, wrote the screenplay for the movie. He has created a terrific palette for the movie version.

The story, set in 1927 in the feature film, picks

MOVIE REVIEW

By Paul Willistein

up with the eccentricities of the Crawley family and servants intact and sets up a storyline that reveals each, flaws and all. The upstairs, downstairs dynamic of the aristocrats and staff in the mansion is in full effect and provides a lot of the film's inherent fun. Yes, the concerns of the characters are mostly trivial, but it's fascinating nonetheless.

The plot provides a neat device to set all in Downton Abbey a-flutter: the impending visit and then the actual visit of King George V (Simon Jones) and Queen Mary (Geraldine James) to the mansion of Robert Crawley (Hugh Bonneville), Earl of Grantham, in the Yorkshire, England, countryside.

The royal staff supplants the Downton staff. The Queen's Lady-in-waiting, Maud Bagshaw (Imelda Staunton) is at odds with Violet, the Dowager Countess (Maggie Smith), There's more lurking in the plot, but no spoilers here.

"Downton Abbey" the movie has the sense of the movies, "Clue" (1985) and "Murder on the Orient Express" (1974), for its vast cast and engaging storyline, which unfolds in novelistic form. "Downton Abbey" is a good read. Director Michael Engler has a jolly good time giving each character their time on the screen, admittedly limited for some actors because of the number of characters in the storyline.

The actors are delightful, especially, of course, Maggie Smith, as Violet Crawley. Smith's verbal timing, impervious bearing and withering stare is a hoot. Smith deserves an actress Oscar nomination.

Dame Maggie Smith has been nominated for six Oscars and received a supporting actress Oscar for "California Suite" (1979) and an actress Oscar for "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" (1969).

Allen Leech is a standout as Tom Branson, the still youthful widower. Tuppence Middleton is wonderful as Lucy Smith, a maid. Imelda Staunton creates a hateful character with a reason for her remorse as Maud Bagshaw. Jim Carter has some nice moments as Charles Carson, the retired butler who returns for a stint.

Other noteworthy turns include Hugh Bonneville (Robert Crawley), Sophie McShera (Daisy Mason, one of the kitchen help), Michael C. Fox (Andy Parker, a butler), Laura Carmichael (Lady Edith), Elizabeth

Cook with 'Kitchen Chronicles' at PBS 39 Studio, SteelStacks

An original theatrical piece created by Mary Wright of Bethlehem aims to bring people together in the kitchen to discover how much they have in common.

"Kitchen Chronicles" will be presented Oct. 6 and 7 in the PBS show kitchen at the PBS 39 building at SteelStacks.

The performances are part of Touchstone Theatre's Festival UnBound, a 10-day artistic community convergence featuring more than 20 free and ticketed events, Oct. 4-13.

"It's not just about food. It's about heritage. It's about memory. It's about bringing people together at a community table," says Wright, a Touchstone Theatre ensemble member, about "Kitchen Chronicles."

"When we sit down and eat together, a different kind of conversation happens," Wright says.

Mary Wright's "Kitchen Chronicles," 7 pm. Oct. 6, 7, PBS 39, Bethlehem.

The show will be part cooking demonstration, part performance, part fellowship. It aims to blur the line between audience and performer.

Wright will lead the event.

"Imagine I invited you all over to my house and I just happened to have a TV show worthy kitchen in it," she says.

Wright will tell stories about her life in the kitchen and try to illicit stories from audience members. The idea is to share wisdom gleaned from time spent in the kitchen.

Wright will demonstrate how to make pizza dough from scratch, and talk about her grandma's secret to great baking. The dough will be turned into a dessert pizza with apple pie filling and oatmeal crumble. Show-goers will get to try it.

During the event, Wright's husband Ben and the couple's friend, "Binomia" Bill Schacter, will play guitar and sing songs.

"At my house when friends get together, we often pull out guitars. We enjoy making music as much as we enjoy cooking and making memories," Wright says.

The work fits into the Festival Unbound theme of uniting diverse communities and finding the sacred in the ordinary, "all of these overlooked things in life that when you take the time to stop and notice and pay attention you see how important they are," says Wright.

Wright got the idea for "Kitchen Chronicles" from a workshop she did with Jay O'Callahan, a master storyteller. He told participants to visualize a kitchen they know well and to latch onto a kitchen implement. They explored the backstory of the kitchen and wrote monologues on the history of the kitchen implement.

"The things we talk about in a kitchen. The kinds of conversations we have. Some of the most important things that happened to me in life happened in a kitchen," she says.

To prepare for the piece, Wright first gathered stories, a common way that Touchstone Theatre begins many of its pieces. She interviewed people about their memories of time spent in the kitchen, how they learned to cook, what they loved about it, and why eating together is important.

She gathered 24 hours of interviews with in the Lehigh Valley and around the world, including the head butler of Christ Church, Oxford, England, which houses the famous 16th century hall used as a model for the dining hall in the "Harry Potter" movies.

People started inviting Wright into their kitchens. She brought early renditions of "Kitchen Chronicles" to eight homes.

"Somebody opening up their kitchen to you is an honor," she says. "Kitchens are the most intimate parts of a family home. It really is the heart of the home."

While the people in the private homes knew each other, they learned a lot about each other that they didn't know, Wright says.

Of how the event ties into Festival UnBound, Wright says, "The foods we eat may be different. We may like to cook or not like to cook. But we all eat and somebody is making the food for us. By having everyone at a common table, it's a way of reminding us of our commonalities. The things that tie us together."

"I really want to see what happens when you get people and food in a kitchen-like setting and how that creates community."

"Kitchen Chronicles" is sponsored by PBS 39 and Morris Black Designs.

Bill George (Prometheus) and Vivienne Grant (The Messenger), "Prometheus/Redux," Touchstone Theatre's sequel to 1999's "Steelbound," running Oct. 4 - 6, Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, Bethlehem, to open Festival UnBound.

Director Christopher Shorr, left, explains a crisis moment at the end of "Prometheus/Redux" to Bill George as Prometheus (on bed) as Susan Chase and Ashley Weller Tait ("Prometheus/Redux" chorus) look on.

featured a cast of more than 50, including former steelworkers and their families and neighbors, and was produced in The Foundry of the closed Bethlehem Steel Corp. southside Bethlehem plant.

In "Prometheus/Redux," commissioned for Festival UnBound, George returns as Prometheus. It's 20 years after he left The Steel and now, instead of being chained to the ladle, he is bound to a hospital bed, suffering liver failure. Where has he been? What's on his mind? And how can he find a place for himself in such a changed world?

"The fact that we have a character dealing with this stuff makes it very, very timely because we do need to figure out how, in a changing world, there is a place for everyone," says Shorr, a Touchstone ensemble member and director of theater at Moravian College.

"Prometheus/Redux" is written by Gerald Stropnick, a founding member of Bloomsburg Theatre Ensemble, which has worked with Touchstone on other projects. Stropnick started the project with a new round of story-gathering, with former steelworkers, their children and grandchildren, as well as other community residents, including those in local government, hospital workers, social workers and residents of a homeless shelter.

CONTRIBUTED PHOTO
The cast and those who participated in the 1999 production of "Steelbound" in front of the blast furnaces of Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s former southside Bethlehem Plant, now the site of SteelStacks.

"We're not only looking at our community 20 years later; but at the specific characters 20 years later," says Shorr. "Whereas 'Steelbound' was asking how do we stop the bleeding, this play approaches from a much more comfortable place. We're not in a moment of trauma, but things have changed."

The play takes place in a hospital, a nod to the health-care industry that has replaced steel manufacturing as the leading employer in the Lehigh Valley. It marks a shift in the community from building things to building bridges.

Actors play doctors, nurses and other health-care professionals. They trained with people from the Moravian College nursing program.

"We want to get this medical work right in a way that honors the health-care industry in the way that we honored steelworkers in 'Steelbound,'" says Shorr.

The play incorporates text and music from "Steelbound," including music by Ysaye Barnwell from the a cappella group Sweet Honey in the Rock. Some avant-garde music is heard when Prometheus is having medically-induced hallucinations.

The plot includes twists and turns that cannot be revealed. Sometimes the players will directly address the audience as they share their thoughts about the community.

The cast is a tapestry of old and new. It includes former steelworkers, a county judge and members of previous generations of the Touchstone ensemble.

It features Ashley Tait Weller, who was part of the Young People's Chorus as a 12-year-old in "Steelbound" and now plays Prometheus' doctor. She is also choreographer.

Costumer is Bethlehem City Councilwoman Olga Negron, who studied theater at the University of Puerto Rico.

Music is by Harry Mann, a musician and veteran of the New York theater scene. There will be live music on stage as well as recorded music.

Images and footage from the Steelworkers Archives are incorporated into the work. Watch for the image of the Martin Tower implosion.

While a Bethlehem resident who is familiar with "Steelbound" or worked at The Steel or has an awareness of the issues affecting the city may derive the most from the play, there will be plenty to appreciate for the general public, says Shorr.

That the play opens Festival UnBound is significant in that it looks back and positions the festival, and the community, to move forward.

"Steelbound" launched Touchstone, one of the United States' longest continuously-producing ensemble theaters, on its community-based work path, which has continued with works such as "The Don Quixote Project," inspired by the diverse South Side Bethlehem neighborhood and the desire to bridge the gap between the Anglo and Latino culture, and "Journey to the East," another two-year project, inspired by the influx of Chinese people into Bethlehem.

"Beautifully, each of the Touchstone community-based projects speaks to major American issues," says Shorr.

"Prometheus/Redux" is sponsored by Air Products, the Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, WDIY 88.1 and PBS 39.

"Prometheus/Redux," 8 p.m. October 4; 2 p.m. Oct. 5, with panel discussion, facilitated by Bethlehem City Councilman Willie Reynolds, following performance; 8 p.m. Oct. 5, and 7 p.m. Oct. 6, with Open Captions and Audio Description, Lehigh Valley Charter High School for the Arts, 321 E. Third St., Bethlehem. Tickets: festivalunbound.com; 610-867-1689. Limited amount of Pay What You Will tickets available.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Hearing Board of South Whitehall Township will conduct a public hearing on MONDAY, OCTOBER 14, 2019, at 7:30 p.m., in the South Whitehall Township Municipal Building located at 4444 Walbert Ave, Allentown, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania, for the following zoning appeals:

ZHB-2019-17: The appeal of Elysium Acquisitions, LLC, equitable owner of a proposed subdivision known as Roosevelt Street Flats, located at 2449 Walbert Avenue, seeking a favorable interpretation from Section 350-42(1)(2) that the Ultimate Right-of-Way is 60 feet for an existing Local Road is inapplicable to the proposed new cul-de-sac. In the alternative, a dimensional variance is requested to allow an Ultimate Right-of-Way of 40 feet. George Sam is the record owner of the property. The parcel subject to the requested relief is zoned R-4 (Medium Density Residential) and NC (Neighborhood Commercial). Tax Parcel ID 548775367886 1.

The above-referenced properties are in South Whitehall Township, Lehigh County, PA. Copies of any plans, applications, and/or supporting documents that were submitted can be available for public inspection at the Township Building during normal business hours where they may be examined without charge or obtained for a charge not greater than the cost thereof (it is recommended that appointments be made in advance). All appellants, or their representative with legal standing, must attend. All objectors and interested parties are invited to attend and will have the opportunity to be heard.
